Voters approve new $25M hospital

Contested city, school board races also decided by voters

BY DANE HICKS THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW

GARNETT — By a margin that was first reported as a mere 48 votes but later revealed to be more like 130, less than 4-out-of-10 Anderson County voters last week committed the county to a 30-year bond issue to build a new $25 million Anderson County Hospital.

The highly-contested issue was defeated in most every rural voting precinct in the county, but only in a few of those precincts by decisive margins, leaving Garnett's largest wards to sway the eventual totals.

Unofficial vote counts (the vote was to be canvassed by county commissioners at 1 p.m. yesterday before being rendered "official") showed 1,081 in favor of the measure and 951 against. An earlier total had shown the 'yes' votes with only a 48-vote victory, but county clerk Phyllis Gettler said later the manual adding of advance voting reports resulted in a missed report from one of the county's touch-screen voting stations. Once those totals were added in, the measure passed by about 53 percent of those participating.

Gettler said county voting records showed 5,392 registered voters as of election day. Only 2,098 cast ballots, or about 38 percent.

The measure, which was endorsed by the county commission, commits county taxpayers to a little over a 5 mill tax increase to combine with nearly tripled operating lease payments from St. Luke's to pay off bonds for the new facility over a 30 year period. Opponents warned St. Luke's was committed to only the first 10 years of the lease agreement with extensions to 30 years. Supporters argued that the agreement when fulfilled would have St. Luke's paying for two-thirds of the total project.

Hospital officials and supports maintained that age-related structural and major system threats made the structure obsolete, and said a piece-by-piece repair project would cost $21 million and take 7 years to complete, if some of the repairs could be made at all.

County hospital board members and St. Luke's staff managed an aggressive campaign to build support for the effort, though some of the informational meetings held over the course of the past five weeks were attended by only a few members of the public.

"We're very excited that it passed," said Board of Trustees

Is it spring yet?

Schools offer creative snow day solution

USD 365 to add 10-15 minutes to May days instead of 1 more day

BY VICKIE MOSS THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW

GARNETT — How much can you accomplish in 10 or 15 minutes?

Teachers and students in USD 365 likely will have a variety of answers to that question by Memorial Day, as the school board voted to extend the school day by 10 minutes each day in May to make up a snow day.

The value of 10 minutes was at the center of a debate over the best way to make up an extra day of school. Students in the district missed six days of class because of snowstorms between late February and March. Three days will not be made up because the district typically pads the calendar with extra hours just for such purposes. That left three snow days, however, that must be made up. Two days were added to the end of the year, bringing the last day of school to Friday, May 24.

But that third snow day was a problem. If the district added that final snow day to the end of the year, it meant students would return for a partial day on the Tuesday after Memorial Day. Some parents and school officials, including teachers, didn't like that idea.

USD 365: Increase in taxes may be inevitable

School funding issues, enrollment numbers translate to tax hike

BY VICKIE MOSS THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW

GARNETT — A drop in FTE enrollment and state budget cuts mean a property tax increase is all but inevitable for taxpayers in USD 365 next year, school board members learned at their regular board meeting last week.

Several unknown factors could change things, but Superintendent Don Blome said a local tax increase is likely to be the district's only option.

"Money is going to have to come from somewhere. I don't see any other way we're going to come up with it, unless you cut a bunch of stuff and we've already gone through quite a bit of that," Blome said.

State legislators continue to debate school funding issues, and it's unlikely the district will know exactly how some of those funding problems will work out. Also playing into the confusion surrounding school finance is the ongoing legal battle over a court order to significantly increase school funding. Other legislative issues, like a proposed change to the

Video will market USD 365 schools

Project developer says district is among first to embrace concept

BY VICKIE MOSS THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW

GARNETT — A marketing video could help USD 365 play the role of the early bird, hoping to catch parents who are looking for good schools and a nice community.

School board members heard Doug Archer, of Garnett, who is developing a video project aimed at attracting people to Garnett schools. Although total cost of the project is not yet known, Superintendent Don Blome said the district expects to spend about $4,000 putting the video together. When finished, it will be distributed primarily online through social media.

