Ethanol tanker wrecks, spills fuel

Hazardous materials crew called to remove thousands of gallons of ethanol from tanker

BY VICKIE MOSS THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW

GARNETT - Hazardous material crews were called to remove several thousand gallons of ethanol out of a tanker and ditch near U.S. 169 Thursday, Oct. 6, after a wreck.

A semi-tanker overturned on Main Street at about 8:45 a.m. Thursday, rupturing one of five chambers and spilling a majority of the 2,400 gallons of ethanol inside that chamber, according to a report from the Anderson County Sheriff's Department. The tanker apparently strayed onto the rain-soften road shoulder where it sunk in and flipped a few hundred yards from the East Kansas Agri-Energy ethanol plant. The truck had just filled up with 8,190 gallons of ethanol when it overturned.

The semi slid into the ditch and rolled onto its side. Fuel tankers are divided into separate chambers to avoid spilling their whole load in the event of a puncture. The last of the tanker's five chambers carrying

The next tax sale, set for 1 p.m. Oct. 24 at the Anderson County Courthouse, 100 E. Fourth Ave., Garnett, will clear up delinquent property taxes through 2011 with a total owed to the county of

Rain blamed for damage, two wrecks

Race car revival events adjusted because of soaked ground; road quickly fixed

BY VICKIE MOSS THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW

GARNETT - Wet weather last week led organizers of a retro race car event to scramble plans at the last minute, and played a role in at least two wrecks.

About four inches of rain fell over a three-day period last week, soaking a county that already has seen nearly double its average rainfall in each of the two months prior. The Garnett Industrial Airport, which is the official weather monitoring station for the area, received 0.74 inches of rain the

Four Winds Chapter members attend Naturalization Ceremony at Fort Scott

The Four Winds Chapter of the National Society of the Daughters of the American Revolution attended a Naturalization Ceremony at the Fort Scott National Historic Site in Fort Scott, KS, on Friday, September 30, 2016. The Honorable Teresa J. James presided over the ceremony in which approximately 95 individuals, representing over 30 countries, took the Oath of Allegiance to become United States citizens.

The ceremony began with the presentation of the colors by the Pittsburg State University Army ROTC. Welcome remarks were given by Holly Baker, a representative with the Fort Scott National Historic Site and Dave Martin, the city manager of Fort Scott. An administrative official from U.S. Citizenship and Immigration Services then provided the introduction of the new citizens. Each applicant's name, occupation, and former country of citizenship were read. This was followed by the Oath of Allegiance. Prospective citizens were asked to stand and declare that they will renounce all allegiance to any other country, while promising to support and defend the Constitution of the United States of America.

Patriotic music during the ceremony was provided by the Fort Scott High School Band, Orchestra and Choir. Following the ceremony, four members of the Four Winds Chapter, Donna Roberts, Carla Ewert, Peggy Brecheisen and Brigitte Brecheisen-Huss congratulated all of the new citizens, while presenting them with double American flag pins. The event was an incredible opportunity for the chapter to honor the patriotic roots of immigration. It was an honor to be able to participate in the excitement of such a momentous event in a beautiful, historic setting.

AC volleyball splits games at Wellsville

BY KEVIN GAINES THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW
WELLSVILLE - The Lady Bulldogs opened the Cardinal triangular with a two set win over Osawatomie before dropping a three set game to host Wellsville to finish 1-1 on the evening.

Anderson County rolled over Oz in the opener 25-13 and 25-7 and gained a little confidence heading into the game against Wellsville, who had just knocked them off in two sets only three days before in tournament play. It appeared the Bulldogs figured some things out as they won the opening set 25-23 in a hard fought battle.

It would be all Wellsville in the second and third sets though as the Eagles hammered out identical scores of 25-4 to close out the win.

"We started with a good win over Oz," head coach Glenn Suderman stated. "Against Wellsville our first set was strong. In sets 2 and 3 we lost our focus," he added.

Lexee Feuerborn and Alexey Lickteig led the Bulldogs with 6 aces each. Jasmine Whilte had 11 kills and Samantha Nickell added 9 kills of her own.

Katelyn Alley had 31 assists as she was successful on 93% of her sets on the evening.

2,400 gallons was ruptured, the contents spilling into the ditch and running downhill toward U.S. Highway 169. Valentine said the exact amount of lost ethanol was undetermined.

Ethanol is grain alcohol mixed with 2 percent unleaded gasoline to make it undrinkable. It is highly flammable and corrosive to rubber and certain composites, which made it necessary for emergency response crews and firefighters to call in a special Hazardous Material Response Team from Olathe.

The HazMat team used a special vacuum to remove the spilled ethanol from the ditch. Before the tanker could be hauled away, crews needed to unload it. That was difficult to do with the tanker on its side; holes were drilled into the chambers and the fuel removed. A HazMat professional climbed onto the top of the tanker to drill several holes, in a precarious and dangerous position. The fuel was removed without serious incident. Several 50-gallon barrels were brought in to hold the ethanol.

Crews left the scene and reopened the road a little after 5 p.m., more than eight hours after the wreck.

The driver of the semi was Carl Gilner, 54, of Paola. The vehicle was owned by Triple Creek Transport, a company based in Welda and owned by Thane McDaniel.

It's too early to know what kind of financial loss will result from the accident, Valentine said. Loss includes the ethanol, the damage to the semi and tanker, as well as the cost of the cleanup of hazardous materials.

In addition to the sheriff's department and hazardous material cleanup crews, agencies involved included the Garnett and Anderson County fire departments, the Garnett Police Department and Kansas Highway Patrol. Employees of the EKAE ethanol plant also stood by for support, Valentine said.

Central Heights run over by Council Grove

BY KEVIN GAINES THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW
RICHMOND - Council Grove seized control early on and cruised to a 47-6 victory over Central Heights last week.

The Braves scored first on a 20 yard run and quickly scored again on a 60 yard interception return just a couple minutes into the game.

Council Grove continued to dominate the first quarter leading 28-0 and stretched that lead out to 41-0 heading into the halftime break.

The Vikings defense was battered all night by the Braves ground attack as they allowed over 400 yards on the ground for nearly 10 yards per carry.

In politics, sure things for Kansas

With the bluster and banter of the U.S. Presidential contest stealing the attention from down-ballot races, it's reassuring to know there are some sure things in Kansas elections this cycle.

