Advance voting shows high turnout, interest

Review's Facebook page, website and Newsline will post results tonight

BY VICKIE MOSS THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW

GARNETT — About 10 percent of Anderson County voters already have cast a ballot heading into today's elections, thanks to advance voting.

More than 540 people voted at the Anderson County Clerk's office by Monday morning, just hours before advance voting in the 2012 general election ended. About half, or about 250 people, had voted at the clerk's office; the others voted by mail.

Anderson County Clerk Phyllis Gettler said the number of advance voters for this election is "way over" the number of advance voters in any previous election. She cited interest in the presidential election as well as a number of contested local and state races as possible reasons for the increased number of advance voting, as well as a greater awareness and interest in advance voting. It's likely a high percentage of voters also will turn out for today's election.

Hurricane spares former locals

Winds biggest problem for former residents now in Pennsylvania

BY VICKIE MOSS THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW

Some East Coast residents with ties to Anderson County were spared the full wrath of Hurricane Sandy last week. Most reported strong winds and brief power outages, but were not drastically affected by the superstorm that flooded parts of New York City and wiped out neighborhoods along the coast.

Hurricane Sandy blew into the East Coast and northeast states early last week, fueled by a deadly combination of a collision with a cold front and high tide from a full moon. More than 100 people have been reported dead from the storm. Neighborhoods were virtually wiped out from New York to New Jersey. Power outages left more than 7 million people across several states with-

Commissioner leaving

As ethanol plant job ends, Morgan pursues work options in Texas

BY DANE HICKS THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW

GARNETT — City commissioners are expected to start the process of selecting a replacement for commissioner Dan Morgan at this coming Nov. 13 meeting, after an unofficial announcement that Morgan will be leaving the area in mid November.

Though no formal statement has yet been made, Morgan, who works part-time in the Review's sports department, told Review staffers last week he planned

Above, emergency responders talk to people trapped in a minivan after it ran off the road and struck a utility pole. It took about an hour to free a pregnant woman and two children who were trapped. The situation was complicated by power lines that fell on the van after it wrecked, and the extent of damages to the vehicle.

At right, a firefighter hands over one of the children after she was freed from the wreckage. Although the driver reported injuries, none of the children were seriously injured.

Pregnant mom, 4 kids escape serious injury

Baby born at hospital after family survives rollover wreck on K-31 Friday

BY VICKIE MOSS THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW

GARNETT — It looked like a wreck no one could survive — a minivan, wrapped around a sheared utility pole, rested nearly on its top in a ditch and was covered by live power lines. A young child lay on the ground, trapped halfway under the wreckage while her younger sister and nine-months pregnant mom lay trapped inside. A helicopter ambulance was on the way.

Yet, somehow, mom Sarah Stoltzfus, 34, of Garnett, and four children managed to escape serious injury from the wreck Friday afternoon, Nov. 2. Hours later, the family welcomed a new addition as her baby was born at Overland Park Regional Medical Center.

Stoltzfus was driving west on K-31 when a right-side tire dropped off the roadway just west of Anderson County Junior/Senior High School. A Kansas Highway Patrol report said she overcorrected, drove back onto the roadway and overcorrected again. The highway offers virtually no shoulder in that area and Stoltzfus' vehicle entered the north ditch and rolled onto the driver's side, nearly upside down. The van struck a utility pole, shearing it in half and dropping hot power lines on top of the vehicle.

Two children, Hailey J. Stoltzfus,

USD 365 could make decision by December on whether to buy buses

Apple Bus presents plan, alternative to help board decide

BY VICKIE MOSS THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW

GARNETT — A decision on whether to buy a fleet of school buses and take over the service could be made by USD 365 Board of Education members as early as Dec. 6.

School board members at their regular meeting Thursday, Nov. 1, heard from a representative from Apple Bus Service about the cost to continue with current services for another five years, similar to the current contract but with a slight increase for cost of living. An alternative plan, where USD 365 would purchase the bus fleet and Apple would continue to manage the service, also was presented.

The district has received bids on the cost of new and used buses. The bids have shown it would cost between $87,455 to $77,210 per bus for new buses, depending on the type and size of the bus. The cost for used buses would be between $72,000 to $65,025. The district would need about 24 buses, for a total cost of more than $1 million, but that cost would be spread out over five to 10 years, with an annual payment of about $139,096.25 just for the buses.

Superintendent Don Blome initially estimated the total cost for the district to run its own bus service would be about $783,909, saving the district about $100,000 per year over its present contract. Even after the proposal by Apple, it appears the district still could save money by taking over the service, Blome said. He encouraged school board members to make a decision by the next meeting, Dec. 6, to ensure delivery of buses by July 1, 2013, if the board wants to go that direction.

Other area school districts own and manage their own bus services. Crest USD 479 in the southern part of Anderson County has owned and managed its bus service for many years. Central Heights USD 288 in southern Franklin County took over its previous bus vendor's service two years ago. Superintendent Jim White said the district has saved about $100,000 per year, as projected.

to relocate to the Houston, Texas, area this month to pursue employment. Morgan was a grain merchandiser with the East Kansas Agri Energy ethanol plant until it shut down due to drought-reduced corn supplies last month.

Morgan was elected in April 2011, unseating incumbent Chris Maynard from among a field of four candidates for the commission seat. The replacement filling his seat will serve until the spring election of 2014.

Commissioners in the past have accepted applications for replacements and then interviewed parties interested in the job. The city attorney casts the deciding vote in the event the two remaining commissioners are split between two appointees. The process generally takes several weeks.

The commission meets Nov.13. Morgan said he had tentative plans to relocate on Nov. 17. As of yesterday morning city manager Joyce Martin said she had not received a formal announcement, and Morgan did not directly address followup requests for a statement from the Review.

out power as the storm hit. In recent days power remains out and gasoline supplies have been hampered due to closed roads and cleanup efforts.

