Bus wreck claims life; kids not seriously hurt

THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW 11-22-2016 / Vickie Moss

Emergency personnel work the scene of a fatality accident that involved an Iola school bus Friday afternoon, Nov. 18, on U.S. 59 south of Garnett near the Bush City road. The driver of the passenger car died in the wreck and at least one other person was taken by ambulance. None of the children on the bus were seriously hurt, although there were reports of minor injuries and bruises. The bus was carrying fourth grade students from Lincoln Elementary School in Iola, who attended a naturalization ceremony in Kansas City earlier that day and were returning home. The identity of the driver who was killed and a passenger who was injured were not available Monday because of complications notifying next of kin in another state, according to the Kansas Highway Patrol.

Iola students scared, shaken after fatality wreck

Students recall moment of impact when bus hit car on way home from field trip; driver not identified yet

BY VICKIE MOSS THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW

GARNETT - Annalsia Prock, age 10 of Iola, remembers being jolted forward and hitting the back of the bus seat in front of her on the way home from a school field trip in Kansas City Friday afternoon. She and about 30 other fourth grade students from Iola's Lincoln

Elementary School were rushed out the back door of the bus as smoke started to seep in from the front of the bus.

As they filed into a ditch along U.S. 59, they were told not to look at the red car that had crashed into the front of the bus.

"The person in the car didn't make it," Prock said. "We weren't supposed to look back, but most of us knew."

The identity of the driver of the car had not been released before The Review's press deadline Monday morning because of complications notifying next of kin in another state, a Kansas Highway Patrol representative said.

A report from the highway patrol said the car was headed northbound on U.S. 169 near 1400 Road, also known as the Bush City Road, at 2:10 p.m. Friday when it appeared to veer off the road to the right for an unknown reason. The driver apparently overcorrected and the car skidded across the highway into the bus's path. It crashed into the front of the bus, killing the car's driver. A witness at the scene said a passenger in the car was able to exit the vehicle and was taken by ambulance.

The car had a Texas license plate. Although identification was not available, several people

Scam alert:

Garnett Police bust illegal electronics shipping scam

Local participants unaware of illegal nature of scam; $600K in stolen merchandise recovered

BY VICKIE MOSS THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW

GARNETT - More than $600,000 in stolen electronics were recovered after Garnett Police busted an illegal shipping scam that funneled merchandise through the city.

Police learned Nov. 15 that stolen electronic components were being shipped through Garnett. A storage unit was discovered in Garnett that was used as part of the scam, but police said it appears local participants had no knowledge the shipping scam was illegal. All communication was done electronically through email, according to a police report.

Garnett police seized about $140,000 in stolen electronics from a storage unit in Garnett. That included about $80,000 in stolen HP hard drives that the distributor had not yet realized were stolen.

An investigation led police to 164 other boxes that had been distributed through Garnett and had been prepared to be shipped for international delivery. Police said the department was able to recover about $603,912.40 in stolen electronics.

The scam appears to have originated in Nigeria, according to the police report. It used fake websites, emails and stolen account information to purchase electronic components to ship internationally. People interviewed by the Garnett police did not realize they had been taken in by a scam, and were law-abiding citizens taken advantage of by a large international scheme, police said.

"The Garnett Police Department understands how easy it is to be made the victim of an electronic scheme," a press release from

Former pharmacist remembered for his generosity, kindness

Bob Kingsolver dies; his pharmacy served community for 30 years

BY DANE HICKS THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW

GARNETT - Bob Kingsolver made sure his customers were treated well and received the medication they needed, even if they didn't have the money to pay for it right away, Joen Truhe, a former employee at Kingsolver Drugs, recalled.

"He was a very generous man," Truhe said. "I will always remember how kind he was to his employees. They were just like family."

Kingsolver, who owned the pharmacy from 1961 until 1992, died Wednesday, Nov. 16, at his home in Garnett at the age of 90.

Mike Burns, owner of AuBurn Pharmacy, purchased Kingsolver Drugs in June of 1992. He had purchased another pharmacy in Garnett from Ron Hiles just a few months earlier.

At the time, the two pharmacies did not have a great working relationship, Burns recalled. Within the first week of his arrival in Garnett, Burns walked down the alley to introduce himself. Soon, the two stores were trading merchandise.

After three months, the manager of Kingsolver Drugs said he wanted to move to Oklahoma but was worried what might happen to Bob Kingsolver if he left. Burns talked to Kingsolver and learned he wanted to sell, but he was wor-commented on The Review's Facebook page that they knew the victim and passenger, who appeared to be college students at Neosho County Community College. College textbooks were seen in the ditch along the highway immediately after the accident.