Before it does anything else, government's first job is security of our nation and our localities. Fifth District Representative Kevin Jones gains our endorsement for his work on the Military, Veteran and Homeland Security Committee in the Kansas House. Jones, a former U.S. Army Green Beret and Iraq War vet, supports House Concurrent Resolution 5024 urging the U.S. President not to send terrorist detainees to the U.S. Military Stockade at Leavenworth, Ks. Jones has also pressed forward for HB 2661 to prohibit the relocation of refugees from certain countries to the state of Kansas.

Jones also introduced HB 2591 through committee which became law in July, to streamline concealed carry licensing in the state for active duty military personnel. He fought hard for needed funds to keep Osawatimie State Hospital viable, and successfully requested the Legislative Coordinating Council to commission an interim committee to study and produce 2017 legislation for Kansas state hospitals and the Kansas mental health system.

He's a small businessman, served his local community admirably in the Wellsville area as a member of the local school board and a member of the Franklin County Planning Commission. Jones is a grounded individual, educated both formally and with a world view unique in recent times to an American soldier. For the diverse challenges that face Kansas in coming years, Jones is as solid as they come.

Senate seat, Caryn Tyson has mounted a conscientious and common sense fight for Kansans on a number of fronts. She and other senators passed a bill to remove the sales tax on food, which hits every Kansan's wallet, but House members rejected it. She successfully pushed for legislation to require electronic checks of applications for state welfare assistance to save the state millions in welfare fraud before the funds are ever paid.

Though it never made headlines, Tyson and others banded together to protect rural property owners by stopping legislation that would have allowed foreign-owned corporations to buy Kansas farmland to be used for large-scale animal confinement operations like hog factories. She supported our rural schools by getting legislation passed that prioritizes our rural and poor school districts in receiving state funds available for school buildings.

Perhaps most immediately critical for residents of eastern Anderson County, Tyson supported the repeal of the wind farm energy mandate that forces Kansas power companies to purchase exorbitantly-priced windmill power and has helped drive up electricity rate increases on Kansas' power customers as those companies try to recoup the bureaucratic expense. The failure of the effort - by a single vote in the House - means out-of-state corporations seeking to dodge their taxes through federal tax credits can continue to assail the rural Kansas landscape with the aesthetic and financial scourge of wind farms. Tyson has shown she stands for common sense Kansas values and I just wanted to say I really kind of liked the analogy of the Dukes of Hazard. It doesn't take a whole lot of imagination to figure out who could play the parts of Boss Hogg, Roscoe P. Coltrane, Cooter, Enis and Cletis. We've got almost a full cast here in town.

Now that the Lake Garnett Grand Prix Revival is over with, maybe next year they can charge another small fee for the upkeep of Park Road and Oak Street and maybe a little larger stop sign and speed limit sign so the revival people will know to stop, slow down and maybe stay on the lake. Thank you.

I have to laugh because this election just gets better every minute. Trump's talking (deleted) about women. Oh my. I seem to recall what Hillary had to say about the women her husband kept chasing before, during and after while they were in the White House. They say Trump talks like he wants to abuse women. Know anybody who ever shared a cigar with Bill Clinton? I do. Stay tuned folks. Thank you.

All you folks who keep wanting to kick the city manager out of the door, I hope you have some idea who the city is going to hire next who's qualified and will work for the money she did and even stay a couple of years in your great little burg of a town. You will eat your words I promise you.

God Bless America. The nuns at my Catholic Grade School taught us to respect our elected officials, no matter if they're the city commissioner, police chief or president of the United States, these people were elected by the majority of voters. They often get more criticism than they do thanks. If I want to vote for female Wall Street loving, crooked Hillary Clinton, and you want to vote for racist, woman-hating, bankruptcy king Donald Trump, that doesn't make you right and me wrong or vice versa. So shame on the person who criticized the character of somebody who displays a Clinton yard sign. What kind of blind hatred example are you setting for your children and grandchildren? Everybody knows Kansas will go Republican, so only a very brave and patriotic person would display that yard sign. I hope you enjoy the crow you're going to be eating when the majority of Americans who think a lot of this country elect the first female president of the United States. But by some miracle if Russian hack-job Trump wins, I'll support him too. It's called Democracy. Thank you.

I just have to respond to the two imbeciles in last week's Forum, paragraph three and paragraph nine to be exact. I would bet that your two brains together would equal that of a deceased Dodo. However I'm going to help you. Listen carefully: the world's not flat, pork does not come from porcupines, and manual labor is not the president of Mexico. See, I've increased your knowledge immensely. You don't have to thank me.

I still want to say something about that fire in Garnett that took the life of that couple. There's a guy telling everybody in town that he rescued all three of those boys. People, do not listen to this guy, it is not true. I was there. The two oldest boys got out on their own and the littlest was pulled out by a sheriff's deputy. I don't know if this guy's trying to get people to give him money or congratulate him or what. As your paper mentioned, they ran this guy off from the fire, and yet he saved all these boys? This man did nothing but cuss the cops out. Please do not listen to this guy. He is lying. Thank you.

The media freakout and liberal panic

We are in the midst of an epic media freakout.

It is a subset of a larger liberal panic over Donald Trump's strength in the general election. The mood of the center-left is, "America, how dare you?" The outraged incomprehension is seeping into and, increasingly, driving the media's coverage of the race.

The freakout began a few weeks ago when Donald Trump started to close the polling gap with Hillary Clinton, and picked up intensity as the race essentially became a tie. The media is going to be in a perpetual state of high anxiety and dudgeon until Election Day.

The press is playing catch-up. It didn't take much foresight to realize that giving Trump $2 billion worth of free publicity in his primary battle might help him win his party's nomination. Still, it was all fun and games as long as the ratings were good and Trump trailed Hillary.

Not anymore. There have been two seminal events in the freakout. The first was the absurdly over-the-top criticism of Matt Lauer for not being tough enough on Trump at an NBC national-security forum. Lauer couldn't have satisfied his critics short of slapping Trump in the face and demanding, "Have you no sense of decency, sir?"

The second was a New York Times "news analysis" on Trump's disavowal of birtherism that was intended as an exemplary act of journalistic aggression - a rhetorical assault

NATIONAL COMMENTARY

RICH LOWRY, King Features Syndicate

worthy of the poison pen of Maureen Dowd that led the paper with the extremely hostile headline, "Trump Gives Up a Lie, But Refuses to Repent."

Some of the anti-Trumpism in the press has been expressed in pointless and annoying gestures, such as CNN's practice of fact-checking Trump's statements in snarky chyrons at the bottom of the screen.

