Kaput? Wind farm company now silent on plan

Calpine officials haven't taken steps to rebuild tower, not returned calls for update

BY VICKIE MOSS THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW

GARNETT - A Texas company that one year ago announced its intention to build a wind farm in Anderson County has kept silent about its plan in recent months, leading to conjecture that the project, which would put 80-100 five-hundred foot tall wind turbines along the eastern side of the county, may be kaput.

Representatives for Calpine Corporation, a Houston, Tx.,-based energy company, have not returned multiple phone calls from The Anderson County Review over the past month to follow up on the project. Others who previously spoke to Calpine - including county officials, supporters and opponents of the wind farm - also said they haven't heard from them in months.

Even locals who support the wind farm and signed property leases to host turbines say they haven't received an update on the project. Calpine also has not filed for a permit needed to rebuild a 328-foot tower that was destroyed by vandals in May.

Anderson County Sheriff Vernon Valentine said his detective last spoke with a Calpine official between six to eight weeks ago as part of an investigation into vandalism of Calpine's weather monitoring equipment, an incident declared "domestic terrorism." The FBI is investigating.

Calpine first met with Anderson County officials in the fall of 2015 to announce its plans to build about 100 wind turbines spread over about 30,000 acres on a ridge in eastern Anderson County. The officials said in January 2016 it would take a year or two of study before construction could begin, and Calpine set about securing leases for land it would need for the project. The company also set up weather monitoring equipment, including a 328-foot tower on property owned by Jim and LouAnn Shmidl in Lincoln Township.

But opposition quickly sprung up to protest the wind farm, with a group called Landowners Against Windmills (LAW) led by local businessman Mike Burns and Review publisher Dane Hicks, among others. The group argued the county's zoning director erred by allowing Calpine to construct its 328-foot tower in April without a special use permit, a move which skipped public notice requirements.

In May, Burns reported vandalism of some of LAW's "No Windmills" signs. Days later, someone cut support cables for Calpine's weather monitoring tower at the Shmidl property,

Questions remain after fatal wreck

Investigation points to motorcycle wreck after man fatally injured

BY VICKIE MOSS THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW

GREELEY - What appears to be a motorcycle wreck claimed the life of a Greeley man over the weekend, but law enforcement officers still are trying to sort out the details with an uncooperative - and now deceased - victim and witnesses.

A Greeley man was injured late Friday night but refused to cooperate or talk to law enforcement officers who arrived to investigate, Anderson County Sheriff Vernon Valentine said. The man told EMS personnel he was injured in a three-wheeler wreck. The man apparently was disoriented and injured, but was taken by friends from the scene to his home.

The man was taken to Anderson County Hospital and transferred to a hospital in the Kansas City area, where he died.

Investigators later found the site of the wreck and determined it likely involved a motorcycle and alcohol, Valentine said. The motorcycle has not been located. Valentine said the incident remained under investigation, and he either did not have or could not release additional information, including the victim's identity.

"It appears to be an incident involving a motorcycle accident that resulted in a fatality," Valentine said. "That's about as close as I can get to the truth until the investigation is concluded."

Deer already causing wrecks

Rainy weather grew deer habitat; expect more fawns this fall

BY VICKIE MOSS THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW

GARNETT - Cool temperatures and the hot-blooded pursuit of romance are moving deer out of the woods and into the roads. That means drivers need to watch out for the four-legged obstacles, who have other things on their minds.

Vehicle collisions with deer already are starting to increase, Anderson County Sheriff Vernon Valentine said last week. His department is starting to see reports of at least one car-deer crash each day, which is typical for fall but perhaps slightly earlier than usual. Even law enforcement officers are not immune; a sheriff's patrol car collided with a deer Saturday, Oct. 8.

"They're starting to move, and it's not even rut," Valentine said, referring to the deer mating season.

Typically, the greatest number of deer-vehicle crashes is

City prohibits gas line Do-It-Yourself work

Licensed professional now must do all gas line work within city limits

BY VICKIE MOSS THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW

GARNETT - Attention Do-It-Yourself-ers. If you need to replace or repair a gas line at your home in Garnett, you'll need to hire a professional.

City leaders changed the rules for home repair last week, prohibiting property owners from making repairs to gas lines even at their own homes. The city's building and codes director said he's seen too many dangerous situations recently by non-professional home owners.

Andy Frye, the building official, offered three examples to county commissioners before they agreed to the change. Frye said non-professionals frequently call him for instruction and advice on their projects, taking valuable staff time away from other duties.

Drive safe, save money

Sheriff appeals to your pocketbook as holiday enforcement efforts near

BY VICKIE MOSS THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW

GARNETT - With important - and costly - holidays approaching in the next couple of months, Anderson County Sheriff Vernon Valentine is appealing to people's pocketbooks to encourage them to take safety precautions when driving.

Instead of paying hundreds of dollars in fines for traffic violations, just buckle up and slow down, he said.

"I know my grandchildren would hate me giving money I could have spent on them to the state," Valentine said.

City sets flat fee on late bills

Computer system issue results in 5 percent fee for those who pay bill late

BY VICKIE MOSS THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW

GARNETT - Although most people won't notice it, a computer system glitch will give a small benefit to Garnett utility customers who are late paying their bills.