The project is designed as a marketing ploy that will target people outside of Anderson County and create interest in USD 365 schools, Archer said. The project includes focus groups, both from a local perspective as well as a focus group in Arkansas to give an outside perspective.

The videos primarily will focus on key areas, such as showing students who appear happy and included. Other key points include outstanding performance on standardized tests, technology achievements, low teacher-student ratio, and opportunities to participate in extracurricular activities and sports. Anderson County's location is expected to be a prime drawing point, Archer said, especially as families look to move to the region when a new BNSF intermodal is built near Edgerton and Gardner.

USD 365 may be the first district to look at developing a marketing project like this, Archer said. He predicts similar projects will become more common in the next few years

Students will pay small fee for welding program

Plans continue on new vocational education programs in area

BY VICKIE MOSS THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW

GARNETT — Plans for vocational education programs for local high school students continue to evolve, with school board members looking at charging a small fee for students who want to take the classes.

A new regional welding program will be added to USD 365 in a cooperative agreement with Neosho County Community College. The welding program will be based in Garnett, although students from other area high schools also will attend. A similar health science program will be offered at Ottawa, and USD 365 students can attend that program. The vocational programs are part of a statewide push to increase vocational education. Students who complete the course will receive certification that can be used to immediately find a job in the workplace. Classes will be offered during a student's junior and senior years of high school, with certification available after one year of training.

Instead, they looked for alternatives. First, Superintendent Don Blome said he asked teachers if they would be willing to extend the school day by an extra hour each day of the last week of school. Because the change would modify contractual teacher hours, Blome and the school board needed to work with the local teachers' union, Northern Anderson County Teachers Association, to negotiate the best plan.

Teachers then suggested the 10-minute alternative, with students attending school a full day on May 24 and adding 10 minutes each day in May, although Blome said 15 minutes may be needed instead of 10. Board members approved their plan but not without discussion. Board members worried the extra 10 minutes could be wasted, and they wanted to make sure teachers and students were working through the extra time.

"I can do a lot with 10 minutes," Garie Jean Brownrigg, a teacher at GES and representative of the teachers' union, said.

Exactly when schools would start the extended days was not yet clear. Anderson County High School principal Kenny Kellstadt said he wasn't sure how he would add 10 or 15 minutes at the junior high and high school. Blome said he was concerned that there weren't enough extra hours to cover unforeseen circumstances, and he might want to start the extended days in late April.

"Who would have known we'd have this many snow dates this late in the year?" Blome said. "The way this year has been, we may have another snow day in May."

Parents will be notified when the district determines exactly when the extension will begin.

In USD 479 to the south, Crest students will attend school on two days that previously had been scheduled as days off. The school board met last night to determine how it would address the third snow day.

WELDING...

Although the state will reimburse districts for tuition, districts will need to pay for additional fees associated with the courses. The amount of fees varies depending on the course; the welding program, for example, has higher fees than the health science program.

Because of the cost to districts, school board members considered whether they should ask participating students to pay part of the fees. Students typically are asked to pay a fee for some classes, particularly those that have labs, Anderson County High School principal Kenny Kellstadt said.

A small fee would make it more likely that participants will complete the program, Superintendent Don Blome said. Districts will be reimbursed only for students who complete the program and earn the certification, he said. Class sizes are limited, so if some-way machinery and equipment are taxed, also could have an impact on the amount of money USD 365 collects in property taxes.

Even if the state provides the same level of funding, the district still will need to raise taxes to make up for losses elsewhere, Blome said.

Enrollment is the biggest determining factor for how much money the district will receive from the state, and enrollment likely will stay about the same in local schools, Blome said.

Preliminary enrollment from recent kindergarten roundups show about 90 students will enter the local education system in the fall. With 75 high school seniors graduating in May, the difference between outgoing and incoming students is expected to result in a slight gain. But the school finance formula only counts kindergarten students as half-time students, which means the district still will be lower for its Full-Time Equivalent (FTE) enrollment on which school funding is based. The enrollment decline alone likely will cost the district as much as $40,000 next year.

Districts can choose to use the current year's enrollment, the previous year's enrollment, or a three-year average. Enrollment was steady in 2012-13, and is expected to be steady in 2013-14, which works in the district's favor. Also expected to benefit the district next year will be a special financing boost because of building a new elementary school last year, but that benefit will end after next year.

