City leaders address camping concerns

Complaints about reservoir conditions prompt some changes

BY VICKIE MOSS THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW

GARNETT — Complaints from a local camping enthusiast resulted in some changes to the Cedar Valley Reservoir, just in time for popular recreational weekends like the Fourth of July and the coming boat races July 16-19.

Geno Thacker of Garnett complained to Garnett city commissioners at a June 23 meeting about the condition of the reservoir. Thacker has talked to commissioners several times in recent years about city camping facilities, and as a result of his suggestions several improvements were made to camping facilities at Lake Garnett.

Now, Thacker has turned his attention on the reservoir. His list of complaints included poor roads leading to and within the park, high grass and dilapidated boat docks. He met with commissioners more than a week before the Fourth of July holiday weekend, and suggested the city take steps to rectify the situation before the busy weekend.

"The reservoir looks kind of neglected," Thacker said. "Somebody needs to crack the whip or something and take charge of that place. ... It's very disgusting."

Commissioner Preston Peine admitted it had been a year or so since he had visited the reservoir, and promised he would check it out.

Peine also told Thacker the city has been working to Treasurer: Program still rakes in $125K

Last year's windfall won't be repeated, but still a financial success

BY VICKIE MOSS THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW

GARNETT — Despite predictions the county couldn't repeat the success of a commercial vehicle registration program that added about $400,000 to county coffers last year, Anderson County Treasurer Dena McDaniel said last week the program still has brought in about $125,000 so far this year.

McDaniel last year took advantage of new requirements for commercial vehicle registration in Kansas, and got county commission approval for an additional part-time staffer to begin offering the service, which due to new regulations was available only at a handful of Kansas counties. That brought loads of commercial vehicles to Garnett to get their tags, for which the treasurer's office generated a fee.

In 2014, the State of Kansas changed the way it handled registration for fleets of heavy vehicles that travel out of state. A special fee — of which a portion was returned to the county that handled the registration — was assessed instead of property taxes. As a result, Anderson County earned more than $400,000 by offering the service. McDaniel had to hire an additional employee to handle the extra workload, but the $25,000 in salary expense or so was more than covered by the extra income.

Last year only about eight counties in Kansas offered the service. McDaniel predicted more counties would start offering such registrations once

Water treatment could influence taste, smell

Disinfection process could last a few weeks; it's a common practice

BY VICKIE MOSS THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW

GARNETT — City staff says complaints about the taste and smell of Garnett's water have decreased in recent years after improvements to water treatment processes, but those complaints could temporarily return soon as a change in the city's disinfection process is likely to affect the taste and smell of the water over the next few weeks.

City leaders warned last week of the temporary change in the water, asking for the public's patience and consideration during the process.

Starting July 20, the Garnett Water Treatment Plant will change its disinfection process from a chlorine and ammonia mix, called chloramines, to free chlorine with no ammonia added. The process will better disinfect dead end lines and lines that have very little water use, water treatment officials said. The process will last for a few weeks before staff switch back to chloramines. Staff also conduct other maintenance activities, like flushing water lines and overflowing water towers.

"This is a common practice done in most communities in order to maintain safe disinfection levels," a press release from the city read.

The city pulls water from Cedar Creek, but until a few years ago dumped that water into Crystal Lake (commonly known as the South Lake) before pumping it into the water treatment facility. A major system upgrade now pumps the water directly into the water treatment facility, bypassing the lake and its higher amount of suspended organic matter - a function of silting which has shallowed the lake over decades of use. Since that and other improvements to the water treatment facility were made, the smell and taste of the water has improved considerably.

The Garnett Water Treatment Department provides water to the City of Garnett as well as the City of Greeley and Anderson County Rural Water Districts.

The right color of tears

Kate Steinle didn't get to celebrate the retirement of the Confederate Flag from the South Carolina statehouse grounds last Friday, because her family and friends had to bury her the day before.

She didn't get to join in the victory dance that ensued after South Carolina and a good portion of the country pinned the racist attack on the Charleston church on the Star & Bars. She missed the pop-culture scourging of Bo & Luke Duke and the General Lee and their forever banishment to pious television purgatory.

