Local corn, soybean crops look like winners for 2017

Good rains, temps laid groundwork for excellent local crop

BY DANE HICKS THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW

THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW 8-8-2017 / DANE HICKS

A large amount of corn which will be harvested in Anderson County will end up at the East Kansas Agri Energy plant as ethanol. Though national harvest forecasts expect a smaller yield from 2016's record, local corn is expected to be plentiful due to spring and summer rains.

GARNETT - Favorable rains and weather have combined for a solid outlook for the 2017 corn and soybean harvest in Anderson County and elsewhere in Eastern Kansas.

That news comes as some analysts say the nationwide corn crop will be about a billion bushel off the 2016 record harvest.

A firm estimate of local planted acreage in both crops is yet unavailable according to the National Agricultural Statistics Service office in Manhattan and the local Farm Service Agency office, but the 2016 corn crop yielded 49,600 harvested acres which yielded just over 6 million bushel, or an average of nearly 122 bushel per acre in the county. Darren Hibdon, with the K-State's Frontier Extension District, said this year's corn looks just as good or even better.

"Throughout East Central Kansas it looks very good," Hibdon said. He said timely rains had established a solid crop before a recent 10-day period of extreme hot weather battered the crop.

"We've had good recovery rates," he said. Although no acreage estimates were available Hibdon said he believed acreages in both corn and soybeans would be up from 2016 since less acreages had been planted to wheat.

Prices for corn rallied slightly at the end of last week but continue to lag, resting at $3.64 per bushel Thursday on the Chicago Board of Trade. They were about $3.30 in August of 2016. Corn harvest should begin in early September.

"Prices are what we would call on the lower side," Hibdon said. He noted that could change depending on what happens with crops in other parts of the country.

Soybean prices were at $9.47 per bush-

Holstine: Hearing may be chance to strike deal

Lawyers will pursue negotiation in July 4 fatality, drug case

BY DANE HICKS THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW

GARNETT - The man who drove an alleged runaway vehicle into a local truck stop July 4 and fatally injured a Garnett man is still in Anderson County Jail awaiting a Sept. 19 court appearance, where attorneys and the prosecution will try to cut a sentencing deal to avoid a trial.

Andrew Holstine, 27 of Garnett, has been held at the Anderson County Jail in lieu of a $100,000 bond since he was apprehended after fleeing the scene the night of the incident. Lloyd Sutton, 75 of Garnett, died hours later from injuries he sustained when the car Holstine drove plowed into a sidewalk bench in front of the truck stop parking area.

Holstine has not yet had a preliminary hearing in the case. Preliminary hearings produce evidence from the defense and prosecution in order for the court to determine whether sufficient evidence exists to justify a trial. The Sept. 19 hearing is a status hearing - basically a meeting between prosecution and defense attorneys in the presence of the judge to determine if a mutually agreeable settlement can be reached to avoid a

Colony man in serious condition following 4-wheeler accident

Locally, ATV accidents have resulted in three serious injuries since April

BY DANE HICKS THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW

COLONY - A Colony man was severely injured Friday afternoon when he lost control of the 4-wheeler he was riding.

A Kansas Highway Patrol report said 58 year-old Gilbert Green was westbound driving on 4th Street in Colony when he lost control of the vehicle and overturned in the south ditch. The accident happened near the intersection of 4th and Burton Streets in Colony at around 4 p.m.

AG: USD 365 "inattentive," but not deliberate in meetings law violation

District changed wording of motion after lawyer's input

BY DANE HICKS THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW

GARNETT - Nearly a year after a patron's complaint prompted the USD 365 School Board to revise its procedures for recessing into secret "executive session" meetings, a Kansas Attorney General's report says the school board was inattentive to its responsibilities, committing "technical violations" of state open meetings law, but not deliberate ones.

The issue surrounded certain language in the district's meeting agenda, possibly present in that from years ago and carried forward on subsequent agendas for more than a decade. The language of the motion amounted to a broad encapsulation of possible topics for which the board could close the open meeting, rather than specifically noting the topics to be discussed. After patron Jason Sheahan's complaint in August 2016,

New fed-compliant driver's licenses, IDs to hit county

TOPEKA— Anderson County drivers will now be issued a new state driver's license design, specifically formatted to comply with approaching federal ID requirements for airport security purposes, three years early.

The Kansas Department of Revenue announced last week new licenses issued will contain either a gold circle with a white star cut-out proving lawful presence in the United States and designating it as acceptable federal ID, or the words "not for federal ID." This complies with

Delinquent property taxes up 24% this year in county

Two commercial properties lead list of delinquent tax payers

BY DANE HICKS THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW

GARNETT - This year's total owed in delinquent property taxes in Anderson County took a 24% leap from last year, and is more than $100,000 from total taxes left unpaid for 2014.

The figures are part of the county's annual listing of delinquent taxes published in the newspaper each August. The 2016 listing is published in today's Review starting on Page XX

The totals show $377,989.27 left unpaid for 2016 according to records at the Anderson County Treasurer's Office. The totals for 2015 were $304,718.32, a difference of more than $73,000.

