7 apply for city commission seat

Commissioners expect to move quickly to select new member

BY VICKIE MOSS THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW
GARNETT — Seven people are vying for the chance to represent their fellow citizens via a vacancy on the city's governing body. Mayor Greg Gwin and

Commissioner Preston Peine are expected to discuss applications for the open city commission seat at their regular meeting at 6 p.m. tonight at city hall. The seat became vacant Dec. 1 after commissioner Dan Morgan moved to Texas. About 16 months remain in his term. City manager Joyce Martin said seven people have applied for the position, but she declined to reveal their names until the applications had been formally introduced to commissioners at tonight's meeting. She did say the applicants included three women and four men. Gwin and Peine will review the applications and schedule interviews for the top candidates. Peine earlier said he would like to have the next commissioner picked and installed by the end of the year, but was cautioned by city attorney Terry Solander that the process likely will take longer than anticipated because it is a busy time of year. If Gwin and Peine are unable to decide between two candidates, Solander will cast the deciding vote. Vacancies on the city commission are not uncommon, although it has been several years since the last time commissioners had to appoint someone to the post. In 2006, seven people applied when commissioner Scott Platt resigned, and Blaufuss was appointed. Blaufuss kept the seat just 18 months, resigning in late November 2007 when he moved outside the city limits. In January 2008, commissioners appointed Chris Maynard from a pool of six applicants. Maynard later ran for the seat and was elected in 2008, but lost to Morgan in April 2011. Morgan resigned this past November to move to Houston. He was a grain merchandiser with the East Kansas Agri

Energy ethanol plant until it shut down due to drought-reduced corn supplies last month. His term expires in April 2014, so whoever is appointed to his position should expect to serve about 16 months before he or she can run for re-election. When he announced his resignation, Morgan advised fellow commissioners to consider

Ray Meyer gym opens

District offices could move to gym, Irving for alternative school

BY VICKIE MOSS THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW
GARNETT — With renovations completed at the Ray Meyer Gymnasium, it's time to figure out what to do with it. USD 365 Board of Education members, at their most recent meeting Dec. 6, heard possible uses of classroom space at the gym. The gym and three classrooms connected to the gym were saved after the former Garnett High School/Garnett Elementary Center was demolished this summer. Students who previously attended GEC were moved to the new Garnett Elementary School in the northernmost part of the city this fall, as were students who previously attended Irving Primary

After school program to begin soon

Registration now open for program; set to begin in January

BY VICKIE MOSS THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW
GARNETT — About 30 local youth will have an opportunity to test a new after school program starting in January. The City of Garnett Recreation Department and other organizers began sign-up for the program, which will cost each participant $35 per month from January to April. The program will meet four days a week after school, from 3:30 p.m. to 5:30 p.m. at the Garnett Recreation Center and is open to children from kindergarten to sixth grade. Plans for an after school program began soon after enrollment last August. Brad Yeubanks, city recreation direc-

USD 365 takes over bus service

THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW 12-11-2012 / Vickie Moss

Students pile out of a bus at the start of a school day Friday, Dec. 7, at Garnett Elementary School. USD 365 board members voted unanimously to take over the district's transportation services from Apple Bus Co. The district's plans include buying 15 new buses and a handful of used buses.

District hopes to save $100K

New buses likely will be most obvious difference

BY VICKIE MOSS THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW
GARNETT — "The Bulldogs are here." A bus decked out in school colors with a Bulldog emblem will make that statement each time USD 365 students roll into another town for a field trip next year. A new activity bus, designed to carry 84 passengers with a school-personalized color scheme, and a fleet of mostly new buses will be the most obvious differences when USD 365 takes over transportation services in the next school year. But even behind the scenes, it's possible people won't see many differences in bus services. School board members voted unanimously Thursday to decline a new contract with Apple Bus Company, which has provided transportation services to the district for more than a decade. Apple previously submitted a proposal to continue to provide services with incremental cost increases over the next few years. An analysis by Superintendent Don Blome shows the district could

Property owners to pay up to half of $129K sidewalk costs

West side of town expected to be next target for sidewalks

BY VICKIE MOSS THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW
GARNETT— City of Garnett officials expect to be reimbursed up to half of the $129,000 spent replacing sidewalks in residential and business areas over the past two years. The ongoing sidewalk project so far has cost the city about $129,000, but property owners will be expected to pick up about half of those costs under an agreement with the city. Although property owners are responsible for building sidewalks, the city pays $2 per square foot to ease the financial burden on those owners, City Manager Joyce Martin said. "I think that's why so many have gotten repaired," Martin said about the city's cost-share offer. A plan to improve sidewalks in one section of town resulted in more owners repairing sidewalks than initially expected. The plan initially called for new sidewalks in a U-shaped pattern from one side of the road at Casey's on Park Road to Oak Street, along Oak Street to First Street on one side, down First Street to U.S. 59 on one side, and along U.S. 59 to Park Road with alternating sides at Redbud. Instead, business owners all along U.S. 59 from First Street to Park Road have built or repaired sidewalks, and other property owners in the area but not part of the U-shape also have built sidewalks. Eventually, all parts of the city will be required to improve sidewalks to meet handicapped accessibility standards. The city has come under fire in recent years for its lack of handicapped accessibility, leading to a federal mandate to become compliant within six years. Since March of 2010, city officers have been

ANDERSON COUNTY BOARD OF COMMISSIONERS DECEMBER 26

Chairman Dudley R. Feuerborn called the meeting of the Anderson County Board of Commissioners to order at 9:00 a.m. on November 26 at the County Commission Room. Attendance: Dudley R. Feuerborn, Present; Eugene Highberger, Present; James K. Johnson, Present. The pledge of allegiance was recited. Minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved.

Road and Bridge

Lester Welsh, Road Supervisor, met with the commission. He reported he has two men out on work comp.

Historical Society

Paul Phares, Historical Society, met with the commission. He reported they are having trouble with termites at the museum. They have been told there is too much water pooling close to the building and they need to find a way to get the water away from the building. They would like to replace the sidewalks on the west and redo the handicap ramp and remove the sidewalks on the south. He questioned if the county could assist with labor for removing the sidewalks. Shirley Roeckers and Terry Solander joined the meeting. Discussion was held on bringing in fill dirt and that the retaining wall on the south will need repairs in the future.

Advanced, Abatements, and Escaped Tax

Abatements B13-101 through B13-105, Advanced Tax A13-101 though A13-103, and Escaped Tax E13-101 were presented and approved.

Mid-America Nutrition

Sharon Geiss, Mid-America Nutrition, met with the commission concerning the Meals-On-Wheels program. They operate the program on donations along with federal, state, and county funds. The money they are receiving from donations has decreased in the last year, making it difficult to fund the actual cost of the meals. They would need at least a donation of $2.68 per meal on site meals, and $3.69 per meal for meals delivered to the homebound. If citizens who could afford to pay more would make larger donations it would help cover for those who cannot afford to make the suggested donation. Jerry Howarter, Commissioner Elect, was present and questioned if hunters would donate deer to the program if they could serve it. Jerry will talk to Wildlife and Parks to see if something can be set up. It was suggested that hunters could possibly pay for the processing if they did not want to keep their deer.

Executive Session

Commissioner Johnson moved to recess into executive session for 20 minutes for the discussion of non-elected personnel with James Campbell, County Counselor, Jerry Howarter, Commissioner Elect, Jerry Luedke, and Michelle Miller in attendance. Open meeting to resume at 10:45. Commissioner Highberger seconded. Approved 3-0. No action after executive session.

Executive Session

Commissioner Johnson moved to recess into executive session for 25 minutes to discuss non-elected personnel with County Counselor James Campbell, Commissioner Elect Jerry Howarter, Sheriff Hupp, and Jessie Zillner, Head Dispatcher, in attendance. Open meeting to resume at 11:20. Commissioner Highberger seconded. Approved 3-0. No action after executive session.

Executive Session

Commissioner Johnson moved to recess into executive session for 15 minutes to discuss non-elected personnel with James Campbell, County Counselor, and Jay Sloan, Landfill Director, in attendance. Open meeting to resume at 11:50. Commissioner Highberger seconded. Approved 3-0. James Campbell, County Counselor informed Jay that regulations will be established for the landfill and posted.

Emergency Management

Marvin Grimes, Emergency Management Director, and Doug Cole, KDHE, met with the commission. Discussion was held on the burning of hazardous waste by residents. Marvin has been informed that if the third-class cities want to establish their own burn policies they would have to have their own fire department and equipment. Doug stated that KDHE would notify by letter that a citizen is in violation of regulations and if the burning continues then they would come forward to issue fines. Meeting adjourned at 12:20 p.m.

tor, worked with Jennifer Keith of Big Brothers Big Sisters and Amy Wettstein, a counselor at Garnett Elementary Center, to design a program. Wettstein said she realized how much need there was for an after school program when she talked to parents at enrollment. Many parents at the time were unsure where the child would be going after school.

The new program will be taught by Angie Chitwood and volunteers. A 30-minute homework program will be offered and activities such as games, crafts, cooking and snacks will be provided.

The program will be limited to 30 students. After the first 30 students have been enrolled and fees paid, additional students will be added to a waiting list. The next month's fees must be paid by the 15th or the student will be dropped from the program. Students on the waiting list will be contacted as spots open.

Enrollment forms were sent home with area students recently and also are available at the Garnett Recreation Center. Registration will only be accepted at the rec center at 510 North Lake Road. For more information, call (785) 448-3023.

expect to save about $125,000 off the projected $921,000 per year upcoming Apple contract by taking the service in-house.

Board member Cleon Rickel asked Blome to thank Apple for its service, noting that difficult economic times and reductions to school funding in recent years led to the decision.

"They've done a good job, but the bottom line is the bottom line," Rickel said.

It's too early to know exactly what the change will mean for local bus staff like drivers, mechanics and the director, Blome said. He said it was too early to discuss personnel issues, including whether the staff be retained by the school district. Those people are employees of Apple Bus until the contract expires June 30. When the district does take over the service, it's likely most will be asked to join the district and will become classified employees in the transportation department, similar to secretaries and custodians, Blome said. Issues like pay and benefits have not yet been determined, he said. Other aspects, like the number of routes and drivers, change each year based on enrollment.

