County five inches short of rain in 2018

Recent rains haven't done much to alleviate area's drought status

BY MELISSA HOBBS THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW

TOPEKA — Although Anderson County has seen its fair share of moisture over the past week or so, the county is still well behind what is typical for the area according to State Climatologist Mary Knapp.

Knapp says that the forecast is expected to continue with warmer than normal temperatures with highs in the mid-80's. Normal highs for this time of year are typically in the high 70's to low 80's according to Knapp. This is a quick change from the cool temperatures that seemed to last much longer than previous years.

Precipitation for the county this time of year isn't staying within the norms either. The normal rainfall for May is 3.29 inches in Anderson County according to Knapp, but as of May 21, the county had only seen 1.64 inches of precipitation.

"That doesn't mean no precipitation during the period," said Knapp. "But Garnett would see 0.17 inches per day or 1.19 inches in a week in a typical year."

Organization offers emotional help to schools in tragedies

BY MELISSA HOBBS THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW

With what seems like a report of a school shooting in the news nearly every time you turn on the television, one must wonder how a school deals with the aftermath of the heartache and tragedy that is left behind when the incident is over. Luckily for the schools in Anderson County, and many others in the area, there is an entire team of people waiting to step in and help.

The Greenbush Crisis Consortium has responded to 23 districts' crisis situations since 2013. Crisis Manager Amanda Murphy says that schools have the option of being a member of the consortium with the option of two different fee structures. However, even if a school isn't a member of the consortium, they aren't likely to be turned down if tragedy strikes their school.

To get assistance, the school simply makes a phone call and informs her of the situation and she then jumps into action. A team of trained volunteers from several different school districts including counselors, administrators, or anyone the school has chosen to train, will then respond to the district in need of assistance. They respond to a variety of situations including school shooting, student deaths, terminal illness, and many others.

"They go through a two-day training so when we go in, it is much easier because we have the same goals and same tactics to accomplish those goals," said Murphy. "Our biggest goal is to help the kids have as normal a day as possible and do no harm."

Murphy says that schools should try to have a plan in place before tragedy strikes. She says that is of absolute importance to being able to handle the high emotions of such situations. The team that comes to help the school in need provides several types of services including guidance to administrators on how to inform the community, students, and staff about the situation; counseling to students and staff; and advice regarding media questions.

She says that all students and staff handle each situation differently. She says that some students will have questions and others want to deal with it on their own.

"We allow students to come out of class and talk to a counselor if they need to, or teachers to step out of the classroom if they need a minute," said Murphy. "But we want them to try to keep their schedule as normal as possible."

When the team leaves the school, they make sure that the students and staff have the tools and support they need to continue healing once they are gone. She says that some situations require less intense help than others and a lot of factors go into determining how many team members assist and how long the team will stay.

Higher oil price may bolster state jobs

BY DANE HICKS THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW

TOPEKA — Anderson County's unemployment rate dropped a half point from March to April as the county and the region continues to enjoy a strong job's picture.

But a strong employment scene may be a trade-off for Kansas residents for gasoline prices rooted in higher prices for oil.

Anderson County's unemployment rate dropped from 3.8 percent in March to 3.3 percent in April, which meant a total of 130 job seekers out of the county's 3,997 member labor pool were out of work. The local jobless rate was 3.9 percent in April 2017.

The county's marks were indicative of those of the region. Allen County showed the most marked drop in unemployment in the area, going from 6.5 percent in March

Local teen bands on bill at "Music, Meat & Motorcycles"

No gray hair in bands set to play at Saturday Lions' event

BY DANE HICKS THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW

GARNETT — Two local teen bands will highlight the musical offerings this coming Saturday night during the Garnett Lions Club's "Music, Meat and Motorcycles" event at 7 p.m. at the Anderson County Fairgrounds.

"Broken Silence" showcases Hunter Crane and Bryar Wight on guitar & vocals, Tyler Secrest on drums and Virgil Wight on bass. The band came together a little more than a year ago but has been a long time in the making.

