Downtown: In demand?

Question of penalty for vacant buildings leads to inventory of downtown

BY VICKIE MOSS THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW

GARNETT - Before anyone can figure out the best way to fill Garnett's empty downtown buildings, it would help to get a good idea of just what downtown looks like. Who owns what? Which buildings are available for sale? For rent? How much? How many vacant buildings are being used for things other than business, like storage?

Those are some of the questions city commissioners hope to answer in the next few weeks, after a discussion about available retail space was kicked off during a city commission meeting Tuesday, Sept. 25.

Commissioner Preston Peine prompted the discussion by posing a controversial question: "Should we charge a small fee for unoccupied buildings?" Peine said the question was brought to him by someone who wanted to rent a vacant downtown building but could not come to terms with the building's owner. Peine said at first he was opposed to the woman's suggestion, but after some consideration he wondered if there was a way to spur active commercial use of downtown buildings.

The suggestion of charging a fee, or penalty, for having a vacant building was met with a great deal of skepticism from other commissioners and the city attorney. Mayor Greg Gwin said he would hate to tell a property owner how to use his or her building, as long as city codes were met. Commissioner Dan Morgan said perhaps an incentive program, such as the city helping pay for rent for the first year, would be more beneficial than a penalty.

But the strongest reaction came from City Attorney Terry Solander, who owns a downtown property that has been offered for rent considerably less than some other buildings. Solander said even at the discount he still can't find a good tenant.

Turn lane to be built near school

Engineering studies begin as southbound lane nears reality

BY VICKIE MOSS THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW

GARNETT - Engineering experts were expected to begin a series of studies this week to bring a southbound turn lane to U.S. 59 near the new elementary school in the northernmost part of the city.

The project won't bring any additional costs to city residents, as the state's transportation department is picking up the tab. The city already owns all the rights-of-way needed for the project, and likely won't need to move any utilities like power poles or gas lines, city manager Joyce Martin told commission-

Teen recovers from snake bite

Hunting trip turns into hospital stay for ACHS senior

BY VICKIE MOSS THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW

MONT IDA - Leah Yoder, 17, thought the snake was dead.

She and her boyfriend were walking through a field on her grandparent's property east of Mont Ida at about 5:40 p.m. Tuesday, Sept. 25. They were following her father, who was driving a tractor. It was supposed to be a routine deer hunting trip.

She saw her dad, Ben Yoder, run over the snake and stooped down to investigate. She reached to pick it up, and it bit her on the left hand near her index finger.

"I had no idea it was a rattlesnake," she said Thursday from a hospital bed at KU Medical Center, where she was taken for treatment. "It hurt really bad. I screamed and told my dad a snake bit me."

Ben Yoder immediately told his daughter to calm down. Leah said her heart started pounding with fear, but she listened to her father and sat down.

The area around the bite immediately started bruising and bleeding.

Ben Yoder called an ambulance and captured the foot-long snake, a massasauga rattlesnake. The snake is the smallest rattlesnake in Kansas, and can be found throughout the eastern third of the state, according to the Great Plains Nature Center's website. Its head, body and tail are gray or light brown with dark gray or brown blotches on its back and tail. It has a small rattle.

Leah Yoder said her grandfather had seen some rattlesnakes on the property before, but she

$4 million project underway in Colony

Horizontal drilling will help Southern Star cap 18 wells in city

BY VICKIE MOSS THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW

COLONY - A $4 million project by Southern Star Central Gas Pipeline is bringing the latest technology to improve safety for Colony residents.

Southern Star is drilling two new horizontal wells outside the city limits to replace 18 wells within the city limits. The project is expected to improve safety and make it easier to maintain the gas storage field underneath the city.

A natural gas storage field runs directly beneath Colony, and 18 wells tap into that field. Some of those wells are very close to residences, although the company said in a press release there have never been any incidents related to safety because of the gas wells.

The new system will drill two horizontal wells outside the city limits - one to the southwest and one to the northeast. The wells will be relatively shallow, between 950 to 975 feet, and will tunnel horizontally under Colony to the storage field. After the wells are connected to the storage field lateral system, the 18 old wells in the city limits will be cut, capped below ground and abandoned.

"We're actually the first company to do a directional well in this part of the state," Tim Meyer, manager of Storage Services for Southern Star, said in a press release. "The drilling rig is very different." Workers on the project who have seen more than 300 wells say they have never seen this type of rig.

Johnnie Riley, the company's Team Lead at the Welda station, said workers are drilling the southwest well first. The drilling rig arrived August 27, following extensive site preparation dictated by environmental regulations. A 28-foot tall "sound curtain" will shield nearby homes from drilling

After that, commissioners could begin to look at various options to encourage use of downtown buildings. Some programs already exist, such as Neighborhood Revitalization and a loan program through the city. Commissioners pondered other options, such as tax or rental breaks, or assistance with utility upgrades.

