Program teaches 'kindness'

Kindergarteners to learn 'random acts of kindness' year-round

BY VICKIE MOSS THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW

GARNETT — They are the world's newest superheroes. Their superpower: Spreading smiles.

Seventy-five kindergarten students at Garnett Elementary School put on their superhero capes for the first time Friday, getting ready for a year-long mission that organizers hope carries on through the rest of their lives.

They are the Superheroes of Kindness. Coming soon to an event near you.

Phil Bures, recreation director for the City of Garnett, brought the program to GES this year after organizing a similar program at Nevada, Mo., beginning in late 2011. He had learned about the program on Facebook. It was started by a preschool teacher in Montana, and Bures spent three months on the phone with her, convincing her to allow him to use her ideas. When he left his position in Nevada, he decided to spread the program to Garnett.

The idea is simple: Teach young children to perform random acts of kindness.

Each kindergartener was given a cape that features a heart on the back. They'll wear the capes during their missions, which will include things like visiting senior centers and nursing homes, or stopping at the police or fire station. Bures hopes to organize one or two "missions" each month.

"The idea is when they put that cape on, it puts them in the mood to do something nice," Bures said. "If you can teach Kindergarten students move their "hearts" along the line as Phil Bures, right, helps them string together a series of heart cutouts to give to the women who made capes for the new "Superheroes of Kindness" program. The Superheroes of Kindness will conduct random acts of kindness throughout the year while wearing capes that feature a heart (at right).

Savings on exit mean new paved lot at ACHS

Bond project comes in lower, so district will fix 21-year-old lot

BY VICKIE MOSS THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW

GARNETT — Unexpected savings from a project to build a secondary exit out of the Anderson County Jr./Sr. High School complex will give USD 365 a chance to do something it hasn't done in the school's 21-year existence — repave the ACHS parking lot.

Work on the new exit is expected to be completed by the end of November. The project was part of the bond issue approved by voters in 2010 to build a new elementary school and make various improvements to other schools in the district. But because the exit — the final project covered by the bond issue — came in under budget, the district can spend the remaining money on other projects.

Superintendent Don Blome advised board members they could repave about half of the ACJSHS parking lot and make various other improvements to the road — such as replacing a light at the east side of the building to illuminate a new handicapped-accessible sidewalk and landscaping in the median of the new exit. But if the district pitched in another $40,000 or so from its capital outlay fund, it could afford to repave the entire parking lot.

The entire project, with the extra money from the dis-

Historic sports car races highlight meet

All-British sports car meet will convene on site of historic races

BY VICKIE MOSS THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW

GARNETT — At least 60 British sports cars will cruise through the streets of Garnett this Saturday, bringing a sense of nostalgia as a Kansas City sports car club honors the Lake Garnett Grand Prix sports car races held in Garnett from the late 1950s to the early 70s.

The Lake Garnett Grand Prix Revisited is planned for Oct. 12 at the Lake Garnett Park. The event, an all-British car meet, is sponsored by the Kansas City Triumph Sports Car Club.

Although the meet itself is limited to sports car club participants, the group will parade around the Lake Garnett Road from 3 p.m. until 4 p.m., then they will "cruise" to the downtown square in Garnett from 4:30 p.m. to 6 p.m. for a public viewing and People's Choice Award.

The SCCA sponsored a Grand Prix Race around Lake Garnett from 1959 to 1972. Drivers such as Carol Shelby, Jack Hinkle, Jim Hall, Dr. Ross Melgard, Don Yenko and others took part in the races, and the 2.84 mile track at one time was considered as a host site for the U.S. Grand Prix. Each race was said to bring about 50,000 people

ACT scores still lag, but catching up

ACHS seniors improve test scores while those statewide decline

BY VICKIE MOSS THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW

GARNETT — Anderson County High School seniors are doing better on their ACT test scores, but continue to lag slightly behind the state average.

A report presented to USD 365 school board members at their Oct. 3 meeting shows a continuing trend of average ACT Test scores that puts ACHS students below the state average every year for the past five years.

The difference is slight, with ACHS seniors averaging a composite test score of 20.7. Statewide, seniors who took the test averaged a score of 21.8. The difference between ACHS and the state average is less than 2.5 points each year since 2009.

District-wide, however, student scores have consistently improved year after year. Five years ago, students averaged 19.9 in the composite score. This year's score is nearly a full point higher, at 20.7. Statewide, seniors dropped slightly from 21.9

last year to 21.8 this year.

The ACT consists of a series of curriculum-based tests in English, math, reading and science designed to measure skills needed for success in first-year college coursework. The test, like the SAT, is used for college entrance and scholarships. The ACT is more common in the Midwest than the SAT.

ACHS and district staff and board members have said that several changes in the works could improve ACT test scores. A change

District approves $72K storage building

New welding program forces need for more storage in USD 365

BY VICKIE MOSS THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW

GARNETT — After taking over school bus services and giving up some of their facilities to bring a vocational education program to the district, USD 365 school board members realized they needed a place to store vehicles and food products. The board on Thursday, Oct. 3, authorized spending about $72,000 in capital outlay funds to build a new storage building to meet that need.

A 60 foot by 60 foot metal building will be constructed near the current bus barn on K-31 to provide additional storage for vehicles. Part of the building will be constructed as a food warehouse to house bulk grocery items for school meals. The total cost of the project is $72,855, with board members approving a bid from QSI of Richmond.

The district converted its former maintenance building to a welding shop for a vocational program with Neosho County Community College this school year. The program brings students from other school district as well as from USD 365 to earn certification in a trade like welding, and

Kansas Insurance Commissioner warns of Obamacare scams

BY SANDY PRAEGER KANSAS INSURANCE COMMISSIONER

Since the Affordable Care Act (ACA) was signed into law in March 2010, unscrupulous scammers have been creating ways to take advantage of consumers' uncertainty surrounding the law.

Posing as insurance agents or representatives of the federal government, these scam artists try to sell fraudulent policies or obtain sensitive information like Social Security and bank account numbers. As state regulators, members of The National Association of Insurance Commissioners (NAIC) are warning consumers about common red flags and providing tips on how to avoid being the victim of a scam.

Using the Health Insurance Marketplace

One of the largest components of the ACA is the creation of new health insurance marketplaces, or exchanges. These online portals ask consumers to enter information about themselves and select the level of coverage they desire to receive a list of plans they can purchase. Each state had the option of running its own exchange, partnering with the federal government or having the federal government run its exchange entirely.

Open enrollment in the new marketplaces is under way as of Oct. 1. However, bogus websites that purport to be part of the exchanges have been appearing online for more than a year. Do not enter any personal or financial information into a website that says you can purchase a policy before the open enrollment period.

Kansas opted to have the federal government run the marketplace in our state. You can access the official exchange at www.healthcare.gov.

I'm pleased to say that state regulators, in cooperation with the Department of Justice, the Federal Trade Commission and the Department of Health and Human Services, have banded together to respond to law enforcement challenges that may arise with the launch of the online marketplace. Consumers can report fraud or potential fraud by calling 1-800-318-2596 toll-free (TTY 1-855-889-4235).