The bright, attractive and effervescent 32 year-old medical supplies saleswoman was shot in the heart by a .40 caliber round July 1 on San Francisco's touristy Pier 14. Her murderer is a five-times deported illegal immigrant with multiple felony convictions who was taking refuge in San Francisco because the city is a so-called "sanctuary city" — a city where the local political climate impedes deportations initiated by federal immigration law.

She died in her father's arms, pleading for him to help her.

The tragedy of her loss is no more or less painful than that of each of those worshipers in the Emanuel African Methodist Episcopal Church, but the issue at the root of her death isn't embraced so romantically by liberal-dominated American pop culture, mainstream media and by the Barack Hussein Obama Presidential Administration. In fact, the issue at the root of her death is purposefully ignored.

The perils of racism, according to the winds that drive the sails of modern American Liberalism, are far more heinous than allowing international criminals unfettered ingress and egress to our country. Whites in particular must shoulder this perpetual and blind guilt, even 150 years after the freeing of slaves, 50 years after civil rights legislation and as many years funding social assistance programs intended to abet poverty which still mires elements of the black community.

While ignoring Kate Steinle's funeral on Thursday as well as her murder and

REVIEW COMMENTARY

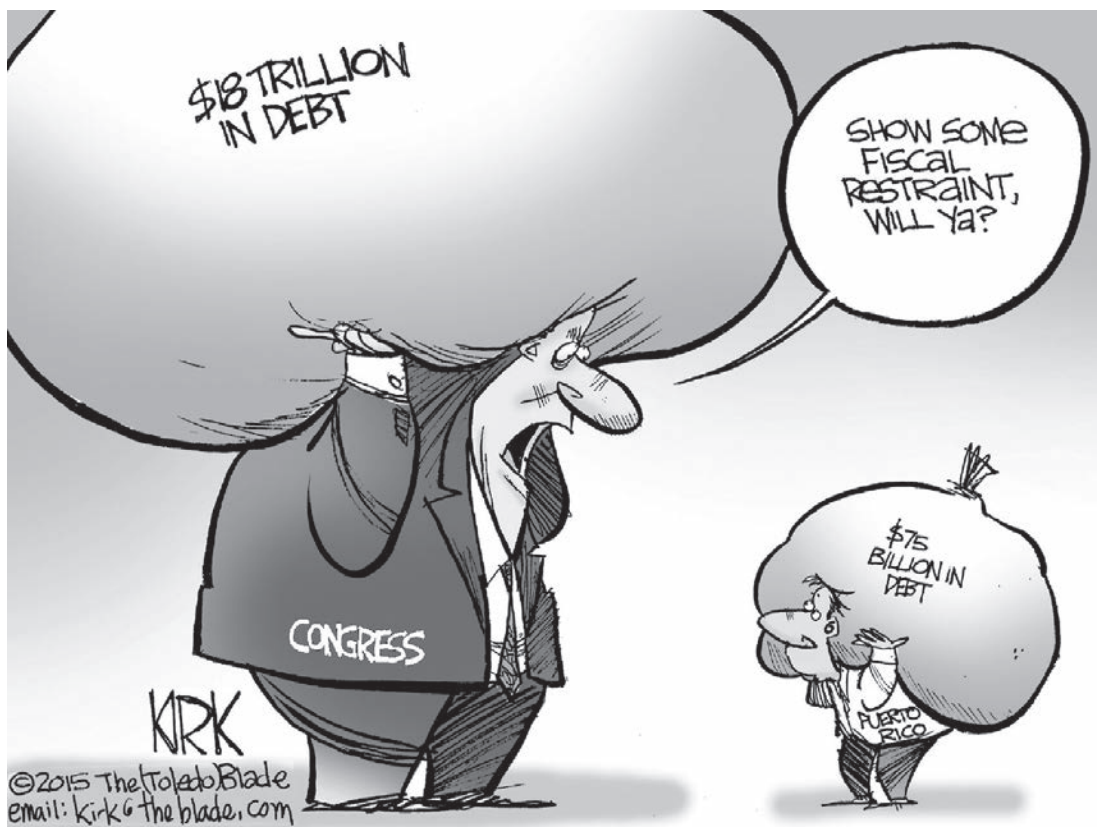

DANE HICKS, Publisher

the factors surrounding it, President Obama has been quick to act when race could be marketed as the issue as opposed to foreign criminal invasion. Three administration officials attended Michael Brown's funeral in Ferguson, Mo., and 40 U.S. Justice Department agents investigated his killing; three administration officials attended the funeral of Freddy Gray, who was killed in police custody in Baltimore, and the DOJ investigated that incident as well. The president saw fit to comment publicly on each of these incidents, along with the earlier Travon Martin affair. All these victims were black.

Yet the president has been mum about Kate Steinle, who was white. Do white lives matter? Perhaps the tears shed for her are not the right color tears?

The deafening silence from the White House sends a message. In order to keep blacks voting for Democrats, to keep a growing segment of Hispanics voting for Democrats, and even to get illegal immigrants to vote Democrat when they can get away with it, certain topics have to be "sold" to the public and certain topics ignored.

No doubt in their grief Kate Steinle's loved ones can't fully fathom the scope and illumination that the death of their daughter, sister and friend has brought. Make no mistake that others recognize it. Make no mistake that it is a national embarrassment.

Just this country boy's opinion, but I'm sure glad that Dylan Roof fellow wasn't holding the Bill of Rights, the Constitution and the Declaration in his hands. Otherwise they would have been considered racist and abolished just like the Confederate Flag.

