Training Day: Rope Rescue

THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW 11-4-2014 / Vickie Moss

Area fire departments, including those from Anderson and Franklin counties, took part in a high-angle rescue training operation off the 125 foot Greeley water tower. The training was part of a ropes rescue training program that will work in tandem with a recent grain engulfment program. Crews from Anderson, Franklin and Coffey counties are part of the program. Much of the equipment for the program was donated by Beachner Grain. At right, Richmond Fire Department firefighter Brandon Bretsnyder comforts "victim" Bill Sommer of the Greeley Fire Department as they are lowered from the tower.

State, national races make headlines, but county counts, too

BY VICKIE MOSS THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW

As voters head to the polls today, there's only one county-level race to decide and one question on the ballot for Kincaid voters. But it's the state and national races that have garnered the most attention and are more likely to draw voters to polling booths.

Locally, Anderson County Commission District 1 voters will decide whether to keep incumbent Jim Johnson in the position or replace him with Independent challenger Les McGhee. The district covers roughly the southeast third of the county and includes voters in Greeley, Kincaid, Lone Elm, Welda and Colony.

Voters in Rich Township, which includes Kincaid, also will decide whether or not to support the Kincaid Community Library with a tax levy. The library already has been established by volunteers at the Kincaid High School Community Center, but organizers want to make it a legitimate library recognized by the state. To do so, voters will have to approve a small tax levy — about $3 per year per property owner — and give the township board the authority to appoint a library board.

With so few local races, most

POW/MIA advocate to speak on Veterans Day

GARNETT — A Vietnam veteran who recently spoke at a local POW/MIA ceremony will be the featured speaker at the Veterans Day program at Anderson County High School Tuesday, Nov. 11. The program begins at 10:30 a.m. with a special Veterans Day ceremony at 11 a.m.

Organizers want to expand car race revival event to fill entire weekend

Success of revival sparks interest in bigger, better event

BY VICKIE MOSS THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW

GARNETT — After the success of the one-day Lake Garnett Grand Prix Revival last month, organizers hope to expand next year's event to fill a weekend.

C.B. Harris, one of the event organizers, met with Garnett city commissioners Tuesday, Oct. 28, to ask permission to take over the lake for two days next year, rather than just one day for the recent event. He said participants enjoyed the revival, which celebrates the lake's historic sports car races from the 1960s and 70s, but the event felt rushed with so many vehicles and activities in just one day.

A total of 167 cars visited the lake Oct. 11 for the revival event. Many of them came as part of at least seven car clubs throughout the region, particularly those that celebrate sports cars and foreign cars. More than 700 people took part in the event, Harris said, including participants and spectators. Participants were given the opportunity to drive laps around the lake, following the same route taken during the historic sports car races.

The event also gave people a glimpse into what it might have been like to be part of the races. Garnett mayor Preston Peine said the races were over before he was born, but he always was aware of the impact they had on the community.

"The races at Lake Garnett defined Garnett long after they ended," he said. "I think it is vital to our success and the branding of our community, to get people to see the quality of life here ... and our wonderful parks as well as our history."

Harris said the event received good response across the country and world. A website dedicated to the event brought in more than 325,000 hits. During the event, all hotel rooms in Garnett were full, although some of that was attributed to other events. By expanding the event to two days, it could increase the economic benefit to the community, Harris said.

He was considering using it for the community building so it could be used in the future in case of a power outage. voters in Anderson County instead will focus on state and national races.

The race between incumbent Republican governor Sam Brownback and Democratic challenger Paul Davis is one of the most hotly contested races on the ballot. The contest has received national media attention and debate over whether Brownback's economic policy has hurt or helped the state.

Also receiving national attention is the Senate contest between longtime incumbent Pat Roberts and Independent Greg Orman. Roberts, still stinging from a difficult primary and accusations that he doesn't really live in the state, and his supporters argue that the race is more about taking control of the Senate, and he would give Republicans a better chance at that. Orman, who has supported both Republicans and Democrats, hasn't definitively said which side he would caucus with if elected.

Area voters also will decide another federal contest, for U.S. House of Representatives in District 2. Incumbent Republican Lynn Jenkins is facing Democrat Margie Wakefield and Libertarian Chris Clemmons.

Other state races have generated a great deal of interest, including a contest between Secretary of State Kris Kobach, a Republican, and his Democratic challenger, Jean Kurtis Schodorf. Attorney General Derek Schmidt, a Republican, will try to fend off a challenge from Democrat A.J. Kotich. State Treasurer Ron Estes, a Republican, is facing Democratic challenger Carmen Alldritt. The Commissioner of Insurance contest has no incumbent; Republican Ken Selzer and Democrat Dennis Anderson are vying for the seat.

In the race for State Representative District 5, which includes most of the county, incumbent Kevin Jones, a Republican from Wellsville, is trying to fend off a challenge from Garnett Democrat Cleon Rickel.

State Representative District 4 includes a small part of the southeast portion of the county. Incumbent Marty Read, a Republican from Mound City, is facing Democratic challenger Lucas B. Cosens, of Fort Scott.

have significantly increased in recent years. The penalties for illegally killed trophy deer can reach more than $20,000, he said.

"What has changed is the valuation of the deer," DeHoux said. "They looked at what the outfitters charge for someone to come here and hunt. In Kansas, an outfitter could charge between $2,000 to $5,000 per hunt."

In 2012, Kansas approved a new formula to apply to illegally killed trophy deer. Killing and taking a trophy big game animal - an antlered whitetail deer with an inside spread of at least 16 inches - brings an automatic fine of $5,000. In addition to that automatic fine, the defendant must pay restitution to the state for the value of the deer. That value is calculated by the size of the deer (its gross score) minus 100, then squared and multiplied by $2. For example, a deer with a score of 150 would be a $5,000 fine (150-100 = 50; squared = 2,500; times $2 = $5,000).

