THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW 03-18-2014 / Vickie Moss

Crew members with Turner Construction work to install insulation for the exterior of the new Anderson County Hospital building Monday. The steel framework of the building is now complete.

Hospital work progresses

Steel framework complete as construction crew moves on to next phase of exterior

BY VICKIE MOSS THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW

GARNETT - With steel framework completed at the new Anderson County Hospital, construction crews are moving along to complete the exterior of the building.

A "Topping Out" ceremony to mark the laying of the final steel beam was Feb. 12, and marked the completion of the steel frame. Since then, crews have been busy working to complete the structure's exterior.

Cold temperatures that brought snow and ice in February caused minor delays, including postponing the laying of the final steel beam. Overall, however, weather has not caused significant delays and the project is expected to be completed within the estimated 18 month construction timeframe, putting completion somewhere in the late fall of 2014. Ground was broken for the new building in August 2013, after a 1,081-951 vote to build a new, $25 million facility to replace the aging, 1949-era hospital and long term care facility. The building is being constructed west of the current facility, which eventually will be razed to become a parking lot.

Denny Hachenberg recognized the crew and other officials involved in construction of the new facility. Before the ceremony, area kindergarteners and high school seniors as well as other people in the community signed the beam to memorialize the milestone.

"It is a pleasure and an honor to see the hard work of so many skilled workers coming together to bring Anderson County a new, modern health care facility," Hachenberg said. "The entire team is dedicated to ensuring that it's being constructed with great quality, expertise, and precision. We couldn't be more excited to see it all come together at the end."

Firefighter wrecks en route to fire call

Truck hits tree, woman calls for help on way to fight grass fire

BY VICKIE MOSS THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW

GARNETT - An emergency responder headed to fight a grass fire near Colony Monday morning apparently hit a tree with her fire truck, and was injured and trapped in the vehicle.

Fire crews were called to fight a grass fire near 500 and Delaware roads, northwest of Colony, shortly before 10:30 a.m. Monday. The call was the latest in a series of grass fires that have kept firefighters busy during dry, windy conditions that have plagued the area throughout the month of March when area farmers hope to burn pasture to prepare for the coming cattle grazing season.

Minutes after firefighters were called to the fire, a woman was heard over the scanner asking for help. She said she had hit a tree, and dispatchers called emergency crews to the scene, adding that the call involved a fire vehicle and someone was trapped in it. Later, crews responding to the call asked for a helicopter ambulance, an indication that

Asbestos a concern with old nursing home sale

Property is part of tax sale next Monday at county courthouse

BY VICKIE MOSS THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW

GARNETT - With one week until the county's long-awaited delinquent property tax sale, county officials already are looking at what to do about the old nursing home building on West Seventh Street in Garnett.

The former Arkhaven Nursing Home building is included in the tax sale, and has sat vacant for several years. During construction of the Anderson County Sheriff's office and jail, the building was used as a temporary sheriff and jail quarters, with rooms turned into holding cells for prisoners. Last fall, Anderson County High School's junior class used part of the building for a haunted house. Because of extensive disrepair and problems throughout the building, many potential buyers have not been interested in buying it. The property has $184,849.23 past due in personal property taxes, and is expected

Week of activities planned for Spring Break

Groups organize various events to give kids something to do

BY VICKIE MOSS THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW

GARNETT - There's still time to find something for the kids to do this week during Spring Break.

The Anderson County Child Coalition is teaming up with other organizations to offer the first Spring Into Fitness and Fun activities during Spring Break. The events will include the annual Spring Into Fitness event sponsored by the Anderson County Hospital, and other events sponsored by Anderson County Extension and local businesses.

Events began Monday, and some events required pre-registration with space limitations. But there are still plenty of activities to keep kids occupied during their week off school.

Tuesday

Kids can learn about dog bite prevention and toy safety from 9 a.m. to 11 a.m. today at the Community Building in Lake Garnett Park. Dr. Amanda Allison from Countryside Vet Clinic will discuss those topics, and will help children make a toy for their dog or cat.

Today's activities also include a biscuit making class that continues from Monday, but it required pre-registration and space was limited. A robotics and spacetech camp also

James O. Broce, age 78, of Greeley, Kansas passed away Saturday, March 15, 2014 at the Wellsville Retirement Village, Wellsville, Kansas.

Broce

Jim was born February 15, 1936 at Wellington, Kansas. He was the second of three children born to Orvel Everett and Ruth (Underwood) Broce.

He grew up in Geuda Springs, Kansas, attending school there and graduating from high school in 1954. Jim entered the US Navy in January of 1955. He was a Korean War veteran, serving on the destroyer, the U.S.S. Bryce Canyon. He was honorably discharged in January of 1959. Jim was united in marriage to Marion King on February 26, 1957 at Wellington, Kansas. Four children were born to this union. He returned to Geuda Springs from the service and then attended Oklahoma State University, earning a degree in forestry. Following college he moved to Northern California where he worked for the U.S. Forestry Department as a forest ranger and firefighter. In 1965 the family moved to Marion's home town, Lawrence, Kansas, where Jim started a real estate business, Circle Realty. They later moved to Garnett, Kansas where Jim began working for Vigortone Ag Products. Jim and Marion moved to Greeley, Kansas in 1977 where he made his home until the time of his death. After 27 years, Jim retired from Vigortone in 1997.