City commissioners last week agreed to set a flat penalty of 5 percent on past-due utility bills because a new computer system won't work with the previous penalty program. Anyone who paid a utility bill after the 15th of the month owed an extra fee of 5 percent for the first $200 of the bill. For every dollar above $200, the city tacked on an extra 2 percent

ANDERSON COUNTY BOARD OF COMMISSIONERS OCT. 3

Chairman Jerry Howarter called the meeting of the Anderson County Commission to order at 9:00 AM on October 3, 2016 at the County Commission Room. Attendance: Jerry Howarter, Present; Eugene Highberger, Present; Leslie McGhee, Present. The pledge of allegiance was recited. Minutes of the previous meeting were approved as presented.

Road and Bridge

Lester Welsh, Road Supervisor met with the commission. Hwy. Permit 16,1003:1 for Foltz/Yoder was presented and approved. Vernon Yoder, Weed Director was also present. Discussion was held on the mowers. Vernon would like to be in charge of the schedule of the mowers. He had a lot of problems this year with the sides of the roads being mowed right after he sprayed them for weeds. Vernon reported that with the newer chemicals it needs to set for 28 days before being mowed. Lester stated they never let the black tops go that long. Vernon would like to put Escort down early along the black tops and that might even cut down on some of the mowing.

Landfill

Scott Garrett, Landfill Supervisor met with the commission. He presented bids for two balers for the recycle center. The cost of the balers will be paid for by the refund we have received from selling the recyclables. Commissioner Highberger moved to approve the purchase of two balers plus misc. equipment, freight and installation from JV Manufacturing for a total cost of $23,028 out of the Solid Waste Fund, and 12 bins, 12 rotor sleeves, and 8 lids plus shipping for a total cost of $7,205 out of the Solid Waste Fund. Commissioner McGhee seconded. Approved 3-0. Scott talked to the commission about the possibility of putting a time frame on citizens tearing down houses. He would like to limit one house to two weeks as it is hard for his employees to keep track of what is being demolished. Commission informed he could try. He would also like to purchase a new tractor for landfill. They were borrowing one from the road department however it only has a 5 foot mower on it and takes five days to mow. Commission recommend having the shop tear it apart and see what is wrong with it before they agree to purchase a new one. He would also like to change the date of the spring cleanup and reduce the days. Scott also would only like to have it free once a year instead of twice. He would like to have a tire cleanup and limit it to 10 tires per household.

Emergency Management

JD Mersman, Emergency Management Director met with the commission. Commissioner Highberger moved to recess into executive session for 10 minutes with JD Mersman in attendance for the discussion of non-elected personnel. Open meeting to resume at 11:35. Commissioner McGhee seconded. Approved 3-0. No action after executive session.

Neighborhood Revitalization

Commissioner McGhee moved to approve Resolution 2016,1003:1 renewing the original Neighborhood Revitalization Plan with the City of Garnett and approve the extension of the inter local agreement. HOUSE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION NO. 5008

A PROPOSITION to amend the bill of rights of the constitution of the state of Kansas by adding a new section thereto, relating to the public right to hunt, fish and trap wildlife.

Be it resolved by the Legislature of the State of Kansas, two-thirds of the members elected (or appointed) and qualified to the House of Representatives and two-thirds of the members elected (or appointed) and qualified to the Senate concurring therein:

Section 1. The following proposition to amend the constitution of the state of Kansas shall be submitted to the qualified electors of the state for their approval or rejection. The bill of rights of the constitution of the state of Kansas is hereby amended by adding a new section to read as follows:

"§ 21. Right of public to hunt, fish and trap wildlife. The people have the right to hunt, fish and trap, including by the use of traditional methods, subject to reasonable laws and regulations that promote wildlife conservation and management and that preserve the future of hunting and fishing. Public hunting and fishing shall be a preferred means of managing and controlling wildlife. This section shall not be construed to modify any provision of law relating to trespass, property rights or water resources."

Section 2. The following statement shall be printed on the ballot with the amendment as a whole:

Explanatory statement. This amendment is to preserve constitutionally the right of the public to hunt, fish and trap wildlife subject to reasonable laws and regulations. The right of the public to hunt, fish and trap shall not modify any provision of common law or statutes relating to trespass, eminent domain or any other private property rights."

A vote for this proposition would constitutionally preserve the right of the public to hunt, fish and trap wildlife that has traditionally been taken by hunters, trappers and anglers. This public right is subject to state laws and rules and regulations regarding the management of wildlife and does not change or diminish common law or statutory rights relating to trespass, eminent domain or private property."

A vote against this proposition would provide for no constitutional right of the public to hunt, fish and trap wildlife. It would maintain existing state laws and rules and regulations governing hunting, fishing and trapping wildlife."

UTILITIES...

Recently, one Do-It-Yourselfer called Frye's office nine times in two months for help putting together a gas line. Eventually, that person hired a contractor.

Another person doing home repair put too much pressure against a valve as it was connected to a city line, potentially damaging a major gas line, Frye said.

But the incident that convinced Frye of the need to change city rules came when someone dug a trench and damaged the coating on a city's high pressure gas line. Although no one was hurt, the incident could have resulted in serious damage or injury.

"After the last incident, I questioned contractors and I feel like non-qualified citizens should not be allowed to work on gas lines," Frye said.

Commissioners agreed to change the rules regarding gas line work, but noted the change does not prohibit someone from connecting appliances like a dryer or stove to a gas line inside the home.

The city still allows a property owner who resides in a home to make repairs on utilities such as water, electric and sewer, as long as they follow the city's codes. Anyone who does such work but is not the owner-occupant must be a licensed professional.

PENALTY...

in addition to the 5 percent penalty.