Under the new formula, the penalty for a trophy deer is a total of $10,000, plus any other tickets and violations. DeHoux said someone convicted of illegal hunting typically faces multiple associated charges. For example, shooting a deer without a legal tag is a minimum $500 fine, with about $100 in court costs. "Spotlighting," or use of artificial light, is another $500 ticket. If done from a motor vehicle, it's another $500. Taking a deer out of season is another $500. Use of an illegal weapon? That's another $500.

Every fall, around the time when law-abiding hunters are gearing up for the state-approved hunting season, law enforcement will catch a handful of illegal hunters, DeHoux said. Occasionally, someone will have the wrong tag or make an honest mistake, DeHoux said. But for those who intentionally poach deer, he wants to remind them of the stiff penalties that await. Good hunting practices are intended to keep people safe and maintain sufficient deer populations, he said.

"It's important that our resources don't get depleted by people taking more than their fair share," he said.

If you see illegal hunting activity taking place, call the Anderson County Sheriff's Department at (785) 448-6823. If you know of past illegal hunting activities, call Kansas Operation Game Thief at 1-877-426-3843.

He also said he hoped the event could center around other community activities, as it was this year. Because the revival fell on the second Saturday of the month, it coincided with an ongoing "Second Saturdays" business promotional event and an art tour. But because the revival event was so busy, participants didn't have extra time to explore the community, Harris said. By expanding the event to cover both Saturday and Sunday, participants will have more opportunity to shop and explore Garnett, he said.

Commissioners said they were in favor of the expanded event, but didn't set aside any particular dates for it. They told Harris to contact them later in the planning process.

The positives in negative advertising

By the time most of you read this the 2014 elections will be all over but the shouting. Then the classic and traditional debate will begin again the way it does after every election of the last few decades: In the vein of negative campaign ads, was there too much shouting?

I'm here to tell you that as expensive as it is and as fuzzy as the outcomes are, we still need all the shouting we can get.

The debate about whether negative campaign ads really work – in other words do they sway voters to or from a candidate or issue – is still a subject of much conflict among all the surveys and academic studies that continuously orbit the subject. No matter who wins or loses, much of the effort the political theorists will expend post-election will be to determine whether or not “mud-slinging” campaign ads really worked, and why or why not.

There's a commonly held idea among election campaigners and the public that negative advertising indeed does work, but actual research doesn't necessarily bear that out. As the airwaves become “back-loaded” (most negative ads are dumped in the last 10 days of an election to try to get the most voter impact, as opposed to being “front loaded” at the beginning of campaigns) with negative ads we start to hear the familiar refrain from friends and acquaintances that “I'm just getting sick of listening to them” or “I'm ready for the election to be over.”

Whether or not negative ads work seems to depend on your own political standing. A study published in the American Journal of Political Science in 2011 said people with a strong degree of political activism or party affiliation tend to be more tolerant of negative campaign ads, as do men, generally, as opposed to women.

Regardless of the impact or the taste it leaves in the mouths of voters, the fact is so-called “negative” campaigning is vitally important. It's a key means of becoming educated about political candidates and in determining whether or not their actions and values line up enough with yours that you want to vote for him/her. Unless you're part of a niche interest group that follows individual candidates' voting records or unless you actually care enough about government to do your own research, you're probably not going to know much about the candidates come election day.

REVIEW COMMENTARY

My theory is that people get turned off of politics not because it's nasty but because it requires work to get informed and to stay informed. It requires us to make firm decisions about what we believe and which party or candidate is most likely to pursue our principles. It requires us to stand up and be counted, to argue occasionally with a friend or relative or Facebook friend – in essence, to become educated and confirmed in what we believe and to have the backbone to stand up for it.

That's too much to ask from most Americans nowadays. Many of us don't want the unpleasantness of really having an opinion –we're too busy commenting on the meal one of our friends posted on Facebook to help govern our state or our country. Viewership of television news – in fact viewership of television in general – is plummeting. Newspapers? Nobody but your grandparents read newspapers anymore. If you're under 30, chances are you get your primary political education from Bill Maher or The Colbert Report or some smart-alec quip by David Letterman or Jimmy Fallon.

The onslaught of negative ads may be off-putting, but it may also be the only way the mile wide, inch deep majority of American voters get informed.

To the football players attending the FFA convention, understand: Win or lose, football is a team sport, and I hope you never find yourself sitting in a foxhole next to someone with your convictions.

What good did putting sidewalks along Fifth and Sixth Street have to do with getting the people in wheel chairs out to the Family Care Center. They've still got barriers there, so it was just a waste of time and money as far as I can see.

I really appreciated the letter last week in the Phone Forum about the gentleman who got acquainted with his wife. This week it's all griping again.

There is a young woman, skilled in deception, who is obtaining large amounts of money to feed her young children. Beware, this woman is in a con game and has literally stolen thousands of dollars in money locally.

Well, Tuesday Nov. 4, election day in Kansas. Ho hum. We voters will go to the polls and send the same group of do-nothing career politicians back to Washington. Maybe its time, just maybe, we consider term limits for Congressmen and Senators.

After reading the paper you get the feeling that our city commissioners who are elected by the people, supposed to represent the people, will stand up against the county commissioners who are also elected by the people. But when it comes to facing the city manager, they have no backbone. They seem to think they are city employees and are afraid of getting fired unless they are a “yes” man. I just happened to notice that from reading the articles in the paper.

Nothing tests the character of a football team and a town like a losing season. Hopefully, after this year with this coach and his first year, we have weeded out the non-players and those who would rather go other places and do other things on game night. Now maybe we can get the players who really want to make a football team. Thanks to those players, parents and fans who stuck it out with us. Thank you.

Who voted to have the Jayhawk on the Welcome To Garnett sign? I'll bet there are just as many or more Garnett folks who are fans of other state colleges in Kansas. I'm willing to bet that if you donated it to the City of Lawrence they would not put it on their “Welcome To” sign. Let's take it down and hire one of our local talented artists to create a Bulldog to put in its place. And for the record, I am not against the Jayhawks, I just feel that they do not “represent” our town in any way. Every small town in America is proud of their hometown teams, so let's be Bulldog Proud.

Voter ID: The poll tax that wasn't

When the Supreme Court rejected a petition to stop a Texas voter-ID law from going into effect for the midterms, the left commenced its wailing and gnashing of teeth.