While his children were growing up Jim shared his love of the outdoors with them as he took them camping. Jim enjoyed working on vehicles especially his Model T and old trucks. He loved the outdoors and could often be found fishing in local ponds or the river. When he was not busy he could be found drinking coffee and socializing at the Greeley Caf (c).

He was preceded in death by his parents; and his wife, Marion, on October 2, 1991.

He is survived by his children Orvel Broce and wife, Donna, of Greeley, Mona Blevins and husband, Jim, of Greeley, Everett Broce and wife, Peggy, of Mooreland, Oklahoma and Travis Broce and wife, Tracy, of Girard, Kansas; 9 grandchildren; 3 great-grandchildren; 2 sisters, Margaret Weber of Wellington, Kansas, and Rella Stover of Geuda Springs, Kansas.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p.m., Tuesday, March 18, 2014 at the Feuerborn Family Funeral Service, Garnett, Kansas. Burial will follow in the St. John's Cemetery, Greeley, Kansas. The family will greet friends at the funeral home from 1:00-2:00 PM prior to the service at the funeral home or following the burial at St. John's hall in Greeley. Condolences may be left at www.feuerbornfuneral.com.

to be included in the delinquent personal property tax sale at 1 p.m. Monday, March 24, in the front lobby at the Anderson County Courthouse. A total of 58 properties with more than $373,000 in overdue taxes will be offered for sale as a way to recoup some of the past due money and return the properties to the active tax rolls.

County officials have expressed interest in purchasing the building, which sits next to the county's shop and rural fire station. Even if someone else purchases the building, there is a good chance it will be torn down.

If the building were to be torn down, asbestos in the building would need to be properly disposed. County commissioners March 3 met with Scott Garrett, landfill supervisor, and Lester Welch, road supervisor, to discuss how to handle the asbestos. The county's landfill does not accept asbestos, and Garrett would need to find a landfill that takes it. Commissioners suggested Welch contact companies that specialize in asbestos removal, and get an estimate about what it would take to remove the asbestos.

Asbestos is a group of naturally occurring minerals resistant to heat and corrosion, and can be part of construction materials, particularly material made before 1970. People who breathe in high levels of asbestos can develop serious health problems like lung cancer. Material in good condition generally does not release asbestos fiber and is not dangerous. But asbestos that has been damaged, such as during construction or remodeling, can be dangerous and requires experts to help with the removal.

its own jail meals would not move forward due to the non-compete portion of the signed agreement. Kellerman had estimated the plan would save the county $25,000 per year from current annual contract costs.

"After reviewing the contract it's clear the non-compete would extend to her (Kellerman) for a year. We can't hire their staff and do that," Johnson said. "It's unfortunate, but it's business."

Anderson County presently pays CBM $97,000 per year to provide meals at the county jail.

Non-compete clauses are common in business contracts and purchase agreements, written in to protect one or both parties from losing subsequent business to an affiliated party who has internal knowledge of a business' procedures or clients.

Phelps' demise a test for Christians

It seems more than just a little ironic to be concerned with being "indelicate" at the news Westboro Baptist Church leader Fred Phelps is ailing and in a Shawnee County nursing home, but his impending death - much like his hateful life - will be a test for Christians.

And the timing is driven home by the fact that untold thousands of people across the country who've either formed an opinion of the Westboro Church or experienced its hate firsthand are also no doubt among those who've gotten a refresher in Christian forgiveness from the recent movie release of "Son of God," the newest big screen retelling of the life of Jesus. It's hard not to relate the vulnerability of Phelps' demise as one of recent history's most detestable characters with the core teaching of Christianity - that, to paraphrase Matthew 18:21 - you should forgive someone no matter how many times they wrong you.

That's no short order for families and loved ones of homosexuals whom Phelps has anathematized for more than a decade, nor for the families of military servicemen whose funerals Phelps and his ilk used as putrid First Amendment pulpits for their message that God rejoices in the death of American soldiers because the country tolerates homosexuality and abortion. It's understandable that forgiveness, not just for the rest of us but particularly for those directly affected by such vitriol, would be a tough hill to climb.

But somehow imagining Fred Phelps, the consummate publicity hound for a message of hate, shriveled and bed-ridden in some nursing home and in his final days, indeed brings about a feeling of justice. The wages of sin is, after all, death, and it's somehow reassuring that a man who held so little regard for the feelings of others won't get away from the table without paying his check.

Maybe for a lot of people that same appreciation for the final delivery of justice is the first step toward forgiving. It eschews to even bigger fish than the Phelpses - to child molesters, murderers, the 9/11 hijackers, etc. Though it isn't what Jesus taught, maybe knowing justice finds them all makes the task of forgiving easier.

The new bossy

The latest fad of female self-empowerment coming from the national Shame On You Men consortium seeks to ban the word "bossy" and replace it with some description of "leadership" when it comes to little girls. It's the new social torch being carried by Facebook big-wig Sheryl Sandberg, doing her part for political female-dom, and she's also enlisted former Secretary of State Condoleezza Rice and Beyonce Knowles to help out.

REVIEW COMMENTARY

DANE HICKS, Publisher

Beyonce will hit the road to help build little girls self-esteem just as soon as she puts her clothes back on after the filming of her latest music video.