Consumers who report that their personal information may have been compromised will be given information about steps to take to prevent or respond to identity theft. If a consumer reports suspected fraud, his or her complaint will go into the FTC's consumer Sentinel Network database, which is used by federal and state authorities to track potential fraud.

Beware of new "Obamacare" Insurance or Medicare Cards

A common scam involves unsolicited calls from scammers who claim to have your new "Obamacare" insurance card - they just need to get some information before they can send it to you. The caller then asks for credit card numbers, bank account information or your Social Security number.

A variation of this trick specifically targets seniors on Medicare; the caller claims that in order for them to get their new Medicare card and continue receiving their benefits, they must verify their bank account and routing numbers. Some callers ask for their Medicare numbers, which are identical to Social Security numbers.

You are not required to obtain a new insurance or Medicare card under the ACA. Also, anyone who is a legitimate representative of the federal government will already have your personal and financial information and should not ask you to provide it.

Don't Be Misled

Here are some other important "red flags" to watch out for.

- The salesperson says the premium offer is only good for a limited time. Enrollment in the exchanges will be open from Oct. 1 to March 31, 2014, and rates for plans in the exchanges will have been approved for the entire enrollment period. Be skeptical of someone who is trying to pressure you into buying a policy because the rate is only good for a short time. Remember: if the offer sounds too good to be true, it probably is.

- The salesperson says you could go to jail for not having health insurance. Starting in 2014, all Americans will be required to have health insurance. You will not face jail time if you do not purchase health insurance. However, those who remain uninsured and do not qualify for any exemptions will face a penalty of $95 (for each adult) or 1 percent of family income, whichever is greater. In 2015, the penalty will increase to $325 per adult or 2 percent of family income, and in 2016 and beyond, the penalty will be $695 per adult or 2.5 percent of family income.
- You receive an unsolicited

phone call or email from someone trying to sell insurance. The federal government and state insurance departments will not be contacting individual consumers to sell them insurance. Do not give any sensitive information to anyone who claims to be with the federal government, your state insurance department or a navigator for your state's exchange.

Protect Yourself

The best way to protect yourself from insurance fraud is to research the agent and company you're considering. Always STOP before writing a check, signing a contract or giving out personal information. CALL your state insurance department and CONFIRM that the agent and company are licensed to write insurance in your state.

SPRAGUE

June 18, 1936-October 3, 2013

THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW
Published October 8, 2013

Betty Jean Sprague, age 77, of Colony, Kansas, passed away on Thursday, October 3, 2013, at the Allen County Hospital in Iola, Kansas.

Sprague

She was born on June 18, 1936 in Colony, Kansas, the daughter of Lester and Erma Pearl Cole. Betty began school in Colony. As a young girl, she had fond memories of riding ponies and being on the farm with her family. She discovered her cooking skills after taking Home Economics in school. Her brothers remember her for helping their mother in the kitchen and helping to take care of them. At the age of 16, she began working in the concession stand at the local drive in. Betty graduated from Iola High School in 1954.

On February 14, 1956, Betty was united in marriage to Harold Sprague. When they were dating Harold joked that he wanted 23 kids, later revising that number to 17. Betty still agreed to marry him and they went on to have seven children between the years of 1957 and 1974.

Betty took care to clean the house and especially "encouraged" the children to help. She was awesome at cooking and canning, even winning Grand Champion at the Kincaid Fair with some of her entries. Her children remember her for her homemade doughnuts, chocolate chip cookies, and cinnamon rolls. Betty began work outside of the home after her youngest child was in school. She started out working in the sewing factory in Iola, then in Burlington and Chanute. She then worked at Midland Brake, where she often took cinnamon rolls. After many years at Midland Brake, then Haldex, Betty retired at age 62. Betty also raised and sold exotic birds, at one point, raising over 100 at one time. Harold began tractor pulling in the late 1960's and she went along too, missing only one due to the birth their son, Larry. These tractor pulls took them all over Kansas and to Oklahoma, Missouri, and Texas. They stopped pulling in 1981, but Harold said they would still be doing it today if it was up to Betty. While her children were in 4-H, Betty was a 4-H Clothing Leader for High Point Club. She was a member of the Kincaid Advancers Club. Betty had quite a green thumb and enjoyed raising flowers and roses.

Betty was preceded in death by her parents, Lester and Erma Pearl Cole.

She is survived by her husband, Harold Sprague, of the home; her children, Doug Sprague of Colony, Kansas; Vicki Sprague of Andover, Kansas; David Sprague of Moore, Oklahoma; Cheryl Cook and husband William of Rogers, Arkansas; Michael Sprague of Gas, Kansas; Barbara Sprague of Wichita, Kansas; Larry Sprague and wife Vickie of Webb City, Missouri; four brothers, Melvin Cole of Greeley, Colorado; Edward Cole and wife Annette of La Harpe, Kansas; Charles Cole and wife Janet of Gas, Kansas; Dean Cole and wife Beverly of Nixa, Missouri; thirteen grandchildren; and eighteen great grandchildren.

Funeral services were Monday, October 7, 2013, at the Feuerborn Family Funeral Service Chapel in Colony. Burial followed in the Lone Elm Cemetery in Lone Elm.

Memorial contributions may be made to Alzheimer's Research (alz.org) kids kindness at a young age, before they get tainted by society, that's something they take with them and it just grows as they get older."

Bures hopes adults will also learn about kindness from seeing the youngsters' example. He said the program had a huge impact on the community in Nevada, and he hopes the same is true in Garnett.

He's already seen examples of it. Two women, Joen Truhe and Carol Yeager, made the capes for the kids without even knowing the true purpose of the project. Other people donated fabric and material. So far, the program has not required any expenses from the school or the city, and Bures hopes he can continue to organize it with minimal expenses. He plans to offer various missions to the kids on a continuing basis, even extending into the summer.

Bures said he's been touched by hearing children talk about the program.

"They say things like, 'We're trying to make people smile' and 'We know we're going to make people happy.' That's what drives this thing."

to the small town of Garnett, which had a population of just about 3,000. The narrow track and its proximity to the lake created safety concerns, and wrecks were common. The large crowds were said to have peaked at 75,000 in 1963, which led to a riot in downtown Garnett when local bars closed early.

The Lake Garnett Racing Association had creative names for the unique road features and curves, including: Flat Iron Corner, North Bend, Muleshoe Corner, Red Dog Straight Away, Snyder Corner, The Chute, Clubhouse Bend, to name a few.

The lake road remains the same as the original race track, although the spillway has been raised. The road continues to be used for go-kart racing.

Sports car enthusiasts have been invited to attend a picnic at the lake beginning at 11 a.m. and will drive the original course. Although the drivers won't be racing like in the earlier days, they can enjoy taking a drive on the original track.

in the curriculum, referred to as the Common Core Standards because it more clearly defines a set of expectations coordinated by the National Governors Association, will focus on grammar more than ACHS's English classes did previously. The Common Core also will offer different types of tests that can be used to measure academic achievement, making the ACT the preferred test for college-bound students and offering other tests for students who plan to enter the workforce or vocational training.