Carolyn O'Dell, who now lives in Greeley, said she had heard from both her brothers. James Gilner lives in Harrisburg, Pa., and Frank "Archie" Gilner lives in upstate New York, although all the siblings were raised in Anderson County. James Gilner reported high winds but no real damage. Frank Gilner said he also had high winds, and a couple of trees caused damage to his son's house, but everyone was safe.

O'Dell also lived at Harrisburg for about 32 years and was quite familiar with the areas in New Jersey that were hardest hit by the storm.

"It's sure a shame what it did to Atlantic City," O'Dell said.

The storm wiped out Atlantic City's historic Boardwalk, among other damages.

Also in central Pennsylvania, Garnett native Charles Lickteig said he also was spared from most of the storm's impact. He is far enough inland to miss most of the rain, and also was spared from heavy snow that fell on places like West Virginia.

"We did get a lot of wind and little bit of rain. We've had more rain in other storms, but it definitely was a windy day," Lickteig said. "A lot of people around lost power. We lost power around 9 p.m., but fortunately we were able to get it back in a couple of hours."

Lickteig grew up in Garnett and graduated from K-State in 2001. He soon started working for Cargill, and moved to Pennsylvania for the job. Some of Cargill's facilities were damaged, but they were back up and running within a few days, Lickteig said.

Despite reports of fuel shortages and rationing in some parts of the northeast, Lickteig said he hasn't seen anything like that in his area.

Watercraft Taxes

Voters will see a question on the ballot about a constitutional amendment. That has caused some confusion for early voters, according to state officials via The Kansas City Star.

The constitutional amendment will be printed in its entirety on the ballot, but the issue really is about two little words, "and watercraft." A "yes" vote on the amendment allows the state to tax watercraft such as boats at a rate different than it currently does. Advocates for the change say it is necessary because it will lower property taxes for boat owners; many boat owners buy and register their boats in nearby states with lower taxes, such as Missouri and Oklahoma.

Currently, Kansas taxes boats at 30 percent of the value multiplied by the county's mill levy. An example used in The Star shows a $20,000 boat would be taxed $150 in Oklahoma but $750 in Kansas.

Some state officials said the ballot initiative is confusing to early voters, and they are worried that people will vote "no" simply because they don't understand the question.

On the Ballot

Today's election offers voters a variety of choices at every level.

On the federal level, voters will cast their pick for president. Republican Mitt Romney is expected to easily win Kansas' six electoral votes over incumbent President Barack Obama. The contest across the nation overall, however, is expected to be tight.

U.S. Representative Lynn Jenkins, a Republican, also is favored to retain her House seat over challengers Tobias Schlingensiepen, Democrat, and Martin Hawver, Libertarian. However, recent redistricting could bring challenges for Jenkins before the final votes are tallied.

At the state level, Anderson County voters will help decide who should represent them in two state Senate races and one House of Representatives race. On the House side, incumbent Democrat Bill Feuerborn of Garnett will face Republican challenger Kevin Jones of Wellsville. On the Senate side, from underneath the wreckage. They had to remove seats from the van before they could free the mother from the top, or passenger's side, of the vehicle.

Sarah Stoltzfus was taken by air ambulance to Overland Park Regional Medical Center. Reports from people who knew the family said medical personnel decided to deliver the baby, just two weeks earlier than an estimated delivery date, in order to treat Stoltzfus for injuries sustained in the accident. Mom and baby were reported to be doing fine, and the other children involved in the wreck were not seriously injured.

A highway patrol report said seatbelt usage was not known and was under investigation.

The wreck knocked out power to the area for several hours, including to nearby ACJSHS. Students were excused from classes early because of the power outage.

2, and Nickolas D. Stoltzfus, 7, were able to get out of the van. Two other children, Kylie M. Stoltzfus, 6, and Rianna K. Stoltzfus, 4, were trapped inside along with their mother.

Before emergency responders could free them, utility crews had to secure the power lines. Once the power was shut off and lines lifted off the van, firefighters and emergency responders had to figure out how to safely remove the family members. Six year-old Kylie Stoltzfus, who was trapped underneath the van, was the first person freed and cried softly as she was lifted onto a stretcher and loaded into an ambulance. She was taken to Children's Mercy Hospital.

It took crews nearly an hour to free the other two occupants. Crews cut into the driver's side with extrication equipment, digging Rianna Stoltzfus out Republican Caryn Tyson of Parker faces Democrat Denise Cassells of Mound City for the right to represent most of Anderson County in District 12. Also for the Senate, Republican Marty Read of Mound City takes on Democrat Shirley Palmer of Fort Scott in District 4, which includes the south-east part of Anderson County such as Kincaid and Lone Elm. Both District 12 and District 4 were left without an incumbent after the state's redistricting earlier this year. Both Tyson and Palmer, however, previously served in the Kansas Legislature.

Locally, voters will decide two county commission races and pick winners in hotly contested sheriff and county attorney races.

Two county seats are up for grabs with only one incumbent in the mix, guaranteeing at least one new face on the county commission after longtime commissioner Dudley Feuerborn decided not to run for re-election. Gene Highberger, a Democrat and longtime commissioner, is hoping to retain his seat despite a challenge from Republican David Leitch, a retired physician. In the race for Feuerborn's seat, Republican Bill Craig once served on the commission and is hoping voters will return him to the post. He faces Democrat Jerry Howarter, a retired teacher and coach and owner of a hunting business. The race for county sheriff features an incumbent appointed to the seat about a year ago, Democrat Jeff Hupp, a retired KBI agent with more than 20 years of law enforcement experience. He is facing Vern Valentine, who worked for the sheriff's department for 16 years until Hupp fired him last summer for filing to run for sheriff.

A three-way race marks the quest to lead the county attorney's office. Republican Brandon Jones from Ottawa is vying for the opportunity to represent two counties; he is currently the Osage County attorney and hopes he will retain not only that post but also win Anderson County. He will face Garnett incumbent Fred Campbell, a Libertarian who also will appear on the ballot in each county in the Fourth Judicial District - Anderson, Osage, Coffey and Franklin. Also running is Democrat Kathleen Neff, a criminal defense attorney from Lyndon for most of her career who is hoping to switch sides and prosecute cases. Neff is not running in any other county.