ELECTION...

Chairman Bill Barnes. "I was a little disappointed that it didn't pass by any more than it did. Honestly I don't know what we'd have done if it didn't pass, and I think the commissioners also didn't know what we'd have done."

Opposition to the measure based around the tax increase and the size and scope of the project saying costs could be pared back by some other option, and brought to light decades-old prejudices against the hospital and it's operation under various managers. Some in opposition to the measure violated state election laws by circulating mailed flyers without attribution, or "paid for by" information. The same was true for illegal robocalls made the Friday before the election, and a website operated through an anonymous registrar.

Elsewhere in city elections former Garnett Mayor Greg Gwin was unopposed in the election and was re-elected. Merlin Carpenter won the Westphalia mayor's race with 28 votes over Sam VanPatton with 11. The five top vote-getters in the Westphalia council race won their posts; they were:

Angela Gardner 39, Jim Nolan 30, Carol Mechnig 29, Dorothy Cameron 23, Ryan Tastove 20 (write-in), Robert Ratzlaff 9 and Kim VanPatton 16.

Leonard Leadstrom won the Kincaid mayoral race with 21 votes unopposed. The top five vote getters among the council candidates was: Marjorie Stephens 24, Darlene Stewart 24, Carolyn Whitcomb 22, Brandon Gates 20, Judith Lenon 13, Tammie Neudeck 9, William Star 3.

In the USD 479 school board race, Travis Church defeated incumbent Frank Stewart by a vote of 230 to 68. Another seat was sought by Steve Prasko, who received 124 votes; however, there were 139 write-in votes so it was not immediately clear who won the position. The results of a canvass of votes Monday will have determined a winner in that race, but those results were not available as of presstime. Check The Review's Facebook page for updates.

Anderson County Commissioners conducted a canvass of the votes Monday. All votes reported here are unofficial; the votes were declared official after the canvass.

as districts realize they must compete to attract students and families to their communities. School funding debates at the state legislature could push districts toward consolidation, similar to a consolidation trend in the 1960s, he predicted. Because of those projections, it is crucial for Anderson County to be at the leading edge in attracting people to the district's schools and communities, he said.

Archer also plans to develop a network of ambassadors to continue the marketing message. The video will direct watchers to the ambassadors, who then will work closely with anyone who is seeking more information about the schools or communities.

Not so big deal

The $25 million hospital vote was the biggest decision Anderson County never made

BY RORKE DENVER GUEST EDITORIAL

Among the messages sent by last week's hospital vote in Anderson County is that even when it's a big deal, less than 40 percent of us really care.

EDITORIAL

by Dane Hicks, PUBLISHER

People have been lamenting low voter turnout for decades and the fact is nothing really seems to motivate the population to participate unless it's the election of the nation's first black president.

For Anderson County's part, last week's election should have been the 'biggest deal' in county history - at $25 million it was the largest bond issue ever voted in Anderson County.

One would think that historic moment would have motivated the masses... polarized the populace... revved up the registered voters...

Nah. The largest bond issue in Anderson County's history was decided by less than four out-of-10 registered voters.

Pro or con, it may have been the most expensive campaign in the county's history as well. Hospital supporters and the REACH citizen's support committee spent heavily on advertising and campaign materials to get their side of the story out. Opponents even paid for a mailing and robocalls, both of which violated state election laws due to the shy opponents' desire to remain anonymous. The tab, all told, will be in the thousands of dollars - far out of character for local elections, many of which are often run on zero budget.

So, why didn't more people vote? Passions were high among those on either extreme of the issue. Age-old prejudices about ACH among opponents percolated along with criticisms that the project was too expensive and too focused on property taxpayers for repayment; supporters, citing the degraded state of the present facilities as well as the critical standing of ACH's economic impact and public safety offering to the community warned of calamity if it was voted down.

But in the middle were 60 percent of local registered voters who yawned. The tight vote should tell the story. With a 130-vote margin the win could have easily gone to either side.

It's hard to imagine who didn't have a dog in this fight one way or the other. Does it reveal the disconnection and "low information" nature of Anderson County's electorate as is criticized by conservatives regarding the rest of the country's voting population? Perhaps so.