April 22, 1924-September 22, 2012

THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW
Published October 2, 2012

Catherine Jane (Scott) Richards, 88, of Baldwin City, KS died peacefully on September 22, 2012 at the Baldwin Healthcare and Rehabilitation Center in the arms of family.

Richards

She and her twin sister, Sarah Jean, were born April 22, 1924 at the family home on West Fourth, Garnett, KS to Henry Kip Scott and Lillian (Archer) Scott. Jane, or Joan/Jo, as she was known during her childhood and teenage years, graduated in 1942 from Garnett High School. She entered the University of Kansas as a Watkins Scholar, and in 1944 moved to Los Angeles to study at UCLA and work as a draftsman. In 1948, she completed a bachelor's degree in Humanities, with an emphasis in architecture, in the College of Arts and Sciences at Kansas State University. Her first job after graduation was with Temperature Engineering in Kansas City, MO, where she was the sole female drafting engineer.

Jane married Dean D. "Tut" Richards, Jr. on March 25, 1950. They lived with their growing family in Baldwin City, Kansas City, MO, Prairie Village, KS and Omaha, NE before returning to Baldwin in 1956 to co-own and operate The Baldwin Ledger and The Wellsville Globe. From 1958 to 1974, Jane was the managing editor of The Ledger and, after 1965, when she and Dean established a controlled circulation newspaper for Eudora, The Eudora Enterprise. She also wrote a weekly column for The Ledger, "On the Street." Following the sale of Baldwin Publications, Jane worked as interim editor of The Hoisington (Kansas) Dispatch and The Clafin (Kansas) Clarion, then joined Baker University as Director of Information Services, a position she held until 1988. After departing from Baker, Jane worked as Archivist for the Franklin County Historical Society, Ottawa, KS, where she conducted genealogy research, contributed to publications, and gave tours.

A 25-year member of the Kansas Press Women (KPW), as well as a past officer and member of the KPW Board of Directors, Jane was named Top Woman Editor in Kansas three times, received eight first-place awards from the KPW in news editing, writing, layout, and features, and received a first-place award from the National Federation of Press Women in the special editions of weekly newspapers category. Other journalism and publication honors included Council for Advancement and Support of Education (CASE) and the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics—Sports Information Directors (NAIA-SIDA) awards. Baker University also named her an honorary alumna.

Jane was exceptionally engaged with her community and the activities of her children. Her professional and civic awards include citations for public service from Rotary International, the American Legion, Business and Professional Women, the Parent-Teachers Association, the Baldwin City Jaycees, and the Baldwin City Chamber of Commerce. She was a two-term member and former president of the Baldwin City School Board, USD 348, a board member of the East Central Kansas Cooperative in Education, a past president and life member of the Baldwin City PTA, a member and past president of Chapter CK of PEO, and a member of the Baldwin City Council, the Baldwin Library Board of Trustees, the Douglas County Chapter of the American Red Cross, the Franklin County Historical Society, the Hestia Study and Tuesday Reading clubs of Baldwin City, and the Baldwin Biddies. She was also a Boy Scout den mother, and the mother of four and the grandmother of two Eagle Scouts.

Jane was an ardent gardener, landscaper, interior decorator, photographer, reader, family genealogist, and seamstress. She was a devoted member of the First United Methodist Church in Baldwin and, later, the Episcopal Church in Ottawa, KS. She greatly enjoyed singing and listening to music, watching movies, swimming, and caring for wild and abandoned animals, as well as the many dogs and cats that she and her husband welcomed into their home. She also made the best potato salad on the planet. Above all else, Jane was a loyal and caring mother and grandmother, who considered her children her greatest treasures.

Jane is survived by her husband of 62 years, Dean, a resident at the Baldwin Healthcare and Rehabilitation Center; her six children and their spouses: Dr. Dean Richards III and Nancy, Leawood, KS; Nancy Jane Richards, Oakham, MA; Susan Richards Johnson and Karl Johnson, Kansas City, MO; Scott Richards and Terrie, Lakewood, CO; John Richards and Nancy, Baldwin City; and Kip Richards and Denise, Overland Park, KS; twelve grandchildren; four great-grandchildren; and an elder brother, Bill, of California. She was preceded in death by her parents, her twin sister, her elder sister, and her elder twin brothers.

A memorial Service will be held Saturday, October 13, 2012 at 10:00 a.m. at the First United Methodist Church in Baldwin City, followed by interment at the Garnett Cemetery.

The family would like to extend its profound appreciation to the staff of Baldwin Healthcare and Rehabilitation Center for their loving and seemingly tireless care of our mother during her stay there, and to the Good Shepherd Hospice for the comprehensive and sensitive care they extended to our mother and her family during her final hours.

