Taxes dominate debate

Clear divide seen along party lines on tax plan
at last week's forum

BY VICKIE MOSS THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW
GARNETT - It had all the elements of a classic debate - snarky comments, wild accusations, clear-cut differences along party lines, and blatant disregard for time limits. Sixteen candidates for political office duked it out on stage at

Anderson County High School Wednesday, Oct. 10, at a forum sponsored by the Garnett Business and Professional Women. A large crowd, roughly estimated at about 100 people, turned out for the debate, making it one of the better-attended forums in recent years. Gov. Sam Brownback's controversial tax plan received the most attention, with six state candidates defending their positions. The plan slashes state income taxes by about $3.7 billion over five years, which some analysts say will bring the state's deficit to $2.5 billion by 2018. It reduces the tax brackets from three to two, wipes out several tax credits, and exempts taxes for limited liability companies and sole proprietors. Proponents say the plan holds the key for an economic resurgence in Kansas as unencumbered funds are reinvested to create jobs. For the most part, where the candidates stood on the issue depended on political party affiliation. Supporters, mostly Republicans, say

Election 2012 Local Races

Your election guide:
Several offices at the local, state and federal level will be up for grabs in the general election Nov. 6. For this section, candidates have submitted personal and political information, in their own words, to help local voters make decisions. This week, the focus is on local races. See next week's Review, Oct. 23, for state races, and check out the Oct. 30 edition for federal races. In addition to these contested races, local voters also will see familiar names on the ballot. County Clerk Phyllis Gettler, Treasurer Dena McDaniel and Register of Deeds Sandra Baugher are running unopposed and likely will retain their seats.

Car jacking gets felon 18 years

Brief escape from Ottawa County jail
adds more time
BY DANE HICKS THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW
TOPEKA – A man convicted of home invasions in Anderson County in 2008 and who escaped from the Ottawa County jail last spring will spend an additional 18 years in jail after a sentencing hearing last week on a federal carjacking charge. Twenty-two year old Eric James was one of four prisoners who broke out of the Ottawa County Jail in Minneapolis, Ks., in April, after being transferred therefrom the state prison at Ellsworth due to overcrowding. James assaulted a man and stole his car before being apprehended in Omaha, Neb. The man suffered serious facial injuries. The additional sentence was in connection with the carjacking assault, which James pleaded guilty to in April in exchange for state officials not pursuing charges related to the escape.

ACHS trails state on ACT scores

New curriculum could helps students raise scores, principal says
BY VICKIE MOSS THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW
GARNETT – Anderson County High School seniors continue to lag slightly behind the state average on ACT test scores, but school administrators hope a shift in its curriculum will help students boost scores in the future. A report presented to USD 365 school board members at their Oct. 4 meeting shows a five-year trend of average ACT scores that puts Anderson County High School below the state average for each of the past five years. It's not much of a difference, though, with a state average of 21.9 and ACHS seniors bringing an average of 20.2. The difference is less than 2.5 points each year since 2008. The ACT consists of a series of curriculum-based tests in English, math, reading and science designed to measure skills needed for success in first-year college coursework. The test,

Mission relief team returns after helping rebuild flooded homes in North Dakota

A team of nine MidWest Missionair volunteers has just returned to Garnett Industrial airport from Minot, North Dakota this past Saturday.

MidWest Missionair partnered with the Mennonite Disaster service to rebuild homes that were flooded last year.

Fourteen thousand residents of Minot were driven out by waters that rose eleven feet higher than the previous record and lasted for nearly four weeks.

The team completed rough-in wiring on three houses and finished electrical work in three other houses. Several furnaces and hot water heaters were also placed into service just as the recent cold wave hit Minot.

2012 Election: Candidate Comparison

Anderson County Sheriff

Jeff Hupp, D

Vern Valentine, R

What do you see as the most important law enforcement issue facing Anderson County and what is your solution?

HUPP: The #1 issue facing this small county would be the usage & addiction to illegal drugs & alcohol. The most prevalent drugs of choice would be marijuana & methamphetamine, which the ways to manufacture it change constantly. The use & abuse of these drugs in combination with the tough economic times, has led to other crimes such as thefts, burglaries, DUI's & domestic violence.

SOLUTIONS: Education & enforcement would be & have been the way to try to combat these issues. Education not only for the violators, but also for law enforcement officers thru training to educate both on the dangers of such behavior & the criminal outcome if those choices are made. The D.A.R.E. program & the School Resource Officer (SRO) program have been utilized for years to educate the children & teenagers on the issues drug use/abuse & how devastating an impact they make on the lives of not only the individual, but the family unit & society as a whole.

I believe that citizen involvement in the reporting of crime(s) & reporting it when it is observed can be & has been of benefit to law enforcement in dealing with those issues. Such programs as the Neighborhood Watch involves the citizens to self-protect themselves, their neighborhoods, & their community from being victimized of crime(s) are crucial.

Explain how you would handle allegations of violations of the open meetings and open records laws.

HUPP: Local Law Enforcement Agencies per se do not enforce these laws, as they pertain to certain government entities. The enforcement of the KOMA & KORA falls upon the local County Attorney & the office of the Kansas State Attorney General, when suspected violations occur. It is their responsibility to investigate & then assign the proper punishment for such violations.

The Anderson County Sheriff's Office complies with providing any & all information to the public, media, or any other law enforcement agency(s) that are mandated by statute to receive such information. It also important that certain information obtained by law enforcement concerning criminal investigations of juveniles, sexual assaults, or other crimes be kept private & withheld per state statute for privacy, investigative, & prosecutorial purposes.

Where do you see opportunities for cost reduction or enhanced efficiency of the jail and sheriff's department?

HUPP: As Sheriff, I have looked for ways to upgrade much needed equipment for the Office. One of the ways to save money was by purchasing newer (used) patrol vehicles from the Kansas State/Federal Surplus & the KHP Fleet sales to rid the Sheriff's Office fleet of high mile patrol vehicles. It was found that going this way, it was possible to obtain (2) vehicles for the price of (1) brand new patrol vehicle & still have money to upgrade old or outdated emergency equipment.

I replaced the aging (6) AR carbine rifles by trading straight across for (6) brand new patrol rifles. That savings alone allowed for the purchase of additional equipment needed for those weapons.

