Judge nominees narrowed to Anderson, Coffey attorneys

Gov. Brownback makes final decision between candidates for judge

BY DANE HICKS THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW

OTTAWA — The nomination committee tasked to forward names for a gubernatorial judge appointment in the 4th Judicial District on Friday nominated Anderson County Attorney Brandon Jones and Coffey County Attorney Doug Witteman for the governor's appointment.

According to state statute the governor has 30 days to make the selection.

Candidates for the appointment on Friday relayed their views on caseload growth, issues of prisoner medical costs for counties as well as their residency and conduct on the bench when they were interviewed by the nominating commission.

The process is the established system to fill the vacant position left in the district judicial staff by the retirement of Judge Tom Sachse. The 4th Judicial District includes Anderson, Franklin, Coffey and Osage counties. Witteman and Jones were the only applicants who live within the district, and guidelines for nomination dictate the commission can only nominate outside the district when sufficient applications aren't received from within. Guidelines also require the nomination of at least two and not more than three candidates. Two of the Fourth District applicants lived out of the district.

The nomination commission is a combination of lawyers and lay people and consists of Kansas Supreme Court Justice Eric Rosen as the nonvoting chair; James R. Campbell, Burlington; Sara E. Caylor, Ottawa; Craig E. Cole, Garnett; Thomas B. DeBaun, Osage City; Forrest A. Lowry, Ottawa; Eugene E. Highberger, Westphalia; Janet C. Walsh, Lyndon; and Timothy A. Sipe, Waverly.

Applicants for the post included Jones and Witteman, Paola municipal judge Sheila Schultz and Frederick Meier II, a solo practitioner from Emporia. Preference in the nomination

Colony preps for festival

Theme of faith follows Colony event through parade; many events planned

BY VICKIE MOSS

THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW

COLONY - Church pastors will take the lead for the Colony Day parade this year, in keeping with the theme, "Street of Hope, Built on Faith."

Grand marshals for the parade are three pastors who represent three Colony churches. They include Steve Bubna with the Colony Community Church, Mark McCoy with the Colony Christian Church, and Dorothy Welch with the Colony United Methodist Church.

The parade begins at 11 a.m. Saturday, Aug. 30, and is just one of several events scheduled as the City of Colony celebrates with its annual festival.

Some of the highlights of the Colony Day celebration include a fun run/walk, a photo contest, kids' games, volleyball tournament, homemade pie contest and pie eating contest, a pony pull, cake walk, a cookie jar contest, auction, auto show and talent show.

It's a full day of action that starts at 7 a.m. with registration for the Fun Run/Walk and the Colony Lions Club breakfast at the Community Room.

The kids' tractor pull begins at 9 a.m. and kicks off kids' games and races that begin at 9:30 a.m. After the parade, a co-ed volleyball tournament begins at 11:45 a.m. north of the new fire barn.

The pie eating contest convenes at noon, with kids' inflatable games and a pony pull also beginning at noon.

The pie auction will begin at 12:30 p.m., followed by the cake walk at 1 p.m. and the Mayor's Cookie Jar Contest and Judging at 2 p.m. The Cookie Jar awards and cookie jar auction and basket auction begin at 3 p.m.

The Anderson County Rural Fire Department will serve a supper sponsored by the GSSB Colony Branch at 5 p.m., the same time as the talent show.

Find out more about the annual event on page 4B of this publication.

Greeley Smokeoff brings barbecue festival Sept. 5-6

Barbecue contest also offers music, games

BY VICKIE MOSS THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW

GREELEY - Labor Day is just around the corner. For most people, the holiday signifies the end of summer. But for people in Greeley and surrounding areas, it means something else: It's time for the Smokeoff!

The 14th annual Greeley Smokeoff Barbecue competition is set for Sept. 5-6, bringing irresistible aromas and crowds of visitors to downtown Greeley. All proceeds from the event go to local charities.

This year's event will feature live music with performances both days of the event. The Silver Bullet band will perform from 9 p.m. Friday until 1 a.m. Saturday. The Charlie Horse Band will perform at 1 p.m. until 5 p.m. Saturday.

Concessions will be provided by St. Rose School. Kids' games for children ages 2 to 12 will start at 3 p.m.

But the highlight of the event, of course, is the barbecue. Teams from

County jobless rate still holds steady

Area counties report jobless numbers that are similar to June

BY VICKIE MOSS THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW

TOPEKA - About the same number of people were jobless in Anderson County in July as in June, but the rate has dropped somewhat over the past year.

Unemployment statistics released last week by the Kansas Department of Labor show that, statewide at least, unemployment rates have dropped to a low of 4.9 percent.

"Several signs demonstrate continuing strength in the Kansas economy. We continue to see private sector job growth and low unemployment with the number of Kansans working at one of the highest levels in state history," said Lana Gordon, Secretary of Labor.

But in the local area, unemployment rates are relatively steady. Area counties report figures similar to the previous month and even similar to the previous year.