Harold DeForest with the treasurer's office said the bulk of the taxes owed were on residential properties - residential properties make up the largest class of ownership in the county - but that the largest amount owed was $17,375 owned by GEM Associates LLC for the Guest Home Estates property in Garnett. The second largest delinquency is $8,349 owed by the Economy Inn property. DeForest said the two combined for only 7 percent of the 2016 total.

The county's total valuation for 2016 came in a $90.6 million, up about 7 percent from 84.5 million last year. Xxx was this the ethanol plant????xxxx

The current year's delinquency total eclipses that of 2010, when county property owners ended the year $372,347 in arrears - the highest of any year since. The number dropped to a recent low of $295,539 in 2012.

State law requires the publication of the list of delinquent tax payers in a local newspaper each year. While this list includes those who owe back taxes on properties, it is not a list of properties subject to occasional tax sales by the county in which long-delinquent properties are seized and sold at auction for the taxes against them.

The Anderson County Treasurer's Office offers a payment plan to help people get caught up on delinquent property taxes. Staff will work with property owners to find a Robert Michael (Mike) Bowen passed on January 17, 2017, at his home. Mike was born January 7, 1944, and grew up in Garnett, KS.

Mike was the son of Peter and Freda Bowen. A celebration of life in Mike's memory will be held from 1:00 to 3:00 pm on August 26, 2017, at the Knights of Columbus Hall in Garnett. Donations in Mike's name may be sent to the Alzheimer's Foundation of America, 322 8th Avenue, New York, NY 10001.

ACCIDENT...

Emergency communications monitored during the response to the crash listed Gilbert's condition as "Code Red" or severely injured. He was taken to Allen County Hospital but hospital officials were unable to provide an update on his condition Monday morning.

It was the third serious injury accident involving ATVs since April in Anderson County. One of those was a fatality.

The U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission says 165 Kansans lost their lives on ATVs between 1982 and 2015. At least three have died on the vehicles in Anderson County since the early 2000s. The number nationwide for that term is over 14,000 - some 3,100 were under the age of 16.

As ATVs have become more popular in recent years, statistics show around 650 Americans annually have lost their lives to the vehicles. More than 93,000 a year in the last two years of official data ended their ATV outing with an emergency room visit.

Motorsports Weekend at Linn County Fair dubbed a huge success

The Linn County Fair and Rodeo jumps in to full swing this week when 400 plus head of 4H and FFA livestock arrive on the Mound City, KS Fairgrounds.

Grandstand activities for the 147-year-old county fair, one of the five largest in Kansas, began Aug. 4 and conclude with the PRCA Rodeo Fri. and Sat., Aug. 11-12.

Figures for attendance and entries this past weekend, dubbed the "3-Day Motorsports Weekend" will probably be a record according to fair board officials. "The crowd at the Friday 2-Car Team Demolition Derby was up 30% over last year" stated Kelly Carbon, fair board president. "The grandstands were near capacity for the Saturday, Aug. 5 Demolition Derby and the Sunday, Aug. 6th Outlaw Truck and Tractor Pull".

"72 demolition cars competed in the two nights of 'demo derby' action. Purse money totaled $6000.00 for the Friday team car competition and $7400.00 for the Saturday traditional derby".

Outlaw Truck and Tractor competition saw 50 machines from 5 states (KS, MO, NE, IA and TX) Sunday, Aug 6.

The two performance PRCA Rodeo, Aug 11-12 will be the first leg of the Eastern Kansas Pro Rodeo Series. The series is a joint venture of the Linn County Fair, Mound

City, Inter-State Fair & Rodeo, Coffeyville, Aug 16-19: and the Eureka Pro Rodeo, Eureka, KS Aug 18-19.

Rodeo fans that attend at least one performance of each of the three rodeos will be eligible for a drawing to receive an engraved Eastern Kansas series Moore Maker trophy knife after the Eureka rodeo, Sat., Aug 19. A canceled ticket or a rodeo program will suffice as attendance proof at each rodeo and must be presented to rodeo committee officials at Eureka or Coffeyville Aug. 19.

The Mound City rodeo will feature livestock of New Frontier Rodeo, Gypsum, KS. Rodeo clown Matt Tarr, Cody, WY, will entertain the crowd. Rodeo announcer Troy Goodridge, Ft Scott, KS returns for the 7th year to keep fans informed.

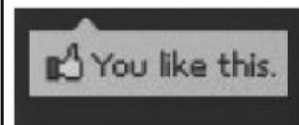

Judging of 4-H projects continues throughout the week, concluding with the livestock premium sale Sat., Aug 12 at 10:00 a.m.

Kobach, Trump on right track with RAISE Act

There is of course a huge difference in the public discussion of illegal and legal immigration and the impact of both on our nation, but the public debate confuses the two and confuses what should be the logical objectives of policy dealing with both.

The point gets lost in the woods. Why do nations have policies dealing with immigration at all? When we step back to answer the question the objective is obvious: Like any other policy our leadership would seek to pursue whether on defense, economics, highway infrastructure, etc., the target should be the benefit of our nation and the people living in it.