I have utilized money obtained by doing VIN inspections for much needed training for Sheriff's Office personnel. This money not being from taxpayer dollars. I developed & instituted a Field Training Officer (FTO) program to create a standard of training for current & new hired deputies. Grants are being looked at to obtain new ballistic vests for the soon to be outdated vests currently worn by the deputies.

A computer records management system was purchased that saves on paper & office supplies in 2011.

I have utilized the skills & knowledge of in house employees to handle computer IT issues, thus saving thousands of dollars from outsourcing the repairs or issues to an outside company. Have set procedures in motion for standardization, expectations & responsibility to the public as well as the Sheriff's Office. I also kept the much needed School Resource Officer (SRO) program after the Federal Grant for that position expired, by incorporating that duty as part of investigations.

JAIL:

The mechanics of the jail operation is a day to day event. Such things as medical expenses for the prisoners are unforeseen. The sporadic electrical repairs since jail construction has been a cost issue, however is close to being totally fixed.

Some solutions for cost effectiveness & efficiency would be thru training & education for the correctional officers, thus minimizing potential law suits. Buying jail products in larger bulk to cut down on monthly expenses.

The Anderson County Jail since its conception has been utilized to bring in "Farm In" prisoners from surrounding counties that do not have the jail space due to overcrowding, has generated revenue for the county. By hiring an independent food service company (CBM) to feed the prisoners, this has saved money, as they are solely responsible for the feeding of & food service preparation for the prisoners, thus taking sole responsibility that would arise of any food service liability issues and food service codes established by health department regulations. The kitchen staff is hired by CBM, thus saving personnel payroll money & benefits.

Future ways of saving & generating additional revenue are being looked at by expanding to additional counties to accept & house their prisoners, which would possibly lead to the planned expansion of the second floor of the Anderson County Jail to accommodate a larger "farm in" jail population, thus generating additional revenue for the county. Utilization of inmate commissary money can be & has sparingly been used to purchase worn out items for the jail such as uniforms, mattresses, towels, shoes etc., this money having been generated by the inmates themselves.

VALENTINE: One of the most important issues of Anderson County right now is lack of officer presence in the County.

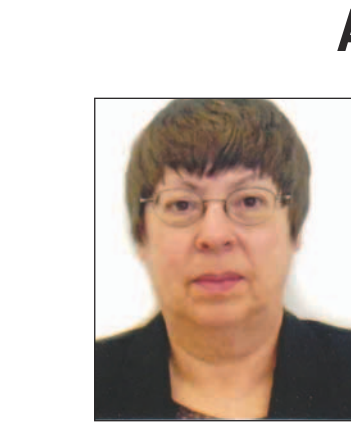

We need to get County Officers out of Garnett and back into the rural areas and do a better job of scheduling officers, which can be done with a working Sheriff and Undersheriff. We usually only have one officer out at night for the entire county so we need less supervisors. Go back to Sheriff Vaughn's rule. The only time Deputies should be in Garnett is for Meals, Court, Report writing and to assist the Garnett Police if asked. Garnett has a full-time working Police Department

VALENTINE: If someone is disrupting a lawful meeting we would ask that person or persons to leave. If that person should refuse or continue to disrupt the meeting he or she would be removed, possibly go to jail and charges of disorderly conduct would be sent to the C.A. for review.

Violation of open records act.

We cannot force a person to give a person their records without the court's permission. It would be handled like any other violation of law and that is in accordance with the law. Deputies would get witness, defendant and victim statements, complete their report and turn it over to the County Attorney as only he can decide on whether or not to prosecute.

VALENTINE: We need to go to the other county jails and ask why they are passing us up since we are $10.00 cheaper a day for holding other county inmates. If we are not meeting their requirements we need to. We use to charge 40 a day we dropped to 35, and still they pass us up. We have 9 officers and 5 of them are supervisors. If there were no road Sgt's it would cut the supervisors down to three, Sheriff, Undersheriff and Detective which would save money in the future and add productive officers. We can save money by not buying things that are not needed to run the Office. Sheriff Hupp spent approximately $2,500.00 in 10 months on pencils, pens, keys chains. wall calendars, trick or treat bags and other non essential items. Most of the items he had his name printed on so he could get his name out in the public. What if every An. Co. elected official did this? He has already purchased a case of 2013 calendars with his name on them, what if he does not win the election? He has traded semi auto rifles (AR-15) that had only been used once a year for qualification reasons, for fully auto rifles. I have been told by S.O. personal; that he plans now to place 500 rounds of rifle ammo in each patrol vehicle. That is 4,500 rounds of ammo that technically should be traded out or shot every six months to a year. Have you bought ammunition lately? Don't try to replace all the patrol vehicles at once. Mr. Hupp has purchased three vehicles in 11 months. We usually average one a year. I have always been taught, if it is not broke don't fix it.

Kathleen Neff, D

Brandon Jones, R

What do you see as the most important law enforcement issue facing Anderson County and what is your solution?

NEFF: From my information and experience, the three issues most in need of improvement in the County Attorney's office are the number of unfilled cases, the strained working relationship with the Sheriff's Department and the Garnett Police, and the treatment of victims of crime. I would concentrate my efforts on prosecuting many more cases, improving communications with the Sheriff's Department and the Garnett City Police Department, and hold my office open as a resource for both departments. It is important that law enforcement officers be told when a case needs further investigation, when prosecution of a case is being declined, and that officers be prepared for testimony at trial. Too often, these key functions of a County Attorney are not being carried out as things now stand.

Crime victims should be shown great consideration, and their input in criminal proceedings should always be sought and respected. I would see that crime victims were always notified of all court dates and plea proposals, and would give careful consideration to their opinions and feelings. Restitution for property damages should also be sought whenever appropriate.

Law enforcement agencies, including prosecutors, are in charge of enforcing open meetings and open records laws. Explain how you would handle allegations of violations of the open meetings and open records laws.

NEFF: KOMA and KORA are intended to support integrity and transparency in government decisions and actions, with civil penalties for violations of each. I have 25 years experience with civil cases. As County Attorney, I would take all complaints of violations of both KOMA and KORA seriously, and investigate each fully and quickly, taking such further steps as the facts of each case indicate. It is also important that public officials be educated on the law in this area, especially KOMA, as the statute is really more complex than it sounds.