In lieu of flowers, the family suggests that donations be made to Baker University for a scholarship, the details of which will be announced at a later date.

ers at their regular meeting Tuesday, Sept. 25. The City of Garnett will have to serve as gatekeeper for the project, essentially funneling money for the project through the city and the city will be responsible for finding contractors for the project. Commissioners on Tuesday approved a resolution agreeing to work with the state on the project.

Initially, engineers and USD 365 officials were not sure a southbound lane would be necessary. Officials said they wanted to wait until school started to see how traffic patterns would develop. After school began in mid-August, staff members said traffic went much more smoothly than expected, with all cars and students cleared out within 15 minutes. The main entrance to the school is off U.S. 59, with a northbound turn lane leading to Home Run Drive. Motorists also can enter the school from the other end of Home Run Drive at Park Road, or from the back along an access road at Lake Garnett.

The construction schedule of the new turn lane and cost estimates are not yet known, but early engineering studies were estimated at $47,000. That does not include construction costs for the project.

Although she likely will lose some skin around the area where she was bitten, she is expected to recover from the incident without major problems.

"It was really scary," she said.

She is a senior at Anderson County High School and the daughter of Ben and Mary Yoder, Mont Ida.

Rattlesnake bites are not common and rarely fatal. The Great Plains Nature Center says there has been only one documented fatality from rattlesnake bite since 1950.

Anderson County Hospital typically sees about one or two venomous snake bites a year, Christina Rush, nurse manager, said. Because the treatment requires close monitoring, the hospital must send patients to another facility with a critical care unit.

Rush said it helps that most of the patients are able to get to the hospital very quickly after snakebite. She said hospital professionals typically can identify the type of snake by the fang marks, so it is not necessary for people to try to catch the snake. It does help if someone can describe the creature, though.

She also suggests people are cautious of their surroundings, and keep shrubbery pulled back from around the house or out-buildings.

Please sir, they want some more

Federal lunch calorie guidelines miss the point slimming our fat kids

The cry has gone out, from Wallace County High School in Kansas to Boston to Denver to the poor empty bellies of the high school students in Garnett. American kids are standing pitifully, gruel bowl in hand, pleading with the master: "Please sir, I want some more." The federal school lunch program needs to ante up with the eats.

Food riots in the land of plenty? Starvation a la carte in Uncle Sam's nearly-to-wholly-free federal school lunch program? Surely something here's amiss?

But alas, something's always amiss when Uncle Sam takes over the kitchen. He has pointed out that our kids are fat, and he and Michelle Obama are bound and determined to do something about it. The answer: Feed the little buggers fewer calories through the grand gimme school lunch program, and give the calories they ARE going to get via stuff they don't like anyway, likes fruits and vegetables.

That should skinny them up, right? Seriously, has anyone under the age of 60 ever eaten a stewed tomato?

In their weakened state, the kids at Wallace County High School out at Sharon Springs took to their technology for that which passes for social activism these days and posted a parody music video on YouTube to illustrate the national cry for freedom against the tyranny of school starvation. The video's been viewed more than a half million times at recent count, and sparked a national debate amid the roar of growling tummies over the old government adage as it relates to school lunches: "I'm from the government, and I'm here to help."

Are American kids too fat? So we're told, and so it appears from national health statics as well as casual observance. So too we're told is the incidence of type 2 diabetes on the increase in our ever-more pudgy population. But as is the issue with most all government "assistance," the one size fits all approach sacrifices the many for the sins of the few.

The 850 calorie, 12 ounces of protein from meat per week standards which went into effect this year in the federal school lunch program are coupled with new forced offerings of fruits and vegetables. So federal logic remains unscathed: We're going to reduce what we feed you, and what we do decide you can eat will be something you probably won't want.

So kids are left to do what kids do - throw away literally tons of government mandated food at every school lunch across the country every day. They'll bring food from home or hit a vending machine, and then descend on their parents' kitchen pantries like locusts at the end of the school day or after football practice.

In truth, the federal government has no more place in the school lunch business than it has in heaven-knows how many others. But as long as we're waxing in to a dream scene in which government actually solves a social problem, how about this: If fat is the problem and school is the place for mandates, how about 20 minutes of mandated calisthenics at the beginning of the school day for both kids and staff? How about making water the only beverage available at school (much to the chagrin of the U.S. Dairy Industry)?

But options like that would likely step on too many toes and injure far too much self esteem. Instead, we pay the government to feed our kids and it starves them instead.

The 47 percent blunder

BY RICH LOWRY NATIONAL REVIEW

The best defense of Republican presidential nominee Mitt Romney's instantly notorious "47 percent" remarks at a May fundraiser is that he made a bad point badly.