I personally don't see self-esteem being such a lop-sided gender issue, despite the vast entitlement to such drama embraced by those in the country who love thumping the shield of New Age Amazon Womanhood (and who then earn political points as being "pro-woman.") Little girls typically perform better in school, commit fewer crimes, go to college or seek post-high school training in larger numbers, and more and more often earn more than their boyfriends or spouses. If they're making those kinds of strides, perhaps we should leave "bossy" where it is.

Little girls whose feelings are hurt when they're called 'bossy' should continue to do what they're doing - suck it up and move on. Press ahead and be a leader - in anything - whether you're a man or woman, and 'bossy' is not the worst word they're going to call you.

Indeed, if we're going to invest time and pop culture ammo on a gender class in need, we should focus on little boys, particularly in the black community, who can't seem to develop a value set that dictates staying with a woman you get pregnant in her teens or 20s is the right thing to do. We contrive a national self-esteem emergency because aggressive little girls are called "bossy," but we ignore the fact that 70 percent of births in the black community are to unwed mothers. The number among whites is lower but no less indicative of irresponsibility that damages generations. There are bigger fish to fry than "bossy."

I would like to give props to the Anderson County Sheriff's Department. I have heard that an officer had pulled over a city employee after he was driving on suspended while driving a city vehicle, and now the officer is being harassed by city employees. The sheriff has also received many calls on this and said that everyone will be treated equal. He was breaking the law and the officer did his job and no one will be favored. I think that is great. Thank you.

I have a suggestion for the Review. You send this contest thingy out and I got this paper thing on my bag at (name deleted) about this contest. Why not instead of offering people a $1,000 prize if they buy your paper, (which is kind of like bribing them isn't it?) why not cut the price of your paper and maybe more people will buy it? Just my opinion but I've always thought a dollar for your paper was too much anyway. Thank you.

Hey, if Garnett is raising so much revenue and the businesses are doing so great from the months of April to September due to all the ball games, then what's the need to raise the guest tax? It sounds to me like we're trying to take advantage of the visitors and that's called greed when you want more money than you're making if you doing okay now. What's Garnett got to offer anyhow? If you're from out of town you're going to get a dang ticket, you've got to bring bottled water because you can't drink our water it's got a smell to it. It sounds like we're wanting to be somebody we're not- some kind of Kansas sports complex leader or something. It all sounds fishy to me.

Hi, I just wanted to congratulate the extension office and the churches and the others involved in putting on the Spring Fling during spring break week which is this week. Kids get bored without school and I think this is a neat way to keep them involved in something and out of trouble. Again, thank you.

It's springtime in Garnett and we all know what that means. The Killer Catfish of Lake Garnett is awakening, and he will be hungry. Keep an eye on your kids and your dogs if you're walking around the lake.

The Russian reset to nowhere

The "reset" with Russia had a brief, unhappy life. It began with then-Secretary of State Hillary Clinton presenting her Russian counterpart with a mistranslated reset button reading "overcharged." It ended with current Secretary of State John Kerry denying knowledge of the late, unlamented policy on "Meet the Press": "Well, I don't know what you mean by the reset."

Memories are short in Foggy Bottom. And understandably. Who wouldn't try to forget a geopolitical initiative that has been exposed as willful naivete and strategic obtuseness from the beginning?

George Kennan wrote the famous "Long Telegram" at the outset of the Cold War. President Barack Obama would have needed only "A Very Brief Telegram" at the outset of his administration: "Bush's fault."

This was a perverse misreading of history. Of all President George W. Bush's failings, not giving the Russians a chance wasn't one of them. He notoriously looked into Russian President Vladimir Putin's eyes at the beginning of his presidency and saw sweetness and light. By the end, his illusions were shattered by the Russian invasion of Georgia in 2008. President Obama picked up like this Russian act of aggression had been perpetrated long ago by the Grand Duke of Muscovy, instead of by the very regime he was resetting with. In a 2009 visit to Moscow, the springtime of reset, President Obama professed his belief

NATIONAL COMMENTARY

RICH LOWRY, King Features Syndicate

"that Americans and Russians have a common interest in the development of rule of law, the strengthening of democracy, and the protection of human rights." He was 0 for 3. It didn't take a student of Russian history, or of international relations or even of the model U.N., to know that this would end in ashes.

At one level, the Obama administration was guilty of the human impulse of wanting to see the world as you would like it to be, rather than as it is.

At another, the president is not particularly interested in international relations. It was appropriate that one of his statements on the crisis came at an elementary school while announcing his latest budget, which reduces the U.S. Army to pre-World War II levels.

Because we all know that we will never face an unexpected, unpredictable international crisis again.

Whereas Obama has the left's traditional discomfort with American power, Putin has no such guilty conscience. Whereas Obama believes we've entered a paradisiacal new period in history when everyone can be constrained by international norms, Putin has no such delusions.

President Obama said recently that Ukraine's stability and success are "in Russia's interest." Not if you are Vladimir Putin and stung by the humiliation of the Russian empire's diminishment after the end of the Cold War and informed by Catherine the Great's belief that the only way to secure Russia borders is to extend them.

President Obama declares that Russia is on the wrong side of history. That may be a clinching argument in a debate over gay marriage at Wesleyan University, but won't carry much weight with Putin. He thinks he can make history move with lies, thuggery and iron.

It's now Obama's challenge to prove him wrong.

Was House's tax relief vote just for show?

You could almost see it happening last week, when the House's voting board lit up.

It showed 116 "yes" votes for House Bill 2542, that little gem that exempts from property taxes hobbyist-built homemade airplanes.