If not, then what? The choice by those voters was the best one for the future of Anderson County, but more people should have exercised their right to have their say.

The fear is this: that too few people will end up making too important decisions. For the 38 percent who took part last Tuesday, that was huge power indeed.

A victory for missile defense

BY RICH LOWRY NATIONAL REVIEW

Kim Jong Un has done the near-impossible. The newly minted supreme leader of North Korea has forced the Obama administration to admit that the United States needs more missile defense.

Lowry

Since it was introduced by Ronald Reagan in the 1980s, Democrats have reflexively denounced the idea of a defense against incoming ballistic missiles as wholly unworkable, impossibly expensive and dangerously destabilizing. Much better to leave ourselves exposed and work to sweet-talk our enemies out of their hostility and their weapons.

In keeping with this approach, upon taking office the Obama administration promptly nixed additional interceptors planned for deployment on the West Coast against the budding North Korean missile threat. George W. Bush had already put 30 interceptors at two sites on the West Coast, a symptom of his "Cold War mindset" that the supple and sophisticated Obama administration had no use for.

As it turns out, it is North Korea that truly has the Cold War -- or perhaps worse -- mindset. In the words of new Secretary of Defense Chuck Hagel, Pyongyang has "made advances in its capabilities and has engaged in a series of irresponsible and reckless provocations." It conducted a third nuclear test, apparently a successful one. It put a satellite in orbit with a Taepodong-2 missile. It displayed what appeared to be a road-mobile ICBM.

While threatening to "miserably destroy" U.S. units in South Korea and turn that country's capital into a "nuclear sea of fire," Pyongyang has vowed that North Koreans "will be exercising our right to pre-emptive nuclear attack against the headquarters of the aggressor," which is, of course, none other than the United States.

Rather than simply trust that a lunatic regime running its country like a vast prison camp will rationally calculate its self-interest as we would hope, the Obama administration says it is going to add back the 14 canceled interceptors. This will take the number of West Coast interceptors from 30 to 44, but with unnecessary expense and delay. The new interceptors should be online in 2017, or by the end of the president's second term.

While the restoration is heartening, the Obama administration has pulled the plug on the development of more technologically advanced defense systems and can't overcome its compulsion to make unilateral concessions to the Russians. Hagel said the administration won't complete the final phase of a defense system in Europe to guard against an Iranian launch targeting the United States.

Why seek protection from Kim Jong Un, but not Ayatollah Khamenei?

Liberals once insisted that a missile couldn't possibly be made to hit another missile. Now, the technology has been demonstrated to work again and again. It is one of the reasons that the Israelis didn't invade Gaza in response to the rocket barrage emanating from there a few months ago. It protected itself with the Iron Dome defense system that intercepted about 85 percent of the rockets.

The Israelis don't have the luxury of abiding by stale arms-control orthodoxies. Neither do we. Evidently, though, only Kim Jong Un and his ilk have the power to convince the Obama administration of it.

My question is, why do we have a city police officer driving his personal vehicle with an expired tag since last August that he drives to and from work and around town when the tag is expired. He parks this everyday that he works in the city hall parking lot where everyone can see it. Thanks. Bye.

I'd like to know what's going to happen to the people who put out the robocalls and postcards. Whether the Kansas Ethics Commission is going to look into that or not. Thank you.

Yes, my daughter was reading me some of the things from the newspaper's Facebook page where the opponents of the hospital were making all their comments, and I am simply astonished not just that these people have so much erroneous information but also that they don't even seem to be able to speak in complete sentences. All kinds of facts they were talking about like they were really facts but they weren't facts, they were simply factually wrong. Some of them as simple as it's St. Luke's not St. Francis that runs our local hospital. Misspelled words, sentences with no basic English structure. No punctuation. Do these people really think they're going to make a convincing argument when they can't even communicate like even poorly educated human beings? I wonder how much the comments of these ignorant, uninformed and uneducated people hurt the opponents' side of the story? Is this an indicator of the caliber of the people who didn't want this bond issue to pass? I would be more than just a little bit embarrassed. Thank you.