What has been determined, however, is the type and number of buses the district will need to purchase.

Blome compared scenarios with a mixture of new and used buses and determined the district would be better off buying 15 new buses on a 10-year lease agreement with 3 percent interest. School board members voted to purchase six new, 2014 65-passenger buses at a cost of $77,860 each; eight new, 2014 71-passenger buses at a cost of $79,360 each; and one new, 2014 84-passenger, rear engine activity bus painted in school colors with under-carriage storage at a cost of $137,731. The total cost of new buses is $1,239,771, which translates to an annual payment of about $131,033.45.

In addition to buying new buses, the district also plans to purchase two late-model used buses and four spare buses. Blome had received bids for used buses, but said he plans to re-bid the buses in hopes of getting lower prices.

The district also will lease three special education buses because of a federal program that will reimburse 80 percent of the cost if the buses are leased.

Because of the expense of buying new buses, the school district likely won't see much cost savings in the first year, Blome said. After that, he expects to save about $100,000 per year on transportation.

working on a plan to meet ADA requirements.

The area to be targeted next is the west side of town on Second, Third, Fourth and Fifth avenues. Those areas are near goods and services but do not have sidewalks, or have sidewalks that are in serious need of repair, Martin said.

It's difficult to estimate an average cost to repair sidewalks because concrete prices vary, and the size and scope of each project can vary. Businesses typically must pay more because they are required to offer wider sidewalks. The city's sidewalk repair effort so far was bid in about four projects with three local concrete companies. Lickteig Construction, Sean Feuerborn and David Rockers each won part of the projects at various times by submitting the lowest bid. During construction of new sidewalks, the city pays the company but works with property owners for reimbursement. Property owners can choose to hire their own contractor, but most took advantage of the city's project.

Also remaining for a later phase is determining how the city and school district will build sidewalks for access to the new Garnett Elementary School on U.S. 59 in the northernmost part of the city. Martin said although it is important to establish a route to the new school, the city's first priority was to complete the federally-mandated U-shaped sidewalk project. The city also will need to address handicapped-accessibility issues at the Garnett Industrial Airport, and other projects throughout the city.

Despite the time and money invested in new sidewalks over the past two years, people still aren't happy, Martin said. Property owners, especially business owners struggling to keep afloat in a difficult economy, aren't happy about being forced to pay for new sidewalks. People who brought the need for handicapped-accessible sidewalks to the attention of state and federal agencies also aren't happy because the project bypassed most of Park Road, the most direct route from elderly housing to businesses on U.S. 59. City officials have said previously that it would be difficult and costly to install sidewalks along Park Road because of easements and underground utilities in the area.

Center.

The change has left space available at the Ray Meyer Gym and at a reading recovery building on the grounds of Irving. Board members can now decide how to best utilize the space available to them.

One suggestion is to move the district's alternative school to the reading recovery building at Irving. The alternative school currently is located in a modular building behind the Ray Meyer gym. A regional alternative school already has relocated to the main building at Irving on a lease agreement, and meals are sent to that facility each day so it would make sense to locate the school there, Superintendent Don Blome told board members. About 10 or 12 students typically attend the district's alternative school. A proposal to locate the alternative school near IPC several years ago brought an outcry from neighbors and parents. However, at that time the school would have been located near kindergarten and first grade students; those students have moved to GES. There was no similar outcry when the regional alternative school moved in last fall.

Another suggestion was to move district offices to the rooms at Ray Meyer Gym. District offices have jumped from one place to another in recent years and currently are located in the former Garnett Church Furnishings building in one of the city's industrial parks. Moving the offices to Ray Meyer Gym would require very little remodeling, Blome said. It also would provide staff at the building.

Other suggestions were moving the alternative school to the Ray Meyer Gym, but board members appeared to like Blome's suggestion of moving the school to Irving and district offices to Ray Meyer Gym.

Since renovations were completed Nov. 12, the gym already has been used for basketball games. Some minor projects remain, like installing security lighting.

Blome said the district also is talking to area colleges about establishing a vocational training program in USD 365. Although there is talk about locating such a program in Ottawa, it's possible a program could end up in Garnett. If that were to happen, the district would have to determine where it would be located. A welding program, for example, could be established in the maintenance shop behind the Ray Meyer Gym.

appointing a woman to the position in order to bring diversity to the group. Only two women have served on the city commission in recent memory, Sandy Peine and Janice Hodgson. Hodgson was the most recent woman to serve, and her term ended in April 2001.

Of the remaining commissioners, Gwin has served the longest, since 2007, but his seat is up for re-election in the spring. Peine has served on the commission just since April. At the Nov. 27 meeting, Peine and Gwin briefly discussed the possibility that if Gwin were not elected and commissioners appoint a novice to Morgan's vacated seat, it is possible the commission could be made up of newcomers by spring. Peine and Gwin decided to set an overdue evaluation for Martin, as city manager, in January in order to avoid a situation where she might be evaluated by commissioners who aren't as familiar with her job performance.

Deadline to file for Gwin's seat will be noon Jan. 22 with the city clerk.

Star feature points out divide between country, city folk with beef expose'

In its apparent attempt to curtail beef eating among its readers or at least increase regulations against the beef industry to prevent food-borne illness, The Kansas City Star's feature package of stories last Sunday entitled "Beef's Raw Edges" also illuminates by its tone just how far most Americans have migrated away from the farm.

The gist of the news stories was apparently to recount the tragedy of Ecoli outbreaks and their impacts in recent years on those who were infected, as well as to blame the sickness on the massive American beef industry and its use of mechanical tenderizing of beef. The industry maintains it spends millions of dollars on machinery and processes to minimize such occurrences and has made vast advances in the past 20 years.

Okay, fair enough. But the segment goes on to invest another two pages of expensive newsprint and ink on the processing procedures of beef processing plants, even with a headline that proclaims those plants as "beef factories."

"Beef factories?" The reader is treated to the entire necessary though albeit grisly process, augmented by a full page color graphic depicting artists' cartoons of cattle dangling by one foot on the processing line with their tongues hanging out. We follow the pictures as the cattle are stunned by a knocker bolt into the brain and then bled out with the slice of a neck as they hang inverted. We even have a five-column color picture of cattle hanging on the line with a massive catch basin of their blood pooled underneath them.

Ribeye anyone? No doubt the reporters and editors thought the shock factor of seeing just exactly how that hamburger gets on America's plate might generate some response among their readers. And they're right - lots of folks have never seen the process and don't like to think about it. Animal rights activists have used such images for years in their attempt to sway Americans to tofu instead of Tafelspitz, banking on the idea that forcing Americans to watch the unsightlyness will prompt them to some effective- but in the end misdirected- political action.

A lot of American issues are like that these days. In the past 80 years as more and more Americans have forsaken the farm for jobs in the city, many of the mandates of food production and other aspects of rural lifestyle - hunting, fishing, farming and livestock raising- are just too unseemly for right-thinking and increasingly politically liberal metropolitans. There are many divisions in this country these days, and the Star's critique of the beef industry illuminates the Rural/Metropolitan divide in a way that is poignant and compelling.

Rural people are used to the idea that cattle become hamburger. We hunt, or we have friends who hunt, and we've seen deer hanging in garages or from trees ready to be skinned and prepared as food. Many are not so far removed from their own family farms and either participated in or heard the tales of pig and chicken butchering in the days before local processing plants were more accessible and affordable. We know the smell of feedlots; we've probably cleaned or filleted our own fish or at least watched it done. We've gotten our hands dirty and bloody in harvesting meals. It is a part of rural culture.

It is not a part of the increasingly uber-hygienic metro culture, where witnessing such barbarian practice as readying food for human consumption is so distasteful.

More distressing is that the loss of that insight makes metro dwellers, who outnumber rurals at the voting polls, less sensible to realities that bring food to their tables and more susceptible to political movements based purely on emotion.

America's first Christmas

BY RICH LOWRY

NATIONAL REVIEW

Gen. George Washington's army retreated from New York in ignominy in November 1776. As it moved through New Jersey, Lt. James Monroe, the future president, stood by the road and counted the troops: 3,000 left from an original force of 30,000.

In December 1776, the future of America hung on the fate of a bedraggled army barely a step ahead of annihilation.

The Americans confronted about two-thirds of the strength of the British army, and half its navy, not to mention thousands of German mercenaries. The defense of New York was barely worthy of the name. When British troops crossed into Manhattan at Kips Bay, the Americans ran. Washington reportedly exclaimed in despair, "Are these the men with which I am to defend America?"

Lowry

Later, from the New Jersey Palisades, he watched as the British took Fort Mifflin across the Hudson, held by 3,000 American troops, and put surrendering Americans to the sword. According to one account, Washington turned away and wept "with the tenderness of a child."

British strategy depended on shattering American faith in the Continental Army and reconciling the rebellious colonies to the Crown. As the Americans fled to the Pennsylvania side of the Delaware River, the British occupied New Jersey and offered an amnesty to anyone declaring his loyalty. They had thousands of takers, including one signer of the Declaration of Independence.

With expiring enlistments about to reduce his army further, Washington decided on a scheme to cross the Delaware on Christmas and surprise the Hessian garrison in Trenton. "If the raid backfired," Washington biographer Ron Chernow writes, "the war was likely over and he would be captured and killed."

Behind schedule, Washington's main force of 2,400 started crossing the river that night. Yes, most of them were standing up in flat-bottomed boats. Yes, there were ice floes. It wasn't until 4 a.m. that all the men were across the river. They had 9 miles still to march to Trenton in a driving storm and no chance of making it before daybreak. Washington considered calling it off, but he had already come too far.

Arriving at Trenton at 8 a.m., his spirited troops seemed "to vie with the other in pressing forward," he wrote afterward. They surprised the Hessians, who didn't expect an attack in such weather. The battle ended quickly - 22 Hessians killed, 83 seriously wounded and 900 captured, to two American combat deaths.

"It may be doubted whether so small a number of men ever employed so short a space of time with greater and more lasting effects upon the history of the world," British historian George Trevelyan wrote.