The school board also changed its policies on finals, now requiring every student to take a final. In the past, high-achieving students with few absences could skip the final as a reward. Board members expressed concern that students were not learning the skills needed for comprehensive tests, such as the ACT and college finals. Some board members said previously that if students regularly took finals, they may be better prepared for the ACT and it was hoped scores would improve.

Students can take the ACT multiple times over multiple years. Most take the test toward the end of their junior year or early senior year because test scores are used to determine college admittance and scholarships. Some take the tests as sophomores. Colleges and scholarships use the highest score, even if the student has taken the test several times. However, the report USD 365 gets shows the results of the last test the student took. That means a student may have scored better at an earlier time. The report only counts the test for that year's senior class. For example, the 2013 report shows test scores only for seniors who graduated in 2013. If the student took the ACT as a sophomore and did not take the test again, the score was "banked" until 2013.

The report shows 48 students in the Class of 2013 took the ACT with a composite, or total, average of 20.7. Students scored highest in science, 21.1 compared to the state science average of 21.7. Students scored lowest in English, 20.1, compared to the state English average of 21.2. ACHS math average was 20.3 compared to the state average of 21.7; in reading, ACHS students averaged 21.0 compared to the state average of 22.3. In each category, ACHS student scores stayed the same or improved compared to last year. Statewide, students either stayed the same or declined.

tract, would cost about $550,000. Board members said they were in favor of repaving the parking lot, something that hasn't been done since the school was constructed in 1992. It has had patching and repairs, but never been fully repaved. At one point, the district faced a lawsuit for a student who was injured while walking in the lot.

"If we don't do it now, we'll have to do it eventually," board member Dwight Nelson said. Blome added that it would be beneficial to have the asphalt work on the parking lot and the new exit done at roughly the same time.

Board member Cleon Rickel asked if the district could afford the extra expense. Blome said the district has about $990,000 in its capital outlay fund and typically spends about $300,000 per year on various improvement projects. He said technology upgrades will need to be made in the next couple of years and that will significantly deplete the fund, though he expects to receive enough revenue from various sources to make up the difference. The district can afford the extra money for the paving project, he said.

is expected to expand in coming years.

But after NCCC took over the maintenance building, the district's maintenance director was forced to find other places to store equipment. The maintenance department took over an old car shed, moving the cars outside. Next year, the NCCC program is expected to take over space reserved as a food warehouse.

The district needed to find space to put its vehicles that were ousted by the maintenance crews, and also wanted indoor space to house a new activity bus, which the district purchased when it took over its bus transportation services earlier this year. The new storage building will include space for those vehicles, as well as a separate, insulated area for the food items.

Journalism 101: Free speech ain't free

One of the problems with university professors, aside from the general lack of fashion sense pervasive among that niche, is that they sometimes embrace the same immaturity that they're supposed to be educating out of their students.

In the case of KU journalism teacher David Guth, (who incidentally would look a lot better pushing his plus-size girth into a button-front solid color shirt than that stretched-to-the-max polo we've been seeing in his staff mugshot) the good professor should have already known that while The First Amendment may protect your right to say something stupid from government retribution, it doesn't guarantee you a job.

Guth, even as the most short-term memory challenged among us will remember, is the Jayhawk faculty member who just after the September Washington Navy Yard shooting tweeted: "The blood is on the hands of the #NRA. Next time, let it be YOUR sons and daughters. Shame on you. May God damn you."

Now, encouraging infanticide among those who disagree with you politically is apparently frowned upon even at KU - EVEN if the target is the spawn of conservatives, mind you - so the Jayhawk administration has now put Guth on paid leave pending their review of the situation.

That's college-ese for 'until this blows over.' Then we'll let you back in the faculty lounge and maybe take you down to Kohls on Iowa St. to do a little apparel shopping. Peace out, bro.

Which is a way better deal than most of us get, right? How many of us are rewarded for getting our boss in a load of poop and alienating his revenue sources with ... a little paid vacation time?

That's irking conservative NRA supporters in the state and in the Kansas Legislature, who want to cut KU's state education funding if the university doesn't can Guth for good.

So the conflict is of course all about the rights as opposed to the privileges of a professor at a university. It's only more complicated than that because of people's misunderstanding of the First Amendment, and the answer is really easier than it looks.

First, what does the First Amendment really say: Class.... "Congress shall make no law respecting an establishment of religion, or prohibiting the free exercise thereof; or abridging the freedom of speech, or of the press; or the right of the people peaceably to assemble, and to petition the Government for a redress of grievances."

REVIEW COMMENTARY

Granted, that's a pretty wide net to throw, but suffice it to say that Guth's rights have not been infringed because legislators or law enforcement have not thrown him in jail or fined him or made him wear socks with his sandals because of what he said. In fact, he can say anything stupid that he wants - that Neosho County Community College's 3-on-3 team can beat KU's, for instance - and until some arm of government persecutes him directly for it, his First Amendment rights are intact.

Now notice, nowhere in the First Amendment does it say "you also get to keep your job and all your candy and go your merry way, and anybody besides the government also can't criticize you and has to be nice to you and has to hold you up as a patriot for attacking those mean old conservative knuckledraggers."

Nope, it doesn't say that. The lesson for the professor is that he pays a price for his First Amendment rights just like everybody else does who shoots his mouth off - but not to the government. Liberals typically have trouble understanding there's a whole other world out there besides the government, so it's tough for them to comprehend a higher authority.

Just ask infamous KC radio bad boy Randy Miller, whose shock jock antics got him fired from all four radio jobs he ever held in the KC metro market. Remember Hutchinson News publisher Wayne Lee, who, back in 1996 wrote a column saying attorney general Carla Stovall was a "sexpot"? Yep, the higher-ups at Harris

I live in Garnett and I have to drive my children across town to get to their school, the two different schools located in town. The people in Greeley have three buses that drive around their little town of maybe 400 people and they stop at every house to pick up the children and most of those children go to Garnett to school. Why do I have to pay someone to take my children to school or they have to walk sometimes over a mile when little towns like Greeley get to have a bus stop at every house in town? Something needs changed.

This is getting a little ridiculous with our law enforcement. I've come up on three accidents, they've all been around a blind corner or over a blind hill. The last one on 7th Avenue, you come from the west around Valley R hill down the hill there, somebody lost a skid steer down the ditch. Traffic, road blocked, no patrolman on top of the hill to slow traffic down but there's three of them stacked up one after the other on all the eastbound traffic. Come on officers, if you think you're so responsible get out there and do your job, don't just stand around and help hook up the tow truck.

I want to say I'm glad to hear a Garnett resident, Wes Skillman, won two trophies in the mini-truck series at the Sparks in the Ozarks this weekend. It's quite an event and it's nice to know someone from here can go out of state and come home with first place. It's really great, I'm really proud of this kid. Congratulations.