In her dissent, Justice Ruth Bader Ginsburg called the law “purposely discriminatory,” and everyone piled in behind her with denunciations of the Lone Star State's blatant racism.

For the left, voter ID is tantamount to a poll tax. If so, the nation is awash in neo-segregationist election rules. According to a recent Government Accountability Office report on voter-ID laws, 33 states now have them.

A valid ID is a necessity of modern life, and requiring one to vote hardly seems an undue imposition. Especially if you are willing to give one out gratis. Of the 17 states that have strict requirements for a photo or government-issued ID, the GAO notes, 16 provide a free ID to eligible voters.

The critics complain that people may not have the relevant underlying documents to get the free ID, and there is a cost to obtaining them.

Well, yes. In Indiana, for instance, it costs $10 to obtain a birth certificate. In Arkansas, it costs $12. In North Dakota, $7.

The GAO report focuses on the voter-ID states of Kansas and Tennessee, where voters

NATIONAL COMMENTARY

whose eligibility to vote is in doubt may vote provisionally. Then they have a period after the election to establish their eligibility. How many voters are showing up to vote, only to be foiled by the ID requirement?

According to the GAO, in Kansas in 2012, 1,115,281 ballots were cast. There were 38,865 provisional ballots, and of these, 838 were cast for voter-ID reasons.

In Tennessee, 2,480,182 ballots were cast. There were 7,089 provisional ballots, and of these, 673 were cast for voter-ID reasons.

In both states, about 30 percent of these voter-ID-related provisional ballots were ultimately accepted. That means in Kansas and Tennessee, altogether about 1,000 ballots were not counted (and perhaps many of them for good reason) out of roughly 3.5 million cast. There you have it, ladies and gentlemen, voter suppression!

Where you come down on this issue depends on whether you think it's reasonable to require the minimal effort to establish your identity when voting.

The critics say that in-person voter fraud is extremely rare, although that is not an argument for leaving the system completely open to it. Is voting so important that it shouldn't be tethered to an ID requirement? It takes an ID to buy a gun, a constitutional right. It takes an ID to get a marriage license or check into a hotel.

Voting is inevitably going to entail, even in the most latitudinarian system, some effort. You have to, at least most of the time, go to the polling place. You have to fill out the ballot correctly. You might have to deposit it in a box. Not all people will go to the trouble to do this, or to do it properly, which doesn't mean they are disenfranchised.

The irony is that unhinged complaints about voter ID are, in this supposedly troubling new era of the poll tax, a turnout tool.

Rich Lowry is editor of the National Review.

Will 'non-voter' voters change election outcome?

Best guesses so far are that those 25,360 Kansans whose voter registration applications are in “suspense” aren't going to yield much in the way of post-Election Day results changes for any candidates.

Which means that the election's results from Tuesday are probably just how it's going to be, and waiting for the final county canvassing board certified vote totals from next week—either Monday or Wednesday, depending on the county election officials' choice—is unlikely to change anything.

Oh, those “suspense” voters whom we've been hearing about for months under the new voter registration law will probably get a ballot, the fun of filling it out and one of those “I Voted” lapel stickers—but the vast majority of them will have just disappeared from the election.

Voters had until midnight before election day to square up their registrations—generally change of address or such—and if they didn't get that done, well, their ballot will be put in an envelope, not counted on Tuesday after the polls closed and in a few cases might be able to provide the information necessary to see that envelope opened and the votes counted.

Will those non-voter voters change any elections? That's the real question, and there are thousands of them in some counties, and apparently just one in Greeley County.

But they won't be among the numbers we see in the election night vote totals that some of us will stay up to see—and then we'll probably arrive at the office Wednesday a little groggy.

STATE COMMENTARY

Because we'll never see whom those “suspense” voters voted for, we're not going to know whether the Secretary of State Kris Kobach-pushed new voter registration law changed results of any races.

Surprising? It made a pretty catchy campaign issue in the race for secretary of state, but for those “little guys” down the ballot, the House races and county officer races where races are sometimes decided by 100 votes or so, well, chances are that the county determinations of which of those “suspense” ballot envelopes get opened and counted are unlikely to make a difference.

There go those high-excitement and little-attended county election board meetings, where in a close race candidates for office—where a couple dozen votes might make a difference on who comes to Topeka—will be looking at boxes of might-be votes but are unlikely to see many of those ballots actually counted.

The Kansans who got a ballot Tuesday—nearly everyone does—probably aren't going to know whether their vote will count, and depending on who was in line to vote nearby, may or may not bother to provide the information to make their ballot count.

The election law change that is designed to prevent foreigners from messing with Kansas elections probably isn't going to catch a lot of illegal voting attempts, but it may make the number of votes which actually have to be counted on either Election Day or by county canvassing boards a little smaller than some would like. But, chances are that Tuesday's vote totals will be very close in virtually every district, and that opens up the possibility that you might be able to cosign for whoever appears to have won on Tuesday...

And, whether your vote counts or not, at least the TV campaign ads will be over, so we'll get to see what the new Fords look like this year...

Crest Basketball

Good words from Travis Hermreck, Crest Middle and Elementary Principal and high school basketball coach: "Some people seem "destined for greatness" and others aren't. Too often we allow small setbacks to define and defeat us. While we all can't be the five-time NBA Most Valuable Player, we all can achieve our own levels of greatness through faith, determination, hard work, and perseverance. In the education profession one of our rewards is being able to witness students grow and develop traits like work ethic, overachievement, perseverance and resiliency. There are many great "gifts" we can pass down to our youth, with these being a large part of that list.

As the landscape of public education in our state presents challenges to small school districts, we are given the opportunity to model these traits in addition to teaching them. Our school and our communities were founded on these principles, and will continue to lead us into the future. In the immortal words of Jackie Andress, "Perseverance is failing nineteen times and succeeding the twentieth".

Kansas online insurance exchange enrollment opens Nov. 15; be ready

Kansans who want to compare health and dental plans and then purchase them through the Affordable Care Act's online marketplace can do so starting on Sunday, Nov. 15, the beginning of the second online open enrollment.