More significantly, Lester Holt tilted anti-Trump during the debate. Trump got tougher questions than Clinton, who was spared queries on matters such as the Clinton Foundation and Benghazi. And he fact-checked Trump in real time twice, arguably getting his correction of Trump about a complex stop-and-frisk case wrong. Notably, Holt got positive reviews.

Trump is indeed a different kind of animal and has stressed every institution that has encountered him over the past year, from the Republican National Committee to rival campaigns to the press. But the current media freakout is hard to take, and a mistake.

One, it is galling, since the media is collectively deciding to give up on an objectivity that it never had. John McCain and Mitt Romney, upstanding, honorable men who weren't allegedly threats to the republic, were on the receiving end of more negative coverage than Barack Obama.

Two, it speaks to a certain contempt for the media's fellow citizens, who are presumed incapable of rationally evaluating the candidates without its thumb on the scale.

Three, if Trump loses, the press will go right back to its pose of objectivity. Whereas the only good thing about the media's current jag is that it might represent movement toward a more British-style (and traditional American-style) journalism, with outlets forthrightly acknowledging their partisan allegiances.

Nothing is going to dissuade the press from its current course, though. There is no reasoning with fear and loathing.

Budget estimating shifts burden to legislators

There are inside-the-Statehouse maneuvers that most Kansans don't have a lot of reason to take interest in—but which shake the ground inside the building where everyone is looking for a political or tactical advantage.

It appears that Gov. Sam Brownback's not-very-catchily named "Governor's Consensus Revenue Estimating Working Group" is one of those maneuvers.

The goal: To have that six-member Consensus Revenue Estimating Group, which includes two members of the governor's staff, a member of the Legislature's Research Department and three university-named economists, come up with the most accurate estimates possible of the revenue coming into the state treasury.

The closer the estimate, the more accurately the governor and Legislature can assemble a budget and make tax policy for the state. You gotta know where you are financially to make decisions on where you're going. That's pretty simple.

It's why you shop for a Chevy, not a Cadillac.

So, the working group came up with some suggestions—more data, more input from industry folks, bankers and others—to improve the state revenue estimating process. Those estimates in recent years have generally been less than actual receipts, which means that budgets have to be cut and shuffled to make it through the fiscal year.

Now, those changes Brownback's panel suggested probably aren't all bad. The more information you have, the better estimate you get and the better taxing and spending decisions you make.

But...while that sounds good, legislators are starting to wonder why just now

STATE COMMENTARY

MARTIN HAWVER, At The Rail

Brownback wants these changes made in a decades-old estimating procedure.

Many are thinking about timing. The new and likely more accurate estimates aren't likely to be made before the key date of Nov. 10. That's when the Consensus Revenue Estimating Group is scheduled to produce its estimate of revenues for the remainder of this fiscal year, next fiscal year and the one after. Those are the figures that the governor uses to craft his budget to present to the Legislature in January when the 2017 session opens.

Probably a good time to mention that this January will be Brownback's last budget submission to the Legislature, now that he's put the state on a two-year, or biennial, budget system, which means this will be the budget for the last two years of the second and last term of his governorship.

Don't count on that altered, and presumably more accurate, budget estimating process to get into full gear until May 1. Once the fully-ramped up and presumably more accurate budget estimate process is in full gear, it's likely to present that likely lower budget estimate to the Legislature on May 1.

And...that's where things get interesting. Legislators are near-certain that as usual, the actual revenues flowing into the state won't support the governor's budget, so they will be the ones who have to cut spending on the last few days of the session, taking out those politically popular/necessary spending items that Brownback will have offered in his well-publicized State of the State speech.

That means legislators are the ones carving away at services that their constituents want, they are the ones delaying that road project, that assistance for the poor and sick.

So while accurate revenue estimates are great...it's when they actually hit the hard world of appropriations that is the political key here.

Yes, some legislators believe they're being set up with this new interest in accurate revenue forecasts, that they'll be the ones who pay the political price.

Oh, and don't forget if the Legislature shears the governor's budget and more accurate revenue projections still prove too low, then the governor can single-handedly make the cuts without legislative oversight. That hands him more control over what Kansas looks like than he could probably get lawmakers—who aren't looking at their constitutional last term in office—to approve.

Yes, this will be interesting to watch...

U.S. SENATE

Jerry Moran, incumbent
Republican

Growing up in Plainville, Kansas instilled in Jerry Moran a tireless work ethic, strong Kansas values and real-life experiences that shaped him into the leader he is today. The son of hard-working Kansans, Jerry's dad was a pump operator for Skelly Oil; his mom was the lady you paid your light bill to.

Life in Western Kansas shaped Jerry's core beliefs: That your word is your bond. The importance of community. Never backing down from what you believe in. The value of a dollar. The honor of serving your fellow citizens.

After high school, Jerry started college close to home at Fort Hays State University — years later he would return as an adjunct professor. In 1974, he was selected to intern in the U.S. House of Representatives during the impeachment hearings for President Richard Nixon. Two years later, Jerry graduated from the University of Kansas with a bachelor's degree in economics.

He first started a career as a banker and worked his way through law school until achieving his Juris Doctor in 1981. It was during Jerry's first job after law school that he met his future wife, Robba.

In 1988, Jerry ran for public office for the first time, winning a seat in the Kansas Senate. As a part-time citizen lawmaker, Jerry commuted back and forth to Hays each week during legislative session.

After a few short years in the Kansas Senate, Jerry rose in leadership serving first as Vice President and then as Majority Leader. In 1996, Jerry felt he could serve his community and fellow Kansans better as their voice on Capitol Hill as a member of the U.S. House of Representatives.

Jerry was elected to Congress in 1996 and re-elected six times.

wars and responses to disasters such as floods or the Zika virus.

Senators now vote on legislation they haven't read. That ends with me. My policy is before a Senator can vote on new law, he or she must read the entire bill, acknowledge understanding all of the provisions, and swear that no lobbyist has made a campaign contribution to get their vote. If the Senator can't say yes to all three, they are disqualified from voting.

Pick me as your new Senator. I have the experience, expertise, and enthusiasm to be the change the voters want. The tax code, Social Security, and immigration will be fixed. The Supreme Court will not have vacancies. The practice of giving access in exchange for campaign donations is over. I don't owe lobbyists anything. I am free to vote my conscience.

This will be real change.

Patrick Wiesner
Democrat

The future is here. Let's make changes. I am the "get us out of debt" candidate." I'll be the Senator who'll stop the give-away of our tax dollars to the clients of well-connected Washington lobbyists.