CAMPBELL: Alcohol use among teenagers is the most important law enforcement issue facing Anderson County today and throughout the time I have been here. Alcohol is the number one gateway drug among youth and the root cause of much of the crime and drug abuse in the county. The "State" (e.g.: law enforcement officers, prosecutors, and courts) cannot do anything about the problem without community involvement, and the most important members of the community to get involved are the parents. The only solution to the most important law enforcement issue facing Anderson County is for parents to stop excusing their own poor parenting by saying "they're going to do it anyway" and start treating the issue as the major problem that it truly is. It is the nature of children to test the boundaries that are set by their parents. If parents don't want their children to do any worse than they themselves did, they must set their children's boundaries where their own parents set them. Saying that "they're going to do it anyway" is the same as saying the boundaries for my children are so wide and weak that they will have to go very far astray to even find a boundary to test. Many children die before they even encounter the boundaries their parents have set for them.

CAMPBELL: I will continue to handle open meetings and open records laws as I have in the past. When complaints are made to my office, I will obtain the necessary information and, if necessary, will file the appropriate cases as I did against the City of Garnett Planning Commission in 2007.

CAMPBELL: I believe that the people of Anderson County deserve a full-time Attorney in the County Attorney's Office. As I told the attorney who was appointed to the office before me, who hired me as his assistant, and who would only come to Garnett once or twice a week, "these people deserve better than this." The conversation was rather heated and occurred shortly before he too abandoned the position that I have held for more than a decade.

In the unlikely event that I find myself in the position of serving more than one county, I believe that it would be only fair to use the combined salaries of the two offices to hire a part-time assistant to insure that both offices provide full-time service to the people of the counties who rely on the them.

JONES: If elected, I will focus on three primary areas: DUIs, domestic violence, and burglaries. Drunk driving is a big concern in any community as it occurs far too often and puts so many innocent lives in danger. I will aggressively prosecute DUI cases to keep the roads safe. I also believe that people should feel safe and secure in their homes. That cannot happen if there is domestic violence in the home, or if people break-in to your home to steal your hard earned possessions. I will aggressively prosecute these crimes, and the criminals who commit them, so that Anderson County residents will feel safe and secure in their homes.

JONES: By state statute, the County Attorney is the one responsible for investigating and prosecuting alleged violations of the Kansas Open Meetings and Records Acts. I have investigated these types of violations for the past five years in Osage County. When a complaint is made to me, I thoroughly investigate the complaint by talking to all of the parties involved. I then determine if a violation has, in fact, occurred. If so, I work with the offending organization to make sure they are aware of the laws and how they apply to their organization. I thoroughly explain to them, both orally and in writing, how they violated the act. I will then usually require that they get some training to educate themselves on the law so there will be no future violations. I will always report my findings to the reporting party as well. In my experience, most of these violations are accidents and are due to lack of training or understanding of the law. If violations are persistent or found to be intentional, I would certainly considering fining the offending parties as allowed under the law.

Two candidates for this office have filed in multiple counties. Explain your views on a part-time approach vs. a full-time approach. Explain how you would effectively prosecute cases in Anderson County if you served more than one county.

NEFF: I am the only candidate who feels Anderson County needs and deserves its own County Attorney, for several reasons. First, as previously mentioned, I do feel the County Attorney's office has not been prosecuting cases as actively as it should be, given the county's crime rate, which means it's not all that part-time. There is much more out of Court work time to prosecution than in-court time.

Secondly, I strongly feel that a County Attorney should be part of the community, living and working with the people one serves and working closely with law enforcement, in order to function effectively.

Lastly, a prosecutor trying to work in two counties at once will face constant conflicts with each Court's docket, as the Judges' days in each county overlap with the other. No prosecutor can be in two places at once.

HUPP...

Anderson County as per state statute. He kept their home in Franklin County pending the outcome of the election, as it was deemed foolish to uproot the family for 1 1/2 years & due to tough economic times. His commitment to Anderson County is to establish a residence in Anderson County for his future term(s) as Sheriff. Jeff graduated from Kearney State College of Kearney, Nebraska (now the University of Nebraska at Kearney) with a Bachelor of Science Degree in 1975. He worked locally in Kearney at the Youth Development Center in Kearney which began his career in law enforcement (corrections) & then the Buffalo County Jail.

In 1980, he was hired by the Kearney, Nebraska Police Department in 1980 and rose through the ranks from patrolman, to detective, to patrol shift sergeant.

In 1990 he was hired by the Kansas Bureau of Investigation (KBI), where he worked in the various divisions of narcotics, undercover narcotics, the KBI Swat team, firearms instructor, FBI Violent Gangs Task Force, and Field Special Agent in Topeka, Kansas. In 2001, he moved his family to Franklin County, Kansas to fill the position of the local Resident Agent in the Kansas City Region & served in (5) counties, Anderson County being one of them. He retired after (21) years of service in November 2010.

Iola 54 Drive In, at age 16. Worked 15 years for Midland Brake in Iola, KS. Was an Iola Police Reserve Officer 1996-1998. September 1998 left Midland and was hired by Anderson County Sheriff, Vaughn. I've worked for Sheriff's, Vaughn, Dalsing, Brownrigg and Hupp.

Received awards from Anderson County, and from the State for service and dedication to Anderson County. Named Law Enforcement Officer of the year, 2008 - 2009. Fired by Sheriff Hupp April 16th 2012 for opposing him in the 2012 election.

I believe efficiency will improve with professionalism and changes in personnel and procedures. Hupp is not from this area and needed the job because he retired too early. He plans on being a administrator only and said he will not be a cop again. I will be a working Sheriff and that is why I need to be the next Anderson County Sheriff.

2012 Election: Candidate Comparison

Anderson County Commission

District 2

Jerry Howarter, D

Bill Craig, R

What do you see as the most important issue facing Anderson County?

HOWARTER: The economy is struggling toward recovery. Whether it is on the national or local level, it seems to affect us somehow. Every cost of living item from child care, groceries, clothing, entertainment, etc., is affected. Individually, we must operate within our family budget. I believe Anderson County should do the same. Everyone agrees that taxes are too high, but most also agree that they do not want to give up services, maintenance of roads and facilities that we have grown to appreciate. Keeping current proven programs in place should be a priority. We also need to constantly reevaluate and question what is being done in every facet of county operations. We all need to be accountable for our actions.