Pulitzer Prize-winning historian David Hackett Fischer sees in the American resurgence after our fortunes were at their lowest a reassuring aspect of our national character in this season of discontent: We respond when pressed. Dr. Benjamin Rush, a great supporter of the American cause, wrote: "Our republics cannot exist long in prosperity. We require adversity and appear to possess most of the republican spirit when most depressed." May it still be so.

Adopt a family for Christmas

"It's beginning to look a lot like Christmas..." and hopefully it's beginning to feel a lot like Christmas. The Spirit of Christmas Committee and ECKAN want to wish you and yours a wonderful Christmas season and a healthy, happy New Year. These sentiments are heartfelt and hopefully easy to achieve. However, in today's economic times, happiness sometimes takes a hit with shortages of some of our basic needs. We are striving to help correct that problem. We would like you, as an individual, a business or an organization to consider sharing with those a little less fortunate this season.

Will KanCare savings really keep Kansans healthy?

There's an interesting question bouncing around the Statehouse after the state received the apparent OK to implement its dramatic new way to provide health care for relatively poor Kansans who can't afford or aren't covered by health insurance.

That pivotal OK—that the federal government will allow Kansas to contract out to private businesses the management of health care for Kansans who receive Medicaid coverage—is touted to save the state some $400 million over the next five years.

Now, taking care of the health needs of the poor is one of those things that makes you feel good. We're Kansans; we take care of one another.

But, go to the strictly business side of the feel-good program, and it's obvious that those private, for-profit care managers have a good reason to make sure poor Kansans are healthy. They'll make more money if they keep their clients healthy, and that's not bad at all. Whatever keeps Kansans healthy or heals them after accidents is a good thing.

So the question bouncing around is whether Gov. Sam Brownback will use some of that savings to the state (the state portion of the funding of Medicaid, about 40 percent of the program's cost here) to keep more Kansans healthy.

That's the interesting part. The Affordable Care Act (go ahead, call it Obamacare if you want, President Barack Obama doesn't mind) includes a provision that would allow states to boost the incomes that families can earn and still qualify for Medicaid, or KanCare, as we're going to start calling it on Jan. 1.

by Martin Hawver
KANSAS STATEHOUSE COLUMNIST

The deal: The federal government pays all of the cost of the expansion for the first two years, and after that, the state would pick up 10 percent of the cost of that expansion of services to more people. The pricetag to the state after that two-year period? Probably hundreds of millions of dollars. Would $400 million cover it? Who knows?

But there's this other consistent priority of Brownback: To put Kansans to work, to get them the education they need to become a solid asset for businesses which move to Kansas or expand in Kansas, to grow the economy.

Hi, I'm so glad I can leave this little comment. The days go by and I keep thinking about this weekend and the Homes Tour and how it started at the Catholic Church. I'm not Catholic but it's so nice to be able to start with the reason for the season and have it repeated. And also for all those at the library and all the homes and just everybody in this town that makes it so special.

I agree with the person about having the police doing something about people parking their vehicles over the sidewalk. We have a cop's son down by Fourth and Willow who parks his car and vehicles across the sidewalk, you have to walk out in the street to go around. They sure aren't doing anything about him, are they?

The new signage for Garnett is like a bridge to nowhere. It's just money wasted.

I'm calling in regard to the complaint in the Phone Forum about First Street being blocked for the handicapped. First off if you're going to complain about us parking in our driveway you need not do that because it's our driveway, are the police going to tell us not to park in our driveway? Second, I'm pretty sure there's no toys out there; and third: You didn't pay for the sidewalk, we did and we use it just like everybody else who walks by here, so if you have a problem with it you need to pick a different sidewalk. Thank you.

Well Review you're letting it slip. I thought there was laws that the county commissioners and the sheriff had to abide by that said you couldn't have a secret meeting to discuss policies of the county? If there are those at the dispatch that want to take the dispatch out from under the sheriff just because of the incoming sheriff, that's their opinion, fine. But I think the law says they have to talk about that fact in the public meeting and not get to make that into a secret meeting. Come on Review, do your job.

About the person who called in about the cars parked on the sidewalk. Either you or the police chief are misinformed. You don't call 911. Nine-one-one is only to be used in an emergency. The number to call is (785) 448-6823. And another thing: Be a grown up and quit your whining. I'm severely handicapped and you don't hear me whining. Cowboy up. Thank you.

I have a different opinion about taking on the school buses for ourselves. The district better take a better look. I worked with this stuff for over 30 years. There can be a lot of maintenance on school buses. And when you've got that many of them you have all kinds of things that can go wrong. The biggest thing I wonder if they thought of is comprehensive insurance on those buses and also the big item is liability for those children. One accident and it could wipe out the district. This idea of saving $100,000 may not be the smartest way to go. They better really look into that.

Thanks to the Christmas carolers who sang up town this evening on the square. Especially good was the backdrop of all the Christmas lights around town. Good job, people.

Westphalia School Program

THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW 06-29-2010 / Vickie Moss

Westphalia students sing songs at the school's annual holiday program Thursday, December 6, at Westphalia.

Windbreaks can help shelter livestock

MANHATTAN – Established tree windbreaks sheltering beef and dairy cattle operations can save producers money on feed costs, weight loss and milk production during the winter months.

A heavy winter coat protects beef cattle until temperatures drop below 18 degrees Fahrenheit, but beyond that point, Bob Atchison with the Kansas Forest Service said the animals require additional feed to maintain body temperatures. The presence of a windbreak can help remedy this problem.

"A 25 mph wind at zero degrees Fahrenheit creates a windchill of 44 degrees below zero," said Atchison. "By contrast, a properly designed windbreak will reduce the same windchill to 15 degrees below zero."

Atchison said windbreaks can reduce the spike in energy requirements cattle need to maintain their body temperature during extreme cold weather.

He cited Canadian researchers who found that cattle on winter range, in unprotected sites, required a 50 percent increase in feed for normal activities.

"A properly designed windbreak will reduce these needs by half," he said.

Windbreaks enable cattle to gain and maintain weight better as well. He also cited studies in Montana indicating that during mild winters, beef cattle sheltered by windbreaks gained an average of 34 to 35 pounds more than cattle in an open feedlot. During severe winters, cattle in feedlots protected from the wind maintained 10.6 more pounds than cattle in unprotected lots.

The Kansas Forest Service is now accepting tree orders from producers interested in establishing livestock windbreaks. Foresters also are available to assist with planning a tree planting. For more information, contact the Kansas Forest Service at 785-532-3300 or visit the Kansas Forest Service.

Sewing club has luncheon

Zig Zag Sewing Club held its monthly luncheon meeting Nov. 7 at Osawatomie Court Apartments meeting room. Ginger Paden, Tootie Russell and Jackie Leach were hostesses and 16 attended.

Members brought nonperishable food items today for an area food pantry. Since last year's donation went to Osawatomie, members voted that today's commodities be given to Garnett.

Members unanimously agreed to continue the tradition of adopting a family in need for Christmas. This year's recipients will be a Paola family, recent victims of tragic loss and injury. In addition to a donation from our treasury, each member is asked to bring to our next meeting food or other items for the gift box.

Election of officers for 2013 was held. Those chosen: Grace Donham, president; Nancy Machnicki, vice president; Loretta Crozier, secretary and Wanda Roberts, treasurer.

Grace Donham and Doris Rommelfanger won door prizes.

Evelyn Gillogly and Wanda Roberts distributed bags to everyone participating in the Round Robin quilt block exchange. Each recipient will add a border to the block, place it back in the bag, and return it for another exchange at our next meeting.

The Christmas potluck meeting will be Dec. 5 at 11:30 a.m. at Greeley Methodist Church Hall. Doris Rommelfanger, Becky Roush and Marilynn Lolley will serve as hostesses.

New coach, new path for Bulldogs

BY DANE HICKS THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW

GARNETT - After a lukewarm 12-13 season last year, Anderson County boys basketball starts the new 2012-13 season with a new coach and a new way of doing things.

Nineteen-year coaching veteran Steve Lyon takes the head coaching slot for the Bulldogs this season in his first-ever post at leading the boys varsity hoopsters.

"It's my first year with the players," Lyon said. "They're working hard in practice picking up our new drills and offense. We are very excited to get the season underway."

The Bulldogs return seniors Eric Tastove at post, Drew Mechnig at point guard and Jack Rickabaugh at forward, along with juniors Zach Hilliard, Tanner Lickteig, Spencer Walter and Eric Small all at guard. The team lost senior standout Peter Stoneking, who averaged double figure scoring, to graduation last year. But Lyon says his 2012-13 squad has a lot of the elements needed to make a solid basketball team.

"We have depth, senior leadership, quickness, toughness, and good skills in these kids," he said. "You always need senior leadership."

Lyon says his overall goals - winning the Pioneer League and making a home game first round of the substate tournament - are very attainable with this group of athletes.

AC girls will lean on experience from hard knocks

BY DANE HICKS THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW

GARNETT - They call it the school of hard knocks, and if you graduate, they say there's no better education.

That's the way the AC Bulldog girls team is looking at the 2012-13 basketball season. The team's 3-17 win record from last year was nothing to brag about, but the good thing about a bad record is the lessons it teaches those who survive it.

"We have experience coming back," said head coach Tim Bremerman, "but we have a young bench."

The Bulldogs graduated Paige Porter, Jessica Steele and Gracie Rockers last year, but return former starters and a total of six lettermen in senior guard Macy Adams, senior forwards Cheyanne Ratliff and Jaime Mersman, senior guards Amanda Moody and Michaela Stevenson and junior forward Tayler Porter.

The Pioneer League has a reputation for fielding some scrappy girls teams. Though the Bulldogs lost their season opener at Santa Fe Trail last week, they massed 40 points in the contest and with the exception of two unanswered scoring bouts were competitive with SFT throughout. It was the kind of hanging-in-there play Bremerman said he likes to see.

"All my returning letter winners will be contributing a lot on the floor with the experience they're bringing back," Bremerman said. "I'm excited about the competition that our bench brings in practice and I think that we will have more key contributors there."

Bremerman said the Bulldog's schedule prior to Christmas will be tough considering the pre-season tournament the team appears in each year. But he said he believes the experience the team returns to 2012-13 will put AC toward the top of the Pioneer League.