So the Chiefs are 5-0. The Bulldogs are 0-5. The Chiefs solved their problem with wins by replacing their coaching staff. Hint, hint.

I moved from Anderson County over 55 years ago but I continue to subscribe to The Anderson County Review and read it from front to back. I enjoy reading the news from back home, even the Phone Forum. The first article in the Phone Forum of October 1 apparently is from a die-hard leftist Democrat too lazy or too stupid to study the issues and use his brain to come to a logical conclusion on what is really happening in the world. He just listens to worn-out Democratic lies. As Rush Limbaugh would say, he is a low information voter. Dane, I don't think you are an SOB, racist or sexist bastard. Keep up the good work, you're doing great.

And the winner is... Ted Cruz

Long ago, Ted Cruz earned the hatred of every elected Democrat in Washington. Now, he's on his way to doing the same with nearly every Republican.

He is, to paraphrase Winston Churchill's quip about Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, a bull who carries a china shop with him. He had barely begun his 21-hour filibuster -- or, to be strictly precise, 21-hour-long speech -- when he compared his doubters to appeasers of Adolf Hitler, and he ended it roughly a day later with a prickly exchange with Senate Majority Leader Harry Reid.

The Cruz eye-rollers had plenty of occasions to roll their eyes -- perhaps no senator has caused so many colleagues to mutter under their breaths in his first eight months in the world's greatest deliberative body -- but the conservative grass roots cheered. They are desperate for passion and, above all, fight, and Cruz delivered them during his long hours holding forth on C-SPAN2.

We should stipulate upfront that he is not going to defund Obamacare. As a legislative strategy, the defund effort is far-fetched to the point of absurdity. The theory is that after a government shutdown, pressure becomes so intense on Democrats that Reid buckles and passes a measure defunding Obamacare, and Barack Obama signs it.

Why would a little downside political risk in the current confrontation move them? We're talking about a party that spent decades trying to pass something like Obamacare and a president who was content to lose his House majority over it.

NATIONAL COMMENTARY

The Cruz all-nighter wasn't a legislative tactic so much as it was what 19th-century anarchists called "the propaganda of the deed." It made a point. It dramatically reaffirmed Republican resolve to repealing Obamacare. It also saved Cruz's reputation among the tea-party conservatives. By spending nearly an entire day attacking Obamacare on the Senate floor, Cruz demonstrated enough gutsiness to take the sting out of his imminent defeat.

In the longer run, the outcome in the short term is irrelevant to Cruz's stature as a conservative leader. No one asked whether Ronald Reagan had successfully blocked the ratification of the Panama Canal Treaty in 1977 when he ran for president in 1980. For that matter, no one asked whether Sen. Barack Obama had successfully defunded the Iraq War in 2007 when he ran for president in 2008.

Obama's example is instructive: When before have we heard of a new senator capturing the imagination of his party's base, establishing an unimpeachable standard of purity on a hot-button issue absolutely essential to it and beginning to run for president shortly after arriving on the national scene?

Who knows whether Cruz ultimately tries the same thing. But the scoffers are probably the same kind of people who chuckled at backbencher Newt Gingrich giving speeches to an empty House chamber on C-SPAN so many decades ago. Gingrich was playing an outside game, and so is Cruz. The disdain for him among insiders will be inversely related to the admiration for him among the much more important outsiders.

They will sustain him in a crusade against Obamacare that, alas, will extend long beyond this fall's fiscal fights.

Newspapers aren't dead - far from it

Where was it that you heard about the so-called demise of the newspaper?

Probably, you read about it in your daily newspaper; because, as Mark Twain, a journalist himself, was able to write to a friend: "The report of my death was an exaggeration." And a good newspaper will go on to explain the source of the rumor, and if false, will present the facts that debunk it.

Well into the 21st century, American newspapers are as relevant as ever, because like other vital segments of their community, they are always at work and always looking to reinvent themselves. We've seen this in high-profile deals such as Jeff Bezos' acquisition of The Washington Post; but we've also seen dramatic changes nationally at newspapers large and small, as their news, advertising, marketing and circulation staffs have embraced a variety of digital and social media platforms to reach new and existing readers, while continuing to present the news in the traditional print format.

But the modes of communication are not the most important change: That is in the way that the newspaper has greatly expanded its role as watchdog for the community.

NATIONAL COMMENTARY

TED RAYBURN, The Tennessean

Trust in our public institutions is on a steady decline, and sturdy journalism is going to be the only reliable way for average Americans to glean the truth from a stream of conflicting information disseminated by political partisans and vested interests.

In the past year, newspapers were the leading source of information on these stories of vital importance in their communities and nationwide:

- The Denver Post conveyed news via text, social media and video of the gunman who killed 12 moviegoers in Aurora, Colo., while the tragic events still were occurring.

- The Tennessean in Nashville called attention to Tennessee's Department of Children's Services' inability to account for the deaths or near-deaths over a three-year period of approximately 200 children who were in custody or whose welfare was being monitored by the state. The reports led to the department head's resignation and a restructure of the department.

- An investigation by The Sun Sentinel of Fort Lauderdale, Fla., uncovered widespread cases of off-duty police officers' reckless driving.

In each case, the newspaper looked its role as a voice for the entire community it serves.

Despite all the obituaries being written about newspapers, we look at these examples and many more and find that newspapers are amazingly spry and alert - and always at work.

Bunnel serves on Farm Bureau committee

MANHATTAN -More than 75 Farm Bureau members of Kansas have taken leadership positions within their farm organization and will serve on the organization's agricultural advisory committees. Members on the eight state ag advisory committees surface commodity-specific issues, discuss solutions and make recommendations to the Kansas Farm Bureau board of directors.

"Having a solid group of committed members serve on our ag advisory committees means we have a strong grassroots organization," Steve Baccus, Ottawa County farmer and president of Kansas Farm Bureau, says. "Each committee represents an ag commodity that is important to our state, and our committee members represent the entire state of Kansas. That's KFB at its best."

Committee members include Randy Bunnel, an Anderson County Farm Bureau board member, who serves on the wheat advisory committee.

The Missouriians to perform at Garnett church

Tight harmonies, upbeat concerts, soul touching songs and the love of Jesus Christ. That's what The Missouriians are best known for. For over two decades, they have been spreading the message of Jesus Christ through song. During that time they have recorded 13 albums and two videos, including their latest release, "No Boundaries."

The group, based out of Joplin, Mo., is comprised of five talented musicians and singers who have a true desire of spreading the good news to people of all ages and locations. Whether it's a rural church or city auditorium,

The Missouriians have one purpose, to share the love of Jesus through music.

The Missouriians have shared the stage of such greats as Gold City, Brian Free & Assurance, Ivan Parker, Larry Gatlin and the Gatlin Brothers, and many others. The group also hosts a weekly radio show called "Make Mine Southern" on multiple broadcast and Internet radio stations.