To all the people who are so excited to have the Confederate Flag disposed of, have we considered that one of our famous presidents and slave owners who sired children with one of his slaves, Thomas Jefferson, has his own memorial in Washington, D.C., and has his statue on Mount Rushmore? Maybe we can put Obama's face on Mount Rushmore and rename the Jefferson Memorial the Al Sharpton Memorial?

Hello to the Phone Forum. I wonder about the white woman who was killed by the illegal immigrant in San Francisco, if she was a lesbian or been in a gay marriage, would the PC media and the Obama Administration have noticed?

No, you're still a moron about Obama being a Muslim. Have your 10 year-old kid look Obama up on the Internet. He's been going to the same Christian church for 20 years and he only left it when that preacher got in hot water. It's in Chicago, the Trinity United Church of Christ. Get it straight.

So Obama sends people to all the funerals for the black kids killed in Florida and Baltimore and Michael Brown in Ferguson Missouri, but when a white woman gets shot by one of his illegal immigrants he doesn't do anything. I think he should send the FBI in like he did the others and investigate why San Francisco is a sanctuary city for illegal immigrants. We have racism in this county and it's at the highest levels.

If you want to see the biggest waste of tax money since we built the jail, drive west on 7th Street out of Garnett and look at the fabulous paving job that we're wasting money on. These guys are a complete joke.

About this BS story about the camper out at the North Lake, why aren't they treated like anyone else would in this town and that's not fair. So if I go out there and clean a bathroom I can stay as long as I want?

We don't need someone setting at the North Lake campground 24/7. City employees can mow that area like they do the rest of the park. Someone takes care of the other public restrooms at the park and can just as easily do the ones at the campground. Assistance and information is as close as a cell phone. Sounds like an excuse to me. Don't give up your home life for the city of Garnett. I think those people need to pay for their camping spot and move their camper like everyone else has to.

To the Garnett city superintendent of the parks: Mowing at the South Lake on or before, why not cut the brush growing around the trees? It would look so much nicer. Is it too much physical labor to trim around the trees?

Sorry, Donald Trump has a point

You are hardly a name-brand company if you haven't dumped Donald Trump in recent weeks.

NBC, Univision and Macy's all have thrown The Donald under the bus, in the heaviest blow to schlock culture in this country since the cancellation of "Jersey Shore." The carnage ranges across media, encompassing reality TV ("Celebrity Apprentice"), entertainment properties (the Miss USA Pageant), fashion (the Donald J. Trump Signature Collection) and even fragrance (Success by Trump).