That America is a great opportunity for immigrants is secondary, and should be.

In that vein, it's clear that the Reforming American Immigration for a Strong Economy (RAISE) Act now beginning a path through Congress is such a common-sense piece of legislation that it will have absolutely no chance of becoming law whatsoever.

It is however being embraced by clear thinkers because it attempts to craft the nation's legal immigration policy into something that's actually good for our economy, instead of a feel-good, glowing chorus of Kumbaya that makes us all warm and fuzzy about how tolerant and inclusive we are.

Kris Kobach, Republican candidate for Kansas governor who conferred with the Trump Administration and with Congress on the legislation, sees the value in prefacing our policy on points that admit better immigrants who can make our country better. That's a feather both in Kobach's cap and that of Trump and his legislative supporters. RAISE awards preference points for prospective immigrants based on their level of education and technical skills, earning ability, their youth and their accomplishment as English speakers, among other factors.

The idea is that we want to be more exclusive in who we allow into the country - we want people who will succeed here and help make our nation successful and be beneficial to our economy. That's important, because 51 percent of all present immigrant households (either legal or illegal) are beneficiaries of at least one federal government welfare program - compared to 30 percent of native born households. That doesn't include state programs.

The RAISE Act would also reduce the number

REVIEW COMMENTARY

DANE HICKS, Publisher

of legal work visas or "green cards" issued per year from a million to an estimated 500,000. It would eliminate "Diversity Lottery Visas," a program that grants 50,000 visas per year for the purpose of "diversity" to countries that generally send few immigrants here. It would eliminate the ability for immigrants to sponsor visas for extended family members and adult children. It would also adapt a work visa system to one similar to those in Australia and Canada that establish a point system to give priority to younger applicants with established English skills, high-paying job offers and other high levels of achievement that can benefit our nation.

The Act will of course be opposed by Democrats and by the mainstream media with charges of classism and elitism, first of all since it is offered by Republicans and supported by Trump and second because Kobach contributed to it. Big Government-types need those poor immigrants, just like they need the remainder of poor and dispossessed Americans, to carry the banner for the Welfare State and to vote to maintain it.

For Kobach, RAISE illustrates a clear philosophy that government should steer a path toward practicality, accomplishment and achievement that benefits the American people first before providing benefit to those with little to offer. It's an objective that's easy for other nations to embrace, and it's a laudable point in Kobach's favor as Kansas governor.

Hey moron, the Clinton Foundation is not dried up. Everything you said in there is an out and out lie, you must be a Republican.

At least a field mouse has a brain which is more than I can say for you.

Thank you to whoever it is that mows on Seventh Street Road. It's always beautiful.

You know it's amazing how many city crews are out working since we got the new city manager. Even the street department.

The person who called about the McDonald's franchise missed the point. My point was nobody in Garnett tells anybody they can't put a franchise here or some restaurant or Wolf Creek or Wal-Mart. The person or the company who wants to do that has to be willing to invest their own money in Garnett like the guy that built the new motel and Orschelns to name a few. If you want to pony up the money or get a loan and start a business here, nobody's stopping you. Have at it. Thank you.

Former city manager responds to budget issues

I would like to respond to the article entitled "New city manager wants faster, more transparent budget." I'm proud of my years of service and mean no ill will towards anyone; I'm just trying to defend my decisions and those of other former managers. The article says that past city budgets haven't been filed in a timely manner. State statutes "suggest" that hearings be held no later than August 15 and filed with the county clerk no later than August 25. There are no penalties imposed if these dates are not met. Meeting these dates became harder and harder and a few years ago I joined with other cities to petition the legislators to extend the "suggested" deadlines to give us more reliable revenues to prepare estimates for the current and following year. No changes were made at that time. The Department of Administration was contacted and their reply confirmed that the August dates were not absolute and suggested that the cities stay in contact with their county clerks to make sure their deadlines are met so levies could be set and tax statements prepared. No one took the preparation of the city's budget more to heart than I did. I never took this part, or any part of my job, lightly.

The second part of the article dealt with Charter Ordinance #3 which was adopted by the then governing body in May of 1968. There have been seven city managers since the adoption of this charter ordinance. In reviewing this ordinance and talking with a former Garnett city manager, I believe the provisions set down have been followed in the 49 years of the ordinance's existence. I was so proud to work for every manager the city had in the past. They taught me so much and most of all to listen and learn. If the new manager makes the changes he is proposing then, yes, this particular ordinance will have to be amended. Interpretation of any ordinance is very important and it is my understanding that the city attorney is researching this matter.

Friends and family encouraged me to write this letter because I wasn't sure what to do. I hope to continue working in a volunteer role to support the community foundation, the Walker Art Committee and all the many great things this community has to offer. Hopefully this letter doesn't distract from my being able to do that.

I appreciate all the support given to me over the years and most importantly the last few days. My goal has always been to work hard, play by the rules, follow local, state and federal laws to the best of my ability.