State election laws are very clear. The flyers mailed by the hospital opponents omitting the line that tells who funded them is illegal. Convictions are a misdemeanor. I understand the county attorney and the ethics commission have been made aware and provided enough to start the investigation starting with the printer in Kansas City. I think these cowards should be prosecuted and more importantly, revealed. Thank you.

The way the city fathers like to spend our tax money around here for the homeowners, we need to get it on the ballot at the next election to change the name of the town from Garnett to Bend Over.

Yes, we have a new jail in Garnett. We have a new elementary school in Garnett. We are going to have a new hospital in Garnett. We have two new county rural fire trucks in Garnett. But down the road in rural Anderson County we have an 8-ton load limit bridge. I think what I can't buy in Colony, Greeley or Westphalia I'll go to Iola or Burlington and buy.

The samaritan woman who found salvation

In John chapter 4 we read how the disciples left Jesus near the town of Sychar to go and buy food. Jesus being weary sat down at Jacob's well. A Samaritan woman came to the well to draw water and Jesus ask her to give him a drink of water. This discussion leads to the woman leaving her water jar and returning to town to tell the people about, "A man who told me everything I ever did." She then asks the question, "Could this be the Messiah?"

It is at this time the disciples return and they urge Jesus to eat. Jesus' answer to them is, "I have food to eat that you know nothing about." The disciples then said to each other, "Could someone have brought him food?" (John 4:32-33)

We don't know if Jesus ever got the drink he asked for as the woman left her jar and returned to town. At the same time the disciples are confused because they had just walked to town to get food for which Jesus now said he wasn't hungry. Jesus then makes his mission statement, "My food," said Jesus "is to do the will of him who sent me and to finish his work." How are we to understand this statement?

First we must recognize we have an illness. We are sinners. We are alienated from God. Just as the woman at the well that Jesus met. She could take a drink of water and temporarily quench her thirst but it returned. Initially the woman believes there is a living water that will quench her thirst and she will never have to draw water again.

Weekly Devotional by David Bilderback

Jesus engages the woman and she finally begins to realize she has a deeper sense of dissatisfaction than just a drink of water.

Second we must acknowledge our condition. We are lost. Apart from confession and faith there is no salvation. The woman recognized her condition. She had become a social outcast because of her lifestyle. After her confession to Jesus she returns to the town and testifies to the people about this Jesus she had just met.

Third we must take the cure. The cure is stated in Romans 10:9, "If you confess with your mouth Jesus is Lord, and believe in your heart that God raised him from the dead, you will be saved." God will confront us with our sin. We can acknowledge our sin and be saved and live without the deep sense of dissatisfaction we now have or we can ignore God's urging and live according to our own desires. What we need to clearly understand is apart from confession and faith there is no salvation.

Vikes leap into Spring with 3 wins

BY DANE HICKS THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW

OSAWATOMIE - Winter may have held on through the first days of spring and the first weeks of area high school baseball season, but the Central Heights Vikings have been supplying their own brand of heat with early-season thumpings of both Anderson County and Osawatomie.

The Vikes dumped AC in a double-header season opener 16-1, 14-4, and dropped Oz in a single matchup Friday 13-3.

Jordan Horstick took the mound against AC in the opener and threw all 4 innings before the run rule win. The defense racked up 4 errors but made up for them with a lot of hustle, solid backup and positive play. Jordan Smith was 2-4 with 3 runs, an RBI and a double; Tristan Davis was 2-3 with 4 runs, 2 RBIs and a double; Horsitck 2-4, 3 runs and 2 RBIs;

Adam Pryor 3-3, 3 runs, 1 hit by pitch and 3 RBIs. The Vikes had no strikeouts in the game and were 12-26 hitting overall.

Trevor Burkdoll lead-off game two going three innings to get the win, striking out three and walking one and giving up two earned runs. Drew Beckwith threw the fourth inning for a strikeout and a walk. Burkdoll was 2-3 with 2 runs, 2 RBIs a stolen base and a walk; Beckwith was 3-4 with 3 runs, 3 RBIs a double and a stolen base, Smith was 3-3 with 3 runs, a double, 2 RBIs and a stolen base; Davis 2-3, 1 run, an RBI and a walk; Pryor 1-2, 2 RBIs, hit by pitch; Jacob Pryor 2-3 with 2 runs, an RBI and a double; Chase Brown 1-1 with 2 runs, two walks and two stolen bases.