The shunning of Trump is in response to his, uh, memorable presidential announcement that included comments about the alleged rampant criminality of Mexican immigrants -- they're drug runners, rapists, etc. -- that were typically crude.

As it happens, Trump's new enemies are doing him an enormous political favor, at least in the short term. There are few things that benefit a Republican candidate in the current environment of left-wing bullying more than getting fired and boycotted for something he's said.

Trump's instantly notorious Mexico comments did more to insult than to illuminate, yet a kernel in them hit on an important truth that typical politicians either don't know or simply fear to speak. "When Mexico sends its people," Trump said, "they're not sending their best."

NATIONAL COMMENTARY

RICH LOWRY, King Features Syndicate

This is obviously correct. We aren't raiding the top 1 percent of Mexicans and importing them to this country. Instead, we are getting representative Mexicans, who -- through no fault of their own -- come from a poorly educated country at a time when education is essential to success in an advanced economy. Trump's comments made it sound as though Mexico is sending us moral defectives. But immigrants are willing to work. Immigrant men ages 18-65 are in the labor force at a higher rate than native men.

It's just that a lack of education hampers even hard-working people. This is illustrated in an exhaustive report by Steven Camarota of the Center for Immigration Studies, which favors a lower level of immigration.

Immigrants here from Mexico -- which has sent more immigrants than any other country for decades -- have the lowest levels of education. Nearly 60 percent of them haven't graduated from high school.

This puts Mexican immigrants at a disadvantage, and it shows. Nearly 35 percent of immigrants from Mexico and their U.S.-born children are in poverty; nearly 68 percent are in or near poverty. This is the highest level for immigrants from any country. Immigrants make progress on almost every indicator over time, but are still far behind natives after two decades.

For all its crassness, Trump's rant on immigration is closer to reality than the gauzy cliches of immigration romantics, who are unwilling to acknowledge that there might be an issue welcoming large numbers of high-school dropouts into a 21st-century economy. If we don't want to add to the ranks of the poor, the uninsured and the welfare-dependent, we should have fewer low-skilled immigrants -- assuming saying that is not yet officially considered a hate crime.

The point could be made much more deftly and accurately by anyone not named Donald J. Trump. In the meantime, he fills the vacuum, and enjoys the whirlwind.

address some of his complaints, particularly regarding a county road into the park. In joint meetings between the city commissioners and Anderson County commissioners, discussion was raised about improving the road, perhaps using a "chip-and-seal" coating to reduce dust and erosion. Any such improvements, however, would have to be weighed against other budgetary needs, he said.

"The plan was to take a very serious look at it," Peine said. "That's not saying it's going to happen, but both bodies are actively discussing it."

Thacker also was concerned about safety, citing a boat slip on the north end of the reservoir with screws sticking out of rotting wood boards.

Some improvements to another dock already have been made, and staff plan to replace another with a walking bridge in the spring of 2016, Garnett City Manager Joyce Martin said.

After Thacker's complaints, city staff made several improvements to the reservoir area. Martin detailed the work in a report to city commissioners in advance of their next meeting at 6 p.m. tonight.

Improvements included

replacing small boards on toilet enclosures and painting the enclosures, mowing some areas, regraveling the boat trailer parking area and campsite areas, repairing some minor parts of the boat docks, and reseeding some areas.

The reservoir will be the site of nationally sanctioned boat races in an event, "Thunder at Cedar Valley," July 16-19. More than 25 national champion drivers are expected to compete in races beginning at noon Saturday and Sunday, July 18 and 19. The boat races last were held at Cedar Valley in 2011; in recent years they competed at Lake Garnett.

TREASURER...

they realized the financial benefit, and she said recently that has proven to be true. She predicted the windfall would last just one year, but the service continues to benefit the county financially to a lesser degree.

So far this year, the service has brought in roughly $125,000. Although commercial vehicle owners have other options, many of them continue to use Anderson County for the service.

"We're still able to pay several salaries throughout the county because of it," McDaniel said.