The local ballot also will include three county officials running unopposed. County Clerk Phyllis Gettler, treasurer Dena McDaniel and register of deeds Sandra Baugher are expected to retain their seats.

Jobs first, brand second

Garnett leaders should hesitate over sign cost to launch overall jobs plan

Garnett City Commissioners are right to question the costs of signage and the overall plan of an ongoing project to "re-brand" the image of the city; but in the interests of the city's overall economy commissioners haven't gone far enough in focusing an agenda on the problem of recent job losses.

EDITORIAL

by Dane Hicks, PUBLISHER

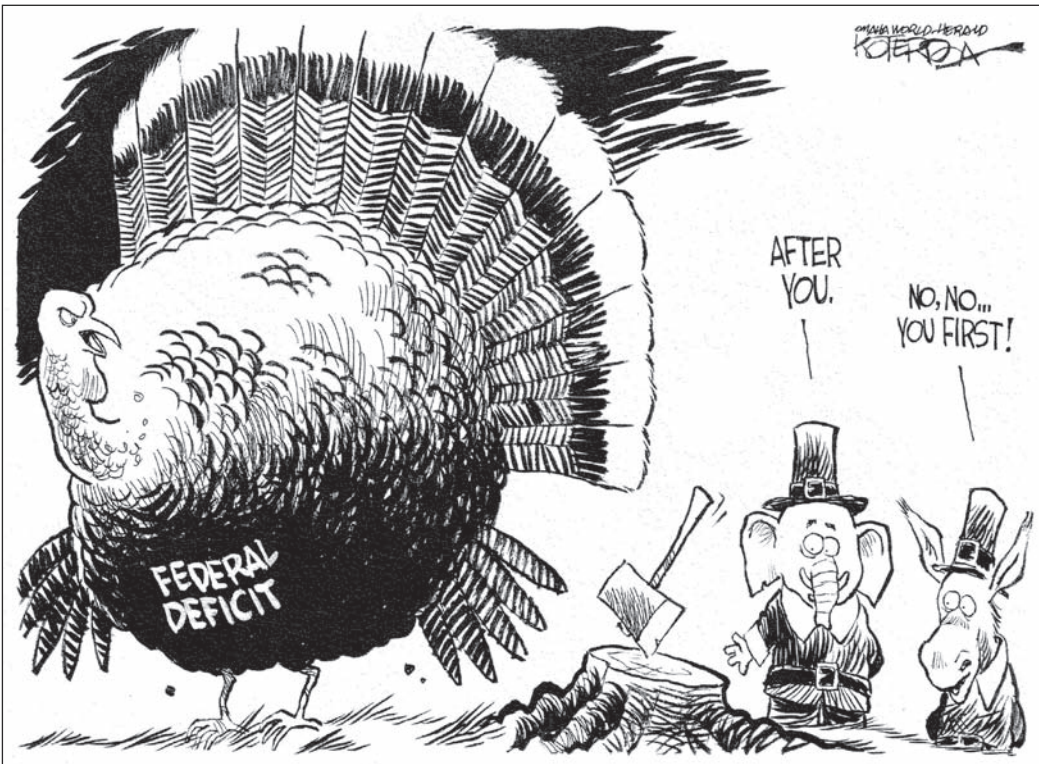

Branding should and does play a role in marketing a community, but with 70 jobs lost in the past two years between the loss of three companies: Kids Creations, Astro Truck Covers and the EKAE ethanol plant, Garnett's focus should be on the more basic blocking and tackling of economic development.

This is likely to become more and more a public issue after today's elections, when the choices in local and national political races are finally known and locals again direct their attention to other issues - like a cost of $7,000 for a redesign of the city's two "welcome" signs to utilize its new "brand" logo - one at either end of the city on U.S. Highway 59. Some of those few members of the public who've been paying attention have already been suspicious of the city's decision to spend money on re-branding during a recession. To place the effort above a full-court press on job creation, in view of our recent job losses, seems misdirected.

Attracting jobs to a small community like Garnett is a tough job even in good times, which is even more reason to be sure that effort is engaged now. Economic development for a small town is a grand fishing expedition and it's been years since Garnett had a bite. But unless we keep our bait in the water...

A solid measure undertaken by the Anderson County Development Agency recently is a Business Loans and Incentives programs aimed at existing businesses and would-be entrepreneurs scheduled for next Tuesday. ACDA has even negotiated a 3-year free rent deal for the old Warner Manufacturing building off East Fourth Avenue in Garnett if a relocating business creates a minimum of five jobs. Those are great ideas, but they need to be part of an ongoing chorus and not solos. With outright job losses of late, this would seem to be a priority over branding and signage.

City commissioners should seize the awakening by pushing for development of a new local economic plan for the city in 2013 tapping available resources from the Kansas Department of Commerce, K-State Extension Rural Development, other universities as well as Small Business Development Centers in the state. No doubt such a plan once massed would encompass branding, but would be tailored first toward attracting jobs to our community.

A world of gifts

BY RICH LOWRY

NATIONAL REVIEW

Eventually social science works its way around to confirming eternal verities. So it is with gratitude.

An article in a psychological journal a few years ago noted that "throughout history, religious, theological and philosophical treatises have viewed gratitude as integral to well-being." Psychology has recently worked to quantify the wisdom of the ages and confirmed -- sure enough -- it was correct.

Lowry

A raft of recent research has established that grateful people are happier people. They are less depressed and less stressed. They are less likely to envy others and more likely to want to share. They even sleep better. As the journal article put it, empirical work "has suggested gratitude is as strongly correlated with well-being as are other positive traits, and has suggested that this relationship is causal."

Gratitude constitutes what philosopher David Hume called a "calm passion." It doesn't have the theatrical potential of anger and hatred, or courage and sacrifice. Nonetheless, there's a reason it has been considered central to the good life and a good society by all major religions and by thinkers stretching from Cicero ("Gratitude is not only the greatest of virtues, but the parent of all others") to Oprah ("Whenever you can't think of something to be grateful for, remember your breath").

