Sex offender faces new charges after standoff

Armed, suicidal report leads to arrest for sex-related crime

BY VICKIE MOSS THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW

GARNETT — A registered sex offender is facing new sex-related charges discovered after an armed standoff with police in late April.

Craig Alan Walford, 37 of Garnett, was arrested late Sunday, April 27, after police were called to the 400 block of West 13th Street for a report of an armed, suicidal person. Soon after their arrival at about 11:50 p.m., Walford fired a single shot inside the home, according to a report from the Garnett Police Department. Although there were other people inside the home, they fled before officers arrived. No one was injured by the shot fired inside the home.

That shot led to about an hour-long standoff between police and Walford, who was armed with a .45 caliber semi-automatic handgun. Walford eventually surrendered, and law enforcement arrested him without further incident, Police Chief Kevin Pekarek said.

During the course of the investigation, officers discovered information that led to additional charges including suspicion of lewd and lascivious behavior. District court records show that Walford was charged for exposing a sex organ to a 15-year-old.

In June of 2008, Walford was convicted of sex-related crimes in Arizona that occurred in 2005. The charges included sexual abuse and attempted molestation of a child, both felonies. The age of the victim was not provided. The Kansas Department of Corrections listed him on parole or probation in Anderson County since July 2008.

Walford also was charged with aggravated assault on a law enforcement officer and criminal possession of a firearm by a felon. If convicted of aggravated assault on a law

Rural fire crews get upgrades

County to spend about $200K for upgrades to fire equipment

BY VICKIE MOSS THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW

GARNETT — Anderson County leaders are expected to invest about $200,000 this year to upgrade rural firefighting equipment, a difficult task in a year that has demanded more out of firefighters and equipment than at anytime in at least the past 15 years.

It's part of a five-year plan introduced recently by the county's emergency management director, JD Mersman, who was tasked with evaluating the equipment when commissioners promoted him to the position last fall. Since then, he's been busy determining a priority list of equipment that needs to be replaced.

"It's an ongoing process. We have such a large fleet of trucks. I'm trying to space it out so it's not one huge expense to the county," Mersman said. "If we space it out over several years, we can lessen the burden to taxpayers."

So far, he has made improvements to equipment

Sales tax collections reveal economic news

High gas prices, winter weather could have attributed to increase

BY VICKIE MOSS THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW

TOPEKA — Sales tax collections for Anderson County and its cities show a mostly rosy economic picture for the first four months of 2014, with the City of Garnett reporting a little better news than the county as a whole.

The increase is good news to government entities that collect sales tax to pay for special projects. Sales tax reports are a good indicator of economic activity because they show if businesses bring in more or fewer retail sales year after year. Locally, the largest collector of sales tax typically is new and used car dealerships, because they collect sales tax on large purchases like cars and trucks.

In Anderson County, automotive sales make up about 20 percent of overall retail sales and sales tax collections.

Local officials like Garnett City Manager Joyce Martin also use the reports to try to gauge trends that show if people are more or less likely to shop locally. Martin said she and staff have discussed recent reports, and she speculates the increase could be due primarily to two factors: the high

Answer on grant expected soon

Grant would pay for arts, economic plans throughout Garnett

BY VICKIE MOSS THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW

GARNETT — Community leaders hope to learn June 6 if they've been approved for a multi-organization request for $116,000 in community improvements.

Anderson County Development Agency director Dennis Arnold applied for the grant through the Kansas Department of Commerce's Creative Economy Project Support program. The highly competitive program aims to stimulate the local economy while strengthening the role of arts and culture, promoting regional identity and enhancing the quality of life for citizens, according to a website page about the grant. The local application asked for $58,000, with the City of Garnett and other organizations agreeing to pay an equivalent match for a total of $116,000.

If the grant were approved, it would pay for design plans for the Chamber Players' new community theater as well as improvements to the current theater, AM radio station equipment that could be utilized too for cultural, historical and tourism events; a sound system for the downtown Garnett square, and children's art classes, and a "juried art show" planned by the Walker Art Committee. The grant also would pay for an outdoor, functional art display such as butterfly awning sculp-

ANDERSON COUNTY BOARD OF COMMISSIONER APRIL 28

Chairman James K. Johnson called the meeting of the Anderson County Commission to order at 9:00 a.m. on April 28 at the County Commission Room. Attendance: James K. Johnson, Present; Eugene Highberger, Present; Jerry Howarter, Present. The pledge of allegiance was recited. Minutes of the previous meeting were approved as presented.

County Attorney

Brandon Jones, County Attorney, met with the commission. He requested permission to purchase a new copier. Two bids were presented. Commissioner Highberger moved to approve the purchase of a Lanier MPC3503 Digital Color Imaging System from Digital Connections at a cost of $6,625 with $3,500 out of the General Fund/Attorney and $3,125 out of Diversion Fund. Commissioner Howarter seconded. Approved 3-0.

Road and Bridge

Lester Welsh, Road Supervisor, met with the commission. They are mixing the millings for the laydown machine to lay blacktop.

Planning and Zoning

Michelle Miller, Deputy Zoning Director, met with the commission. She reported the zoning commission declined a request for a business on 1750 Road. The property was zoned to allow the business, however, the commission felt it was the wrong area as it is predominantly residential. Commissioner Howarter moved to accept the planning commission's recommendation and deny the request for Special Use Permit SP2014-01. Commissioner Highberger seconded. Approved 3-0.

Appraiser

Steve Markham, Assistant Appraiser, met with the commission. He showed the commission a county map the GIS company, R&S Digital, was able to create with our data. Discussion was held on the fact that we have not yet been contacted to order rural directories and there is a possibility that the company may no longer supply them. It may be possible to create a book through the GIS system, however, we are not at that point yet.

Emergency Management

JD Mersman, Emergency Management Director, met with the commission. Commission requested JD check into training the firemen on driving and maintenance of the equipment to make sure the equipment is taken care of. JD reported he is requesting a few changes on the fire truck they just ordered. Commissioner Howarter moved to approve the increase of $3,000 to the truck from Osco Tank and Truck. Commissioner Highberger seconded. Approved 3-0. Some of the trucks he has spotted another one he is interested in.

Zoning

Chairman Johnson moved to pay Michelle Miller and extra $250 per month effective March 25 for zoning duties until a director can be hired. Commissioner Highberger seconded. Approved 3-0. Meeting adjourned at 11:55 a.m. due to no further business.

MULKEY

August 26, 1936-May 1, 2014

THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW
Published May 13, 2014

Kendall L. Mulkey, born August 26, 1936, passed at the age of 77, of pancreatic cancer at Nathan Anderson Hospice, in Las Vegas, Nevada, on May 1, 2014. Kendall was born on the homestead of his great grandfather, two miles north of Selma, Kansas, on August 26, 1936. When Kendall was approximately four, the family moved to Venice and later to Santa Monica, California, where his father was employed at Douglas Aircraft. They later lived in Tulsa, Oklahoma. During his later childhood, the family moved back to Blue Mound, Kansas where Kendall's grandfather owned a produce house. His father worked with his grandfather until his grandfather passed away and his father kept the produce house; where Kendall worked after school and during summer. Kendall always played parts in the school plays that were held in the Blue Mound High School Auditorium. He graduated from high school in May, 1955.

Mulkey

During his teen years, he became an avid quail hunter, getting pleasure from hunting with his father, grandfather, uncle, cousin and sometimes friends. That was one thing he missed very much after getting married. Joining the Air Force took us too far away for him to be at home in Blue Mound during quail season. Kendall was a member of the boy scouts where he earned Eagle Scout. On July 1, 1956, he and his father were licensed as Amateur Radio Operators, his call sign being W0VPH and his father's W0VPG. Linda now has her grandfather's call sign although she is not an active participant.