The driver of the bus, who was not yet identified, apparently suffered a minor injury with a broken hand. The children and two teachers on the bus escaped uninjured or with only minor bumps and bruises, according to officials with USD 257 in Iola. The wreck occurred about 30 miles north of the school.

"Our thoughts and prayers go out to the victim and family," USD 257 Superintendent Jack Koehn said. "This could have been so much worse. We could have had kids hurt as well. So, from that standpoint, we're grateful."

Koehn gave credit to the bus driver's quick actions during the wreck, as the driver was able to maintain control of the bus and stayed on the roadway. The highway in that area has relatively narrow shoulders and steep ditches.

Counselors were available at Lincoln Elementary School Monday morning to meet with students or staff, but Koehn said it appeared everyone was adjusting to the normal school routine.

The elementary school's fourth grade classes attended a naturalization ceremony at the Robert J. Dole Federal Courthouse in Kansas City Friday as part of a social studies field trip, Koehn said. Three

KAA Fall Fling wraps up 2016

The last day of the 2016 KAA Fall Fling has arrived. I woke up again at 6 a.m., to another cool-brisk 39 degree morning. Packed my suitcase and off to the Saddle Rock Cafe for a steaming cup of coffee and breakfast. Reported to the Kaw Mission for the 8:00 am roll call and day's instructions.

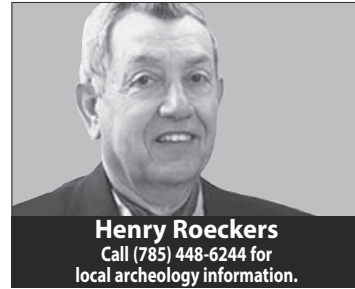

We are down in number of workers today, as several left last evening to be home with family today, Sunday. As a matter of fact we only had three people left on the metal detection team and would you believe it, we had our best artifact finding day of the three days.

Today we metal detected beside and on a short section of the Santa Fe Trail, which crossed the lawn just south of the Kaw Mission House (which is well preserved and stands yet today). While detecting this area we discovered an early military camp site near the trail.

Let me share the artifacts found today on and surrounding this site: a 4 pound solid iron cannon ball, a brass eagle "I" Infantry button (with the wire shank still in place), a section 2016of a lead bar (used for making bullets in the field), fired 3-ring mini-balls, wagon parts, harness parts, a very nice brass belt buckle, old spoon, several round pistol balls and percussion caps and lots of unidentified cast iron pieces.

We also found two early toy collectibles, a Hubley Trooper

DIGGING UP THE PAST

Cap Pistol and a Melvin (Mel) Purvis FBI Agents badge. It was definitely a very exciting and successful day.

I haven't written very much about all the grid excavation crews. There were at least six units excavated on the opposite side of the Mission House from where the metal detector team worked. They also found lots of artifacts during excavations and screening.

At 4:30 pm the entire crew started gathering up all the equipment we had used the past three days and we back filled with shovels all the open grids. By 5:00 pm we were out of the field, packed up and ready to say our good-byes once again.

I left Council Grove at 5:10 pm and arrived home safely at 7:00 not seeing any wildlife all the way.

Another very successful KAA FALL FLING is history!

1996: County office annex options weighed

Nov. 21, 2006

The City of Garnett will foot the bill for some $160,000 in delinquent property taxes owed by the former Garnett Church Furnishings company after city commissioners decided not to attempt a final legal argument to have the taxes abated. Commissioners made the decision after a public shaming by a handful of protesters at Tuesday's city commission meeting, who berated the city for offering tax abatements for economic development projects which they said gave new industries and businesses a free ride at the expense of present taxpayers.

It will probably be early 2007 before local farmers find out if the USDA Farm Service Agency office in Garnett is a candidate for consolidation under a federal plan to cut costs. Rumors have circulated for months about the Garnett office's possible reorganization, but according to state officials it could be several more months before any specifics are released. The Anderson County office is administrating the Linn County office under the recent reorganization.

Nov. 18, 1996

Anderson County this week mourns the passing of Dr. C.B. Harris Jr. who died Nov. 17 at his home after a long illness. Dr. Harris was a second generation physician who practiced with his father, Dr. C.B. Harris, Sr., from the time he left the armed services in 1946 until his father died in 1959.