Sincerely

Joyce E. Martin
Garnett

The Socialist Revolution devours Venezuela

Venezuela is a woeful reminder that no country is so rich that it can't be driven into the ground by revolutionary socialism.

People are now literally starving - about three-quarters of the population lost weight last year - in what once was the fourth-richest country in the world on a per capita basis. A country that has more oil reserves than Saudi Arabia is suffering shortages of basic supplies. Venezuela now totters on the brink of bankruptcy and civil war, in the national catastrophe known as the Bolivarian Revolution.

The phrase is the coinage of the late Venezuelan strongman Hugo Chavez, succeeded by current Venezuelan strongman Nicolas Maduro, who has instituted an ongoing self-coup to make his country a one-party state.

The Chavezistas have worked from the typical communist playbook of romanticizing the masses while immiserating them. Runaway spending, price controls, nationalization of companies, corruption and the end of the rule of law - it's been a master class in how to destroy an economy.

The result is a sharp, yearslong recession, runaway inflation and unsustainable debt. The suffering of ordinary people is staggering, while the thieves and killers who are Chavezista officials have made off with hundreds of billions of dollars. At this rate there will be nothing left to steal.

Any government in a democratic country

NATIONAL COMMENTARY

RICH LOWRY, King Features Syndicate

that failed this spectacularly would have been relegated to the dustbin of history long ago. Maduro is getting around this problem by ending Venezuela's democracy. The Chavezistas slipped up a year or two by allowing real elections for the country's National Assembly, which were swept by the opposition. They then undertook a war against the assembly, stripping it of its powers and culminating in a rigged vote last week to elect a constituent assembly to rewrite the constitution.

The goal of Maduro's alleged constitutional reforms is to no longer have a constitution worthy of the name. Denied the ordinary means of dissent via the press and elections, the opposition has taken to the streets. Already more than 100 people have been killed in clashes over the past several months. Worse is yet to come. Lacking legitimacy and representing only a fraction of the populace, the Maduro regime will rely on the final backstop of violent suppression.

There is no easy remedy to Venezuela's agony. If meditation were the solution, the country never would have gotten to this pass. Endless negotiations between the government and the opposition have gone nowhere. The U.S. needs to use every economic and diplomatic lever to undermine the regime and build an international coalition against it.

We should impose more sanctions on specific officials and on the state-run oil company; we should advertise what we know about the details of how Chavezistas park their ill-gotten gains abroad; we should nudge our allies to further isolate the Venezuelan government by pulling ambassadors and breaking diplomatic relations. The hope is that with enough pressure, the regime will crack, and high-level officials will break with Maduro, weakening his position and making a negotiated restoration of democratic rule possible.

In the meantime, the Bolivarian Revolution is proceeding according to its sick logic - and there will be blood.

- Rich Lowry is editor of The National Review

Governor's resignation means intrigue in Topeka

As a dutiful lieutenant governor, Jeff Colyer has been a strong supporter of the policies and whims of Gov. Sam Brownback.

And now the question is, with Brownback likely off to serve President Donald Trump as ambassador-at-large for international religious freedom, just what a new governor wants to accomplish in the 2018 legislative session—and how that plays out politically for statewide office-seekers and members of the Kansas House of Representatives.

Practically, Brownback is gone. A former U.S. senator, he's going to be confirmed by the U.S. Senate for the post, and Colyer becomes governor through the rite of succession.

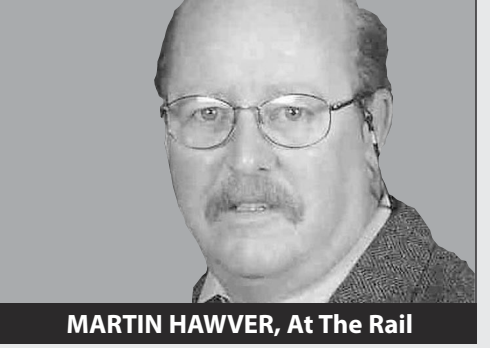

No, Colyer hasn't said whether he wants to stand for election to a full term as governor. Might, might not, probably will, but only Colyer knows for sure yet. There is already a primary election brewing for the GOP nomination for governor next year, and few are thinking that conservative Secretary of State Kris Kobach will demur to the guy who may need a couple months as the governor to decide whether he likes the job enough to want it for a full four-year term.

You'll notice that last week no candidates for the GOP nomination have folded their campaigns.

And...Colyer will become governor with most of next year's budget already appropriated, part of Brownback's biennial budget program that makes the last year of that cycle basically tuning up what's been appropriated. Oh, that last year of the two-year budget cycle that Colyer will have to fix shows about a

$90 million shortfall, so he's going to have to

STATE COMMENTARY

either think up some new revenue source or cut that amount from the upcoming fiscal year budget.

Now...that in itself will probably tell Statehouse insiders how popular Colyer will be. Last session, recall, with the state facing a $200 million-plus shortfall, Brownback essentially told the Legislature "just fix it." Brownback didn't make any budget cuts that would have his fingerprints on them, instead apparently went to lunch, forcing the newly elected Legislature to make its own cuts that will splash back on legislators at next year's elections, when they have to look good for constituents. Notable? Had Brownback made the unpopular budget cuts there would have been no political damage for him because he couldn't run for reelection to a third (whew) term, anyway.

