Plea arrangement close in man's hit & run death

Arrestment likely to end in plea in June 11 death of Clay Yoder

BY DANE HICKS THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW

GARNETT – The Garnett man who allegedly drove the vehicle which struck and killed a Mont Ida resident last summer is expected to plea to lesser charges at an arraignment set for 1 p.m. October 23 in Anderson County District Court.

Jason Wilson faces charges of failing to stop at an accident involving a death, giving false information and driving with no liability insurance in connection with the June 11 death of 22 year-old Clay Yoder on a remote stretch of 1650 Road about four miles west of Garnett. Wilson waived his right to a preliminary hearing on the charges at a hearing last week in preparation for the plea agreement.

The charges allege Wilson was driving older-model Pontiac Bonneville sometime between 2:15 a.m. and 4:15 a.m. owned by 27 year-old Ashley Hobbs of Garnett, who was a passenger, when the incident occurred. Yoder was apparent-

Club serves town, goodies

Kincaid Lions make impact with funds from fair concession stand

BY MELISSA HOBBS THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW

KINCAID – The Kincaid Fair has been a yearly attraction for over 100 years, and one of the busiest attractions at the event just happens to be a hamburger concession stand operated by the Kincaid Lions Club. The burger joint that runs for three days has become a legend of sorts, and with the amount of food they go through it's no surprise.

According to Kincaid Lions Club President Bill Johnston, the little concession stand that has grown over the years sold a whopping 2,000 hamburgers, 900 pounds of french fries, and hundreds of hotdogs over the three days of the fair this year. Planning for the event starts two to three months before the beginning of the fair and

Roar of racing engines returns Saturday

Cars, local activities bring back historic racing event

BY DANE HICKS THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW

GARNETT – Local organizers are joining with a group of Kansas City-area car clubs this weekend to once again re-create the heyday of the Lake Garnett Grand Prix Races nearly 60 years after sports cars first established the lake road as one of the premiere racing tracks in the country.

This year's Lake Garnett Grand Prix Revival – the fourth year for the growing event – offers a weekend of fun and activities for both drivers, exhibitors and spectators – and there's no fee for spectators to watch and learn.

The Garnett races ran from 1959-1972 as part of the Sports Car Club of America series, heralding a time when sports car racing was a traveling sport at various tracks across the country. Garnett saw crowds of more than 60,000 attend some of the more popular races in the 1960s, when automotive legends like the Ford Cobra and Chevrolet Corvette mixed it up with other domestic and foreign cars to test their mettle and their nerve on the 2.8 mile lake road which was transformed into a racing venue for those several days of the competition.

The rekindled exhibition event was the brain child of sports car enthusiast CB Harris, Jr., and his wife Cheryl, and was enjoyed by a group of car clubs including Heartland Vintage Racing, the KC Car Museum, The Kansas City Triumphs Sports Car Club, The Heart of America Jaguar Owners Club, The Kansas City MG Car Club, The Heart of ship. The cars in the exhibition laps don't actually race, but they do hit speeds from 60-100 mph as they run the track and maneuver the tight corners that made it a favorite among the challenging tracks

Utility hike expected for water plant rebuild

$13 million tab for new water plant leads infrastructure needs

BY DANE HICKS THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW

GARNETT – Costs to update and replace key segments of Garnett's utility infrastructure will likely mean a future of higher local utility costs, Garnett City Manager Chris Weiner warned city commissioners earlier this month.

"I'm trying not to come off all doom and gloom," Weiner said in response to follow-up questions from the Review to presentations made at a recent city commission meeting, "but the financial situation we are in is not an easy one given the immediate upcoming needs."

Those prospects were laid bare during discussions of the city's 2018 budget – a $10.65 million spending outline which was approved by commissioners and set for a public hearing on Oct. 17 at 5:30 p.m. at city hall. It includes $988,355 in property tax funding, $485,000 in additional anticipated spending from the current year, but holds the city's mill levy even with 2017 at 42.981 mills.

The budget approval came on the heels of a presentation from Brian Wintle of Wichita-based PEC Engineering regarding the proposed construction of a new water treatment facility at Crystal Lake – a project that if approved would take some three years to design and construct and cost nearly $13 million.

Portions of the original plant were part of initial construction in 1915, Wintle said, with upgrades and modifications made in 1936, 1948 and 1995.

Issues with Garnett's water supply have plagued the city for years – with odor, color and taste problems first blamed on additional chemicals needed to purify water from Crystal Lake with its continual shallowing due to sediment build up. A direct pipe system pumped from Cedar Creek and installed several years ago is also problematic, Wintle said, because Cedar Creek tends to impound water during dryer weather and move to free flowing during wetter weather.

The new plant, according to the PEC plan, would be constructed west of the present plant in Crystal Lake Park while the old plant continues to run. Commissioners have not approached a final decision on the plant, nor has a financing plan or rate hike schedule been analyzed to provide some view of the costs for the project spread over any certain term of financing.

Commissioners anticipate paying PEC some $656,000 in engineering fees to design the plant, so they curtailed a plan to spend $500,000 in 2018 to Investigating officers early on identified a 2004 Pontiac Bonneville as the vehicle they were seeking based on debris found at the scene. Officers found and detained Hobbs and the vehicle a few days later.

Wilson's attorney Jack Hobbs told the court at the October 3 hearing that his client was prepared to accept a plea agreement which had been discussed with the prosecution. Anderson County Attorney Brandon Jones' office confirmed Friday that a plea arrangement was in the works and could be finalized by the arraignment date.

Hobbs pled guilty Sept. 25 to obstructing apprehension or prosecution and was sentenced to 10 months with the Kansas Department of Corrections, but that sentence was suspended in lieu of 18 months probation with a condition of 30 days to be served in the Anderson County Jail.

Jones' office said the start of Hobbs jail term had not yet been scheduled between the defense and the court probation officer.

LICKTEIG

MARCH 15, 1939 - OCTOBER 4, 2017

Doris Eva (Bach) Lickteig, 78, of Garnett died Wednesday, Oct. 4 at Anderson County Hospital.

Lickteig

Doris was the third of four children born to Fred and Florence (Feuerborn) Bach. She was born on March 15, 1939 in Garnett, Kansas. Doris attended the High Point School and then graduated from Garnett High School with the class of 1957. On September 22, 1958, Doris married Glen Lickteig at Holy Angels Church, Garnett. This union was blessed with four children. They made their home on the farm northeast of Garnett. Doris worked with Glen on the farm and in the dairy operation. She was especially suited for the twenty four hour day and seven day week, life of a farm wife. Doris was gifted in the areas of home-taught veterinarian skills as well as the kitchen. She would serve a great meal to anyone helping on the farm even with short notice. They operated the dairy from 1960 until 1992. They continued on the farm until 2010 when they "retired" and moved to town. After moving to town Doris still kept busy with her house and garden and taking care of the great grandchildren.