McDaniel also encouraged commercial motor carriers who need to register for a DOT number from the State of Kansas to do so as soon as possible. The Kansas Corporation Commission is expected to make changes to the qualifications for DOT numbers, McDaniel said, although it is not yet clear when those changes will take affect. Those changes likely will be complex and confusing, she said, so it is best for anyone who believes they will need a DOT number to apply now and avoid the hassle that could come from the pending rule changes.

All commercial carriers over 10,001 lbs. GVWR must have a DOT number. Those who travel across state lines must also have a U.S. DOT number. For more information, contact the treasurer's office at (785) 448-5824 or contact KCC at (785) 271-3145.

To apply for a Kansas DOT number online, go to www.truckingKS.org and look for Commercial Motor Vehicle Resources.

Customer relationship critical in service biz

Service businesses have a little different angle in generating sales for their business, and although customer relationships are important in every business they are paramount if you are a service provider.

Perhaps no other business type is as focused on the trust and relationship aspect because value in your business is so much defined by you and your actions, and less by a tangible product. If you buy a lawnmower and it doesn't work, you return it for a new one – but if the guy who mows your lawn does a cruddy job, you probably won't call him again.

So if your business is service, you've got to put your focus on value – not just performing a service well but doing the extras that add value – which your competitors may not do. You also need to focus on communicating to keep the relationship with past clients fresh.

So you have past customers you need to keep happy for their referral value and possible future needs, and you have new customers you need to continually be in the process of trying to acquire.

Stay in touch with past customers every few months with letters, emails, direct mail offers, etc. The cheapest way is to bank their email addresses and send out occasional tips and other information related to your industry, i.e. the advantages of changing your furnace filter if you're an HVAC pro; reminders to check their stickers to see if they're due for an oil change if you're a car mechanic; reminders to clean home gutters twice a year to keep proper drainage if you're a roofing or siding guy. The idea is to prompt repeat business and to place yourself top of mind in case your old customer catches cross talk from a friend that he's looking for your service.

HOW TO SELL STUFF

Dane Hicks
Review Publisher

Women particularly and men to a lesser degree tend to do a fair amount of research before hiring most services, especially if they're new to an area and haven't become familiar with many providers. They want to get to know you so they can trust you, so a website extolling your experience, industry awards and honors, photos of your clean shiny service trucks, etc., is essential. Put your family photo on your website under "about," and use some photo testimonials from previous happy customers. The web has pretty much replaced Yellow Pages as a first-look option for service providers, so you need to be there.

You can also look toward direct mail, merge mail offerings like Advo and Valpak who can zone your ad message to zip codes and neighborhoods, as well as newspaper and shopper inserts to put yourself in front of potential new customers. But remember, they'll comb the web eventually looking for more info on you.

But focus primarily on those past customers – make them like you and remember you, and they'll help you sell more stuff.

Hospitals pledge to examine food, beverage practices

Anderson County Hospital is one of 76 Kansas hospitals that has pledged to examine their current food and beverage practices, according to the Kansas Hospital Association.

These hospitals will consider new policies that provide healthier food options in the hospital cafeteria and throughout the facility. This enhanced access to healthy food aims to positively impact hospital employees, patients and visitors, while also helping to establish norms for healthier living for the communities served.

Participating hospitals are working to adopt recommendations made by Healthy Kansas Hospitals, a three-year initiative that provides resources and technical assistance to participating facilities. Included in the assistance given to hospitals are on-site visits, webinars, toolkits and a Healthy Kansas Hospitals conference this fall.

The 75 participating hospitals represent 34,234 employees and 184,625 patient discharges each year who utilize the on-site amenities at the hospitals. With this initiative, health care settings have the potential to take the lead in creating a roadmap for other worksites to navigate the challenges associated with implementing healthier environments.

Hospitals make their own decisions related to changes to the food and beverage environment based on an individualized assessment. Examples of changes to food and beverage policies being made at some facilities as a result of participation in Healthy Kansas Hospitals include increasing the availability of healthy entrees, adding nutrition labeling for meals in the cafeteria, elimination of fried foods, adding healthier snack items to vending machines and increased employee education around the topic of nutrition and diet.