"Tyler and I have been friends since the first grade, and we always said we were going to have a band," Crane said.

The two pursued school music study offerings and Secrest and Crane eventually made good on their pledge. Playing a few original tunes but mostly covers by other artists in the band's set list, Crane describes the "Broken Silence's" genre as a mix of southern rock, country and modern rock. The band has played a number of local venues in the past year, local fund raisers and private parties. Crane, Secrest and Virgil Wight graduated ACHS a few weeks ago, but the foursome plans to continue the band with an immediate goal of recording an album.

"Shenanigans" was formed out of a handful of ACHS students who pursued instruction from the School of Rock in Overland Park. The school, like the 2003 Jack Black-led movie, is a tuition-based instructional "school" franchise teaching rock instrument and vocal techniques by studying courses from different bands of the rock era. "Shenanigans" is Carly Hicks/vocals, Russ Peterson/drums, Eli Peterson/lead guitar, Lanie Walter/bass and Garrett Bures/rhythm guitar.

The coursework started last fall, when the band members spent a semester studying the work of Chris Cornell and his bands Sound Garden and Audioslave. The present semester study follows Ozzy Osborne's career from Black Sabbath through his solo career. The kids say the extra work after school (all School of Rock classes are in the evening) and the once-a-week commute to Overland Park is worth it — even the "tests" — actual stage performances at Kansas City-area music venues reserved for a day of SOR performances.

"It's different because you get to play songs that you like and meet new people and learn new things every day," said

WANT TO BE POLITICAL?

Democrats or Republicans in Anderson County who want to become involved in their local political parties can file to run for their party's county committee. Each party is represented by a committee man and a committee woman from each voting precinct who make up their respective county committees. These "grassroots" political organizers help support their parties and their candidates in local, state and national elections, and also make appointments in cases where same-party county officials leave a vacancy in an office. There's no charge to file for a position, and filer's names will be on the primary election ballot in August. Filings must be made in the Anderson County Clerk's office by June 1.

We live in a broken world

In Luke 4 we read concerning the temptation of Jesus. Jesus had been baptized by John the Baptist and had immediately gone into the wilderness where he would be tempted by the devil. The devil, who always tempts people in the areas where they will be vulnerable, begins to dialogue with Jesus.

First, since Jesus had not eaten for forty days the devil suggests that Jesus turn the stones into bread. Jesus rejects the temptation by quoting scripture. Second, the devil tempts Jesus by offering him authority over all the kingdoms of the world, that is Jesus could set up his own world empire. Again Jesus rejects the temptation by quoting scripture. Lastly the devil requests Jesus to prove that he is the Son of God by putting God to the test concerning God's promise to guard Jesus to prevent him from harm until his appointed time. Again Jesus refutes this with scripture.

Now Jesus was truly hungry because he had a human nature. What he didn't possess was a sin nature. We can become vulnerable because we can only control our desire for food to a certain point. In John 4:32, Jesus tells the disciples when they return with food that he turns down, "I have food to eat that you know nothing about."

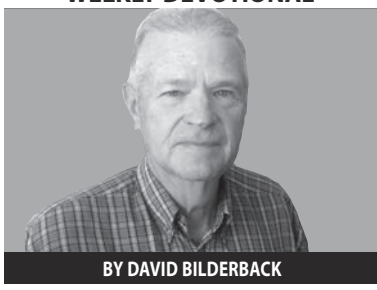

In the second temptation the devil offers Jesus unlimited power and authority over the world. The devil is all about immediate gratification. Jesus knew he was being offered something in the present he was going to receive anyway when his mission on earth was complete. In Luke 20:42-43, Jesus speaking to the teachers of the law quotes an Old Testament scripture "The Lord said to my Lord: Sit at my right hand until I make your enemies a footstool for your feet." Jesus makes it clear he will possess ultimate power and authority upon completion of his work on earth. Lastly the writer to the Hebrews makes a clear statement concerning temptation in Hebrews 4:15, "For we do not have a high priest who is unable to sympathize with our weakness, but we have one who has been tempted in every way, just as we are—yet was without sin."