I pledge all spending proposals will be evaluated through an evidence-based and transparent authorization process. No more secret spending projects buried in thousands of pages of appropriations law. An approved expenditure will involve only a government duty that the people are willing to pay for. Yearly budgets will be passed on time and in surplus. Borrowing money will be tolerated only when needed to pay for declared

U.S. HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Lynn Jenkins, incumbent
Republican

Growing up on a dairy farm near Holton, Kansas, Congresswoman Lynn Jenkins learned the values of hard work, keeping your word, and the importance of serving your community. Those are the same values that led her to public service and still guide her decisions as she represents the Second District of Kansas, which includes Topeka, Lawrence, Leavenworth, Pittsburg, Independence and the majority of north-east and southeast Kansas.

After winning election for her fourth term in the U.S. House of Representatives, Congresswoman Jenkins was also reelected by her colleagues to again serve as the Vice Chair of the House Republican Conference during the 114th Congressional session. Conference Vice Chair is the fifth-highest ranking position in House Republican Leadership. Congresswoman Jenkins is the 30th woman in history to hold a leadership position in either branch of Congress, and the 14th Republican woman to be in Leadership.

Congresswoman Jenkins currently serves on the House Committee on Ways and Means, the chief tax writing committee in the House of Representatives. As a member of the Ways and Means Committee, she serves on both the Health Subcommittee and Trade Subcommittee.

Congresswoman Jenkins is a Certified Public Accountant by profession and brings nearly 20 years of experience helping individuals and small businesses manage their finances to the House of Representatives. She also served in the Kansas House and Kansas Senate and as the 37th Kansas State Treasurer.

Congresswoman Jenkins graduated from Kansas State University in Manhattan, Kansas and has two children, Hayley and Hayden.

money in order to make sure their voices are heard. Meanwhile, hard-working Kansans are left overtaxed and unrepresented.

I'm different from the politicians you're used to hearing. I'm a regular person. I'm not accepting special interest money, and my votes and stances can't be bought. My aim is to represent you, the farmers, the laborers, small business owners...the middle class who work tirelessly to provide for their families and create a better life for their loved ones. They're getting left behind right now as both political parties put their own agendas and their wealthy donors' interests above yours and mine.

Over half of my opponent's funds have come from special interest PACs. It's time you have a Representative who cares about you. I'll support policies that benefit this district regardless of what side of the aisle they come from. Thank you, and remember to vote Potter November 8!

Britani Potter
Democrat

I'm Britani Potter, and I want to be your next Representative in Congress because things aren't working right now. Special interests and large corporations have injected so much money into the political system that it's impossible for our voices to be heard.

My husband and I are raising three children in Ottawa, where the median family income is under $42,000 per year. The Economic Policy Institute estimates an annual cost of $65,000 to sustain a family of four in this area. Middle class Kansans are getting left behind. Corporations and special interests give career politicians like Congresswoman Lynn Jenkins large sums of

Also on the ballot: 'Right to hunt, fish' constitutional amendment

The Kansas Right to Hunt and Fish Amendment, also known as Constitutional Amendment 1, is on the November 8, 2016, ballot in Kansas as an legislatively referred constitutional amendment.

• A "yes" vote is a vote in favor of ensuring a constitutional right to hunt, fish, and trap wildlife.

• A "no" vote is a vote against ensuring a constitutional right to hunt, fish, and trap wildlife.

Amendment 1 would permit the constitutional right to hunt, fish, and trap to be subjected to regulations promoting wildlife conservation and management. Furthermore, public hunting and fishing would be the preferred method of wildlife management under the amendment.

The amendment would be added to the Kansas Bill of Rights.

In the Kansas Senate, Amendment 1 received unanimous support. In the Kansas House of Representatives, all but seven Democrats voted to place the measure on the ballot.

The following summary appears on the ballot:

"Explanatory statement. This amendment is to preserve constitutionally the right of the public to hunt, fish and trap wildlife subject to reasonable laws and regulations. The right of the public to hunt, fish and trap shall not modify any provision of common law or statutes relating to trespass, eminent domain or any other private property rights.

"A vote for this proposition would constitutionally preserve the right of the public to hunt, fish and trap wildlife that has traditionally been taken by hunters, trappers and anglers. This public right is subject to state laws and rules and regulations regarding the management of wildlife and does not change or diminish common law or statutory rights relating to trespass, eminent domain or private property."

"A vote against this proposition would provide for no constitutional right of the public to hunt, fish and trap wildlife. It would maintain existing state laws and rules and regulations governing hunting, fishing and trapping wildlife."

Most of the candidates for positions in Anderson County are running unopposed. All of the candidates except David Pracht are incumbents. Pracht is running for the seat being vacated in January by longtime commissioner Eugene Highberger.

ANDERSON COUNTY COMMISSION DIST. 1

Jerry Howarter
Democrat

Just a few words to say thank you for your support as County Commissioner the last four years and the four years to come.

Each year my confidence and knowledge have continued to improve. I wish now I had paid more attention when my Dad was serving in this position. The benefits would have

As a commission we have had many challenging projects. The job of County Commissioner has been a real eye opener. The learning curve has been much steeper than I expected. In dealing with public health, safety, and works the variety of problems confronting us have been, at times, mind blowing.

It is reassuring to have two gentlemen like Gene Highberger and Les McGhee with which to work.

Thanks again for your support.

ANDERSON COUNTY COMMISSION DIST. 2

David Pracht
Democrat

I was born and raised in Anderson County. I have been married to my wife Mary for 46 years. We have two children a son Dale and a daughter Dana Foltz and a son in law Ryan Foltz along with three grandkids.

Pracht

I have lived in the Westphalia area my entire life and have always had an interest in the county and how it functions. I've been on several local boards and served as a director for Frontier Farm Credit for twelve years along with serving as president for two years. I was also on the public building committee.

I've had several people ask me to run for county commission and after several weeks of thinking about it I have decided to run.

ANDERSON COUNTY ATTORNEY

Brandon Jones
Republican

My name is Brandon L. Jones, and I am the current Anderson County Attorney. I am seeking re-election to that position, and I am asking for your vote.

I am a lifelong Kansan who was born in, raised, and still reside here in the 4th Judicial District.

I am a graduate of Lyndon High School in Osage County, Kansas, in 1993, the University of Kansas, earning a Bachelor of Arts in Political Science in 1997, and the University of Kansas School of Law, graduating with a Juris Doctorate in May, 2000. I passed the Kansas bar exam and was admitted to the Kansas Bar in September, 2000.