Don't miss the opportunity to see The Missouriians live in concert at 10 a.m. Sunday, Oct. 20, at the Church of the Nazarene, 258 W. Park Road.

Fossil fuels provide an impressive 85 percent of our nation's energy supply, and ensure employment for 67,000 Kansans. This is quite impressive! However, did you know you would have to multiply the number employed by 20 times in order to reach the number of Kansans reading newspapers?

That is right—our state's dailies and weeklies are read by more than 1.5 million adults.

If you're not reading newspapers yet, you should join the crowd. And if you're in business and want to reach a large audience, there's no better way to reach the masses than Kansas newspapers. Find out why. Call for more information today.

- This year the money we raised went to the "Acts of God" after-school program hosted by the Damascus Nazarene Church and School. This program is reaching out to Iraqi refugee children and youth who are unable to attend school and provides chapel services, counseling, discipleship, instruction in Arabic, English, Computers, Science, and Math, and will help provide meals for the students (for many, this is their main meal). Every year the 5K raises money for great causes to help many children. Please plan to come out next year to run or walk to sponsor children in third world countries. Congratulations to all of the runners and walkers. Thank you for your understanding and patience while we dealt with a 30 minute rain delay.

Newspapers decided that wasn't the kind of talk they wanted reflecting on their company, so Lee got the boot.

Fact is, while First Amendment rights entitle you to protection from the government, they don't entitle you to your paycheck. When the Dixie Chicks mouthed off about president Bush during a shooting war, country music fans had every right to stop buying their records. If you're bound and determined to say something offensive and you don't have the good sense when you've cooled off a little to apologize and ask forgiveness from the people you angered, you have to be ready to accept the consequences.

There's more damage afoot here though. The incident lends more credence to the criticism that liberals in the nation's journalism schools are the ones crafting the views of all the little journa-larvae that will one day grow into giant butterflies of liberalism and go to work for NBC and CNN to write for Al Sharpton and falsify George Zimmerman 911 tapes. If journalists don't learn to put aside their liberal agendas and win back the faith of the population, the world of news will slip away from the supposed professionals in favor of the public relations firms at corporations and by the "public information officers" of the government. Then whom are we going to trust?

All that said, however, it may shock you to know that I don't think KU should fire Guth, although that is among the options the university has to deal with the situation. But if Kansas lawmakers follow through on their threat to withhold funds from KU over the incident, those who vote in favor of the action should be recalled. If KU opts to end his employment due to the bad publicity he's brought the university - that's well within the university's purview. If lawmakers attack the university over ideology - any ideology - that's a line they must not be allowed to step over.

The reason is perhaps one of the most important in our system of government. In a democratic republic, we simply have to indulge people we don't agree with from time to time to get the full value from our system. If you want the benefit of free thought for your academic culture, you have to suffer the occasional moron, because to clamp down on him you have to clamp down on everybody else. That's no more right than the IRS withholding non-profit tax status from Tea Party groups because they're conservative.

Besides, if college campuses started firing faculty members just for being lop-eared, sandal-wearing, pony-tail sporting liberals, pretty soon they'd have to pull in the maintenance guys to teach the classes.

The public and the big money donors, however, may hold Guth and KU accountable in other ways. Parents may decide they'd rather not shell out college funds to a university that employs such schmucks. That's the real price of free speech.

AC girls CC first at Central Heights Invitational

RICHMOND - The Bulldog girls team just ran away from the herd last week at the Central Heights Cross Country Invitational, taking first place among the four competing teams by a wide margin.

AC placed all 7 runners in the top 20 and took first with 18 points. West Franklin was second with 67, Osawatomie had 71 and Lyndon 85.

Bailee Wilson paced the AC runners in the 4k with a 4th place finish in 18:51.4, behind individual Macy Burke of Spring Hill who ran a 17:31.2. Gwen Sibley was 9th with 19:22.1, Isabel Sibley 11th 19:28.7; Tayler Porter 13th 19:29.8; Paige Scheckel 14th 19:37.1; Remi Hedges 16th 19:50.9; Eliza Sibley 20th 20:25.3.

The JV Bulldog runners also hustled up a top finish in their 4k race. AC's Tiffany Mills was 1st with 20:05.3; Rachel Gilbert 2nd 20:37.8; Morgan Egidy 4th 20:59.7; Julie Hartman 9th 22:50.6. Kirby Laird from Central Heights was 13th with 23:47.5

In the 8th grade 2-mile AC's Averi Wilson was 1st with 14:02.3, Andia Hermann 3rd 15:36.0; Emma Porter 5th 15:52.7; Tessa Jirak 8th 18:25.0. Lizzie Comfort was 9th in the 7th grade mile run with a 9:53.0

THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW 10-08-2013 / Dane Hicks

Bulldog junior varsity player Maddie Goode moves against a short volley Tuesday during the AC matchup with Wellsville.

AC girls struggle at Wellsville

WELLSVILLE - The AC volleyball team had a rough day at the Wellsville Tournament last weekend, managing a single win out of three matchups.

AC beat Osage City 25-17, 25-15 but lost to Wellsville 25-20, 25-11, to West Franklin 25-23, 25-18 and to Eudora 25-27, 25-21, 25-22.

Our passing and back row defense were our weakest areas, but our blocking by Cassidy Lutz and Madison Martin is improving," said head coach Glenn Suderman.

Reagan Jirak had 27 kills on the day with MaKayla Kueser coming in with 21. Kinlee Jones served 29/29. Lutz and Martin both had 5 blocks apiece.

Central Heights, AC runners push marks at invitational

RICHMOND - Central Heights and Anderson County boys pressed their 5k times against a field of 8 teams last week at the CHHS Invitational, but fell short of Iola runners who took first place.

Anderson County placed a team third with 75 points and Central Heights 8th with 153. Iola was first with 56, Spring Hill 2nd with 62, Osawatomie 128, Wellsville 131, Yates Center 146, and Lyndon 148.

Chase Bouse of Wellsville won the course with a 17:14.0 AC's Tannner Wilson was 10th with 18:26.5; Vincent Trujillo 12th 18:43.6; Storm Pracht 17th 19:30.1; Dillon Welch (CHHS) 18th 19:30.6; Tyler Jumet 23rd 19:52.6; Josh McAuley 24th 19:56.9; Trevor McDaniel 25th 19:57.5; Shelby Cardell (CHHS) 32nd 20:28.0; J.R. Kimball 20:36.6; Ian Comfort 21:05.7; Marcus Watson (CHHS) 44th 21:22.7; Sam Skeet (CHHS) 53rd 22:09.6; Jake Kice 60th 22:50.6.

AC's Brady Rockers led the local runners with a 16th place finish in the boys JV 5k with a time of 22:30.6. Tannner Orth of Humboldt won the JV run with 19:58.0. Justin Jumet was 22nd with 23:19.6; Jordan Null was 36th in 24:37.0; Jacob Null 47th 26:02.7; J.R. Dunnivan (CHHS) 51st 26:31.6; Scooter Kice 57th (CHHS) 31:05.8.

