THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW 2-23-2016 / Vickie Moss

Anderson County High School student Tim Comfort caught the attention of Remi Hedges - and dozens of passing motorists - with this extra-large prom proposal Friday morning, Feb. 19. The ACHS prom will be April 16.

Races start to shape up

City of Garnett, county clerk races expected to see challengers; a few incumbents file to retain seats

Election 2016

BY VICKIE MOSS

THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW

GARNETT - At least two area incumbents could face challengers in the Nov. 1 general election, including a city commissioner who actively encouraged a challenge from the two people who have filed to run for his seat.

Greg Gwin, a Garnett city commissioner up for re-election in November, told applicants who weren't selected to fill a city commission vacancy earlier this month they should consider running for election against him in the spring.

Two of those people took Gwin up on the challenge. Travis Wilson, a lifetime Garnett resident who works in the accounting department at Wolf Creek, and Paula Scott, a Desert Storm veteran originally from the New England area, have filed for Gwin's seat on the commission.

What was that? BIG BOOM

Exploding target shooting caused loud noises Saturday; product is legal, relatively safe

BY VICKIE MOSS

THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW

GARNETT - Two loud "booms" disrupted the quiet, still Saturday evening, Feb. 20, in Garnett and left residents wondering, "What was that?"

The answer: Tannerite. Or, more specifically, it was an explosive demonstration as part of a youth target shooting class at a privately owned gun range just outside the city limits.

And it's perfectly legal.

Jeff Patterson, who lives on Catalpa Street just outside the Garnett city limits, regularly hosts gun safety and shooting demonstrations at his private range. The events are targeted to children in the fourth grade and older on the second Saturday each month, usually during the spring and summer months. The events start with a Bible devotional, followed by a gun safety video. After that, the participating youth practice target shooting using Patterson's guns and ammunition.

The grand finale includes blowing up targets filled with Tannerite, the brand name for a type of burn area explosive that creates a loud boom. The product is a mixture of ammonia nitrate, a common fertilizer that was used in the Oklahoma City bombing in 1995, mixed with aluminum powder. The compound is relatively stable, nonflammable, and can only be exploded when struck by a high-velocity projectile travelling at least 2,000 feet per second. One pound of the mixture is about equal to a stick of dynamite.

Tannerite and similar products are legal to purchase, and are commonly sold next to ammunition in shooting supply stores.

The use of such products has been popularized in recent years on television shows or Wild West gun demonstrations,

Enforcement effort targets teens, seatbelts

Law officers plan to patrol around high schools before, after school until March 6

BY VICKIE MOSS

THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW

GARNETT - Parents and students beware: If you aren't wearing your seatbelt on the way to or from school, you'll likely be given a ticket.

Local law enforcement are participating in the Seat Belts Are For Everyone (SAFE) campaign, which focuses on seat belt use and other traffic violations near area high schools starting today until March 6. The goal is to increase teen seatbelt use. The campaign is hosted by the Kansas Department of Transportation's Traffic Safety Section.

Officers will increase patrols around schools before and after classes. Participating agencies include the Kansas Highway Patrol and Anderson County Sheriff's Department, along with other area law enforcement agencies.

The Anderson County Sheriff's Department has participated in the program for the past three years, Sheriff Vern Valentine said.

"We have not had to write that many citations, so keep up the good work and save your money for things you want to buy instead of giving it to the state," Valentine said. "Slow down, and wear your seatbelts."

In 2014, Kansas lost 34 teens (ages 13-19) in crashes, with 63% of those victims not being properly restrained. The hope of the enforcement is to work to increase education and enforcement on seatbelt laws. KDOT, the Kansas Traffic Safety Resource Office (KTSRO), and law enforcement partners across the state have spent more than 20 years educating Kansas teens on the dangers of driving without a seatbelt.

The Kansas SAFE program began in 2008, in southeast Kansas. It is a teen run, peer to peer program, focused on increasing teen restraint compliance through education, positive rewards, and enforcement. It is designed to bring awareness to the importance of wearing a seatbelt, reducing the number of motor vehicle-related injuries and fatalities among Kansas teens. The goal of SAFE is to increase seatbelt use among students while providing strong traffic safety messages throughout the school year.

Erratic weather week leads to warm temps, grass fires

Rain, snow possible tonight; state readies for severe weather season

BY VICKIE MOSS

THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW

Weather gets weird, sometimes.

In the past week, unseasonably warm weather and high winds sparked a fire warning with local firefighters dispatched to help fight large grass fires in nearby counties.

But by tonight, there's a slight chance that rain and snow could move in.

And in a few weeks, the state will conduct its annual tornado drill to prepare the public for the threat of severe weather.

Temperatures last week reached the upper 60s and lower 70s at times, with strong, gusty winds and low humidity. At times, sustained winds were reported between 20 and 35 mph, with gusts up to 50 mph. The highest temperature recorded was 74, which was recorded on Feb. 19 but actually reflects temperatures in the previous 24 hours, or Feb. 18. Temperatures the next two days were 69 and 67, respectively.

The weather conditions led to a burn ban Thursday and Friday, Feb. 18 and 19. The National Weather Service in Topeka issued a wind advisory Wednesday and a "Red Flag Warning" and fire watch Thursday and Friday, warning that any fires that develop would spread rapidly and outdoor burning is not recommended. A fire weather watch means that critical fire weather conditions could occur. A Red Flag warning means critical fire weather conditions are either occurring at the time or soon will.

Area firefighters responded to several reports of grass fires, including in Linn and Allen counties where crews battled very large grass fires and needed assistance.

February so far has been an erratic weather month, with temperatures dipping to 17 degrees Feb. 5, 13 and 14, as recorded at the official weather station at the Garnett Industrial Airport.