CRAIG: Maintaining an ever-increasing valuation for the county. An increasing valuation will spread the mill levy over a larger base, allowing a lower tax burden for the necessary goods and services, which much be purchased. If the total valuation declines, a higher mill levy must be charged to continue the necessary base of goods and services. The only way we can accomplish this balance is to attract more residences and/or business building to increase our county valuation.

Where do you stand on proposed construction of a new facility for Anderson County Hospital?

HOWARTER: Everyone would agree that having and maintaining a hospital in our community is of the upmost importance. Quality health care and education should rank at the top of a must-have list. If or when a proposal for a new hospital facility is brought before the county commissioners, my stand is to let the people decide, put it on a ballot and let the chips fall where they may.

CRAIG: Much more information will have to be made available before anybody can make an informed decision. Such information will need to address the cost and effect issues of staying with the present facility. It may be that we can't afford to take that option. If that is true, then we must evaluate what we can afford and pay for in the way of a new facility after we have a complete package of financial information. I strongly feel that anything that is done must be done by a vote of county citizens.

Some governmental organizations have lobbied against the publication of budgets, ordinances and other government actions in local newspapers as presently required by law. Describe your views on public notice issues and on governmental openness in general.

HOWARTER: The question is about government organizations that have lobbied against publication of budgets, ordinances and other government actions in local newspapers as required by law. That should be answered right there. If it's the law then it's final. We must follow the legal path or leave ourselves open to all kinds of legal issues. As far as openness in government, I'm all for it. Withholding information, covering up issues, for example, only builds doubt about how we conduct business. If we are to help build a stronger more cohesive community then we must move forward together. We have all seen what happens at the national level when members of congress simply refuse to get along.

CRAIG: I have no problem with requirements for publications of budgets, ordinances and other actions of governments. These are very necessary to keep citizens informed. I also have no problem with the Kansas Open Meetings Act and its enforcement. It also is very necessary in controlling unscheduled meetings of commissions, boards and committees in Kansas.

The county has lost three manufacturing plants and 70 jobs in the past 24 months. What is your approach to economic development and job creation?

HOWARTER: The county has lost three manufacturing plants in the past 24 months. The ethanol plant (East Kansas Agri Energy) has been hit by the drought, just like very other agricultural business in this region. According to news releases, their shutdown is temporary. With the onset of a new year and hopefully a much better growing season, they will be back in production and the jobs will return as well.

Kids Creations was purchased by a company from out of state. If that was their plan from the beginning, then maybe our local owners would not have sold out to them. Anyway, they are gone and so are the jobs that we so desperately need.

Astro Truck Covers was destroyed by fire. A lot of effort was made to help them stay in our community. It is my understanding that they had contracts to fill and needed immediate facilities to restart their manufacturing. Research was done, whether to rebuild a new plant or relocate to neighboring Ottawa. We lost again, because buildings were available to move into and production time would be much quicker with not having to rebuild. These jobs are also gone to another location.

The good news is that we have an animal bedding manufacturing company that has purchased part of the Astro property, a pipelining company that also purchased part of the Astro property. It is my understanding that these two companies will be hiring. As far as numbers, I have not heard. Lastly, nearby property has been purchased to open a wrecker business. I'm sure more about all of these businesses will be made known when the information is available.

As near as I can tell, there is no magic wand for job creation and economic development. I know we have an economic development committee that has and will continue to work very hard toward any employment producing entity that would show interest in our community. I believe the best idea is to never give up and just keep trying.

CRAIG: I think the way we have been administering our economic development efforts through a combination of city/county funding has been effective. In a period of nine months in 2012 we were able to acquire through an exchange of tax credits for real estate, the former Astro Cap acreage. This property has been platted and resold to three new businesses, which will provide approximately 40 new jobs and a new building on the former Astro sight. After these transactions we have the former Warner Manufacturing building. No public funds were involved with these transactions. The Warner building with a new roof is now offered for sale. This is the type of activity that can be generated due to the wealth of knowledge of programs of our director, Dennis Arnold, working two days per week.

Part of my public service includes 20 years with the Board of Education, both Westphalia and USD 365. Currently, I am a member of the hospital Board of Directors, St. Teresa Catholic Church, Westphalia Lions Club and the Knights of Columbus.

I have and always will be a strong supporter of the community. I am proud to have been a commissioner during the 911 sign installation, the hospital renovation, the Welda Sewer District formation, employment of a county engineer and county investigator, the construction of the annex building, railroad crossing arms at key locations, approving a new hazardous waste site and a new radio system which covers the entire county plus the highway patrol.

We strive to make Anderson County a safe and friendly place to live. We need to ensure proper support for medical services, law enforcement and road improvements, placing safety first.

I am very proud to be your county commissioner, and feel like I have the ability to work with people to get the job done. Together we can make a difference. I would appreciate your vote on Nov. 6.

District 3

Gene Highberger, D

David Leitch, R

What do you see as the most important issue facing Anderson County?

HIGHBERGER: I believe the economy is probably the most important issue facing Anderson County. Fuel cost, groceries and living cost are out of proportion with the value of the dollar. In addition, the heat and drought have really put a crunch on local farmers and cattlemen. The economy has also made it tough to LEITCH: The most important issue is taxes and their cause!

Where do you stand on proposed construction of a new facility for Anderson County Hospital?

HIGHBERGER: Every community has their public image and their strong points. The citizens of Anderson County are our strongest asset. Our public schools and the hospital are two more of the many assets Anderson County holds. St. Luke's Health System leases the Anderson County Hospital. St. Luke's should come up with a workable plan to present to the Anderson County Commissioners. If accepted, the plan should be put on the ballot so every registered voter in Anderson County would have a chance to vote on it.

LEITCH: The idea of a new hospital needs to be voted on by the taxpayers in this county and their wishes followed. That means when the bond issue fails there will not be a jailhouse end run attempted by a public building commission (PBC). The voting public needs to elect commissioners who will follow the voting wishes of the taxpayers, commissioners who have publicly stated they will not bypass the will of the people. I will not bypass the will of the voters!