Romney mixed up three separate groups: the roughly half the country that will inevitably support President Barack Obama, the half that doesn't pay federal income taxes and the half that receives government benefits. Then he declared them all a collective lost cause. He will never win them over, or convince them to take responsibility for their lives. Next question.

In reality, these are distinct categories. Many Obama supporters are rich. We can be certain the attendees at the president's recent fundraiser with Beyonce and Jay-Z in New York City have hefty tax bills. Meanwhile, many of Romney's supporters -- especially the elderly -- don't pay federal income taxes and receive government benefits.

The contention is that if people aren't paying federal income taxes, they are essentially freeloaders who will vote themselves more government benefits knowing that they don't have to pay for them.

As conservative writer Ramesh Ponnuru has pointed out, there's no evidence for this dynamic. It is true that the number of people without a federal-income-tax liability is up; it was just 28 percent in 1950. It is mainly the poor, seniors and lower-income families with children who don't owe income taxes. The poor lean heavily Democratic, but that's always been so. Seniors, on the other hand, have been swinging Republican, and there's no indication that families with children are becoming more liberal.

Many workers who don't pay federal income tax pay other taxes, including the payroll tax. Just 18 percent of tax filers escape both the income and payroll taxes. People who aren't paying income tax don't think of themselves as freeloading "takers." An April Gallup poll found more discontent with taxes among people making less than $30,000 than any other income group.

The deeper problem with the "47 percent" argument is that it is right-wing Elizabeth Warrenism. Warren wants to tax rich people as a statement of our patriotic commitment to one another; some conservatives evidently want to tax the poor and seniors for the same reason. If you aren't paying taxes -- or aren't paying enough -- you are a sub-citizen.

How does this look in the real world? If a couple earning $35,000 with two kids has no income-tax liability thanks to various exemptions, deductions and credits (the child tax credit has been especially important in removing families from the rolls), how much should we tax them to get them to shape up and fly right? How much do they have to pay the Internal Revenue Service to learn a lesson in basic civics?

This tendency represents a backdoor return to Country Club Republicanism, with the approval of part of the Republican base. Fear of the creation of a class of "takers" can slide into disdain for people who are too poor -- or have too many kids or are too old -- to pay their damn taxes. For a whiff of how politically unattractive this point of view can be, just look at the Romney fundraising video.

I have lost track of the story of the Willow Street madame and Mr. Colony. Someone catch me up.

Here it is Saturday again, and I'm having trouble getting in and out of my driveway along with other people who live on 4th Street. The city needs to do something about making it no parking on the north side when there're in church. We're tired of not being able to get in and out of our driveways.

Parking a challenge at Corn Fest

To the editor,

I worked at the breakfast for the Corn Festival. I went at 6:30 and when I got there everywhere I tried to park there were people standing in front and back of the quonset hut saying not to, or it was blocked off and there was a four-wheeler setting in the middle of the parking.

I finished at 8:00 and there were hardly any of the shops set up. I don't know how they wanted people to buy things and nowhere to park.

I wanted to go see the dogs run but didn't go down because I didnt want to try to find someplace to park.

They even try to block the road at the barns. This didn't happen last year. If they have so many salers you better limit them. I hope I am not the only one that had this problem.

AC girls golf team competes in tourneys

The AC girl's golf team competed in an 18 hole tournament at Fort Scott on Monday, Sept. 24. The team was off to a good start when a shoulder injury to senior Carolyn Hermreck forced her to discontinue play. Without Hermreck, the remaining players could only compete on an individual basis. Senior Darissa Maley and Sophomore Samantha McCullough played well and were just short of placing. The sole medalist on the Bulldog team was Bailey Rockers who had a game total of 94 which put her in 1st place overall for the tournament.

The following day, the Lady Bulldogs traveled to Santa Fe Trail where Maley, Rockers and McCullough competed individually. Bailey Rockers ended the day in a 3-way tie with a score of 47 and placed 5th in the tournament.

The team traveled to Council Grove on Thursday, Sept. 20. The four members of the team played well and earned 2nd place with a score of 215. The team from Holton had a 191, enough to take 1st place and Rossville had 220 placing them 3rd. Senior, Carolyn Hermreck finished AC's Weston Gilbreth jukes a Wellsville tackler during a running play in Friday's Bulldog/Cardinals matchup. Garnett lost its homecoming contest 30-25.

Penalties, crucial failures cost AC homecoming 30-25

BY DANE HICKS THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW

GARNETT—Looking at the stats of the AC Bulldog homecoming game against Wellsville Friday night it would be hard to tell who won. But the game came down to a handful of pressure moments, and Wellsville robbed Garnett of a 2012 homecoming win 30-25.