Anderson County reported an unemployment rate of 6.2 percent, up slightly from June's rate of 6.1 and down slightly from a year ago, when it was 6.6 percent. That translates to 266 people without jobs in July out of a civilian labor force of 4,304.

Similar patterns were reported in other area counties. They include:

- Allen County, 5.8 in July; 5.4 in June; 6.3 in July 2013.
- Coffey County, 6.7 in July; 6.1 in June; 6.5 in July 2013.
- Franklin County, 6.9 in July; 7.3 in June; 6.9 in July 2013.
- Linn County, 7.6 in July; 7.5

in June; 7.8 in July 2013.

• Miami County, 5.5 in July; 5.7 in June; 5.6 in July 2013.

Statewide, Kansas gained 13,500 seasonally adjusted private sector jobs, an increase of 1.2 percent since last year, and 13,800 nonfarm jobs, a 1 percent increase. Since last month, Kansas gained 900 seasonally adjusted private sector jobs, a 0.1 percent increase. The state gained 2,100 seasonally adjusted total nonfarm jobs, a 0.2 percent increase since last month.

Not seasonally adjusted figures show Kansas gained 21,200 private sector jobs since last year, or 1.9 percent, and 22,300 nonfarm jobs, an increase of 1.6 percent. Since June, Kansas gained 4,000 private sector jobs, a 0.4 percent increase. The state lost 14,800 nonfarm jobs over the month, a 1.1 percent

ANDERSON COUNTY BOARD OF COMMISSIONER AUGUST 11

Chairman James K. Johnson called the meeting of the Anderson County Commission to order at 9:00 a.m. on August 11 at the County Commission Room. Attendance: James K. Johnson, Present; Eugene Highberger, Present; Jerry Howarter, Present. The pledge of allegiance was recited. Minutes of the previous meeting were approved as presented.

Fair

Jesse Rockers, Fair Board President, met with the commission. He reported the carnival left town with over $27,000 income. They had required a guarantee of $25,000 so the carnival was a success.

Commissioner Absence

Commissioner Highberger left the meeting with the county counselor for a conference call.

Register of Deeds

Sandy Baugher, Register of Deeds, met with the commission. She presented bids from two companies for a new copier in her office. Commissioner Howarter moved to approve the purchase of a Toshiba E-Studio 456 from Copy Products at a cost of $3239.00 out of the Deeds Tech Fund. Commissioner Johnson seconded. Approved 2-0.

Road and Bridge

Lester Welsh, Road Supervisor, met with the commission. He presented Hwy permit 14,0811:1 for RWD #5. Commission approved.

Commissioner Returns

Commissioner Highberger rejoined meeting at 9:45.

KAC Convention

Commissioner Highberger moved to appoint Jerry Howarter as the voting delegate and Gene Highberger as the alternate for the KAC convention in November. Commissioner Johnson seconded. Approved 3-0.

Resolution 2014,0811:1

Commissioner Highberger moved to approve Resolution 2014,0811:1 adopting the Region J Kansas Multi-Hazard, Multi-Jurisdictional Hazard Mitigation Plan. Commissioner Howarter seconded. Approved 3-0.

Sheriff

Sheriff Valentine met with the commission. He presented quotes for a new repeater system and new radios for the different departments across the county. Discussion was held on where the funds could come from. Fire, road, and sheriff all will eventually need to go to digital systems. The sheriff feels there is some wireless 911 money that could be used to purchase part of the proposal. He feels this needs to be implemented within the next year or two.

Health Insurance

Commissioner Highberger moved to approve the health proposal from CIGNA for the county health insurance with the stipulation that if Blue Cross Blue Shield comes in lower they would consider changing. Commissioner Howarter seconded. Approved 3-0.

Meeting adjourned at 11:45 a.m. due to no further business.

THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW
Published August 26, 2014

Wilbur M. Mace, Jr., known to most as "Joe", passed away in Tonopah, Nevada on July 25, 2014, at the age of 86.

Joe was born in Garnett, Kansas on Nov. 14, 1927, to Wilbur, Sr., and Effie Mace. He attended Garnett schools and graduated from Garnett High School in 1945.

As a young man Joe enjoyed making radio controlled aircraft and had his own radio and TV repair business, and worked in Garnett before adventuring to California for a short time.

He returned to Garnett where he met and married his sweetheart, Dorothy Hulett, in 1950.

Joe worked for various businesses and for the Kansas Highway Patrol.

Joe and Dorothy started their family and had 6 children together before his job with the FAA took the family to Guam in Dec. 1965 and where they lived for 8 years. In 1974, his job took him to Tonopah, Nevada and then to Big Pine, California in 1975.

After retiring with the FAA in 1981, he started his own electronics business in Bishop, CA, and then worked for the LA Dept of Water and Power, retiring again in 1985.

His love for flying as a young man never waned and he earned his pilot's license in his 70's. After buying a two seater airplane in Bishop, CA., he found a sweet little piece of land in Dyer, Nevada where he and Dorothy moved from Big Pine to Dyer, and where he helped maintain the Dyer Airfield.