Those who purchased online marketplace health insurance last year are now receiving notices from HealthCare.gov or their insurance companies. The information discusses possible changes in existing health coverage, renewing that coverage, or enrolling in new health insurance coverage for 2015.

These notices also provide information about what to do if you used a tax credit to help pay for your insurance last year and want to do that again for 2015.

There are four key dates concerning this marketplace open enrollment:

Nov. 15 – Open enrollment begins. If you don't have coverage you can apply for new coverage that will begin as early as January 1, 2015. If you'd like to make a change, you can shop for and enroll in new coverage. Or you may be able to keep your existing marketplace plan.

Dec. 15 – Enroll by this date if you want your coverage to begin on January 1, 2015. If your health plan is changing or you want to enroll in a different plan, enroll by this date to avoid a lapse in coverage.

Dec. 31 – Coverage ends for plans purchased for 2014. Also, if you purchased coverage for 2014 and have decided to purchase a new plan for 2015, make sure you notify your insurance company that you are making a change so you aren't accidentally enrolled in two different plans for 2015.

Feb. 15, 2015 – Open enrollment ends. This is the last day you can apply for 2015 coverage to begin March 1 unless you qualify for a special enrollment period.

Kansans who want to get a jump on information concerning the online enrollment process before Nov. 15 can do so by going online to InsureKS.org, the Kansas Insurance Department's informational site for ACA information.

The Department's website also has tools to help you find health insurance agents, navigators, or certified application counselors in your area to help you with enrollment, to learn about planned navigator events, and to estimate your tax credit. You can also get information on the federally-operated exchange in our state by going to HealthCare.gov.

We strongly encourage Kansans who want to purchase health insurance for 2015 and would like some assistance with getting enrolled to contact the health insurance agents, navigators, and certified application counselors working in their communities who are trained to help you get enrolled.

These in-person assisters can help you understand the different health insurance plans that are available in your area, the costs of the plans, what they cover, which doctors and hospitals are in the network, the prescription drugs they cover, and whether or not you may qualify for financial assistance to help pay for insurance.

Financial assistance is only available for plans purchased through HealthCare.gov.

Under the Affordable Care Act, all citizens, with some exceptions, must have health insurance or pay a tax penalty. The penalty for 2015 is $325 per adult (up to $975 for a family) or 2.0% of taxable income above your filing limit, whichever is greater.

For 2015, large employers with 100 or more employees must provide coverage for their employees that is affordable and adequate. Employers with more than 50 but fewer than 100 employees will need to provide coverage for their employees beginning in 2016. IRS rules define who must be counted.

Small employers, those with fewer than 50 employees, are not required to provide insurance for their employees. However, if they choose to provide coverage, they may qualify for a tax credit for coverage purchased through the federal marketplace.

Regardless of whether you are buying coverage for the first time, looking to make a change, or renewing the coverage you had last year, go shopping on HealthCare.gov or work directly with one of our Kansas insurance companies or Kansas agents to make sure you are getting the best coverage for you and your family.

Supermarket shenanigans manipulate you into spending more

Why do you think your mom made a grocery list and stuck to it?

From the time you enter a supermarket parking lot until you reach the checkout counter, every part of a supermarket is designed to make you spend more money than you need to.

Look at your own shopping habits. How often do you dash to the store for milk and walk out with a box of donuts (they'll taste so good for breakfast), a big bag of chips and salsa (for fun), ice cream (it was on sale), a fresh baguette (it smelled so good) and an entertainment magazine - what has The Donald done with his hair now?

In case you hadn't noticed, you can buy happiness at your local supermarket. Prep yourself before you pull into the parking lot. Make a list before you leave home. Stick to it.

INSIGHT

by John Schlageck
Kansas Farm Bureau

Warm colors attract shoppers to a supermarket. Cool colors create a pleasing environment once inside and encourage shoppers to linger longer and that means higher sales.

The first thing most of us do when we walk through the doors is reach for a shopping cart. You may not know, this 1938 invention was designed to let customers make larger purchases more easily. Heck, it's got wheels and plenty of room.

Most supermarkets put high-margin departments like floral and fresh-baked goods near the front door. They're located on your right and most people shop from right to left - just like driving your car. That way you'll run into such items when your cart is empty and you're still in good spirits.

Another reason to start with flowers and baked goods is the smell. You can't help but follow your nose as you begin salivating and increase your speed toward the apple fritters. In less than two minutes time you've purchased a dozen tasty treats. Yum.

It's almost unfair and you're well on your way to impulse buying - grocery list be damned. These siren departments make sure you're in a good mood and make you more willing to spend.

Where's the milk? You know what you came here to buy in the first place?

Supermarkets stock dairy products and other essentials on the back wall so you must fight your way through, aisles of chips, candy, cookies and other snack food - the entire store - to find them.

Once many customers buy their first item, shopping becomes a quest. They walk up and down every aisle without deviating.

Supermarkets stack items they most want you to buy at eye level. For example, in the cereal aisle bulk items are placed at the bottom. Healthy cereal is stocked at the top while expensive, brand-name cereal is situated at eye level usually at the end of aisles.

Sweet, highly advertised kid's cereal is placed a bit lower so youngsters can look these items straight in the eyes while begging parents to buy them.

Sample stations slow you down while exposing you to new products. If you're shopping while you're hungry, chances are good you may grab a couple of these new products to snack on while you head home after shopping.

Store size matters. People tend to spend less time shopping in crowded stores. They purchase fewer items, do less impulse buying, don't visit as much and oftentimes are anxious to get out the door.

Music impacts supermarket shopping too. Consumer studies show slow music allows people to take their time and spend more money. Loud music moves shoppers through the store quickly without affecting sales. And believe it or not, classical music entices people to buy more expensive merchandise.

The checkout line remains the most profitable area of the supermarket. It's here that after a few minutes of waiting in line, buyers treat themselves to their favorite chocolate bar in the candy rack or a magazine they've been thumbing through.