"We should be very competitive and I have high expectations for our girls this year," Bremerman said.

In terms of goals, Bremerman said he'd like to see his team bank at least 10 wins, learn to limit their turnovers and make a run at substate with an eye toward a 4A tournament appearance.

Garnett grapplers seek improvement

BY DANE HICKS THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW

GARNETT - New AC wrestling head coach Jason Brown hopes to lay the foundation to improve the Bulldog grapplers' record from 2012 as the new season begins.

Last year's Bulldogs faced similar challenges to this year's teams: the numbers were slight and there were thin spots and outright holes in several weight classes. Last year's Bulldogs were only 1-13 in duals. They lost Cody Crook at 132 and Blake Howey at 220 to graduation in 2012.

This year, only junior Lee Koch (182) and senior Raymond Head (132) return as lettermen to lead a young Bulldog squad.

"We're young but we are hungry and ready to wrestle," coach Brown said. "We have a very tough schedule."

The Bulldog roster for varsity includes Tyler Belshe (106), Blade Marmon (113), Jaiden Drimmel (120), Mick Weatherbee (126), Raymond Head (132), Storm Pracht (138), Stephen Kaufman (145), Ryan Alley (152), Jake Trumbly (160), Dallas Cox (170), Lee Koch (182), Tim Cornett (195) and Dallas Talley at 285, with the varsity missing a wrestler in the 220 pound class.

Junior varsity wrestlers include Shiloh Sutton at 113, Maddie Goode (120), Chevy Crook and Garrett Scott (132), Jacob Herlocker (145), Alex Craig (152), Tim Comfort (170) and Alan Young (285). The JV is open at 126, 138, 160, 182, 195 and 220.

The Bulldogs can expect top 4A contenders again this year from area powerhouses like Baldwin, Louisburg and Pittsburg. Baldwin grapplers picked up state tournament wins last year at 220 and 132. Pittsburg won at 285 and 145 and Louisburg at 126.

Vikings look at new year with new lineup

BY DANE HICKS THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW

RICHMOND - The 2012-13 basketball season may be the first and biggest challenge the squad has faced under the still-young program established by four-year head coach Rusty Cannady.

That's because for the first time in years, the Vikings have replaced all their starters with new faces in the same year.

So far early in the season it's working out okay. The Vikes posted a win over Prairie View to start the season last week in a game that was no walkaway and tested the new Vikings' ability to play together. So far, so good.

"Our schedule is as tough as we have ever had," Cannady said. The Pioneer League is competitive and our non-conference games against Burlington, Spring Hill, Coffeyville, Independence and Humboldt speak for themselves."

The Vikes won a 3rd place honor in the 3A state tourney last year, and the following May promptly sent all five starters - Cody Sluder, Jimmy Hoskins, Adam Seyler, Sam Leach and Wade Davis - all to the great post-high school beyond. Their 22-4 record was even better than the 18-5 the crew posted in 2010-11, when they didn't lose a single starter coming into 2011-12.

This year's returning lettermen include Drew Beckwith, Trevor Burkdoll, Tristan Davis, Adam Pryor and Zach McAfee at the guard positions and Jordan Horstick, Tanner Erhart and Tyler Hendron at forward. Underclassmen - many with little experience - will flesh out the rest of the ranks.

"These kids love playing with each other," Cannady said of his team. "The team is always first, and they love being Vikings."

But having so many green team members is a fact that can't be denied, Cannady says, as the squad takes aim at some competition with veteran varsity players.

"Our weakness is experience," Cannady said. "Besides a Jordan and Drew everyone else played a lot of JV."

Experience will come early, Cannady said, and hopefully it will translate through the season into another trip to the state tournament.

Girls look to rebuild after graduation

BY DANE HICKS THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW

RICHMOND - They were heady days in last year's Central Heights girls basketball season - a tough, seasoned squad of girls who'd played a long time together and who hammered out a 19-4 league-champion season just to fall in the substate finals to Burlington.

Then came graduation.

Faster than you can say "jump shot" all five starters - Megan Swendson, Katelin Horstick, Jennifer Bell, Maggie Cotter and Cecilia Wuertz - were history.

"We were one game away from back-to-back trips to the state tournament," said three-year head coach Scott Lane. "We are definitely rebuilding the team this year."

The team returns junior Kenzie Hayward, CHHS' 6th man last year at point forward, junior Whitney Kraus at shooting guard. Shooting guard Sam Stegner is the sole returning senior from last year's squad.

"Kenzie's our most vocal leader," Lane said. "She needs to be a presence especially on the defensive side of the ball." Lane said Kraus was a great role player at shooting guard last year and will need to step into a new roll as the team's top scorer in '12-13. Stegner, he said, will be the "glue girl" and help ramp up the team's intensity on both sides of the ball.

Besides those upper classment, a bevy of sophomores will comprise the mainstay of the squad. Sydney Myer picked up pointers last year from Horstick at the center position, and will be the Vikings' 'big in the middle' and a force for shooting and shot blocking on defense. Brianna Erhart has been perfecting her outside shot at the position of point guard and was on last year's varsity roster. Regan Markley is the team's only freshman at guard, described by Lane as a fireball on defense early in the season's practices who is picking up things very quickly.

"We're young and not very deep," Lane said. "We have lots to learn especially on the defensive side of the ball. They pick up on things fast, which makes my job a lot easier."

The Vike's schedule starts off tough.

"We should be tested a lot before Christmas because our pre-season tournament has a lot of great teams in it and we play on the road at Burlington Dec. 11. But it will give us a great indication of where we are early in the season."

Coming off a season with the success of last year and a complete re-tooling of the team with new starters makes goal setting hard for this season, but Lane said he's taking it piece by piece.

"Just keep getting better and better every practice. We need to keep level-headed and stay focused," Lane said.

Vikes want to post wrestlers at state

BY DANE HICKS THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW

RICHMOND - Randy Hinderlter says his 2012-13 Central Heights Viking wrestling squad may not be built around one all-star wrestler, but the core of experienced, solid athletes returning this year will have every chance of placing some 3A state tournament qualifiers.

"We don't have the elite wrestler," said the 11-year veteran Viking wrestling coach,

"but we have several that are pretty solid."

Those include last year's lettermen Dustin Asbury, Jacob Anderson and Jake Green, all seniors, along with juniors J.R. Dunnivan, Dillon Schwab and sophomores Donovan Milliken, Jacob Anderson and Eli Davis.

Central Heights lost grapplers Gage Holler and Levi Snow to graduation last year; a year that saw the team go 12-1 in duals despite having several open weight classes. This year will require a little shifting in some weight classes, but overall the Vikings should be competitive.

"We will have a better dual team than a tournament team," Hinderlter said. "We need to get a couple of guys healthy and a couple in different weight classes."

Hinderlter said his goal for 2012-13 would be to qualify 3-4 wrestlers for the state tournament.

Lancers' goal: League champs

BY DANE HICKS THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW

COLONY - This year's Lancer boys basketball squad returns to the court with one of the tightest, most close-knit teams in recent years and a couple of not-so-secret weapons aimed at a League title and a chance to win 'on the big floor.'

"First and foremost we want to win a (Three Rivers) league championship," said 7-year veteran head coach and former Crest Lancer Travis Hermreck. "We haven't won it in the last two seasons and that doesn't sit very well with us."

The squad has a lot of experience and most of it has been earned together. Hermreck said the team is incredibly close-knit and shares a solid work ethic and sense of goal setting- which will hopefully lead to the Holy Grail of 1A basketball itself.

"As always we want to play in the state tournament and give ourselves a chance to win "on the big floor," Hermreck said.

The Lancers went 15-9 last year and made its third state tournament appearance in the past five years, but the Grail- a state title- has remained elusive.

The returning Lancers are a solid bunch. Gone are last year's standouts Jayden and Cole Bowen and Chris Brallier, but this year's team has more depth and a lot of varsity experience. At 6'2", senior forward Kyle Hammond has a chance to end up the 2nd all time scorer in Crest school history. Senior guard Jordan Morton, 6'0", comes back to 2012 having sharpened his deadly three-point shooting attack. Senior Jesse Boone (6'3") returns at center and Brock Ellis, a 6'4" junior, returns at forward. Five-foot ten-inch Junior Landon Stephens returns at guard and sophomore Austin Green, 5'7", returns at guard as well.

If the 2012 Lancers have an edge, they'll sharpen it against a schedule that's more grueling than in years past.

"We beefed up our schedule a little bit," Hermreck said. "In addition to the early tournament at Humboldt we also play in the Pleasanton mid-season tournament with Central Heights and Humboldt. We also play 1A powerhouses Olpe, Lebo and Madison."

The Lancer defense may be key.

"Last season we were not a very good team defensively," Hermreck said. "If we're going to get to where we want to be we are going to have to commit to playing more efficiently on that end of the floor."

Crest girls hoping lightning strikes twice

BY DANE HICKS THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW

COLONY - It was no fluke. It was called "winning."

And anybody who watched last year's 3-16 Lancer girls team beat 4-16 Chetopa in a 42-40 heart-stopper after taking a bye in the first round of the 1A substate tournament believes it.

It didn't matter what had happened before the tournament. Like a butterfly emerging from the cocoon, the same Crest girls with the lackluster record disassembled Altoona-Midway 35-13 to end up seeded last and taking on first-seed Ingalls in the first round of the state tournament on the court at Fort Hays State University.

No, they didn't get much farther than that. But they got there.

And though new Crest girls coach Ben Vaughn won't come right out and say it, who wouldn't like to go back?

"I don't like to set specific win goals or to set a goal to reach a certain level," Vaughn said. "We want to focus on being a competitive team that is able to win consistently."

Vaughn admits, as the new kid on the Crest coaching block, he's not too familiar with the Three Rivers League or with the Lancer's extra-league competition. But he says his girls still have a little fire left over from that substate tournament appearance - they work hard in practice to master a new system and nobody has convinced the team leaders that last year's finish was some kind of lightning strike.

"I feel we can be competitive," Vaughn said. "We're fairly young, but excellent leadership has helped. The girls have done very well with a new system. I'm confident their hard work is going to pay dividends on the court this season."