He has also maintained a lifetime ham operators license.

Although Joe was unable to serve in the military, he always had a heart for those who did.

Joe and Dorothy raised 6 children together leaving a loving legacy through their four sons and two daughters, Rick, Marsha, Dennis, Mary, Kevin, and Bill, and their families.

He is survived by many relatives and numerous grandchildren.

He was preceded in death by his parents, Wilbur and Effie, his three sisters, Vivian, Rena and Maxine, his wife Dorothy, and their newborn daughter, Carol Joann.

The family would like to thank the Gunter's Funeral Home in Hawthorne, NV. Private family services are being held.

HINER

February 25, 1923-August 17, 2014

THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW
Published August 26, 2014

Eugene Harold Hiner, 91, of East Brady, Pa., passed away in his home Sunday, Aug. 17, 2014, after a long battle of cancer.

Eugene was born Feb. 25, 1923, in Garnett, Kan., son of the late Edward C. and Florence A. Hiner.

He resided in East Brady on his dairy farm, which he started in November of 1957. Farming was his dream. He hauled milk for Milk Marketing Incorporated for 35 years and was a member of Milk Marketing Association for many years.

He was a veteran in the Army and served in World War II, where he served in the Battle of the Bulge and Normandy beach. He was also a member of the American Legion.

Eugene traveled from Kansas as a pipeliner, through several states and settled in Pennsylvania, where he worked as a coalminer. He moved to Pittsburgh, where he painted bridges and then he started farming in East Brady.

He also drove school bus while working the farm and lived at home with his wife, Twila Jean Hogue-Hiner. They were married March 9, 1949.

Eugene was preceded in death by Wanda Darlene McCartney, his daughter, on Aug. 5, 1974, and Eugene Harold Hiner Jr., son, who died Feb. 10, 1979; grandson, Eugene Harold Hiner III, who died Jan. 13, 2000, and granddaughter, Krista Renee Hiner, who died Oct. 11, 2003; brothers, Lewis Chellous Hiner and Ralph Edward Hiner; and sisters, Effie Mary Gwen, Dorothy May Wilson and Vera Maxine Wilson.

Eugene is survived by his wife of 65 years, Twila Jean Hiner; sons, Ronald Hiner and Keith Hiner; daughters, Delores Taylor, Bonnie Springer, Twila Timblin, Tammy Heginbotham, Kelly Giron and Ivy Roudebush; 24 grandchildren; 35 great-grandchildren; three great-great-grandchildren; and several nieces and nephews.

Funeral services were Wednesday, Aug. 20, at the Snyder-crissman Funeral Home in Cowansville, Pa., with the Rev. Randall Forester officiating. Interment was in Oak Grove Cemetery.

is given to applicants residing in the district, which neither Meier nor Schultz do, although rules allow nominations to be made outside the district if adequate candidates from within do not apply.

Interviewers primarily stuck to specific areas of questioning for each candidate.

Highberger focused on each applicant's position on the possible release of prisoners who have expensive medical conditions from county jails. All four candidates favored furloughs for treatment with an eye toward county budgets, Meier and Schultz noting that public safety and the degree of violence of a prisoner's sentence would also weigh into their decision making. Witteman said it came down to pragmatism.

"The answer in Anderson County may be different than in Coffey County where the resources are greater," he said.

Garnett attorney Crag Cole questioned the candidates as to their projected demeanor on the bench after having no doubt appeared before some "mean" judges.

"Everybody's (lawyers) late some time," Cole said. "Some of us are late all the time. How would you handle that?"

Schultz said judge Sachse would be her standard for courtroom management and that she had always respected his demeanor. She said some lawyers might require a personal chat about their preparation or conduct but that they should not be dressed down in front of their client. Witteman said he was inspired by Judge Phil Fromme's patience in the courtroom and noted that "a judge has to be a manager."

Caylor queried candidates regarding the growth in population of the district, particularly Franklin County, and how to handle resulting increases in case load there. Witteman noted that the growth would require solid management, and said he had managed 90 workers when he was a supervisor during the construction of the Wolf Creek Nuclear plant in New Strawn.

The question led to issues of where the candidate might reside. Jones said he had an advantage in already living in Ottawa; Schultz said she most likely would move to Wellsville for more equidistance to her husband's job; Witteman, who lives in Leroy, said he would use the advantages of technology but would also consider moving to Ottawa.

Candidates varied on the backgrounds and reasoning for their interest in the position. Jones told interviewers it was his "dream job" even though he knew it required a degree of social isolation to avoid conflicts of interest. Witteman also noted the need to minimize any opportunities that might lead to the perception that a judge's decisions could be influenced outside of court.

decline, primarily due to seasonal declines in local government as teachers enjoyed their summer break.

The not seasonally adjusted unemployment rate was 5.4 percent, up from 5.1 percent in June and down from 6 percent last year.