Where the first Adam failed in a beautiful garden the second Adam (Jesus) triumphed in the barren wilderness of Judea. Prior to conversion we are descendants of the first Adam, we inherited his sin nature. As Christians we are the adopted sons of God through the life and death of Jesus. "We live in a broken world, broken families, failed careers, declining health. Years of planning and labor that result only in more uncertainty, not less or perhaps worst of all we obtain the objects of our desire and they fail to deliver what they promised." (Jeremy Pierre pastor at Clifton Baptist Church) This is the life Satan can deliver. The grief of realizing the world is broken can be a platform to worship God who even now is preparing an unbroken world.

FSA County Committee nominations launch June 15 allowing farmers a voice in their community

WASHINGTON, May 22, 2018 — The U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) encourages America's farmers and ranchers to nominate candidates to lead, serve and represent their community on their local county committee. USDA's Farm Service Agency (FSA) will accept nominations for county committee members beginning Friday, June 15, 2018.

Producers across the country are already serving on committees where they play a critical role in the day-to-day operations of FSA, making important decisions on programs dealing with disaster and conservation, emergencies, commoty price loan support, county office employment and other agricultural issues.

"Our county committees make decisions about how federal farm programs are administered locally to best serve the needs of agriculture in their community," said Acting FSA Administrator Steve Peterson. "We strongly encourage all eligible producers to visit their local FSA office today to find out how to get involved in their county's election. There's an increasing need for representation from underserved producers, which includes beginning, women and other minority farmers and ranchers."

Nationwide, more than 7,700 dedicated farmers and ranchers serve on FSA county committees, which consist of three to 11 members and meet once a month, or as needed. Members serve three-year terms.

Producers can nominate themselves or others. Check your local USDA service center to see if your local administrative area is up for election this year. Organizations, including those representing beginning, women and minority producers, may also nominate candidates to better serve their communities. To be eligible to serve on an FSA county committee, producers must participate or cooperate in an FSA program and reside in the area where the election is being held.

To be considered, a producer must sign an FSA-669A nomination form. The form and other information about FSA county committee elections are available at www.fsa.usda.gov/elections. appear to be much help either. The June outlook calls for warmer than normal temperatures and equal chances for above or below normal precipitation. A typical June in Anderson county would yield 5.88 inches.

Overall for the year,

Anderson County is well under typical precipitation amounts compared to other years. Normal for the year-to-date in this area is 13 inches, but so far the county is in nearly a five inch deficit with precipitation totals at 7.06 inches.

“Animals” coverage shows media still hasn’t learned

There is something the country finds uncharacteristically refreshing about a political leader who speaks for the interests of his nation and stands by it.

That’s probably the reason President Trump’s approval rating keeps inching up despite a historically unprecedented media attack against him.

Last week’s flurry of fake news progenitors among special interests and media, led by The New York Times, tried to pin the story on Trump that he’d called immigrants to the U.S. “animals.” The context of the president’s remarks, in answering a California Sheriff’s comments that sanctuary city policies tied her hands in dealing with illegal immigrant criminals and MS 13 gang members, was all too clear. Trump was talking about the bad guys.

But the media knee-jerk reaction was underway by its own interpretation. “Trump said immigrants were animals” was the story media types wanted to play and try again to stain him with. The NYT said the president had “...lashed out at undocumented immigrants.” The latest circus – the one that’s worn down the media’s already beleaguered reputation among great swaths of the country since even before Trump was elected – had begun.

But the Salvadoran-born MS-13 is real. The president’s only mistake was in disparaging any natural species by calling MS-13 members “animals.”

Perhaps the Times or writers for The Atlantic or others missed the police press release from Maryland a few years back when MS-13 members were accused of stabbing a man 100 times then decapitating him and dismembering him, ripping his heart out of his body. Or when they savagely beat a 15 year-old human trafficking victim with a ball bat, bludgeoning him nearly 30 times. Or in Houston, Texas, where two members were charged with sexually assaulting one girl and murdering another – these particular animals laughed, smiled and waved for the cameras in court as they faced the charges. In Mexico, after they’d been recruited to the cartel drug war that’s now leaked into even the cash-fat tourist areas, MS-13 stopped a city bus and sprayed it with automatic weapons fire, then boarded the vehicle and finished off 28 passengers with machine guns.