She was a member of St. Boniface Catholic Church and then Holy Angels Catholic Church after moving to Garnett. She was a member of the alter societies for both churches. Doris was a faithful servant, volunteering for any task from cleaning the church to baking a pie for a dinner. She was talented quilter, making quilts for all of the grandchildren and several other family members. Doris enjoyed spending time with family and playing cards at their gathering. There was a fear that to do so (especially the prayer part) would result in the city being sued. I did some research and found that there are groups of attorneys who would help the city fight any such legal action free of charge.

At the next City Commission meeting I pointed out that although there is a possibility that legal costs might be incurred, there is a definite price to pay in loss of values.

Since that day we have opened with the pledge and a prayer and to date there have been no repercussions.

This year's biggest challenge was finding a new City Manager. After hours of work we hired Chris Weiner.

Chris is a very talented young man and has the skills necessary to develop Garnett's potential. He is working to bring jobs to Garnett so that our young people can stay home. I look forward to working with Chris and ask for your vote so that I may continue.

I have invested in Garnett and have a strong interest in continued growth. I have established the following enterprises which contribute to the local economy and provide services to the community:

- MidWest Missionair - a volunteer group doing Christian mission and disaster relief work and training young pilots and mechanics to continue the work.

- Skyeflite, Inc. - providing flight training, aircraft maintenance and inspection.

I am looking forward to serving Garnett and ask for your vote on November 7th.

Parsons, Riley County, Kansas Planning and Development, the Kansas State Legislature, and most recently as a Senior Management Analyst with the United States Department of Housing and Urban Development. Presently, as a wife, and mother to three young boys, my focus has been on raising our children and managing our household.

I am asking for your vote, because I would like the opportunity not only to actively use my education and experience to be a faithful steward to your liberties and needs, but also to ensure a vibrant future, full of possibilities.

First, I believe Garnett needs to envision the future and create a long-range strategic plan that guides administrative decision-making, and maintains fiscal responsibility. Moreover, with large infrastructure projects, such as a new water treatment facility on the horizon, grant and stimulus money needs to be aggressively pursued to mitigate financial burdens imposed on the populace.

Secondly, I believe the people of this town represent our greatest asset. Accordingly, all measures should be taken to both increase civic engagement in City Commission initiatives, and foster collaborative interorganizational relationships to best leverage local resources.

Finally, I believe it is the role of the governing body to empower its people and businesses by reducing regulatory barriers and seamlessly providing essential services, such as public safety and infrastructure.

I love Garnett, and if elected, I believe I can help create opportunities for the people and businesses to thrive. To learn more, please visit my Facebook page: www.facebook.com/Brecheisen.Huss.

requires the help of other local Lions Clubs to operate.

"When I joined Lions Club about 25 years ago they asked me to pick up the hamburger and I picked up 250 pounds," said Johnston. "Now we pick up 800 pounds."

The building got a complete rebuild just a few years ago, and the fundraising operation now sells additional items other than the original offering of hamburger and fries. You can now grab hot dogs, chili dogs, and even pie. Johnston says there are 15 active members in the club and about ten of the wives make five or six pies each to sell.

"Because of how big it's gotten, we couldn't do it without the help of the Colony Lions Club," said Johnston. "This year Garnett's club helped too." Johnston said the past couple of years they've even hired help from the Jayhawk Linn High School FFA Club to aid in serving the crowd on Saturday.

The fair starts on Thursday each year and wraps up on Saturday night. According to Johnston the stand starts setting up around 8 a.m. each day and operates until around 10 p.m. each night. Each day he says they joke that they're waiting for the dam to break and just one sold hamburger can break it before the flood of people come to grab more. He says they have two grills that can cook 20 to 25 burgers at a time and both of them run most of Saturday.

Although the stand draws a good crowd during its busy three days, Johnston says the club profits only about $5,000. "We purposely hold prices down and make it family friendly," said Johnston. "A family of four can each eat a burger, fries, and a drink for $20." He says that prices on the food hasn't raised in several years and drink prices, pop sells for 50 cents a can, hasn't raised in over 10 years.

Johnston says he proud of the club's membership in that they are satisfied keeping prices as low as they can. He says as long as they can pay the club expenses and contribute to the projects they like to help with they try to keep from raising the prices.

All the money goes to local, national, and international causes. If there's a local needy cause they try to help with that and one of those projects is named Lions for Lancers. They also send one or two kids to Lions Band Camp each year. Johnston says the big thing for Lions Club is eyesight. The club has been known to buy glasses for local kids that needed them, but couldn't afford to buy them on their own.

"It's a lot of work and the club members probably don't get to enjoy the fair as much as some, but we take pride in the role we play in the fair and what benefits we are able to provide for the community," said Johnston.

Why would you want to re-elect me? I believe that I have the willingness to learn, the willingness to listen to different perspectives and understand that all kids are different in their learning styles and abilities but also you must be able to work together as a team with other board members to help make the best decisions we can. We aren't going to please everyone and we will have differences of opinions but we respect that in everyone. As a board member, we must focus on our funds to make sure we can pay our bills and teacher salaries while making improvements to our schools. We are in a tough time right now with the State and we need to continue to listen to the experts that help us with the budget which includes our superintendent and those with the State to improve our schools which we have been able to do several improvements and the list continues to grow. The biggest reason that I want to be re-elected is our community and all the children we serve!

The ants, the grasshoppers and Garnett's utility cost legacy

There's a fable about the ants and the grasshoppers – how the ants work hard all summer storing food for the winter, and the grasshoppers goof off and laugh at the ants as suckers who just work too much. Then winter comes, and the grasshoppers suddenly see the error of their ways.

That parable works for Garnett, and the situation it now finds itself in with mammoth expenses coming due in the form of near century-old infrastructure replacement for its water, sewer and gas utilities, and a tax base now winnowed far out of proportion to handle those expenses.

If you like high utility bills, you're going to love Garnett.

In short, as the decades have passed, Garnett and Anderson County haven't been putting away stores in the form of recruiting industry to develop our tax base to bolster our taxpayers against the eventual costs of infrastructure replacement. That discussion is relevant lately, with the reaction of some communities to a proposed Tyson poultry processing plant in Tonganoxie – and the difference in attitude between those communities who shun the plant and those who would embrace it.