CHHS' Caleb Taylor led local finishers in the boys 8th grade 2 mile run with a 5th place finish in 134:51.5. Colin Bedell of Yates Center won the division with a 12:53.7. Matt Ashwilfl (CHHS) was 10th in 14:38.5; Kyle Milles (CHHS) 11th 14:42.6; Nate Gainer 13th 15:29.6; Owen Lutz 14th 16:20.4; Tyler Seacrest 16th 16:54.1; Alex Seyler (CHHS) 18:22.4; Eddie Gruver 19th 28:00.0.

AC 7th grader Cameron Anderreg had the best local time in the 7th grade boys 1-mile run with a 7:00. Yates Center's Hadley Splechter blistered the course with a 5:33 finish for first place. Jacob Holloran from AC was 14th with 7:13.2 and Josh Born from Central Heights was 18th in 8:15.4

Viking defense boxes Iola

IOLA - The Central Heights defense controlled the Iola Mustangs Friday night, executing both across the line and on specialty teams and hammered out a 28-7 win.

"Our defense was outstanding - by far the best we have played defensively in the past three years," said Viking coach Kent Schulte. "It was truly an 11-man effort."

Schulte credited his defensive players as well as coaches Meyer, Hevel, Hinderlighter and Page for lining up the defensive scheme for the night.

"They coached them up, and our kids did an outstanding job of carrying out the plan," Schulte said.

On offense, the Vikings ran and threw consistently to chip away at Iola's defense. The Viking kick return team recovered two inside kicks to hold field position for the offense.

It took the defense a few minutes to start their run, however. Iola marched down field and scored with about 9 minutes on the clock in the first period and sealed up the first 7 points with an extra point kick. From that point on, it was all Vikings.

Viking quarterback Jordan Horstick connected 6 of 7 pass attempts for 60 yards. Tristan Davis scored in the first quarter on a 2 yard turn. Horstick scampered 6 yards in the second period. In the third period Jacob Pryor broke loose a 65 yard run and picked up another TD in the fourth period on a short yardage play.

The Vikes ran 58 plays for 289 yards. Pryor had 24 carries for 166 yards, Davis was 21/61, Coby Robertson 10/63.

As substate lurks, AC wins, loses

GARNETT - Anderson County varsity volleyball players topped Central Heights last week 25-20, 25-18, but fell to Wellsville in three matches 21-25, 25-18, 25-5.

"Our serving was okay but our hitting was off," said coach Glenn Suderman. "Blocking is our weakest area but our passing was good and our setting continues to be good."

The matches came with last week's announcement of the 4A Division II sub state tournament which has been scheduled in Garnett on October 26 - a bare two weeks away - signaling the end of regular season play and the beginning of the post-season run. The 4A Div II state tournament, facing off the victors of all the Div II sub states, will be held in Salina November 1-2.

Reanna Romig, Lexi Pedrow and Kinlee Jones all served 100 percent on the day. MaKayla Kueser led AC with 13 kills. Reagan Jirak had 9.

AC Girls Golf

Girls golf team puts in many hours on course

The Anderson County girls golf team put in a lot of hours on the golf course last week as they competed three out of five days. On Monday, Sept. 23rd they were at Chanute competing at Quarry Stone C. C. All six girls played well and brought in scores that put them in fourth place, just 5 strokes away from that elusive medal.

Their team score was 213 behind Eureka who finished with a 208. The sole medalist for the day was senior, Bailey Rockers who carded a 47 and took 6th place. Other individual scores were: Katie Lybarger 55, Sydney Holloran 55, Samantha McCullough 56, Abbey Barnes 57 and Miranda Akes 68.

On Wednesday, Sept. 25th the Lady Bulldogs went north and played in the Springhill Invitational held at the Paola Country Club. The competition was tough with metro teams like Piper, Gardner-Edgerton, Mill Valley and Spring Hill coming to play. The AC team brought in a combined score of 214 which put them in fifth place. First place for teams went to Mill Valley with 191 followed by Piper in second place with a 199. Individually, Anderson County player, Bailey Rockers brought home her second tournament win of the season with her score of 41. Rockers got off to a great start with a birdie on the first hole and followed with a par score on four of the next eight holes. At the finish, she out-scored the competition by 3 strokes with second through fifth place going to players from Piper, G. Edgerton and Spring Hill, each with a 44.

Thursday, Sept. 26th found the girls golf team on the road again for their final meet of the week at Council Grove Country Club. High winds played a part in the day as gusts of 35 mph on the hilly course slowed progress to the greens. The young team didn't let winds or a long week slow down their play, however, and they brought in some of their best scores of the season. With a team score of 205 the AC golf team won second place at Council Grove- their first team medal of the season. First place went to Holton with a 200 and third place to Rossville with a 206. Individually, three of the six Lady Bulldogs earned medals: Bailey Rockers took third place with a 45, Sydney Holloran took 5th place with a 47 and Abbey Barnes took 15th place with a 53. "I'm very excited about the 205 the girls shot at Council Grove. They improved by 8 strokes from the Spring Hill tournament," commented Coach Wiehl. She added, "The girls have a very good chance of making it to the state tournament with the kind of numbers they are shooting and I know they are very capable of even more." Up next for the team is the Anderson County Invitational meet on Monday, October 7th beginning at 1:00 pm at the Garnett Country Club.

Get help with Medicare enrollment

The East Central Kansas Area Agency on Aging will be hosting several outreach events to assist Medicare beneficiaries with their Medicare Part D Enrollment for 2014. Appointments will be held in the various counties and on Saturdays in some locations. Appointments can be made at the Area Agency on Aging in Ottawa during normal business hours as well.

Open Enrollment takes place from October 15 to December 7, 2013. All plans will then become effective January 1, 2014. Everyone should have a plan comparison done as there will be plans that were bought out for 2014 by different companies, several who will have changed their plan name, several that may no longer providing Medicare D plans and several that will be new. Info to date indicates Kansas has 28 plans for 2014. The highest premium with current information is $140.80 and the lowest premium is $12.60. If a plan has a deductible it will range between $310 and $0.

Call to make an appointment and get a worksheet to complete and return prior to the outreach event. A comparison of the top three plans will be done and brought to the outreach event you will be attending.

Call Leslea Rockers at the ECKAAA office to schedule your appointment and get a worksheet at 242-7200 or 1-800-633-5621. Beneficiaries in Coffey County should contact Sallee Hess at the Coffey County Health Department at 620-364-8631.

Things to Know

- Beneficiaries need to make an appointment for all events listed above by calling Leslea at the Area Agency on Aging at 785-242-7200 or 800-633-5621. If you live in Coffey County contact the Coffey County Health Department at 620-364-8631.
- You will be sent a worksheet to complete when you call to make your appointment which needs to be completed and returned prior to your appointment. This allows us enough time to run your medications and have your information ready.
- Bring your Medicare card and current Part D prescription drug plan cards with you.
- Bring information on any prescriptions you have added or eliminated since turning in your worksheet to the appointment.
- Due to limited time and resources away from the office these appointments are for Medicare D Open Enrollment only.