Garnett City Commissioners Tuesday night defended the city's transient guest tax against complaints from local moteliers, who said the tax makes it harder for commercial lodgers to compete with private residents who offer cut-rate lodging in their homes.

Opponents of a proposed county building project that will place a county office annex on the west side of the Garnett town square will have a public meeting in hopes of galvanizing support against the planned site in favor of other options. An organizer wants to find another option for county space requirements other than constructing the building on the town's square. The county purchased lots on the west side of the square in April at a price of $15,000, planning to construct the facility at this site.

Nov. 17, 1986

The $148,000 bridge replacement project on the county road one mile east of Harris is being deferred by the Kansas Department of Transportation due to lack of federal funds. The project is among 44 projects worth an estimated $50.7 million that are not being started due to the failure of the U.S. Congress to pass any highway reauthorization legislation.

PHARMACIST...

worried about what might happen to his manager and other employees.

Kingsolver helped Burns with the sale, even carrying the bank note for it. Burns said he would not have been able to purchase the pharmacy without Kingsolver's help.

"He put a lot of faith and trust in a 25-year-old kid," Burns said.

And Kingsolver became a welcome fixture at the store even after Burns took over; he always came in through the back door, and employees recognized his shuffling footsteps coming from the back.

"He was still part of the family," Burns said. "He was one of the greatest people I ever dealt with. The ultimate gentleman, straightforward and honest. He was always one of those guys I put on a pedestal."

Both Burns and Truhe, who worked for Kingsolver for 30 years, said Kingsolver never had a harsh word for anyone. Truhe said she knew Kingsolver always was passionate about the work he did, from his early days delivering medication for a pharmacy in his hometown of Independence, Mo., to his final days at the store.

"He was a very well-liked person," Truhe said.

Kingsolver began his career as a pharmacist at Muir's Pharmacy in Raytown, Missouri, working there until later taking a job at Brown's Pharmacy in Independence, Mo. In 1961, he purchased Graves Drug Store in Garnett.

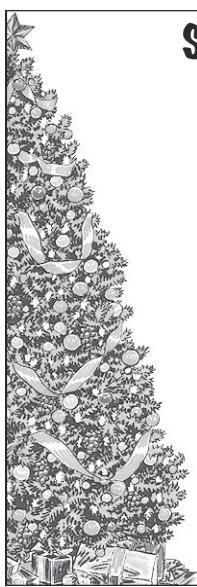

He joined the U.S. Navy after high school and was a World War II veteran, serving on the USS Colorado in the Pacific Theater. He earned his degree from the University of Kansas City School of Pharmacy in 1950.

He married Frances L. Poston in August 1948; they had one daughter, Billie.

He had several hobbies, including motorcycle riding, which he took up at age 69 with his wife's encouragement. He also enjoyed horseback riding, waterskiing, earning his pilot's license, driving his Corvette, trap shooting and target practice.

There were over 20 young athletes out for the sport this year and all of them came home with a win or a medal this year, every one of those medals were earned, not given. Many of them had one loss and the team finished with 141 wins, 95 of those by fall or pin. They won the Burlington Bobcat Wrestling tourney by over thirty team points, and finished second in league by just 25 points.

Chamber Players to present 'The Gift: 7 Pounds, 3 Ounces'

Garnett's Chamber Players Community Theatre will soon be presenting the world premiere of "The Gift: 7 Pounds, 3 Ounces", a play written by local playwright Gary Ray Stapp.

The story of the play takes place at Christmas time in a family cabin in Colorado, and is described by cast member Ken Amaya as "an extremely emotional journey about love, friendship, family, sacrifice, and what it truly means to give."

This script marks the eighth Stapp play to be staged by the CPCT. Last March, his comedy "Leona, Love Thy Neighbor, Too" sold 800 tickets, a sales record for the group now in its 26th season.

"The Gift" is something of a departure from Stapp's widely popular comedies, although the play has a fair amount of humor, especially in the first half. "I couldn't get entirely away from writing a few funny lines that I think will have the audience chuckling quite often. However, things turn to the dramatic with almost a snap of the fingers."

"Early on in the play, there is a character who is obviously up to something," says Stapp, "and once several revelations are made, each of the five characters embark on an emotional roller-coaster of a ride that tests the strength of family relationships while beginning to unravel the bonds of friendship."

Stapp intends for the play to resolve into a "feel good" ending that he hopes will leave a smile on the faces of the audience, as well as touch their hearts with a greater appreciation for what's really important in life.

The play, published by Eldridge Plays and Musicals, has a religious context with part of the story line, and Stapp hopes the Christian community will be encouraged to see the show and support Christian theatre at a local level. However, he notes that the play has some very adult dialog that may not be suitable for young children.