But the key to that vote was the amendment by Rep. Julie Menghini, D-Pittsburg, a day earlier that drew 102 votes to put $45 million into the state's little-used-of-late Local Ad Valorem Tax Reduction Fund.

That amendment, of course, proposed to put that $45 million in this election year into county budgets—with the requirement that it be spent only to reduce your property tax bill. No re-graveling roads, no redecorating commissioners' offices or hiring new workers. Just cutting property taxes.

Doesn't get much better than that, does it? Cutting the most disliked tax that is levied on voters who own property.

Well, after that amendment vote, it appears that 14 state representatives were taken to the woodshed—or at least to a short seminar on remedial politics. They got the message that cutting property taxes—or appearing to attempt to cut property taxes—is the best election-year game in town.

So, by the next day, 116 legislators got

STATE COMMENTARY

the opportunity to have a final-action vote to their credit for wanting to reduce your property taxes. There's a straight line between voting to cut property taxes and the legislator's name on the ballot.

So, what made that $45 million expenditure so popular among House members? The answer is that it isn't going to happen. Like the first time the baby turns over in his/her crib. It's darling, but it doesn't mean that the baby is going to stand up and walk over to you.

The Senate will just not pass that bill with that amendment, and the House knows it, and the poor devil who wanted his homemade airplane exempted from property taxes will have to come back another time.

There are House members who truly believe cutting local property taxes is the best use of state tax dollars. They get lost in the crowd of House members who think the state has better uses for your tax dollars and counties ought to cut their spending to lower property taxes.

For many House members, call it a free vote for their campaigns. We can almost see their campaign brochures now: A snippet of the page torn from the official Journal of the House, maybe slanted a little to make it stand out, with the candidate's "yes" vote highlighted in can't-miss-it yellow.

Turns out just four House members voted no (five members weren't present) on that campaign-assisting bill: Reps. Randy Garber, R-Sabetha, Amanda Grosserode, R-Lenexa, Craig McPherson, R-Overland Park, and Allan Rothlisberg, R-Grandview Plaza. They won't have to blush when asked why that tax relief didn't happen.

Jones gives state report

March 12, 2014

The Kansas House has passed some important legislation and some "not so important" legislation recently.

KanCare Prompt Pay (HB2552)
Considering Health Care, the House passed legislation that would make certain doctors, nursing homes and hospitals are better able to manage their finances by ensuring Managed Care Organizations (MCO) under KanCare pay claims in a timely manner. HB 2552 would require the MCOs to pay most claims within thirty days and all other claims within 90 days.

Also contained in the bill is a provision requiring that 12 percent interest be paid on late payments (an amendment was squelched in committee that would have made it 18 percent).

This bill is sound policy that will keep state government and its contractors accountable for money owed. We passed HB2552 by a vote of 123-0 on February 27.

Designating State Fossils (HB 2595)

The House passed out HB 2595 by a vote of 96-27. This is the bill that names the Pteranodon as the official state flying fossil and the Tylosaurus as the official state marine fossil.

The remains of a Pteranodon, a fish eating dinosaur, which resembles a modern day eagle, were discovered in 1870 near the Smoky Hills in Kansas, and the Tylosaurus was discovered in western Kansas near Monument Rocks in 1868.

This bill was frustrating for me for 2 reasons: First, we are frequently criticized for spending legislative time and energy on issues that don't affect the lives of most Kansans; and second, the bill puts into State Law that these Kansas Fossils lived and moved on the earth during the cretaceous period of the Mesozoic era approximately 125 million years ago. I was one of the 27 who voted "no" on HB 2595.

Newborn Infant Protection Act (HB 2577)

Introduction of HB 2577 became necessary following an incident in which a mother was publicly identified after she had left her baby at a hospital in Wichita. When someone finds themselves in a difficult situation, it is important that they have an alternative to hiding the baby or tossing it into a trash can, which sadly has happened.

Realizing that human life is precious, the House unanimously passed HB 2577 and sent it over to the Senate. Passage of HB 2577 will strengthen existing statute by amending the Newborn Infant Protection Act to protect the name or other identifiable information of a parent or custodian of an infant who voluntarily surrenders custody of the infant to an employee

Legislative Update

by Rep. Kevin Jones

who is on duty at a "safe haven", defined as a "fire station, city or county health department or medical care facility" (hospital), unless reasonable suspicion of child abuse exists.

The Act provides that if within 45 days of the birth of their child a parent realizes they are incapable of properly caring for the baby, or a young mother wishes to conceal the fact that she was pregnant from relatives and others, they can leave the infant at a safe haven anonymously and without fear of prosecution. The infant is then placed in protective custody and becomes a ward of the state.

Other Bills to Watch For

What is important right now is the Gannon vs. State school funding ruling by the Kansas Supreme Court which you can read at <http://skyways.lib.ks.us/ksleg/KLRD/Publications/SchoolFinance-GannonvState.pdf>

This ruling is important for every single Kansan, whether we have school age children or not, simply because of the percentage of our tax dollars that go to it.

State Finances

We must fund essential government services while keeping a lid on state spending. The government makes no money; it only spends our money. And the revenue source (our tax dollars) is not unlimited.