Gratitude acknowledges our dependence on others and the debt we owe because of it. Grateful people want, somehow, to return the favor of their undeserved windfall. It is a sentiment that, in the jargon, is "pro-social." A leading figure in its study, Michael McCullough of the University of Miami, maintains that it binds us to others beyond the ties of family and of commercial transactions.

"A raft of recent research has established that grateful people are happier people. They are less depressed and less stressed. They are less likely to envy others and more likely to want to share. They even sleep better."

Gratitude is at the root of patriotism, of the impulse to preserve and improve our patrimony. In a culture that tends to celebrate self-glorification, gratitude points us beyond our own demands and discontents. It inclines us to see all around us a world of gifts.

What did we do to inherit a country that is free and prosperous? To deserve Charlie Parker or Mark Twain? To build the Golden Gate Bridge or the Chrysler Building? To measure up to the beauties of the Catholic mass or the Mormon Tabernacle Choir? Or simply to prove worthy of traffic lights and potable water?

Without gratitude, William F. Buckley Jr. wrote, "We are left with the numbing, benumbing thought that we owe nothing to Plato and Aristotle, nothing to the prophets who wrote the Bible, nothing to the generations who fought for freedoms activated in the Bill of Rights." He called for "a rebirth of gratitude for those who have cared for us, living and, mostly, dead. The high moments of our way of life are their gifts to us."

John Adams captured the grateful attitude when he acknowledged the hardships of this vale of tears while celebrating it all the same (if in anachronistic language): "Griefs upon griefs! Disappointments upon disappointments. What then? This is a gay, merry world notwithstanding."

We really had an outstanding player on our football team this year. Number 25 was his number. He puts everything into trying to help his teammates win their games. He's a senior and his team will really miss him. He's an outstanding young man and it's a privilege to know him.

Hello. I know how to stop all the problems with the stray cats the person keeps calling in about. You don't need no animal shelter in the county, what you need is a bounty of 50 cents an ear on them and that problem will take care of itself. I don't know but I bet their hides are worth something. Talk to (name deleted) and I bet he can help you out with that.

Is it any wonder there are no jobs here in the United States? Have you looked at the labels on clothing and other things around you? I was at Wal-Mart, Penney's and Kohls today and seen labels from China, Vietnam, Kenya, Thailand and other places. So it's no wonder there's no jobs in the United States. We need to be those jobs back to the United States, it's no wonder we're in such a shape. Thank you.

To the person or persons who stole the sheet and the blanket out from under the cedar tree at the flea market next to the cheese factory, please return them. I had them there for a reason. I had them there for the stray cats I take care of to stay warm this winter. They were not for you and if they're not yours don't touch them. It would be nice and considerate of you to return them. Thank you.

This is a comment about the Garnett Recreation Center. When this was started it was stated no tax dollars would be used. We the Garnett taxpayers now pay employees, utilities and upkeep for the building. The city and county are now using tax dollars to pay memberships for their employees. Once this starts it will never quit and will just add to our taxes. City and county employees need to take charge of their own memberships and if they choose to use the facilities, pay them themselves. Thank you.

Letter to the Editor, Last year, the Garnett Area Chamber of Commerce spent $4800 to replace Garnett's downtown Christmas decorations. The faded red lanterns and greenery were replaced by bright snowflakes. We received lots of compliments on how they brighten up our downtown area. We would like to do the same project on Hwy 59. The ones along the highway are truly showing the effects of over 20 Kansas winters.

Since many people's first experience of Garnett is the Hwy 59 corridor, we would like to brighten up our city with bright snowflakes instead of the well used decorations that are dreary and dilapidated and put forth a poor perception of our community.

To replace those remaining old decorations, it will cost us approximately $4,500. We are wanting to start a campaign to beautify the highway for the holiday season.

The citizens of Garnett have helped in donations to keep the fireworks display continuance, and businesses and citizens donated for the welcome signs to Garnett.

Part of the Chamber's mission is to enhance the overall quality of life for both businesses and individuals in the area. We feel that these efforts to brighten the nights during the holiday season would do just that. We would like the help, can we count on you?

Please drop off your donation at the Chamber office.

ACHS to present 'Little Women'

GARNETT —The ACHS Drama & Vocal departments announce their fall musical as Little Women, written by Allan Knee, music by Jason Howland and lyrics by Mindi Dickstein.

The show will be performed in the ACHS auditorium at 7 p.m. Friday, Nov. 9, and Saturday, Nov. 10. Admission is $5 for adults and $3 for students. For more information, call 785-448-3115.

Little Women, Louisa May Alcott's novel based on her own family experiences, follows the adventures of Jo, Meg, Beth, and Amy March as they grow up in Civil War America. The novel, a favorite of many generations, has been in print for 143 years. "I remember the first time I read the novel when I was young. I fell in love with it and it remains one of the books I can read over and over again," said Vicki Markham, who is one of the directors of the musical.

The novel's wonderful narrative has been brought to life as an exhilarating musical filled with glorious music, dancing, and heart.

Allison Russell, the musical director, states, "The music is both beautiful and challenging and the kids are doing a wonderful job."

Both emotional and inspirational, the powerful score soars with sounds of personal discovery, heartache and hope – the sounds of a young America finding its voice.

Members of the cast and their characters follow:

Eliza Sibley – Jo March, Nick Sibley – Professor Bhaer, Kristen Simpson – Amy March, Tana Benton – Meg March, Remi Hedges – Beth March, Marissa Lowry – Marmee March, Asa Young – Mr. Laurence/Knight, Chandler Betts – Laurie Laurence/Rodrigo, Mariah Trujillo – Aunt March, Dallas Cox – Mr. John Brooke/Braxton, Amber Mauldin – Mrs. Kirk, Heather Kropf – Clarissa, Amanda Barcus – Hag, Kori Pitts – Troll, Hope Theisman – Rodrigo 2

New to Medicare training offered

The East Central Kansas Aging and Disability Resource Center (formerly known as the East Central Kansas Area Agency on Aging) will be hosting an educational event for people new to the Medicare system who are turning 65 or who receive benefits due to disability and for business staff that help transition employees into Medicare from employer based insurance. The training will be held 10 a.m. to noon Wednesday, Nov. 14 at 117 S. Main Street, Ottawa. The trainings will be conducted by Leslea Rockers, Special Projects Coordinator, and Lenora Brecheisen, Medicare Volunteer.