"Part of the seasonal pattern the state goes through each summer is the decline in jobs in June, when the school year ends and in July when summer school finishes," said Tyler Tenbrink, Senior Labor Economist. "This explains the monthly change in not seasonally adjusted jobs. When educators return from their break, these jobs will return in the September estimates. Further, the 2013 to 2014 July comparison shows good growth in jobs."

A homage to AC

Weather like this makes me want to kiss Willis Carrier right on the lips. That would be kind of gross, since a) we're both dudes and b) he died in 1950, but it's with a sense of immense gratitude to the man that I pledge my affection. See, without Willis Carrier we might never have had air conditioning. And this past week I have really liked having air conditioning.

I don't pretend to understand how air conditioning really works or for that matter to understand some of the explanations I've found. I do know Carrier, a Cornell University-trained engineer, developed drawings for what was considered the first modern air conditioning system in 1902 at the age of 26. He patented the system in 1906.

Bless his heart. But I owe more than just my comfort, aroma and sweat-stainless summer clothing to Carrier. You see, I might not be here without him.

Yep. I'm an AC baby. You're familiar no doubt with the Baby Boom – hundreds of thousands of guys came home from WWII, got married and had babies? Well, actually their wives had babies... but you know what I mean.

I was born in March 1963. My folks got air conditioning in our old two-story house in humidity-thick Willow Springs, Mo., in June of 1962.

You do the math. So its with that reverence and with gloriously dry armpits that I sat in my living room Saturday strumming a guitar, sipping a beverage, and watching all the poor sucker species of ducks, birds, bugs – whatever- out the window suffering in the heat.

I don't know what your position on Evolution is, but I know this: Because Willis Carrier had an oversized brain and an opposable digit, I'm cool as a cucumber.

I'm not going to try to compete with any of you Depression Era folks on hard knock's stories. I've heard my aunt tell about my grandma hanging wet towels in the windows to catch the dust and try to cool the house during the summers of her youth. I remember the smell of my grandma's air condition-less house in the summer, and how they traded sides of the house with the sun during the day to try to stay in the shade.

I also remember the summer of 1980 when there were, like, a thousand days when the temperature never got below 97 degrees. We were putting up billboard signs all over southern Missouri that summer for a family friend who was running for Congress. It was toasty.

And I remember "black flag" days during my summers at Quantico, Va., when the southern coastal heat and humidity was enough to convince even the Marines of the embarrassment of having some kid keel over from heat stroke. And there were the last couple of summers in Kansas that wilted corn plants and baked the ground into powder.

I've seen hot. As Midwesterners, we all have no matter the era.

If you work outside in this heat, you have my admiration. But unless somebody comes in with a stick and chases me outside, I'm staying right where I am until the middle of September, finishing out my bronze bust of the fabulous creator of air conditioning.

To the man worried about swimming at the pool on Tuesdays, those were swimming lessons. There were three lifeguards in the pool. And just FYI, we know you were taking pictures of the kids too, so what were you doing there?

I want to congratulate Mr. Hicks. I enjoyed reading your article in today's paper. We need more openness in government and particularly in the prosecution and court system. We have enough political hacks covering up for their friends now.

That traffic light out there on Fourth Street hasn't worked right in the last five years, and you would think that should fall under the police department. But every time you call the chief of police his answer is, 'Well, I'll tell the city manager.' You know, we only have two stoplights in this town, can you imagine if we had eight or 10? And why can't these top dogs in these city departments with the fancy titles make any decisions on their own without the city manager pushing their buttons? Seems like bad management to me.

Hey, I'll tell you what, you could pay me twice whatever it is that the city manager makes and I still wouldn't take the job, because all you deal with is a bunch of lazy, ignorant uninformed, whiney idiots in this town. Twice the money, I'd still stay where I am. Thank you.

I appreciated the article in the paper titled 'Jones not judge worthy.' I remember signing, and it was published in the paper, a form that said I was in favor of the new hospital and so did hundreds of other people. No law had to compel us, we did it because it was the right thing to do. It is a shame that public officials have the power to make shady deals like this and make us forever wonder why. Thank you.

I read the City of Leavenworth was able to reduce their city property taxes by 40 percent after they increased their sales tax by 1 percent. This could be considered by city leaders and our citizens. I realize our biggest tax burden comes at the county level and hopefully they would give thought to actually reducing their expenditures. Their mill levy is out of sight. The bottom line is that property owners in Garnett are staggering with the present taxation.

Do I understand that the golf karts, 4-wheelers, etc., I see zipping down the city street are completely legal? It doesn't seem logical. They are competing for road space with a fully licensed vehicle requiring seat belts and a fully licensed driver. Please, somebody explain how this can be justified?

I'm not up on politics, but who pays the city manager's salary? Is it the taxpayers? If so, shouldn't that salary be public knowledge whatever it is? And who has decided not to publish the city meeting notes? Is that a city commission decision? Who does the city commissioners answer to? Is it the public? Then it looks like the public should know what goes on at the meetings. Do the citizens get a voice at the meetings? Do we have a democracy or a dictatorship. Does someone have these answers? Do the commissioners have an answer? I think the public should be informed.