The job of balancing the state budget got a little easier when the February tax-only numbers were announced last week. According to officials from the Kansas Department of Revenue, the state received a boost when several one-time income tax payments, totaling more than $50 million, were received in February. Those unexpected payments helped push the February tax-only collections to $97.6 million higher than projected and the year-to-date surplus climbed to $118.4 million. Individual income taxes came in $100.7 million above official forecasts, and corporate income tax collections grew for the third month in a row, beating projections by $4.8 million. Experts say the income tax numbers indicate that more people are working or receiving raises.

The gains in income tax collections were offset by lower than projected revenue from sales, use, motor carrier, and cigarette taxes. Sales tax collections missed the mark by $2.5 million, while use taxes came in $1.9 million under estimates.

Greeley Knights have annual dinner

On January 29, 2014 the Greeley Knights of Columbus hosted its annual Awards & Ladies Appreciation dinner. The dinner was attended by nearly 100 Knights, spouses and guests. Grand Knight Tony Hermreck opened the night with a thank you to all the ladies that help with function throughout the year and went through a calendar of events from the previous year with the highlight being that the Council has changed the name of the scholarships to make them in memory of the late Chuck Miller and also increased the amount of both that are handed out.

Mark Locke, Field Agent

for the Knights of Columbus Insurance Mahon Agency made a few brief remarks about the Insurance program. District Deputy Ed Miller congratulated the Council on achieving the coveted Star Council Award for the 2012-2013 Fraternal Year. He thanked the ladies for all of their hard work and dedication and reminded them of two things: 1, just because you can't join the Knights doesn't mean you can't be a top recruiter for the Knights. 2, he reminded them of a saying heard quite often at events, behind every great Knight is a great lady and that is very true in Greeley. The Council had a special guest that night, Kansas State Council State Deputy Scott Maurath was in attendance. He too thanked the Council and ladies for their hard work and dedication to not just the local area but the State & Supreme Council. He talked about the different programming areas and how the State is doing in membership.

The Council then proceeded to hand out a 50 year member pin and four 25 year member pins although 6 achieved 25 year member status, two were not present. The 50 year member pin went to Larry Penka who joined the Knights in 1964. The four 25 year member pins handed out went to Shawn Feuerborn, Bruce Sommer, Kenny Katzer and Jim Lickteig. The members not present were Norman Oswald and Dale Morgan.

The Knights of Columbus is the world's largest Catholic fraternal organization with 1.8 million members in more than 14,000 councils. Last year, the group donated $167.5 million and 70 million hours of work to charitable endeavors. The Knights was founded by Venerable Father Michael McGivney in New Haven, Conn., in 1882, with charity as its first principle.

School, court funding discussed

Property Tax Transparency, School Funding, KSHSAA, and Court Funding

The Senate unanimously passed House Bill (HB) 2047, which boosts transparency in property tax increases. If local property taxes, including valuations, increase, then most local units of government will have to vote to accept the increased revenue. The intent of the bill is that if more money is collected as a result of increased mil or valuations, the governing body will have to acknowledge that additional tax money was collected and there was a vote to accept the increase. The bill also requires the governing body to alert the public of the increase via a local news publication.

School funding - The Kansas Supreme Court released its ruling on the Gannon lawsuit. A few schools had filed a lawsuit against the state for more school funding. The Court's decision emphasized that both equity of funding and the resulting outcomes of funding are important. These are important in determining the adequacy of state education dollars and two areas were identified in which funding has fallen short, capital outlay and Local Option Budget (LOB). The Court ruled that these funds must be distributed equally from richer districts to poor districts in order to abide by the Kansas Constitution.

KSHSAA - Senate Substitute for HB 2197 would amend the Kansas State High School Activities Association (KSHSAA) board by ending four of its six State Board of Education appointments

Legislative Update

and replaces them with four appointees from the Governor. Appointees must not be employed with any school affiliated with the KSHSAA or be a member of the State Board of Education. There were good points made from proponents and opponents. The bill was a compromise from interested parties. The bill passed as I was one of 27 votes supporting to 12 against.

Court funding - Senate Substitute for HB 2338 would increase court funding by $10 million, after increasing funding last year. The bill would also change the budget process allowing chief judges in 31 judicial districts to determine where money in their district is to be spent. The portion of the bill that increased funding by $10 million in one year was an $8 million increase in court fees and a considerable burden on Kansans and so I did not support the bill. The bill passed the Senate by a vote of 23 to 12.

Please contact me with any questions or comments via phone 785.296.6838; email Caryn.Tyson@senate.ks.gov; or by mail, at Kansas State Capitol, 300 SW 10th St., Topeka, KS 66612.

It is an honor and a privilege to serve as your 12th District State Senator.

• Scholarship - Chairman Ruth Theis reported that the committee would be meeting soon once all the applications have been received.

• Charity Quilts - Cynthia Fletcher reported that the Head Start program will soon need to replace all of the children's blankets and she proposed the guild give some of their charity quilts to them. Members thought we should have a goal of completing 20 quilts by September and deliver all of them at the same time. Size should be similar to Lap Quilt size.

• 2015 Opportunity Quilt - Judy Stuke reported that some of the members of the committee met at Nancy Kreibach's on February 13, selected and cut most of the fabric. Next work day will be March 20 at 9AM at Nancy's.

• Anderson County Fair - Terrie Gifford agreed to be chairman of the County Fair Committee. The fair runs August 4 -8. The theme is "Country Pride County Wide". Fabric for the 12 12 inch block challenge will be selected soon and Country Fabrics has again agreed to sell the packets.