Garnett city leaders recently learned the city's potable water system will need to be rebuilt – a cost of some $13 million – along with new investments needed in the waste water system and in the gas utility. The core of our infrastructure was laid in place a century ago, is wearing out, and the costs of replacement are in modern dollars.

Those modern dollars won't be spent in an economic climate like our city and county experienced in the early 1900s. Government wasn't as expensive back then, and the booming local economy fueled by farm goods, oil, home-grown industries and growing local businesses and real estate developments meant an increasing tax base that absorbed those costs.

Fast forward to modern times. In roughly 25 years, Anderson County and Garnett have lost industrial taxpayers including a century-old church furniture plant; a heavy metal fabricator; a clothes manufacturer, a cheese plant, a telephone service outlet, truck topper manufacturer, and others. Some new plants have been recruited over that time, but the net loss of industrial valuation still counts against us in public finance at the city, county and school district level. So many workers now travel to capital plants outside our county for jobs that census data shows 'average' commute time for workers over the age of 16 (years 2011-2015) is nearly 26 minutes.

Lacking the ability to offer competitive local jobs, our county has transformed into a commuter community. By far the majority of new local home construction happens outside Garnett's and other cities' boundaries – a mere handful of construction permits have been issued in Garnett since 2000, while hundreds have been issued in the rural areas. Skipping city taxes and owning homes with some acreage are locally vogue, and except for inflation and protested arguments over gas field and ethanol plant taxation, those rural residential homes are the only real growth our county's property valuation has seen.

That is the growth that is least tolerable to higher taxes to pay for public services. Much better, we've always believed, to let local employers and industries shoulder some of the burden and take the load off homeowners with the valuation of their hard assets. As we have lost those industries and as inflation has boosted labor and materials costs for infrastructure maintenance and upgrades, the perilous predicament of us grasshoppers has become apparent.

Plainly put, Anderson County, particularly Garnett, must change its current tactics to recruit industry to grow its tax base to something more successful and effective. That will likely force some dicey conversations about wooing companies despite their warts, like the towns now blowing in Tyson's ear are having

This is my opinion, I'd like to know how others feel about it. I don't think the professionals in this town should have tattoos that show, and I don't think they should have nose piercings. Just curious how others feel.

If you want to know about an eyesore in town, you should see the house at First and Pine.

On the idea of the Tyson plant coming to Garnett, first you need to get rid of Les McGee. He sounds like a racist about the non-English speaking workers. How racist can you get? You know what? This town does need jobs. That's why this town is dying, because a bunch of old guys trying to run this town, that's why we don't have any jobs. But that racist, he needs to be kicked out as a commissioner. Thank you.

Come on city commissioners. Get out north on Highway 59 and get those people to clean up their place across from the grade school. You give us free dump week but he doesn't use it. Would you want that mess next to your home?

What's with the house on Highway 59 across from the lovely elementary school? It used to be a nice place but now it resembles a junkyard and a used machinery business and it seems to get worse every day. That area is the first thing people see when entering our town and it's a disgrace. Is there anything that can be done about that? Thank you.

Isn't it a complete disaster that our industrial development agent doesn't ever support new industry coming to our town or county? Now it appears he has convinced our county commissioners to become negative to those trying to bring business to our area.

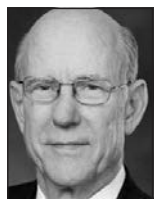

Since the stray cats are going to die because they're not being fed any more because there's not enough mice to feed all the stray cats that live in Garnett. Those people complaining about the stray cats that are eating the mice are going to be complaining because there aren't any stray cats. Maybe they need to do research and educate themselves before they open their mouth.

Vegas renews non sequiturs of the gun debate

The mind boggles at the horror of Las Vegas, where Stephen Paddock perched himself in the 32nd floor of the Mandalay Bay hotel and sprayed bullets into a crowd of outdoor concertgoers in the worst mass shooting in American history.

If this slaughter of innocents were an act perpetrated by a foreign power, the U.S. military retaliation would begin immediately, and rightly so.

The impulse to act to stop the domestic massacres that have become a heartbreakingly metronomic feature of American life is laudable and understandable. "It's time," as Connecticut Sen. Chris Murphy said, giving voice to the sentiment, "for Congress to get off its a-- and do something."

The problem is that the "something," namely all the usual gun-control proposals, isn't well-suited to stopping mass shootings. But liberal politicians never let the inapplicability of their proposals stop them. The passion with which they advocate for new gun-control measures is inversely related to their prospective efficacy.

The go-to proposal is universal background checks, although the perpetrators of mass shootings usually haven't been adjudicated and therefore have passed background checks, as Paddock did in purchasing at least some of his guns. No enhanced background-check regime, no matter how vigorous, would have stopped him from purchasing guns.

NATIONAL COMMENTARY

RICH LOWRY, King Features Syndicate

Hillary Clinton immediately singled out so-called silencers, or suppressors. "The crowd fled at the sound of gunshots," Clinton tweeted. "Imagine the deaths if the shooter had a silencer, which the NRA wants to make it easier to get." This conjures an image of the killer shooting down people with a gun impossible to hear, a conception straight out of a James Bond movie.

In a piece on Republican-supported legislation to make suppressors easier to acquire, The Washington Post notes that one of the devices would lessen the sound of an AR-15 to 132 decibels, or comparable to "a gunshot or a jackhammer." In other words, a rifle still sounds like a gun even with a suppressor.

If Hillary cares so much about the issue, she might take 10 minutes to learn something about it, but gun-controllers tend to be low-information advocates.

Confusion between semi-automatic weapons, which are common and fire once each time the trigger is pulled, and automatic weapons, which are rare and fire multiple times each time the trigger is pulled, is a persistent feature of the gun debate. Many gun-controllers don't know the difference and erroneously refer to, say, AR-15 rifles as machine guns or automatic weapons.

This is an area where Congress has already legislated, though. It is illegal to own an automatic weapon made after May 1, 1986, and difficult and expensive to own one made before that.

Finally, there are always calls to limit magazine sizes, although this wouldn't have stopped Paddock, either. It took the SWAT team more than an hour to breach his room.

The images from Las Vegas are sickening. There's the sound of gunfire truly worthy of a war zone as people scream and run and cower, with nowhere to go. This shouldn't happen in America; it shouldn't happen anywhere. But that doesn't mean that the off-the-shelf obsessions of gun-control advocates would do the slightest thing to stop it.

— Rich Lowry is editor of the National Review.