The hacking murders; the dismemberments; the targeting of New York police officers for murder to boost standing – it all points to a rudimentary issue the president was trying to address among this audience of sheriffs who are the country’s front-line defenders against such crime.

Our immigration system and the way we deal with criminal illegals is a farce. Jose Abrego, a high-ranking MS-13 member in Los Angeles, has been deported by that system – four times. Really?

It is a secondary tragedy that while some people, like the sheriffs assembled at that meeting to discuss “sanctuary cities” and even the president himself attempt to engage the problem, the bulk of the American media can’t rise above the “we still hate you” game.

At the least, Trump’s climbing approval numbers show the American public is certainly becoming less and less affected by the media’s hyper criticism and fakery around this president. At the worst they indicate an erosion of trust in and a disdain for media which its practitioners either don’t realize or don’t care to rectify with fairer coverage.

It’s a hole the American media can’t seem to stop digging.

To the people that are complaining about the sights in the back alley ways and back yards, why don't they get their friends and go and clean those yards up, mow them, and maybe keep their own trash in their own yards and their own cars instead of throwing it in everybody else's yards? Thank you.

I swear they don't mow the reservoir like they do the other lakes. The attention is always focused on Lake Garnett. It would be nice if they put a little more attention into the reservoir. A little more cleaning up, a little more maintenance, make the place look nice for the tax payers and others from out of town who visit. Thank you.

The Chinese threat more comprehensive than trade

We are currently engaged in a high-profile negotiation that may or may not succeed in getting the Chinese to buy more of our stuff.

This is a fine goal as far as it goes, although that isn't very far. It doesn't matter if China buys $14 billion of our soybeans or $25 billion of our soybeans -- it is still a mercantilist, revisionist power representing a significant geopolitical challenge.

China isn't just a commercial but a strategic competitor with the United States. It seeks to restore its former national glory, establish hegemony in East Asia and unravel Pax Americana. President Xi Jinping champions a national revival (“The Chinese Dream”) that flies in the face of the expectations that economic growth would soften China.

China uses its economic clout to back self-interested investments around the world and has poured resources into a decadeslong military buildup. As it has grown in strength, it has become increasingly assertive in making maritime claims in the region. It harasses its neighbors it wants to cow into submission, as we are shouldered aside.

We have long failed to grapple with the Chinese threat because we have believed that rising per capita income would do our work for us by inevitably democratizing China; because corporate America covets the Chinese market; and because, as Miles Maochun Yu of the Naval Academy points out, we are always “playing the China card” in pursuit of some other strategic objective -- currently, the denuclearization of North Korea -- rather than focusing on China in its own right.

NATIONAL COMMENTARY

At the moment, we are in the midst of a collective national freakout about Russia, a second-rate power. China's economy is eight times bigger than Russia's. While Russia is associated with the weapons of the 20th century, China is heavily investing in high-tech weapons -- cyberwarfare capabilities, hypersonic rockets, anti-satellite missiles and the like. “The United States cannot assume,” the U.S.-China Economic and Security Review Commission warned, “it will have an enduring advantage in developing next frontier military technology.”

The comprehensive challenge of China deserves a comprehensive response. Diplomatically, we need to strengthen relations with all those countries on China's periphery that feel threatened by it, Taiwan and Japan in particular.

Militarily, we need to spend more on research and development and on building up our Navy. And we need to make it clear to China, through robust patrolling, that we are committed to maintaining freedom of navigation in the region.

Economically, we need a better long-term approach to China's mercantilism than bluster threats of tariffs. This will require allies, which means that we should return to the Trans-Pacific Partnership. The pact was designed to lock China out of creating trade norms in the region, but Trump abandoned it in a perversely self-defeating protectionist gesture.