It's also been quite dry, with

Notice of county real estate analysis

(Published in The Anderson County Review, Tuesday, February 23, 2016)

Results of the Market Study Analysis for Anderson County For the Appraisal Year 2016 January 1, 2016 Pursuant to L. 1991, ch 279

A study of the real estate market in Anderson County indicated that approximately 41 percent of the non-agricultural real properties in the county will trend upward slightly in market value from 2015 to 2016. The median increase less than two percent for residential properties and less than three percent for commercial properties. 49 percent of the parcels will trend downward. The average decrease in value will be approximately two percent for residential properties and approximately two and a half percent on commercial properties. The remaining ten percent of the parcels will see no change in value. Values on specific properties change because of corrections of descriptive information based on field visits by the appraiser's office, from calibration of residential values based on comparable sales of similar properties in the county, recalibration of the county's cost tables for both residential and commercial properties or from changes to the income and expense tables for commercial properties.

In accordance with the provisions in K.S.A. 79-1476, the Property Valuation Department (PVD), Kansas Department of Revenue is required annually to furnish each county the results of its study relating to changes, if any, to the use value of agricultural land. Changes can and do occur as a result of several factors including cropping practices, commodity prices and production costs. Based on the values per acre provided by PVD the value of cropland in Anderson County will typically increase between; 14% to 32% with a median increase of 16.1% depending on the soil type. Both pastureland and tame grass values on the average will increase between; 7% to 20% with a median increase of 11.5%.

JULY 3, 1942-FEBRUARY 17, 2016

Betty Eileen (Duff) Lewis, age 73, of Garnett, Kansas, passed away on Wednesday, February 17, 2016, at her home.

Betty, the youngest of five daughters born to Leland and Hazel (Humphrey) Duff, was born on July 3, 1942 at home on the family farm near Lyndon, Kansas. She graduated from Lyndon High School in 1960 and Emporia State Teacher's College in 1964 with a BSE in art education. After graduation, she was hired as Garnett High School's first art teacher, where she taught for 2 years.

She was united in marriage to Tom Lewis on June 4, 1966, at the Presbyterian Church in Garnett, Kansas. This union was blessed with two daughters, Connie and Janet.

Betty was raised and baptized in the Presbyterian Church in Lyndon and later actively attended First Baptist Church in Garnett, where she enjoyed singing in and directing the choir. She had also served as church secretary.

Gwin has not yet filed and has not indicated if he intends to run.

There's still time for more people to jump into the race; the election filing deadline is noon June 1 at the Anderson County Clerk's office at the Courthouse in downtown Garnett. The election will be Nov. 1; if a primary is needed, it will be Aug. 2.

City elections historically have been non-partisan. City leaders, anticipating a requirement from the Kansas legislature, moved city elections from the spring to the fall. At this point, it appears the city commission positions will remain non-partisan, City of Garnett Attorney Terry Solander said.

Democrat county clerk Phyllis Gettler has filed to retain her seat, and will also face an announced opponent. Julie Heck, who works at the Franklin County Clerk's office, has announced via Facebook that she intends to file for the county clerk post as a Republican. She has not officially filed, but a Facebook post dated Feb. 15 said she is collecting signatures in order to file a petition for the office.

but those shows often feature big fireballs when the target is hit. That kind of explosion likely is caused by a different type of product, or uses fuel like gasoline.

The explosion caused by Tannerite creates a water vapor rather than a burn explosion, Patterson explained. There is no fireball, and it won't cause a fire even if you set it off on top of a bale of hay, he said. Because the product only explodes when shot by a high-velocity bullet, its use is relatively limited to target shooting.

"You mix it. Shoot it. It goes bang," Patterson said. "Who doesn't like blowing something up?"

Patterson likes to set Tannerite inside produce, especially watermelon. When the target is hit, the watermelon vaporizes in the explosion and creates a type of "watermelon rain" that entertains the youth who attend his target shooting events.

But like anything surrounding the topic of guns, the use of Tannerite and similar products comes with some degree of controversy. Neighbors have complained about Patterson's private gun range, so much so that he asked a previous sheriff to inspect the range in order to assure his neighbors that it was safe. In The Review's Phone Forum a few years ago, anonymous readers complained about the range numerous times.

The loud explosions caused during target shooting Saturday were heard throughout the city of Garnett, and several people took to social media like Facebook to ask others about the noise. Some said the booms shook their porches.

A few people called Anderson County dispatch about the noise; but it does not appear that officers were sent to investigate. Sheriff Vern Valentine said he has been called repeatedly about similar incidents using exploding targets at properties along the border between Linn and Anderson counties. He investigated the use of Tannerite and similar products, and consulted the Kansas Bureau of Investigation and the Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco, Firearms and Explosives (ATF). He discovered the use of such products is legal.

Patterson said he understands the noise might disturb his neighbors, and admits Saturday's explosions were especially loud. The lack of wind that evening helped the sound carry, but Patterson said he frequently sets off exploding targets and it isn't always as obvious except to his immediate neighbors.

Patterson has been using Tannerite for about 10 years, but has only been hosting the youth shooting events for about the past five years as a hobby. He is not a certified shooting instructor.

His goal is to introduce gun safety to youth - and occasionally, adults - who have never shot a gun before. He said it's important for people to understand how guns work and how to safely handle guns.

"Guns have a negative connotation but guns are part of the fabric of our country and they always have been. We wouldn't be a free country if we didn't have guns," Patterson said. "It's like anything, if you don't know about it, it's kind of scary. You want to make sure that if a kid comes across a gun, he's going to know how to handle it."

Participants shoot a variety of targets that aren't allowed at the gun range in Lake Garnett Park, like tomatoes or small items filled with shaving cream. His events typically include a contest with dueling plates; the first person to shoot seven plates wins. It's rewarding to see youth discover the fun and skill of shooting, he said.

"I like it when we find that awkward kid who doesn't like sports, but turns out to be a great shot," he said.

Safety is key to target shooting, Patterson said, especially when using explosives like Tannerite or similar products. Patterson said it's important to stay at least 100 yards away from the target, and to keep the area free of anything that could become shrapnel. For example, don't put Tannerite in a tin can, because the explosive force will cause the can to explode and send tin shrapnel flying. Also, don't set the target on gravel; grass or heavy steel like an anvil is better, he said.