Some governmental organizations have lobbied against the publication of budgets, ordinances and other government actions in local newspapers as presently required by law. Describe your views on public notice issues and on governmental openness in general.

HIGHBERGER: Without a doubt the public has a right to know what's happening in government, whether it be local, state and nationally. I see no need to change the current law.

LEITCH: Representative government is rule of the people, by the people, and for the people, which cannot occur if the people do not know what is going on. To inform the people we need to have honest people publishing the true facts promptly in a manner which the people can access before action is taken by their elected representatives. To this end I have been campaigning to use the Internet and the Anderson County website (anderson-countyks.org) to make available the agenda for issues coming before the county commission, at least two days before the commission meetings, to allow county residents time to either arrange to be present for the hearing, or to contact their elected commissioner and inform him/her of their wishes in the matter by email with the email addresses posted on the agenda. This can be done without any further expenditure of county funds. I can do this with the help of one other commissioner. I think the law should be followed and public notice should take place. In addition, I think closed meetings are overused and misused (the closed meetings with Robert Perry, JD, recently is a prime example and I protested at the time and since to no avail). Maybe we need a new county counselor?

The county has lost three manufacturing plants and 70 jobs in the past 24 months. What is your approach to economic development and job creation?

HIGHBERGER: There is no easy fix to this dilemma. The City of Garnett and Anderson County share an economic development director who is our contact for anyone interested in Anderson County. One of the problems is that every small town in the country is looking for new industry. I will do my very best to maintain what we already have.

LEITCH: The county cannot hope to attract new business and housing development with a tax base as high as Anderson County and the City of Garnett now has. The surrounding counties tax levy is way below ours and this is a prime decider of location of new construction. I was on the economic board in the 1970s when Iola got about 14 new industries and the reasons given by prospective businesses for not coming to Garnett included the tax base. If the county commissioners' function is to set policy for the county and to set the budget, which decides the mill levy. The only way I, as a commissioner, can influence economic development and job creation is to try and manage the budget, which now exceeds $7 million.

A PROPOSITION to amend section 1 of article 11 of the constitution of the state of Kansas, relating to classification and taxation of watercraft, to be submitted to the electors of the state at the general election to be held on November 6, 2012.

House Concurrent Resolution No. 5017

§ 1. System of taxation; classification; exemption. (a) The provisions of this subsection shall govern the assessment and taxation of property on and after January 1, 2013, and each year thereafter. Except as otherwise hereinafter specifically provided, the legislature shall provide for a uniform and equal basis of valuation and rate of taxation of all property subject to taxation. The legislature may provide for the classification and the taxation uniformly as to class of recreational vehicles and watercraft, as defined by the legislature, or may exempt such class from property taxation and impose taxes upon another basis in lieu thereof. The provisions of this subsection shall not be applicable to the taxation of motor vehicles, except as otherwise hereinafter specifically provided, mineral products, money, mortgages, notes and other evidence of debt and grain. Property shall be classified into the following classes for the purpose of assessment and assessed at the percentage of value prescribed therefor:

Class 1 shall consist of real property. Real property shall be further classified into seven subclasses. Such property shall be defined by law for the purpose of subclassification and assessed uniformly as to subclass at the following percentages of value:

- (1) Real property used for residential purposes including multifamily residential real property and real property necessary to accommodate a residential community of mobile or manufactured homes including the real property upon which such homes are located.....11 1/2%
- (2) Land devoted to agricultural use which shall be valued upon the basis of its agricultural income or agricultural productivity pursuant to section 12 of article 11 of the constitution.....30%
- (3) Vacant lots.....12%
- (4) Real property which is owned and operated by a not-for-profit organization not subject to federal income taxation pursuant to section 501 of the federal internal revenue code, and which is included in this subclass by law.....12%
- (5) Public utility real property, except railroad real property which shall be assessed at the average rate that all other commercial and industrial property is assessed.....33%
- (6) Real property used for commercial and industrial purposes and buildings and other improvements located upon land devoted to agricultural use.....25%
- (7) All other urban and rural real property not otherwise specifically subclassified.....30%

Class 2 shall consist of tangible personal property. Such tangible personal property shall be further classified into six subclasses, shall be defined by law for the purpose of subclassification and assessed uniformly as to subclass at the following percentages of value:

- (1) Mobile homes used for residential purposes.....11 1/2%
- (2) Mineral leasehold interests except oil leasehold interests the average daily production from which is five barrels or less, and natural gas leasehold interests the average daily production from which is 100 mcf or less, which shall be assessed at 25% 30%
- (3) Public utility tangible personal property including inventories thereof, except railroad personal property including inventories thereof, which shall be assessed at the average rate all other commercial and industrial property is assessed.....33%
- (4) All categories of motor vehicles not defined and specifically valued and taxed pursuant to law enacted prior to January 1, 1985 30%
- (5) Commercial and industrial machinery and equipment which, if its economic life is seven years or more, shall be valued at its retail cost when new less seven-year straight-line depreciation, or which, if its economic life is less than seven years, shall be valued at its retail cost when new less straight-line depreciation over its economic life, except that, the value so obtained for such property, notwithstanding its economic life and as long as such property is being used, shall not be less than 20% of the retail cost when new of such property.....25%
- (6) All other tangible personal property not otherwise specifically classified.....30%

(b) All property used exclusively for state, county, municipal, literary, educational, scientific, religious, benevolent and charitable purposes, farm machinery and equipment, merchants' and manufacturers' inventories, other than public utility inventories included in subclass (3) of class 2, livestock, and all household goods and personal effects not used for the production of income, shall be exempted from property taxation.

Explanatory statement. This amendment would allow the legislature to classify and tax watercraft upon a basis different from other property. A vote for this proposition would permit the legislature to provide for separate classification and taxation of watercraft or to exempt such property from property taxation and impose taxes in lieu thereof. A vote against this proposition would continue the taxation of watercraft in the same manner as all other property.