Hallelujah. You're finished. But wait, it's time to present your "Valued Shopper Card." Once in a while you receive a deal, but more importantly this card keeps you coming back so the store can collect valuable marketing data.

Finally, you pay the bill and leave.

"Come back again now," the clerk smiles.

Alligator Found on Road Near Centerville

THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW 11-4-2014 / Photo Submitted

Jerry Peterson of Mound City was headed home from his grandson's Halloween parade in Garnett Thursday when he happened upon this American alligator sunning itself on the road pavement near Centerville. Peterson caught the critter and took it to the Linn County Sheriff's Department. The animals aren't native to areas this far north and officials say it was most likely a pet which was turned loose. State Wildlife and Parks agents took the gator to try to find a home for it. Above, Peterson examines the animal under the watchful eye of his great-grandson Holden Brant Beckman.

ACHS Has Regional Cross Country Meet

From left, ACHS runners Eliza Sibley, Bailee Wilson and Gwen Sibley jockey for position in the opening seconds of the 4A Regional Cross Country meet hosted by Garnett.

Wilson goes solo for AC at state cc

Wilson was the only local qualifier from the Garnett regional meet held Oct. 25. Cailie Logue of Girard won the girls' regional with a time of 14:42.61 on the Garnett course, and also took the 4A State title Saturday with a 14:29.90 at Wamego. Wilson ran a 16:52.14 to qualify in 6th place at the regional.

Other regional performances included Gwen Sibley with a 17:41.60 for 13th place; Bailee Wilson was 23rd with 18:14.49; Paige Scheckel 40th 19:14.00;

Remi Hedges was 47th with 19:44.69; Eliza Sibley 56th 20:24.96 and Morgan Egidy 57th 20:40.42. Anderson County won a team 4th place in the regional, behind Paola, Baldwin and Girard.

Trinity Academy won the girls' team competition with 56 points to runner-up Paola with 113.

Crest dumps A-M in finale

BY DANE HICKS THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW

ALTOONA – The Crest Lancers crushed Altoona Midway Thursday night in a season-ending outing that ended with a point rule after the first half 68-0.

It was basically a scrimmage for Crest, which has looked fearsome with some of its 2014 opponents and fodder for others.

Crest rushed for 112 yards and passed for 195 but took on 60 yards of penalties in 5 calls in a single half.

Crest's Evan Godderz led the Lancer passing attack, connecting 5 of 6 attempts for 112 yards. Gage Adams paved the way on the ground with three carries for 43 yards. Austin Green carried twice for 33. Brandon Brallier was the favorite target of the night with 5 catches for 130 yards.

Adams led the defense with 9 tackles. Green had 5.

Scoring order included Austin Green in the first quarter on a 21 yard run; Hunter Frazel on a 35 yard punt return; Godderz on a 20 yard run, Adams on a 15 yard run. In the second quarter it was Brallier on a 51 yard pass from Godderz; Adams on a 17 yard run; Frazell on a 55 yard punt return; Adams on a 22 yard pass play from Frazell; and ended with Christian Troxel's score on a 2 yard run.

AC JV 2nd at Oz tourney

BY DANE HICKS THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW

OSAWATOMIE – The Anderson County JV volleyball squad ended their season 15-12-1 with a 2nd place tie in the Pioneer League.

The season ended came with double wins at home over Iola and Central Heights, and started on a solid note with a 2nd place finish at the Osawatomie Tournament.

AC topped Central Heights in the tourney 25-18, 15-25, 15-11, Prairie View 25-7, 25-17 and Wellsville 8-25, 25-22, 17-15, and fell to Basehor twice in pool play in four games each 13-25.

The Wellsville game turned out to be an upset in AC's favor.

"We gave them the first loss and put ourselves in a position to play for first place," said JV coach Samantha Overstreet of the course-setting tournament.

"We got beat by a solid team. It was the best we have played together as a team."

Alexey Lickteig led the AC servers with 12 aces on the day; Samantha Nickell had 7 and Adrian Gwin 6. Emily Fritz led the attack with 19 kills followed by Nickell with 9 and Mikaela Reynolds and Lickteig with 7 each. Fritz also led blocking with 7 while Ellie Lutz had 5.

Overstreet said the season finale was a good way to cap off a progressive year.

"It was great to finish the season with two wins at home and clinch a tie for 2nd place in the league," she said. "I was so proud of how much the girls improved individually and as a team."

Boy Scout Troop 126 Attend Camporee

Above, Sam Wood, Zachary Wilper and Aaron Kubacka listen as a Civil War reenactment veteran tells the history of the soldiers. Below: Sam Wood, Garrison Parks, Joseph Stout and Zachary Wilper do their part in the tent building competition.

Troop 126 attended the Twin Rivers District BSA Camporee at John Brown Park in Osawatimie on October 17th through 19th. The event was hosted by Troop 106, Osawatimie. Civil War Encampment was the theme for the weekend as troops from across the district competed in first aid, black powder rifle loading/shooting, hatchet throwing, tent building, and Dutch Oven cooking events. Troop 126 earned a new piece of cast-iron cookware by bringing home first place in the Dutch Oven cook-off with their John Brown Stew and Dutch Apple Dandy. Beautiful weather, great history lessons, and excellent Scout skill competitions made for a memorable weekend.

Next Second Saturdays set

The November 8 Second Saturday kicks off with holiday open houses. Area businesses welcome customers to sample the tastes and smells of the holiday season and showcase new products, fashions and home decor. Get yourself in the Thanksgiving spirit by being a part of the Second Saturday Turkey Tailgate Party beginning at 12:00 p.m. (noon) on the town square. Decorate your tailgate/vehicle area and your tailgate party personnel for your chance to win prizes. Bring your own food, or purchase from local restaurants, or the Garnett Farmer's market vendors will set up especially for Second Saturdays. "Can't make it to the KU game? No worries. We will organize a flash mob to do the KU chant and tailgaters are welcome to listen via radio to the game if available", says Susan Wettstein, Garnett Community Development.

There will be some family fun "turkey" games on the courthouse lawn beginning at 2 p.m.