For more information about Patterson's shooting events, contact him at (785) 448-3855.

just 0.61 inches of moisture recorded so far this month. That includes a trace of snow recorded Feb. 3, and 0.1 inches of sleet recorded Feb. 14.

Temperatures are expected to be a bit more seasonal and perhaps a little warmer than usual this week, with highs in the mid-40s until Friday, when temperatures are expected to reach 51 on Friday, 56 on Saturday, and 51 on Sunday, according to the National Weather Service at Topeka.

There's a 20 percent chance that rain and snow could move in tonight, with north winds returning with gusts as high as 30 mph through Wednesday.

Another 20 percent chance of rain is forecasted for Sunday night.

Next month, the state will recognize Severe Weather Awareness Week March 14-18, focusing on educating people about the threat of severe weather like tornadoes and floods. The statewide tornado drill will sound at 6:30 p.m., when all outdoor warning sirens in the county will sound as if a tornado were present. If severe weather is present, the sirens will not sound. The timing of the tornado drill is different this year; previously, the drill was conducted in the afternoon.

Apple's newest release: Traitor 2.0

Apple has been telling us for 30 years how smart and hip they are, and effectively convincing us we should spend twice as much on their products as on their comparable competitors. So they're certainly smart enough - and well financed enough - to unlock a terrorists' iPhone without giving the key away to either an untrustworthy government or to every Tom, Dick and Harry in the rest of the privacy-prying world.

During wartime - and this is wartime, despite the fact that most Americans are more concerned about spilling their double mocha lattes than in fighting and winning it - one might expect at least a smidge of patriotism from a company that has been such a major beneficiary of the American culture which ISIS and radical Islam want to eradicate with unspeakable violence. Though Apple CEO Tim Cook's statements of protest at a federal court order to unlock the phone of the San Bernardino gunman revolve around a blanket threat to privacy, a reading of events that led up to the court order seem to show Apple simply doesn't want to be bothered any longer with helping law enforcement protect the citizenry.

A Washington Post article published last week details the lead-up to Cook's sudden reluctance to lend a hand to law enforcement. Beginning in 2008 when Apple assisted in extracting data from a phone belonging to a suspect accused of drugging and sexually abusing children, Apple complied with around 70 requests to crack phones for investigators of one jurisdiction or another. But in 2014 the company either became irritated with a presumed responsibility to help thwart pedophiles and other criminals using its products; or, it opted to make the lofty ideal of ultimate secrecy a new pedestal of its brand identity. Either way, Cook's team wrote and distributed iPhone software that he says makes it impossible for even Apple's own geniuses to crack into a phone that's running it.

That's doubtful and most probably a lie. An upgrade that can't be upgraded? A technology element with no room for improvement? If so, it threatens the entire planned obsolescence genius that has kept Apple customers shelling out cash for one new gizmo after the next, then going to the back of the line to be first up for the improved version. Has Apple finally made a software impervious to new revenues? Those of us who don't want our kids blown up by a dirty bomb are calling horse apples.

No one in our cynically enlightened age is naive enough to give full trust to the government, because we all know that even if Edward Snowden was 98 percent wrong, he was still 2 percent right. It's not only fair to force government to defend its motives, it's paramount to assess its competence as well. That said, while internment Japanese Americans in camps during WWII was unquestionably wrong, the fact remains that wrong was eventually recognized and righted; and it would have been more wrong for the nation to lose the war.

It's hard to imagine the Apple debate occurring during WWII. In those more naive times the nation's industrialists felt an obligation to lend a hand to fight the nation's enemies instead of pontificating on self-serving philosophic arguments of privacy. We have to wonder, had Apple had an office in the World Trade Center on Sept. 11, would Cook and company be more energetic to help the Justice Department find a solution?

Instead, Apple makes billions in creating a threat that assists enemies who murder Americans, then seeks to turn its back on any responsibility. The company should be offering its help before its even asked in the interests of civic duty. As it is the company may only listen when the family members of the murdered-to-be file a class action liability lawsuit- and take their charges to social media - after a future unthinkable butchering is tied to Syed Farook's untapped iPhone.

Radical Islam doesn't care how smart Apple is or thinks itself to be; Radical Islam doesn't care if Tim Cook conducts his stockholder meetings in blue jeans with his shirttail out. Radical Islam is only concerned with a thousand year war to murder Westerners, and Cook and Apple need to determine whose side they're on.

Record your comments on the topic of your choice at (785) 448-2500, press option 1. You do not need to leave your name. Comments will be published anonymously. Calls may be edited for publication or omitted.

Reading the letter to the editor of Feb. 16, the school district needs to rein in their school counselor and the newest wife of her co-worker teacher/coach. School staff should not be calling out a patron publicly by name for writing a letter to the editor. That person never named any individual or specific situation in her letter, however the counselor's letter to the editor made the whole community question what's going on and brought more attention to the gossip. I'm sure the coach and coaches appreciated that. The counselor needs to get a thick skin and cool off her hormones. Reacting publicly in a condescending manner should make us question her competence when alone with our children (remainder of message lost).

Well, I see the county road department is getting started on their million dollar Taj Mahal. They spend big bucks on that but they can't spend any money on the county roads.

So now we know all about the Anderson County Republican caucus on March 5 because Mr. Hicks was kind enough to publish the story about his own party in his own newspaper. But I have not seen anything about the Democrat caucus in the paper. Is Mr. Hicks aware that there is more than one political party with actual voters in Anderson County? One wonders.

Have you seen the Martian invasion? The big giant red lights you see over on the western horizon at night are the ones on top of the Waverly wind farm. Man, if they're that bright all the way over here I can't wait until they're lighting up the whole side of our county too. Somebody's gonna make a killing selling thicker window curtains. Thank you.