School decision shows swamp just as deep here

"One single object... [will merit] the endless gratitude of the society: that of restraining the judges from usurping legislation."

(Thomas Jefferson letter to Edward Livingston, March 25, 1825)

We conservatives expected it. Less than a year after mounting a serious effort at recalling four liberal justices and failing on all; they have their revenge; and we couldn't even count on the lone conservative on the Court to take the side of taxpayers in this seemingly never-ending saga of Kansas K-12 school funding. The Court ruled unanimously that the state failed in the spring to address both the equity; how funding is dispersed among districts, and adequacy; how much total revenue is appropriated by the Legislature. No amount was prescribed by The Black Robes, but it's evidently more than the $488 million approved through 2018 by bipartisan agreement. Apparently no consideration was given to the approximately $800 million in undesig-nated cash reserves that K-12 schools are sitting on state-wide.

GUEST EDITORIAL

DAVID HICKS, Guest Writer

nated cash reserves that K-12 schools are sitting on statewide. That's money not set aside to comply with federal regulations, capital outlays or debt service. Or the stunning waste of resources. I've seen perfectly usable basketballs, MacBook cases, art supplies and furniture thrown in school dumpsters; and that's just in Bonner Springs. Imagine that multiplied by the near-300 school districts in our state. Bureaucrats make a living spending down their budgets so they won't face a reduction the next year. With more and more demanded by school districts, when will taxpayers cry "Enough is enough"? But that's an issue for them to take up with their local school boards.

The Court gave lawmakers until April 30th to devise a new plan, indicating the start of the 2018-19 school year could held hostage, again, as the Court legislates from the bench. A bipartisan cabal of Democrats and moderate Republicans already hammered Kansans with the largest tax increase in state history this year, but we will have to open our pocket-books a little wider next year.

What liberals cannot achieve through the ballot box, they'll try through the courts. That's as true in Topeka as it is in Washington. They always seem to find some political hack, or seven of them, with no respect for the separation of powers and with a court order in their back pockets.

The frustrating thing is Kansans have no immediate recourse to what amounts to judicial tyranny. State supreme court rulings are not appealable unless a federal issue is involved. The only political recourse is to elect a strong conservative governor next year and hope they appoint a like-minded justice or three or four over their terms; knowing that two of the liberals targeted by conservatives this year, Luckert and Nuss, are Bill Graves appointees. Four others were put on the Court by Kathleen Sebelius.

It would also be convenient in Kansas if the governor were allowed to choose their own nominee, as the president does. Instead, we're saddled with a clunky, lawyer-heavy system of a commission that selects three nominees and forwards them to the governor for selection.

The swamp is just as deep in Topeka as it is in D.C.

County schools.

I am running for the Board of Education because we need positive people to advocate to the public what we are doing to improve the education that our children receive. We need to be involved in the schools and see what we can do to make things better. I want to make sure that each and every child is treated with the utmost respect, receives the education they deserve and is prepared for life after high school, whether that is college, technical school or career. With the recent school finance decision it will be even more important that we advocate for our schools on the state level to ensure that our legislators know and understand how our schools are meeting KSDE's new vision for education in Kansas and why increased funding is necessary to meet those goals.

Time-tested weather sayings

INSIGHT

JOHN SCHLAGECK, Kansas Farm Bureau

For the first time last week a touch of fall filled the early morning air. With the coming of autumn and approach of winter, it's fun to recall some of the time-tested weather sayings.

Many of the following weather signs were collected while talking to farmers and ranchers across the state. It seems there is very little people would rather talk about than the weather.

So let's talk weather.

Clear moon, frost soon.

Dense fog at dawn is a sign of clearing skies by mid-morning.

The absence of birds around water denotes an approaching storm.

White, fluffy, small clouds are a sign of fair weather ahead.

During the winter season, strong northerly winds indicate snow and sometimes a blizzard within 24 hours.

Southerly winds are a sign of dry, warmer weather.

When cattle stand in a line with their backs toward the northwest, you can figure on a heavy, driving snow.

Odors become easier to detect just before rain. High pressure usually traps odors like a lid due to air density, while lowering pressure releases odors.

When you see lightning in the north, rain is likely within 24 hours.

When distant sounds appear louder, rain is usually on the way.

Rising smoke is a fair-weather sign. When you see smoke going downward or showing very little rise, rain is likely.

Birds perch more before a storm because the low barometric pressure makes it more difficult for them to fly. When you see hawks circling high in the sky, this is a fair-weather sign.

When frogs begin to croak, look out for rain.

Hens and other barnyard fowl pick at themselves - oiling their feathers - just before a rain.

Lots of dead skunks on the road mean plenty of moisture is on the way. Another good sign of approaching wet weather is the aggravation of corns, bunions or arthritis pains.

These signs are surprisingly accurate because they are based on generations of farmers, ranchers and other people who have observed cyclical changes in the weather.

Today, meteorologists watch weather patterns via satellites. Much of what these satellites detect while orbiting the earth hundreds of miles overhead, we can see by listening to the radio, watching television or checking our smart phones.

There is plenty to be said for the folk wisdom of our ancestors. They watched and charted weather patterns for generations rather than just a few hours or days. It's fun to hear their conclusions handed down from one generation to the next, and anyway, what would we have to talk about if not for the weather?

tees and task forces, including co-chair of the Career and Technical Education Committee and member of the Business and Industry Task Force. My ongoing endeavor to provide a conducive learning environment for students helped me to earn the NISOD Outstanding Faculty Award. I have placed emphasis on education in my personal life as well. I earned a Bachelor's in the Science of Business from Emporia State University along with a Master's in Business Administration and ABD in Business Administration from the University of Phoenix.

As a lifelong resident of Anderson County and mother of three children attending school in this community, I value and understand the importance of advocating for every child's educational needs. I believe in social responsibility and wish to give back by offering my experience and passion for education. Serving as a board member would allow me to advocate for all children in this community, not just my own.

It is evident our schools are here to provide the educational needs of all children. Anderson County taxpayers have afforded high-quality, updated and modern facilities demonstrating the overall concern for safe, technologically adequate learning environments. As a member of the board, I would strive to partner with all stakeholders; parents, district administration, staff, faculty, students, and members of the community to ensure this endeavor remains steadfast and successful.

The future of Anderson County is directly linked and in many ways impacted by the educational experiences of the children that will keep this community alive and prosperous. It is our role as parents, teachers, administrators and board members to ensure they are equipped to one day take our place in professional occupations and uphold their responsibility to carry out civic duties as citizens of this community and of the United States of America.