Both teams had 13 first downs. AC claimed 290 yards on offense; Wellsville 284. AC had 4 punts, Wellsville 6. Time of offensive possession – not something measured by stats – but pretty even as well as fans saw.

But there were differences. AC sported 75 yards in penalties compared to Wellsville's 20. AC had one turnover, Wellsville had none. The Bulldogs were 1 for 2 in point-after attempt kicks and 0/2 on 2 pt conversions, while the Cardinals were 3/3 in their 2pt efforts.

It netted out to a 5 point margin.

"In football there are three or four plays per half where someone needs to win a one-on-one matchup," said head coach Don

Hilliard, "and the game turns on the outcome. A key block, tackle, pass breakup, etc."

"We simply did not make enough of those plays to win."

Hilliard said a great example was the team's 4/1 in the third quarter.

"If we'd picked up the first down, we may go in and score to take the lead. Instead, we don't and they get the ball back with the lead. We end up with a deep drive into their end of the field and no points."

All in all AC did a substantial job driving their option play. Weston Gilbreth had 17 carries for 125 yards and two TDs. Quarterback Jack Rickabaugh made solid use of the option plan. Cale Hedges had 144 kick return yards and a 73 yard touchdown runback.

Though disappointing, Hilliard said it's on to Osawatomie.

"Hopefully we will move forward and not let this linger into the week," he said. "We can't afford to, with Oz coming up. They're not a bad team and we will need to play well if we expect to win."

Mustangs dash Vikings' homecoming hopes

BY SARA BROWN THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW

RICHMOND—Anticipation grew as excited fans filled the Bud Schaub Sports Complex for the Central Heights Homecoming game Friday night. The week of enthusiasm and festivities culminated in a disappointing 34-6 loss to Pioneer League rivals Iola.

Central Heights fell behind early to Iola, trailing by 14 at the end of the first quarter. The Vikings struggled to stop the Mustangs, allowing Iola to score 27 of their 34 points in the first half. The Vikings were able to move the ball on the ground, but were hampered by costly penalties and three turnovers.

Eventually, Central Heights adjusted defensively, allowing only one score in the second half. Late in the fourth quarter the Vikings finally breached the end zone thanks to a three-yard run by Central Heights senior RB Drew Beckwith.

Beckwith collected 100 yards on the ground and Viking junior RB Tristan Davis added 56. Central Heights junior QB Zach McAfee had a rough night with zero completions and three interceptions. Central Heights Coach Kent Schulte was "...not pleased by his team's execution," but thought the team gave a good effort and competed. The loss drops the Vikings overall record to 2-3 and league record to 1-2. Iola advances to 4-1 overall and an undefeated 3-0 in league play.

The Vikings lost two senior players last week to injury. Kyle Miller and Blake Anderson are not expected to return. "Injuries are part of football, part of sports, we will miss them, but it's next man up," Schulte said. "Players want to play and some others will get their chance. I would expect them to make the most of the opportunity." That opportunity will come next week when the team travels to LaCygne to take on another league opponent, the Prairie View Buffalos.

AC volleyball team goes 4-1 at West Franklin

BY DAN MORGAN THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW

POMONA - The Anderson County volleyball team was 4-1 at the West Franklin Tournament beating Central Heights, Metro Academy and Lyndon twice to take 3rd in the tournament after losing to Osawatomie.

The Bulldogs began pool play beating Central Heights 25-19, 25-13. In match 2, AC pounded Metro Academy 25-8, 25-7. In the 3rd match of pool play AC handled Lyndon 25-15, 25-14.

In the semifinals, Anderson County gave up early leads to lose 25-20, 25-20 to Osawatomie. In the consolation game for 3rd, AC gutted out wins of 27-25 and 25-14.

"We have a talented team," commented Coach Glen Suderman. "When the momentum swings away from us we need to recover quicker. Overall I am pleased with our progress."

Annsley Graham led the serves with 13 aces. Britton Brownrigg had 9 and Michaela had 6. Jaime Mersman led the offense with 35 kills followed by Britton Brownrigg with 34 and Alex Garbarino with 23.

The defense was led by Alex Garbarino with 5 blocks. Jaime Mersman had 4, Britton Brownrigg and Reagan Jirak each had 3.

The Bulldogs are now 11-6 overall.

Central Heights top finisher, junior Cole Sheldon #47 and Anderson County freshman Tyler Jumet #12 stride it out on the last leg of the varsity boys 5k run at the Central Heights Invitational last week. Sheldon medaled for 20th place with 19:16 minute run, followed by Hunter Poage of Osawatomie at 19:18 and Jumet at 19:19.

Stormy start at match

BY SARA BROWN THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW

RICHMOND—With storms threatening and funnel cloud sightings in the vicinity, the first home meet for new Central Heights Cross Country Coach, Phil Pearson, got a stormy start Thursday afternoon. In the end, it was the turbulence of the varsity girls run that stole the show.