In November, 2012, I was also elected Anderson County Attorney. I was sworn into office on January 14, 2013.

Jones

As Anderson County Attorney, I represent the State of Kansas, and the citizens of Anderson County, in all criminal, juvenile, and traffic cases filed in Anderson County District Court. I also handle all of the criminal appeals from Anderson County in the state appellate courts.

I have been a prosecutor for 16 years and have tried over 60 jury trials, and countless bench trials, preliminary hearings, and other contested court hearings.

Since coming to Anderson County, I have professionalized the office by updating the filing system, updating the computer networks and printers/copier, and physically improving the office space that had not been touched in years. I work hard to provide professional, ethical, and timely prosecution of all criminal matters in an attempt to keep the community and its residents safe.

I look forward to continuing that work for four more years, and I would greatly appreciate your vote.

ANDERSON COUNTY SHERIFF

Vernon Valentine
Republican

Hello from Vernon Valentine, your current sheriff. It's that time again, as elections are here.

I am 52 years old and have four kids, 10 grandkids and been married for 26 years.

I would like to thank everyone for the support they have given law enforcement in the past years and encourage everyone to keep it up for the benefit of all. It has made a big difference in our ability to solve crime.

I understand there are individuals other than Republicans concerned I was not running for sheriff as a lot of Democrats wrote in as sheriff (in the primary). I appreciate that. Election board personnel advised they had not seen this very often and I should be appreciative and I am. I am not a politician and never will be but I am a registered Republican and that is the reason voters other than Republicans did not see Vernon Valentine on their ballot when they voted in the primary.

I promised everyone in the 2012 election if the citizens will have me I will run for sheriff a minimum at least three terms if not four.

I fulfilled all of my campaign promises and I continue to look for more ways to improve the sheriff's office without costing the citizens money while keeping the officers and other sheriff's office staff equipped with safe and reliable equipment.

Please vote as it's your right and know I am running for sheriff and would appreciate your vote on Nov. 8.

ANDERSON COUNTY TREASURER

Dena McDaniel
Republican

My motto for the treasurer's office is "Accountability for Today and Tomorrow." The office strives to always serve and meet the needs of our constituents. My goal is to provide extraordinary customer service. My co-workers do an outstanding job at meeting that goal. We are paid by your tax dollars. "It is our job" to assist each individual to successfully complete their transactions. We have the knowledge, resources, necessary energy and the willingness to provide the level of service that each of your lives require.

My county employee tenure began in August of 1981. My position as your Treasurer began October 1989. (Please refrain from doing the math.) The responsibilities of our office are varied and challenging. We collect and distribute taxes to the tax entities and are accountable for the balancing and security of Anderson County's funds. We provide drivers' license, vehicle title and registration, commercial motor vehicle licensing, IRP registrations and assistance with US DOT numbers, IRS form 2290s, UCR, IFTA, FEIN numbers and many other processes necessary for our customers to operate legally. By voluntarily providing commercial services $884,817.50 new non-tax levied revenue has been collected.

I graduated from Garnett High way before it became ACHS. I live in the country close to Westphalia. I and Thane have four amazing kids that changed to five when the "oldest" son, Chris, married Sarah. Brecken, RN BSN is "the" daughter. Trent and Trevor are "The Boys" that complete the siblings. Brody is five, and the entertaining "only grandkid." My parents are Norman and Helen Elliss. I love family and friends... actually people in general Real joy is gathering together for meals at my home. I especially enjoy the cooking and the chaos that ensues. My stress relief is baking chocolate chip cookies.

To enjoy an activity in life I'm pretty sure it's not a requirement to be "great" at it; but to be surrounded by people you enjoy, and be doing something that makes you happy. My name will be on the ballot for Anderson County Treasurer because I thoroughly enjoy serving and meeting your needs.

ANDERSON COUNTY REGISTER OF DEEDS

Democrat

My name is Sandy Baugher. I am running for Register of Deeds. I have served as Register of Deeds since September 1991.

The Register of Deeds office is the foundation of the county offices. It is vital that these documents are recorded correctly. One of the main duties of this office includes being the custodian of the county land records. I have strived to maintain this office professionally and as cost efficiently as possible.

I am a lifelong resident of Anderson County. I live in Greeley with my husband Tom. We have one daughter Krystal.

I enjoy the challenges I am met with each day and working with the public to record their important documents properly. I would appreciate your vote and support in the November 8th election that would allow me to continue my service as Anderson County Register of Deeds. Thank you.

interests include racing, hunting, scouting, and attending my kids' events.

I have been a City Commissioner for Garnett since 2007 and have served as Mayor four of those years. I enjoy serving the community and believe in striving for positive growth within the City. Garnett has many great things underway and it is my ambition to build upon those and make Garnett the greatest community in Kansas!

One of the most important things facing the Commission during the next term is the implementation of a new city manager. The Commission will be working diligently on this transition over the next several months. Another project that will be anticipated is that City staff has been looking at upgrading the City water plant. This infrastructure is very old and we need to make sure this facility will meet the future needs of our community.

I am committed to this community and feel passionate about being a voice for the people of Garnett. As always, feel free to contact me if you have any questions, comments, or concerns. Your support is valuable and appreciated.

age 70, in violation of the Age Discrimination in Employment Amendments of 1986.

City leaders need to focus on how their decisions will impact Garnett's citizens. The median household income in Garnett is $27,232. 28.5% of the population is employed and is still below the poverty level. 51.8% of the population is either under the age of 18 or over 60. We are not a wealthy city.

Finally, I believe that the people who are important in this city are not the commissioners or the city manager, but Garnett's citizens and business owners. I think leaders sometimes need to be reminded of who is important and who they work for.

I served in the U.S. Air Force Reserve, the U.S. Coast Guard Reserve, and the U.S. Army Reserve, deploying to the Middle East as a legal NCO during the Gulf War. I earned my M.B.A. in Accounting from Western New England University and work as a database analyst.

I belong to the VFW, the American Legion, the Lions Club, the Anderson County Historical Society, the BPW, the Golden Prairie Beekeepers Group, the Garnett Area Chamber of Commerce. My Facebook page is @LivingWithLessAndHavingMore.

Nuclear Operating Corporation and work in the Financial Services Department.

My main reason for running for City Commissioner is to simply serve, give back to the community that I grew up in and help it prosper. Growing up we had at least 3 grocery stores, a bowling alley, a skating rink, Western Auto, several department stores. Over time those have gone with nothing to take their place. Some of my goals include trying to bring those things back that I loved as a kid, so my son can enjoy them, my friend's kids can enjoy them.