The Lancers graduated Shayla Stephens and Katrina Strickler last year, but return senior Kurston Gilliland to center in 2012-13. Also coming back as lettermen from last year are sophomores Madison Covey at point guard, Madison Kellar and Brooklyn LaCross at guard and Lyndia Bradshaw at forward. Others staffing this year's team are seniors Brytton Strickler and Shandra Sedlak at guard and sophomore Emmalee Seabolt at forward.

"We really hope to improve our teamwork and our basketball IQ this year," Vaughn said.

And if they're successful, who knows... lightning might strike twice.

Vikings salvage strong 7th

BY DANE HICKS THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW

RICHMOND - With a slim crowd and an early afternoon game, there may have been an echo in the gym at the 7th-place game between Central Heights and Osawatomie last Friday at Oz, but the 60-30 win mattered to the Vikings.

"The kids came out on all cylinders," said coach Rusty Cannady. "These kids don't care when or where or what time the game is, they just love to play and get better each game."

It had been a long tournament road with two previous losses and site changes from Ike Cearfoss gym to Oz for the finals. But the Vikings came out in control and never gave it up.

CHHS was up 38-21 at the half and hit the afterburners in the third period for 19 points. They held Oz to 4.

"Defensively we were as good as we have been all year," Cannady said. "Especially in the third quarter."

Jordan Horstick had 22, Trevor Burkdoll 14, Drew Beckwith 10, Zach McAfee 5, Tristan Davis 4, Tanner Erhart 3 and Tyler Hendron 2.

The Vikes were tied with Spring Hill at the half of their hosted tournament second round game, but the Broncos pushed ahead by 10 by the end of the game to take a 58-48 win.

"The kids did exactly what we wanted defensively and executed the offense a little bit better from Monday night," said coach Cannady. "We grew up a lot during this game. Once we got our identity figured out, we will be a pretty good team."

Spring Hill stayed just ahead of the Central Heights offense after the halftime until a couple of unanswered baskets in the fourth period put it away.

Horstick led with 18, Beckwith had 9, Burkdoll 6, McAfee 4, Erhart 5, and Hendron had 2.

"I was proud of how our kids fought but a little disappointed on how we finished," Cannady said. "We will get it fixed."

The first-round game against Osage City was "your good ol' fashioned small school basketball game" according to Viking head coach Rusty Cannady. But the heartbreaker came to the Vikes with a 2-point loss 54-52.

"Each team had their chances to open up a comfy lead but just couldn't," Cannady said. "That comes with experience. The game and reps these kids get the better they'll respond."

OC held a 1-point lead at the half, but neither team ever led by more than 5 points without a surge by the other to narrow the margin.

Jordan Horstick was hot for the Vikes, drilling 25 points to lead the game's scoring. His half-court shot after OC missed a free throw with .08 remaining bobbled off the backboard and rim.

Tanner Erhart hit 10, Trevor Burkdoll 8, Drew Beckwith 4, Zach McAfee 3 and Tristan Davis had 2. For OC it was Irvin 6, Kerns 8, Haskins 11, Spruill 3, Fort 9, Cousin 14, Hobby 3.

It was hard to be too disappointed in either team after a see-saw battle like that, Cannady said.

"All in all I thought we played pretty well. A couple of possessions here and there could have made the difference," he said.

Viking girls fall short in tourney

BY DANE HICKS THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW

RICHMOND - The Central Heights girls played some tough basketball but tumbled in all three games of the pre-season tournament the Vikings hosted last week.

The Vikes fell 46-36 to Kansas City Christian in the Friday finale, trailing by a single point 22-21 at the half. KCC mounted a full scale scoring drive in the third period to stack up 17 points while holding the Vikes to 8, and the fourth period was a 7-7 standoff.

Whitney Kraus led the Vikings with 15 points, Reagan Markley had 10, Brianna Erhart and Sydney Meyer both had 4 and Kenzie Haward 3. KCC's McGregor led her squad with 13.

Central Heights lacked just a smidge in the second round game of the home tournament with Coffeyville and fell by 5 points 35-40.

CHHS head coach Scott Lane said the team looked solid in blocking out and in its zone defense, but gave up a few too many second chance opportunities for Coffeyville to score.

"Our zone defense was a lot better tonight and our press break looked better than it did on Monday," Lane said. I told the girls it may not go down in the scorebook as a win but it definitely felt like a win to me."

Markly led the Viking scorers with 11 followed by Erhart with 8, Meyer with 7, Kraus 4, Stegner and Hayward 2 and Tami Schaefer 1.

Coffeyville led 23-18 at the half and managed to hold the margin until the final whistle. Coffeyville's Johnson hit 10 to lead her team to the win.

The Vikings fell prey to Osage City's defense at the outset in the tournament opener, losing 40-19. The Vikes were down 24-10 at the half and could never mount a sustainable scoring drive. OC's Katie King drilled Central Heights for 13 points. Erhart had 7, Meyer 6, Marley 3, Stegner 2 and Kraus 1.

Bulldogs take fourth in tourney

BY DANE HICKS THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW

BURLINGTON - The AC Bulldogs lost an opening round tournament game last Monday against Baldwin in a last-minute relocation of the tourney from Baldwin to Burlington, then beat Chanute to advance to a loss against the actual host team Friday to take fourth place.

AC led briefly by a point at the end of the first period, but it was a nip and tuck shoot-out most of the finale. AC went temporarily cold in the second period and managed only 9 points while the Wildcats packed away 17 during the period and built the margin that would eventually win them the game. AC's Drew Mechnig and Eric Small hit AC's only buckets of that crucial period, Mechnig with a salty 3-pointer and Small with a single jump shot. Tanner Lickteig contributed two free throws, and Mechnig drilled two from the charity strip as well to bank the first of his 7/9 freebies for the night. Lickteig would end the night 9/12 from the free throw line.

AC trailed 28-35 at the half and couldn't gather the steam to regain the lead for the rest of the game.

Lickteig led the Bulldogs with 19, Mechnig had 16, Small 15, Zach Hilliard 12, Spencer Walter 9 and Jack Rickabaugh 2. Burlington's Redding led the Wildcats with 19.

AC struggled to get to its feet in the first period of the opener against Baldwin despite two three-pointers by Drew Mechnig and trailed 23-11 at the end of the first period. The Bulldogs rallied in the second period with 21 points to trail 42-32 at the half. Tight defense in the third period by Baldwin held AC to single buckets from Mechnig, Eric Tastove, Eric Small and Ian Comfort and two free throws by Tanner Lickteig while Baldwin doubled Garnett's period scoring with 20. But not even a scoring frenzy by Tastove in the fourth period when he knocked off 14 of AC's 26 points could make up the deficit.

Tastove hit 21 for the night followed by Mechnig with 14, Spencer Walter and Lickteig with 8, Jack Rickabaugh with 6, Zach Hilliard with 4 and Comfort and Small with 2 each.

Lancers lose shootout in 4th period

BY DANE HICKS THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW

HUMBOLDT - The Lancers took a 23-19 lead into the lockerroom at the halftime of the Humboldt game but lost a fourth period shootout to concede 43-40.

Brock Ellis smacked a pair of treys early in the first period and one each in the second and third quarter to pump out 14 total points against Humboldt. Kyle Hammond popped a couple of three pointers in the first half but went 0-2 from the free throw line to pick up 12 points. Jesse Boone hit 8, and Jordan Morton and Hunter Frazell kicked in 3 each.

"As much as I hate losing," said Crest head coach Travis Hermreck, "if there is such a thing as a good loss- this was it. This was an exciting game."

It came down to cooler heads prevailing, Hermreck said.

"Ultimately, they were able to maintain their poise, while we had too many stretches where we were rattled," he said.

Humboldt's Thornbrugh hit a game-high 19 to lead in the win.

AC girls lose season opener

BY DANE HICKS THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW

CARBONDALE - Turnovers and challenged rebounding took a toll on the AC Bulldog girls and brought a 63-40 loss in the squad's season opener against Santa Fe Trail.

"We gave up an 11-0 run to start the game, so that put us in a hole early," head coach Tim Bremerman said. Another 9 unanswered points in the third helped SFT build its margin.

"We played competitive with them throughout the game though," Bremerman said. "I saw some good things already, and like any game plenty of things that we need to work on.

I was pleased with the effort the girls gave and I'm excited about games to come."

Paige Scheckel led the Bulldogs in scoring with 9, Jaime Mersman and Macy Adams both had 7, Amanda Moody and Michaela Stevenson 6, Cheyanne Ratliff 4 and Tayler Porter 1.

Have a Holly Jolly Christmas

THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW 06-29-2010 / Vickie Moss

Greeley Elementary School's fifth and sixth graders gather around an antique Stoughten sleigh as they sing "Sleigh Ride" during their winter program Thursday, Nov. 29. Students performed many traditional favorites. Music and band instructor, Jeff Russell, who is new to the Greeley building this year, worked with the young group and involved them in the stage preparations. The "Winter Wonderland" backdrop was created and painted by students and set the scene for songs like "Jingle Bells," "Here Comes Santa Claus" and "Holly Jolly Christmas."

Discount Kansas state parks passport to debut in 2013

TOPEKA - Kansans who enjoy visiting the state parks can count on at least two annual rituals - renewing their vehicle registrations and buying their annual park permits. Currently, these tasks must be completed on separate occasions, at different buildings or online locations, and using separate transactions. That's about to change, thanks to a partnership between the Kansas Department of Wildlife, Parks and Tourism (KDWP) and the Kansas Department of Revenue (KDOR).

Beginning in 2013, Kansas motor vehicle owners will be able to buy an annual park vehicle permit as part of their vehicle registration process. The permit - called a Kansas State Parks Passport - will cost $15.00 (county treasurers can elect to add a $0.50 service fee). This lower-price, non-transferable permit will be available only during the vehicle registration process at a motor vehicle registration office, through the online vehicle registration site (www.kswebtags.org), or when registering by mail. The Kansas State Parks Passport will expire when the vehicle registration expires a year later.