The new computer program doesn't allow a two-tiered penalty; it would cost the city about $5,000 to change the system. Instead, City Manager Joyce Martin asked commissioners to change the penalty to a flat rate.

Under the new plan, past due bills will be penalized at 5 percent of the total owed.

The city likely won't see much of a difference from the change, Martin told commissioners. Most customers pay utility bills on time, she said, and city staff who reviewed last month's late bills found few that exceeded $250.

The city's penalty for past-due bills last changed in 1978, Martin said. Previously, the fee was 10 percent but city leaders at the time felt that fee was too high. Martin said she didn't remember all the details about why it was changed.

"We're still well below the fees charged by banks and credit card companies," Martin said.

which caused the tower to collapse with an estimated loss in excess of $200,000. A couple months later, more signs were reported vandalized and another piece of weather monitoring equipment was reported damaged.

After the destruction of the weather monitoring tower, county commissioners said Calpine would need to get a special use permit to replace it. Although Calpine in June filed a notice with the FAA to construction a 328-foot tower at the same location it stood previously, the company has not yet asked the county for a special use permit to rebuild the tower. Jim Shmidl, on whose property the tower was located, said he has not heard from Calpine officials in months.

Sheriff Valentine said a Calpine official told his detective the company did not plan to rebuild the tower, although the company continues to have other weather monitoring equipment in the county. A Calpine representative could not be reached to confirm.

A Calpine official in April said the company will need to collect wind and weather data for at least six months to a year to determine if the proposed location in Anderson County can generate enough wind to justify the project. It is not known if the equipment currently installed in Anderson County is sufficient for that purpose.

Kansas is considered to be one of the most windy states in the nation, and wind farms are growing in popularity as energy companies attempt to capitalize on mandates that require power companies to purchase wind generated electricity and to take advantage of federal income tax credits. Renewable energy construction projects qualify for 30 percent of their costs to be applied as a federal income tax credit if those projects are underway by Dec. 31 of this year.

Supporters say the proposed wind farm would generate about 200MW of power with between 80 to 100 turbines that reach 500 feet into the air. Property owners who leased land for the turbines would expect to see payments of $6,000 per year per turbine, plus other potential benefits and royalties. Renewable energy projects are property tax exempt, but Calpine pledged to give the county an annual payment starting at $500,000 the first year of wind farm operations and increasing each year, totaling almost $17 million over 25 years. The company would provide various infrastructure improvements, such as widening roads and building roads that can support the heavy equipment needed for construction. The construction process itself would bring workers to the local community, boosting local businesses they would patronize for places to stay, eat and shop. After construction, Calpine would hire a crew to operate a central dispatch center and maintain the towers; the towers themselves are stand-alone facilities and do not require operators at each site.

But opponents say construction of the wind turbines damages the land and replaces the scenic landscape with tall, ugly turbines. Property owners have said they are concerned about the restrictions on land use as part of the lease agreement, as well as the effect of a wind farm on neighboring property values and the aesthetics of a changing landscape if the wind farm were to be built.

Wind generated power is criticized because it only generates electricity when the wind blows. Therefore, coal and other types of plants have to continue to operate to provide full time guaranteed power, and power companies have to raise electric rates in order to pay for wind power they don't need. Those mandated purchases and federal policy that allows lucrative income tax credits has spurred development of the projects in the U.S. in the last few years.

KC's trek to criminal oblivion

Kansas City's thug problem shined up its chrome this past weekend when two bystanders were shot and wounded on the hoighty-toighty Country Club Plaza.

It's another indicator that echoes a long-time national analysis – that while violent crime has been down nationwide in recent years, the top 10 murder cities in the country are still burgeoning. And since everything this time of year is political, that analysis famously shows the majority of those cities run by Democrat mayors, their populations and community leadership structures primarily supporting Democrat office holders at the state and national level.

Despite whatever promises may have been made to secure those decades of Democrat support, the promise of safety rings hollow.

The statistics are stifling and show a history of high crime in tandem with traditional Democrat control of local government. Detroit, the most dangerous city in the U.S., ranks at the top with 1,988 violent crimes per 100,000 population; Memphis follows with 1,740 per hundred thousand, then Oakland, Ca., St. Louis, Milwaukee, Baltimore, Cleveland, Stockton, Ca., Indianapolis and... wait for it... Wyandotte County, Democrat-thick Kansas City, Ks. Of all at latest count, 16 of the 20 most dangerous cities in the union were headed by Democrats – two were Independents.

So the question becomes: What do Democrats, emboldened by what will likely be a historic third straight presidential win next month, have to offer to these urban American battle zones? In truth, what have they offered for decades?

The question is poignant for us locally because of the decay we've watched in Kansas City for the better part of 30 years. Indian Springs Mall, Bannister Mall, the Westport Entertainment District – all have succumbed or are succumbing to the flight of money-spending customers as the gradual creep of thug crime has overtaken them. Now, with the Country Club Plaza in year three of trying to manage gangs of troublesome youths, fights and harassment of customers, topped off by a shooting last weekend – Kansas City and Mayor Sly James seem bent to follow other Democrat urban centers into the statistics of no return.

The tradition of soft policing and community kid gloves has established a nationwide legacy of failure, and the Democrat platform has no rabbit to pull from its hat to solve the crisis. Indeed, Black Lives Matters supporters and other trouble makers, who embrace Democrat voting in the daylight while looting their own neighborhood stores at night, seem more emboldened to pursue urban terrorism now than ever before.