Pieces and Patches hosts 10th anniversary 'Quilt in a Day' show

Pieces and Patches Quilt Guild hosted the 10th annual "Quilt in a Day" show given by Patricia Knoechel. New President, Charlotte Lutz, presented Patricia with a lavender corsage to mark the occasion. At Patricia's request Charlotte joined Patricia in the Charleston. Patricia introduced the latest Quilt in a Day pattern book "Recipes from El's Kitchen." In keeping with the theme, both Patricia and Charlotte sported their favorite aprons.

Patricia was first brought to Garnett by our member Carolyn Bennett in 2003. Since then attendance has continued to grow with attendees coming from surrounding counties and occasionally from out of state. This year there were close to 100 attendees.

Judy Stuke and Marilyn McDonald chaired the event. Guild member, Terrie Gifford, played Vana White, helping Patricia display her quilts. Club members provided a wide array of cookies for attendees enjoyment. Charlotte Lutz provided a beautifully decorated refreshment center to show off the cookies.

Thanks to everyone who helped setup, greet attendees, cleanup, pack and unpack Patricia's van.

Patricia has another visit to Garnett scheduled for next September.

Library plans book discussion

The Garnett Public Library will hold a book discussion on Wednesday, October 23rd at 7 p.m. "Betrayal of Trust" by J.A. Jance will be discussed. The discussion will be led by Paulabeth Henderson.

Betrayal of Trust is the twentieth mystery by New York Times bestseller J.A. Jance to feature Seattle P.I. J.P. Beaumont. When Beau discovers a snuff film recorded on a smart phone-a horrific crime that has a devastating effect on two troubled teens-his investigation unleashes a firestorm that blazes all the way up through the halls of Washington state government. Betrayal of Trust is certain to win this phenomenal crime fiction master ("In the elite company of Sue Grafton and Patricia Cornwell"-Flint Journal) a wealth of new fans while enthraling the army of devoted readers already addicted to the potent Jance magic.

"Murder, teenage bullying, sleazy adults, and good police work add up to another fine entry by Jance."

The books are available for checkout at the library. The discussions are held the fourth Wednesday of each month at 7 p.m. in the Archer Room at the library. Notification is posted in case of cancellation.

NAPA dealership changes hands

GARNETT - Changes were afoot in the local auto parts/service community last week when McDonald Auto Parts NAPA dealership was officially sold to Rod and Kim Wittman of rural Garnett.

The dealership will retain the NAPA dealership, Rod Wittman said, but will be renamed Wittman Auto Parts. The deal was effective Oct. 1.

Rod Wittman was born and raised in the area and opened Rod's Auto Service in Garnett in 1994 after graduating from North Central Kansas Technical College in Beloit.

"When Mike started talking about selling we discussed it," Rod Wittman said. "We decided this would be a good thing for us and a chance for Kim to be involved in the auto industry."

Kim worked for AuBurn Pharmacies for 21 years, recently leaving her position as assistant director of operations to enter into the new venture.

"I'll get to see my husband a lot more," she said, "and I'll get to see customers more than I did in my old job."

The McDonalds said they're looking forward to retirement. The business was started in 1955 by Mike's father and uncle and operated continuously for 58 years.

"We're going to fish, travel and spend time with our grandchildren," Mike said.

A retirement party for the McDonalds will be held October 12 at Racer's Lounge from 3p.m.-7p.m.

1913: Oil well found on Judy farm

October 14, 2003

In the wake of a power outage that left Garnett in the dark for 14 hours on Aug. 3, city officials have pinpointed the main source of trouble with the electric system: faulty relays. Fixing these relays should prevent the same type of outage from happening again.

The head of East Kansas Agri Energy told Garnett Rotarians Tuesday the success of a Sept. 30 meeting in Garnett for interested investors in the local ethanol plant project had spawned more meetings in Ottawa, Iola, Paola and Burlington. The meeting was an indicator that there are still potential local investors out there who may have additional questions about the project or may simply not have devoted much attention to the project until the investment window has begun to close.

Oct. 14, 1993

Garnett police officer Pat Tate and reserve officer Abe Schmidt were honored as the Garnett City Commission adopted resolutions recognizing their dedication to service when they helped three individuals escape a burning house in September. Tate and Smith were on patrol Sept. 18 on Ash Street when they noticed smoke pouring from a home at about 1:25 am. The officers drove to the home and were unable to wake the occupants by banging on the doors. The officers entered the back door of the home, awakened the three occupants, and everyone exited the house safely. The home was extensively damaged.

Both sides are still gathering evidence in a civil lawsuit between officials of Anderson

by Vickie Moss Staff Writer

County and former county sheriff's deputy Ted Daulton, over what Daulton claims was his unfair dismissal.

The Garnett City Commission unanimously approved spending $12,590.74 to fight a court battle with Williams Natural Gas over getting refund money and settling a tariff issue. The City of Garnett will be joining 33 other cities in taking concerns over Williams' interpretation of recent settlement ruling and tariff regulations before the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission's board of judges.

Oct. 24, 1983

A total of 476 signatures were submitted to Garnett City Clerk Thursday and Friday in petitions to bring Garnett's additional revenue bond issue for Cedar Creek reservoir for a vote. Petitions with 449 names were received Thursday and petitions with 27 more names ere received Friday. The petitions received Friday will not be counted toward the total, as statues provide that petitions must be filed with the receiving body all at once, and not in piecemeal fashion. If the petitions are valid, an election will be called by the city clerk within 60 days. A total of 346 signatures of city voters is necessary to bring the additional bond issue to a vote. At issue is a proposed revenue bond issue for the Cedar Creek reservoir project. The bond issue would add $650,000 to the total revenue bonds to be issued for the project. The voters approved $900,000 in general obligation bonds for the project and $1.6 million in revenue bonds during an election July 7, 1981. The total revenue bonds would be $2.25 million with the additional $650,000.

The gas company was drilling a well on the Morey Frazer farm, south of the old Judy farm, hunting for more gas and, at a depth of 612 feet, found oil. The capacity of the well is not now known, but Win Butchers, the driller, reports that there is 34 feet of good oil sand and 25 feet of other sand. Mr. Butcher, who has been watching the Greeley wells, says this well is far superior. He is also acquainted with the wells in the Wellsville field and this well, he says, is a great deal better than any well in that field.

W.W. Gowdy, J.B. Farris and Frank Dotts went down to Colony this afternoon in the former's car. These gentlemen will locate the Oil Belt Road from the Allen County line through Colony up to Welda. Mr. Gowdy informed a reporter of The Review that last Tuesday, he and others located the Oil Belt Road from the Franklin County line to the Judy schoolhouse.

This stone maul is similar to a modern sledge hammer.

Is it a grindstone, hammer stone, maul or a "head knocker" (war club)?

As many of you know, I once spent hours conducting walking sight surveys for Native American artifacts, however, age seems to be catching up with me and I just can't do all that walking anymore.