"We did a lot of little things right for this early in the year," said head coach Jason Brown.

Beckwith opened on the mound against Oz going two innings to give up three runs, striking out one and walking two. Brown said Beckwith threw well but experienced a little tightness in his arm, so Jordan Smith came in for the next three innings to give up a hit, 0 runs, 2 walks and three strikeouts. Coby Robertson finished the final inning.

Davis went 1-3 with 3 runs, 2 RBIs a double, a walk and a stolen base; Horstick was 3-4 with 2 runs, 4 RBIs and 2 doubles; Robertson 1-3, 1 run, 1 walk and a stolen base; Pryor 2-3 2 runs, 3 RBIs and a stolen base; Brown 3-4, 2 RBIs, a double and a stolen base. Coach Brown said he was pleased with the scoring versatility of his offense.

"We have different guys stepping up each outing," Brown said. "It's nice to know you can get hitting out of all parts of your line-up."

Warming Up

THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW 04-09-2013 / Vickie Moss

A muskrat ignores nearby fishermen to catch a little sun on an exposed pile of brush at Lake Garnett last week. Although temperatures have had a tough time warming up this spring, there were periods of warmth and sun that brought people out to enjoy the lake's recreational offerings.

ACHS drama students offer Stapp play

GARNETT – Gary Ray Stapp's world-premiere, two-act play Romey Odel & Julietta May (No, It Ain't Shakespeare) hits the ACHS stage and promises to deliver the goods.

Tennessee hill-folk matriarchs Clesterine Coymack (Miranda Woosley) and Flittie Fieldhat (Melissa Kropf) have been at odds with each other for years, but in spite of their feud, their grandchildren, Romey Odel (Tim Comfort) and Julietta May (Tana Benton) have become betrothed by way of a hillbilly superstition built upon The Hitchin' Rock. The problem is, Romey Odel can't stand Julietta May, and he's discovered he has feelings for an unlikely somebody else. But Julietta May insists the wedding is still on, until she suddenly realizes she's fallen in love with a city boy (Asa Young). But with the curse of The Hitchin' Rock looming over their heads, their nuptials are literally set in stone. But true love, hillbilly style, finds a way to prevail. And prevail it does right up to the climatic and surprising wedding event never before witnessed upon the top of Shaky Spears Mountain. Surrounded by a collection of colorful, loveable, sassy, and eccentric relatives, Romey Odel and Julietta May say their "I do's" in a way William Shakespeare never saw coming. Other cast members include Bel Sibley, Kristen Simpson, Jesse Blake, Lauren Egidy, Kaylen Peine, Wesley James Wolken, Shelby Brooks, Remi Hedges, Ashley Holloran, Heather Kropf, Eliza Sibley, Kori Pitts, Seth Wolken, Amanda Barcus, Tyler Woodard, Tyler Wolken, Alisha Gettler, Marcus Marmon, Devin Katzer, Vicki Markham and Amber Mauldin direct and Payton Feuerborn is the Stage Manager.

Romey Odel & Julietta May will run Friday, April 12 at 7:00 PM and Saturday, April 13 at 7:00 PM. Tickets are $4.00 for adults and $3.00 for students. Tickets are available by calling (785)448-3115 or in the office at ACHS. They are also available at the door.

Friends of the Arts Dessert Bar at Intermission: The Friends of the Arts will host their annual dessert bar during intermission of the show Friday and Saturday. This will be a free will donation. Money earned goes towards assisting the various Arts Programs at ACHS.

Richmond Museum plans Potato Bar

The Richmond Community Museum's traditional St. Pat's Potato Bar Supper was moved to Saturday, April 13, this year, when the usual good food will be served from 5-7:30 p.m. for a donation at the Community Building.

Visitors are welcome at the Museum after 3 p.m., said president Mary Tooley. There are new artifacts to see including a story and military medals awarded Capt. Leon Akin, the only known World War II Prisoner of War from the Richmond area. After the war, Akin was professor of choral music at Sterling College for many years and occasionally returned to Richmond to sing at church services.