ACHS girls golf competes in regionals

The Lady Bulldog golf team competed in 4A regional play at Girard, KS on Monday, Oct. 8th. The conditions were less than favorable with early temperatures in the 30's and winds gusting. The grass was wet and the greens were fast at the Crawford Hills golf course. The four members of the team, Darissa Maley, Carolyn Hermreck, Bailey Rockers and Samantha McCullough, set out to play their best games in order to advance as a team to the state tournament. Though they competed well, their combined score was too high to qualify as a team. Two members of the team were able to qualify individually and advance to the state tournament. Carolyn Hermreck and Bailey Rockers both traveled to Hesston, KS to compete individually at the KSHSAA state golf tournament on Monday, October 15th. Rockers had a good outing and came in third place overall with a score of 100 on 18 holes. Hermreck, still battling shoulder problems, persevered and was able to finish 10th with a 117. Darissa Maley, a senior, finished her season with a 132 and McCullough finished with a 133- both within a couple strokes of advancing to state.

CH volleyball finding some rhythm

BY SARA BROWN THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW

RICHMOND- Saturday's torrential rain brought relief to even the Vikings dry spell when Central Heights capitalized on their progress from Tuesday and collected a win against Kansas City Christian. Unfortunately, the rally ended there, with the Vikings losing subsequent games to both Uniontown and Girard.

Slow starts have plagued Central Heights all season. Once again, they started out sluggish against Kansas City Christian. Luckily, the offense was able to spring to life and the Vikings came away with a win. The first set was a close 25-23, but with the confidence gained after that success, Central Heights came out fierce in the second match, winning 25-12. "I thought Alexis Dryden started to really hit hard, she is approaching the ball better and Shannon Goldring was hitting well," asserted Central Heights Coach Ann Bowen. "I think we struggle with confidence and we need to start going into matches expecting to win."

Brianna Erhart: 2 kills, 9 digs, 7 assists
Sydney Meyer: 3 kills
Kenzie Hayward: 7 kills, 3 blocks (2stuff)
Alexis Dryden: 7 kills
Whitney Kraus: 5 kills, 3 digs
Shannon Goldring: 5 kills
Lexi Griffin: 2 digs
Emily Miller: 4 digs
Tami Schaefer: 3 assists

The Vikings immediately moved on to face Uniontown. They were not able to capitalize on the momentum from the KCC win, and fell to Uniontown 11-25, 14-25. Bowen noted, "I think that we played better than the score showed. But again, we need the confidence going into the match."

THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW 10-16-2012 / Sara Brown

Brianna Erhart: 8 digs, 5 assists
Sydney Meyer: 1 kill, 5 blocks
Kenzie Hayward: 2 kills, 7 blocks
Alexis Dryden: 3 kills, 2 blocks
Whitney Kraus: 2 kills, 1 block, 10 digs
Shannon Goldring: 2 kills, 2 blocks
Lexi Griffin: 3 digs
Emily Miller: 4 digs
Tami Schaefer: 3 assists

The Vikings had a break before their final match against Girard. They came out flat in the first set going down 8-25. They were able to rebound in the second set, but not enough to come away with a win. They finished 22-25.

Vs. Girard
Brianna Erhart: 5 kills, 7 digs, 5 assists
Sydney Meyer: 1 kill, 3 blocks

Kenzie Hayward: 4 kills, 4 blocks, 1 stuff block, 15 digs
Alexis Dryden: 2 kills, 2 blocks
Whitney Kraus: 1 kill, 15 digs
Shannon Goldring: 1 kill, 1 block
Lexi Griffin: 3 digs
Emily Miller: 4 digs
Tami Schaefer: 4 assists, 2 digs

The tournament results bring the Vikings record to 5-20. "It almost seems like we always need a one set warm-up and then we are good to go. But by that time, its too hard to come back and win if we have lost the first set," suggested Bowen. "We need to finish the season by coming out strong from point one." Central Heights will get a chance to face the tournament winners, Osawatomie, at home Tuesday night.

AC JV volleyball brings home wins

BY DAN MORGAN THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW

PARKER - The Anderson County JV volleyball team competed at Prairie View on October 2, bringing home victories over Prairie View and Central Heights and taking 5th with wins over Jayhawk Linn twice and Central Heights in Osawatomie on Oct. 6.

AC won both matches at Prairie View beating the home team 25-20, 26-24 and Central Heights 25-14, 25-18.

Coach Samantha Overstreet commented, "Two great road wins. Great serving night by Tori (Cunningham) with 9 aces.

On October 6th AC competed in the Osawatomie Invitational. The Bulldogs were 1-2 in pool play, beating Jayhawk Linn 25-21, 25-17, but losing to Wellsville 23-25, 25-17, 14-16 and West Franklin 25-25, 20-25.

In bracket play AC reeled in 2 more victories to capture 5th place beating Central Heights for the 2nd time in 4 days, 25-18, 25-18 and Jayhawk Linn the 2nd time that day, 25-19, 25-19.

"We came home in 5th which was disappointing because we all know we could have done better," commented Coach Overstreet. "Our serving overall was better than it has been! Kinlee (Jones) had 10 aces on the day. The first match against Wellsville was a heartbreaking loss. Our passing and defense was a major struggle all day and we allowed too many balls to drop. Alexis had 19 kills and Tori (Cunningham) had 10.

Sue Schulte, communications director at the association offices in Garnett, said last week business and lobbying efforts will continue as the associations pursue a host of projects.

"I've been a registered lobbyist for the association for several years, and Jere and I have worked closely on state and national policy issues," Schulte said. "Sue Hardman will continue to handle the operations of our organizations. Jere is not only our boss, but a dear friend, and we continue to pray for his return."

Lancers level Chetopa for homecoming win

BY DANE HICKS THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW

COLONY - The Lancers made the most of a district matchup during the Crest homecoming Friday night and took a 78-36 victory from Chetopa.

Crest hammered out a total of 536 yards on offense - 397 on the ground and 139 in the air assault. Chetopa snapped up a small lead in the first quarter and was up 16-10 at the end of the first period, but the Crest running machine came alive and smashed in six unanswered touchdowns beginning early in the 2nd period to secure the win after a 48-16 halftime score.

"We played with lots of emotion and were determined to be successful tonight," said head coach Brent Smith. "Offensively we did a good job of turning over and taking advantage of turnovers created by our offense."

Lancer QB Kyle Hammond connected 6 of 9 passes for 58 yards. Jordan Morton hit three of 9 for 81. Hammond led receiving as well with 3 catches for 81 yards, while Brock Ellis caught 5 for 15 and Sedlak caught one for 43.