"We are excited that so many hospitals have joined Healthy Kansas Hospitals. Each of these hospitals are truly concerned about the health of their employees, patients and their communities," said Melissa Hungerford, KHERF CEO and KHA Executive Vice President. "Signing on to participate is the first step in a process of considering their current practice, policies and implementing meaningful changes to make healthy food and beverage options an easy choice."

Area judge elected officer of state group

TOPEKA — A 4th Judicial District magistrate judge has been elected to serve as an officer of the Kansas District Magistrate Judges' Association, an organization open to all state district magistrate court judges. The organization recently elected officers to serve the organization in the fiscal year that begins July 1.

District Magistrate Judge Taylor J. Wine is first vice president and legislative chair. He is from Osage County in the 4th judicial district.

District Magistrate Judge Guy R. Steier was elected president of the association. He has been a district magistrate judge in Cloud County since February 2005. Cloud County is in the 12th judicial district with Jewell, Lincoln, Mitchell, Republic, and Washington counties.

State rep appears on TV's 'American Ninja Warrior'

Kansas Representative Kevin Jones, who represents Anderson County in the 5th District, appeared on a special military edition of the NBC television show, "American Ninja Warrior." Jones lasted just three seconds in the obstacle course that includes climbing, jumping and other tests of strength and agility.

A short feature of the legislator was shown on the show, with scenes showing Jones at home with his family and running throughout the capitol building in Topeka.

Jones told "The Ottawa Herald" he hopes to get a chance for redemption on the show, even if it means waiting a year for the next round.

Amos pronounces judgment on Israel

In chapter 7 of the book of Amos the prophet pronounces judgment on Israel. Amos was one of the shepherd's of Tekoa, a desert region which was five miles south of Bethlehem in Judah. Amos although he was from the southern kingdom performed most of his ministry in the northern kingdom. Amos ministered during the reign's of Uzziah in Judah and Jeroboam the II in Israel. This was a time of affluence, luxury and moral laxity in the northern kingdom.

The people had become affluent because Samaria had become a trade stop-off for caravans and these new found riches created a desire for more. The businessmen had become impatient with the limitations placed on them by the Sabbath restrictions. The rich had become oppressive and corrupt, the courts were unjust and the religious services consisted only of idolatry. It was into this atmosphere that the prophet Amos was commissioned to go north to Samaria and warn of judgment.

WEEKLY DEVOTIONAL

By David Bilderback

In chapter 7 Amos sees the LORD standing by a wall that had been built true to plumb with a plum line in his hand.

The LORD told Amos he was setting a plumb line among his people Israel and would spare them no longer. Amos then takes this message to the northern kingdom. The message was the LORD would rise up against the house of Jeroboam with the sword. Amaziah the priest of Bethel accused Amos of being a traitor and not having the people's best interest at heart.

The northern kingdom was enjoying great prosperity and the last thing they wanted to hear was this lifestyle was wrong. The fact that the poor were being oppressed and corruption had invaded business showed that their concern was for the sanctuary of their earthly king not the sanctuary of the great king the Lord.

Amos answers Amaziah's charge. "I was no prophet, nor a prophet's son, but I was a herdsman and a dresser of sycamore figs. But the LORD took me from following the flock, and the LORD said to me. Go prophesy to my people Israel. Now therefore hear the word of the LORD." Amos' prophecy points to Israel being taken away from their land into exile. In 722 B. C. Shalmaneser the Assyrian besieged Samaria and after three brutal years the northern kingdom came to an end.

1995: 'New' jail saving money for county

July 12, 2005

It's too early to tell specifically just what last week's school finance legislation will do for schools in Garnett, Crest and Central Heights, but it's clear the impact of an extra $148 million garnered at the end of the legislative session will be a positive one for schools. The new legislation increased funding for special education; it increased the equalization of capital outlay budgets; and it increased the equalization of local option budgets. It helped boost per-pupil state aid from $4,107 to $4,257.