Democrats are up against a wall on this one. Some of these Worst 20 cities have been controlled by Dems for a century; others have only faltered for decades, yet they all consistently fail to turn the criminal tide via their own measures. The politics of race forces an aversion to the truth, so every attempt at a solution starts off with a limp. They can't embrace conservative methods, such as those used by Mayor Rudy Giuliani in New York in the 1990s when he turned the Big Apple into the safest big city in the nation, because such measures, though effective, alienate the local Democrat political base.

It is a billion dollar predicament on the Plaza in KC, where posh stores, apartments, bars and restaurants have to churn affluent customers daily and by the score in order to cash flow those exorbitant Plaza rents. An exodus of those customers will turn the Plaza into a ghost town in a matter of a few years as affluent spenders seek safer havens in Johnson County or Legends to spend their wad. Despite their financial clout, those building owners and businesses apparently have little sway with City Hall to strengthen the laws and enforce them.

It's a sad and unfortunate legacy that is sucking Kansas City into the abyss.

I think the county commissioners should keep the two free landfill times during the year. If it's decided to have only one free landfill time there will be more illegal dumping out in the countryside. It's bad enough now and it will get worse. Thanks.

I wanted to tell the Anderson County Review that I appreciate this week's paper with the information on all the candidates. Thank you.

Donald Trump is many things, maybe many of the names you want to call him. But he is for our religious freedom, our veterans, our flag, prayer in schools, our country our right to own guns and he is against abortion. Please tell me why anyone would vote for Hillary Clinton. She is a liar, she is for late term abortions, she wants to bring thousands of Muslims into our country where there is a shortage of jobs anyway, she treats her body guards like they are non-human and she wants to take our guns. Why would you vote for her?

I find it interesting how many of the county officials are running in the November election unopposed. If the county paid more, would we have more people who were interested in running for office so we might have a change or some competition every 10 years or so? Something to think about.

How can anyone with daughters vote for Donald Trump?

I'll bet the nuns at your Catholic grade school taught you better than to cut a fetus into pieces, crush its skull to kill it and remove it from the womb in the second semester of the pregnancy too. If you support Hillary Clinton, that's what you're voting for. Maybe that's why the Hillary campaign is attacking the Catholics of the country and talking them down. We will all go before the Lord one day, but only a few us will have a Hillary Clinton sign.

I was sitting in my car the other day. A lady was driving a tractor with a young boy maybe five or six sitting beside her, no seat belt on either and no doors on the tractor cab. They were pulling an open air trailer of some kind with another lady sitting and holding another child. If they were hit, those children would fly through the air like a bullet. I want this stopped. Isn't this child endangerment?

Spirit of Christmas needs your help

The holidays are just around the corner. The Spirit of Christmas committee is busy at work preparing to provide a happy holiday to those in need in our community. Due to the generosity of many businesses, schools, churches and clubs last year, Spirit of Christmas Committee was able to provide food baskets to every household and gifts to every child in need in Anderson County. We need your help again this year!

To support this effort this year, please consider adopting a child or family by coming by or calling the ECKAN office, 132 E. Fifth, Garnett, (785) 448-3670. Another way to help is to look for Angel Trees at Yoder's Country Store, City Hall, and Orsheln's in Garnett for adopting a child for Christmas. The Angel Trees will also be available in Kincaid, Colony, Westphalia, and Greeley. When you have purchased a gift(s) for a child, please bring them to ECKAN Office (include wrapping paper but leave gifts unwrapped so that parents may enjoy wrapping the gifts for their kids) in Garnett on Monday-Friday from 9am to 3pm. Due to a shortage of funds, it is even more crucial this year that we work together to ensure that every child is adopted. Please help!

If you prefer to make a cash donation, please make the check to ECKAN. If you would like to donate to ECKAN for the purpose of providing funds for any items necessary to serve the needs of the community, please do not note anything other than ECKAN on your check. If you would like to make a donation for Christmas items only, please note Christmas on the check. Thank you for your continued generosity and giving spirit to those in our community that need a little extra help this holiday season.

The agony of the Republicans

Less than a month before the election, the Republican speaker of the House says he won't defend or campaign with his party's presidential nominee. The nominee has responded by slamming the speaker on Twitter, and his campaign manager is accusing some (unnamed) elected Republicans of sexual harassment against her.

The Donald Trump campaign and the Republican Party show every sign of entering into an ugly death spiral. The revelation of the Trump "Access Hollywood" tape occasioned a historic rupture, with elected Republicans around the country denouncing Trump and calling on him to step aside.

Any hope of Trump turning a corner with his relatively competent second debate was dashed when House Speaker Paul Ryan told his colleagues that he is concentrating on saving his House majority as a check on Hillary Clinton.

It is a fact that one out of two major-party presidential campaigns fail. Some fail badly. But the GOP may be about to experience an unprecedentedly wrenching debacle because its nominee is an ideological interloper with no impulse control or regard for political norms. No matter how bad or weird the campaign seems now, it could get worse and stranger still.

Bob Dole was a horrible presidential candidate and not a particularly conservative Republican. But he was an honorable man who had a loyalty to things bigger than himself, including his political party. When Republicans had to cut him loose in 1996 to try to save their congressional majorities, he was a good and loyal soldier.

NATIONAL COMMENTARY

Does anyone expect that of Donald Trump? His investment in the party is nil, and he takes all slights personally, whether they are from Alicia Machado or the speaker of the House.