Oh, and there just might be a White House-style shakeup in Colyer's cabinet. Some key Brownback supporters have already quit (Commerce Secretary Antonio Soave and Deputy Chief of Staff Kim Borchers) before Brownback's nomination for the federal job, and this is the time of the season when current cabinet secretaries start thinking about what to do in the future. Holding onto those cabinet secretaries is good, they know how to run things, if they are running things the way Colyer wants...

Yes, at least for those folks who spend their time in the Statehouse, or who depend on what happens here, there are going to be some changes coming up, some subtle, some maybe not, but the real angst the next month or two will be waiting to find out just what they'll be.

Oh, and Democrats? They have lost the most powerful weapon that they can use to elect more House members and a new governor...Brownback. Even though he wouldn't have been on the ballot next year anyway, the "Brownback supporter" bullet point likely comes off Democrats' campaign materials about their opponents, and depending on how Colyer works with Democrats in the upcoming legislative session, the personality issue fades.

It's going to be just a change in business cards for Colyer, but one with significant governmental and political consequence.

The transition to the new 785 area code begins - 20 years ago

10 years ago...

Just three days after bonding out of jail to await court dates for multiple counts of theft, 20-year-old Carl Damron of Garnett was back in the local slammer for allegedly stealing a 2002 Harley Davidson motorcycle from a man who had been his alleged victim once before. Now the local court system is tallying up the charges, separating old for the new, and getting ready to determine just what rewards this "frequent flyer" will earn when it's all said and done.

20 years ago...

The advent of the new 785 telephone area code for most of Anderson County and the western portion of Kansas will be an unnoticeable and seamless transition, Sprint officials say. As of July 20, both the present 913 and the new 785 area codes will be acceptable for long distance calls, and the dual codes will function together until October 1, 1998. That 15-month period will allow telephone customers a grace period to make the transition from the old to the new area codes.

ing hours. Merlin R. Byers, 28, of Garnett, was found dead of a gunshot wound at his residence by officers responding to a phone call. Byers was originally from Cody, Wyoming, and was employed by the Welda branch of the Williams Brothers Gas Company. According to Garnett Police Chief Lawrence Kellerman, the Kansas Bureau of Investigation still has the matter under investigation and no other information is available yet.

40 years ago...

The 15th open annual Hi-Point Championship Rodeo will be held at 8:30 p.m. Thursday through Saturday at the Hi-Point Arena at Colony.

Seven main events and a specialty act are planned. The main events will be bareback bronc riding, calf roping, saddle bronc riding, steer wrestling, bull riding, cowgirls' barrel racing, and team roping. A $400 trophy saddle will be awarded the all-around champion. A $50 trophy award will be given in each single event and two $50 trophy awards will be given in team roping. Jerry Taylor of Halstead will be the announcer.

100 years ago...

An ordinance making it unlawful for any person to practice what is known as "goosing" another person, shall go into effect the 20th day of July. Section I: It shall be unlawful for any person to punch another person with thumb, finger, stick, or any other thing, in the manner commonly called and known as "goosing." Section II: Any person convicted of the violation of Section I of this ordinance shall be fined in any sum not to exceed twenty-five dollars and shall stand committed to the city jail until said fine and costs are paid.

Katzer 50th anniversary

Maurice and Kay (Watkins) Katzer will celebrate their 50th wedding anniversary on August 12th. The couple was married at Holy Angels Catholic Church in Garnett by Father Maurice Gardner.

The will have a family dinner on August 3rd and are planning a trip to Yellowstone National Park.

They have three children: Debbie Miller and husband Troy; David and wife, Casie; and Erin Henry and husband Perry. They have 7 grandchildren.

Two days prior to their wedding, Maurice cut two toes off his foot in a lawn mower accident and was in the hospital for 2 days, and was dismissed one hour before the wedding ceremony. The groom stole the show from the bride, coming down the aisle on crutches, she didn't have a wedding dance partner and no honeymoon. The question was asked: Would they live happy ever after?

Apparently they have - 50 years later.

board members conferred with their attorney and the Kansas Association of School boards and narrowed the language of the motion for recess by the October 2016 meeting, a move Sheahan said recently he was satisfied with.

But Sheahan said the issue denotes an over-reliance by board members on superintendent Don Blome, and a lack of receptivity to patrons' participation.

"I am happy to see that the AG followed through with the investigation and the school board has acknowledged their mistakes and made changes," Sheahan said. "I wish the board would have been more receptive to input from their constituents, which would have prevented the AG from getting involved. Hopefully, in the future, the board and staff will listen a little more and dismiss constituents a lot less."

Sheahan said his experience early on with the school board seemed to reinforce a theme he'd heard from the community that the board turned a deaf ear toward patron concerns.

"In USD 365 it appears the school board reports to the superintendent and rubber stamps his decisions," Sheahan said.

Blome said the district has tried to maintain a policy in keeping with open meetings laws.