Senate needs to hold firm on Supreme Court future

According to Sen. Elizabeth Warren, the future of the republic teeters in the balance. Unless the United States Senate bows to the will of President Barack Obama and approves his replacement for Justice Antonin Scalia on the Supreme Court, everything we hold dear will be lost.

A refusal to get with the program, Warren insists, "would threaten both the Constitution and our democracy itself. It would also prove that all the Republican talk about loving the Constitution is just that - empty talk."

This is the twisted view now prevalent on the left and in the media: It reads Article II of the Constitution giving the president the power to appoint justices with "the advice and consent" of the Senate as, in effect, an affirmative obligation on the Senate to consider and approve the president's nominees.

Might this wholly fanciful constitutional exegesis have something to do with a desire to replace Scalia, a giant of originalism, with another progressive rubber stamp? Back in 2007, Sen. Chuck Schumer, D-N.Y., a giant of clever partisan manipulations, all but pledged his life and sacred honor to blocking any further George W. Bush appointments to the Supreme Court - and somehow democracy survived.

Of course, Barack Obama can nominate whomever he likes to the Supreme Court. Of course, the Senate can block him or her. And of course, Democrats can call Republicans heedless obstructionists and try to turn the public against them. This is the natural contest between the political branches, which is a feature of the U.S. Constitution, not a bug.

At the fault line between the two elected branches, the nomination process is inherently political, and, inevitably, tensions will be highest when a president is about to leave office. The Congressional Research Service looked at rejected Supreme Court nominees a few years ago and concluded, "Opposition to the nominating President played a role in at least 16 of the 36 nominations that were not confirmed. Many of the 16 were put forward by a President in the last year of his presidency."

No doubt, Republicans will take heat for simply saying "no" to another Obama appointee to the court. But there will be none of the faux drama of a government shutdown, when the national parks are shackled and the media acts as if America's national life is on the verge of collapse. The country will be able to survive some 4-4 Supreme Court decisions, which affirm the lower-court decision.

The Senate owes President Obama no deference or consideration. He has trampled on the legislative power at every opportunity, including attempting to deem the Senate in recess on his own say-so (he lost the resulting Supreme Court case 9-0). His unconstitutional immigration and clean-power directives both have been held in abeyance by the courts.

If President Obama wanted a collegial relationship with the Republican Senate, he should have thought of that long ago. Now, he will pronounce himself shocked and saddened that Congress doesn't want to hold his coat while he remakes the high court. The Senate should hold firm, and let Elizabeth Warren and her colleagues rend their garments and gnash their teeth.

Support FFA

It goes without saying, but bears repeating - agriculture plays a key role in our daily lives in a variety of ways. This week, more than half a million FFA members will celebrate agriculture throughout the country.

National FFA Week, Feb. 20-27, provides an opportunity for FFA members, alumni and sponsors to advocate for agricultural education and this organization. It's a time to share with local, state and national audiences what FFA is and the impact it has on members every day.

The weeklong tradition began in 1948. It was designated by the National FFA Board of Directors in recognition of George Washington's legacy as an agriculturalist and farmer. FFA was founded by a group of young farmers back in 1928. Its mission is to prepare future generations for the challenges of feeding a growing population.

Today, FFA continues to help the next generation meet new agricultural challenges by helping members develop their own unique talents and explore their interests in a broad range of career pathways. In addition to those who choose life on the farm, many members progress to enjoy careers as biologists, chemists, veterinarians, engineers and entrepreneurs.

FFA chapters use this week to help share the message of agriculture with their fellow students as well as within their community. It's an opportunity to give back to their community through service projects. It's also a perfect time for members to recruit students to become FFA members.

There are a variety of events that allow a chapter to communicate with others what FFA is all about and ignite a passion for agriculture. In our community, Anderson County Farm Bureau will have their annual "Day on the Farm" in May for all the third graders in the county with the help of the Anderson County High School FFA Chapter. This is just a small sampling of how chapters amplify FFA in their schools and communities in Kansas.

Kansas Farm Bureau is a key partner in providing resources at the chapter level. During 2015, KFB and local County Farm Bureaus provided grants totaling $5,000 to FFA chapters across the state. These grants went to chapters who collaborated at the local level in planning, coordinating and implementation of agricultural related program that promote leadership and agricultural-based initiatives. Chapter grant recipients were determined through an application and selection process involving Kansas Farm Bureau and the Kansas FFA Foundation.

Last year Kansas Farm Bureau became a cornerstone partner by contributing $2,500 to the Kansas FFA teacher mentoring program. This program is designed to assist agricultural education instructors by providing resources that allow beginning teachers to become more effective in their everyday endeavors. Providing teacher-to-teacher mentors will help ensure curriculums are relevant and that agricultural education can more effectively recruit and retain instructors, who are dedicated to telling the story of agriculture to students across Kansas.

Let's all celebrate FFA and the great work of our local chapter and students during this special week.

Prairie Spirit Trail's 20th anniversary to be celebrated with event March 16

GARNETT -- It's been 20 years since the Prairie Spirit Trail officially opened for public use and the Friends of the Prairie Spirit Trail are planning a celebration to commemorate this historic milestone anniversary.

The Friends of the Prairie Spirit Trail will host this "birthday bash" event on Wednesday, March 16th at the Anderson County High School in the Commons Area. The evening will begin with a silent auction at 6 p.m., followed by a buffet meal at 6:30 p.m. Guest speakers will give presentations on the history of the 51-mile hiking and biking trail, along with updates on trail projects and upcoming Friends activities. Representatives from communities along the trail and the Kansas Department of Wildlife, Parks and Tourism have also been invited.

Tickets for the event are $10 each and can be purchased from various Friends members, also at Garnett City Hall or at the door that evening. All trail enthusiasts and friends are cordially invited to attend. The buffet dinner includes smoked brisket, cheesy potatoes, a variety of salads and birthday cake. Proceeds from past trail celebrations have been the primary funding sources for the Friends of the Prairie Spirit Trail enhancement projects, including shelters, trash receptacles, landscaping, benches, etc.