At 3:00 p.m. there will be a pie contest. Bring your pies and enter for a chance to win prizes and bragging rights. There will be no cost to enter, and if you wish to donate your pie for sale, all proceeds will go to charity.

Be on the Anderson County Courthouse lawn and bring those Golden Tickets you have gathered by visiting participating Second Saturday businesses. The Golden Ticket Drawing will be $100 in gold dollars!

Second Saturdays is a "Stay Local" initiative to encourage Garnett citizens to shop and dine local, bring visitors in, and to foster relationship building opportunities between area businesses and their customers. Second Saturdays is organized through Garnett Tourism, Creative Business Partnerships Committee of the City of Garnett and Garnett Area Chamber of Commerce.

Evening entertainment and art activities will be announced later this week and made available for publish in local newspapers, on Facebook, and at www.experiencegarnettks.com.

Spanghewing or marketing?

Probably more of you have an idea of what "marketing" is than know what "spanghewing" is - but I bet you don't know marketing as well as you think you do.

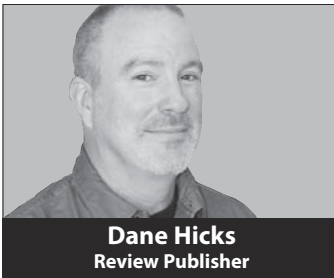

I admit I'm stealing this from one of my college textbooks - written back when hair was big and everybody knew Duran-Duran - but it's the best definition of the science of selling that I've ever seen, and reviewing it from time to time helps remind us folks in business that to do it right, we need to do it all.

"Marketing" is the act of communicating a sales message to a prospective buyer and includes four elements:

1) Promotion - Special events, games or activities based around a product or service. "Every customer today gets a free screwdriver while they last" - that type of thing. "Use your customer card and accrue purchase points for in-store merchandise." "Whoever can stack the most Oreos wins a store gift certificate."

2) Publicity - This means generating "buzz" about your business either in conventional media like newspapers, TV and radio or nowadays on social media - going "viral" as the kids say. You do it by sending out press releases when you make news and haunting blogs and Facebook pages where your customers hang out. Hint: Make sure your publicity release is really important or you'll smudge your reputation among the media and the blogs.

HOW TO SELL STUFF

Dane Hicks
Review Publisher

3) Personal Sales - This means you or your staff working directly with customers and establishing a personal relationship that hopefully makes a long-term customer instead of a single buy. Probably the most important element in generating referrals to your company.

4) Advertising - Using a third party to convey your sales message in graphic terms. Ads in newspapers, magazines, newsletters; spots on radio or television; signage on your building, bumper stickers, printed pens & email signatures.

Now, think about each of these elements and name something you did in your business yesterday to pursue that element. Then, call this newspaper and ask what "spanghew" means.

2004: Crest bond issue gets heated

Nov. 2, 2004

A meeting that began as a calm presentation of information about today's school bond issue at Crest grew testy during questioning and ended with shouting before super-intendent Doug Spillman was able to adjourn the event last week. Tuesday night's meeting included presentations by board consultants, the architect and the building contractor. But while some people in the audience of about 40 clearly had concerns about the adequacy of the proposal and others were hesitant about the costs of the proposal, while others were less than willing to put old rivalries behind them.

Dedicated traffic lanes into Lake Garnett Park tonight will route what's expected to be a record voter turnout to one of the city's polls while funneling additional traffic to Garnett's first bi-district football game appearance in almost a decade. Both game time and poll closing time will be 7 p.m., contrary to initial reports last week which would have moved the game to Central Heights or left the Anderson County Community Building polling place open until 8 p.m. The problem: traffic congestion on Lake Garnett Park road, which serves both the football stadium and the community building, the latter of which serves as voting location for three precincts. An initial plan to move the game to avoid interference with voters met with vehement opposition from some in the community.

A candidate for Anderson County Register of Deeds has been the target of an apparently well-orchestrated theft of her campaign yard signs, leading to the discovery of more than 20 of her signs discarded in a creek south of Garnett last week. Candidate Marlene Hermreck noticed her signs beginning to disappear over the past weekend, and got several calls from her supporters wondering why she had removed her signs from her yard. A passerby found 26 Hermreck signs at a low-water crossing south of the corner of NW Mitchell Road and NW 1450 Road about four miles south of Garnett. No other signs were recovered with Hermreck's and no other candidate in the county has reported sign losses on such a scale.

The Garnett City Commission decided when it met Tuesday night to write another chapter in the seemingly never-ending story of the city's lawsuit against Williams Natural Gas Line Company. The commission approved spending $13,759 on legal fees to proceed with the lawsuit. The city is one of several cities that filed suit against the pipeline company back in 1987 to force it to open its pipelines to other natural gas suppliers to allow competitive bidding. The company decided to open its lines to other natural gas suppliers after the suit was filed and the subsequent bidding process saved the city an estimated $1 million. The second phase of the suit will seek to reduce the transmission rates that WNGC charges to allow competing companies to send their natural gas through its lines.

The Anderson County Bulldog volleyball team ended its season Friday night with a win over Hoisington during pool play at the state tournament, but failed to advance to the finals. What kept the Bulldogs out of the finals? A fraction of a point. The Bulldogs were tied in their pool with Hoisington and Goodland who each had 2-1 records. After the tie-breaker formula was tabulated, Hoisington advanced to the finals. The Bulldogs finished their season with a record 34-4, making it the winningest team in Bulldog history.

The Anderson County Unit of the American Cancer Society has received numerous awards during the past fiscal year for "better than or best" achievement of goals. The unit has done better than its previous highest efforts in raising more money than its goal, presenting education programs to more persons than ever before and an Award of Excellence for Media Coverage.

The Kansas Fish and Game Commission in conjunction with the Garnett Parks and Recreation Department carried on a fish evaluation survey at Garnett's north lake park Thursday. Wednesday, members of the Garnett Park Department set nets in various areas of the lake to trap some fish. Thursday, a boat and special equipment were used to measure the fish to be taken from the nets. The first net had several catfish in the size range of 18-22 inches and weight of about 2 and a half pounds. About the fourth or fifth fish to be found in the net was an excellent sized wall-eye, about 20 inches long and about 2 and a half pounds. There were a few crappie and bluegill, but a much greater number of those varieties were found in the second net, which was further north on the west side of the lake.