The trainings are free of charge. Attendees will receive packets of information to take with them and anyone needing further assistance or a follow-up appointment will be able to make an appointment with agency staff. Seating is limited so all attendees must pre-register. Registration can be done by email to Rockers at leslear@eckaaa.org or by calling the agency at 785-242-7200 or 1-800-633-5621.

Hanover dashes state hopes for Crest

HANOVER - Hanover stopped the Crest Lancer advance toward a state title Saturday with a 50-30 defeat of Colony during the 1A 8-man regional football playoff game.

Crest's loss came after a Tuesday night win over South Barber at Kiowa by a score of 66-50. Saturday's loss ends the Lancers' 2012 season at 7-4. Hanover advances with a 9-2 record against host Baileyville on Nov. 9, and plays the winner of the Kenningson/Sharon Springs game on Nov. 17 for the Division II championship.

Crest's loss ends an on-again, off-again season that saw things go really well, or really poorly.

"The kids provided us a great season in 8-man football," said head coach Brent Smith. "My hat's off to them and to the fans that followed us. We were bi-district champs. That's nothing to be ashamed of by any means."

Hanover pressed an aggressive offense against the Lancers early in the game and was able to control Crest's offense. Crest had 157 yards on the ground and 165 on 14 pass completions out of 27 attempts. Kyle Hammond had all but 30 of the rushing yards on 16 carries. Jordan Morton had 16 and Dylan Sedlak 13.

In the bi-district matchup at Kiowa, the Lancers slugged it out with the South Barber offense nearly touchdown for touchdown until the fourth period when the Crest defense finally managed to shut down Kiowa's running and passing games. Crest was down 42-38 at the half, but notched 14 more points in both the third and fourth periods and holding South Barber to 8 points in the third period and shutting them out in the fourth to take the win.

rushing plays for 345 yards and hit 7 of 11 passes for 134 yards. Hammond rushed 30 times for 213 yards, followed by Morgan, Sedlak and Miller with 10, 12 and 11 carries for 30, 46 and 39 yards. Boone led total tackles on defense at 9, Hammond and Sedlak had 8 and Vermillion had 7.

CH falls to Humboldt in first round

BY SARA BROWN THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW

HUMBOLDT-Anticipation ran high as enthusiastic fans filled the stands at Walter Johnson Field for the Bi-District Playoff game between the Central Heights Vikings (4-5) and Humboldt Cubs (7-2). For Central Heights those expectations quickly turned to concern, then to disappointment as the Cubs overwhelmed the Vikings, winning 48-6.

The Cubs were fast and hungry, overpowering the Vikings and putting up a blistering 27 points in the first quarter. The Vikings only touchdown came in the second quarter when senior RB Drew Beckwith broke loose for 35 yards. The touchdown capped-off a drive that included an 18-yard catch by senior Keith Shrimpton and a 12-yard catch by junior Jordan Horstick. The Vikings went into half-time down by a frustrating 41-6. Central Heights returned to the field energized and held Humboldt to only seven points in the second half. The Viking offense stepped up and was able to move the ball, although turnovers kept them from being able to translate those yards into points.

Central Heights gained 208 yards of total offense. Beckwith collected 134 yards on the ground. Shrimpton added 18 rushing yards and had three receptions for 44 yards. Tristan Davis ran for 15. QB Zach McAfee was 6 of 20 for 63 yards.

Central Heights Assistant Coach Josh Hevel believes the Cubs' speed was the key factor in the loss. "Humboldt was significantly faster than us at almost every position. We don't match up well against teams with that type of overall team speed." Another issue is the injuries that have plagued the Vikings all season. "Injuries happen to all teams, but we definitely had the injury bug hit us hard this year," noted Hevel. "Losing Blake Anderson for the season was a tremendous blow. Blake has started for us in different capacities for four seasons. He was the unquestionable leader of our line on both sides this year. Kyle Miller, Donovan Milliken, and Bobby Loudon were also starters whose absence was felt significantly."

Although the results have been mixed, Hevel was pleased with the progress of the team over the season. "We were a much better team at the end of the season than the beginning. We had to replace about 90% of our total offense due to graduation and almost all our skill position players were new. It took us a while to get used to the game speed of the varsity level with so many people that hadn't played there, but I think we were a pretty solid team by the end of the year as evidenced by getting second in our district."

The Vikings acknowledge the lessons facing them following the loss and have goals in mind for the future. "I'd like our younger kids to learn from the teams that beat us," asserts Hevel. "Clearly to compete against that level of team we have to get faster. And that starts by building the explosive strength necessary to keep up with that level of opponents. That explosive strength is built in the weight room. It's absolutely essential for us to get faster and stronger going forward and I hope this loss will help our returning players realize this."

As the Vikings look forward to next season, Humboldt continues on their quest for a State Championship. They advance to the 3A Regional Playoff game against St. Marys-Colgan (7-3) Saturday evening. The 3A State Championship Title will be decided on Saturday, November 24 at Gowan Stadium in Hutchinson at 1:00 PM.

Dinner theatre tickets for "Dashing Through The Snow" go on sale Monday, November 12. The Christmas kick-off by The Chamber Players will be performed November 23-24 and November 29 - December 1 at 6:30 p.m. and on November 25 and December 2 at 12:30 p.m.

Written by the comedy team of Jessie Jones, Nicholas Hope and Jamie Wooten, authors of past holiday hits "Christmas Belles" and "Southern Hospitality", it will be performed at the Thelma Moore Community Playhouse, 140 W. 5th Ave. in Garnett under the direction of Jackie Fursman. Tickets are $22 for adults and $17 for students of high school age and younger. Advanced reservations are required by phoning: 785-304-1683 or via e-mail: ChamberPlayersGarnett@gmail.com.

aunts, Ennis and Della, with sidesplitting results. Ainsley and Lenora, actors from a lower-than-low-budget touring production of A Christmas Carol, Mrs. Claus and one of Santa's elves, a demanding guest who refuses to leave, and a tipsy housekeeper all make the Snowflake Inn the nuttiest holiday treat in town.