Wellsville runs all over the Bulldogs

BY KEVIN GAINES THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW

WELLSVILLE - Before the Anderson County Bulldogs (1-5) knew what hit them, Wellsville (4-2) had exploded out to a 42-0 first quarter lead en route to a 70-12 win.

In addition to the 42 in the first period, Wellsville tacked on an addition 22 in the second quarter to take a 64-0 lead into intermission.

For the game, Wellsville completed 6 of 8 passes for 107 yards and rushed for 263 yards on 26 carries and had 8 rushing touchdowns on the evening.

Anderson County struggled in all phases of the game. The Bulldogs had two passes intercepted, one returned for a touchdown, lost 3 fumbles and had a punt blocked.

The Bulldogs amassed just 137 yards on the evening, all on the ground.

Quarterback Gavin Wolken completed just one pass for zero yards and the two interceptions.

Tanner Spencer ran the ball 9 times for 68 yards, including a 44 yard touchdown run in the third quarter.

Logan Allen carried the ball 16 times for 50 yards on the night.

Next up for Anderson County is a Friday night home game at 7:30 against Girard (2-4).

Garnett Public Library October book discussion

The Garnett Public Library will hold their book discussion on Wednesday, October 25th at 7 p.m. in the Archer Room at the library. They are held on the fourth Wednesday of each month. This month's book is "On Folly Beach" by Karen White. White is the award-winning author of eleven previous books. She grew up in London and now lives with her husband and two children near Atlanta, Georgia.

Folly Beach, South Carolina, has survived despite hurricanes and war. But it's the personal battles of Folly Beach's residents that have left the most scars, and why a young widow has been beckoned there to heal her own... To most people, Folly Beach, South Carolina, is simply the last barrier island before the Atlantic Ocean. To some, it's a sanctuary, which is

ALA ends fiscal year with a bang

2017 has been a good year for the Auxiliary. Since our last article we have participated in the banner celebration that was put on the city of Garnett.

We placed flags along the sidewalks before the ceremony showing our patriotism, respect for the flag and appreciation for those who served in the armed forces. A flag was carried by Cathy Hoke in the opening ceremony along with other members of the VFW and Legion. A poppy table was set up at the ceremony for donations to help our veterans and also the following Saturday at Country Mart. We ran out of poppies because our community was very generous and we thank you!

Through funds raised from bake sales, we were able to give out two $500.00 scholarships. We voted to change our criteria to include 1 female and 1 male and was able to double the amount.

The recipients were Samantha Nickell and Issac Kubacha, (we wish you both good luck in your endeavors).

The American Legion Auxiliary ended the fiscal year with the appointment of officers. It was voted by all in attendance at the May meeting to keep the exiting officers for the upcoming fiscal year.

Loydene West was retained as the President/Vice President, Cathy Hoke as secretary and Charlotte Grimes as Treasurer.

Our meetings will be the second Monday of every month at 7 p.m. at the VFW. No meal will be served, just refreshments.

We welcome all members and anyone who would like to become a member to join us. Please become a member where we do great things for our community and veterans.

why Emmy Hamilton's mother encourages her to buy the local bookstore, Folly's Finds, hoping it will distract Emmy from the loss of her husband in Afghanistan.

Leading our discussion will be Paulabeth Henderson. The books are available for check-out at the library. Notification is posted in case of cancellation.

"The Lord's Prayer" - A school version

This week's column is going to have a special twist to it. I'm not writing about an artifact, but a golden treasure.

A very dear friend and twelve year school classmate (1943-1955) recently sent me an e-mail entitled "The Lord's Prayer". Looking at the dates above, it is a rather historical time in both our lives. We attended a one rural school house and "YES" we did recite the Flag Salute every morning and we recited scriptures verses as well.

This is a version of The Lord's Prayer as written by a 15 year old student from Tronto, Canada. As you read this, keep in mind that the Lord's Prayer is not allowed in most Canadian and U.S. Public schools anymore.

"Now I sit me down in school. Where praying is against the rule. For this great nation under God, Finds mention of Him very Odd. If scripture now the class recites, It violates the Bill of Rights. And anytime My head I bow Becomes a Federal matter now. Our hair can be purple, orange or green, That's no offense, it's a freedom scene.. The law is specific, the law is precise. Prayers spoken aloud are a serious vice. For praying in a public hall, Might offend someone with no faith at all. In silence alone we must meditate, God's name is prohibited by the State.. We're allowed to cuss and dress like freaks, And pierce our noses, tongues and

We can elect a pregnant Senior Queen,

And the unwed daddy "Our Senior King".

It's in appropriate to teach right from wrong,

We're taught that such "judgements do not belong..

We can get out condoms and birth controls,

But the Ten Commandments are not allowed,

No word of God must reach the crowd.

It's scary here I must confess,

When chaos reigns the schools a mess.

So, Lord, this silent plea I make,

So what exactly does a jailer do when there is no more jail? Worker harder and keep busier working for a sheriff's department than they did where they were originally assigned according to jail and sheriff's department officials. While jailers and just about everyone else waits to see the outcome of today's second round of construction bids on the new jail project, they've been reassigned new duties associated with the move and change of their mission. "What people don't realize is the jailers serve the sheriff's department, city police, Kansas Highway Patrol and out of county arrests for warrants written in our county," said Sheriff Scot Brownrigg.

Officials from Duckwall-ALCO, various dignitaries, and scads of local residents were on hand Tuesday for the Garnett store's grand opening celebration. Store manager Wade Rose said Wednesday the business logged some 1,200 transactions during the 12-hour day from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. He said there was no way to tell how many people attended the event. Rose said that figure is some 45 times more than the store has projected for an average sales day.

Earthquakes are due not to strains produced by the attraction of bodies outside the earth, but to stresses set up within the earth itself by readjustments of internal pressure arising from various sources, such as volcanic eruptions and the shrinking of the crust due to the secular cooling of the interior. The earth is not a perfect sphere, and it is not an absolutely regular geometrical figure of any kind. The form of its surface is continually changing owing to the action of water and atmospheric causes which wear down the elevated parts and carry the debris into the oceans. Thus the pressures to which the rocks beneath are subject are slowly varying.

Lady Bulldogs earn sweep on Parent Night

BY KEVIN GAINES THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW

GARNETT - Tuesday, October 3rd was Senior Parent Night for the Anderson County Bulldog volleyball senior class and they played well throughout the evening to knock off both Iola and Osawatomie.

In the opening game on the night, the Lady Bulldogs downed Iola in 3 sets (25-14, 16-25, 25-23).

Gabby Spring led the way offensively connecting on all her serves for the game, 14 attempts that led to 9 points, including one ace.