"I feel comfortable with the report," Blome said Friday. "The district always makes an effort to comply with the intent of the open meeting requirements as indicated in the opinion. The school district posts its meeting agendas and minutes on its website for public viewing monthly and meeting are open to the public."

Max Kautsch, a Lawrence attorney who represents the Kansas Press Association in open government issues, was in agreement with the AG opinion.

"It looks like the board was trying to comply and they just weren't technically doing so," Kautsch said. He said the 21-page report showed the AG's office had been very detailed in its review, showing attention to the issue which other complaints have not received in the past.

"The Attorney General's office should absolutely be commended for such a thorough review and in trying to clarify these requirements," Kautsch said.

Board member Cleon Rickel said USD 365 was quick to act on the change.

"The board has always tried to do the right thing in overseeing district operations and setting policies," Rickel said. "The attorney general's office requested that we change the procedure for going into executive session and the board was happy to do so."

"Personally, now that I've seen the change in action, I think it makes things a bit clearer for the public. I think it's been a good change," Rickel said.

Assistant Attorney General Lisa Mendoza wrote in the opinion that with its October 2016 meeting the board amended its executive session motion language to state only one subject for the meeting. She said while multiple topics can be discussed in an executive session, public boards should be realistic about time limits and inclusive in the subject matter for the closed sessions. That lack of specificity in the motions dated back to at least 2015, Mendoza said, in the office's review of past meeting agendas.

"The number of technically deficient motions for executive session identified in this case suggests the board has been, at the very least, inattentive in meeting the requirements of the Kansas Open Meetings Act," Mendoza wrote, "and overly reliant on the superintendent to ensure that it meets the requirements of the KOMA."

"However, in mitigation, we note that the board has already taken corrective action concerning its motions," she said, "and acknowledged its shortcomings."

The report directed USD 365 to submit a report to the AG's office outlining an establishment of a checklist or other process to ensure the board meets all statutory elements for recessing into closed session each time it calls one, and review and update its policies for calling executive sessions to ensure they comply with the requirements of KOMA.

Holstine was alone the night of the incident and driving a 1993 Buick LaSabre owned by Kristy Lynn Prevatte of Garnett when witnesses said it swung through the parking lot of Sandra's Quick Stop toward a parking spot with Holstine yelling from the window that he couldn't stop the car. It smashed into the park bench where Sutton and another man had been sitting. The other man escaped serious injury.

Holstine, who was driving with a suspended license, fled the scene and was later apprehended. He faces felony counts of involuntary manslaughter while under the influence of narcotic drugs, failure to stop at an accident and possession of methamphetamine.

Hamilton 50th anniversary

Darwin and Mary (Bennett) Hamilton were united in marriage on August 13, 1967 at the First Baptist Church in Leavenworth, KS.

They moved to Garnett in the summer of 1969 and made their home on their family farm southwest of town. This union was blessed with one daughter, Denise Hamilton of Winfield, KS.

In honor of their occasion, they would love to hear from friends with a card shower.

Please mail cards to: 25386 N.W. Montana Rd., Garnett, KS 66032.

tive that was approved by the U.S. Congress in 2005.

"We are starting to issue these new forms of ID three years ahead of when it's required by the federal government for airport security purposes, so we can take advantage of the normal renewal cycles for most Kansans," said Revenue Secretary Sam Williams. "There's no need to rush in for a new ID, but it's something the public needs to be aware of."

To obtain a federally compliant "Real ID" credential, Kansans should bring proof of social security number documentation in addition to their birth certificate or valid U.S. Passport. If they do not have those documents on hand, they can choose to obtain the "not for federal ID" card that will not be acceptable ID for boarding domestic flights or entering designated federal facilities after September 30, 2020. However, the "not for federal ID" cards will still be valid as state ID or as a driver's licenses.

Hyatt Club meeting has patriotic theme

Janis Hightower and Terry Cain hosted Hyatt Club on Wednesday, July 26, at noon at the Archer room of the Garnett Public Library. The patriotic theme celebrated our nation's birthday. The tables were decorated red, white and blue and our American Flag was displayed on the table. Hot dogs, lemonade and yummy side dishes and desserts were served. Fourteen members were present.

The roll call was answered by members naming and sharing information about a favorite school teacher they had while attending school. Also mentioned were favorite authors. The club plans to have a garage sale in September.

Royals and Flags were two magic words spoken in conversations to win the hostess gifts. Patty Mosher said the word flag and won the two pretty decorative flags. Dorothy Miller said Royals and won a book entitled 'The Pattern Artist' by Nancy Moser from Overland Park, Kansas. Sondra Grieshaber guessed the mystery gift, a decorative hanging plaque and gardening gloves. Becky King received a birthday gift.

Members enjoyed visiting in the pleasant environment with Hyatt Club friends.

Safety in the sun - dangers of skin cancer and how to protect yourself

CROPS...

My dermatologist recently shared with me a list of five ways to die on a golf course. The five ways include hit by a golf ball, run over by a golf cart, whacked by a golf club, struck by lightning and forgot your hat.