You'll swear this family-friendly Jones/Hope/Wooten Christmas comedy is more fun than a joyride in a one-horse open sleigh! Hannah Snedecor makes her Chamber Players dinner theatre debut along with veterans Alvin Peters, Dennis and Shanna Richards, Denise Scheibmeir, April Buckman, Connie Edgerton and Lori Barcus.

It's four days before Christmas in the tiny town of Tinsel, TX and a colorful parade of eccentric guests arrive at the Snowflake Inn and deck the halls with holiday hilarity. Trina, the harried yet upbeat innkeeper has more than she can handle; Hoyt and his sister, Donna Jo, make the mistake of trying to end a thirty-year feud between their curmudgeonly calendar: Auditions will be held December 4 & 5 at 7 p.m. in the theatre for the comedy "Love Thy Neighbor", by local playwright Gary Stapp, to be performed in February and March. Roles are available for 5 adult women 4 adult men and 1 child. No experience is necessary and first-timers are encouraged to audition. For audition information, contact Gary Stapp at 785-448-7784.

Big Brothers Big Sisters plans Casino Night

Big Brothers Big Sisters staff and board invite you to the second annual Dealing to Make A Difference! A Casino Night to Benefit Big Brothers Big Sisters will be held 7 p.m. Nov. 10. Brummel Farm Service is the presenting sponsor of this event.

This invitation is extended to community members who are 18 and older, including you, your friends, family and co-workers. The goal of the event is to host a fun night out for our guests, while raising funds for the Anderson County mentoring program. Bring your friends and come enjoy a delicious barbeque dinner by JAW Barbecue and choose from a variety of casino style games. At the end of the night use your chips to bid on some fabulous prizes, donated by local businesses and community members.

Big Brothers Big Sisters of Anderson County is busier than ever in 2012. This year, the agency goal was to make 10 new matches, in addition to maintaining those who were already matched in the program. We have already exceeded that goal, and will continue to make more matches throughout the next two months.

Nationwide studies conducted over the past 55 years report that children matched in the Big Brothers Big Sisters' mentoring program are more cooperative at home, perform better at school and make better decisions within their peer group.

All dollars raised at this event go directly toward matching at-risk children in Anderson County with caring adult mentors.

Purchase tickets by contacting the Big Brothers Big Sisters office at (785) 304-1811, or email jkeith@kansasbig.org.

Door-to-door peddlers served need

The young man or woman who comes to your door today to sell you a magazine subscription or something else are the last of a long line of peddlers and vendors who used to supply a large proportion of great-grandmas everyday needs. Because of them, she didn't have to go to the general store more than once every few months and maybe not that often if the nearest store was too far away.

by Henry Roeckers
Contact (785) 448-6244
for local archeology information.

Peddlers brought her the items that weren't produced by her family - items like needles and pins, hooks and eyes, tableware, tin ware and the like. The peddler carried his or her wares on the back in a bag or trunk or in a cart, wagon, or boat, taking their goods out where the buyers were, instead of waiting for them to come to them. Some peddlers carried a broad line of items, while others specialized, especially if they stayed near a town of any size. Peddlers also were known as packmen, hawkers, and hucksters.

without hesitation as to the quality of their wares, while others were as tricky as they come. You didn't dare believe what they said, and you could expect to be cheated unless you kept your eyes wide open and had good listening ears.

A vendor was a townsman who either had a stand where they did business everyday or else had a handcart or small wagon with which they toured the neighborhood streets. They sold fish, oysters, fruit, vegetables, popcorn, peanuts, chestnuts, pies, pretzels, and almost anything else that could be moved conveniently. The ice cream vendor is about the only businessman of this kind left on our streets today, although we see an occasional vendor of toys, flowers, and ball parks are full of people vending hot dogs, peanuts, soft drinks, programs and the like.

Since cash was scarce in the early days, a great deal of peddling was done on a barter basis. A housewife who produced a surplus of homespun articles or preserves or quilts would trade the excess for salt, pepper, spices, mirrors, pictures, Bibles, books, shoes, or whatever she happened to want at the time.

The peddler might give her only a fraction of what her goods were worth, but at least she received something she needed or desired but couldn't or didn't want to make herself.

In addition, people who wanted services of one kind or another - umbrellas mended, clocks repaired, tombstones cut, teeth pulled, and so on - waited until a traveling specialist came along to do the work in their own home.

Pilot to speak at Friends of the Library event

The Friends of the Library's Annual Meeting will be 7 p.m. Tuesday, Nov. 13, at the Garnett Public Library.

Pilot-Performer Bonnie Johnson, Operations Manager for Merkel Airplane Company, will be the featured speaker.

Johnson

Bonnie Johnson's interpretation of Louise Thaden is based on her research of Louise Thaden and the 1929 Women's Air Derby. Johnson holds three Master's Degree's in Business, Engineering and Education. Like Thaden, Johnson has a keen interest in flying and in her husband's engineering company. Johnson developed the first person creation of Thaden not only to show there are other pioneering women in aviation besides Amelia Earhart, a friend of Thaden's, but this woman also had ties to Kansas. As a result of Louise working for Walter Beech, she and Olive Ann Beech developed a lifelong friendship. This friendship kept bringing Louise Thaden back to Kansas until her death.

Johnson takes her audience back to 1958, as she reenacts the time when Thaden had just received her first ride in a jet aircraft with her son Bill.

Many historians are not aware that Thaden was the first woman to hold all three women's records at the same time ... Altitude, Solo-Endurance and Speed, all in 1929. She had also won the 1929 Women's Air Derby, known as the Powder Puff Derby. All of this took place within a two-year time span. Bonnie Johnson, performing as Thaden, informs the audience of her experiences setting the records and winning the Powder Puff Derby. Thaden, after starting her family, went on to set one more record in 1932, Women's Refueling Endurance, and went on to win one more race, the 1936 Bendix Trophy Race.