Kendall and Nadine were united in marriage on December 16, 1956. The wedding was performed by one of Ken's friends. In fact, the first night of our honeymoon was spent at their home because we went there to tease him about not pronouncing us man and wife. It was too late by that time to go anywhere so we didn't leave until the following day. The honeymoon was very inexpensive when measured against today's prices. In fact, all the cash we had on hand was $105.68. We did not have plans for our trip which was a road trip and we eventually wound up in Shreveport, Louisiana. We were gone for four days, drove 1200 miles and total expenses were $60.43 including replacing the left wheel bearing and having to be towed into Stillwell, Oklahoma to have the wheel bearing replaced. Of course, we had to spend the night there at the J.L. Cox hotel. There were four double beds in the room. We couldn't make up our minds which two beds to use so we both slept in the same bed.

In Shreveport, Kendall was going to be issued a ticket for failing to stop at a red light until he told the officer that we were on our honeymoon and that the Christmas decorations were actually blocking the red light from sight. The officer was very nice and directed us to the nearest good motel.

Ken and Nadine made their home in Eudora, Kansas where Ken was employed as an electrician for the City of Eudora. Nadine worked at an insurance company in Kansas City, Missouri; commuted back and forth sharing rides with others working in the city. After working in Eudora, Kansas, Ken transferred to a similar job in Pleasant Hill, Missouri, where Nadine still had to commute. That lead eventually to enlisting in the Air Force where he spent eight years and earned the rank of Tech Sgt. We had bought a 1957 two door sport model Chevrolet, our first new car, and later bought a 1959 Chevrolet. In fact, Ken came home for lunch one day and the base commander followed him home inquiring where he got the car. The commander thought that he might have stolen the car since he was very young and of low rank at the time. We were able to convince him that the car was really ours.

While in the Air Force, we were stationed at Seymour Johnson AFB in Goldsboro, North Carolina; Eglin AFB at Ft. Walton Beach, Florida; and back to Seymour Johnson AFB where he deployed to Vietnam for a total of 18 months with three, six month tours of duty. Before he left he was sent to Texas for some training for the job he would be doing. Holiday Inn, where he stayed with his family, gave him and Capt. Kersey a nice send off with their names on the marquee. During his eight years of service, he earned several awards for various things, some of them monetary awards for ideas.

Ken successfully completed College Level GED; Comp 1-63; NCO Prep School; TAC; Comp 1-62; OJT Trainer 75000-18 & Aircraft Radio Maintenance.

Kendall is survived by Nola Nadine Mulkey, wife of 57 years; daughter, Linda Isham (Wayne) of Louisville, Kentucky; son, Jeffrey Mulkey of Las Vegas and numerous nephews and nieces.

He was preceded in death by his parents, Ansel (Pete) and Darline Mulkey; and sister, Sandra West.

Funeral services will be held at 10:30 a.m., on Wednesday, May 14, 2014 at Feuerborn Family Funeral Service Chapel, Garnett. Burial to follow in the Garnett Cemetery.

The family will greet friends on Tuesday evening from 6:00 to 8:00 p.m. at the funeral home.

Memorial contributions may be made to National Pancreatic Cancer Foundation.

You may send your condolences to the family at our website at www.feuerbornfuneral.com.

ROCKERS

THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW
Published May 13, 2014

Dorothy Filley was born in Kansas City, Mo., to Ina Dixon Filley and George Frank Filley, native Kansans.

Dorothy grew up with her older sister Mary in Kansas City where her father was head of the Estimating Department at Kansas City Power & Light for many years. She attended Paseo High School, and graduated in 1942 with a B.A. in English and a minor in Biology from Baker University in Baldwin Kansas where she was a member of Alpha Chi Omega. Dorothy taught English in several small Kansas towns, and met her future husband, Lt James J Rockers, while teaching in Greeley.

After the war was over, Dorothy and Jim married on November 1, 1945, while Dorothy was teaching in Troy.

Dorothy continued to teach on and off while she raised six children and moved with Jim to various posts with the Soil Conservation Service in Kansas. Wherever they lived, Dorothy was always loved and known for her easy laugh, practicality, warm smile and quick wit. Dorothy was multi-talented, sewing her children's clothes, canning food from a large garden, and teaching lamp making at the extension office. She denied owning a dog named Toto, but had a lovely singing voice and was a ferocious and formidable Scrabble master.

Dorothy went back to grad school and, at the age of 57, got her MS in Psychology at Emporia State and returned to teach Special Education for an additional 10 years.

In 1992, Dorothy began to take flying lessons at the airport in Independence. Dorothy fulfilled a childhood dream when she soloed for the first time at the age of 71 and joined the local flying club. Nothing made her happier than to climb into an airplane and fly around, and she participated in fly-ins around the area. Her flying buddy Joe Sigler became an important part of her life.

In 2009, Dorothy moved to Denver, Colo., from Independence, Kan., to be close to her daughter.

Dorothy was preceded in death by her husband James John Rockers, and her daughter Mary Veronica Rockers. She is survived by her sister Mary Filley Burri, 95, of Monroe, Wisc., sons George Rockers of Galveston, Texas, Dwight (Ann) Rockers of Arcadia, Fla., daughters Jeanette Rockers of Denver, Colo., Joan Vitt of Parsons, and Sarah Elkins of Foreman, Ark., nine grandchildren, four great-grandchildren, and many nephews and nieces. She will be deeply missed by all those who had the good fortune to know her.

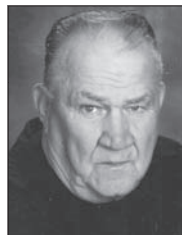

A memorial will be held in Independence on June 28, 2014. In lieu of flowers, the family asks that donations be made to: University of Colorado Foundation and note "In Memory of Dorothy Rockers/Alzheimer's Research Fund." Mail to: University of Colorado Development Office; Anschutz Medical Campus; Mail Stop A065; 13001 E 17th Place #WG112; Aurora, CO 80045.

KATZER

April 27, 1939-May 2, 2014

Leon H. Katzer, age 75, of Greeley, Kansas, passed away on Friday, May 2, 2014, at Olathe Medical Center in Olathe, Kansas.

Katzer

He was born on April 27, 1939, in Greeley, Kansas, the son of Francis H. and Josephine C. (Egidy) Katzer.

Leon married Marilyn on May 3, 1975 at St. John's Church, Greeley, Kansas.

He was employed at the Greeley Filling Station, Taylor Forge, and Berico Industries. Leon then worked at McCorkendale Construction in Stanley, Kansas as an operator retiring from there. He was a member of Laborer's Union Local #1290.

He was a member of Farm Bureau; a former Mayor of Greeley and presently on the City Council; a lifetime member of St. John's Catholic Church, and was especially proud that the rocks used in the construction of St. John's Church came from his family farm, south of Greeley.

Leon enjoyed farming and cattle his whole life. Leon also enjoyed gardening, taking care of strawberries, and playing pitch with family and friends. He was very proud of his many casino membership cards; playing video poker. He and Marilyn took many trips with Larry and Theresa seeing many states and casinos. Leon especially enjoyed his grandchildren; they were his life from the time they were born.

Leon was preceded in death by his parents, Francis and Josephine Katzer; one sister, Helen Windle; three brothers, Matthew Katzer, Robert Katzer, and infant brother Jimmy Katzer.

He is survived by his wife Marilyn Katzer, of the home; one daughter, Cherie Day of Independence, Missouri; one son, J.C. Bowman and wife Margie of Greeley, Kansas; four grandchildren, Jacklynn Burk and Walter Burk; Michelle Haupt and husband Kyle; Kristen Bowman; one great grandchild on the way due in October; one brother, Eugene Katzer of Greeley, Kansas; one uncle, Matt Egidy of Paola, Kansas; brothers-in-law and sisters-in-law, Fred Windle of Gardner, Kansas; Larry and Theresa Morgan of Lawrence, Kansas; Terry and Kathy Morgan of Lenexa, Kansas; Tim and Mary Ann Morgan of Westphalia, Kansas; numerous nieces, nephews, cousins and friends.

Leon was married to Marilyn for 39 years and was the best husband that any wife could have wished for.