The visiting display this year is Marvin and Pat Gretencord's collection of older model toy tractors matched with about 35 farmers in the area who had that model working tractor. Folks enjoy seeing what Frank Cox, Gus Benus, Jim Kueser, Lank Gretencord and others used to farm with in the 1940s and '50s. Each tractor is labeled with the farmer's name and years of birth and death.

New display cases show off military uniforms and their former space now displays a huge Phillips 66 emblem given to the Museum by Ed Wolken of Garnett. This sign was originally at the Richmond Gault Service Station.

There are numerous other new items, said Dennis Peters who led volunteers in a winter project of reinforcing the floor. Helpers included Berea Boosters 4-H Club and some Central Heights students in addition to Museum board members, their families and friends. Bauman's of Garnett installed a new carpet.

You're invited to spend the evening of April 13th at Richmond to visit the Museum and enjoy a great potato bar supper next door. There is no admission charge at the Museum which is open through the evening.

THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW 06-29-2010 / Photo Submitted

Rachel Rockers and Mitchell Russell were married in Greeley on Nov. 3, 2012. The double ring ceremony took place at St. John's Catholic Church at 3 p.m. with Father Matthew Schifflbein officiating.

Parents of the bride are Tom and Rosalie Rockers of Greeley. Parents of the groom are Glenn and Marsha Russell of Mission. Grandparents are Louann Hermreck of Greeley, Martin Rockers of Greeley, Lillian Russell of Kansas City, Mo., and Robert Kavanaugh of Mission.

The bride was escorted down the aisle by her father. She chose an ivory strapless satin ball gown with a jeweled embellishment waistband. It featured a ruffled organza underlay with a chapel train. It was complimented by a chapel length veil. Her bouquet was pink roses and stargazer lilies.

Matron of honor was Amy Galey, sister of the bride.

Bridesmaids were Audrey Franks, sister of the bride; Amelia Reyes, sister of the groom; Sarah Biby and Jenny Engler, friends of the bride.

Best man was Dan Reynolds, friend of the groom. Groomsmen were Damian Reyes, brother-in-law of the groom; Brian Huska, Kurt Sumrall and Ryan English, friends of the groom. Tracy Rockers and Shane Morrissey were honorary attendants. Ushers were John Augustyn, Matt Engler and Mike Zenwekh.

Reception, dinner and dance followed at St. John's Hall, Greeley. Following a honeymoon to the Bahamas, the couple resides in Spring Hill. Rachel is a physical therapy assistant employed at Haeger in Olathe. Mitch is also a physical therapy assistant at Sweet Life Brookedale Place in Overland Park.

Heeling for Health planned

Heeling for Health is fast approaching its Saturday date of April 27 at the ACJSHS track. Teams are signing up fast for the 6 p.m. start. It isn't too late to get your team registered with Michelle Cunningham, Team Coordinator. Individual walkers are welcome and can register the day of the event at the main registration table near the track.

Love Lights are being sold for $5 each from Dorothy Miller, Marilyn Artherton and Connie Thompson. The lights will be placed as luminaries with the honorees name. They will be lit at dusk for the final lap. The first and final lap will be led by the family of Marcia Peine, the 2013 Honoree, and each honoree on a Love Light will be read during the final lap before the close of the event. Love Lights are designed as a way for community members and walk participants to honor the special people in their lives such as neighbors, grandparents, spouses or children who may be dealing with a serious illness, be deceased, or others they love. In addition, one lap during the event will be walked in memory of Teresa Nicolas, longtime ACH employee, who recently lost her battle with cancer. Team captains should check

Cast iron has long history of use

At the present site I'm working at I have uncovered a large amount of iron artifacts and a great deal of these have been cast iron.

So with all this late winter weather continuing to hang on, I decided I would just do a little research and find out just what cast iron really is.

Cast iron is an alloy of iron that contains 2 to 4 percent carbon, along with varying amounts of silicon and manganese and traces of impurities such as sulfur and phosphorus. It is made by reducing iron ore in a blast furnace. The liquid is cast, or poured and hardened, into crude ingots called pigs, and the pigs are subsequently remelted along with scrap and alloying elements in cupola furnaces and recast into molds for producing a variety of products.