Thaden was working for Jack Turner as a salesperson for the J. H. Turner Coal Company in Wichita, Kansas in 1926. When Jack learned of her desire to fly, he put her in contact with a close friend, Walter H. Beech. Beech offered Thaden a job of learning to fly and setting records for his fledgling distributorship in San Francisco. Thaden introduced the Travel Air 4000 and Beechcraft Staggerwing to the awestruck public. Her record-setting flights, often bested those of her friend, Amelia Earhart. Over the concerns of her family, Thaden left her college aspirations behind and went with D. C. Warren to San Francisco to realize her dreams. Thaden reflects as Bonnie Johnson reenacts Thaden's flying career, on how in her short flying span of 30 years, she has gone from Jennies to Jets.

Bonnie Johnson Pilot, Performer and Educator, is Operations Manager for the Merkel Airplane Company, Ed Merkel's company, working with Merkel on designing and building the all-metal biplane, Merkel Mark II. After 20 years as an aerospace test engineer, Johnson retired to teach high school mathematics. Johnson has also competed as an instrument rated pilot in the successor to the 1929 Derby, the Air Race Classic. Johnson has competed continuously since 1993. She has placed in the top ten three times.

2002: Home sales sag in county

Nov. 5, 2002

A sagging national and state economy may be impacting Anderson County in the form of lower sale prices for residential properties, according to a study of the county's home sale data for the past two years. An analysis of 2001 and 2002 county home sale information shows a decline of 12.3 percent in average sale prices of homes that were sold without acreage attached, and a 10.4 percent average price decline or combinations of homes with and without land attached. Anderson County recorded a total of 115 home sales for an average of 9.58 sales per month in calendar year 2001, and 86 sales from January through October 2002 for a monthly average of 8.6. But county appraiser Gary Stapp said more homes tend to be sold in the fall, so the final two months of 2002 could beat that average.

A two-year, $100,000 project to replace the windows of the century-old Anderson County courthouse in Garnett has come to an end just in time for cold weather and what courthouse employees hope will be a warmer winter inside the county's main headquarters.

Nov. 5, 1992

In one of the best voter turnouts in the last 10 years, 84.3 percent of the registered voters in Anderson County went to the polls Tuesday. Of the 4,409 registered voters in the county, 3,721 went to the polls and cast ballots in the various elections. Despite the large voter turnout,

by Vickie Moss
Staff Writer

election workers did a good job of getting the ballots tallied and turned in as the county had all of its numbers in before 11 p.m. About 134 Anderson County residents worked the polls to make the election run smoothly.

The board of education of USD 479 approved a plan by a 5-2 decision to purchase the KUMON math program aimed at helping students achieve mastery of the basics with development toward achievement during the regular board meeting Monday night. The cost of the program will be $850 per month, or about $5,200 by the end of the school term. The program is a series of worksheets gradually taking each student through the various learning levels in math.

One of the more dreaded experiences for consumers is the arrival of the monthly utility bill. Rates increase and decrease, but mostly they increase. How do rate increases affect the bill of the average consumer in Garnett? How are they automated? Most consumers know that a fuel adjustment charge is added to their electricity bill, but few know all the components of that charge. The fuel adjustment charge came into being after the Arabian oil embargo in 1973. All the fuel the city buys and all the power it buys is figured into the fuel adjustment, City Manager Rick Doran said, then it is divided by the number of kilowatts used during the whole month.

Coupon books that can be used for discounts on merchandise will be mailed this week to area residents, and this and other matters were discussed at the Garnett Area Chamber of Commerce board meeting Thursday. The coupon books will contain 46 coupons from Chamber member businesses that can be used during the Christmas season by area residents and will be mailed to about 5,000 households.

When you think about God what comes to mind?

The theme that runs through the Bible and describes God best for me is "Holy". In fact when I think about God that is the characteristic that comes to my mind. A. W. Tozer made the following quote. "The most important thing about you is what comes into your mind when you think about God." The way we think about God governs the way we worship, think, live our life and even die. If we have a high and exalted view of God we approach life differently than if we have a low view of God. If God is important to us our daily life will reflect that in how we perform our daily tasks, treat other people and worship.

There are two places in the Bible where God pulls back the veil of heaven and we peer in and see his holiness displayed. In Isaiah 6:1, we read how Isaiah through some means not described for us sees a visible manifestation of God. In the vision he saw the temple, not in Jerusalem, but the heavenly temple. Isaiah describes for us what he sees. "In the year King Uzziah died I saw the Lord sitting on a throne, high and lifted up; and the train of his robe filled the temple." Isaiah goes on to explain the living creatures that are attending God and their repeated refrain of "Holy, Holy, Holy is the Lord of hosts".

This visible manifestation of God revealed to Isaiah how unholy he was, for he had seen the King, the Lord of Hosts. Isn't it interesting that of all the emotions Isaiah could have felt what he felt was his unholiness.

In the 4th chapter of Revelation the curtain is pulled back again and the throne in heaven is revealed. John is translated to heaven and says, "At once I was in the Spirit, and behold, a throne stood in heaven, with one seated on the throne." (Rev. 4:2) John describes the living creatures serving God and again the refrain is, "Holy, Holy, Holy is the Lord God Almighty, who was and is and is to come."

Holiness is one of the essential elements of God's nature required of his people. Holiness may also be rendered Sanctification of Godliness. We as God's people are to be Sanctified or set apart for divine service. Jesus taught that sanctification or true holiness, expresses itself in patient loving service while awaiting the Lord's return. Peter speaking to the suffering Christians of the Roman empire said, "As he who has called you is holy, you also be holy in all your conduct." (1st Pet. 1:15) A high calling with a high view of God.