The "Access Hollywood" tape was a tipping point. In isolation, perhaps Republicans could have looked beyond it. But after so many controversies and interventions and alleged pivots, the dam finally broke.

The split creates the predicate for a GOP internal war until November and beyond. It will pit swing-state Republicans and those who want to save them, like Paul Ryan, against Trump's hard-core base and the balance of ordinary partisan Republicans. The disunity itself will be damaging and dispiriting.

There will be every incentive for Trump to exacerbate rather than try to smooth over, or at least look past, the divide. Hitting back at his party critics energizes his fans, and, if he is headed for a loss in November, it sets up a stabbed-in-the-back narrative after the election. So his party detractors are insiders, quislings and, to believe his campaign manager Kellyanne Conway, sexual harassers.

The period before the first presidential debate, when Trump pulled close to a tie with Hillary Clinton, feels like an eon ago. He had come back with a month of relative discipline beginning in mid-August that now looks like a parenthesis in an otherwise recklessly selfish campaign.

That Trump would become a poisonous wedge issue within the GOP was always a plausible worst-case scenario. Now, it is upon us. Trump supporters in the primaries wanted to "burn it down." They may well be able to point to the wreckage of the post-November GOP as an indicator of their smashing success.

in mid-November when the mating season peaks. In addition to the rut, deer are also on the move in mid-fall seeking new food sources and shelter as crops are harvested and leaves fall from trees and shrubs, leaving them with less cover than in their summer habitats. Summer rains have added a new wrinkle, too.

"We have just experienced a summer rainfall pattern that has produced excellent growth of deer habitat," said Kansas Department of Wildlife, Parks and Tourism biologist Lloyd Fox. "Unlike the years of drought, we should expect more fawns this fall. Young animals of all species are prone to making mistakes. That includes mistakes crossing roads. Be extra careful."

According to the Kansas Department of Transportation, 9,982 (16 percent) of the 60,340 vehicle crashes reported in 2015 were deer-related (crashes in which a deer and vehicle actually collided or the presence of a deer was a contributing circumstance). Although crashes involving deer occur throughout the year in every Kansas county, the highest number of crashes typically occur where there are the most vehicles. Sedgwick County had 374 deer-vehicle crashes in 2015, the most of any county, while Butler County followed with 356 deer-vehicle crashes.

The Kansas Highway Patrol cautions drivers to refrain from making exaggerated maneuvers to avoid a deer in the road, lest a bad situation become even worse.

"If you are unfortunate enough to have a deer enter the highway in front of your car, it is best to hit the animal and not swerve to avoid it," said the KHP's Lt. Adam Winters. "Often we find more serious crashes occur when you swerve to miss the deer, potentially losing control of your vehicle, leaving the road or veering into oncoming traffic."

Other tips to avoid deer collisions include:

- Be especially watchful at dawn and dusk when deer are particularly active.
- Watch for more than one deer, as they seldom travel alone.
- Reduce speed and be alert near wooded areas or green spaces such as parks or golf courses and near water sources such as streams or ponds.
- Deer crossing signs show where high levels of deer/vehicle crashes have occurred in the past.
- Use your bright lights to help you detect deer as far ahead as possible.
- Always wear a seat belt and use appropriate child safety seats. Even if you are waiting in your car, it is best to wear your seat belt, and have your children in car seats.
- If you do hit a deer, here are some additional tips:
 - Slow down, pull onto the shoulder and turn on the emergency flashers.

• Don't worry about the animal. Law enforcement will arrange to have the animal removed from the road when they arrive. Tell the dispatcher if the deer is still in the road when you're calling for help.

• If possible, remain buckled up in your vehicle, protecting yourself in the event there is a secondary crash involving another vehicle.

• If you must be outside your vehicle, stand as far off the road as possible; make sure hazard lights are activated; don't stand between your vehicle and another vehicle; and make sure children are kept properly restrained in your vehicle.

• To report a crash on Kansas highways from a cellular phone, call *47 (*HP) for a highway patrol dispatcher or *582 (*KTA) for assistance on the Kansas Turnpike. The crash can also be reported by dialing 911.

"Make sure you slow down and pay attention," Valentine said.

Beneficiaries receive information regarding Open Enrollment by calling Leslea at the Area Agency on Aging at 785-242-7200 or 800-633-5621.

Due to the expense of postage we are trying to email worksheets when possible, having them available to be picked up in each community and available to pick up at the ECKAAA office.

You will be sent a worksheet to complete when you call to make your appointment which needs to be completed and returned prior to your appointment. This allows us enough time to run your medications and have your information ready.

Bring your Medicare card and current Part D prescription drug plan cards with you.

Bring information on any prescriptions you have added or eliminated since turning in your worksheet to the appointment.

Due to limited time and resources away from the office these appointments are for Medicare D Open Enrollment only.

Solved: The mystery of advertising

It only took me 30 years in business but I've finally figured out the single key to successful advertising.

Are you ready for it? It's called.... drum roll please... advertising.

It's that simple. The huge advantage is, you probably already know how to do it. But the question is, are you doing it?

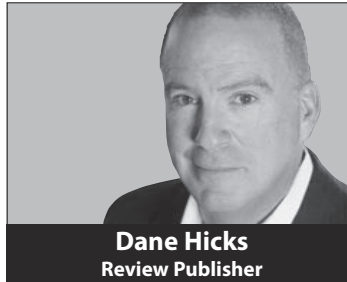

I'm grouping it all together of course. Whether you're talking to an acquaintance at the grocery store about painting his house, wearing your company shirt to the noon Rotary Club luncheon or hanging a sign in your storefront window that says "Going Out of Business," it's all the same concept - you're trying to instigate sales.