• 2014 Challenge - Sandra Moffatt led us through the process of snipping, ripping, keep one half and pass the other half to the next person. Each time the pieces kept getting smaller by half. In the end we each had seven pieces of fabric of varying sizes. The Challenge is to make various items using all of the fabric with a completion goal of this December. She got information for this challenge from the Sewtopia Sewing Club of Sioux Falls, S.D.

• Old Business - The quilts given to us by Carolyn Bennett were measured. Bonnie measured the first one (79 x 97), Nancy measured the second (81 x 94). Nancy, Lynda and Terrie selected backing and binding for the second. Carolyn Crupper agreed to quilt them with an overall design. Quilting to be paid for by the guild. Cynthia Fletcher said that the Area Agency on Aging would like to accept a quilt to do a fundraiser. Joen Truhe said that the Senior Center would also like to accept a quilt for a fundraiser for Meals on Wheels.

• New Business - Terrie mentioned the Heartland Quilt Network annual meeting on April 5 in Lenexa. She is going and can take other interested members. Registration is due by 3/19.

Nancy Kreibach reported that her husband, Skip, will have 46 pieces of his art displayed at the Mary Martin Art Gallery at the Bowlus in Iola through the last Friday of March. Gallery is open 8-4, M-F.

Rose Dennison talked about the article in the Country Register telling of a couple from the Flint Hills who teach how to paint Barn Art for a $35.00 fee supplies included. There was interest by members so Bonnie will check into it. Nancy Kreibach reported that Skip made one for their barn.

• Show and Tell - Cynthia Fletcher showed a quilt she was making for a friend, her completed President's block for Judy Stuke, and her 9-patch novelty quilt from the 2013 Block of the Month. Violet Holt showed two tablemats and two table runners that she made using an easy way to make a Pinwheel block inside of a Churn Dash. She learned the technique at her other quilt guild. And she proposed it to be the program she will present in April. Layer cakes are good fabric sizes for the technique. Marlene Walburn used the scraps left from her 2013 Block of the Month to make a pillow using the easy Pinwheel/Churn Dash method. She also showed a bedrunner that she made with leftover blocks from previous projects. Marvella Harris showed two tablemats and a table runner using the easy Pinwheel/Churn Dash method. Judy McArdle showed a quilt she made as a wedding gift. Judy Stuke showed the completed Little Angel quilt that she hand quilted. She showed her completed Sunbonnet Sue quilt made of blocks she purchased from the Ethel Poovy sale and Sandy Miller machine quilted it. Terrie Gifford showed Heart placemats and her completed double wedding ring top. Phyllis Gordon showed a circular table topper that she had seen Sandra Moffatt make. Lou Ann Shmidl showed Christmas placemats she made using a pattern Carolyn Bennett had given us one Christmas. Carolyn Crupper showed a tablerunner she made from the leftover fabric from the 2014 Opportunity quilt. She is donating that tablerunner as a prize for the May Quilt show. She also showed and donated a Charity Quilt which she used to practice some intricate machine quilting patterns. Oneda Grimes showed a quilt in progress and asked for advice on how to make one of the blocks.

• Block of the Month - Gayle Metobo gave us two blocks to complete for the March meeting. Twelve members present indicated they are doing the block of the month. In order to cut down on printing expenses Charlotte suggested Gayle only print out 15 instructions each month. The following members showed their first blocks: Bonnie Deiter, Sharon Bowman, Cynthia Fletcher, Terrie Gifford and Phyllis Gordon.

The squad includes Tara Meyers, Tavia Wittman, Erica Holman, Bobbi Jo Rockers, Kori Pitts, McKenzi Huettenmueller, Bailey Whitcomb, Jasmine White, Darcie Maley, Tiffany Mills, Madison Martin and Samantha Nickell.

Wellsville knocks off Viking girls in sub-state

WELLSVILLE - Central Heights traveled to Wellsville for the opening round of sub-state last March 4 and were sent home with a hard found 49-41 defeat.

Wellsville (8-11) entered the tournament with the 4th seed and Central Heights (7-13) was seeded 5th.

Despite the 8-point margin, the game was actually much closer than that throughout.

Central Heights battled back and forth in the first quarter, ending the period tied at 8 apiece.

The second quarter was much of the same. Wellsville took a slim 18-16 lead into halftime after outscoring the Vikings 10-8 for the period.

Coming out of intermission, very little changed as far as either team being able to establish any kind of control. Central Heights pulled even, as it was their turn to top Wellsville 10-8 for the quarter to tie the game, at 26 heading into the final period.

Home court advantage finally seemed to pay dividends. Wellsville erupted by scoring 23 points, hitting free throws down the stretch to seal the victory. The Vikings just couldn't keep up as they fell down by 10 and were unable to rally.

Box Score

Central Heights (41) - Kraus 15, Erhart 11, Markley 10, Meyer 3, Hayward 2

Wellsville (49) - Sparks 14, Newhouse 12, Patton 12, Kayhill 11

Incredible Kids Day

Greeley Elementary School students celebrated Incredible Kids Day Friday, March 14, with posters and a showing of "The Incredibles" movie. Principal Deb Alford said a student asked her, "If they have Mother's Day, Father's Day and Grandparents' Day, why don't they have Kid's Day?" Staff found out Camp Fire USA has Absolutely Incredible Kids Day the third Thursday in March, so the school decided to organize their own version. Below are a few of the incredible kids with the posters made by teachers.