During 2013, persons who would like to purchase an annual park permit before they register their vehicles can do so at any KDWP office, Kansas license vendor or through the KDWP website, (www.ksoutdoors.com/License-Permits), and then request a pro-rated refund for the difference in cost. Refund forms will be available from KDWP state park offices or through the KDWP website at ksoutdoors.com. Only Kansas State Park Passports purchased between January 1, 2013 and June 30, 2013 will be eligible for refund.

Kansas residents (except seniors and persons with disabilities) and owners of vehicles not registered in Kansas who buy their park vehicle permits at a KDWP office or vendor will have to pay the regular price for annual and daily permits. The regular annual park vehicle permit will cost $25.00, and the daily vehicle permit fee will be $5.00, including processing fees.

To save even more starting in 2013, residents 65 years of age or older or persons with disabilities who display a special license plate or placard issued pursuant to state law can buy a park vehicle permit directly from a KDWP office or vendor. Including processing fees, the cost will be $13.75 for annual vehicle park permits or $3.25 for regular daily permits. These lower-priced permits will not be available as part of the vehicle registration process.

KDWP pushed for the new passport in the 2012 legislative session. Kansas state parks receive modest funding from the state general fund but the amount has dwindled in recent years, resulting in significant challenges for park operations and maintenance.

Robin Jennison, KDWP Secretary, explained that the agency is striving to be less reliant on state general funds. "The new annual permit will provide a lower cost way for families and young people to visit our state parks. It also will help expand our customer base, and provide a more reliable, consistent revenue stream to stabilize the funding pool so we can more effectively operate our state parks. We deeply appreciate the help of the Department of Revenue to make this happen," he said.

Linda Craghead, Assistant Secretary for Parks and Tourism, added, "The Kansas State Parks Passport will make it more convenient and affordable for Kansans to enjoy our 25 state parks. It will be a great way for families to reconnect with nature and each other, and help preserve the parks for future generations. Families can enjoy a whole year of adventure and outdoor activities for less than the cost of treating the family to a night at the movies."

"We are pleased to partner with the Kansas Department of Wildlife, Parks and Tourism to offer this customer service feature which will make it easier for all Kansans to visit our state parks," said KDOR Vehicles Director Donna Shelite.

Information about the new Kansas State Parks Passport will be included in the registration renewal notice sent to vehicle owners each year.

Top Farm Family

THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW 06-29-2010 / Vickie Moss

The Kueser family was honored as one of 10 Kansas Farm Bureau 2012 Farm Families of the Year at the KFB Annual Meeting, Dec. 4 in Manhattan. The Kuesers are pictured here at their homestead in Anderson County, December 5.

Kuesers honored at Kansas Farm Bureau annual meeting

MANHATTAN - Gail and Debbie Kueser, Anderson County, were honored as Kansas Farm Bureau Farm Family of the Year for Farm Bureau's 2nd geographic district. The Kueser family received their award during Kansas Farm Bureau's 94th Annual Meeting in Manhattan, Dec. 4.

One family in each of the Kansas Farm Bureau's 10 geographic districts is selected each year for the Farm Family of the Year award. The award recognizes families for their service and leadership in agriculture, Farm Bureau and their communities.

The Kuesers farm started in 1966 when Gail, along with his father and brother, shared a partnership. Currently, Gail and his brother farm 3,000 acres. They raise corn, wheat and soybeans on their farmland. The Kuesers also own a cow-calf operation of 100 cattle.

Gail and Debbie Kueser have two children, Eric, 26, and Shelby, 22.

The Kuesers have been involved in Farm Bureau for many years serving in various leadership roles. Gail was vice-president and president for two years on the Anderson County Farm Bureau board. He currently serves as policy chairman. Debbie was president for four years and is currently the vice-president and women's chair for the Anderson County Farm Bureau. She also serves on the State Promotion & Ag Education Committee. As a couple, Gail and Debbie attend the Listening Post and Issue Surfacing meetings. Locally, the couple has participated in Customer Appreciation Day for Farm Bureau members, Tractor Pedal Pulls, and handing out pamphlets at the county fair explaining the importance of Farm Bureau.

The Kueser family is also active in other agricultural and non-agricultural organizations. Gail has served on the Soil Conservation board as well as the Water District board. He is a member of the American Legion and is in the color guard for funerals. Debbie is in the community band and serves on the Anderson County Cornfest board. They are both Eucharistic Ministers and lecturers at their church.

Kansas Farm Bureau represents grassroots agriculture. Established in 1919, this non-profit advocacy organization supports farm families who earn their living in a changing industry.

Farmers helping farmers

Known also as bees and change work, work frolics were occasions when farmers got together to help a neighbor with a difficult job, to do something for the general good, or to provide an excuse to have a party.

Best known were the barn raising and house raising bees, when a young couple's neighbors turned out to help put up the frame of a new log cabin, house or barn-heavy work that a man and his wife simply could not do all by themselves. We read also of church raising bees, school raising bees, and meeting house bees when neighbors undertook a job of benefit to them all.

A land cleaning bee was another type of changework in which the group completed in a day a task that would take one man and a team of oxen many months to complete. Or the whole task might be divided into a series of bees, First there would be a logging bee when the trees would be felled, then a log rolling bee, a log piling bee, a land leveling bee, a stump pulling bee, a stone hauling bee, and a firewood cutting bee. While one man alone could cut up his firewood, a bee sometimes was held anyhow, just as an excuse for good fellowship.

Bees were not all work, because every now and then the group would stop for a drink of hard cider and, at the end of the day, more cider, beer, rum and other refreshments would be served. The wives of the changeworkers would come along and spend the time at such work as quilting or carpet weaving, while the men engaged in the work frolic.

Women also held bees of their own, often just as an excuse to get together socially. They held bees for apple paring, jelly and mincemeat making, quilting and sewing. They sewed for themselves, for the poor, or sometimes for the parson's family.

Bees provided companionship, which was all too rare in those days, plus relaxation and the spirit of festival. The only reward for all the work done consisted of thanks from the beneficiary, plus plenty of cider, rum and food.

Farmers also held butchering bees in cold weather and break-in-out-the-road bees in winter time when heavy snows descended and several team's of oxen were required to pull a plow through high drifts.

One of the most popular kinds of bees was the corn husking bee when the young farm folk got together in a barn or around a fire on a winter evening and husked the corn that had been harvested earlier. It was traditional on these occasions to celebrate the finding of a red ear of corn in one or both of two ways: either the finder of the red ear got to kiss the girl of his choice or else the whole group stopped for a round of cider or some other beverage. Young men who found red ears too often were suspected of planting them as a means of enjoying extra kisses.

After they had finished their work, the huskers were rewarded with refreshments such as baked beans, brown bread, pickles, apple pie, cake, coffee and of course the usual stimulants.

In the spring and fall, farm wives would conduct a series of house cleaning bees, in order to lessen the drudgery of the job, and when nothing else needed doing they would engage in a clean-the-meeting-house bee. A good excuse for a work frolic always could be found if the lonely people really wanted to get together for work or play.

The same spirit of helpfulness also was present in the custom of sending a taster of food, called a "cold patty", to neighbors after a wedding reception or other large celebration.

Oh! Those bees were great.

1992: Church furniture factory files bankruptcy

Dec. 10, 2002

Local government officials plan to support statewide organizations lobbying on behalf of cities and counties which say they may sue Gov. Bill Graves over his plan to cut $48 million in demand transfer funds to local units of government. If they become reality, Gov. Graves' cuts would hit hardest on county road departments Anderson County would lose some $131,000 with some $25,000 missing from payments expected this week for the end of 2002, with additional cuts from the county's general fund as well. Garnett City Manager Rick Doran said the city would lose about $30,000 total if the cuts are affected.

Board members in USD 365 voted to undertake a fresh engineer's study to get the "nuts and bolts" information they need to determine the prospects for adding a new track facility at Anderson County High School.

Dec. 10, 1992

Garnett Church Furnishings filed for chapter 11 bankruptcy last Friday, Dec. 4 in U.S. Bankruptcy Court in Topeka, sounding what may be the final chord for one of Garnett's oldest businesses. Beset by financial problems for several years, Church Furnishing's petition for the filing listed three secured creditors, or creditors whose loans are backed by assets of the company, and 176 unsecured creditors, whose debt is secondary to secured debt.

in construction of an additional access road to Anderson County Jr. Sr. High School to help alleviate traffic congestion there. One plan would bring the road from the southeast corner of the school's property south to an intersection at 4th Avenue. A portion of that proposed route from first street south is plotted and a road on city planning documents but is not currently developed. A utility easement runs the route from First street north to the school's parking lot but is not presently large enough to accommodate a road.

A person or persons unknown broke into the Anderson County landfill site late Saturday or early Sunday, taking 50-75 used automotive batteries. The break-in is the second in the last six months as the landfill in which batteries were taken.

Dec. 13, 1982

An increase of about 3 per month will be added to the Gas Service Company's customers because of a $7.7 million hike filed by the company. The Kansas Corporation Commission granted only $7.7 million of a requested $20.3 million by the company. A spokesman said the latest rate hike was because "we just need to recover the cost of doing business."

State Library moves back to capitol

TOPEKA — The State Library of Kansas will soon be back in the Kansas Statehouse after more than two years' worth of restorations and special planning. Movers began relocating the collection earlier this week and will be complete in 8 to 10 days.

The 202,000 book collection contains publications over 200 years old and a move of this magnitude requires precise attention to detail and meticulous handling. "It's really quite remarkable to see a collection of this size and importance in motion," said State Librarian

Jo Budler. "Some of these books have been part of our collection since the 1800s. It feels great to get them back home." The State Library's collection has been housed off-site since December 2010.

Once the prominent collection is back in place, the State Library staff will follow, migrating from the eight mobile units located outside the Capitol. "I can't tell you how excited we are to get back in the Statehouse before the 2013 legislative session," Budler said. When asked how long the State Library services will be unavailable during the transition, Budler replied, "Some requests may take us a little longer but the State Library will remain open and continue to serve the needs of state agencies, legislators, libraries and the public."

The State Library will be located in the north wing of the Statehouse in room 312-N beginning December 10th. Library hours are Monday-Friday, 8am-5pm. For information on the State Library services, visit kslib.info or call (785) 296-3296.