"The play gets a little gritty at times. The characters have flaws, just like real people."

Eldridge editor Natalie Vorhis described the play as "well thought out and realistic."

Stapp is both excited and a little nervous about the reveal of his first drama, but he quickly points out that "I've got a fantastic cast of actors who each get their moment to absolutely shine on stage!" Stapp is confident that many in the audience will be amazed by the exceptional performances of the cast lead by CPCT veterans Ken Amaya, Tom Emerson, Jr., and Karen Katzer, all of Garnett, as well as by

CPCT veteran Shauna Devening from Burlington. Additionally, Anderson County High School senior Austin Wickwire makes his debut on the CPCT stage and who is "terrific", according to Stapp. "I'm very proud of Austin and feel blessed to have him in my cast."

In conjunction with the December production of "The Gift", CPCT is sponsoring a "Toy Drive" to benefit local children this Christmas season. Patrons are invited to donate to this charitable cause by bringing unwrapped toys on performance dates. The collected toys will then be distributed through ECKAN.

The eight performance run takes place at the Thelma Moore Community Playhouse and begins on Thursday, December 1st and ends Sunday, December 11th. There are five evening and three matinee performances scheduled. Adult tickets are $24 and include a dinner catered by Prairie Belles. Table-side service and dessert will be provided by a local youth organization seeking voluntary free-will donations. Reservations must be made in advance. For more information, call 785-304-1683.

On November 9, 2016 the Frontier Extension District 4-H Youth Development Program met at Ottawa University Lodge at Pomona Lake to hold a Flag Retirement Ceremony. The District's CWF (Citizenship Washington Focus) 4-H members helped perform the ceremony. There were 10 CWF members that participated: Jacob Anderson, Nocona Brinkley, Caitlyn Craig, Sarah Face, Caleb Fisher, Bailey Longstaff, Shaylee Meier, Maddie Montgomery, Shyanne Shogrin, and Kendra Sprague. The event included 70 4-H and family members from across the district who came together to retire 75 flags. Organizers said the flag retirement was in honor of our veterans and our country, and they were grateful to the Ottawa VFW who sent members to help. The Frontier Extension District is made up of Anderson, Franklin and Osage Counties. Above, Caleb Fisher, Burg-Go-Getters and Kendra Sprague, Star Shooting, pre-

'Rule of Thumb' for a marketing budget

Anytime you go looking for a "rule of thumb" for something, you can always expect the added caveats to start with "unless..." "but..." and "except..." or something to that effect based on any specific situation. So when we start talking about the "rule of thumb" for coming up with a marketing and advertising budget for your small business... well, you see where I'm going with this.

But there are still general rules that can help you get some direction as to your specific situation, and one thing for certain when you start talking about generating sales in a business - if you don't do it right, it can and will end up biting you.

First of all, remember what "marketing" really is - it's 1) your public relations efforts; 2) your personal sales efforts; 3) your publicity efforts and 4) your advertising efforts - basically everything you do directly and indirectly aimed at generating sales. Keep that in mind, because your marketing budget isn't just advertising expenditures.

I love the SCORE organization affiliated with the U.S. Small Business Association because we can get the free advice of people who've "been there, done that." These are some "rules of thumb" from SCORE regarding setting your marketing budget:

1) Dedicate about 10 percent of your revenues or projected revenues to your marketing budget. If you're a $500,000 per year company, you should be thinking in the neighborhood of $50,000 on marketing, with about ½ that going to labor directly aimed at sales. If you're launching a new product, figure 20 percent of projected revenues to marketing.

HOW TO SELL STUFF

Dane Hicks
Review Publisher

2) Dedicate 20 percent of your time to sales and marketing. You're probably not just the boss but the bookkeeper, the floor sweeper and the light bulb changer. Still, budget a day a week or two hours a day to generating sales. This includes costs of bringing on distributors and salespeople, networking, social media, traditional advertising, etc.

3) Expect $10 in revenue for every dollar you invest in marketing. Sometimes this is hard to tell in evaluating specific projects, media and social media efforts, but over a period of time like a quarter, six months or a year, you should see a significant return. If you don't it's time to reassess your marketing plan.

When you have a minute go and check out www.score.org and the SCORE website. There's lots more there that will help you sell stuff!

Librarians get training

Local librarians have attended training sponsored by the Southeast Kansas Library System.