The Chinese produced cast iron as early as the 6th Century B.C., and it was produced sporadically in Europe by the 14th Century. It was introduced into England about 1500; the first iron works in America were established on the James River, Virginia, in 1619. During the 18th and 19th centuries, cast iron was a cheaper engineering material than wrought iron because it did not require intensive refining and working with hammers, but was more brittle and inferior in tensile strength.

Nevertheless, its load bearing strength made it the first important structural metal, and it was used in some of the earliest skyscrapers. In the 20th Century, steel replaced cast iron in construction, but cast iron continues to have many industrial applications.

Most cast iron is either so-called gray iron or white iron, the colors shown by fracture. Gray iron contains more silicon and is less hard and more machinable than is white iron. Both are brittle, but a malleable cast iron produced by a prolonged heat treatment was developed in France in the 18th Century, and a cast iron that is ductile as cast was invented in the United States and Britain in 1948. Such ductile irons now constitute a major family of metals that are widely used for gears, dies, automobile crankshafts and many other machine parts.

For the most part, all the cast iron I have found has been: old wagon, stagecoach, horse drawn farm machinery and Model T parts. Even a few tools may be cast iron.

I guess everything I find has a story behind it!

2003: Schools worry about money

April 8, 2003

Garnett's office of Social and Rehabilitation Services is one of among 43 county offices slated for closure between now and 2005, as part of a budget tightening strategy by the headquarters in Topeka. There also will be changes in operational policies that will allow clients to get information from "access points" in communities that don't have offices.

USD 365 school board members laid the groundwork for a local tax increase Thursday night to meet a $245,000 district shortfall next school year, in lieu of the options of closing two of four district attendance centers or cutting teacher positions and boosting the number of kids in most all classrooms in the district.

A meeting of the Garnett Chautauqua association was held in the First Baptist Church last night, and it is ready to make some interesting announcements. Notice to control noxious weeds

(First published in The Anderson County Review, Tuesday, March 26, 2013)

GENERAL NOTICE TO CONTROL NOXIOUS WEEDS

The Kansas Noxious Weed Law K.S.A. 2-1314 et seq requires all persons who own or supervise land in Kansas to control and eradicate all weeds declared noxious by legislative action. The weeds declared noxious are: Field Bindweed, Musk Thistle, Sericea Lespedeza, Johnson Grass, Bur Ragweed, Canada Thistle Leafy Spurge, Hoary Cress, Quack Grass, Russian Knapweed, Kudzu and Pignut.

Notice is hereby given pursuant to Kansas Noxious Weed Law to every person who owns or supervises land in Anderson County that noxious weeds growing or found on such land shall be controlled and eradicated. Control is defined as preventing the production of viable seed and the vegetative spread of the plant. Failure to observe this notice may result in the County:

1: Serving a legal notice requiring control of the noxious weeds within a minimum of five days. Failure to control the noxious weeds within the time period allowed may result in the county treating the noxious weed at the landowners expense and placing a lien on the property if the bill is not paid within 30 days.

2: Filing criminal charges for non-compliance. Conviction for non-compliance may result in a fine of $100 per day of non-compliance with a maximum fine of $1500.

The public is also hereby notified that it is a violation of the Kansas Noxious Weed Law to barter, sell or give away infested nursery stock or livestock feed unless the feed is fed on the farm where grown or sold to a commercial processor that will destroy the viability of the noxious weed seed. Custom harvesting machines must be labeled with a label provided by the Kansas Dept. of Agriculture and must be free of all weed seed and litter when entering the State and when leaving a field infested with noxious weed. Additional information may be obtained from the Anderson County Noxious Weed Department or by contacting the Kansas Dept. of Agriculture, 109 SW 9th, Topeka, KS 66612

City Hall
 It was 30 years ago in March when the new City Hall building was under construction. In September 1983 the City of Colony opened the doors of this new building. Along with the City Hall office were rooms for the Colony City Library, rest rooms, kitchen area and a community room. It remains the same today. The Mid-America Council on Aging meets three times weekly for senior meals in the community room. The room is used for private gatherings and as a voting poll also. Seats to serve 100 people are available for the room. The building to the south of the City Hall building was completed in 1985. This building housed the Fire Department until their new building was built on Pine Street. It is now used for the city's equipment.