Mass of Christian Burial will be Monday, May 5, 2014, at St. John's Catholic Church in Greeley. Burial followed in the St. John's Catholic Cemetery in Greeley.

Memorial contributions may be made to St. John's Church and left in care of the funeral home. Condolences may be sent to the family at www.feuerbornfuneral.com cost of gasoline and cold winter weather. She thinks high gas prices encourage people to shop locally. A cold winter also led to higher utility bills for city residents, which in turn increased the amount of sales tax they paid, she said.

According to reports from the Kansas Department of Revenue at Topeka, sales tax collections for Garnett started strong, with a 26.5 percent increase in January compared to the previous year. Collections fell in February, with 2.9 percent below the same month last year, but rebounded in March and April. The city received a 5.5 percent increase in April compared to the previous year. Since the city's fiscal year began in July 2013, Garnett consistently reported between 6 and 7 percent higher sales tax collections compared to the previous year. Total sales tax collections between July 2013 and April 2014 were $218,893.39, which is 6.8 percent higher than the same time last year.

The county as a whole also had mostly good months in 2014, starting the year with an increase of 5.9 percent in January. Like Garnett, the county's sales tax collections fell in February, but the loss hit the county harder, with collections falling 8.2 percent lower than in February 2013. Overall, the county has been 1 or 2 percent lower than the previous year. Since the fiscal year began in July 2013, the county at Westphalia and Colony that recently included the purchase of a new tanker for Westphalia at a cost of $89,250. He's now looking at new trucks for Greeley and Kincaid. In addition to the big expenses like trucks, he also needs to keep firefighter apparatus current. It's a challenge that can come with a high cost, but Mersman said it's important to keep the costs in perspective.

"There's a lot at stake. There are lives and property at stake," he said. "Without good, reliable fire equipment, our cities, county and firefighters could be in danger." Anderson County isn't the only place that understands the importance of upgrading equipment, and that is working to the county's advantage, Mersman said. Departments nationwide also are making improvements to their fleets, flooding the market with good, used equipment. It's a buyers market for used firefighting equipment, Mersman said. A new fire truck can cost as much as $400,000, but good quality used trucks are selling for significantly less.

"We're not going at this quickly. We're shopping around and getting the best deal we can for our investment," he said.

A busy spring fire season has increased the amount of wear and tear on equipment, but Mersman said in some ways that also has been an advantage. It has helped fire departments better assess the quality of their equipment, helping them prioritize their needs.

"It was kind of startling to look at the condition of some of the trucks we had," Mersman said of the inventory process. "It kind of forced our hand on some purchases."

So far, the county has spent about $165,000 to replace trucks and other equipment. Mersman estimates they'll need to spend another $40,000 to $50,000 to take care of the most urgent needs this year. In the next year or two, the county will need to replace other trucks. Money for the improvements primarily comes from the county's annual fire operating budget. Any money left in the county's fire budget at the end of the year is rolled over into a rural fire improvement fund; Mersman used that money to help pay for the improvements as well. The high number of fire calls this spring has taken a toll on the fire department's budget, leading county commissioners to look at other areas, like the county's reserve equipment fund, to help pay for the improvements.

Aaron Stevenson was booked into jail on January 6 for Anderson County, bond set at $5,000.

A nod for small businesses

I'll bet nobody ever walked into Garnett Flowers and Gifts and pinned a medal on Erin Miller, acknowledging her courage under fire, risk taking and service above and beyond the call of duty to the U.S. and Garnett economy.

Or Country Mart, or Wolken Tire, or Wilson Chiropractic, or Greeley Quick Shop or any of the other local businesses that make up the fabric of the county's commercial sector. True, the Chamber of Commerce names a "Business of the Year" every year and that's an honor, but there are tons of folks out there with a few employees - or maybe just the owner/operator - who rarely get a handshake for their efforts.

This week is National Small Business Week - so says the U.S. Small Business Association - but you'll probably be hard-pressed to find much hoopla about it. No parades, no grand balls at the U.S. Commerce Department, no demonstrations of support on the National Mall like on Gay Pride day or Save the Whales Day; you'll just see a ton of small business people doing what they do every day - stocking shelves, writing paychecks to employees, hustling to pay vendors and utilities and taxes, buying ads in the high school year book or kicking in money for some local organization fundraiser.

Sure, it's not like we're curing cancer. But if you think about it, the small businesses that make up our community - any community, for that matter - are doing a helluva lot.

I've often said that in the flagging economy of the past five years, if a business managed just to survive and keep its shingle out, it ought to be given a medal. I say it again.

Forbes Magazine says more people will start small businesses in 2014 than ever. Most won't survive - only about a third will still be around in 10 years. Business failures aren't pretty - they involve not just the broken dreams and shattered spirits of their instigators but also the draining of their finances, strained personal relationships, divorce, government tax trouble and sometimes bankruptcy.

It's not a game for the faint of heart. It is management of risk, 24 hours a day, 7 days a week.

So why does anyone want to live that way? It's sort of like riding a motorcycle or surfing or sky diving - when it works, there's nothing else like it.

But it's easy to see why it's not for everybody, and it's a credit to small businesses that we often make it look so easy to our customers and to the public that they think we're getting rich. Greedy capitalists; how dare we lobby against minimum wage increases; lower income taxes and environmental regulations? We're making money hand-over-fist - why don't we just pay a little more and shut up about it?

Yep. Rolling in the dough, and trying to stay out of the oven.

You may not recognize the impact of small business, but the folks who collect taxes and pave your streets, run your schools, defend your country and put that cool Indian on top of the Kansas Statehouse do. Besides state and federal income taxes businesses pay property taxes on commercial or industrial properties, collect state sales taxes (for no compensation, incidentally) and handle withholding of social security, unemployment and Medicare taxes for their employees - not to mention generating payrolls that are themselves subject to individual income taxes.

Whether appreciated or not, businesses and the people willing to take the risk to pursue it matter. Make it a point to shake the hand of a local business person this week and tell him/her you appreciate the effort. This week we salute you all.

Five Anderson County mothers/grandmothers were totally surprised May 8 when a generous and anonymous stranger picked up our lunch tab at the Garnett Pizza Hut. This act of kindness nourished our hearts much more than our stomachs. What a nice Mother's Day "gift."

I would like to say best of luck to assistant fire chief Duke Verhelst. I hope all goes well in your new adventures and you will be truly missed by the City of Garnett and the fire department for your leadership your knowledge, your training and the guidance you have given us. It has been an honor working with you on the fire department. Best of luck and thank you Duke.

I wanted to say I saw the city crews out painting the worn out lines on the streets in downtown I assume because the Square Fare is coming up on Saturday. I'm glad the city did this. It makes the downtown look nicer. Thank you.

The people on 1700 Road need special recognition for keeping their ditches mowed. They spend many hours on the road but it makes a very pleasant drive for us.

I'd like to make a comment about the Garnett Police Department. Why is it that the policemen in this town have to be snotty, rude, smart alec and disrespectful, and not take the time to listen to what the citizens have to say? It seems that they need to have some training and manners as well as their police training. Are you reading this, Mr. Police Chief? Please train your policemen to be nicer people. It would be a much nicer town if you would. Thank you. A concerned citizen.

Jeremiah Denton, a hero for the ages, dies at 89

Jeremiah Denton, the Vietnam War POW who died in March at age 89, uttered one of the great statements of defiance in American history.

In 1965, he was shot down in his A-6 during a bombing run over North Vietnam. He became a captive for more than seven years and endured an unimaginable regime of torture, humiliation and isolation, managing to retain his dignity and spirit even as his captors went to hideous lengths to snuff them out.

Soon after his capture, Denton was taken to Hoa Lo Prison, or the Hanoi Hilton, where he led the resistance to the North Vietnamese efforts to extract propaganda confessions from their prisoners.