Andrea Sobba of Garnett Public Library and Jennifer Gum-Fowler of Kincaid Community Library attended the Southeast Kansas Library System (SEKLS) SEKnFind User Group Meeting at the SEKLS headquarters in Iola, on November 4, 2016. The meeting began with training on Reports in SEKnFind. Using an online trivia game format, Jason Robb, SEKnFind Coordinator at SEKLS, introduced new ways to run online reports for statistics on the shared library database. The rest of the SEKnFind User Group meeting was devoted to discussing consortium policies, best practices and upcoming software upgrades. SEKnFind is provided to libraries through grants from SEKLS, the State Library of Kansas, and the Library Services and Technology Act, funded through the Institute of Museum and Library Services.

Connie Fagg of Garnett Public Library attended the Southeast Kansas Library System (SEKLS) workshop, The Interlibrary Loan Code, at the Iola Public Library on November 9, 2016. Brenda Cash, Head of Resource Sharing at SEKLS, instructed library staff members on rules for requesting and supplying loaned materials between libraries. The recent revision of the national standards for interlibrary sharing was reviewed. Kansas library agreements were then described and specific methods for using the online Kansas Library Catalog were discussed. By accessing the Kansas Library Catalog through the State Library of Kansas, libraries are able to obtain books, videos, and other materials quickly and efficiently from academic and public libraries around the state.

The Anderson County Review

Thank You!

The family of Bill Craig extends their heartfelt appreciation to the many relatives and friends who expressed their condolences and provided their support at the time of Bill's passing. The many personal visits friends made to the home meant a great deal to us. The countless cards and well wishes were very comforting. The memorial contributions and the gifts of food, plants and flowers were very much appreciated.

Our sincere gratitude is extended to Father Jerry Williams, O. Carm., for his genuine support and for conducting a wonderful celebration of Bill's life. The family also wishes to thank Reuben Feuerborn and his staff for their support and excellent service. Lastly, the family expresses their thanks to the Altar Society of Holy Angels Catholic Church.

Bill was a loving husband, father, grandfather, brother and a faithful and loyal friend to many. Having so many relatives and friends share their memories and stories about Bill and express their sympathies to us was very comforting at this difficult time. We are forever grateful.

The authorities that exist have been established by God

In Romans 13:1 we read, "Everyone must submit himself to the governing authorities, for there is no authority except that which God has established. The authorities that exist have been established by God." The Apostle Paul makes it clear that we are to obey the governing authority. This is applicable as long as that authority is not requiring us to violate the law of God.

No one gave God the authority to establish rulers or authorities. This is a part of God's essential nature. God's authority is absolute and unconditional. He has authority over nature, governments and history. God's absolute authority is displayed in Daniel 4:17, when God deposes Nebuchadnezzar for seven periods of time. In Daniel 4:30, Nebuchadnezzar makes an arrogant boast about all that he has achieved and is stricken at the height of his power and pride by God's judgment. God brought Nebuchadnezzar to power to discipline Judah. In Jeremiah 27:5-6, God tells the prophet, "With my great power and outstretched arm I made the earth and its people and the animals that are on it, and I give it to anyone I please. Now I will hand all your countries over to my servant Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon. I will make even the wild animals subject to him." True to his word in Daniel 4:31, God takes the royal authority away from Nebuchadnezzar when he fails to recognize God as the Sovereign King of the universe. At the end of seven periods of time the king's sanity is restored and we read he praised the Most High and his kingdom was restored to him.

Nebuchadnezzar learned a lesson we all need to know, God's power is unlimited. God has the power to know the thoughts and motives of every heart. God is not confined by space and time but is present in all his power every moment. God is eternal, he is the author of the past, present and the future. We often see God as a small God, just as Nebuchadnezzar did. Until we realize that God's dominion is total, he wills as he chooses, and carries out all that he wills and none can stay his hand or thwart his plans we will never see God. Viewing God in this way is like looking into a mirror, all we see is ourselves.

 Romans 8:28
 And the same God who takes care of me will supply all your needs from his glorious riches, which have been given to us in Christ Jesus.
 Philippians 4:19

We cannot begin to tell you how blessed we are to live in the Westphalia community and be the recipients of such kindness, compassion and generosity. Thank you for your prayers and support. We have felt a love and peace that surpasses all understanding.

We are extremely grateful that lives were not lost in the fire. We appreciate the dedication and service of our rural firefighters. We recognize the hand of God in this situation and give Him all the glory, honor and praise.

THANK YOU TO ALL WHO WERE/ARE THE HANDS AND FEET OF JESUS!!