Hammond massed 220 yards on the night on 25 rushing plays with 5 TDs and two PATs. Sedlak had 126 yards on 10 carries with two TDs. Morgan rushed for 51 yards and scored one PAT.

Miller topped the Lancer defensive stats with 12 tackles on the night. Boone had 8, Sedlak 7 and Hammond and Ellis both had 6. Morton picked off 4 interceptions in the Crest backfield as Chetopa tried in vain to rally an air assault.

The win brings the Lancers to 4-3 overall and 2-1 in district play. Chetopa fell to 4-3 and 1-1 in district.

Scoring:
11:22/1: Chetopa score on 64 yd run with PAT; 3:31/1: Cheopa score with PAT; 1:05/1 Hammond 4 yd run, PAT pass Hammond to Ellis; 11:09/2: Morton 49 yd pass to Hammond, PAT pass Hammond to Ellis; 9:36/2: Morton 15 yd pass to Hammond, PAT pass Hammond to Ellis; 7:05/2: Hammond 34 yd run, PAT pass Hammond to Ellis; 4:45/2: Dylan Sedlak 55 yd run, PAT pass Hammond to Ellis; :14/2: Morton 1 yd run, PAT failed; 7:14:3 Sedlak 27 yd run, PAT Morton run; 5:42/3 Cheopa score, PAT no good; 5:20/3: Hammond 18 yd run, PAT Hammond run; 1:40/3: Chetopa score, PAT good; :14/3: Chetopa score, PAT failed; 10:41/4: Hammond 37 yd run, PAT Hammond run; 7:30/4: Hammond 37 yd run, PAT failed.

Local youth celebrate Red Ribbon Week

Red Ribbon Week is October 23rd through October 31st, 2012. It was started when drug traffickers in Mexico City killed DEA agent, Kiki Camarena, in 1985. This began the continuing tradition of displaying Red Ribbons as a symbol of intolerance towards the use of drugs. Local elementary schools have taken part in this for the past four years and we want to make this year even better. The goal is to strengthen life skills and drug resistance techniques, while keeping children in a safe, healthy and drug free environment.

The Anderson County Family Coalition will help celebrate Red Ribbon Week with the National Plant the Promise Campaign. The goal of this campaign is to plant 500 red tulip bulbs at Garnett Elementary School

(GES) during this year's celebration. The tulips will represent each of the 500 children attending GES. The Anderson County Family Coalition is partnering with the school in this effort. GES has been selected as the site for the tulips this year, with hopes to expand to other schools in the county and other community sites. The bulbs should bloom in April, which is Alcohol Awareness month. This will remind the kids of the materials they learned in October, and give a continuing lesson on staying drug and alcohol free.

Donations are needed in order to make this event a success! If you would like to donate bulbs, a small shovel, or help cover the costs of these purchases, please contact Amy Wettstein, School Counselor at 785-448-3177.

Traveling toilets return

GARNETT: From now until Oct. 26, the City of Garnett city employees are having several toilets traveling around town to raise money to support W.I.N.G.S. (www.wingsathome.com) during this month of October, Breast Cancer Awareness Month. All proceeds of this project will be donated to this local organization.

Persons interested in having some fun may call City Hall at (785) 448-5496 to ask to have a decorated toilet placed in a friend or neighbor's yard. The cost is a $10 donation for delivery and the donation can be dropped off or mailed to Garnett City Hall, 131 W. 5th Avenue, Garnett, KS, 66032. The friend or neighbor can then request the toilet be removed from their property by:

- Donating $5 for removal; or,
- Donating $10 to remove the toilet and have it placed in a friend or neighbor's yard of their choice; or,
- Purchase Potty Protection Insurance: Donating $20 removes the toilet, placing it in a friend or neighbor's yard of their choice, and guarantees the toilet will not return to their property.

The City of Garnett employees invite you to join in this fun fund-raiser. No potty poopers please. Call and request your traveling toilet today.

Participation is strictly voluntary.

Goppert State Service Bank (formerly Garnett State Savings Bank) through its affiliate connection to the Goppert Foundation will benefit summer users of the Garnett Recreation Center by underwriting the cost of air conditioning of the gym and weight room, city manager Joyce Martin told commissioners last week.

Martin told commissioners in her general business report last week that she had been contacted by GSSB President Loran Wilson regarding the possibility of adding air conditioning to the facility. The city found bids for the system and the Goppert Foundation agreed to fund it.

The city's rec center has enjoyed steady use and membership growth since it opened in 2010, but attendance during the past two summers has flagged, particularly during last summer's extreme heat.

The Goppert Foundation previously contributed $131,000 to the remodeling of the former National Guard Building into the rec center shortly after the Kansas National Guard transferred ownership of the building to the city under its statewide downsizing plan.

Chores have changed over years

In these times of store-bought food, automatic heat and cool air, and automotive transportation, life on the farm or in a town home is very different for a youngster than it was 50 or 100 years ago. The difference consists principally of the greatly lessened number of chores to be done by young boys and girls.

Chores are defined as the regular or daily light work to be done on a farm or in a home, but some of them were none too light. On the farm, as soon as he was able to assume any responsibility, a young boy was given such jobs as going out to fetch the horses and cows in from the fields in the morning. In wintertime, the air could be mighty frosty at the beginning of the day and this chore was no cinch, but in summer the air often was clear and fresh and the only drawback to being out working was the earliness of the hour. Farm chores usually started right at or even before daybreak, especially in the planting, cultivating and harvest seasons.

Then the various animals had to be fed their grain and hay the horses, mules, oxen, cows, calves, sheep, pigs, chickens, ducks, geese and other fowl. And that meant shelling and grinding corn. Some, usually a boy or girl, also had to gather the eggs from nests in the barn, chicken house and other odd places where the hens may have wandered.

In addition to being fed, the animals also had to be watered, which meant laboriously pumping water into troughs, tanks, and pails, unless the windmill happened to be working at the time. And when the stock had been watered, there was water to be pumped and carried into the kitchen for cooking, cleaning and washing, and the Saturday night bath. Since the used water had to be carried back out, the same way it came in – in pails it is no wonder that water was used sparingly in those days. The farm boy also was expected to help milk the cows twice a day when he became old enough, and sister joined in, too, at the proper age. When a boy was big enough, he cleaned out the stalls occupied by the cows and horses and brought fresh straw for the animals.