As Denton related in his book, "When Hell Was in Session," they tried to starve one out of him. He began to hallucinate, but he still refused. They took him to the "Meathook Room" and beat him. Then, they twisted his arms with ropes and relented just enough to keep him from passing out. They rolled an iron bar on his legs and jumped up and down on it. For hours.

Denton agreed finally to give them a little of what they wanted, and he hadn't recovered from this ordeal when the Vietnamese told him he would appear at a press conference.

Denton told a fellow POW that his plan was to "blow it wide open." He famously blinked T-O-R-T-U-R-E in Morse code during the interview, a message picked up by naval intelligence and the first definitive word of what prisoners were being subjected to. When asked what he thought of his government's war, Denton replied, "Whatever the position of my government is, I believe in it, yes sir. I'm a member of that government, and it's my job to support it, and I will as long as I live."

NATIONAL COMMENTARY

RICH LOWRY, King Features Syndicate

The legend is that under the pressure of the Inquisition, Galileo said of the Earth, "Yet, it moves." That Martin Luther said, "Here I stand, I can do no other." Denton's words aren't an embellishment. They were seen by millions when they were broadcast in the United States, and he almost immediately paid for them in torment so horrifying that he desperately prayed that he wouldn't go insane.

When the American involvement in the war ended and the POWs finally were released, Denton made a brief statement on the tarmac upon his return, no less powerful for its simplicity and understatement: "We are honored to have had the opportunity to serve our country under difficult circumstances. We are profoundly grateful to our commander in chief and to our nation for this day. God bless America."

A Roman Catholic, Denton told his family that he had forgiven his captors and, after recounting to them what he had gone through, that he didn't want to speak to them of it again. His son James says he often heard him say -- with typical modesty -- "That's over. I don't want to be a professional jailbird."

He certainly wasn't that. Denton went on to become a U.S. senator from Alabama. With his passing, we've lost a hero whose example of faithfulness and duty should be for the ages.

Kansas House races could hold surprises

We have three weeks to the deadline for filing for office in the state, and many of us Statehouse insiders are watching every day to see who has filed, who hasn't and who just might have filed as part of a ruse to select their successors.

The statewide state offices, of course, are filling up. Only Republican Insurance Commissioner Sandy Praeger is retiring, meaning that whatever happens, there's going to be a new face there.

Republican Secretary of State Kris Kobach hasn't filed, though his Democratic opponent, former State Sen. and former Republican Jean Schodorf of Wichita, has filed. Kobach? He could just wander downstairs in his office building on a coffee break and sign up.

Neither of the likely major party gubernatorial contenders—Republican Gov. Sam Brownback and Democratic House Minority Leader Paul Davis, D-Lawrence—has formally filed yet. Neither has Republican Attorney General Derek Schmidt, though his Democratic challenger A.J. Kotich has. Republican State Treasurer Ron Estes has filed and he's alone in the race so far.

But we figure the statewide offices will take care of themselves...it's the Kansas House where the insiders' curiosity is focused.

There have been a few announcements of retirement from the House, notably its experienced Tax Chair Rep. Richard Carlson, R-St. Marys, and of course Davis, who can't be on the ballot twice in case his gubernatorial bid goes south.

STATE COMMENTARY

But when business closed down Friday, there were 23 House members who hadn't either filed or formally announced they won't seek another term.

And it is the House members—remember the full Senate isn't up for election this year, just two races there due to retirements—we're watching.

Some very frankly were recruited two years ago in a hurry after a federal court reapportioned state districts and both parties scrambled for candidates. This year, they all know the boundaries of their districts and incumbents can decide whether they are actually having a good time in Topeka, or whether they'd rather be home to carry out the trash.

But what many are watching for on filing deadline day are those slam-bam removal/replacements that can, with a little secret planning, see a filed candidate—especially one without an opposite party challenger—virtually appoint his/her successor.

It happened a few years ago when a Senate member who had filed withdrew his candidacy and a friend filed moments before the deadline for an unopposed run for office. It's a switcheroo that just might occur again this year.

There are some incumbents who just aren't having a good time who have filed, ready for the switch if they choose. And some incumbents haven't filed and are so far unopposed. That last-minute stuff can mean a candidate files just before the noon June 2 deadline and virtually be guaranteed election.

But, remember, sine die adjournment of the Legislature is May 30, and some of those un-filed House members may just be waiting...because the state pays their mileage to come to Topeka for the final adjournment...

Quilt guild to have 'Log Cabin Tales' in June

Below are the minutes of the April 24 meeting of the Pieces and Patches Quilt Guild

Note: Our next meeting will be Thursday, May 22, 2014 at the Anderson County Courthouse Annex. Guests are always welcome.

The Pieces and Patches Quilt Guild meeting was called to order by President Charlotte Lutz at 9:35 a.m. in the meeting room of the K-State Extension Office. Roll Call was answered by twenty-five members. There were no guests.

The March Minutes were approved as printed in the Newsletter.

The Treasurer's Report was given by Lynda Feuerborn.

Committee Reports

• Programs - June 26th meeting is in the Community Building at North Lake Park at 9:30a.m. It will be followed by Ronnie Elmore's trunk show entitled, 'Log Cabin Tales', from 11:00 a.m. to 1:00 p.m. Since the guild is paying the fee for the Trunk Show, Bonnie Deiter recommends we charge a fee for non-guild members to help defray the cost of renting the Community Building. During Old Business the Guild Members voted to charge non-members $2.00.

July 24th meeting is in the Archer Room of the Garnett Library at 9:30 a.m. There is an afternoon workshop 1:00 p.m. - 4:00 p.m. to make a 2' X 2' Barn Quilt Block. The fee is $35.00 with a maximum class size of 16. Bonnie would like to make sure people are signed up and have paid for this workshop by our June meeting so she can advertise any leftover spaces to non-members. Bonnie confirmed with Andrea at the Library that painting will be allowed if we cover all the tables and keep the floors clean. We will need people to stay at the end of the workshop to clean up the room.

• May Quilt Show - The May Quilt show is during the Square Fair, May 10th at the Garnett Senior Center. Charlotte had Opportunity Quilt Raffle tickets available for members to sell. The quilt is making its way around town and is currently at the Goppert State Service Bank. Charlotte passed around a sign-up sheet for work time during the show. For those signed up to setup the quilt racks, meet at 107 N. Cleveland Street at 4p.m. Friday May 9th. Ruth Theis and her husband will be there with their trailer.

Bonnie Deiter made up a blank form for listing information about the quilts which are entered. This is an 'Open' quilt show with no judging. Anyone from anywhere is welcome to enter a quilt. It does not have to have been completed since our last quilt show. Bonnie will provide the entry form to Carolyn Crupper to send out to members. Forms will also be available 9a.m. to 10a.m. the day of the show.

Charlotte asked if there were any additional raffle prizes for the quilt show. Carolyn Crupper made a table runner, Nancy Kreibach made two sets of Mug Rugs, and Joen Truhe showed a wall hanging that she donated.

Bonnie Deiter prepared a Press Release to advertise the Quilt show in the newspaper.

• Scholarship - Ruth Theis reported that her committee met and selected a winner. Name will be released following the May 7th Awards Ceremony. There is a new POC for Scholarships at ACJSHS who asked if we had any changes to our Scholarship program. Ruth and her committee reviewed the application and are satisfied with it. They did decide to extend the deadline to March 15th.

• Charity Quilt - Marlene Walburn showed and donated a quilt for Head Start. Cynthia Fletcher thought it looked like the perfect size. It was 36" X 42".

• 2015 Opportunity Quilt - Judy Stuke reported that 7 blocks were completed and that Marvella Harris and Marlene Walburn had completed the appliqué border, which they showed.

• Challenge - Cynthia Fletcher showed her work in progress where she used some of all 7 fabrics.

• Block of the Month - In Gayle Metobo's absence, Terrie Gifford provided copies of Blocks 4A and 4B to complete for next month. Terrie had completed the blocks and recommended paying attention to the directions for pressing seams.