Hmm. White officers shot an 18 year-old white man in Ottawa last night. Are there gangs of white people protesting in the streets of Ottawa and setting fire to gas stations and looting the Wal-Mart and bringing in instigators from all over the country and such? Hmm.

Free Rick Perry - The laughable indictment

It tells you much about the laughable indictment of Texas Gov. Rick Perry that it has made him a figure of bipartisan sympathy.

Perry was indicted for the offense of vetoing an appropriations bill. Not vetoing an appropriations bill in exchange for a bribe. Not vetoing an appropriations bill as a favor to a donor. Not vetoing an appropriations bill in excess of his lawful authority. But simply vetoing an appropriations bill.

That Perry could, in theory, face more than 100 years in prison stemming from this veto is so mind-bogglingly stupid that even Democrats and mainstream journalists have been taken aback.

The whole matter has its roots in the drunken-driving arrest last year of Travis County District Attorney Rosemary Lehmborg, a Democrat. Police pulled her over for driving erratically. Video of the stop shows Lehmborg failing all manner of roadside tests. By the time she's at the jail, she's a parody of an entitled public figure. Her behavior is so outrageous that she has to be restrained like Hannibal Lecter in "The Silence of the Lambs."

Her blood alcohol level was about three times the legal limit, and she ended up pleading guilty and serving jail time. Gov. Perry thought, not unreasonably, that because her office houses the state's Public Integrity Unit,

NATIONAL COMMENTARY

RICH LOWRY, King Features Syndicate

she should resign. Lehmborg disagreed. She exercised her power to stay in her position, and Perry exercised his power to veto funding for her Public Integrity Office as long as she did. You can disagree with one or both of them, but no one was committing a crime.

It was left to a special prosecutor of the very same Travis County District Attorney's Office to concoct one, and manage to get a grand jury to fall for it. The indictment -- running barely two pages long -- is as substantive as a fifth-grader's book report, and about as legally sophisticated.

The two counts against Perry are that he "misused government property" and engaged in the "coercion" of a public servant. This makes it sound like he used the $7.5 million of vetoed funds to buy a vacation house, and blackmailed Lehmborg into indicting people on his whim.

He, of course, did nothing of the kind. The indictment collapses under the slightest scrutiny. As legal blogger Eugene Volokh points out of the first count, Texas laws requires that the official be in possession of the misused funds. Perry never controlled the funds he vetoed. As for the second count, Volokh points to an appeals-court decision that held that "coercion of a lawful act by a threat of lawful action is protected free expression."

It's hard to believe that anyone thinks that these charges will stand up in court. But that's not the point. The indictment is an undisguised attempt to wound Perry, to create bad headlines, to distract him. On cue, Texas Democrats absurdly called on Perry to resign. The indictment itself is, in short, a naked abuse of power. The Travis County District Attorney's Office is infamous for this kind of thing.

Forget vetoing funding for this office. If there were any justice, it would be shuttered and razed to the ground.

Fight between Brownback, Davis about to turn

Some intensive shadowboxing may be about to break out in the so-far relatively bloodless fight between Republican Gov. Sam Brownback and Democrat Rep. Paul Davis, Lawrence, for governor.

The latest: Brownback asserts that Davis' sketchy call for freezing the state's multiyear income tax cut regimen—apparently to avoid budget deficits—is essentially raising taxes.

Earlier: It was Brownback who campaigned against letting the three-year penny sales tax increase expire on July 1, 2013, because he needed the money for education, and...to pay for an income tax cut bill that the Legislature wildly inflated above Brownback's proposal.

So, who increased taxes and who proposes to increase...err...not continue cutting... taxes?

Both of them. Is stopping a reduction in the state sales tax rate raising taxes? Is proposing to stop a future reduction in state income taxes raising taxes? You decide.

There is an interesting little twist with the income tax issue. In 2012, the Legislature did the massive income tax cuts that the state couldn't afford. So, the next year, lawmakers who wouldn't let the sales tax just fade away instituted a regimen of "haircuts" for income tax deductions.

Those deductions are available to Kansans who itemize their income taxes and those deductions were given a progressive "haircut." So, the interest on your mortgage that used to be a dollar-for-dollar write-off against taxable income was reduced by 24% last year, and will be cut by 40% this tax year, and into the future, under the still murky "Davis freeze."

STATE COMMENTARY

The governor-led effort to keep the sales tax alive back in 2013 didn't go entirely the governor's way. Remember: The state sales tax in 2009 was 5.3%; it was raised by a penny to 6.3% for what was written into statute to be just three years. (Oh, a dab of that penny, .4%—that's four cents for each taxable $10 in purchases—was earmarked for the highway department in perpetuity.)

The sales tax is now 6.15%, not the 6.3% Brownback wanted. Did Brownback raise sales taxes, or could we say he cut taxes by signing off on the sales tax continuation that was less than he wanted?