I want to help Garnett stay true to its history but strive toward the future.

As a teacher for 21 years, and now a grandparent and father of a teacher, I know the devastating effects their education policies have had on our schools.

Rep. Jones home schools his kids, supports vouchers and tax credits for private schools. He has consistently voted for policies hurting teachers and our schools. He was one of only 6 to vote to defy the Supreme Court and close our schools.

I have always been and will continue to be supportive of teachers and our schools. Not only has Rep. Jones supported the Governor's budget cuts, he voted against the 2014 budget because it didn't cut enough.

Lancers ground the Jets 52-0

BY KEVIN GAINES THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW
BUFFALO – The Crest Lancers football squad didn't give the Altoona-Midway Jets a chance in a 52-0 thrashing.
 Crest scored three first quarter touchdowns en route to a 22-0 advantage early on. Gage Adams scored on a 6-yard scamper for the first touchdown of the night. Nick Peterson added a 3 and 8-yard touchdown runs to close out the quarter.
 Adams and Peterson were at it again in the second quarter. They each scored three touchdowns on the night. Caleb Stephens ran it in from 34 yards out right before halftime to close out the scoring and bringing the game to an end due to the 35-point mercy rule. Head coach Chuck Mahon was happy with the overall play, but was also quick to point out the negatives.

 "We had a very balanced offensive attack but were sloppy as we had three fumbles that we recovered," Mahon stated. He was very pleased with the performance of the defense on the night.
 "Defensively we were very solid. We gave up 17 total yards and only one first down. Junior Kady Utley was all over the field," Mahon added.
 Utley led the defense with 9 tackles and 2 quarterback sacks.

In addition to rushing for three touchdowns each, Adams ran the ball 10 times for 128 yards and Peterson gained 67 yards on just 5 carries.

 On the par 72 course, Mia Toykach from Gardner-Edgerton led the way with 18 hole score Sydney Holloran and Miranda Akes both shot a round of 102, which was good for a 25th place tie. Gardner-Edgerton won the team scores with a 4 player total of 351. The Bulldogs shot 386 as a team, which was good for a 3rd place team finish.

Central Heights earns sweep at Lyndon

BY KEVIN GAINES THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW
LYNDON – The Vikings improved to 10-11 overall and 7-5 in league play with a dominating sweep of Lyndon on the road.
 In the first game, Central Heights won in just two sets 25-21 and 25-17.
 The Vikes put away the first and third sets decisively with scores of 25-14, 21-25 and 25-10.
 Head coach Cadi Marcum was pleased with her team's overall play after a slow start.
 "We were slow starting the first game and were playing very conservative. We looked like we lacked confidence in ourselves and as a team," Marcum stated.

Marcum was disappointed with the Vikings ability to close out the second game. After winning the first set, it appears they lost some of their emotion and were a little complacent heading into the second set. Lyndon erupted out to 16-4 lead as they were looking to force a decisive 3rd set. The Vikings did rally, but eventually they came up just short 21-25.
 "Fortunately we carried that momentum and level of play on to the third set and they started strong and finished strong which is something we have been struggling with doing," Marcum added.
 Shelbi Hettinger had a solid overall night with 29 digs, was perfect on 15 serves with one ace and passed a 2.8 on a 3.0 scale.

 "Shelbi really saved the team with some of her plays and digs. She also passed excellently which allowed us to have more hitting options," Marcum stated regarding the spark Hettinger provided.
 There were several other strong performances for the evening.
 Sarah Bell had 6 kills, 34 assists and 2 aces. Kinsey Laird added 11 kills and 4 blocks.
 Seanna Hale chipped in with 6 kills, and didn't miss any of her 18 serves while picking up two aces.

Greenfield overwhelms Crest

BY KEVIN GAINES THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW

CREST – It's been an up and down ride for the first two-thirds of the season for the Lancers (3-3) as they drop a lopsided game to Greenfield, Missouri High School (8-0) 60-6, which was called at halftime.

In the Lancers' three wins this season, they are winning by an average score of 52-10. Conversely, in their three losses the Lancers are being out-scored 51-4.

Greenfield scored the first 30 points of the game before the Lancers finally crossed the goal line on a 34 yard touchdown pass from Caleb Stephens to Hayden Seabolt to end the first period. That single play would account for half of the total offense on the evening as the Lancers were only able to muster 67 yards for the game.

Greenfield would duplicate their first quarter success with another 30 points in the second quarter while blanking the Lancers.

Despite the lopsided score, Crest head coach Chuck Mahon made sure to point out it wasn't a lack of effort that led to the defeat.

"My kids competed the whole game. Greenfield is a complete team that will make a run for the state title in Missouri. We had too many mental mistakes and turnovers to be successful. But if we come out and play as hard as we did tonight in the next three district games, we will have chances to win all three," Mahon stated.

Lady Bulldogs compete at AC Invitational

BY KEVIN GAINES THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW

GARNETT – Caney Valley High School won the Anderson County Invitational Monday, September 26th with the Bulldog girls' finishing fifth as a team.

AC's Abbey Barnes shot a 93 to finish in a 4-way tie for 9th place.

Sydney Holloran and Miranda Akes rounded out the Bulldog golfers with scores of 98 and 112 respectively.

Holloran's score was good for 14th place, Akes finished in 28th on the day.

Crest's Regan Godderz positions a set for a play at the net during the Lancer's opening round of the Uniontown Tournament Saturday.

Independence spoils AC homecoming

BY KEVIN GAINES THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW

GARNETT—Independence controlled the game from the opening kickoff on their way to an easy 39-8 win to spoil homecoming for the Bulldogs.

Following the crowning of the ACHS king and queen there was little else to celebrate for AC fans, as Independence jumped on top 20-0 in the first quarter.

It was big play after big play throughout for the visitors. They scored 6 touchdowns all longer than 24 yards, massing scoring runs of 24, 54, 35, 40 and 36. They also scored one touchdown via the pass with a 35-yard connection in the second period.

Anderson County finally got on the board in the fourth quarter on a 25-yard run by Kyle Lamb, who was a workhorse for the Bulldog offense with a bruising 34 carries for 114 yards.

Logan Allen led the AC defense with 9 tackles. Dalton Duke and Austin Akers both added 7 tackles, 3 of them for a loss.