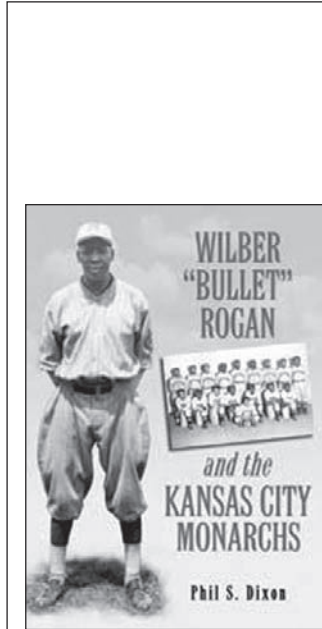

Author to discuss history of Kansas City Monarchs; team once played at Welda

The November potluck dinner meeting of the Anderson County Historical Society will be held at the Anderson County Jr./Sr. High School, Commons Area, on November 12, 2014 at 6:30 p.m. The program, "The Kansas City Monarchs in our hometown," will be provided by Phil S. Dixon, author and baseball historian of the Kansas City Monarchs, followed by a book signing. The public is invited to attend this free event. Please bring a covered dish and your place setting.

For over thirty years, author Phil S. Dixon has recorded African-American sports topics with a vast array of in-depth skill and historical accuracy. He is widely regarded for his expertise on baseball history. He has authored nine prior baseball books and won the prestigious Casey Award for the Best Baseball Book of 1992. He received a SABR McMillan Award for his excellence in historical research. Dixon is a co-founder of the Negro League Baseball Museum in Kansas City and formerly worked in the Public Relations Office of the American League Kansas City Royals. He is completing his tenth book, "Tommy Campbell, A Boxing Bout with the Mobsters," which is his first on boxing; his first inside look into the unethical relationship of boxing and organized crime in the lightweight division during the 1940s and 1950s. He is also an expert speaker on the topic of Jack Johnson, the first African-American heavyweight boxing champion.

His latest book is both a biography of Wilber "Bullet" Rogan and a history of his great Kansas City Monarchs teams, 1920-1938. This detailed work pays tribute to a man considered by some to be baseball's greatest all-around player. During his career, the Monarchs won two Negro League World Series and five pennants, in addition to launching the careers of several outstanding players and conducting many barnstorming tours. The author, who interviewed many former players, covers Rogan's Hall of Fame career in-depth and brings to light one of baseball's greatest but often forgotten talents.

This year marks the 90th

anniversary of the Kansas City Monarchs first World Series championship.

Mr. Dixon stated, "Most people have heard of Jackie Robinson, some have heard of Satchel Paige, many have heard of the Kansas City Monarchs but few know how connected they were to your local community. In honor of the 90th Anniversary of the Monarchs' first World's Championship in 1924, I am returning to 90 cities where they played games to present this team's unique history, and I do so with a local twist - I talk about games the Monarch's played in your city against local competition - as well as discuss the history of African-American ball players from your community who participated in the Negro Leagues (when the opportunity presents itself). My program is appropriately titled, 'The Kansas City Monarchs in our hometown'."

The Kansas City Monarchs played in Garnett on August 22, 1922. In later years, they also played in Welda on July 11, 1964 when Satchel Paige was on the team.

If you have any questions about this program, please contact Kristie Kinney, President of the Anderson County Historical Society at (785) 304-2810 or (785) 448-5496.

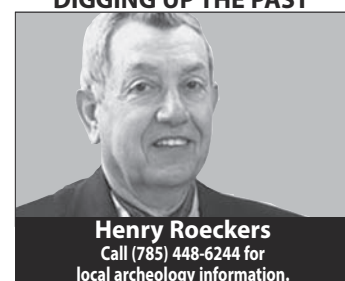

Did I just find my wife's first spoon?

Could it be? It most definitely just may be, after studying a few facts that I have. About now, you're wondering what in the world is this guy talking about anyway.

What I'm so excited over and talking about is my latest find. This just may be my wife Kay's very own baby spoon.

My 1st Clue: You see the present site I'm working at, is out in the country and is where Kay was born in 1938. The house no longer stands and all that exists is the old well. On Tuesday 28 Oct. while trowel excavating along what appears to be an old laid up stone foundation, I suddenly came upon what may have been a brick sidewalk going from the house to the old well. It was down in between two of these bricks that I discovered this precious Baby spoon.

My 2nd Clue: On the reverse side of the handle it reads: IMPERIAL SILVER PLATE. In the early 1930's the Imperial Silver Company made a wide variety of Imperial Silver Plate Baby Spoon and Fork sets. In fact they were the world's leading marketers. In 1939 Imperial discontinued Silver Plate flatware.

Also, if you look closely, you can see 3 stars and the word BABY on this spoon. This verifies that it is a 1930's Art Deco style Baby Spoon.

So without a doubt I believe this was once Kay's very first spoon. It was once lost and now returned to her after 76 years.

This is one of my most treasured finds ever.

Bob Dole Visits Garnett

God's wisdom is perfect, never fails

Weekly Devotional by David Bilderback

In James 1:5-8 we read, "If any of you lacks wisdom, he should ask God, who gives generously to all without finding fault, and it will be given to him. But when he asks, he must believe and not doubt, because he who doubts is like a wave of the sea, blown and tossed by the wind."

Wisdom is the moral behavior that emerges from a belief system. God has equipped each of us with a conscience which convicts us when we do something wrong. This is true for both the believer and the unbeliever. The wisdom of the world emphasizes an educational system that puts our desires in front of God's. In other words we desire God's wisdom as long as it agrees with our desires. This creates a divided loyalty.

God says if you want wisdom ask. For everyone who asks receives. But if you ask you need to be ready to accept God's response. Augustine once prayed, "God make me pure but not yet." This is an example of divided loyalty. Wanting God's will but willing to compromise if it does not meet the desire of our heart.