JOHN SCHLAGECK, Kansas Farm Bureau

While none of these possibilities is pleasant to contemplate, the threat of skin cancer is real and should be considered carefully.

Every year one million new cases of skin cancer are detected, according to the American Academy of Dermatology. One out of five people in this country develops skin cancer during his/her lifetime.

Americans love vacations with their families - many of these trips include trips to the beach or outdoor amusement parks. Many others work for long hours in the sun during the summer months - farmers, ranchers, construction workers and amusement park attendants.

If you spend several hours in the sun, protect yourself. Avoid the midday sun if possible. Cover up. Always wear a hat. Work in the shade whenever possible. And don't forget to wear sunscreen.

Melanoma is the deadliest form of skin cancer. One person dies every hour from this disease in the United States, according to the American Academy of Dermatology.

Fortunately, melanoma

can be completely cured if it's caught early enough. Dermatologists advise us to examine our skin regularly.

If you find a blemish larger than a pencil eraser, multi-colored, asymmetrical or irregular at the edges, you may have melanoma and should see your dermatologist.

While we should protect ourselves from potential skin cancer, we should be every bit as aware of this danger for our children. Overexposure to sunlight during childhood will affect children for the rest of their lives.

Studies show that damage from the sun to a child's skin can actually increase the odds that he or she will develop skin cancer as an adult.

The American Academy of Dermatology estimates 80 percent of a person's total lifetime sun exposure occurs in the first 18 years.

Protect your children.

Cover them up. Teach them to wear long-sleeved cotton shirts that breathe. Make sure they wear head protection at all times. Make wearing sunscreen part of the ritual for gearing up for the sun.

While skin cancer can kill you, it's much more likely to disfigure you. Each year, thousands of Americans lose chunks of their skin to this disease. Some people lose their nose; others may lose their ears, while others may get off with only the loss of an eyebrow.

Examine your skin regularly, at least once a week. Look for warning signs.

If you find anything bleeding, crusting or not healing, see your dermatologist immediately. And if you want more information on how to identify skin cancer visit www.aad.org.

It's all right to enjoy the sun and spend time outside. Remember these common-sense suggestions, have fun, and like everything else in life - enjoy the sun in moderation.

Kansas gas prices expected to continue to climb through the end of summer

Gas prices across Kansas continue their steady increase this summer, jumping 5 cents from a week ago to $2.22/gallon, according to AAA Kansas. This comes a week after a 6-cent statewide increase.

This week's Kansas cities with the state's gas price extremes are at far opposite corners at the state.

The highest price was in St. Francis (Cheyenne County, far Northwest Kansas) - $2.49

The lowest price was in Columbus (Cherokee County, far Southeast Kansas) - $2.03

Of the 10 regularly reported Kansas cities (see chart below), all experienced price increases in the past week, AAA Kansas notes. Kansas City, Kan. and Lawrence led the way with 10-cent increases, while Manhattan, Salina and Topeka each rose only one cent from last week.

At 13 cents less than the national average, Kansas gas prices are still 12th lowest in the country, said AAA Kansas spokesman Shawn Steward.

"Strong gasoline demand across the country is continuing to push prices higher at the pump, a trend that we don't see letting up through the end of summer," said Steward. "Kansas is still in a good position, though, with relatively affordable gas prices, compared to the national average."

Today's national average price for regular unleaded gasoline is $2.35/gallon, which is three cents more than last week, nine cents more than one month ago, and 23 cents more than at the same time last year. The latest Energy Information Administration (EIA) report shows gasoline demand reached a new weekly record of 9.842 million b/d. The 2017 demand average over the past four-weeks is about one percent ahead of the same four-week period last year. With summer demand running full steam ahead, drivers can expect prices to continue rising.

Duplicate bridge played

Charles and Peggy Carlson won a close duplicate bridge match August 2nd in Garnett.

Dave Leitch and Tom Williams were in second place, Mary Margaret Thomas and Tom Peavler in third.

The Garnett Duplicate Bridge Club plays each Wednesday at 1:00 at the Garnett Inn.

Garnett Public Library book discussions held monthly

The Garnett Public Library held their most recent book discussion on Wednesday, July 23rd in the Archer Room at the library. They are held on the fourth Wednesday of each month.

This month's book was "First Dawn" by Judith Miller. Miller is an award-winning author whose avid research and love for history are reflected in her bestselling novels. Judy and her husband make their home in Topeka, Kansas. Judy will be one of the authors appearing at the library's "Celebrate the Book, Chapter 2" on October 21 at GES.

Lured by the promise of "real" freedom and a new town to call their own, sharecroppers Ezekial Harban and his three daughters leave behind remnants of slavery in the war-torn south and set off for Nicodemus, Kansas. When they arrive, they are shocked to see that little of what they were promised actually exists. Many head back home, but Ezekial and his daughters are determined to build a new life in the stark territory. Dr. Boyle, a newly arrived doctor in neighboring Hill City, is called to deliver a baby in Nicodemus. He and his family are moved by the plight of the settlers there and vow to help. But the white pioneers of Hill City face problems, too. When the lives of these two families intersect, neither town will ever be the same.