This little scrap over taxes, who raised them, and when...does have an interesting little side issue that the Brownback campaign cleverly noted.

While the tax-cut freeze that Davis is proposing hits everyone, the "haircut" provisions of current tax law are also frozen. This means that higher-income taxpayers who itemize won't see the value of their deductions shrink any further. Which means, ironically—but factually—that freezing tax cuts actually benefits the wealthier itemizers by not further reducing the value of those deductions.

Imagine that? Davis panders to the wealthy. Or, at least that's how the Brownback campaign has characterized it.

This little tax fight probably isn't the issue that will send most Kansans to the window ledge to agonize over whom to support for governor.

There are schools and social issues and economic development and probably even the proper department when you live in the same county as a Lesser Prairie Chicken to rend our garments over.

But, it's a start, and does anyone else think this little campaign to see who sleeps at the governor's mansion might turn out to be fun for those of us who sleep in our own beds?

Historical society visits Kincaid, Colony

The Anderson County Historical Society met in Kincaid on July 10th, hosted by Darlene Stewart. Following a carry-in dinner at the Baptist Church, Darlene shared historical information about the church. There was an Osage Valley Baptist long before Kincaid was organized a few miles to the north. After Kincaid was founded and began to grow, some Osage Valley members desired to organize a Baptist congregation there. The First Baptist Church of Kincaid was officially constituted on February 17, 1887. They held services in the first Kincaid School building until 1919, when the poor condition of the old meeting house led them to make plans for a new church. The congregation purchased lots for the new building in 1922 for $75.00. When the Osage Valley church closed its doors, that building was torn down and the Kincaid congregation used those materials to build their new church where it stands today. The original pulpit and altar bible from the Osage Valley church are still used in Kincaid's sanctuary. The bell tower was also moved to Kincaid. The newly constructed church was dedicated on September 13, 1925, and has served the community since. Darlene shared a church cookbook that includes a published church history. Many recipes from an early day cookbook were reprinted in the new edition, along with additional recipes from current members. The cookbooks are available for sale from Darlene.

On August 14 the historical society traveled to the new rebuilt Colony Country Diner for a dinner meeting. President Kristie Kinney reported that ACHS Board Director Ona Mae Hunt had resigned and the board had elected Richard Miller to complete her unexpired term through December 31, 2014.

Following the business meeting, Kristie introduced ACHS Past President Dorothy Lickteig who presented an informative and humorous program about Colony's early days. Dorothy has just completed the 3rd edition of her Colony histories, based on gleanings from the local newspapers.

The town of Colony was laid out in 1870 when a railroad came through the area. There was not a school at the time. To form a district 12 student scholars were required, and there not being 12 students a few children under 5 were sent to make up the required enrollment. $900 in bonds was approved by the residents and a one room frame building was built in 1876.

In 1899 John B. White organized a high school with a 3 year course. The first class of 2 students was graduated in 1903. In 1908 a 4 year program began, with 48 high school students. At the time it was the only school in Anderson County with a 4 year high school course of study.

Dorothy shared many humorous items from the newspapers.

In November 1908 residents were excited to get the national election results by telephone. In January 1909 Kansas ruled no more steel bridges could be built, now using concrete or stone.

In February 1909, the new Ford Touring car was advertised for $850.

In August 1909, Kansas ruled barber and bath shops must use formaldehyde to disinfect tubs at least every 3 months. No persons with sore throats or ringworm were permitted in the bath tubs. Combs and brushes must be cleaned with soap and water at least once a day.

In September 1909, 14 newborn chicks were found alive in a case of eggs shipped to Chicago by rail.

The same month Kansas ruled that common drinking cups must not be used in schools.

In June 1910, sodas were $.05 each at Roe's Drugstore.

In 1910 ladies wore rats and puffs in their hair, but organized an anti-rat day, leaving their rats at home.

In June 1911, the street committee moved the hitching posts from Broad Street to the side streets to keep the street clean and prevent run-aways in front of the stores. A citizen uprising demanded the hitching posts be put back, and they were.

September 25, 1911 President Taft passed through Colony on his way to Iola. The train stopped at the depot and he shook hands with about 500 citizens.

Dorothy shared a colorful biography of an early area resident, H. T. Hill, who arrived in Welda township on March 24, 1870. Wearing a long flowing beard, he was often mistaken for Santa Claus. He lived near the stage stop called Hungry Hollow, was unsuccessful at trading with the Indians, and courted on horseback.

Those interested in purchasing any of the 3 Colony history publications can contact Dorothy.

The next meeting will be Thursday, September 4, 2014 at the newly remodeled Greeley Café. Everyone interested in the history of Anderson County is invited to attend.

Crest official joins leadership team

Crest USD is proud to announce Superintendent of Schools, Chuck Mahon, has been selected to join a team of current and aspiring school district leaders from 22 Kansas School districts to participate in Greenbush District Leadership for the 2014-2015 School Year.