Box Score
Independence - 20 6 13 0 - 39
Anderson Co - 0 0 0 8 - 8

Free publicity can mean big bucks

Getting free publicity, the kind that can illuminate your business no matter its size to a new range of possible customers and generate thousands or even hundreds of thousands of dollars in new sales, is just pretty cool.

That's why you should devote a little time this week to brainstorming how your business can generate some advertising which you don't have to pay for.

It's done all the time. Read the newspaper or magazines. Watch local television (especially the morning shows) listen to your local radio station or your National Public Radio affiliate. Editors and broadcast producers have to fill hours and hours of news space every day or week, and they're always looking for the opportunity source that rounds out coverage on a timely topic or one that's just flat out interesting. Here are some tips - think about how they apply to your business:

1) You may not be a professional writer, but a press release can be as simple as a couple of paragraphs about what your business is doing that's newsworthy - are you sponsoring a special event, retiring, having an outlandish promotion, expanding your building, adding a location, hiring or promoting staff?

2) Find something that is newsworthy. If you're just announcing a new product line or changing your hours, news editors will recognize it as a play for free advertising. Remember, to be newsworthy, it has to focus on something more than just your business. How do you do that? Read on.

3) Watch for a chance to comment on something timely.

HOW TO SELL STUFF

Dane Hicks
Review Publisher

If you're a local tire shop and your local landfill is raising its tire disposal fees, contact your newspaper or TV station with some tips and info on other recycling options or even home uses for old tires. You may get quoted in a story on the topic.

4) Sign yourself up at www.helpareporter.com. This is a site that catalogues expert sources like you on every topic imaginable for journalists all over the U.S. and the world. When someone at ABC News, Huffington Post or the London Times is working on an article, many times they don't want to hear from the corporate PR department of some major company or organization - they want more of a "man on the street" or a regional perspective. That could be you, but you have to sign up and list your credentials and areas of expertise. Best of all it's free.

In a modern world in which media is ever more driven by competition to have the "trending" story, you need to make sure you're making your business available for that free publicity. It'll help you sell stuff!

should be re-elected.

If you don't like something U.S. Senator Jerry Moran has done while in office, you've had plenty of chances to tell him face-to-face. Moran accrues whopping frequent flyer miles coming home to Kansas from Washington every weekend to be accessible to Kansans and has hosted some 1,100 town hall meetings since 2011. He's our pick for re-election because he's a solid voice for conservative government and sets priorities where they count, such as for veterans with the Access Choice and Accountability Act of 2014 which allows vets to get care from local providers if they are more than 40 miles from a VA facility or face a wait of more than 30 days. Moran has been a steadfast voice against the closing of Guantanamo Bay and relocation of its prisoners to Leavenworth by President Obama. He's opposed every increase in the U.S. debt ceiling, every stimulus package and every bailout offered by either party while supporting a balanced budget amendment.

Moran introduced the Fair Tax Act of 2015 to simplify the U.S. tax code and create a fairer, more balanced system with lower rates and a broader tax base. Moran offers a smart, savvy and consistent delivery of Kansas values to Washington, D.C., and we need to keep him there.

It's hard to beat 2nd District Congresswoman Lynn Jenkins' energy, intelligence and attention to the needs of Kansans in this election.

As a CPA and former Kansas State Treasurer she's made her priority the revision of the daunting U.S. tax code and drunken sailor-style deficit spending. It's a drop in the bucket, but Jenkins' example of returning 10 percent of her own office budget to the federal treasury each year should not go unrecognized.

Jenkins stood firm against President Obama's proposed closing of GITMO and called out his disastrous plan to tax college 529 savings accounts. She successfully got a bill passed that protects rural and critical care hospitals by granting exemptions for direct supervision of basic services, and she's been lauded by both parties for her bi-partisan work on her Mental Health First Aid Act. Even Democrats recognize Jenkins' leadership and effectiveness, which is why no seasoned Democrat filed to run against her. Jenkins does well for Kansas.

24-hour period ending at 7 a.m. Wednesday, Oct. 5. Another 2.29 inches fell between Wednesday and Thursday, and another 0.94 inches fell between Thursday and Friday for a three-day total of 3.91 inches. Another 0.6 inches of rain fell three other days in October for a total rainfall - in just the first 10 days of the month - of 4.03 inches.

The average rainfall in October is 3.61 inches.

The wet ground forced organizers of the Lake Garnett Grand Prix Revival to shift events planned for Saturday at the lake. Some of the track events that were scheduled to take place at the lake were instead moved to downtown Garnett, but the track events continued as planned on Sunday.

The rain also damaged part of the lake road where city crews recently installed a new culvert under a bridge. The recently repaired road was damaged, likely from a combination of factors, Garnett City Manager Joyce Martin said. Crews rushed to fix the culvert in mid-August, primarily so it would be ready for the Grand Prix Revival event, but also had to work around a variety of events that take place at the park, including a high school cross country event and the annual Cornstock concert festival.

But the concrete didn't have long to cure before heavy semi-trailers drove over the bridge en route to the Cornstock concert, and the continued onslaught of rainstorms washed away parts of the road.

A crew from Killough Construction, which typically repairs and replaces the city's roads, was able to repair the road Friday afternoon before the Grand Prix Revival event. Martin said the road likely will need further repair.

"We'll just have to monitor it all winter long," Martin said.

The rain also was a factor in two wrecks, according to reports from the Anderson County Sheriff's Department. A semi-tractor hauling a tanker full of ethanol left the roadway onto soft, wet soil near Main Street and U.S. Highway 169 and overturned into the ditch, spilling fuel (see related story) Thursday morning, Oct. 6. As emergency response crews were wrapping up that wreck, 20-year-old Whitney Harvey of Mission, hydroplaned on the wet U.S. 169 Highway not far from the site of the overturned tanker. Harvey was driving a 2005 Mercury SUV owned by Kristen Simons, 18 of Chanute, who was a passenger. The vehicle was headed north when it left the roadway, drove through a fence and struck a tree. Neither Harvey nor Simons were injured.

At least a trace of rain was reported every day in October except Sunday, Oct. 9. That continues a pattern going as far back as July, when 5.04 inches of rain fell during a month that typically sees an average of 4.30 inches of precipitation. In August, 7.24 inches of rain fell compared to a standard average of 4.02 inches, and 7.23 inches of rain in September dwarfing the standard average of 3.92 inches.

about $140,000.

In June, the county notified 40 property owners that they had to pay up by July 12 or their property would be sold. Owners of five properties paid a total of $46,475.61 to avoid the sale.