Leading our discussion will be Paulabeth Henderson. The books are available for check-out at the library. Notification is posted in case of cancellation.

Kansas Reading Roadmap hosts annual conference to focus on improving reading proficiency among Kansas students

TOPEKA - Nearly two-thirds of U.S. fourth graders are not proficient readers, according to a national reading assessment data. Fortunately, The Kansas Reading Roadmap (KRR), an initiative focused on improving reading proficiency among Kansas grade school students, is actively working to combat the issue by providing an integrative framework to support Kansas schools and make sure that every child graduates on time and achieves his/her full potential.

This week, KRR held its annual "kick-off conference" in Wichita. The event ran August 2nd and 3rd. The meeting consisted of representatives from all 60 KRR sites in Kansas.

The focus of this year's conference was "Kansas Third Grade Assessments" and maximizing test scores. Some of the key speakers at the annual conference were Executive Director of Kansas Parent Information Resource Center Jane Groff, Boys & Girls Club President Dave Smith and Director of Grade-Level Reading Support Center Campaign for Grade-Level Reading Ron Fairchild.

KRR was commissioned by Governor Sam Brownback and is funded by the Kansas Department for Children and Families (DCF). KRR also works in partnership with the Kansas Department of Education (KDOE), 34 local schools and local partners.

Currently, KRR is working in 28 counties, including Allen, Barton, Bourbon, Chautauqua, Cherokee, Cloud, Crawford, Dickinson, Elk, Finney, Franklin, Greenwood, Harvey, Jefferson, Labette, Lyon, Marshall, Montgomery, Morris, Olathe, Osage, Pottawatomie, Reno, Riley, Sedgwick, Stevens, Sumner and Wyandotte.

Also this week, the KRR joined the campaign for Grade-Level Reading (GLR Campaign), a nationwide movement to promote early school success for children from low-income families. This national partnership will further KRR's efforts to ensure Kansas children are receiving the best education possible.

"KRR is excited to be added to the Campaign for Grade-Level Reading's national network," said Executive Director of KRR Andrew Hysell. "Funding from the Kansas Department for Children and Families has allowed us to create a powerful network of school-based programs that are now being recognized nationally."

Since its launch in 2013, KRR has continuously improved proficiency across the state. Now, membership in the GLR Communities Network will give KRR access to experts and policymakers focused on early literacy, assistance in addressing the challenges that keep many children from learning to read and opportunities to share and learn best practices.

A complete list of GLR communities is available at grade-levelreading.net/communities.

Twenty children and a student helper were present for the July 25 Summer Story Hour. Debbie Wools read three books - "One Green Apple", "Love Monster and the Last Chocolate" and, "A Bad Case of Stipes". The craft enjoyed was a finger paint dandelion. Charlene Tinsley provided M &

M cookies and they also had rainbow Twizzlers. Next week will be the last story hour for this summer. There will be a performer for the program!

Eleven Years Ago

It was August 22, 2006 when Colony lost a three quarters of a century-old local business that was consumed in flames. A fire started in the old grain mill of Colony Grain, LLC. The elevator started operation in Colony in 1930. Allen and Coffey County fire departments were summoned to the blaze that began around 9 a.m. Days after the fire was brought under control, smoke still rose from the smoldering debris. It had quickly spread to the office area of the building. Several volunteers helped remove records from the office until conditions were no longer safe. Everyone escaped uninjured. The company had insurance but they were unsure of the elevator's future. Today it remains barren. It was hard on farmers to have lost this business. But where there is a will; there is a way. Our farmers continue to work

Around Town

My daughter, Cheryl Luedke, of St. Augustine, Fla. suffered injuries when she had a hard fall while walking a dog. She was pet sitting among her many duties when the accident occurred. She underwent x-rays, etc. at the local EMT where they patched her up and she is home and back to work slowly.

I enjoyed my "happy birthday" this month and three days later my son, Mark, enjoyed his birthday. Thank you to those that remembered.

Sharon Smith has been on the sick list but is doing much better now.

Dian Prasko recently vacationed and visited relatives and friends in the state of California.

Bob and Mary Scovill and their grandson Cody Beal returned home Monday July 31 following a visit with their granddaughter and great granddaughter at Van Buren, Ark.

ATTENTION

EAST KANSAS AGRI-ENERGY, LLC SHAREHOLDERS

My name is Gary Dieterich. My family owns approximately 1% of the outstanding shares of East Kansas Ethanol.

I'm concerned about our investment in the renewable diesel project. I arrived at the plant on July 19, to my dismay and surprise, the renewable diesel plant was not in production.

In my opinion, the renewable diesel project may have similar results as the Wood Project we invested in Georgia.

The 2017 Annual Meeting of the Shareholders of East Kansas Agri-Energy, LLC will be held Saturday, August 19, 2017 at the Anderson County Jr/Sr High School • Garnett, KS Registration 9:00 a.m. to 10 a.m.

This plant is your plant. As a shareholder, it's your investment and ownership. Voice your concerns and questions.

I hope to see you there.