VARSITY GIRLS

Although Spring Hill's three point lead edged Anderson County for the team title, Bulldogs senior Amanda Moody ran a 16:30 earning her first place. Spring Hill finished with 26 points to AC's 29. Combined, Spring Hill and Anderson County claimed eight of the top ten varsity girls' spots. Central Heights only female varsity runner, Senior Natasja Carlson, secured 38th place with a time of 20:38.

VARSITY BOYS

The Spring Hill team dominated the boys varsity run taking the team title with 36 points and the first, second and third place spots. Anderson County turned in the next best team performance with a total of 79 points. Spring Hill sophomore Taylor Burton took first place overall with a time of 16:50. Three of the four Central Heights varsity boys ran their best times of the year. Junior Cole Sheldon collected a medal for 20th place with a time of 19:16, Dillon Welch came in 32nd at 20:08, Austin King snatched 41st with a 20:28 run, and Shelby Cardell took 49th with a run of 20:46. The Vikings did not run a full varsity boys squad, therefore did not qualify in the team standings.

JV BOYS

Humboldt led the way in the JV boys 5K earning 27 points and first place team title. Humboldt sophomore Ethan Bartlett dashed into first place overall with a time of 19:44. Central Heights found their top JV finisher in JR Dunnivan who collected 45th place with a time of 24:46.

CodeRED adds winter warnings

GARNETT - Anderson County has upgraded their early weather alerting system to allow residents to receive winter storm warnings. Anderson County provides weather warnings through a service called CodeREDWeatherWarning, a service of Emergency Communications Network (ECN).

According to The National Weather Service (NWS), winter storms can immobilize a region and paralyze a city, stranding commuters, stopping the flow of supplies and disrupting emergency and medical services. "Residents need to be informed and better prepare for these devastating storms. With new winter storm warnings available, our community can do just that," says J.D. Mersman, Deputy Director of Anderson County Emergency Management.

Winter storm warnings are sent to residents through text and email moments after an alert is issued by the NWS. Notifications are only available to those who have opted in to the Anderson County's CodeRED system. To receive an alert for a winter storm warning, residents should log on to the Anderson County website at www.andersoncountyks.org and enter both an email address and a cell phone number or contact the office of emergency management at 785-448-6797. Residents may also select to receive severe thunderstorm, flash flood and tornado warnings through telephone calls to their homes and businesses, email and text messages to their cell phones.

Anderson County encourages all residents to subscribe to their CodeRED system. "Now having the option to receive winter storm warnings is an added bonus for the residents that live here and will provide them extra time to prepare if a storm were to impact our area," Mersman said.

The CodeRED system upgrade comes at no additional cost to Anderson County's current contract with ECN.

Concert offered at Greeley

4 His Love, a country and southern gospel quartet based in Kansas City, MO, will be appearing at Greeley Elementary School, 101 S. Mary St. in Greeley on Saturday, October 27th at 7 p.m. This event is being sponsored by Greeley United Methodist Church, and is open to the general public.

4 His Love first took shape in the mind of tenor Dan Roberts after the dramatic changes God made in his life as a young man in his 20's in Lodi, CA. That first group toured the west coast for 1 1/2 years before Dan followed the call of God to relocate to the Midwest. Settling in the Kansas City area, Dan sang with veteran baritone Bob Smith in a local quartet. The two later joined forces to recreate the ministry of 4 His Love in 2009.

The current group represents more than 75 years of experience in Christian music. They have shared the stage with Brian Free & Assurance, Karen Peck & New River, The Dove Brothers, The Nelons, Jeff & Sheri Easter and many others. Together, they bring excitement and enthusiasm to every performance without giving up a heart for true person-to-person ministry of the gospel. As they share their testimonies and the stories of what God has done in the lives of 4 His Love, audiences will be challenged to believe for what Gods WANTS to do in THEIR lives. Whether you are a fan of Southern Gospel music or not, you will certainly enjoy 4 His Love! Their ministry bridges all generations, bringing enjoyment to traditional settings as well as contemporary ones. Their song selections will always have a current sound, including original compositions from within the group while still showcasing vintage favorites. Come to this very special event, listen to what they sing and what they say, and you will quickly become a fan of one of the true up-and-coming quartets in Southern Gospel today - 4 His Love.

There is no admission charge for this concert; a free-will offering will be received.

Livestock producers can get drought help

MANHATTAN -- Adrian J. Polansky, State Executive Director of USDA's Farm Service Agency in Kansas announced today that drought assistance is available for livestock producers affected by drought in all Kansas Counties except Republic. Eligibility to request to implement ECP is based on the County Committee providing evidence that the County is designated as level D3, Drought Extreme according to the U.S. Drought Monitor or providing evidence of a 40 percent or greater loss of normal precipitation for the 4 most recent months.