The simplicity is almost overwhelming. You only need two things: 1) media - your voice or your store window or your chest to stretch a shirt over, and 2) a message - which has to be enticing and somehow beneficial to the customer.

And it helps immensely to get in front of the right customer. No one wants to bet his business' future on selling refrigerators to Eskimos; you obviously know a little about your customers and why, when and how they want or need your product - if you don't, you have no business being in business.

So it's not brain surgery; it just has to get done. Keep in mind the average American is exposed to an estimated 5,000 advertising messages per day - more if you count email spam and online ads like Google and Facebook. You have to advertise frequently so your message has a chance to compete, and you have to advertise creatively in order to cut through the clutter.

You have to be a little crazy with your advertising. Every now and then you have to hire a guy in a gorilla suit to stand out on your sidewalk and waive to cars and give away candy kisses. And keep this in mind: in the store's entire history, notorious skin-flint Wal-Mart has never reduced its expenditures or its efforts on advertising.

If you're not doing something every day to either plan or execute your advertising efforts, you're missing the simplest solution to the mystery of advertising.

Photographer featured at Community Gallery

Photographer Willis Lanzrath is the featured artist in the Community Gallery at the Garnett Public Library, according to the Walker Art Committee. His photography exhibit will be on display in the Community Gallery through October and November.

Lanzrath grew up in Linn County on a farm a few miles east of Greeley and graduated from St. John Grade School and Greeley High School. After two years in the Army, he earned Bachelor and Master degrees and taught English for 35 years.

Lanzrath took up photography as a hobby after he retired from teaching and found it challenging, enjoyable, and rewarding. A photographer always has an abundance of subjects to photograph, and sometimes has several options in selecting which point of view to use. Some photos are a result of being in the right place at the right time and having a camera handy.

This selection of photography includes a variety of subjects.

Tickets can be costly. For example, a speeding ticket for driving up to 75 mph in a 65 mph zone will cost you $153. The cost goes up $6 for each mile you drive in excess of 75 mph in a 65 mph zone.

Not coming to a complete stop at a stop sign will cost you $183.

And not buckling up - especially kids - can get expensive, too. The fine for adults, age 18 and older, who do not use a seat belt is $10 per person. The fee increases to $60 for children age 14-17, and to $168 for children from birth to 13 years.

The sheriff's department does not receive money from the citations issued by deputies, Valentine said. That money instead goes to the State of Kansas.

The Anderson County Sheriff's Department will join other law enforcement agencies in Kansas and the Kansas Department of Transportation for special enforcement efforts between now and the end of the year. KDOT pays law enforcement agencies for these efforts, with special focus on seatbelt violations, speeding and DUIs.

The next enforcement effort will take place from Oct. 31 through Nov. 4 to focus on seatbelt use and speeding at a time that has seen increasing injury and fatality accidents.

Another enforcement effort is scheduled for Nov. 23-29, and another during the week of Christmas. Those efforts primarily will look for drunk driving during the busy holiday season.

BY DANE HICKS THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW

GARNETT - The Bulldogs could only muster a 4th place finish Saturday when AC hosted its annual volleyball invitational and watched Wellsville sweep the competition to take home 1st place.

Burlington finished second and Independence third. Labette County, Fort Scott, Iola and Prairie View rounded out the bottom of the field. The tourney finale put the Bulldog record at 19-15 on the season.

"Some of our serving and back row defense was not good enough," said head coach Suderman. "We will be better this week."

AC heads west for a rematch tomorrow at Burlington and starts the 4A Sub State Tournament at Prairie View Saturday afternoon.

Alexey Lickteig led AC's serving attack with 8 aces on the day. Madison Martin, Emly Fritz and Samantha Nickell led the Bulldogs' hitting stats. Martin had 13 blocks on the day and Fritz 8. Jasmine White led the team's passing average with 2.3 followed by Lickteig at 2.2, Lexee Feerborn at 2.1 and Audrie Goode at 2.0. Lickteig led in dig defense at 70 percent up. Katelyn Alley was 300/315 in setting at 95 percent with 78 assists.

SCRANTON - Last Tuesday the Bulldogs downed Prairie View in two sets before getting knocked off by Santa Fe Trail handily in two sets at Santa Fe Trail High School.

In the opening game on the evening for the Anderson County Bulldogs, they downed Prairie View 25-19 and 25-17 to win the match.

Next up for the Bulldogs was 2nd ranked Santa Fe Trail with a 25-8 record. Santa Fe Trail had the upperhand the entire evening winning 25-15 the first set and then finishing the Bulldogs off by dominating the second set 25-12.

Several Anderson County players had standout performances.

Alexey Lickteig led all servers with 6 aces. When the Bulldogs were on the attack they were led by Madison Martin who hit .333 on the night, including 9 kills and Samantha Nickell who tallied 9 kills against Prairie View.

Martin also led the way at the nets with 3 blocks. Jasmine White had 19 digs in the two matches and Katelyn Alley wasn't far behind with 17.

Alley also connected on 97% of her sets which led to 20 assists on the evening.

Lady Bulldogs qualified for state

BY KEVIN GAINES THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW

GARNETT - The Anderson County girls' golf team won the 4A Regional at the Garnett Country Club on Monday, Oct. 10, and came away with the team victory sending all four girls to state.