Miller 60th anniversary

THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW 12-11-2012 / Photo Submitted

George J. and Rosemary Miller, nee Setter, will celebrate their 60th wedding anniversary on December 30, 2012. They were married on December 30, 1952 at St. John the Baptist Church in Greeley, KS. The Millers currently live in Overland Park, KS.

Mr. Miller is a veteran of the United States Army. He is retired from farming and truck driving and is active in his church and the Knights of Columbus.

Mrs. Miller played the organ at church and for many years provided music for the school children at St. John's. She was appointed to the Kansas Soybean Commission by the late Governor Robert Bennett.

George and Rosemary have ten children, Angela Traynor (Kevin) of Overland Park, George E Miller (Cheryl) of Greeley, KS, Timothy, (deceased), Mary Ann Lyons of Emporia, Kathleen Phillips (Ryan) of Fort Scott, Stephen, (deceased), James Miller (Judi) of Tuttle, Oklahoma, John Miller (Tracy) of Olathe, KS, Fred Miller of Topeka, KS, and Brian Miller of Olathe, KS.

Lucky 13 4-H Club meets

October

The October meeting of the Lucky 13 4-H Club was held on Sunday, October 21, at 5 p.m. at Glenlock School.

The meeting was called to order by President Garrett Benton, with the club reciting the 4-H pledge. Roll call was "What I had for breakfast" and it was answered by 19 members, three leaders and four guests. Tori Cunningham read the minutes of the October meeting and Tyler Wolken gave the treasurer's report.

The float committee reported that there were nine members and one leader that represented our club in the Christmas parade.

The leaders reminded us that our enrollment cards are due at the extension office by Dec. 1, no exceptions. It was also set as a reminder that the VIP training needed to be completed by Feb. 1.

Our program consisted of Derek Nelson doing a reading about the best gift you can give at Christmas is spending time with your grandparents or others.

The meeting ended with the 4-H motto. Our next meeting will be on Monday, Dec. 17, at Glenlock School at 7 p.m.

City crews hang festive holiday lights in 1981.

The Blum kids - Micky, Vicky and Nicky - zonk out under handmade decorations on their Kansas cedar Christmas tree after a vigorous celebration in 1979. The family had recently moved to Garnett from Pennsylvania, where Mom had stored their Christmas decorations, so the kids made most of the colorful trimmings from scratch at their new home.

Fourth, fifth and sixth grades at Irving Elementary School share their voices at the Christmas program in 1986.

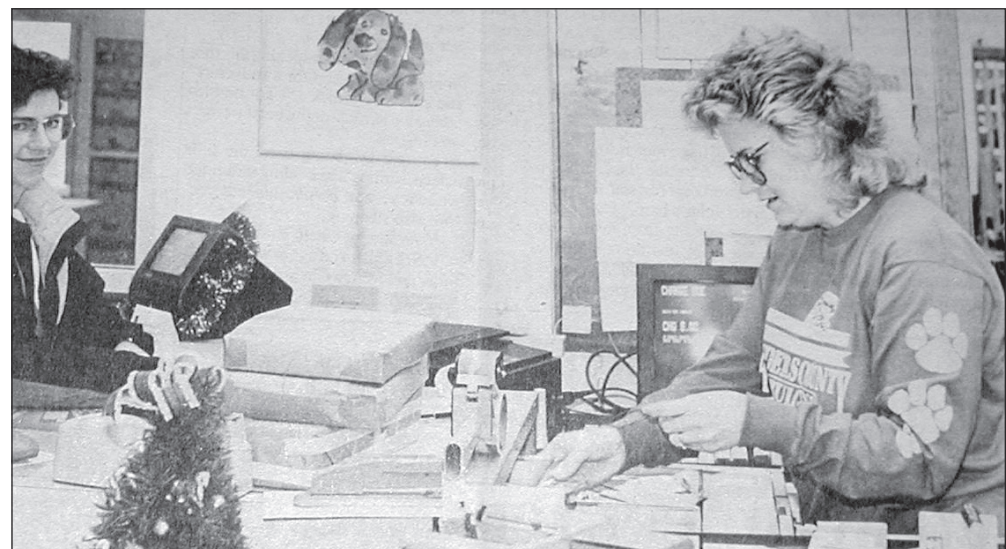

"There's No Place Like Home... Garnett KS" was the name of this float featuring Lauryn Hastert, Kaleigh Maloan, Meagan Hastert, Mandy Hermreck and Sennett Hermreck in the 1999 Christmas parade.

The Anderson County Boots and Spurs float won the grand prize in the Garnett Area Chamber of Commerce's "Spirit of Christmas" parade in 1977.

Mrs. Patton's sixth grade class presented the western-themed "Stubby Pringle's Christmas" play at Garnett Elementary Center in 2002.

Centerville welcomes Christmas season

Happy Birthdays this week include Rita Kerr on Dec 7, Al Kerr on Dec 8, Joyce Schull on Dec 10 and Avis Kramer on Dec 11; Happy Birthday to all.

Happy Anniversary to Pete and Dierra Willey on Dec 7.

Rita and Al Kerr, along with Juanita Fann enjoyed a two-day trip to Branson this past week.

Thoughts and prayers go out to Jessie Sutton of Phoenix AZ, who has been facing health issues; he is the son of Bud and Donna Sutton and brother to Bonnie Hobson.

Saturday guests at the home of Al and Rita Kerr were granddaughters Ashley Kerr of Annika, Iowa, and Amber Kerr of Kansas City, KS.

Bill and Jan Page, along with several family members enjoyed a trip to Branson this past week.

The Helping Hands and Heart Food Pantry will be opened on Wednesday from 9:00 a.m. to 11:00 a.m.

Church News

Methodist Church: The Parker, Beagle and Fontana churches held a combined service at the Fontana facility on Dec 2. The service depicted Holy Communion and the First Sunday of Advent. Guest speaker was Reverend Dr. Dennis Ackerman, who is the district supervisor. Pastor Marti McDougal gave the Call to Worship from Jeremiah 33 and led the congregation in the Unison Prayer of Confession. Pastor McDougal conducted the Time with the Young Disciples and the lesson was titled "Waiting for Jesus- The Meaning of Advent." The Community Cantata Choir sang several selections that will be performed at the Christmas Cantata. Pastor McDougal read the Scripture Text from Luke 21:25-36. Reverend Ackerman read the Sermon Text from Jeremiah 33:14-16; his message was titled "It's Coming." Both Pastors assisted with Holy Communion. Terry Jenkins lit the First Candle of Advent. Following the service, the congregation enjoyed a carry-in luncheon and remained for the annual church conference.

The Ladies Bible Study group will meet at the home of Carole McKnight on Thursday, Dec 6 at 9:30 a.m.

The Parker United Methodist Women will gather at the church on Thursday, Dec 6 at 11:00 a.m. for their annual Christmas Luncheon.

Everyone is welcome to attend the Christmas Cantata which will be hosted by the Beagle United Methodist Church on Sunday, Dec 9 at 7:00 p.m.

Baptist Church: For the morning service, Pastor W.R. Workman's sermon was titled "Knowledge is Knowing that We have the Victory" and scripture was read from Romans 6:16. Pastor Workman's evening sermon was titled "Hearing what God says" and scripture was read from Deuteronomy 22:5.

Centerville News

Both adults and kids enjoyed trips along Main Street on the Christmas Train that welcomed the holiday season this past Friday. A wonderful Soup and Chili Dinner at the Township Hall was also served up to approximately 150 patrons as County Commissioner Mike Page commented on the tentative plans for the firehouse and emergency facility, as newly elected Sheriff Paul Filla gave a brief overview on how his department will be adding extended coverage for the northern county, after he takes office in January. To the delight of over 75 children, Santa arrived shortly thereafter on the local county fire truck and began the task of hearing each child's Christmas "wish list" before rushing back to the North Pole.

A very special celebration took place this past Sunday (Dec 2) as friends and family members gathered at the home of Maxine Frear in honor of her 95th birthday. The overwhelming number of well-wishers came out on this beautiful Sunday afternoon, to enjoy cake, punch and conversation, making this a truly memorable day for a very special lady.

Fred Kautt will be celebrating his birthday on Dec. 8.

Happy Anniversary wishes go out to Bruce and Rita Boydston on Dec 6 and Charlie and Donna Rowlett on Dec. 7.

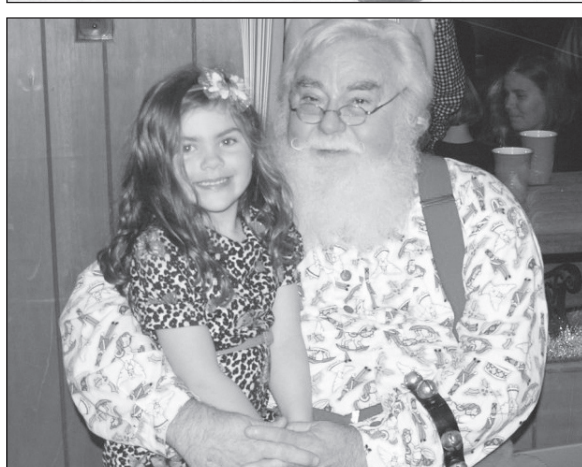

Exercise Mondays are held each week at the Centerville Community Church Fellowship Hall, beginning at 8:00 a.m.

Friends & Pieces Quilters meet each Wednesday at the Centerville Community Church (basement) beginning at 10:00

The first three gifts of Christmas

Matthew gives a detailed account of the visit of the wise men from the east after the birth of Jesus. These wise men were probably from Mesopotamia, the region of ancient Babylon. There are numerous accounts of ancient astrologers interpreting astronomical phenomena as heralding the birth of kings. The wise men refer to having seen his (Jesus) star when it rose. This may have been a planetary conjunction, a supernova or something purely supernatural. Whatever the case it alludes to the star of Jacob (Num. 24:17). Here Balaam predicts the future advent of a royal conqueror. "I see him, but not now; I behold him, but not near; a star shall come out of Jacob and a scepter shall rise out of Israel."

Whoever these men were and wherever they came from they stated their purpose clearly when they ask Herod the king "Where is he who has been born king of the Jews? For we saw his star when it rose and have come to worship him."