• Old Business - Lynda Feuerborn completed the binding on one of the Charity Quilts from Carolyn Bennett. Lynn Wawrzewski is completing the other. Kay Roeckers made a motion that we offer first choice of quilts to the Senior Center. Ruth Theis seconded. The motion passed.

Members are asked to bring names of other organizations willing to accept the second quilt for a fundraiser to our next meeting.

Ruth Theis made a motion that we charge $2.00 for non-members to attend the Ronnie Elmore, 'Log Cabin Tales', trunk show. Rose Dennison seconded. Motion passed. Charlotte Lutz agreed to design a flyer to advertise the show. She will have hand outs for visitors to the May Quilt show and will email it to members so they can post it at various locations.

• New Business - Shirley Roeckers asked for assistance at the museum to prepare the stored quilts for display when the museum opens. Jan Elsasser, Charlotte Lutz, Irene Eilenstine and Terrie Gifford agreed to meet at 9:00 a.m. on Wednesday April 30th at the museum.

Charlotte Lutz announced the sad news that Maxine Gordon had passed away. Maxine has been the keeper of our quilt stands for many years. Charlotte asked the membership if anyone was willing to store the quilt stands for the guild. Cynthia Fletcher proposed a temporary location.

Secret Sister Gifts - Bonnie Deiter received a gift.

Show and Tell - Cynthia Fletcher showed Block 3 of the 2014 BOM and her 2013 BOM. Joyce Buckley showed a lap quilt and a purple bargillo quilt. Sandra Moffatt showed her Block 3 2014 BOM. Ruth Theis showed her completed purse and shimmering leaves blocks. Carrie Rulon showed a quilt she made for her daughter. Terrie Gifford showed her completed purse and 2013 BOM. Judy Stuke showed her 2005 President's quilt. Mary Luney showed a picture of a Quilt Barn block that her husband secretly had made by two of her Aunts (Janie Paxton's sisters). Judy McArdle showed a thread caddy and a sewing machine cover she made with fabric she received from her Secret Sister. She also showed 2 scrappy quilts she made for 2 nephews. Marvella Harris showed some machine appliqué teddy bear blocks she is making for her niece's twin boys.

Marlene Walburn showed a purse, Violet Holt mentioned the Lone Elm Craft Show 8:30 a.m. - 3:00 p.m. April 26th. Violet showed a Dresden Platt Purse she made after watching a video on Missouri Star Quilting website. She also showed her completed Shimmering Leaves table runner.

The meeting was adjourned by Charlotte Lutz. The members were then given a presentation by Violet Holt on 'Disappearing Pinwheels'. Violet demonstrated how to sew and cut the fabric. She then showed three ways to put the blocks together. Violet got the pattern from the Missouri Star Quilting website.

Minutes recorded by Terrie Gifford, published by Carolyn Crupper.

Time for a Bike Rodeo

The Garnett Police Department had a Bike Rodeo at Garnett Elementary School Monday, May 5, and Wednesday, May 7. Students learned about bicycle safety. Thanks to donations from Iola Walmart and the Lake Region RC&D, the police were able to give some students helmets and bicycles.

GHS Class of 1954 has 60th reunion

The graduating class of Garnett High School 1954 held their 60th class reunion on May 3. Fifty-seven attendees enjoyed an afternoon and evening meal at Prairie Bell's on the square.

Honorees were former teachers Laverne and Orville Cole and Coach Ray Meyer. Class member attendees were: Norma (Umbarger) Allen, Topeka; Terry Anderson and spouse, Palm Springs, Calif.; Joe Bailey, Centerville; Wilma Mathews Sloan and spouse, Garnett; Jeanne Nilgers Brewer and spouse, Nephi, Utah; Barbara (Ulses) Craig, Garnett; Laura and Bill Davis, Garnett; Frank Feuerborn and spouse, Garnett; Fred Foxx, Harlan, Iowa; Berniece Wiley French and spouse, Garnett; Ron Goodall and spouse, Temple, Texas; Janice Peters Hodgson and spouse, Garnett; Ruthana Lingo Keith and spouse, Garnett; Michael Kirk, Garnett; Floyd Mains, Greeley; Claudette Smith Martin and spouse, Spring Martin; Ken McMillan and spouse, Garnett; Jack Messenger and spouse, Avoca, Iowa; Willis Miller and spouse, Garnett; Florine Morgan, Ottawa; Paul and Joella Phares, Garnett; Earl Roberts, Greeley; Burke Rogers and spouse, Garnett; Rosalie Feuerborn Rommelfanger and spouse, Garnett; Marlene Carr Setter and daughter, Kansas City, Mo.; Carl Smerchek, Garnett; Margaret Holmes Smith, Big Sandy, Texas; Luella Rockers Stiffler, Ottawa; Berniece White, Garnett; Fern Huggins Wolken and spouse, Garnett; afternoon and evening, no one remembered to take a class photo, obviously due to loss of memory that often goes with old age.

Mark Yeokum, Leawood. The group acknowledged the 22 deceased members of their class and class members updated everyone from their last reunion. After a fun

Fire Dept.
 Total runs for 2014 as of first of April were 22 medical and 56 fire for a total of 78 runs. April exceeded more fire runs than ever in that time frame. The month was extremely windy and dry and it made controlled burning difficult on local landowners. J.D. Mersman, Emergency Management recently reminded everyone to develop a burn plan (call for a burn permit before starting a fire, 785-448-5428). There is no cost, it is a verbal permit that allows the dispatch to be aware of fire locations so when someone calls it in they do not dispatch the fire department causing the department to make a run that is not needed.

In the event of a storm the fire station located on South Pine Street in Colony which is locked daily will open when a storm warning occurs. Ring the doorbell and you will be allowed in. Pastor Mark McCoy (who lives across the street from the Christian Church) may be contacted or may already be there to allow others in the church basement for safety. If he is not home, Arlene Gilliland may be notified and she can be contacted to let people in. The Methodist Church will be opened by contacting either Leonard Wools family or Jane Ward. The Community Church pastor is Steve Bubna. He lives west of the church, no response as of this writing.

Jolly Dozen
 Nine members met at their April 21 meeting in the City Hall community room. Jane Ward was the hostess. Roll call was "a favorite flower". Wilma Goodell won the hostess gift. Their May 19 meeting will be held at the New Greenery in Iola May 19. Each member is to bring a flowering plant for a gift exchange.

Around Town
 A baby shower was held for Westin and Elaine Holloway April 27 at the City Hall community room for their baby boy expected in June. Westin is the son of Garry and Kathy Holloway. If you did not know about the shower and would have liked to participate, do contact Westin, Elaine, Garry or Kathy. I am sorry I did not get this announced as my computer was in the shop for about two weeks and I missed reporting this item I had received during that time.

Leonard and Debbie Wools helped their daughter and son-in-law Allison and James Day move to their new house in Ozawkie from Topeka on Saturday. Sunday the Wools attended church in Topeka with Jennifer and Adam Brown and children.

Speaker to discuss dementia, aging Notice of USD 365 resolution

Anderson County Hospital Auxiliary invites community members from Garnett, Anderson County and surrounding communities to a presentation by Mike Willis, MS, LCP, Community Outreach Coordinator, Girard Medical Center – Senior Behavioral Health Program, who will be presenting on the topic of dementia, clarifying normal vs. abnormal cognitive functioning.

Willis

The presentation is scheduled for Wednesday, May 21, beginning at 7 p.m. in the Archer Room of the Garnett Public Library, 125 W. Fourth Ave. Refreshments will be served.

Dementia is an ever-increasing condition that affects not only the patient but their friends and families as well. Willis' insight and expertise will help those dealing with dementia currently and those who seek additional knowledge to be able to tell the difference between the disease and normal age-related memory loss issues.

Willis made this presentation at the Hospital Auxiliaries of Kansas State Convention held in Wichita in November 2013. His power point program was received with great interest and audience participation. His engaging speaking style makes his listeners feel at ease as he differentiates between normal age-related memory loss and dementia.