FUN FACTS: The first stretch of the Prairie Spirit Trail officially opened on March 30, 1996. Since that grand opening day 16 years ago, many people have shared the "Prairie Spirit" experience and many projects have been realized through the development of the trail. The improvement projects in Garnett are numerous and include the renovation of the Santa Fe Depot as a tourism information center, the Santa Fe Depot Walking Tile Project, a nostalgically lit pathway through town complete with benches lining the trail and native landscaping, bluebird houses for bird watching, and the new addition of way-finding kiosks.

On September 1, 1998, Phase II of the trail officially opened and extended the trail from 17 miles in length to more than 33 miles (Richmond to Ottawa). Trailheads and native landscaping were developed in the cities of Ottawa, Princeton and Richmond. The City of Ottawa and the Franklin County Historical Society have made extensive enhancements to the rail corridor within the city limits, including extending the trail to the Old Museum Depot. Picnic shelters and other amenities are ongoing Friends of the Prairie Spirit Trail projects in the communities of Welda and Richmond.

Phase III opened in 2008 connecting the first two phases to the enchanting communities of Colony, Carlyle and Iola and lengthen the trail to more than 51 miles. The city of Iola and THRIVE Allen County have been working on streetscape and trail enhancements in the southern portion of the Prairie Spirit.

2013: volunteers have created an extension of the Prairie Spirit from Iola to Humboldt called the Southwind Trail.

Today, progress continues to support linking the Prairie Spirit to the Flint Hills Nature Trail (Osawatomie to Herington) that intersects the Prairie Spirit at Ottawa, thus providing trail enthusiasts a continual connection of trails throughout Kansas, bringing visitors and potential new residents to the area and promoting a healthy, active lifestyle for the communities along the Kansas trail system.

The trail is managed by the Kansas Department of Wildlife and Parks.

Navy award medallion given to Roeckers

This beautiful Award medallion was presented to me after completion of one of my three year duty assignments while I served in the United States Navy. Every enlisted person was assigned or carried two billet assignment codes, primary and secondary. My two codes were: Aviation Structural Mechanic and Enlisted Navy Career Counselor. On this assignment I was assigned to duty as a Counselor, as this was before the Navy established the actual rating of a Navy Counselor (NC).

There are two types of Navy Counselors. Ship board or shore command which take care of already enlisted sailors. They are often referred to as "straight stick" Counselors.

Navy Counselors assist commands in organizing and implementing an aggressive enlisted career information program; evaluates enlisted career information program within own command/ or subordinate commands as applicable; supervises and coordinates interviewing and counseling efforts; counsels individuals and gives presentations to civic Counseling duties such as mine are usually performed in an office environment and work independently with very little supervision.

Why am I so proud of this Award? For all three years of this assignment, I maintained a 100% re-enlistment rating for my Squadron of those eligible to re-enlist in the United States Navy.

2006: Colony man killed in Pittsburg fire

February 21, 2006

Local and state investigators in Pittsburg have tracked some 90 leads in the February 11 fire that killed a Colony resident and a Missouri man, and so far have come up empty. Investigators say someone set the fire that killed a 23-year-old Colony man and a 21-year-old man from Peculiar, Mo. The bodies of both men were found after the blaze at the house they lived in had been extinguished.

City officials hope a refinancing plan for some $2.38 million in debt on its three elderly housing projects will help ease financial pressure brought on by higher expenses and static federal subsidies. City commissioners approved a plan Tuesday night by city staff to pursue a refinancing of the bonds on its federally subsidized Parkside I and Parkside II elderly living facilities, as well on the premium, private-pay Park Plaza North facility.

tinderbox conditions in most of the state. Anderson County has seen a large number of grass fires in recent weeks, the latest on Friday when county firemen responded three times during the day to a fire near Mont Ida.

Property owners in Anderson County will get notice in Saturday's mail about their property valuations. Which county appraiser Gary Stapp said overall will increase after the latest valuations are completed early this week. Market forces which drove selling prices up for residential properties last year and resulted in a large number of sales were responsible for last year's general valuation increases, and Stapp said the same forces appear to be at work this year. "Sale prices of residential property are up," Stapp said. "Especially out in the county- a house with a few acres is pretty hot right now."

Governor John Carlin has designated March 10-15 as "Severe Weather Awareness Week" in Kansas. As severe weather season approaches, Anderson County Civil Defense Coordinator Gary Benjamin says he is confident the county's civil defense program is adequate to meet demands. According to statistics compiled over the last 36 years and released Thursday by the National Weather Service, nearly 60 percent of all tornadoes occurred in May and June. The same statistics said 91 percent of the resulting deaths and 83 percent of the injuries have occurred within the same time period.

Fifteen volunteers from the Crest High School American History and Government classes will participate in the National Citizen Bee contest next Wednesday. Competition will be organized along the lines of the old time spelling bees with contestants being eliminated by failing to answer a question about U.S History or Government.

Bulldog girls struggle offensively in 43-30 loss to Prairie View

GARNETT – The Anderson County girls' offensive woes led to a 43-30 loss to Prairie View at home Friday.

The last time these two teams squared off it was an offensive struggle that the Bulldogs were able to win 27-25. Prairie View had a slim 7-5 lead after the first eight minutes, but massed a strong second quarter comeback that saw them build that lead up to 19-13 at the halftime break. AC could chip just one point off the lead in the third period before PV launched a 20-point fourth period barrage to seal the deal.

Maci Rockers was the only Bulldog to get into double figures with 12 points.

BY KEVIN GAINES THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW

GARNETT – A rough start to the game just seemed too much to overcome for the Bulldogs in Friday's 48-39 loss to Prairie View.

Chase Ratliff scored the only bucket of the first period. The Buffaloes countered with 10 points to take an 8-point lead. D'Anthony Fredrick kept the Bulldogs in the game in the second period by scoring 7 of the teams 14 points, but the first quarter deficit would prove just too far out of reach.