Last year during our drought, I managed to spend a few hours walking the stream beds and this just happens to be one of the artifacts I found.

The correct answer to the question above is, it's a hand pecked stone MAUL.

The stone maul can be by Henry Roeckers Contact (785) 448-6244 for local archeology information.

thought of as the forerunner of the modern sledge hammer, for it is very similar in appearance. It can be distinguished from the hammer stone in that the hammer stone was typically held in the hand and used without a handle. The maul was grooved (note the grooved band in the picture) for hafting, just as the axe was used with a wooden handle. It can be distinguished from the axe by its rounded or blunt end as compared with the sharper edge of the stone axe. Similarly, the maul was also made by hand pecking and grinding of igneous rock, as flint material was rarely used. The maul can also weigh anywhere from one to 20 pounds.

We cannot see our way without the light

In John 8:12 we read, when Jesus spoke again to the people he said, "I am the light of the world. Whoever follows me will never walk in darkness, but will have the light of life."

In order to understand this passage we need to understand something about light. Light is made up of a spectrum of seven colors. When you put all seven of the colors of the spectrum together the result is pure light. Therefore light is something that cannot be defiled. It is light that causes plants to produce food and the whole life chain of animals and humans depend on this process. When Albert Einstein formulated his theory on relativity he said he was able to put forward this theory because there is one thing and one thing alone in the world that is constant—the speed of light. Everything else is relative. Light is the only thing constant in our natural universe. Jesus is the only constant in the spiritual realm.

Darkness in its simplest terms is nothing more than the absence of light. If you walk into a dark room and turn on the light darkness vanishes. Where does the darkness go? It is consumed by the light.

This is why light is such a perfect example of Jesus. It is pure undefiled. In John 1:10 we read about Jesus. "He was in the world, and though the world was made through him, the world did not recognize him." Jesus was not of this world. We read in John 1:2, "He was with God in the beginning."

Light and life are interwoven. You cannot have life without light. When God said, "Let there be light the seas began to swarm with life and the seeds of the earth began to bud and blossom." (Genesis 1:3)

There is another truth about light. Light is always victorious over darkness. In John 1:5 the text states, "And the light shines in the darkness, and the darkness did not comprehend it." All of history has been a battle between light and darkness. In Luke 23:44 we read concerning the Crucifixion. "It was now about the sixth hour and darkness came over the whole land until the ninth hour, for the sun stopped shining. This was man's darkest hour.

If we go back to the simple definition of darkness being nothing more than the absence of light it is clear to see we must make a choice. We must either choose light or darkness. Our physical lives are lived in both but our spiritual life will be lived in one or the other. Look at it this way. When we come home late and it is dark what is the first thing we search for? The light. Why is that? Because we cannot see our way. It is much more comfortable with the light on. Let Jesus turn your darkness into light.

At the Sept. 23 meeting of the Parent Teachers Organization it was reported all classes met their first goals in receiving box tops. These are mailed in monthly, so if you have not turned yours in, please do so. Fall fundraisers are being sold and to be turned in the 27th. Red Ribbon Week's theme this year is "My Future is Bright, No Drugs In Sight."

This will be held Oct. 28-Nov. 1. An assembly will be held on Oct. 1. Principal Richard Burkdoll's report told them the new slide piece had been put on and looked good. They need soccer goals and custodian Roy Woods painted the hopscotch and will paint the four square soon. Members are to meet Oct. 2 at 5:30 p.m. in the high school library to count the bags for bucks. Aundi Miller and LeAnn Church met with Superintendent Jerry Turner asking about playground equipment, namely a basketball goal and see-saw rocker. He will report when he hears from Greenbush. A budget of $300 was set for Red Ribbon week. It was agreed to ask FCCLA make snacks for Halloween, asking for some ideas to make. Church, Kendra Weatherman and Kathy Lacross will work the Halloween booth and others if they so choose. They are to be there at 1:45 p.m. The next PTO meeting is set for Oct. 28.

Colony's rural carriers are Dennis Allen, Route 1 carrier; Rick Bunnell, Route 2 carrier, and Holly Ellington substitutes for both routes.

Gas Wells
Oct. 8, 2012 Southern Star Central Gas Pipeline began drilling two new horizontal wells outside Colony's city limits. The project was to improve safety for residents. The two horizontal wells (one to the southwest and one to the northeast) of Colony would make it easier to maintain the gas storage field underneath the city. The wells were to be relatively shallow, between 950 to 975 feet and tunnel under Colony to the storage field.

These wells (substations) are located south on Indiana Road (southwest of Colony) and the other east of the Colony ballpark (northeast of Colony).

Work is continuing on connection of wells to the storage field lateral system, 18 old wells in the city limits are being cut, capped below ground and abandoned.

Jolly Dozen
Seven members held their first meeting of the season with Delma French at Fountain

Villa in Iola Sept. 16. Roll was answered with the town they grew up in or nearby. New members were discussed. Jane Ward won the hostess gift. The Oct. 21 meeting will be hosted by Wilma Goodell at the City Hall community room.

KU to honor 39 seniors in Anderson, Franklin counties

LAWRENCE - Students from six Kansas high schools will be honored Wednesday, Oct. 16, by the University of Kansas Alumni Association and KU Endowment.

A total of 39 seniors from high schools in Anderson and Franklin Counties will be recognized for their academic achievements and named Kansas Honor Scholars at a 6:30 p.m. dinner and program at Ottawa High School, Ottawa.

- Area students are as follows:
- Ian Comfort, a resident of Westphalia and a senior at Anderson County High School.
 - Bryce Dieker, a resident of Colony and a senior at Anderson County High School.
 - Kortney Kirkland, a resident of Garnett and a senior at Anderson County High School.
 - Maddie Magner, a resident of Garnett and a senior at Anderson County High School.
 - Reanna Romig, a resident of Garnett and a senior at Anderson County High School.
 - Hannah Steele, a resident of Garnett and a senior at Anderson County High School.
 - Ida Yoder, a resident of Welda and a senior at Anderson County High School.
 - Emily Frank, a resident of Colony and a senior at Crest High School.

During the ceremony, each student will receive a Webster's New College Dictionary and a commemorative certificate.

Rueben Perez, director of Student Involvement & Leadership Center at the University of Kansas, will speak to the students and their parents and guests.

Honored students will be guests of the alumni association and KU Endowment; parents and area alumni are welcome to attend at a cost of $15 each.

Community volunteers collect reservations, coordinate details and serve as local contacts for the event. Charlie and Margy Porter, of Ottawa, are the Franklin County coordinators. Terry Solander, of Garnett, is the Anderson County coordinator.

The Kansas Honors Program is made possible by KU Endowment and proceeds from the Jayhawk license plate program.

Since 1971, the Kansas Honors Program has recognized over 120,000 scholars, who rank in the top 10 percent of their high school senior classes and are selected regardless of occupational plans or higher-education goals. Each year, the KU Alumni Association and its volunteers host 37 programs that reach all 105 counties across the state and include approximately 360 high schools.