Hosted quarterly and over a two-day summer retreat in Eastern Kansas, Greenbush District Leadership utilizes district leaders, Kansas Association of School Boards, University leaders, education specialists, and partners in the private sector to provide meaningful, practical, day-long professional development activities for participants through the course of the school year.

In addition to a focus of professional networking and team building, each of the Greenbush District Leadership meetings will focus on one of the 6 ISLLC standards for leadership. Graduates of the program will have gained valuable, practical experience in each of the following areas:

- Developing a shared vision for district leadership
- Advocating for student and professional growth
- Operations and facility

management

- Collaborating with and mobilizing community resources

- Leading with integrity
- Managing the political and cultural aspects of district leadership

For additional information on this program please feel free to contact Chuck Mahon, Superintendent of Schools, or Bart Swartz, Director of Administrative Services at Greenbush.

to run it past you – I think I can save you some money on your homeowners insurance. Do you have a couple minutes to look into it?"

4) Qualify the contact: If the person you're dealing with can't actually buy from you, you're not going to make the sale. Just ask straight out – "Are you the person who makes the decision on construction materials, or do I need to be talking to someone else?"

5) See the future: Keep in mind a cold call isn't just a one-hit deal. My mom bought Hoover vacuum cleaners from the same guy for more than 30 years. A cold call can open great new relationships with customers that can expand your market share and customer base for years to come.

I've said before there's no shame, in fact there's huge capitalist honor, in being a salesman. You may still grimace at the idea of being a salesman, but if you're in business you probably want more business. You can get more business by cold calling.

Cold calling in sales has come a long way from the guy with the vacuum cleaner trying to get his foot in the door of your mom or your grandma's house years ago. What has not changed is the initiative and the effort you as the business person have to put out to develop a cold calling mentality.

If you don't do this already, you should devote a chunk of time every week, maybe even every day, to prospecting new business – and cold calling is always a part of that. If you're uncomfortable cold calling, learn and follow these steps.

- 1) Identify targets: Does your competitor have business you want? What's he have that you don't? Assess what you have to do to get that business and whether it's worth it. Also, who are you forgetting? Are there groups or organizations or larger or smaller businesses you can attract? Talk to a non-competitor in your same line of work through your trade association or your social contacts about new customers they're attracting and how.
- 2) Research your target: That's so much easier these days. Just go to your prospect's website and get familiar with him, or his Facebook page. This may give you even more ideas on offers you can make.
- 3) The best pitch: I think the best "pitch" is the most honest one: "I don't know if you're interested in this but I wanted

1994: Hospital begins merger talks

Aug. 24, 2004

It may come in the form of a city property tax increase, or as a voter-approved sales tax increase. Whatever it is, city leaders say it will have to happen in time for the 2005 budget, or else city residents will have to get used to doing without an estimated $300,000 in city programs and improvements. City commissioners are continuing to feel the pinch of low interest rates garnered on invested idle funds, and city manager Rick Doran said the recent approval of the city's $11.5 million 2005 budget was most likely the last city budget to do without a mill levy in the city's general fund. City leaders took about $300,000 from the city's cash reserves and the reserves will be depleted this year. Commissioners will have to take steps next year either to reduce spending or implement new taxes through a mill levy or through voter-approved sales tax.

Three of the four suspects charged in the torching of two historic schoolhouses in Anderson County as a cover for a downtown burglary attempt in November will be headed to boot camps of one form or another.

A Greeley couple has filed a foreclosure action against the company that formerly owned and operated Mow Mowz exotic dancing juice bar in Greeley, but no one seems to be able to find the company that owes the money.

The Tenth Circuit United States Court of Appeals ruled Aug. 8 that several cities in Kansas and Oklahoma, including Garnett, will not be reimbursed for legal fees paid to attorneys who represented them in a suit filed in 1987 against Williams Natural Gas Company. The cities had sued to force the gas company to open its pipelines to outside natural gas suppliers. WNGC as the only pipeline supplying the cities, and officials in those cities wanted to be able to receive bids on natural gas from other sources besides Williams.

Anderson County Hospital trustees have agreed to a change of plans involving due diligence process with two large health organizations that have shown an interest in merging with the county hospital. Due diligence is a process whereby financial experts from both Anderson County Hospital would study each others' financial records to determine whether a merger would be mutually beneficial. The board previously agreed to enter into due diligence discussions with both Health Midwest and Mid America Health First at the same time. However, board members were advised by Hospital Administrator Jim Johnson and Board Attorney Steve Doering that entering into the due diligence process with each group separately would be a better course of action. The board will start with Health Midwest.

More money for the Anderson County Sheriff's Department was the major issue of discussion when the county commissioners met Monday morning. A group from the Farm Bureau Association presented opinions to the commission that the county sheriff's department must always have adequate, reliable transportation at its disposal. They also stressed the need to maintain salary levels for law enforcement officers at a level commensurate with other counties or law enforcement agencies. The commissioners explained the sheriff's budget had already been given a 5 percent increase over last year's budget, from $89,139 for 1985 to $95,000.