Goodrich church hears about India mission

Happy Birthday wishes to Tara Beattie on Nov 5. Several ladies from in and around the community returned home on Oct. 22 after an 11 day genealogy trip to Streeter IL, Terra Haute IN, Columbus IN and nearby communities; those taking the trip included Donna Sutton of La Cyme, Janice Stahl and Rosalie Davis of Parker and Betty Hines of Shawnee. The ladies also enjoyed a visit with Dr. Matt and Libby Hobson and an overnight stay at the home of Dr. Mike and Lisa Brown, all of Muncie, IN.

Steve and Judy Kinder attended the KU-Texas football game in Lawrence on Saturday. Joining them were Kurt Roberts and Sharon Wormington of Garden City. Following the game, the couples enjoyed dinner at Casa Agave.

Halloween fun in Heritage Park was Oct 31. The Iota Iota Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi had the annual Safe Halloween event which included hot dogs, chili, nachos and great Halloween treats. The United Methodist Church also had their annual Trunk N Treat event in the parking area of the park.

The Helping Hands & Heart Food Pantry is opened each Wednesday fro 9 a.m.-11 a.m.

Scripture at Oct. 28 United Methodist Church service was Psalm 34: 1-8, Proverbs 3: 9-10 and Mark 10: 46-52. Pastor Leslie Jackson presented the sermon.

Everyone had a good time at the chicken noodle supper Saturday evening. Wilma Goodell won the quilt drawing.

Veterans Day
Garnett will present a program in the auditorium of the Anderson County High School on Nov. 9 at 10:30 a.m. with the Veterans Day Ceremony to begin at 11 a.m. Nov. 10 Iola will celebrate with speakers and a parade in downtown Iola. Nov. 11 is Veteran's Day. Nov. 12 a Veteran's program will be presented at Crest at 9 a.m. Everyone is invited at each celebration.

A veteran is someone who, at one point in his life, wrote a blank check made payable 'To My Country' for an amount "up to and including my life." That is Honor, and all of us are grateful and celebrate "giving their all".

VOTE
This year commemorated the 225th year of the Signing of the Constitution of the United States of America. The plan was unveiled September 1787. Study your constitution; pray for our Country. Vote Nov. 6.

PTO
LeAnn Church, president presided at the Oct. 22 meeting of the Parent Teachers Organization. A few rolls of trash bags are yet available for the "bags for bucks" project. Rewards will be given on Nov. 9 for box tops collected. Richard Burkdoll, principal thanked the members for the $50 donated for the Kincaid Fair bucket tickets. Twelve books were donated to Children's Mercy Hospital.

Members are reminded to bring cookies at 5:45 p.m. for Parent's Night. The meeting will be held 6-6:45 p.m. in Craig Frazell's room. A sign will be hanging in the hallway Red Ribbon Week and students are asked to sign it. The assembly is at 2:55 p.m. on Thursday that week. For Halloween celebration, kool-aid jammers are purchased and cookies are ordered. The parade is around outside and then on the stage in the gymnasium. For the park bench, Angie Luedke reported Champlin Tire Recycling, Concordia has 8 ft. at $319 and 6 ft. at $239 and will deliver free of charge. Burkdoll will contact them. It was voted to purchase the brown colored bench. For standard of excellence shirts Jan. 11, $5.25 for one color or two colors for a dollar more was last year's charge. Chrissy Powell will contact Shinn's, Uniontown for comparison. Vote was to purchase shirts for 3-7th graders. Tisha Hug would like to help in purchase of presidential physical fitness awards. Elementary teachers and Burkdoll have noticed chairs in the library are rough. Aundi Miller will check into repairing them. Members will purchase poinsettias for the music program to be held on Dec. 14. Church and Miller will head the Christmas Store committee with members filling in. Gifts and boxes are needed. The store will open Dec. 17-19. The school librarian requested some books, which will be discussed with her. Halloween parade will begin at 2 p.m. Oct. 31. Next PTO meeting is Nov. 26.

Town Park
It's becoming more of a reality now! The two old buildings have been demolished. Favorable weather has been great this fall to get this accomplished. Tim Dietrich, Steve Wallace and Charlie Ward have done a great job, which all the community residents as well as former residents are most appreciative. Next job is to haul in fill dirt, level, improve the east wall and clean bricks.

Funds collected toward the cost of this development may be sent to Debbie Oswald, Box 187, Colony, KS 66015. She is the council member in charge. A check for funds set up for this project should be made to City of Colony.

The original bricks from the front of the 1884 bank building are souvenir bricks and will be stated as such. Bricks are $10 each (not to be engraved). A certificate stating they were an original brick from the bank building will accompany the original souvenir brick for a take home souvenir. Inside bricks will be used for souvenirs or memorial to be engraved per donator's request and placed in the ornate walkway as a centerpiece of the park. No charge for the bricks; engraving will be charged with an estimated cost of $30 per one line or name. Those wanting to place an inscription on a brick should also contact Debbie Oswald at 620-852-3034. Leave a message if no answer.

The Safety and Demolition Committee are Steve Wallace and Charlie Ward. They would appreciate volunteers for hand labor in cleaning the bricks. Contact the city office at 620-852-3530 and the city clerk can make arrangements.

Around Town
Kloma Buckle, Sid and Melissa Hobbs, Brody, Gabe, and Nate, Tom Buckle, Noah and Blake and Janila Preston traveled to Iola Nursing Center for a birthday party for Elton Francis 91st birthday. Myrtle also attended the party. Ice cream and birthday cake were enjoyed by all.

Blaine King celebrated his 5th birthday by taking chocolate chip muffins to his preschool class on Oct. 17. That evening a Tom and Jerry themed party was held at his home. Guests enjoyed a soup supper, cake and ice cream. Helping Blaine celebrate were his parents Kenton and Denise King, brother Easton, grandparents Dennis and Cathy Allen, Dennis and Karen Moore, great grandmothers Billie King and Phyllis Meredith Shetlar and Charlie, uncles Mitchell King, Denny Allen, cousins Kaylee, Aubrey and Grady Allen, Melanie Hallacy and special friends Rosalyn Kellstadt, Marie Nolan, Jody and Jadyn Parks.