July 10, 1995

One year after it opened, most officials believe the Anderson County Jail has been a success and a money saver for the county. So far this year,

Vickie Moss
Send historic photos, information to review@garnett-ks.com since January, the jail has brought in about $56,200 in fees charged for housing state, city and out-of-county prisoners. Contracts between the jail and other counties mean that level of reimbursement will probably stay pretty consistent.

July 8, 1985

The Kansas Highway Patrol reminds motorists of changes in the state's implied consent and drunk driving laws which are effective July 1 and will affect those persons who drink and drive. Principal changes in the implied consent law allow for drivers to be charged with operating or attempting to operate a motor vehicle while under the influence of alcohol or drugs or both. Tests to be administered under the law now include not only breath and blood but urine and other bodily substances. Also the testing can now be requested not only when the driver is arrested and taken into custody but also when the driver has been involved in an accident or collision.

July 14, 1915

A salesman who has been making a number of towns in the interest of one of the Garnett creameries says he was surprised, after a few days "on the road," how easy it is to sell butter. He had a good deal of experience as a salesman in the dry goods line, but was a bit leery of trying to sell butter. However, he gave it a trial and was highly elated. This reminds us again that this is a dairy country and that there is money in selling milk to the creameries.

Arthur Bennett has invented and patented an article that surely will be a great benefit to dress-makers. It is said, by those in the know, that it is difficult to make skirt that is exactly the same length all the way around. Art says with his new invention, he can obtain the proper results in a minute or two.

Archeology school routine continues

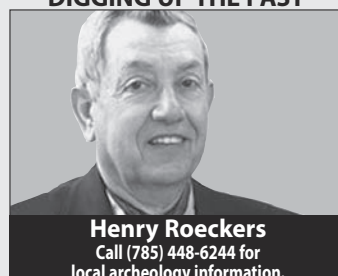

Just like any other job or school there is a daily routine one normally follows.

Here was my routine for the two weeks I was attending the 2015 KATP.

My rise and shine time was 5:45 am. Morning clean-up, followed by Breakfast, left for the field site at 7:15 located on a farm 8.6 miles from Hays. Arrive on site at 7:30 am, helped put up tent coverings, take plastic sheeting off the covered grids, re-hang all the tri-pod screens and place buckets and shovels by each grid. 8:00 am roll call was held, followed by daily briefing for the day by our Crew Chief Debra Aaron, Principal Investigator Bob Hoard, Nancy Arendt KAA President and anyone else having an announcement. One announcement we heard over and over every day was: DRINK LOTS OF WATER

- 8:15 Work
- 10:00 Break
- 10:15 Work
- 12:00 Lunch (packed our own)

- 3:00 Break
- 3:15 Work
- 4:30 Cover grids, take down tent coverings and tri-pod screens and put up all tools, etc.
- 4:45 Leave the field for the day
- 5:00 Take Shower- go to Dinner (on our own and our choice)
- 7:30 Attend a meeting or talk, go on a tour.

End of day-Bedtime.
My next few columns I will share with you will be taken from my daily log, telling the highlights of my wonderful two weeks in Ellis County.

'Thunder at Cedar Valley' boat races headed this way

The National Boat Racing Association (NBRA) has officially issued a sanction for the "Thunder at Cedar Valley" boat races to be held July 18-19 on the Cedar Valley Reservoir owned by the City of Garnett.

The official date for testing and course set up is Friday, July 17th. Saturday and Sunday, July 18 and 19 is racing at full throttle with over 25 national championship drivers expected to be in Garnett. "The drivers and race teams are excited about this venue", says Vernon Barfield, a/k/a "Burnin Vernon"-a National Hydro Champion and Kansas event organizer.

Each driver will compete in 4 to 6 classes for cash and prizes, depending on engine size and boat type- hydroplane or runabout. Racing starts at 12:00 noon each day. A Dash for Cash event is scheduled each day at 2:00 p.m. Dash for Cash is a "Grand Prix" start from the shoreline to the finish line in one lap.