First and second grade: Preston Kueser (2 grade), Killian Kaufman (1), Cadence Wilper (2).

Third and fourth grade: Tayven Sutton (3), Reece Katzer (4), Emma Schaffer (3).

Fifth and sixth grade: Mya Miller (5), Orvel Broce (5), Linda Lattimer (6).

Hyatt Club plans events

Lois Miller and Dorothy Miller were hostesses for the January 2014 meeting held at Golden Heights Living Center. Thirteen members attended. The menu for the day consisted of hearty soups prepared by Dorothy, Mary Ann Umbarger and Pat Mosher. It was a perfect cuisine as it was very cold and blustery. Other members furnished desserts and salads.

Becky King guessed the mystery package, which was a rainbow-colored loaf of bread. Becky was good enough to open it and let the others sample. It was quite unique. JoElla Phares was the recipient of the hostess gift of a soup mix and mug. Mary Ann received a birthday gift from her secret sister of a Daily Guidepost book and hand lotion. She will host the February meeting. Dorothy informed the club that a bake sale would be held at Golden Heights on Jan. 23 to benefit Phyllis Adams. Becky King suggested that the Hyatt Club have a yard sale during the citywide sale in April. Everyone was in favor of going forth with that terrific idea.

Pat read an article about the Hyatt Club in preparation of the 100-year celebration to be held with the historical society on May 1. The committee for that celebration, Dorothy Miller, Janis Hightower, Hilda Lankard and Shirley Benjamin, will meet prior to the February meeting to discuss ideas. Everyone received a small loaf of bread as they were departing.

Mary Ann Umbarger hosted the meeting on Feb. 11 at the Mexican restaurant. Diane Sumner was a guest along with 16 members. Members were asked to relate things they like to collect as an answer for roll call. The 100-year anniversary committee presented their ideas for the presentation on May 1 to the historical society. Members were requested to be on the watch for attire worn in days gone by.

Becky King reported that preparations are in motion for the yard sale to be held at the United Brethren Church on April 12. Hilda Lankard will host April's meeting the day before so that delivery of items can be taken to the church and set up.

Shirley Benjamin reported that she will be delivering four hats that she made for Ellen Stinnett. Ellen joined the Hyatt Club when she moved to this area. Her maiden name was "Hyatt" and she thought it would be a perfect fit for her. She bravely fought a long battle but sadly the club lost their beloved "sister" Feb. 25. She was a joy to know and will be truly missed.

JJJ Club plays cards

The JJJ Club met March 12 with Darlene Thompson as hostess. There were seven members present. Minutes of the last meeting were read and roll call answered.

Cards were played with Irene

Wittman winning high and Clarann Kempknich receiving the low. Refreshments of fruit salad, cookies, rolls and coffee were served.

Next meeting is April 9 with Clarann.

Profiling for fun, profit

Profiling gets a bad rap out in the political world, usually because it works pretty well. Marketers have known for decades it works in business, and you should learn from their experience to sell more and better.

Profiling is nothing more than identifying your favorite customer, making a list of their characteristics, and then crafting your marketing efforts, inventory choices, store promotions - even your store décor - in a way that attracts and rewards that favorite customer type.

If you've been in business for a while or if you're modeling your business after an existing one, you already have a customer profile although you may not know it. If you run a convenience store, your customer profile is determined by who lives nearby and who drives past your store on their way to and from work - so geography is king. If you're an antique store, your customer profile likely involves home ownership instead of renting; more vintage, eclectic tastes than Target & Wal-Mart, etc.

What's most important to your customer type? Do they want it fast? Thorough? Cheap? Flexible? Available at odd hours? Pretty? In multiple styles and colors? Convenient? Are they men or women?

Amazing tip: Did you know women make 85 percent of all

HOW TO SELL STUFF

Dane Hicks
Review Publisher

household purchases? Think about it: Who bought or ordered the last roll of toilet paper you used?

Profiling also helps you identify the customer you do not want - the customer that costs you huge amounts of time and then makes either no purchase or a low-profit one; the customer who's just tapping your expertise so he/she can make a better decision with a cheaper seller; the one determined to haggle. Sometimes we can't be choosy about the customers we attract, but it helps to know up front what to expect.

Determining those optimum customer traits gives you the direction you need in order to speak to them and those like them, and bring them into your business to buy.

Adult Reading Program Winner

THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW 06-29-2010 / Photo Submitted

Richard Roeckers was the winner of the grand prize in the Garnett Public Library Adult Reading Program. It was very successful this year with 68 participants, 61 read at least 5 books or more, with a grand total of 584 books read. A big thank you goes out to all the participants and prize sponsors.

1994: Rail trail debate proceeds

March 16, 2004

Two residential fires in two days resulted in the loss of two family homes in Anderson County on Friday, and a third fire at a garage building on Saturday burned a large amount of another family's personal belongings that were in temporary storage. Both homes destroyed by fire Friday had wood heating stoves in use after Thursday's cold spat, but investigators hadn't reached a determination of the cause of the fires as of Monday.

Even before the first shovel is turned at the site of the ethanol plant in Garnett, its ripple effect is vibrating through the local economy. Officials are still negotiating with companies interested in building a dry ice manufacturing facility at the Golden Prairie Industrial Park, but the likelihood of EKAE making a deal with one of those companies is so certain that Garnett officials are making plans to generate the extra electricity a dry-ice plant will require.