Coming out of halftime, Anderson County was determined to cut into the 6-point halftime deficit. Fredrick, Justin Rockers and Mason Skiles all hit a three-pointer in the third quarter to cut the deficit to 34-30 heading to the final quarter. Prairie View kept the Bulldogs at arm's length by hitting 6 of 7 free throws in the fourth quarter to close out the victory.

COLONY – The Crest Lancers pulled away from Jayhawk-Linn in the second half Thursday to a 52-36 final victory.

The Jayhawks played the Lancers tight in the first half. The Lancers jumped out to a five-point advantage after the first quarter and the Jayhawks knocked one point off that lead at intermission, cutting the lead to 23-19. What little window still remained for the Jayhawks narrowed in the third period and closed in the fourth quarter.

Head Coach Travis Hermreck was happy with the way his team bounced back after a big loss just two days earlier.

"I am very proud of this win. The boys did a good job picking themselves up after a blowout loss Tuesday night," he said.

"They played very well together and looked more like the team we have been expecting to see," Hermreck stated.

Leading the way for the home Lancers was Garrett Sipe with 18 points and 10 rebounds. Sipe was on fire from three-point land hitting 4 of 7 on the night.

Hunter Frazell and Evan Godderz both had 8 points, 6 assists and 4 rebounds.

Lebo dominates Crest boys

BY KEVIN GAINES THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW

LEBO – The Lebo Wolves were firing on all cylinders as they rolled to a 70-37 victory Tuesday night against the Crest Lancers.

"Some nights you don't play very well and your opponent does," Head Coach Travis Hermreck said matter-of-factly.

The Lancers fell behind by 9 after the first and were down big at halftime, 34-14.

"Our offensive struggles snowballed on us and the way Lebo was shooting the ball it didn't give us much breathing room," Hermreck said.

Hunter Frazell tried to spark the Lancers in the third quarter by scoring 10 points including two three-pointers. Lebo countered with five three-pointers of their own and scored 23 points to finish off the Lancers.

Hermreck said he just wants his team to learn from the loss and move forward.

"We just have to pick ourselves up off the floor and find a way to bounce back on Thursday," he stated.

Frazell led the team in scoring with 15 points on the night.

Box Score
Crest 7 7 17 6 - 37
Lebo 16 18 23 12 - 70

Vikings struggle in loss to Chargers

BY KEVIN GAINES THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW

RICHMOND – The Santa Fe Trail Chargers cruised to a 45-31 victory Tuesday night in a big road win over the Central Heights Vikings girls.

Central Heights played a solid first quarter, trailing 12-9 after the first quarter, but the game took a turn for the worst midway through the second quarter and the Vikes could never recover.

"We came out aggressive and played tough the first quarter and a half. We then lost our way and couldn't regain our toughness on the defensive end," head coach Scott Lane stated. The Chargers would use that momentum and lead 25-16 at halftime.

Box Score
Santa Fe Trail 12 13 15 5 - 45
Central Heights 9 7 6 9 - 31

Santa Fe Trail – Simmons 13, Dunaway 9, Stone 6, Herren 5, Johnson 4, Johnson 3, Workman 4, Guyle 1

Central Heights – Markley 9, Sheldon 6, Cotter 4, Bell 3, Burson 2, Stockard 2, Hale 2, Folsom 2, Davis 1

Power bowl lunches are healthy trend

One of the hottest food trends for 2016 are meals in a bowl - power bowls. Complex carbohydrates, nutrient dense vegetables, high-quality protein and heart-healthy dressings will put your hunger to rest.

A power bowl is simply a bowl filled with a balanced variety of clean, natural, unprocessed foods. Start with a moderate to large-sized bowl, a wooden, bamboo, or ceramic bowl works. Line the bowl with a layer of greens (spinach, kale, etc.), fill with your choice of veggies, whole grains or legumes, nuts, seeds, and a healthy protein source. It's like eating all five ChooseMyPlate serving groups in one bowl.

Protein should be lean meat, fish, poultry, lentils, edamame, or beans. Buddha (vegetarian) bowls use plant proteins like quinoa or lentils with a variety of vegetables.

A combination of protein and fiber-rich carbohydrates will fill you up and keep your energy levels high. So the next ingredient could be one of the ancient grains - quinoa, amaranth, millet, or lentils and beans. There are so many beans to choose from - adzuki beans, black, cannellini beans, chickpeas, kidney beans, lima beans, mung beans, navy beans, or pinto beans. Roasted sweet potatoes are another good source of slowly digested starch that's loaded with phytonutrients.

Be liberal with the veggies like broccoli, cauliflower, Brussels sprouts, cabbage, turnips, carrots, and radishes. Roast the vegetables to bring out their natural sweetness.

Top the veggies off with a sprinkling of nuts and seeds for some crunchiness. You can add a hint of sweet with some blueberries, raspberries, blackberries, strawberries, or dried cranberries.

For a finished power bowl, choose a homemade dressing for that burst of flavor. Make basic vinaigrette of ¼ cup Balsamic vinegar (or other vinegar), ½ cup extra virgin olive oil, a pinch of salt and spices of your choice. Mix ingredients and refrigerate.

Some power bowl suggestions are:

Power bowl chop salad with cucumber, tomato, celery, kidney beans, shrimp and seed crackers.

Power bowl with spinach, peppers, cucumber tomatoes, olives, roasted chickpeas, raw sunflower seeds, green onion, and fresh basic with balsamic lime dressing.

Power bowl with spinach. Kale, chard, red peppers, red cabbage, beet kraut, hemp seeds with spicy tahini sauce.

Tuna power bowl with spring mix, red cabbage, avocado, celery, red onion, Fuji apple, and lime juice.

Power bowl salad with peppers, onion, Japanese sweet potatoes, sundried tomatoes, avocado, green goddess dressing, and sesame seeds.