Willis' talk will take about one hour with another 30 minutes devoted to taking questions from those in the audience. He also has spoken on different senior-related topics at other auxiliary conferences.

Mike Willis attended Pittsburg State University and received a bachelor's of science degree in psychology and a master's degree in clinical psychology. He has worked in the mental health field for over 25 years, primarily as a therapist treating various psychiatric conditions in children, families and adults.

Except for three years treating inmates at Lansing Correctional Facility, Mike has practiced at several outpatient facilities in both the Kansas City and Southeast Kansas areas. For the past three years, he has served as the Community Outreach Coordinator for Girard Medical Center's Senior Behavioral Health Program in Girard.

His duties include performing clinical assessments with individuals age 55 and older; determining treatment needs; providing educational presentations to lay and professional communities, and marketing to potential referral entities.

Mike and his wife, Marlene, reside in Pittsburg where they serve on multiple boards aimed at improving the lives of children and their families. Their present joy comes in rooting their son and daughter on towards graduating from college and starting their own life adventures, hopefully including a grandchild or two.

Resolution No. 13-14-20

WHEREAS, the Board of Education of Unified School District No. 365, Anderson County, State of Kansas, is authorized by K.S.A. 72-8801, to make an annual tax levy at a mill rate not exceeding the statutorily-prescribed mill rate for a period of time as determined by the Board of Education upon the taxable tangible property in the district for the purpose specified in said law; and

WHEREAS, the Board of Education has determined to exercise the authority vested in it by said law;

NOW, THEREFORE,

RESOLUTION

Be It Resolved that:

The above-named school board shall be authorized to make a continuous and permanent annual tax levy in an amount not to exceed 8 mills upon the taxable tangible property in the school district for the purpose of acquisition, construction, reconstruction, repair, remodeling, additions to, furnishing, maintaining and equipping of school district property and equipment necessary for school district purposes, including (1) Acquisition of computer software; (2) acquisition of performance uniforms; (3) housing and boarding pupils enrolled in an area vocational school operated under the board; (4) architectural expenses; (5) acquisition of building sites; (6) undertaking and maintenance of asbestos control projects; (7) acquisition of school buses; and (8) acquisition of other fixed assets, and for the purpose of paying a portion of the principal and interest on bonds issued by cities under the authority of K.S.A. 12-1774, and amendments thereto, for the financing of redevelopment projects upon property located within the school district. The tax levy authorized by this resolution may be made, unless a petition in opposition to the same, signed by not less than 10% of the qualified electors of the school district, is filed with the county election officer of the home county of the school district within 40 calendar days after the last publication of this resolution. In the event a petition is filed, the county election officer shall submit the question of whether the tax levy shall be authorized to the electors in the school district at an election called for that purpose or at the next general election, as is specified by the Board of Education of the above school district.

CERTIFICATE

THIS IS TO CERTIFY that the above Resolution was duly adopted by the Board of Education of Unified School District No. 365, Anderson County, Kansas, on the 1st day of May, 2014.

Clerk of the above Board of Education

8th Grade girls cap season with League Championship

GARNETT – On Thursday, May 8, the junior high teams competed at their home track for the Pioneer League meet. The 8th grade girls' squad just put the icing on the cake in a dominating season-long performance by winning the league meet.

"This years' 8th grade girls finished the season as one of the most decorated teams in Anderson County history," head track coach Michael Sibley stated. "They finished the season winning every meet they competed in except for one," he said.

Not only did they accomplish a lot as a team, they also compiled some individual records along the way.

Audrie Goode broke the record in both the 100-meter run and 100-meter hurdles. Averi Wilson finished the season with records in both the 800-meter and 1600-meter runs. The 4x400 relay team also broke a school record. The relay team consists of Gabby Spring, Wilson, Emma Porter and Adri Pedrow.

The 7th grade girls finished the meet in 4th place with 44 points. Burlington won with an impressive 145 points.

The 7th grade boys also scored 44 points on the day, which was good for a 6th place finish. Wellsville won the 7th grade boys with 110 points.

As mentioned earlier, the 8th grade girls ran away with the league championship with 146 points. Burlington finished in second with just 107 points.

The 8th grade boys didn't fare quite so well as they finished with only 11 points, placing them in 6th place. Burlington finished with 132 points to give them the championship.

Combat veterans group forms

An organization for veterans of combat will meet for the first time at 7 p.m. Monday, June 9, at Trinity Lutheran Church, 430 N. Grant St., Garnett.

The first meeting will select a time and day for future meetings. The purpose of the group is to give support to those who are dealing with the effects of combat conditions.

It has been stated that combat veterans are the best people to help other combat veterans. Together, the group members will support each other because they understand what others have gone through in serving the country and returning to regular lives.

College Bound

THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW 05-13-2014 / Kevin Gaines

Central Heights High School senior Jordan Horstick signed a letter of intent to play basketball at Tabor College in Hillsboro last week in a ceremony at Central Heights. Horstick has over 1,000 career points for the Vikings. He's undecided on a major at this time. Above, Horstick is flanked by his father Tom at the left and mother Linda at the right, with Tabor coach Mike Ratzliff and CHHS basketball coach Rusty Cannady.

Bulldog Walter inks with OU

GARNETT - The timing couldn't have been any better as Spencer Walter signed to make the short trip north next season and continue playing golf in college at Ottawa. Not only did Walter just sign his letter of intent last Tuesday on May 6, but he was coming off one of his most impressive golf outings of his career. Walter shot a 65 just a day earlier and won the Ottawa Invitational. Walter is a three time state qualifier, finishing sixth as a freshman, a two-time Pioneer League Champ and will be looking to make it four straight years of playing at state. Ottawa head men's golf coach Wendell Smith said,

"He is one of the best area golfers and we have been working on keeping them local." "He is obviously a very talented golfer and is calm, cool and collected which works great on the golf course," Smith stated. "He has great composure and we look forward to having him join our team next year."

ACHS track teams compete at Burlington

Walter finishes first at Ottawa tourney

BY KEVIN GAINES THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW OTTAWA - The Anderson County boys' golf team traveled to Ottawa on Monday, May 5, to compete at the Ottawa High School Tournament. The weather was near perfect and so was the game of Spencer

Walter who won the tournament with a score of 65. Eric Pahls of Piper finished two strokes back with a score of 67. Other Bulldog golfers included Quentin Sams and Hunter Spencer who both shot 92, Zach Miller finished with a 93 and Bryce Feuerborn ended the day at 102. Sams and Spencer finished in a tie for 30th and Miller was right behind in 33rd place. Ottawa took advantage of knowing the course and finished first with a score of 296. Anderson County finished in 6th place overall out of 11 teams.

A Day on the Farm

THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW 05-13-2014 / Vickie Moss

Wettstein honored

Susan Wettstein of Garnett was one of 10 Kansans recognized recently at the Kansas Sampler Festival in Wamego. The 22nd annual We Kan! awards were presented May 3 at the Kansas Sampler Festival in Wamego to ten people who help preserve and sustain rural culture. The awards are given by the Kansas Sampler Foundation as appreciation for dedicated work in helping preserve and sustain rural culture. Wettstein was given the award for "Working for the good of Garnett." Foundation director Marci Penner said, "Each of these people has made an impact for the good of rural Kansas. It is our privilege to honor them." The awards plates are made annually by Steve and Jane Fry of Elk Falls Pottery.

Advertising: Life after Facebook

A lot of businesses, bands and non-profit organizations have been hustling the past several years to develop their "fan base" on Facebook just to find out in recent months the Zuckerberg crew has ratcheted down free FB posts to reach only 1-2% of your followers. What the...? Yes, the free sample of Facebook advertising has ended.

going to advertise, you MUST make a significant offer to generate response.