The real key to acquiring wisdom is realizing that all the experience and education we have is not what is being referred to here. Wisdom is knowing and understanding God's will and being able to put it in practice. This is the intent of the wise man. The foolish man will try to apply the wisdom of the world, human wisdom or the wisdom of the age to determine his preferred outcome.

The wisdom James is referring to is biblical wisdom. The first principal of biblical wisdom is that man should humble himself before God in reverence and worship, obedient to his commands. It is sometimes difficult, even impossible for mortal humans to understand how obedience, putting us at a disadvantage in the world, is part of a plan for furthering both God's glory and our good. But we glorify God by believing it is so, because he who cannot lie has said it. God's wisdom is perfect and never fails. The wisdom James refers to, God's wisdom, is on a higher plane than the wisdom of the world. When you understand that you begin to understand what James is referring to.

Historical Society enjoys dinner at Borntrager home

The Anderson County Historical Society met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jonas Borntrager, west of Garnett, on October 24th, 2014. President Kristie Kinney led the Lord's Prayer, and forty one members and guests enjoyed a bountiful dinner served by the Borntrager family.

Following dinner, Harley Yoder presented the program about the history of Old Order Amish in Anderson County. The Amish began in Germany, and due to religious persecution there was a movement to Switzerland and Holland. Later, groups immigrated to America in the early 1700's. The three to four month boat trip brought many hardships including illnesses and death. Initial groups settled in Pennsylvania, and later moved to Illinois, Iowa, Oklahoma, and Kansas.

Local history records tell of the first five Amish families arriving in Anderson County from Hutchinson in 1903, set-ling west of Garnett along the 7th Avenue Road. The Claude Fooshee and Clarence Hunt homes were built by those early settlers. The Amish Cemetery dates back to 1903. The number of families fluctuated between five and fifteen until the late 1950's, and were organized into a District. In 1959, with 25 families, they split into the North and South Districts. Today there are 22 families in the North District, and 17-18 families in the South District. The small size allows the families to spend time together, depend upon each other, work together, and hold services together in their homes.

Pennsylvania Dutch, a dialect of German and English, is spoken in the homes. It's expected that children learn to speak English by the time they begin school.

Harley Yoder and Jonas Borntrager then led an informative question and answer discussion to complete the program.

President Kristie Kinney called the business meeting to order. She welcomed guests and thanked the Borntrager and Yoder families for the wonderful meal and program.

Vice President Shirley Roeckers announced that the museum had closed for the winter on September 30th. She thanked volunteers who had helped to keep the museum open during the summer season. Winter tours of the museum and Harris House can be scheduled by calling Kristie Kinney or Shirley.

The October tour of Mineral Point that was cancelled due to the weather will possibly be rescheduled for our May 2015 meeting. Other plans for the spring include completing the video tours of the museum and Harris House, and a March 21, 2015 civil war re-enactment to commemorate the 150th Anniversary of the war's end.

Dorothy Lickteig, Greeley, has completed three volumes of Colony histories, and she may be contacted directly to secure a copy of Vol.3.

Phil S. Dixon, author and baseball historian, will provide the program on the Kansas City Monarch baseball team for our November 12, 2014 meeting at 6:30 p.m. in the ACJSHS commons area. The Kansas City Monarchs played at Garnett in 1922, and again at Welda in 1964. Many locals recall watching Satchel Paige play for the Monarchs at the Welda game. Mr. Dixon recently published a biography of Wilbur "Bullet" Rogan and will have a book signing after the program. See page 2B for more details.

Don't get scammed by holiday travel plans

With Thanksgiving right around the corner, holiday travel season is in full swing. Unfortunately, that means scammers will also be looking to take advantage of those traveling to make a quick buck. Whether your travel plans include an exotic excursion or a family getaway to one of Kansas' many local attractions, it's important to be on alert for potential scams.

Consumer Corner
by Derek Schmidt
Kansas Attorney General

Travel deals
Scammers often target vacationers with faxes, emails or phone calls offering an incredible price for what sounds like a dream vacation. Or they offer a "free" vacation if you join a travel club or attend a promotional seminar for a timeshare. As with all offers that sound too good to be true, it's important to read the fine print. In many cases, travelers arrive at their destination to discover the accommodations aren't quite what they were promised. Vacation-goers may also be hit with hidden fees or extra charges like bed fees, meal fees, or even fees for sheets and towels.

Offers that seem too good to be true almost always are. Instead of being pressured by sales representatives or promised deals and discounts, it is better for you to initiate the transaction. Do careful research. Many online travel sites offer ways to compare prices and travel options. You can also work with a local, trusted travel agent.

Read the fine print
Before purchasing a vacation package, study the agreement carefully. Make sure you clearly understand all charges and fees. Also, be sure to check refund policies on airfare and hotel rooms, in case you have to cancel.

You should also consider using a credit card to pay for the purchase. In many cases, credit card companies offer fraud protections and you maintain the ability to dispute any charges you did not agree to. Many credit card companies also include travel and rental car insurance in your credit card agreement. Check with your credit card company to see if these options are currently available to you.

Beware of timeshares
Timeshares offer vacationers the opportunity to use a vacation property for a limited amount of time each year. While these may sound like great deals, our office often hears complaints from consumers who have been hit by hidden charges in their timeshare agreements. Be thorough in your research prior to purchasing a timeshare so you understand the true cost of ownership. In addition to the purchase price, timeshare owners are usually required to pay annual maintenance fees, which can go up each year. Improvements to the timeshare property can also result in additional costs. If you decide to sell your timeshare, the company may charge you recurring listing fees.

If you think you've been the victim of a scam, please contact our office at 1-800-432-2310 or online at www.InYourCornerKansas.org. This site also includes a section called "Your Travel" that has tips on keeping your home safe during holiday travel.

Remember, having memorable, relaxing holidays with your family doesn't have to take you far from home. There are many great places to visit right here in Kansas. Go to www.travelks.com to learn more about the great attractions within our great state.

Have a safe and enjoyable holiday season!