Senior Sydney Holloran shot an 83 to finish second, finishing two strokes behind winner Maggie Moody from Frontenac High School.

Sammy Jo Walter, sophomore, shot a 90 and finished in a 3-way tie for 4th place with Gabbi Sands from Girard and Lauren Madison of Fort Scott. Walter won a 2-hole playoff to take home 4th for the day.

Abbey Barnes finished just outside the top 10 in 11th place with an 18 hole total of 99. Miranda Akes shot a 105, which was good for a 13th place finish.

Despite the outcome, head coach Nicole Wiehl had mixed feelings hosting the regional.

"The girls felt pretty good about playing regional on their home course," Wiehl stated. "It's great to play on a course you know, but that also means you know what you normally shoot at home and usually what your best score is," she added.

The foursome actually came out and shot their best score of the year, shooting a 377.

The 4A Girls State Golf Tournament was Monday, October 17th in Hesston, Kansas at Hesston State Golf Park.

Librarians attend workshop

Iola — Reva Pracht of Garnett Elementary School, Jennifer Sibley of Anderson County Jr/Sr High School, Andrea Sobba of Garnett Public Library and Jennifer Gum-Fowler of Kincaid Community Library attended the Southeast Kansas Library System (SEKLS) workshop on how to Refresh Your Children's and Young Adult Collection at the Parsons Public Library on September 28, 2016.

The morning session featured Erin Downey Howerton, who spoke to the crowd on The Life-Changing Magic of Weeding. In the afternoon, a panel of librarians from across southeast Kansas advised the 35 participants on the basic principles of choosing quality materials for the library in the areas of literature for young adults, graphic novels, early literacy, juvenile series fiction, and board books. Particular emphasis was placed on the specialized journals and websites that offer book reviews of these specialty subject areas.

Auburn Pharmacy Softball Team was well represented at the USSSA Fall Classic in Kansas City. The weekend at Blue Valley Recreation Center ball park was beautiful! The team made it to the top bracket but lost to the runner up 3-0. We made fun memories and new friends. Great job in the tourney ladies! Compassion will last a lifetime

In the gospels of Matthew, Mark and Luke Jesus refers several times to having compassion on individuals or groups of people.

In Matthew 15:32 Jesus was going along the sea of Galilee healing the lame, blind and crippled people as they were brought to him and he said to the disciples, "I have compassion for these people; they have already been with me three days and have nothing to eat. I do not want to send them away hungry or they may collapse on the way."

In Matthew 9:36, Jesus again as he was preaching the good news of the kingdom and healing every disease and sickness when he saw the crowds had compassion on them because they were "harassed and helpless like sheep without a shepherd."

In Luke 7:13 when Jesus saw the widow walking in the funeral procession for her dead son and "he had compassion for her."

WEEKLY DEVOTIONAL

By David Bilderback

So what is compassion? The dictionary defines it as deep sympathy or pity. In each of the above situations Jesus was able to look beyond the obvious problems and limitations these people had into their very heart and feel the pain they were feeling. The issue you and I deal with is getting past the individuals appearance, physical limitations, social stature and anything else that is different than you or I perceive it should be. Part of being compassionate is being able to allow people to open up to us which will help us understand their situation. Jesus was the master at allowing people to reveal themselves to him. Just think back to the Samaritan woman at the well.

Jesus refers to the crowd as being a sheep without a shepherd. We are told his heart went out to the widow who lost her son. Compassion is not something you can just develop or call up when needed. Someone once said, "It is doubtful God can use anyone greatly until he has hurt them deeply." Personally I believe the most compassionate people are the ones God has tried and tested. Many people are passionate but passion is an emotion and as such is subject to the circumstances present at any particular time. Passion being an emotion can never last and will fade. Compassion results in someone being able to do things that do not make sense to most people. To give of their time and resources and even to follow an invisible God. Passion is for the short term. Compassion will last a lifetime.

David Bilderback: A Ministry on the Holiness of God.

Have you heard of a 'busk' ceremony?

How many of you have ever heard of a "Busk" Ceremony? Busk ceremonies have deep roots in prehistoric North America.

The Busk, or Green Corn ceremony is an annual first-fruits and new fire rite, a very important religious observance held by the Creek, Muskogean speaking North American Indian Tribe that originally occupied a huge expanse of the flatlands of what are now Georgia and Alabama.

Soon after the busk begins, you will find one or two men hunched over a hot iron skillet, roasting freshly gathered leaves of yaupon holly, on a propane stove. Once they are blackened, the pungent leaves are boiled in a kettle of water to produce a soupy, caffeine-rich brew that becomes the feed stock for the "Black Drink", which indigenous people have used in rituals for thousands of years.

Residues of the drink have been found in engraved ceramic cups found that date to A.D.1100 at the Mississippian city of Cahokia, by archaeologists.

Although the Black Drink—now called the "White Drink", by the Muscogee—is thought to have been used as a purifying emetic to cause ritual vomiting. Some say it actually tastes like a semi-palatable cross between coffee and cough medicine.

Yaupon holly is not the only plant with a role in the ceremonies. Before the busk begins, the men of "White Earth" head into the woods to collect a potpourri of native plants—button snake root, rabbit tobacco, sweet gum, bald cypress, bay laurel, and other species that will be used for rituals or medicine. This Muscogee pharmacopoeia covers a broad range of physical and emotional ailments. Swanton's Creek Religion and Medicine, in fact, documents at least 105 plant-based medicines used by the Muscogee people.