In Matthew 2:11 we read, "And going into the house they saw the child with Mary his mother and they fell down and worshiped him." We then read and then they opened their treasures and offered him gifts of gold and frankincense and myrrh. Why these gifts we are not told but only left to imagine. There are many explanations but perhaps the most widely accepted is as follows.

Gold is a gift you would give a king. Whenever one king of lesser strength had to pay tribute to a stronger king the exchange was always made in gold. Frankincense is a gift you would give a God. Frankincense was part of the scared anointing oil. It was used as a sacrificial offering, as a fumigant during animal sacrifices and as a perfume. Myrrh is a perfume and was used as an anointing oil and for embalming as well as a medicine for relief of pain.

The role of the star in Matthew 2 suggests a connection with astrology. These astrologers pursuing their observations of the stars encountered a sign from God. God made this event known to them. The most important part of the account is not who these men were or where they came from or why. The most important point is "They (wise men) fell down and worshiped him." This is in stark contrast to Herod the king as we are told "he was troubled." We are now into advent moving toward the celebration of the birth of Christ. Make this season a time of worship not a time of indifference.

David Bilderback: A Ministry on the Holiness of God.

Colony publishes grant notice

(Published in The Anderson County Review, December 11, 2012)

Notice to Citizens in Colony, Kansas

OPPORTUNITY FOR WORK

The city of Colony, Kansas has received a $274,725 Community Development Block Grant from the Kansas Department of Commerce for the Sanitary Sewer System Improvements Project, Grant #12-PF-013 in the City of Colony, KS.

This grant will provide Colony, Kansas the opportunity to search for eligible local citizens interested in participating in the project. Section 3 of the Housing and Urban Development Act of 1968, as amended through 1994, provides that to the greatest extent feasible, preference for economic opportunities will be given to citizens in Colony, Kansas who are determined to be low-to-moderate income individuals. A low-to-moderate income individual can be calculated by documenting household income of less than 80% of the county median income. Opportunities such as job training and employment that arise through this Community Development Block Grant project will be directed toward Colony's residents. Contractors can be eligible for a Section 3 contract as awarded in connection with CDBG projects if they meet one of the following definitions:

- Business is owned by 51% or more Section 3 residents;
- Business employs Section 3 residents in full time positions;

• Businesses who subcontract with other businesses that provide economic opportunity to Section 3 residents;

Section 3 requirements apply to Colony, Kansas as a grantee, if the project activity is $200,000 or more and to all contractors and subcontracts $100,000 or more if the $200,000 threshold is met.

If you wish to determine if you qualify or have an interest in serving as a subcontractor for this project, please contact the city clerk, 339 Cherry St, PO Box 88, Colony, KS 66015, (620) 852-3530.

If you are interested in job training or other employment resources, please contact: KANSASWORKS services at 1-877-509-6757 www.kansasworks.com

Churches

Dec. 2 Scripture at the Christian Church was Luke 1:39-56. "Finding Friends Who Care" was the sermon delivered by Pastor Mark McCoy. This is with the Bigger Better More-Fellowship series. Prayer and coffee 9 a.m. every Sunday; Men's Bible study at the church 7 a.m. Tuesday; Dec. 9-23-children practicing program during Children's Church.

Dec. 16-Bring gifts to send to Cookson Hills, must send that week. Suggested gifts-body wash, other toiletries, candy, snacks, gum, fast food gift cards (McDonald's, Taco Bell, Sonic, Subway) or hot chocolate packets, a box in church entry; Dec. 23-Children's Church will be presenting "Just a Little Christmas" during worship time. Jan. 6-Photos for new church directory will be taken directly after church. We need all of the church families there that day. Bring finger food type eats to eat while we wait to take pictures.

Opening prayer was given by Nan Symes at the November meeting of the Working Wonders Christian Women's Council. Genna Gallaher served refreshments. The roll call was "My Favorite Holiday Tradition". Nan Symes gave the devotions. Plans for the Harvest Feast and the fruit baskets for Christmas were made. It was agreed to send a donation to ECKAN. The meeting closed with prayer. The Harvest Feast was well attended. WWCWC members delivered 30 meals.

The United Methodist Church Scripture Dec. 2 was Proverbs 3: 9-10, Luke 1: 68-79. Pastor Leslie Jackson presented the sermon. Dec. 16-Christmas pageant jointly with Community Church at Community Church, 6:30 p.m.; Dec. 24-Christmas Eve program, 6 p.m.

90th Birthday

The children of Mary Clemans, sons Dwight, twins Marvin and Arvin and daughter Bonnie Sjogren and spouses are hosting an open house to celebrate their mother's 90th birthday. The family will host a private birthday dinner on Saturday, Dec. 15. An open house will be held that afternoon at the Colony City Hall community room 1-4 p.m. Family and friends are invited to attend. No gifts, please. Cards would be greatly appreciated. If you are unable to attend, cards may be sent to 329 G.A.R. Ave., Colony, KS 66015.

Christmas Celebration

Dec. 1 was a "perfect picture" evening for the Colony Christmas opening season of the "Perfect Picture" 8th annual Christmas business lighting and parade. DeDe McMullen led children in singing Christmas songs. Arlene Gilliland announced the "Love Lights a Tree" cancer honorees and Billy Beckmon emcee of the evening announced the "Community Remembrance Tree" honorees followed by Cindy Beckmon assisting the children in decorating the bank's yard tree with dove ornaments and Christmas bulbs for those honored.

Dove ornaments placed for Love Lights a Tree were in honor of-Kathy Thompson, Marsha Storrer and Michelle Gilliland Nuttle and in memory of Miranda Dutton, Bill Beckmon, Nancy Gampper, Verna Henderson, Julie Tidd, Anna O'Mara, Ines Walker, Mary Jane Holloway, Maxine Rook, Gerald Olin Welsh, Bettie Caudell, Dorothy Gilman, Lucille McClanahan and Carolyn McGuffin. Drs. Frank Porter and Eric Wolfe of Family Physicians, Colony, made a donation. Proceeds went to the American Cancer Society.

Bulbs placed on the "Community Remembrance Tree" who are forever remembered in our hearts that helped make our town what it is today were: Bettie Caudell, Terry Caudell, Bob Culler, Joe Church, Maxine Cooper, Bill Michael, Dale Baker, Gus Hermreck, Mitch Hermreck, Clara Culler, Bob Barnett, Alta Allen, John Rook, Pat Bain, Ina Strickler, Gary Hermreck, Marge Hamm, Florence Fursman, Roy Gilliland, LaRee Thexton, Ina Strickler, Danielle Rae Comstock, Ivan and Avo Cox, Charles and Estella Luedke, Robert and Ruth Luedke, Ina Nickels, Coletta Sprague, Bill Beckmon and Roy Gilliland. Proceeds went to the Colony fire fighters.

At the countdown the business area was aglow with lights. Participating in the parade were: Retired Msg. Richard Crabtree presenting the United States Flag with his granddaughter Sydney Stephens accompanying him; Colony City Marshall Bill Goodell and Mayor Neal Wallace; Anderson Co. Sheriff's Dept., Deputy Steve Duckworth; Colony fire and Rescue; Anderson Co. EMS, Chris Nungesser and Kim Martin; Jane Ward and Frosty the Snowman; Cub Scout Pack 3126, Garnett; Kristen Boone, owner of Golden Photography, Iola; Crest 5th grade band, Janell Allee, instructor; Colony Christian Church, Pastor Mark McCoy; Colony United Methodist Church, Pastor Leslie Jackson; Colony Community Diner and Convenience (CCDC); Kincaid-Selma United Methodist Church, Pastor Bill Nelson; Crest Middle School/High School Band, Janelle Allee, instructor; Garnett State Savings Bank, Colony Branch; Ellington Kids; Rick Horn and the Halfway House; Prairie Belle's Catering, Danelle and Christy McGhee owners; and lastly Colony Lions Club brought Santa! Santa visited with kids at the bank.

Prior to the event the Crest After Prom Committee held a soup/chili supper at the City Hall community room from 4-6 p.m. It was well attended.

Many thanks go to Tim Dietrich, city superintendent, who did a lot of work in preparing the business area for the event. Each year GSSB bank hosts the celebration. A very special "thank you" goes to them for this wonderful event!

Many homes were decorated with lights for the opening of the season. Among them were Decker Spillmans, Steve Michaels, Vivian Barnett, Harold Thextons, Roger Youngs, Gilbert Greens, Olive Kresge, Evelyn Wedeman, Bob Scovills, and Bob Vermillions.

PTO

LeAnn Church, president opened the Nov. 26 meeting. Secretary Chrissy Powell read a thank you letter from Brenna Hammond for purchasing books for the library. Treasurer's report was a balance of $5635.69. Box top rewards will be presented Dec. 14. Box tops thus far have amounted to $564.30 for the school.

The Christmas Store will be open from 12:30 until around 2:30 on Dec. 17, 18 and 19.

A time for the pre-kindergarten shop will be worked out with Mrs. Abigail Hermreck. Church will be getting a sign-up schedule to those who can help work the store. If you have gifts or boxes please bring them to the school so they can add them to the gifts.

Principal Richard Burkdoll wondered if members could have an assembly the kids could attend during the day.

An 8 ft. brown bench was ordered and will be delivered sometime this week. Osage City Shirt will do the Standard of Excellence shirts. Tisha Hug will get Audi Miller a list to assist with purchase of presidential physical fitness awards. The library chairs need more repair than members can do and will be taken to Heigele's Repair Shop in Iola to see if he can repair at a reasonable price. Janelle Allee would like at least 18 poinsettias for the music program. It was voted to purchase 25 total for her and others.

In new business, the school carnival was set for Saturday, Feb. 23 with the FCCLA. Kayla Taylor will attend next meeting to give details. Book Fair was set for Feb. 11-13.

Audi Miller is looking into ideas for school assembly. The next meeting is Jan. 28.

THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW 12-11-2012 / Photo Submitted

GSSB, Colony Branch, Christmas tree was decorated with dove ornaments and bulbs, Saturday, Dec. 1 at the annual Christmas Season Celebration. The doves were in honor and memory of cancer patients and the bulbs in honor of Colony people who helped make the town what it is today.