Abby Reid was on the attack throughout the game and had a team high 11 kills, as the rest of the team combined for just 12. Setter Abbie Fritz was often setting up Reid, with 14 assists in the 3 set match.

Reid along with Lakin Katzer dominated the Iola attack as both ended the game with 8 blocks and Zee Driever was close behind with 7 blocks of her own.

Brooke Schettler set up the Bulldogs offense throughout the game leading the way with 8 digs and had 23-26 returns against Iola on target.

In the 2nd game on the evening, Anderson County downed Osawatomie in straight sets 25-16 and 25-21.

Audrie Goode scored 9 points on 10 serves and had 2 aces to lead the Bulldogs serving in the game against Oz.

Lexee Feuerborn and Reid led the attack with 4 kills each.

Boys and girls cross country teams both win team titles

BY KEVIN GAINES THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW

OSAGE CITY - Last Thursday, the Bulldog cross country teams traveled to Osage City and both came home with first place finishes as a team.

The girl's squad was led by Averi Wilson (19:58) who finished in first. The closest competitor was Hannah Honeyman of Santa Fe Trail in a time of 20:13.

Other finishers for the Lady Bulldogs were Lanie Walter (22:43, 12th place), Maya Corley (22:53, 14th place), Paige Rupp (23:01, 15th place), Chantal Mateika (24:01, 23rd place), Danielle Mills (24:03, 24th place), and Lilly Spring (24:34, 32nd place).

In the boy's 5K, the Bulldogs had 5 of the top 11 finishers with Owen Lutz (18:12, 4th place) leading the way.

Dallin Bailey of West Franklin finished first in a time of 17:13, which was 25 seconds in front of the nearest competitor.

Morgan Hall-Kropf (18:41, 8th place), Riley Hedges (18:51, 9th place) Damone Kueser (18:54, 10th place) and Ryland Porter (18:55, 11th place) helped lead the Bulldogs to the top spot.

Michael Porrett (20:30, 45th place) and Mason Shriber (20:32, 47th) rounded out the Bulldog runners on the day.

SPORTS Lady Lancers drop 2 of 3 matches at Uniontown

BY KEVIN GAINES THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW

UNIONTOWN - Despite dropping two out of three games on the evening, head coach Abigail Hermreck was pleased with how hard her girls worked.

Hermreck stated, "The girls worked extremely hard all evening and kept pushing each other to finish strong. I am very proud of the Lady Lancers."

The Lancers opened with a very hard fought two set defeat to Yates Center (27-29 and 28-30).

Cassie Bowen led the attack with 18 attacks and 8 kills, Camryn Strickler added 7 kills on 28 attacks.

The Lancers serving kept them in the game all night. Regan Godderz, Jewel Armstrong, Strickler and Jones all had 100% serving.

Serving was a strength in the first game but a glaring weakness in a disappointing two set defeat 15-25 and 23-25 to Uniontown.

"We missed a total of 10 serves in those two sets," head coach Hermreck stated. "That definitely didn't help us stay competitive."

Bowen and Strickler led the attack with 8 and 6 kills respectively.

The Lancers were able to shake off the second game struggles to down Pleasanton in three sets, 25-23, 24-26 and 25-20.

Bowen again led the way for the Lady Lancers with 11 kills to lead the attack.

Godderz and Strickler both served 100%.

"It felt great to push through for a win to end the evening," coach Hermreck stated.

Officials still haven't released the cause of natural gas pipeline fire

BY DANE HICKS THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW

WELDA - More than two weeks after a harrowing natural gas pipeline fire that lit up the countryside south of Welda and whose glow could be seen as much as 10 miles away, investigators and company officials are still tight-lipped about details of the mishap.

The fountain of high-pressure fire ignited around 6:30 a.m. Friday, Sept. 22, in the Southern Star Central Gas Pipeline field about a mile south of Welda. Company emergency workers evacuated five homes in the area for about an hour before the fire was brought under control. The flames' origin was some distance from the nearest residence and no injuries were reported.

Rob Southard with Southern Star said last week the company had no new information to provide as to the cause of the fire. An email sent by the Review Oct. 4 to Darius Kirkwood, public affairs officer with the Pipeline and Hazardous Materials Safety Administration under the U.S. Department of Transportation, which investigates incidents involving interstate pipelines, was not answered as of our press time.

U.S. Department of Transportation officials have commented in other pipeline and well fires that corrosion in the lines can be responsible for breaches, along with faulty joints and damage or impacts from exterior sources. Once high-pressure gas begins escaping from a breach, it can be ignited by static electricity caused by the gas moving through the metal pipe or by exterior sources like vehicles or sparks from electronic devices.

An April explosion and fire at a gas well in Firestone, Colo., that killed two people and injured a third prompted DOT officials there to mandate inspections of gas and oil pipelines within 1,000 feet of residences, and found 430 lines failed the leak test. The faulty

Logan new Executive Director of MANP

Long term social worker and visual artist hired as Executive Director of Mid-America Nutrition Program.

Logan

Angie Logan, LMSW assumed the helm of MANP on Wednesday September 20, 2017. She has been working in the state of Kansas as a licensed masters level social worker since 1999 and has worked in a variety of diverse settings. Throughout her lengthy career, she has engaged in policy, direct practice, research, teaching, grant writing and fundraising initiatives.

In her free time, Angie recently launched a large scale fundraiser for the Lawrence Community Shelter selling all of her Ayrault Artware apparel and visual art line with proceeds benefiting homeless youth. Most evident is Angie's long term commitment and passion for serving disenfranchised populations.

She hopes to find ways to enrich our multi-county Meals on Wheels Program by pursuing avenues to secure additional funding sources while also investigating ways in which to create inter-generational relationships between the elders and school age youth. Angie is excited to join our program because she believes that we are the eyes and the ears of the homebound elderly thereby preventing premature admissions to nursing homes and undue emergency room visits.

She hopes to meet all of our participants by visiting our 25 congregate meal sites in addition to visiting with our homebound elderly. Please feel free to contact her alogan@mid-americanutrition.org or 785-242-8341.

Hurricane Irma

Former residents, Dennis Hermreck, grandson of Colony's oldest female, Evelyn Wedeman and Dennis' wife, Vicky, daughter of Sheldon Caudell and their son Judd, all of Modesto, Calif. flew into St. Thomas U S Virgin Island Sept. 2 around noon, met their daughter Paige who traveled from New York for a family vacation.