- 1) Stay with FB and pay the posting fee. Try it and see if it works. If it doesn't, it may be that it never really did. If it does, you should be able to justify your FB generated sales directly against the cost of the posting fees.
- 2) Convince your friends and fans that do get reached by your message to share the post. This kicks your post into another FB dimension and gets more audience, though you really have no control whether those who see it will be in your target market.
- 3) Start gathering email addresses again - remember, we all did this before FB and we probably should never have stopped. When you have an offer, shoot out an email that contains your FB page link. Fans, etc., can still see your page if they go directly to it (the FB limitations are so far only on "organic" posts that come through on their news feeds) so you can still generate FB traffic through email.
- 4) Don't forget conventional media options. Despite years of forecasts that newspapers and radio would dry up due to the Internet, local and national companies still spend billions on conventional advertising and for only one reason - it still has an audience - usually even a more affluent one than traditional free social media consumers. Determine if your customers are readers or listeners, and then go where they are. And keep your eyes and ears open for other alternatives. If this is as big an online marketing rift as some say it is, it won't be long until somebody comes up with another idea. Dane Hicks is president of Garnett Publishing, Inc., and publisher of The Anderson County Review. Comments or questions may be directed to him at review@garnett-ks.com or (785) 448-3121.

2004: Cows electrocuted

May 11, 2004

A freak malfunction on a city electrical pole resulted in the electrocution of two cows at a Garnett man's rented pasture. A series of electrical connections occurred on the pole, which ended up charging the dislodged ground wire running down its length with which the cattle eventually came into contact. The incident occurred at the corner of Catalpa and Park Road.

Tight budgets and packed classrooms at Anderson County High School mean students who fail certain classes this year will have to make up credits either through online classes or by going to summer school, if they make them up at all. Larger classes mean there simply isn't room to send those students who fail a course back to that class the following semester, taking up room that could be used by another student coming in for the first time. Data on class failure rates show a total of 64 out of 320 students at ACHS failed at least one class in the fall semester. All told, 97 classes were failed by the 64 students.

Six area residents were arrested on methamphetamine charges last week and five are expected to face immediate charges in connection with an alleged meth cooking operation near Kincaid.

policies established by the Garnett City Commission, Commissioners will interview five volunteers for the seat at a forum May 17. The vacancy, to be left by commissioner Dan Benjamin when he resigns effective next week, will leave the appointee with a two-year term to fulfill. Remaining commissioners Janice Hodgson and Mike Norman, who have steered the city along tracks of support for such issues as the Prairie Spirit Rail Trail and the city-sponsored construction of a physicians office facility for the Anderson County Hospital, want to get an idea of the candidate's opinions on those and other issues before making the appointment.

The City of Garnett is pressing ahead with plans to undertake the annexation of several properties on the edges of its border.

A program to teach children about substance abuse beginning in kindergarten was presented by a counselor from Lawrence and members of the Garnett Area Task force to the USD 365 board members at a meeting Monday night. The board also approved an increase in wages and fringe benefits for non-certified personnel and ratified the agreement with the North Anderson County Teachers Association.

Building repairs and the fate of kindergarten were the basic topics of discussion at the USD 479 school board meeting. The two most immediate problems to be dealt with concerned the needed repairs, including the repair of cracks in the brick of the Junior High School building. This not only included work on the exterior walls of the gym but also included repair of the junior high school chimney. Also, the kindergarten class next year will hover around 18 to 20 students. This presents a question as to whether or not the class should be split into two small half-day sessions. The teacher and superintendent prefer the split session.

The Greeley Post Office was robbed last night, the thief or thieves entering through a window. It is reported that about $15 in cash and a lot of postage stamps are missing. It is not known how many stamps were taken. Postmaster Ramsey had a rope placed in front of the pot office to keep people at a distance, and sent to Osawatimie for some bloodhounds. When the dogs arrived, they took the scent, following the thief or thieves and when last heard from, they were in Franklin County going north.

This old glue bottle was found about four years ago during excavation of the A.T. Holcomb store that once stood in Mont Ida.

Odd little bottle once held glue

I found this odd looking little bottle almost 4 years ago while conducting an excavation of the A.T. Holcomb store that once stood in Mont Ida. Like many of the artifacts I find, I put them away until one day I can conduct research of them and find out exactly what they are, etc. etc.

Does anyone have any ideas or knowledge about this little bottle? Well, I've found out it is a small Vintage "KWIKSTIK" glue bottle. These little glue bottles were very popular in 1915 and 1919.

Here are a few fact's about my bottle.

1. It weighs 3 ounces
2. It's dimensions are 3 inches tall and 1.5 inches wide

3. It once held 4 ounces of glue.

4. The brass metal top has a knob that depresses to allow the glue to come out.

5. The top is engraved KWIKSTIK patented Dec. and July 1919.

6. The bottom of this clear glass bottle is embossed KWIKSTIK PATENT.

7. The side brass projection tab is engraved. "Spread With This"

Another rather unique find in my adventurous world of amateur archaeology.

Garnett man inducted into honor society

MANHATTAN - Outstanding academic work has earned nearly 100 Kansas State University students initiation to Phi Kappa Phi, the nation's oldest and most selective collegiate honor society for all academic disciplines.

Carston Cooper, senior in entrepreneurship, Garnett, was among those initiated.

Membership is by invitation only to the top 10 percent of seniors and graduate students and 7.5 percent of juniors. Faculty, professional staff and alumni who have achieved scholarly distinction also qualify.

Prepare for the return

Weekly Devotional by David Bilderback

The Millennium is the thousand year period mentioned in connection with the description of Christ's return to reign with his saints over the earth. In the Book of Acts just prior to his ascension Jesus met with the twelve apostles and they ask him; "Lord, are you at this time going to restore the kingdom to Israel?" Jesus' answer to them was: "It is not for you to know the times or dates the Father has set by his own authority."

This statement by Jesus makes it clear that our interest should not be in when Jesus will return but how we should prepare for his return. Alistair Begg in his program "Truth for Life" points out three ways that our interest in the return of Jesus will be revealed.

First, our interest should be revealed in a deep and personal concern for holiness. The word holy comes from a root word that means, "to separate." The fact that we are bound by sin until through the power of the Holy Spirit our hearts are changed separates us from God. Holiness is God's gift that we receive by faith through his Son, Jesus Christ and is one of the essential elements of God's nature which in turn becomes an important part of our nature.

Second, our interest should be revealed in a genuine commitment to the praise and worship of God. We should spend time daily with God in prayer and when we attend worship we should come prayerfully expecting to meet God. If we praise and worship God he will reveal himself to us which will allow us to know God even though we cannot fully understand him.

Third, our interest should be revealed in a compassionate, convicting, clear commitment to the gospel. The Bible is the unique inspired word of God and provides guidelines for belief and behavior. Knowing scripture and obeying it are the two foundations of a godly life. Having our hearts changed by the Holy Spirit will lead us to the study of God's word. The only way we can truly commit ourselves to God is to commit ourselves to a study of the scriptures.

At the end of the thousand years there will be a new heaven and a new earth. Revelation 21:3-4 tells us, "Now the dwelling place of God is with men and he will live with them. They will be his people, and God himself will be with them and be their God. He will wipe away every tear from their eyes. There will be no more death or mourning or crying for the old order of things has passed away." What a comforting promise to prepare for.

SQUAIR FAIR 2014

Spectators check out planes on display at the Air Fair Saturday, May 10, at the Garnett Industrial Airport. Windy conditions forced some pilots to leave the event early, but several planes were on display for visitors.

Nathan Hedrick of Newton searches through metal letters to find the right one for some of the visitors at the Garnett BPW Square Fair Saturday, May 10, on the courthouse lawn in downtown Garnett.

Lana, left, and Aundria, were two of the Kansas City Bettys who visited the Air Fair. The Kansas City Bettys is a non-profit Christian volunteer group that performs for USO shows and "meet and greet" events.

Flowers from Keim's Greenhouse were a popular item for sale at the Square Fair, which traditionally is held the Saturday before Mother's Day, making it a prime shopping opportunity for Mom.

Kent Lash, Sam Fields and Ryan Fields check out one of the planes on display at the Air Fair.