Producers may request assistance in approved Counties by filing an application for cost-share assistance under the Emergency Conservation Program (ECP) from October 15 through November 15, 2012 at their local Farm Service Agency (FSA). ECP is being implemented to assist in providing access to water because of extended period of severe drought. The damage must be of such magnitude that it would be too costly for the producer to rehabilitate without Federal assistance.

Participants can receive cost-share assistance of up to 75 percent of the cost for temporary measures and 50% of the cost for permanent measures for approved emergency conservation practices. Practices approved are EC6, Drought Measures (example: constructing and deepening wells, installing pipe to another source of water because primary source is inadequate) and EC7, Hauling Water for Livestock (example: hauling water, tanks and troughs).

ECP has been approved for implementation by the National office without an ECP fund allocation therefore FSA will be accepting applications for which funds are not currently available. ECP funding is limited and should funds become available, the National office will give priority to permanent measures.

Contact the FSA office at your local USDA Service Center.

Ballroom dances have changed

Social or ballroom dancing has undergone a continuing evolution through the years, with the result that today's more popular dances bear little resemblance to the folk dances that came here with our immigrants from Europe in the early days.

by Henry Roeckers
Contact (785) 448-6244 for local archeology information.

Occasional revivals bring back the square dances, barn dances, and Sir Roger de Coverley or Virginia Reel of some years back, and the graceful waltz and sedate one-step remain popular, but more recent favorites such as the Black Bottom, Bunny Hop, Big Apple, and Susie Q are seldom seen.

in vogue. Then each lady had a dance program or card on which were entered the name of each young gentleman with whom she promised to dance, bearing in mind the injunction, not always observed, which said she should never promise more than one dance to the same person.

Among the popular square dances were the Money Musk, Irish Washerwoman, Fischer's Hornpipe, and Old Zip Coon.

The cotillion involved as many as two hundred and fifty figures, including the waltz, gallion (known also as the one-slide racket), polka, polka redowa, polka mazurka, schotische, knickerbockers, five step (a nazurka with a leap and a hop), quadrille, lancers, varsovianna, two-slide racket, three-slide racket, Esmeralda, society, bohemian (a heel and toe polka), hop waltz, Boston dip and polonaise.

One reason for the popularity of the stately minuet was the need for preserving the lavish hairdos worn by the ladies whose locks often were piled in great pyramids of paste with turbans or feathers.

One authority on the dance stated that a ball always should start with a waltz, followed by a quadrille, gallop, lancers, polka, quadrille, waltz, and so on.

Other old-time dances were the jigs, including the rigadoons, Devonshire jig, and the raspies; the Spanish fandango, and others bearing such intriguing names as the innocent maid, priest's house, clinton's retreat, blue bonnet, arcadian nuptials, and orange tree.

Dancers of both sexes were counseled never to be without gloves in the ballroom.

What kind of crown are you striving for?

In 2nd Corinthians 5:10 it says; "For we must all appear before the judgment seat of Christ, that one may receive what is due him for the things done while in the body, whether good or bad." We know that after chapter 3 in the book of Revelation there is no further reference to the church being on earth during the Great Tribulation so at this point the church is in heaven.

Weekly Devotional
by David Bilderback

While the Great Tribulation is taking place on earth the church is at the judgment seat of Christ where they will be rewarded for service on earth. This is the judgment that we as believers will participate in. The Bible tells us a little about what our rewards are going to be. In fact our rewards are referred to as crowns. It is possible to receive five crowns.

read. "For what is our hope, our joy, or the crown in which we will glory in the presence of our Lord Jesus when he comes? Is it not joy? indeed, you are our glory and joy." This is the Crown of Rejoicing. Paul is talking to the church at Thessalonica and he says they are the model servant. Paul says. "They accepted the word not as the word of men but as it actually is, the word of God." How many of us today sit in the pew and listen to scripture being read and hear the words of a man, not the words of God.

The first crown is called the Victors Crown. In First Corinthians 9:25-27 Paul says; "Everyone who competes in the games, a type of Olympic games, goes into strict training. They do it to get a crown that will not last; but we do it to get a crown that will last forever." Paul is saying that the Christian life is much like training for a race. It involves strict training and discipline. The difference in the two crowns is that the crown we might receive here on earth for some victory will eventually be won again by someone else. The Victors Crown we receive from God for our service on earth will last forever.

The third crown is the Crown of Righteousness. In 2nd Timothy 4:8, Paul says, "Now there is in store for me the Crown of Righteousness which the Lord, the righteous Judge will award to me on that day-and not only to me, but also to all who have longed for his appearing." Paul here is at the end of his life. He knows he has little time left. As he looks back over his life he has no regrets, he says, "I have finished the race, I have kept the faith." Paul made many sacrifices and suffered terrible hardship. What was his reward? The Crown of Righteousness.