Dennis writes: It was a beautiful day in the low 80's with a little breeze. We stopped at a local BBQ for lunch and asked the waitress about Irma heading toward the island. She was a little concerned, but since they were staying at the Marriot Cove (a good place to be) and Irma was uncertain where she was going at that time. At the resort we met a couple from Texas. They had been through several hurricanes and thought there was a good chance Irma could turn north and miss the island. Two more days she headed west. Tuesday we wanted to do some sightseeing of the island but knew on Wednesday Irma was going to hit so stayed fairly close and drove into the town of Red Hook. Businesses were bracing for the storm and we needed to take this seriously. We bought some extra food and water, but OK they have a generator and the family should be fine. The resort started buckling down around eight that evening and reality began to set in. Wednesday the 6th we awoke to a partly cloudy sky with some showers and 30 mph winds. To a boy from KS this is not a big deal. We still had power and TV and were glued to the weather channel. Irma had not turned during the night and we knew we were going to be hit by a category 5 hurricane with winds in excess of 185 mph (gusts were recorded at 212) The wind and rain continued to pick up slightly throughout the morning and everyone stayed inside as some debris began to fly. Around noon we lost power in the back-up generator and was hard to tell wind speed. If you peeked out the window you saw the trees bent sideways with a horrendous amount of rain. After about an hour into the heaviest of the storm the windows began a constant humming from the pressure. We put a mattress and box springs in front of them and hoped they didn't blow out.

I remembered the storm in 1987 that went through the Iola area and the devastation that followed. There were a lot of similarities in destruction (and with this one we didn't have the flooding that comes with most hurricanes) the usual downed trees, power poles and total loss of structures, but the one thing that stands out the most is the 5-6 hours Irma took to pass. When everything did subside that evening our cove had 6-10 foot waves coming in on the backside of the hurricane. The resort sustained minimal damage, but generator was out. Needless to say the next two days we were without power, but could look across at another Marriott Hotel that had substantial damage.

We thought how lucky we were. Stories started to filter in about the devastation on the island and things that were starting to take place, some looting. Friday night the 8th, Marriott had procured a ship to come and pick up all Marriott guests on the island and take us to San Juan, Puerto Rico. After a vetting process to make sure who was boarding the ship we headed to San Juan, and in the process Marriott had arranged hotel rooms for everyone. We never knew a hot shower and meal could be such a relief. Of course trying to get a flight back to the US was a bit of a problem with Irma now tracking into Florida, but we finally all got home safe and sound and some normalcy. No matter how bad at times one thinks they have it, a person doesn't have to look far and see someone who has worse. We were so thankful to come home to the greatest country in the world.

Around Town

Gregory Hardwick was badly hurt in a football game recently; his knee, MCL, meniscus tear and bone bruise. He has to stay off it for probably six weeks. He returns to doctor and if it isn't healed or on its way, surgery will be done. He is so sad as he really loves football and wants to be there for his team, but probably will be out for the season.

Sympathy is extended to area relatives and friends at the death of Dorothy Fillmore, 89. She passed away Sept. 27 at Hospice House, Olathe. Funeral services were held Oct. 3 at Feuerborn Family Funeral Service Chapel, 1883 U.S. 54, Iola. Burial followed in the Colony Cemetery.

October is Fire Prevention Month, Gov. Sam Brownback proclaims October 8-14 Fire Prevention Week in Kansas

October 4, 2017 – On Sept. 22, 2017, Governor Sam Brownback officially proclaimed Oct. 8-14, as Fire Prevention Week in Kansas. The Kansas Office of the State Fire Marshal (OSFM) will use this year's theme, "Every Second Counts: Plan 2 Ways Out," to educate the public about the vital importance of developing a home fire escape plan with all members of the household and practicing it twice a year.

Consider this scenario: It's 2-o'clock in the morning. You and your family are fast asleep when you awaken to the smoke alarm sounding and the smell of smoke. What do you do? If you and your family don't have a plan in place, it could jeopardize your safety, or even prove deadly.

In a typical home fire, you may have as little as one to two minutes to escape safely from the time the smoke alarm sounds. That's why home escape planning is so critical in a fire situation. It ensures that everyone in the household knows how to use that small window of time wisely.

"Developing and practicing a home escape plan extremely important when it comes to keeping your family safe," Doug Jorgensen, Kansas State Fire Marshal said. "That planning could potentially be the difference between life and death in the event of a fire."

In 2016, there were 2,106 residential fires, resulting in 25 deaths and 72 injuries in Kansas.

This year's Fire Prevention Week theme, "Every Second Counts: Plan 2 Ways Out!" works to better educate the public about the critical importance of developing a home escape plan and practicing it. The OSFM is working in coordination with the National Fire Protection Association (NFPA), the official sponsor of the Fire Prevention Week for more than 90 years, to reinforce those potentially life-saving messages.

"Home escape planning is one of the most basic but fundamental elements of home fire safety, and can truly make the difference between life and death in a fire situation," said Lorraine Carli, NFPA's vice president of Outreach and Advocacy.

In support of Fire Prevention Week, the OSFM encourages all Kansas households to develop a plan together and practice it. A home escape plan includes working smoke alarms on every level of the home, in every bedroom, and near all sleeping areas. It also includes two ways out of every room, usually a door and a window, with a clear path to an outside meeting place (like a tree, light pole, or mailbox) that's a safe distance from the home.

NFPA and the OSFM offer these additional tips and recommendations for developing and practicing a home escape plan:

- Draw a map of your home with all members of your household, marking two exits from each room and a path to the outside from each exit.

- Practice your home fire drill twice a year. Conduct one at night and one during the day with everyone in your home, and practice using different ways out.

- Teach children how to escape on their own in case you can't help them.

- Make sure the number of your home is clearly marked and easy for the fire department to find.

- Close doors behind you as you leave — this may slow the spread of smoke, heat, and fire.

- Once you get outside, stay outside. Never go back inside a burning building.

COSTS..

"The problem is within the next 2-4 years, we anticipate a mandate coming down from the Kansas Department of Health & Environment requiring us to upgrade our wastewater treatment facility, which will cost an estimated $350,000-$400,000," Weiner said. "We currently do not bring in enough revenue to exceed our wastewater operational expenses."

The same was true for the gas and trash services, Weiner said. Water and electric funds cover their costs, Weiner said, but with the city's tradition of tapping utility funds to supplement other non-related areas of the general budget, those funds too go into the red.

Weiner said the city had managed to build up solid cash reserves but those had been significantly depleted over the past several years to fund areas of the budget, and they would be quickly consumed by the sewer and water plant projects.