Metal art was a popular item for sale at the Square Fair.

Janice Hodgson and Stacy Holloran check out one of the jewelry booths at the Square Fair.

Naomi Keim sells flowers to Kitty Mace, center, and Carla Mace at the Square Fair.

Don Sewell of Fredonia shows off pocket knives and other weapons to Zach and Allison Snedecor.

Hyatt Club celebrates 100th birthday with Historical Society

Hyatt Club members celebrated the founding of their quilting and social club with a 100th Birthday Party at the May 1st meeting of the Anderson County Historical Society. Dorothy Miller, assisted by other members, led an informative and humorous discussion of the origin of the club, memories of long time members, and how it has transformed to remain an active group today.

On July 21, 1914, a group of friends who lived near the Hyatt School gathered at the home of Julia Roberts and the Hyatt Quilting and Social Club was born. It was organized to complete work for the hostess of the day. Ladies began arriving early, shared lunch together, and continued to work throughout the afternoon. Meeting the first and last Wednesdays of each month, the goal was to complete quilting on one quilt, make comforters, and embroidery tea towels. Once they even washed windows, being willing to help out with any work needed. Throughout the sharing of work, supportive friendship was also a major function of the club. The founding theme, "Pieced with Friendship", referenced the construction of the quilts they produced.

Serving lunches at farm auctions throughout the area raised funds that allowed them to do service work. The club contributed to the Red Cross, served funeral dinners, and provided meals to the ill.

Dues were $.05 per meeting in 1914. Inflation has not had much of an impact, as dues are currently $1.00 per year.

Numerous pre-school age children came along and often provided excitement to the day. Some recalled 30 children at one meeting. Another day a couple of the children discovered the lunches of county road workers where the men had left them beside the road. The children helped themselves, which left the men without their lunches. All ended well, as the ladies invited the men to share their noon meal at the club meeting. Membership peaked in the 1950's at 29 members with the Benjamin family being highly represented. By 1980 membership had dropped to 9 members, prior to the recent revival of interest by new neighbors and descendants of early members. The transformed club meets once a month and no longer completes quilting for the hostess, but the 25 current members enjoy the "Pieced by Friendship" theme. Community service projects include sponsoring a walking team for the Healing for Health fund raiser for the Anderson County Hospital Foundation, donations to the local food pantry, and taking meals to the ill. Club members shared some of their traditions with the historical society members. Each meeting hostess provides a mystery gift, and the member who identifies the wrapped item gets the gift. Earl Lizer was the lucky winner of the throw pillow. Richard Doran had the lucky birthday cake plate and was given one of the club's cookbooks. Each person present then selected a packet of wildflower seeds as they left the meeting.

Prior to the program, President Kristie Kinney welcomed the 46 members and guests in attendance who enjoyed the bountiful carry-in meal. Following dinner, President Kristie chaired the business meeting.

V-Pres. Shirley Roeckers reported about a recent unusual gift to the museum. Colorado residents discovered a shipping trunk with Senator Arthur Capper's U. S. Senate and Topeka addresses. After researching his name and discovering his connection to Anderson County Kansas, they contacted the historical society and made arrangements to deliver the trunk to the museum. This unique item may now be viewed in the museum.

Kristie announced the opening of the museum for the summer season, Tuesday through Friday afternoons, 1:00 to 4:00 p.m. She asked for volunteers to help in the museum, especially first and third Tuesdays and Wednesdays. Volunteers may contact Kristie at City Hall. Our next meeting will be Thursday, June 5th, hosted by the Archer and Doran families at Willow Branch School. If you would enjoy a view into the day of a one room country school student, plan to join us.

Sam Heisted, left, prepares to take Hazel Andrews, right, for a spin around town in his 1928 Model A car that he restored. The trip was in honor of Andrews' 102nd birthday recently.

What college freshmen need NOW

There are plenty of generalizations floating around about the so-called Millennials, the generation that is in high school and college right now. They're driven. They're collaborative. They're special. They're sheltered. They live and breathe technology. They're distracted. They're focused on college, but not quite ready for it. Many of this year's incoming freshmen will arrive on campus with cars full of stuff and heads full of information, but lacking some of the basic skills necessary to succeed in college. This generation has been oriented toward college since the womb, and now they need guidance to help them adapt to their new situation.

Here are the five critical traits and skills college freshmen need to develop—as soon as possible:

1. Independence and initiative. According to conventional wisdom, this is the overscheduled, over-parented generation. They're used to the demands of school, sports, and extracurricular clubs, but they're also used to having someone else arrange the particulars. Habits are hard to break: Millennial parents have been spotted "discussing" their child's grades with professors. What parents, high school faculty, and college orientation educators should give students is the invaluable expectation of self-reliance.

Provide students with helpful resources and a thorough orientation at the beginning of their college career and they'll be much better equipped to take control of their lives. Students need to know where to go for advice and information, how to navigate the library and financial services offices, and how to build relationships with their peers and professors. When they take control of their everyday lives, students experience less anxiety and more success.

2. Time management skills. This is a critical skill that generations of students have had to master. What makes today's freshmen different is that they have even more distractions than previous groups did and they likely come from more structured high school experiences. Incoming freshmen will benefit from specific sessions focused on time management.

Upperclassmen who have mastered the art can take part in modeling how to balance classes and activities with a real social life and—oh, yeah!—sleep. The orientation should include tips on minimizing distractions and making study sessions efficient.

3. Writing skills. BRB one sec?!! OK, OK, so a college freshman will not necessarily slip into "text-speak" when she's writing a paper for Sociology, but professors have noticed a steady decline in basic writing skills. All students—including math and science majors—need to know how to write well in a variety of contexts. If a student hasn't mastered the basics before he gets to college, he should seek remediation before he unpacks his new mini-fridge. Colleges can help by providing entry-level composition classes, workshops and specialized sessions on writing, and a well-staffed and well-advertised writing center. Some schools, like Purdue University, have top-notch online writing resources—which can be particularly helpful if you haven't mastered the time management skills mentioned above and you're working on a paper at 3 a.m.

4. Research skills. Today's students are flooded with information but unfamiliar with "real" research. I don't mean card catalogs, but what those card catalogs represent: searching out good sources for a particular topic, focusing on depth rather than breadth of information, and crafting a cogent and original argument. Freshmen need training on the databases that will lead them to reliable sources. They need to learn how to determine if a source is reliable. And they need to learn to concentrate while reading longer texts and processing the information they get from those texts.

5. Knowing what's important. In the business world now the catchphrase that applies here is "key takeaways"—the important things one takes away from an article, book, lecture, or seminar. Because students have easy access to all sorts of factoids and related materials on the internet, they are familiar with sound bites but not as comfortable discerning what's important. They're used to the abstracts but not the full-length articles. They need to know how to craft their own abstracts, how to summarize, and how to determine which parts of a seventy-minute lecture to write down.

In some ways, incoming freshmen are more prepared than other generations for college. However, without these key traits and skills they could be overwhelmed with the transition from high school to college. A little focused skill-building early on will free them up for real learning.

Ethanol Fueling A New Generation

Ethanol has been used in vehicles in the United States for decades. With its increased demand and our country's growing need for less dependence on foreign oil, Ethanol is the fuel of the future.

Friendly to the environment, friendly to the farmer, ethanol is great for your vehicle, clean to the environment, and puts money back in the pockets of our local farmers.

We're proud to be on the forefront of new fuel technologies while decreasing America's dependence on foreign oil.

Congratulations to the Class of 2014

You can HEAR
the competition saying
again.

OK, when you hit the 37th straight year as America's best-selling truck, other brands just want it to stop. But we ain't lettin' up. Cuz as long as the toughest guys doin' the toughest jobs need torque, towing and efficiency to get stuff done ... we'll be the truck bringin' it.

Ford F-Series has been America's best-selling brand of truck 37 years straight. So, if you need to level dirt, concrete or timber ... count on the truck that levels the competition.