Bulldog girls finish 2nd in League

BY KEVIN GAINES THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW

BURLINGTON - The impressive streak has come to an end. The Anderson County girls finished well at league, but the second place finish ended the consecutive league title streak at nine.

Coach Sibley knew entering the season that making it 10 straight Pioneer League titles was going to be extremely difficult because of his squads youth.

Sibley stated before the season began, "We are young and I expect to see great strides from the girls as the year progresses. We have never lost a league championship and I know these girls don't want to be remembered as the team that ended the streak."

The Iola Mustangs were the team to end the run finishing with a team score of 42, the Bulldogs ended with 68.

Hannah Honeyman from Santa Fe Trail won the Pioneer League with a time of 19:27.01. Averi Wilson of Anderson County crossed in second with a time of 19:43.57.

Paige Rupp finished just outside the top in 11th place and Maya Corley was just behind in 13th position.

Iola also dominated to win the boys title. Iola finished with 4 of the top 6 finishers with Kendall Jay winning with a finish of 17:25.90.

The top Bulldog runner was Owen Lutz with a time of 18:28.19, good for 7th place.

Damone Kueser finished 12th and Nathan Quinn and Trevor McDaniel finished 18th and 19th respectively.

The junior high teams also competed in Burlington.

Rayna Jasper won the 8th grade girls 2-mile run with a time of 13:32.23. Lanie Walter (15:39.14) finished in 5th and Lily Gruver (17:29.75) ended up in 11th.

Kasen Fudge finished the 1-mile run in the 7th grade boys event with a time of 6:40.92. Jason Allison (7:55.49) crossed in 25th place.

Girard defense dominates Bulldogs

BY KEVIN GAINES THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW

GIRARD - The Anderson County Bulldogs slide continues with a 55-14 loss to the Girard Trojans in the first week of district play.

It's the third consecutive loss for the Bulldogs, being outscored by an average of 35 points per game during the skid.

Girard jumped out early leading 14-0 after the first quarter. The Trojans scored on their opening drive and then after the Bulldogs failed to get a first down on their ensuing possession, Girard scored on their second drive of the game as well.

It was all Girard in the second quarter of play. Girard continued its' defense dominance while adding 27 more points to take control heading into intermission, 41-0.

Turnovers didn't help matters for Anderson County. Two interceptions and fumble helped lead to the big quarter for the Trojans.

Girard extended their lead to 55-0 in the third quarter before the Bulldogs finally got on the board on a 5 yard run by Kyle Lamb.

Lame scored his second touchdown of the game in the waning moments to bring the game to a close.

at Crest School. A Zone meeting will be held at Westphalia in November. He invited everyone to attend the Zone meeting and the upcoming Mid-Winter Rally. He also asked that every club in our zone donate $20 for the Braille Challenge. He reported on other clubs that had donated. Around Town Hurricane Matthew put Florida as well as other locations on the map. St. Augustine, Fla was one place that was hard hit and in the news. Our daughter, Cheryl, who moved there in 1981 stayed in her home. Several of her neighbors stayed in theirs also. She lives more to the north end of St. Augustine Beach, her street was not flooded, had lots of wind, and the surges hit the southern part of the island with much more force than the northern part. The surges were my main concern. The back fence at her home was downed, but her home did not receive any damage. Of course, she was boarded up and had sand bags around her home, too.

Downtown St. Augustine got a lot of water damage. Thank all of you that were praying with us!

Richard Briggs and wife, formerly of near Lone Elm who recently built a new home in St. Augustine was not damaged either. He and wife evacuated to Gainesville where Richard once lived, met and married his wife there also.

Crest Land Judging team competes

By Hannah Boehm, Crest Vo Ag teacher

On Sept. 21, Shelby Ramsey, Nate Berry, Preston Utley, John Hartman and Caleb Stephens went to Paola to compete in the East Central District Land Judging Career Development Event. These five students had to look at four different soil pits that were dug in a pasture and determine soil depth, texture, erosion, slope and permeability. They were to decide what treatments needed to be made to make this soil adequate for farm ground, pasture or industrial development.

This group of students spent their free time to prepare for this CDE, and with the toughest district in the state of Kansas they received tenth place at Districts! These same five also wanted to compete in State Land Judging on Sept. 28 in Erie. There were 40 teams that competed and this same group received 25th place at State!

Congrats to these students.

Local students involved in ESU musical EMPORIA -- Emporia State University Theatre opened its season with musical "Big River, The Adventures of Huckleberry Finn." Two Anderson County students were involved.

Propelled by an award winning score from Roger Miller, Mark Twain's timeless classic sweeps us down the mighty Mississippi as Huck Finn helps his friend Jim, a slave, escape to freedom at the mouth of the Ohio River.

Their adventures bring to life favorite characters from the novel including the Widow Douglas; the uproarious King and Duke; Huck's pal, Tom Sawyer, and their rowdy gang;

Huck's drunken father, the sinister Pap Finn; the lovely Mary Jane Wilkes and her trusting family.

Students from this area in the production were:

• Heather Kropf, a senior Theatre major from Westphalia, Kansas, played Jo Harper/Joanna Wilkes/

Patient.

• Jeri Troyer, a senior Theatre major from Garnett, Kansas, was on the costume and makeup crew.

Under the direction of Jim and Lindy Bartruff, Big River ran in The Karl C. Bruder Theatre in King Hall, Oct. 13 through 15 and Oct. 16.