"In order to make the improvements that will be necessary and required," Weiner said, "we will likely see significant changes in rates, fees or taxes, reductions in service, or a combination thereof."

Commissioners are expected to make a decision on the water plant proposal in coming months.

Central Heights Shelbi Hettinger sets the ball in the second game on Tuesday night in their home match against Lyndon. Central Heights split a pair of games on Tuesday, winning the first game in three sets (25-20, 15-25, 25-20) before dropping the second game in two straight sets (25-20, 25-22). This week the Vikings will travel to Osage City on Tuesday, October 10th and then will travel to Northern Heights High School for the league tournament on Saturday, October 14th.

Every day brings changes but God has a path of life

In Acts 2:28, Luke says that, "God has made known to me the paths of life; you will fill me with joy in your presence." Sometimes we wonder how many different turns and directions our life path can take. The one constant I have learned to accept is every day will bring change. Every day I start with a list of things I would like to accomplish and like everyone else at the end of the day many of these tasks remain on the list. The reason for this in most cases is there was a change in priorities or a change in plans or a change of mind by someone. What I have learned about change is it is frustrating and it is time consuming and it is unavoidable. Since I am looking for a way to minimize all of the above this scripture seems a good place to start. If God has made known to me the paths of life what are they? Webster defines a path as a course or way of life or action.

I believe Luke is speaking about a way of life first and then a course of action. In John 14:6 Jesus says, "I am the way and the truth and the life. No one comes to the Father except through me." That is certainly a way, we can accept Jesus or we can go another way and not accept Jesus. These are the only two options. There is no straddling the fence because if we don't accept him then we reject him. The Life Application Study Bible offers this interpretation of John 14:6; "As the way Jesus is our path to the Father. As the truth he is the reality of all God's promises. As the life, he joins his divine life to ours, both now and eternally." How then can we know the way to God? Only through Jesus. Jesus is the way because he is both God and man. We now must ask ourselves if I accept Jesus how will this affect my life's path? The best example I can think of is it is like the difference between a bumpy back road and an interstate highway. The interstate is a whole lot smoother. Now it's still a road and all roads have bumps but God will never allow us to run off the road if we have him as our passenger. God however does not ride on bumpy back roads.

WEEKLY DEVOTIONAL

BY DAVID BILDERBACK

Now we must follow a course of action. In Matthew 7:13-14; we are given some guidance. Jesus says, "Enter through the narrow gate. For wide is the gate and broad is the road that leads to destruction, and many enter into it. But small is the gate an narrow the road that leads to life, and only a few find it." If we accept Jesus as our personal Savior our life will change. We won't make choices and then think of the consequences we will think of the consequences and then make choices.

In John 10:9; Jesus says, "I am the gate whoever enters through me will be saved." The way is Jesus, the course of action is a changed life. If you would like to begin a relationship with Jesus begin with John chapters 3 and 14. Jesus will begin to fill you with joy when you come into his presence and you will join the few who find him.

In the early 20th century, Emporia was home to a group of innovative quilters that included Rose Kretsinger, Charlotte Whitehill, and Hannah Haynes Headlee. Today their quilts are housed in art museums and revered internationally. The presentation will explore Kansas quilts from this time period. Afterward, participants will make a Kretsinger-inspired quilt square of their own. Deborah Divine is a researcher, instructor, and quilting historian from Salina. "Sharing Patterns, Sharing Lives: Kansas Quilt Workshop" is part of the Kansas Humanities Council's Kansas Stories Speakers Bureau, featuring presentations and discussions that examine our shared human experience—our innovations, culture, heritage, and conflicts. The Kansas Humanities Council conducts and supports community-based programs, serves as a financial resource through an active grant-making program, and encourages Kansans to engage in the civic and cultural life of their communities. # USDA Issues Farm Safety Net and Conservation Payments

WASHINGTON, Oct. 3, 2017 – Agriculture Secretary Sonny Perdue today announced that over $9.6 billion in payments will be made, beginning this week, to producers through the Agriculture Risk Coverage (ARC), Price Loss Coverage (PLC) and Conservation Reserve (CRP) programs. The United States Department of Agriculture (USDA) is issuing approximately $8 billion in payments under the ARC and PLC programs for the 2016 crop year, and $1.6 billion under CRP for 2017.

"Many of these payments will be made to landowners and producers in rural communities that have recently been ravaged by drought, wildfires, and deadly hurricanes," Perdue said. "I am hopeful this financial assistance will help those experiencing losses with immediate cash flow needs as we head toward the end of the year."

The ARC and PLC programs were authorized by the 2014 Farm Bill and offer a safety net to agricultural producers when there is a substantial drop in revenue or prices for covered commodities. Over half a million producers will receive ARC payments and over a quarter million producers will receive PLC payments for 2016 crops, starting this week and continuing over the next several months.

Payments are being made to producers who enrolled base acres of barley, corn, grain sorghum, lentils, oats, peanuts, dry peas, soybeans, wheat and canola. In the upcoming months, payments will be announced after marketing year average prices are published by USDA's National Agricultural Statistics Service for the remaining covered commodities. Those include long and medium grain rice (except for temperate Japonica rice), which will be announced in November; remaining oilseeds and chickpeas, which will be announced in December; and temperate Japonica rice, which will be announced in early February 2017. The estimated payments are before application of sequestration and other reductions and limits, including adjusted gross income limits and payment limitations.

Also, as part of an ongoing effort to protect sensitive lands and improve water quality and wildlife habitat, USDA will begin issuing 2017 CRP payments this week to over 375,000 Americans.

"American farmers and ranchers are among our most committed conservationists," said Perdue. "We all share a responsibility to leave the land in better shape than we found it for the benefit of the next generation of farmers. This program helps landowners provide responsible stewardship on land that should be taken out of production."

Signed into law by President Reagan in 1985, CRP is one of the largest private-lands conservation program in the United States. Thanks to voluntary participation by farmers and landowners, CRP has improved water quality, reduced soil erosion and increased habitat for endangered and threatened species. In return for enrolling in CRP, USDA, through the Farm Service Agency (FSA) on behalf of the Commodity Credit Corporation, provides participants with rental payments and cost-share assistance. Participants enter into contracts that last between 10 and 15 years. CRP payments are made to participants who remove sensitive lands from production and plant certain grasses, shrubs and trees that improve water quality, prevent soil erosion and increase wildlife habitat.

For more details regarding ARC and PLC programs, go to www.fsa.usda.gov/arc-plc. For more information about CRP, contact your local FSA office or visit www.fsa.usda.gov/crp. To locate your local FSA office, visit <https://offices.usda.gov>.