Boat races have not graced the waters of Garnett's Cedar Valley Reservoir since 2011. Thanks to the East Kansas Agri-Energy, Kansas Corn Growers Association and Renewable Fuels Association, this event returns to this site. Admission is $5 per person each race day (Saturday and Sunday) with children under 6 admitted free. There is free admission on Friday for the noon to 4 p.m. test and tune. Parking is free all weekend. "Bring your lawn chairs, coolers and ear protection", says Barfield. Intermission entertainment will be provided by barefoot skier Terry Long.

Be there for the action, cash-in on the prizes! There will be prize drawings throughout the day utilizing the race day ticket stub numbers, including a drawing both Saturday and Sunday at 4 p.m. for a flat screen TV.

Additional tickets are being sold for a special Saturday night's VIP Experience which includes a buffet meal in the VIP tent, meet and greet with drivers, followed by a lake party with deejay, karaoke and lazer light show (7-11 p.m.). Buffet includes pulled pork sliders, smoked boneless/skinless chicken, tater salad, smoked baked beans, mini corn cobs and coleslaw catered by Mom & Pop's Smoked Meats. Tickets for the Saturday night event are $12 and can be purchased in advance at the Garnett Area Chamber of Commerce Office, 131 W. 5th in Garnett, or on Saturday at the races.

The north half of Cedar Valley Reservoir will remain open for public boating all weekend during the "Thunder at Cedar Valley" boat races, July 17-19. Both of the main boat ramps, campsites and picnic areas will be open and available for public use. The south half of the reservoir's surface water will be buoyed off and closed to public boating, per agreement with the City of Garnett, for the boat races. Please refer to the "Welcome Boat Races" link at www.experiencegarnettks.com for additional information.

Cedar Valley Reservoir is located at 20499 NW 1500 Road. From US 59 in Garnett, take 7th Avenue west approximately 6 miles and follow the signs. For camping and lodging information please visit www.experiencegarnettks.com.

Garnett Lions Club elects officers at annual picnic

The Garnett Lions Club held their annual picnic at the Crystal Lake (commonly known as the South Lake) in Garnett on June 15. The club also had installation of officers.

The regular first of the month meeting was held on July 6 with Adrian Gwin and Kinsley Olson who attended the Lions State Band held at KU, who told of their experiences and thanked the club for making this possible.

The concession building the Lions purchased located at the local swimming pool is almost ready to open.

David reported on the Drop Off for eye glasses and aluminum cans located at the local Farm Bureau office is going well. A number of glasses have been given.

Upcoming events are the concessions at the Anderson County Fair.

Your support of these events is appreciated as all money goes back to the community.

AC Fire Department gets Forest Service grant

The Anderson County Fire Department (ACFD) has received State approval for a Volunteer Fire Assistance (VFA) Grant this year according to Kansas Forest Service Fire Management Coordinator, Ross Hauck.

The grants, made available through the Federal Cooperative Forestry Assistance Act, will total nearly $300,000 statewide this year. ACFD will receive $4,500 of the total.

Funding for VFA comes from the USDA Forest Service. USDA Forest Service then awards a grant to the Kansas Forest Service, which administers the program and approves the grants to local departments.

"The money is used to equip and train fire departments to prevent and suppress fires in rural areas. This is a great way for the Kansas Forest Service to assist and encourage rural community fire departments to improve their services. While the federal share usually does not constitute a large part of a department's budget, it may make a big impact on a small, volunteer department" Hauck said.

"These funds will be used to purchase upgraded communications equipment for our firefighters. This will have an immediate and direct impact on firefighter safety and our ability to provide services to the county. On behalf of Anderson County, I want to thank the Kansas Forest Service for their continued dedication to serving our department and those who we protect" said J.D. Mersman, director of the Anderson County Fire Department.

Eligible applicants serve rural areas and communities with a population of 10,000 or fewer inhabitants. Fire Departments approved for funding must match at least 50 percent of the total project cost with local funding. Applications totaled $896,800 this year. Fire departments interested in applying for grants next year should contact Ross Hauck at 785-532-3314 or via email at rhauck@kse.edu.