Agreements have been reached by the City of Garnett on two of the major areas which remained on construction of the Garnett Reservoir. An agreement with Dennis Calahan for the property he owns which will be needed, or for which an easement is needed, which was agreed to by the city commission. Still to be worked out in writing is the maintenance of a fence to be shared equally by Calahan and the city. A contract was received from the Missouri Pacific railroad, giving permission for the access needed provided a protection berm is built as had been proposed.

Which of these two toy soldiers is worth more to collectors? Both are from World War I and are made of solid iron.

Toy soldiers popular in many eras

These iron toy soldiers are just two of the many toy soldiers I have found metal detecting over the years. Why did I pick these two? First of all they are both made of solid iron and secondly they are both World War I soldiers. Which one of the two do you believe is worth more to collectors? If you chose the little machine gunner, you are absolutely correct. There has even been a debate over the years if this soldier is an American or German soldier.

A toy soldier is a miniature figure that represents a real live soldier. This term

DIGGING UP THE PAST

Call (785) 448-6244 for local archeology information.

applies to depictions of uniformed military personnel from all eras. From the days of Knights to present day soldiers. Toy soldiers vary from simple play things to highly realistic and detailed models.

Many of the American Dimestore toy soldiers were produced in Germany, as early as 1730. Military figures have even been found in Ancient Egyptian tombs. Solid iron toy soldiers were very common in Germany during the 19th and very early 20th Centuries.

There is a substantial hobby devoted to collecting both old and new toy soldiers. The most popular historical periods for collecting are Napoleonic, Victorian, American Civil War, World War I and World War II.

The Anderson County Review

Compassion will last a lifetime

In the gospels of Matthew, Mark and Luke, Jesus refers several times to having compassion on individuals or groups of people.

In Matthew 15:32 Jesus was going along the sea of Galilee healing the lame, blind and crippled people as they were brought to him and he said to the disciples, "I have compassion for these people; they have already been with me three days and have nothing to eat. I do not want to send them away hungry or they may collapse on the way."

In Matthew 9:36, Jesus again as he was preaching the good news of the kingdom and healing every disease and sickness when he saw the crowds had compassion on them because they were "harassed and helpless like sheep without a shepherd."

In Luke 7:13 when Jesus saw the widow walking in the funeral procession for her dead son and "he had compassion for her."

So what is compassion? The dictionary defines it as deep sympathy or pity. In each of the above situations Jesus was able to look beyond the obvious problems and limitations these people had into their very heart and feel the pain they were feeling. The issue you and I deal with is getting past the individuals appearance, physical limitations, social stature and anything else that is different than you or I perceive it should be. Part of being compassionate is being able to allow people to open up to us which will help us understand their situation. Jesus was the master at allowing people to reveal themselves to him. Just think back to the Samaritan woman at the well.

Jesus refers to the crowd as being a sheep without a shepherd. We are told his heart went out to the widow who lost her son. Compassion is not something you can just develop or call up when needed. Someone once said, "It is doubtful God can use anyone greatly until he has hurt them deeply." Personally I believe the most compassionate people are the ones God has tried and tested. Many people are passionate but passion is an emotion and as such is subject to the circumstances present at any particular time. Passion being an emotion can never last and will fade. Compassion results in someone being able to do things that do not make sense to most people. To give of their time and resources and even to follow an invisible God. Passion is for the short term. Compassion will last a lifetime.

KDOT announces $1.2 billion in projects

Hundreds of projects that will improve Kansas roads and bridges, as well as create short- and long-term jobs, have been scheduled by the Kansas Department of Transportation for the next two years.

The projects will preserve, modernize and expand roads on both state and local road systems. The work list includes 464 highway projects, 194 bridge/interchange projects and 1,603 miles of improvements.

"This continues the steady flow of work - and the construction jobs created by that work - under the 10-year T-WORKS transportation program passed during the 2010 legislative session," said Transportation Secretary Mike King.

Secretary King is making the announcements today during visits to Liberal, Wichita and McPherson.

The estimated cost of the work, for which construction will be underway during the 2015 and 2016 fiscal years, is $1.2 billion. About 65 percent of the projects are considered preservation work, which will protect the investment Kansans have already made in the state's public road system.

"The construction work will create jobs for hundreds of workers, who will spend their paychecks in communities all over the state, spreading the benefits far beyond the construction industry," said Secretary King.

"But the better news is the long-term job prospects these improvements will help make possible."

To view the entire list of projects, visit the KDOT website at www.ksdot.org.

Projects in Anderson County include:

- Bridge Replacement on US-59: 3 miles north of the north junction US-59/K-31; cost estimate: $6,165,000; miles: 0.00; bids let: 03/13/2015
- Light Preservation on K-31 from the West County Line to Junction US-59/K-31; cost estimate: $1,965,000; miles: 20.68; bids let: 11/19/2014
- Local Construction at several locations throughout Garnett; cost estimate: $104,600; miles: 0.00; bids let: 10/15/2014.