Black Bean Burrito Bowl - serves 8

4 15-ounce cans of whole black beans and liquid

1 teaspoon ground cumin
1 teaspoon garlic powder.
½ cup chopped cilantro
3 cups uncooked rice, white or brown

sliced red cabbage ripe avocado, peeled and cut into chunks
fresh tomato salsa

Queso fresco Mexican farmer's cheese (goat cheese, ricotta, feta)

sour cream
Simmer black beans and liquid with cumin and garlic powder for a few minutes to heat beans through. Take off heat and add cilantro. Cook rice.

To construct burrito bowl, place a serving of cooked rice on bottom of bowl. Top with black beans. Add thinly sliced cabbage, chopped avocados, chopped cilantro, queso fresco and sour cream.

Old is new again: Your online raffle

HOW TO SELL STUFF

Dane Hicks
Review Publisher

In the old days, if you held a store raffle you put a box on a table with some slips of paper and a pen or two. But there's this new thing nowadays called "The Internet" (I'm still not sure it's ever going to really take off) and the whole idea of a store raffle has changed.

In those old days, your raffle probably depended upon store traffic - if store traffic was slow, you probably didn't get much response to your raffle. Maybe you ran the promotion for a month or more to garner more entries. And you may not even have used the raffle to pick up vital entrant info for your customer list, like phone numbers, addresses or email addresses.

Enter the digital age, and you can do the whole kit & caboodle online through your social media or internet advertising efforts.

Services like Rafflecopter offer the whole setup in minutes for relatively low cost and sometimes even free (though most free models are pretty limited in what they will do for you and the amount of data you can collect).

The great advantage to these services is that they provide an access point for your website traffic, Facebook or other social media audience to interact with your company in a way that's completely convenient for them - they'll see the link to your raffle and can respond 24 hours a day.

All you do is:

1) decide on a prize - you can debate on the type of prize, but it needs to be a good one if you want to generate buzz for it. If you're a restaurant, consider a free meal a week for a year; a sporting goods store - a free pair of choice athletic shoes. Remember, no one will go out of their way to register for a drawing for a hat with your logo on it. To get mileage out of your drawing, you have to offer something worthwhile.

2) Program the software service. They're all pretty easy and self-explanatory. After you answer some questions about the specifics of your raffle, they output a chunk of code or a "widget" you then copy and paste to your website, Facebook or other social media page.

3) Run the drawing for at least 30 days - longer if what you're offering is really good.

4) The reason you run the promo for an extended period is that you want enough time for some viral influence to attach itself to your promotion. Ideally you want your Facebook followers to "Share" the post containing the link - so always remember to ask folks to share it to help you spread the word. Some will - especially established customers who are enamored with you and your level of service and will want to lend you a hand.

The software yields sign-up info to turn into a mailing list, etc., for further promotion - the system harvests all the data for you. Check the details of the software you opt for in the end so you know up front what you get. Regardless, an online raffle is a new twist on an old gimmick that can build customer relationships and help you sell stuff!

We must call on the name of the Lord to be saved

In Romans chapter 10:1-2, the Apostle Paul expresses his concern for the salvation of the Jews stating, "Brothers my heart's desire and prayer to God for the Israelites is that they may be saved. For I can testify about them that they are zealous." Paul speaks from personal experience here and is referring to his Jewish heritage mentioned in Philippians 3:3-6, where he classified himself a Pharisee and zealous in persecuting the church of Jesus Christ.

When Paul asks the question in Romans 10:8; "But what does it say?" He is pointing to the difference in a righteousness that is by law and a righteousness that is by faith in Jesus Christ. A righteousness by law is based on obedience to a standard which in this case was the Ten Commandments plus all the requirements the Pharisees had burdened the Israelites with to enhance their own status. The Pharisees and the teachers of the law had established requirements in addition to the Ten Commandments which they could achieve but the bulk of the population could not.

Prior to his conversion on the road to Damascus in Acts 9 the apostle Paul was the chief persecutor of the church of Jesus Christ. In Romans 10:9, Paul clearly states the plan of salvation, "That if you confess with your mouth Jesus is Lord and believe in your heart that God raised him from the dead, you will be saved." Paul says concerning the Israelites in 10:2, "For I (Paul) can testify about them that they are zealous for God, but their zeal is not based on knowledge. Since they did not know the righteousness that comes from God and sought to establish their own, they did not submit to God's righteousness."

Paul says in Romans 10:10; "For it is with your heart that you believe and are justified, and it is with your mouth that you confess and are saved." God prepares a person to be saved. He prepares one's heart and as a result that person's heart is changed. The reason for Paul's concern for the Israelites was because they had not had any change of heart. They were taking a legalistic approach to God which was based on keeping rules.

The Apostle Paul was the apostle to the Gentiles. The Israelites wanted no part of admitting Gentiles into the kingdom of God and they clashed with Paul. Paul preached that there was no difference between Jew and Gentile in God's eyes but that is not how the Jews viewed it. Paul quotes the Old Testament prophet Joel in Romans 10:13; "Everyone who calls on the name of the Lord will be saved." This Lenten season is a good time for self-examination of where we are at in our faith journey. The question we must answer is: "Have we called on the Lord has our heart been changed?"

Richmond Library starts year with many activities

It's a new year. What's going on at the Richmond Public Library?

In January the library celebrated Kansas' birthday on January 29. First the adults had a "What Foods Make You Think of Kansas" party. Everyone brought what they thought of as Kansas foods.

After school the kids came to the library to make sunflower cupcakes and eat popcorn. Who doesn't think of corn when you think of Kansas?

The story time kids made New Year's crackers with treats inside for the new year and each child received a party horn to blow. These kids also got to eat sunflower cupcakes for Kansas Day.

February 5, the adults had a Super Bowl party, where everyone brought Super Bowl snacks.

On Friday February 12, the library had its annual "Chocolate Day" in honor of Valentine's Day. Attendees made chocolate suckers and decorate mini cupcakes.