Crown of life. James says in 1:12, "Blessed is the man who perseveres under trial, because when he has stood the test, he will receive the Crown of Life that God has promised to those who love him." What did our life count for, who did we influence, was it good or bad?

The fifth crown is the Crown of Glory. In First Peter 5:4, Peter says, "And when the Chief Shepard appears, you will receive the Crown of Glory that will never fade away." We cannot name one thing in our possession that will not fade away including our own life.

In Revelation 22:12-13, Jesus says, "Behold I am coming soon! My reward is with me and I will give to everyone according to what he has done." Will our crowns be earthly crowns or heavenly crowns?

County commissioners and road department officials say the fruits of the extra labor provided by some temporary workers hired to clear brush after the Jan. 30 ice storm have been so beneficial that they'd like to keep the added staff on a permanent basis, but they're unsure if that can be done under the already approved 2003 budget parameters. It may be even worse after the impact of state budget cuts are known, after a review of cuts Monday which may cut one-third from the subsidy the county road department gets from the state.

JV GIRLS
Anderson County topped the standings in the girls JV run with 20 points. Spring Hill sophomore Lilly Smith snagged first with a 19:03 minute run. Central Heights Athletic Director, Doug North, was pleased that the meet went smoothly. Vikings Coach Phil Pearson agreed and noted the team has "gotten better every week." Central Heights' next meet will take them to Pleasanton on Thursday.

CHHS volleyball needs to dig up some offense

BY SARA BROWN THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW

RICHMOND-Central Heights volleyball has fought to put up points all year.

Their offensive woes continued Tuesday night as they fell to Wellsville 19-25, 10-25 and Anderson County 10-25, 10-25. Brianna Erhart and Whitney Kraus earned six digs a piece on Anderson County and Kenzie Hayward managed four kills. Stats for the Wellsville game were not available.

The Viking defense has been improving over the season, but the offense will have to step up. They have consistently struggled to regain ground after falling behind.

"Again, we show at times we can be competitive, but we must learn how to push through when we don't have an early lead," noted Coach Ann Bowen. "From the beginning of the season to now, our skill level has increased dramatically, but we still need some wins in the column."

The Lady Vikings will get that chance Tuesday when they travel to Prairie View.

Lancers fall to 2-3

BY DANE HICKS THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW

CREST - In the shoot-out scoring race that sometimes defines 8-man football in the Three Rivers League, you have to keep your powder dry and your chamber hot - getting behind often leaves no chance to catch up.

That's what happened to the Crest Lancers Friday night when two unanswered Waverly touchdowns in the second period and three more in the third and fourth notched a 70-56 win at the end of the game for Waverly.

The teams traded touchdowns punch for punch until Crest fell behind in the second period, but Kyle Hammond managed to hit Jordan Morton on a 4-yard pass play TD late in the 2nd to cut Waverly's advantage to 34-38 going into the half. But the Bulldogs snapped back with a trio of TDs with 4:16 in the third, 8:37 and 6:31 in the fourth period to build the margin that would win the game.

Crest rushed 264 yards on 40 plays on the ground and threw 17 passes for 205 yards in the air to total 469 yards on offense. Sedlak had 4 catches for 84 yards and Ellis had 8 for 75, Morton was 5 for 46. Hammond led the ground assault with 185 yards followed by Sedlak with 71. Stephens and Miller led the defense with 11 total tackles apiece, Hammond had 10. Morton had one interception.

Waverly's win brought the Bulldogs to 5-0 on the season and set the Lancers at 2-3.

SCORING:
1/8:21 Morton 10-yd TD pass to Ellis, Hammond PAT; 1/3:22 Hammond 6 yd run, PAT pass Hammond/Ellis; 2/11:21 Hammond 19 yd run, PAT failed; 2/8:55 Hammond 36 yd run, PAT failed; 2/19:sec Hammond 4 yd pass to Morgon, PAT failed; 3/6:36 Hamond 9 yd pass to Dylan Sedlak, PAT failed; 4/5:44 Hammond 3 yd run, PAT Hammond pass to Ellis; 4/3:06 Morgon 62 yd kickoff return, PAT Hammond pass to Ellis.

Kincaid Fair Memories

Kylie Disbrow and Caitlyn Foltz, both of Garnett, crash and bash on the bumper cars at the Kincaid Fair Saturday afternoon.

Morgan Louk was crowned Kincaid Fair Queen before the parade Saturday. She received a bouquet and crown from last year's queen, Chelsea Brooks.

The Crest marching band performed during the parade.

At right: A large crowd came out Saturday afternoon to watch the parade and enjoy the carnival rides.