March 17, 1994

After hearing testimony from both sides of the Prairie Spirit Rail Trail debate Tuesday, the Kansas Senate Ways and Means Committee approved funding for the project, passing it on to a full vote of the senate.

Many property owners across the county recently received word that the valuation of their property has increased for 1994. Nearly 7,000 change of value notices were sent out in the first week of March, but two weeks later, although county-wide valuation jumped a jolting $10.9 million this year, property owners on the whole have not invaded the office of the county appraiser.

A brass plaque inscribed with the names of men from Anderson County who were killed in World War II that was at one time mounted on a flagpole near the Anderson County Courthouse, is apparently missing. A former Garnett resident who now lives in Lawrence told county commissioners that he has not been able to find the plaque or the flagpole anywhere around the courthouse. A commissioner said he didn't remember the plaque, but it may have been stolen.

March 14, 1984

Installation began Wednesday of a plan to expand the current offerings of Garnett cable television to 15 channels for subscribers and seven more channels for subscribers to choose from with additional movies, sports or other entertainment.

Is there a possibility that Garnett could have the theater return as a business or does the future of the old People's Theatre building entail that the building be razed? A city commissioner asked about the prospect of a municipally-owned building leased or theatrical use. He wondered about the possibility of the business being restored in the future. He said a city the size of Garnett would appear to be large enough to support a theater, even if there weren't offerings of first-run movies.

Fifty-six years ago yesterday, Charles Garnett Bruns was ushered into the world. He was the first child born in the town of Garnett. And nearly all of those 56 years he spent here. Yesterday being Mr. Bruns' birthday, a score of his friends gathered at this home in the evening to celebrate the event. All met at the home of John Tush and went to the Bruns home in a body. When they reached the door and knocked, Mr. Bruns answered. Seeing a couple of neighbors standing there, he said, "Good evening."

Then others appeared and he said again, "Good evening" and so on until all had appeared. He didn't catch on and finally, when all were in the house, Charley said, "Well, what's up?" Mr. Tush replied, "Why, you have a birthday." And they all had a good laugh, Charley joining in.

This toy cap gun was found in the very early 1960s in a small park in Texas. The "Golden Age" of cap guns was from 1958-1963.

Toy cap gun found in 1960s

I bet when you first glanced at this week's picture, you said to yourself, did he really find a real gun. My answer to you is. I most certainly did find it with my metal detector and yes, it is a real genuine Mini Derringer Single Shot "Toy Cap Gun."

This precious little cap gun is for certain over 50 years old. I found it in the very early 60s in a small park in Corpus Christi, Texas, while stationed there with the U.S. Navy.

Cap guns became especially popular when the heroes of cinema and TV rode through the West riding the territories. "Golden Age" of cap guns was roughly a 20 year period following WWII. (1958-1963) Children all over the world emulated their heroes and collected and played with these toy guns.

There were many types of cap guns from small Derringers, to large rifles and Mattel even produced an automatic firing cap Thompson sub machine gun.

Paper caps were originally sold in five red colored rolls of 50 caps costing a whole 5 cents.

As for the Mini Derringer it was often referred to as the "Ladies" gun. It was so small it could be hidden in purses, muffs, garter belts, etc. etc. Sometimes it was referred to as the "Up the Sleeve" gun, because it was the favorite of many gamblers.

Originally toy cap guns brought small prices, however, today they often command significant prices for many models.

God wills as he chooses, carries out all that he wills

The Book of Ruth is a picture of the sovereignty of God. God rules from his throne which is referenced specifically in 2nd Corinthians 12 by the Apostle Paul and in Revelation 4 by John the Apostle.

God's dominion is total. He wills as he chooses and carries out all that he wills, so none can stay his hand or thwart his plans. God creates circumstances that help him accomplish his will. God exercises his rule in the normal course of life as well as in miracles and interventions. In the Book of Ruth God exercises his sovereignty as he intervenes in the life of Naomi.

Due to a famine Elimelech leaves Bethlehem to go to the country of Moab. He and his wife Naomi and their two sons arrive in Moab and not long after this Elimelech dies. As time passes the two sons marry Moabite woman and they too die leaving Naomi a widow with two daughter-in-laws.

Naomi receives word that the famine has eased and starts to return to Bethlehem. Her two daughter-in-laws, Oprah and Ruth start to Bethlehem with her but Naomi discourages the woman because they will be foreigners in the land of Bethlehem. Oprah relents and stays in Moab but Ruth refuses to leave Naomi. So the two women return to Bethlehem.

They have no way to provide for themselves but they arrive at the time of the barley harvest and Ruth goes into a field to glean. In Biblical times the harvesters would leave a certain amount in the field for widows and those who had no way to provide for themselves. Ruth gleans in the field of Boaz and he takes notice of her and determines he is a near kinsman. In Biblical times the nearest kinsman of a widow could redeem the land in accordance with Jewish law to protect the name of the clan. Boaz acts as a kinsman redeemer of Naomi and redeems the land. Boaz and Ruth get married and become ancestors of the Lord Jesus Christ through their son Obed.

God in his providence uses the normal course of life and death to bring Ruth, a pagan Moabite into the lineage of Jesus Christ, confirmed under the genealogy of Jesus Christ in Matthew 1:5. God is sovereign and we do not understand his ways but since the beginning of time he has been revealing his eternal plan to his people.

David Bilderback: A Ministry on the Holiness of God.