March 2 the library will be celebrating Dr. Seuss's birthday, with Dr. Seuss crafts for Story Time and for school kids after school.

The library staff also are making plans for Spring Break in March. They hope to have events for the kids during this time.

National FFA Week • Feb. 20-27, 2016

Crest celebrates FFA Week

The Crest FFA Chapter will be participating in the Nation Wide FFA Week on February 22-27.

Each year, FFA chapters around the country celebrate National FFA Week. The week-long tradition began in 1947 when the National FFA Board of Directors designated the week of George Washington's birthday as National FFA Week in recognition of his legacy as an agriculturist and farmer. The first National FFA Week was held in 1948. This week is a week that gives the FFA a chance to show the school what the organization is all about. Every day there are activities planned to get the school and the community involved.

Throughout the week the students will be dressing up showing pride for their school, their community, and their dedication to our FFA chapter.

The Crest FFA members want to show great support and appreciation to our agriculture filled communities by holding a breakfast in Colony on Tuesday, Feb. 23, and in Kincaid on Thursday, Feb. 25. These events will be free will donation and will start at 6:30 a.m. Both breakfasts will be in the community centers.

"We greatly appreciate the outstanding support our communities have shown for our FFA Chapter and invite you all to join us for morning full of FFA, friends, and good food," Crest FFA members said.

A Brief History of the National FFA Organization

The passage of the Smith-Hughes Vocational Education Act in 1917 not only provided federal funds to states for high school courses in vocational education (agriculture, family and consumer sciences, and trades and industries) – but it also led to the idea for an organization that is known today as the National FFA Organization.

In the early 1920s, just a few years after the Smith-Hughes Act was enacted, Virginia formed a Future Farmers of Virginia club for boys in agriculture classes. Other states soon followed Virginia's lead and formed their own Future Farmers organizations. The next logical next step was to create a national organization to bring together all of the state organizations.

In 1928, a group of vocational agriculture students were in Kansas City, Mo., for the third annual National Congress of Vocational Agriculture Students, which was held during the American Royal Livestock and Horse Show. On Nov. 20, 33 of those students from 18 states met at the Baltimore Hotel in Kansas City and formed the Future Farmers of America.

FFA was for young men who were studying vocational agriculture in public secondary schools, and the new organization was designed to develop agricultural leadership, character, thrift, scholarship, cooperation, citizenship and patriotism.

The organization was structured on three levels – local, state and national – with students starting their FFA experience by joining a local chapter at their school, where the agriculture teacher serves as the chapter advisor. As part of the larger program that is now called agricultural education, FFA members are encouraged to participate in all three components of the program: (1) classroom/laboratory work (through enrollment in agriculture classes); (2) membership in FFA; and (3) hands-on work experience through the supervised agricultural experience program.

Each FFA chapter develops and follows an annual program of activities, and all members share in planning the program and participate in its execution. Through their participation, members learn how to take part in meetings, follow parliamentary procedure, speak in public and cooperate with their fellow students.

Student officers are elected on each level to lead the organization's activities, and FFA members receive recognition for their achievements through competition and award programs. The annual national convention and expo offers FFA members an opportunity to come together from across the country and celebrate their accomplishments over the past year.

By 1935, FFA membership had topped 100,000 with more than 3,900 chapters in 47 states, Hawaii and Puerto Rico. That same year, the New Farmers of America was established to provide leadership opportunities to African-American students enrolled in vocational education classes.

Land was purchased in Alexandria, Va., for the National FFA Headquarters in 1939, and in 1944, the National FFA Foundation was created to raise funds from business and industry to help support the many new programs being developed for the growing FFA membership. In 1950, Public Law 740 was passed by the U.S. Congress, granting FFA a federal charter and requiring that a U.S. Department of Education staff member be the national FFA advisor.

FFA membership took a leap in 1965 when 58,000 members of the New Farmers of America merged with the Future Farmers of America. This followed an act of Congress that prohibited segregation in public schools. Four years later, delegates at the 1969 National FFA Convention voted to allow women to be members of FFA.

In 1976, Alaska became the 50th state to obtain a state charter. A membership high was recorded in 1977, with 509,735 members in 8,148 chapters in all 50 states, Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands.

By the 1980s, the Future Farmers of America had become more than an organization for rural farm students. In 1988, the delegates at the 61st National FFA Convention voted to change the organization's official name from Future Farmers of America to the National FFA Organization. This change was made to recognize that FFA is not only for those interested in farming, but it is also for those with more diverse interests in the industry of agriculture, encompassing science, business and technology in addition to production farming.

The late 1990s marked a period of location changes for the National FFA Organization. The National FFA Center was moved from Alexandria, Va., to Indianapolis, Ind., where a new building was dedicated on July 20, 1998. And after 70 years in the same city, the national FFA convention was held for the last time in Kansas City, Mo., in 1998. The 72nd National FFA Convention in 1999 moved to Louisville, Ky., where it remained for seven years; in 2006, the national FFA convention moved to Indianapolis. Attendance at the national convention and expo reached an all-time high in 2012 when 56,167 FFA members, advisors and supporters came to Indianapolis for the 85th National FFA Convention & Expo. From 2013-2016, the convention and expo will take place once again in Louisville and then return to Indianapolis in 2017.

Over the years, FFA has shown the value it places on service to country and community. This was never more evident than in 2005. Following Hurricane Katrina, the National FFA Organization raised more than $835,000 through their Seeds of Hope campaign to help FFA members, chapters and agricultural education facilities affected by the hurricane.

Today, the National FFA Organization is a premier youth leadership organization with more than 550,000 members in 7,490+ chapters in all 50 states, Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands. The FFA mission is to make a positive difference in the lives of students by developing their potential for premier leadership, personal growth and career success through agricultural education.

For more information about the history of the National FFA Organization, visit the website of the National FFA Archives at Indiana University- Purdue University Indianapolis (IUPUI).