This coming tax sale includes significantly fewer properties and less taxes owed than the 2014 sale, likely because it covers fewer years. Before the 2014 sale, it had been 10 years since a delinquent real property tax sale, although the county had a delinquent mineral rights sale in 2010.

Of the properties listed for the next sale, the amounts of taxes owed varies from as little as $57 to as much as $34,000. The highest amount, $34,140.79, is for property at 138 E. Fifth Ave. in Garnett, owned by a corporation of the same name and incorporated by Richard Klein of Shawnee but forfeited in 2010 by the Kansas Secretary of State for failing to provide proper documents.

The lowest amount is for a property in Bush City in which the property owners are deceased.

Tax sales allow the government to recoup unpaid real property taxes. Even if the property is sold for less than the amount of taxes owed, the county will recoup some of the money and the transfer of ownership is expected to at least bring the properties back onto the county's tax rolls.

Although county commissioners have said they would like to have tax sales on a more regular basis, Anderson County Counselor James Campbell said previously it is reasonable for a county the size of Anderson to have a sale between every five to 10 years.

For more information on the coming tax sale, contact Campbell at (620) 364-3094 or by email to j.campbell@thecoffmanfirm.com, or see the link to properties and schedule on the Review's website at www.garnett-ks.com.

Nothing can stop the return of Jesus Christ!

In the first chapter of Acts Jesus is instructing the apostles concerning the restoration of the kingdom to Israel. Jesus tells them, "It is not for you to know the times or seasons that God, the Father, has fixed by His own authority." (Acts 1:7)

It is after this that we read Jesus was lifted up or ascended into heaven. We then read a very important text. "And while they were gazing into heaven as he (Jesus) went, behold two men stood by them in white robes and said, "Men of Galilee why do you stand looking into heaven? This Jesus, who was taken up from you into heaven will come in the same way as you saw him go into heaven." These two men were supernatural or glorified beings and they were explaining to the apostles that Jesus would return in his resurrection body.

At this time Jesus will bring an end to history. He will raise the dead and judge the world and impart to God's children their final glory. Under the Old Covenant on the day of atonement the high priest would go into the Most Holy Place and offer a sacrifice for the sins of the people. When Christ was crucified and the curtain in the temple separating the Most Holy Place from the rest of the sanctuary was torn in half,

WEEKLY DEVOTIONAL

By David Bilderback

heaven was opened with Christ assuming the royal priesthood.

The apostles were told that Christ would return. There are no more prophecies on the Christian calendar to be fulfilled prior to this happening. It is not possible to see this Second Coming of Christ by looking into the world. In 2 Peter 3:4, we read, "Where is the promise of his coming? For ever since the fathers fell asleep, all things are continuing as they were from the beginning of creation." When Christ said he was coming quickly he did not mean in terms of time. Peter goes on to say concerning Christ.

"With the Lord one day is as a thousand years and a thousand years as one day." What Christ was saying is when he comes there will be no warning. It will happen so fast there will be no time for a change of heart. Our eternal destiny will have already been determined. Nothing can stop Christ's return but a change of heart now can change your eternal destiny.

'New Discovery' of medicine usually meant it was a fraud

This past week, I found the front embossed panel from a very old Dr. King's New Discovery for Coughs and Colds, H.E. Bucklen & Co., Chicago, ILL. bottle. I'm sorry no picture was taken.

H.E. Bucklen & Company of Chicago were highly successful sellers of a number of well known brands. Herbert E. Bucklen had purchased the rights to his medicines from one Dr. Z.L. King of Elkhart, Indiana, about 1878 and moved the business from Elkhart to Chicago about 1878-1879. Bucklen spent lavish sums on advertising in all types of media, and created the brand name of "New Discovery", which had national recognition by 1885. He also had several other top selling medicines including the Electric Bitters and The New Life Pills, introduced in 1880, as a cure for stomach ailments.

By 1893, the business was well enough established to be a major retailer through sites at the Chicago World's Fair. This retailing accomplishment was achieved in part by offering for 50 cents a 31 page book, half filled with color lithographs of World Fair buildings, and the other half descriptive text. The advertising contained therein, of the "New Discovery", made sure that most people who went to the Worlds Fair to see the marvels available to them at the end of the 19th century thought of the "New Discovery" as one of those marvels.

Sadly, however, the "New Discovery" was found to be a fraud, along with dozens of other medicines at that time being offered for cures and remedies.

1996: City, county want to pave CVR road

October 10, 2006

A T-shirt being sold by the ACHS girls golf team is too naughty to be worn at school, the school board says. Board members acted to ban the T-shirts from being worn at school, against the recommendation of the superintendent who said he was willing to "let this one slide." The black T-shirt sported golf art on the front and on the back reads "Whack it, smack it, put it in the hole."

Crest High School's homecoming spirit went untouched last Wednesday when the crowd celebrated the long-standing traditional bonfire without a fire or the burning of an opponent effigy, which also has been a staple over the years. The high school principal denied rumors that the bonfire had been squelched because a parent complained about it being "a hedonistic practice." He said the school had planned to kick off the tradition as normal but the weather was too dry and windy to have the bonfire safely.

A declining pool of volunteers may force the dissolution of the Anderson County Red Cross Chapter if new volunteers can't be found to staff the group. The chapter manager said the chapter likely would need to disband or try to survive "in this age of dwindling volunteerism and limited donations."

Kincaid voters will vote Dec. 3 in an election to recall city council member Sandy Swanson, after a signed recall petition was delivered and confirmed.

Anderson County and the City of Garnett will use nearly a half million dollars in block grant funding to replace a 1911 section of city sewer system and make the county courthouse accessible to the handicapped.

Presuming possibilities of new interest in fishing and recreation based on the opening of Wolf Creek Lake, Garnett and Anderson County Commissioners will pursue a new cost estimate for the paving of a county road that leads to Cedar Valley Reservoir west of Garnett. The issue has been

The Anderson County Commissioner decided to accept the annexation of the cities of Kincaid and Lone Elm and the townships of Rich, North Rich and Lone Elm into the rural fire department district. The annexation will not occur until Jan. 1, 1987, when the new tax levies start.

Last week's deluge of rain did more than just stop Anderson County farmers from harvesting their crop. It caused a sprouting reaction in the fields which had not yet been harvested. The recent extended periods of rain have caused excessive sprouting, especially in the grain sorghum crop. Sprouting will occur in mature grain sorghum if the moisture level of the grains exceeds 25 percent for several days. Anderson County will average around 50-70 percent sprout damage on the grain sorghum crop.