When all those chores had been tended to, the male youngster turned his attention to the woodpile, where he sawed logs with his bucksaw, split them with his axe, and carried the firewood to the pile, the wood-shed, the wood closet, or the wood box in the kitchen next to the stove.

And if he was found with time on his hands, the farm boy was assigned to such special chores as gathering nuts, picking and paring apples, gathering berries, shelling peas, splitting shoe pegs, and collecting hog bristles. When there were no chores to be done at the moment, he could slip away for some hunting, trapping, fishing, or swimming in the ole' swimming hole.

Youngsters who lived in town also had their chores, some of which existed on the farm. Young girls were expected to help with carding wool, setting dye, scouring pewter, hatching flax, spinning thread and yard, and weaving such items as suspenders, garters, and candlewicks, watch bands, and tapers. They helped clean and fill the kerosene lamps and trim the wicks, assisted in making candles, stirred batter and icing, and so on, in addition to such modern tasks as bed making, dusting, and dish washing.

Chores for the town boy consisted of shoveling coal into the furnace, shaking the grates, carrying out ashes, beating carpets, emptying slop jars, grinding coffee, shining shoes for the family, and helping with other chores which his sister performed. There never was a dull moment, nor an idle one, if it could be helped.

2002: Mothers say investigation botched

Oct. 15, 2002

The mothers of two teenage girls killed last May in a three-car wreck near Scipio delivered a scathing attack on Anderson County Sheriff Darin Dalsing and County attorney Fred Campbell at Monday's county commission meeting, saying the elected officials' incompetence and lack of action had allowed the woman responsible for their deaths to escape criminal charges. Though Dalsing admitted his department erred the night of the accident investigation by not having a camera available to photograph the scene, he said the investigation had been conducted and the report turned over to the county attorney's office. Campbell told the women he is still waiting for the return of an accident reconstruction report from the Kansas Highway Patrol before he can determine what, if any, charges can be filed.

While the additional one-cent sales tax vote coming up in November may seem like a relatively painless way for Anderson County residents to fund construction of a new county jail, Ray Beckman says the new tax would deliver a solid blow to his auto dealership in Garnett. Beckman Motors' new and used car sales and service amount to the largest collection of sales tax in Anderson County – some $217,000 last year and totaling a full third of the county's entire sales tax collection. Beckman says the new tax would give big-ticket shoppers enough incentive to buy from his neighboring competitors in other counties.

night. Though law enforcement questions topped the evening, the county's top law enforcement official, County Sheriff Litsch, was nowhere to be found. Questions concerning cooperation, enforcement of drug laws and criminal justice were all posed by the audience.

Candidates running for two county commission posts in Anderson County answered questions concerning their views on proposal from an Oklahoma company to put in a solid waste disposal site in Anderson County during a question and answer session for county candidates. Candidate Bill Young said he is not in favor of letting the company bring in the landfill, even with the economic benefit the company says development will mean. Candidate Ann Calahan said not only should county residents be concerned about proposed landfills, but voters should think about recycling and saving the local landfill as well. She said the county should start thinking about ways to recycle.

City commissioners approved $1,800 for a crossing guard for the Longfellow School crossing on Sixth and Maple, and the administration of the crossing guard position will be by the USD 365 school board. The crossing guard will be at the crossing before and after school and at noon and be paid $10 per day. Traffic studies at the crossing have not indicated that there is sufficient traffic to warrant a pedestrian-stop signal.

Crest Board of Education had a special meeting at the high school library Thursday and accepted the resignation of Crest West Principal Fred Johnson and the appointment of Joe Chalker to assume the duties of the position. Johnson, who has been the principal for the past 13 years decided to retire and move to his home in Oklahoma City.

W. H. Manners says he doesn't pretend to be much of a farmer – just a retired merchant, still, he has his ideas about how farming ought to be done and he put those ideas into practice. Sometimes, the ideas prove good ones and sometimes, he makes mistakes, just like other folks. Well, last season, he bought a hundred-ton silo. Last season he had to scratch around pretty lively for stuff to put in the silo, and then only put up 35 tons, part of it oats that hadn't done very well. That 35 tons of silage lasted 35 head of stock up to May 10, when pastures were fine. Mr. Manners was so well pleased that he made sure of enough stuff to fill his silo this season. He figured 12 acres of kaffir corn would fill it. When the proper time came, he could only get into it six acres of the kaffir corn and found that he needed another silo to the same capacity. He got to figuring the money value of his six acres of silage and found that his six acres are worth $1,000. What crop can a farmer raise in this country that will make him that much money? The experience has proven to him the value of the silo.

A question to answer?

In Matthew 16, Jesus asks the disciples a general question. "Who do people say the Son of Man is?" They replied, "Some say John the Baptist; others say Elijah; and still others Jeremiah or one of the prophets." Jesus then asks a very specific question. "Who do you say I am?" Simon Peter answered, "You are the Christ the Son of the Living God."

Each of us has to answer this question for ourselves. I know personally there are times when I feel much closer to Christ than at other times. In those times when I don't feel his presence as much, I believe he uses those times to grow me up in the faith. He allows situations, circumstances and people to affect our lives. The way we handle these situations, circumstances and people goes a long way toward answering the question he asked of the disciples. In Matthew 5:14-16; Jesus says, "You are the light of the world. A city on a hill cannot be hidden. Neither do people light a lamp and put it under a bowl. Instead they put it on its stand, and it gives light to everyone in the house. In the same way let your light shine before men that they may see your good deeds and praise your Father in heaven."

If Jesus truly is our Lord and Savior we put out light, others see that light and are affected by it. I certainly was affected by the life my grandmother Bilderback lived. I remember her reading the Bible with a lighted magnifying glass. I saw how much she loved the Lord.

There can only be one answer to the question Jesus asks. John the Baptist refers to Jesus as "the lamb who takes away the sin of the world." John the Apostle stated that, "the Word became flesh and made his dwelling among us." My answer to Jesus would be "You are the Christ the Son of the Living God." What would your answer be if Jesus ask you the question, "Who do you say I am?"