The Chinese flatter themselves that they have a long view that unstable American democracy lacks. When dealing with Treasury Secretary Steve Mnuchin, apparently desperate for any agreement he can wave around as a victory in the much-advertised looming trade war, they must feel confirmed in their belief. We need a strategy to convince them otherwise, and it will be the work of decades.

Rich Lowry is editor of the National Review.

The doomsday scenario: What if school walkouts don't work?

The New York Times seemed to think it was bitterly ironic that some of the students at Santa Fe High School, site of the recent mass shooting, had staged a walkout last month in support of the Parkland, Florida, students. But now, only a month later, one of the students who participated in the walkout is in the hospital from yet another school shooting.

I suppose we could revel in the irony, but, as a more results-oriented person, what I take from that vignette is that school walkouts are not effective deterrents to school shootings. I'm not sure the poems did much either.

These are hideous events that require serious proposals, not the self-indulgent mawkishness our media keep serving up.

Here are some news items that might help us figure out how to reduce the number of school shooting victims.

— May 3, 2017, Arlington, Texas: James Jones went to the Zona Caliente sports bar and began yelling incoherently. When the manager, Cesar Perez, went to talk to him and calm him down, Jones pulled out a gun and shot Perez dead, then started shooting wildly at patrons. Luckily, a concealed carry holder happened to be having dinner at Zona Caliente with his wife that night. He shot Jones dead before anyone else was hurt.

— Aug. 7, 2016, Linndale, Ohio: Two men getting into their car in a Dollar Store parking lot were held up by a masked armed robber. As the gunman, Varshaun Stephen Dukes, was rifling through one of the men's pockets, the other pulled out his concealed handgun and told him to stop. The robber fired at the man but missed. The concealed carry permit holder shot back, putting a .45 bullet in the robber's brain. (Naturally, he survived.) All of this was captured on the Dollar Store's surveillance camera, so no charges were brought against the armed citizen.

— June 26, 2016, Lyman, South Carolina: Jody Ray Thompson opened fire in the crowded Playoffz nightclub, injuring three. But before he could kill anyone, he was shot in the leg by a club patron with a concealed carry license. Police arrested Thompson without further incident and no one died.

— May 31, 2015, Conyers, Georgia: After arguing with a liquor store clerk, Jeffrey Scott Pitts returned with a gun and began shooting at everyone in the store, killing two. Todd Scott, who was there to buy a six-pack, returned fire. The crazed gunman fled, went home and shot his parents. “He was very surprised that he was not the only one in the store with a gun,” Scott said. Apart from the two people killed in Pitts' opening barrage, no one died. Scott saved the lives of everyone else in that store.

— July 24, 2014, Darby, Pennsylvania: Felon and psychiatric patient Richard Plotts pulled out a gun at Mercy Fitzgerald Hospital, murdered his caseworker and wounded his psychiatrist, Dr. Lee Silverman. He would have kept shooting — Plotts had 39 more bullets — but the doctor pulled out his own gun and fired back, in violation of the hospital's no-guns rule. No one else died.

— Jan. 11, 2014, Portland, Oregon: After being turned away from a strip club in Portland, repeat felon Thomas Elliott Hjelmeland came back, wearing a clown mask, guns blazing. He hit a waitress, a security guard and a patron before a bouncer, concealed carry permit holder Jonathan Baer, returned fire and ended the attack. No one died.

— March 25, 2018, Boiling Springs, South Carolina: Jesse Gates kicked in a side door of the Southside Freewill Baptist Church during services, raised his gun to shoot — but was grabbed and held at gunpoint by the reverend's grandson, a concealed carry permit holder. No one was hurt. Spartanburg County Sheriff Chuck Wright said, “I like the fact that a concealed weapons permit holder was prepared to protect the worshippers.”

It's seems like it's been awhile since we've heard of a crazed gunman being quickly disarmed at a school. Maybe because we've been trying to stop mass shootings with gun-free school zones.

Here are some older school shooting cases that had comparatively happy endings.

— In 2001, 15-year-old Charles Williams tried to shoot up his high school in Santee, California, but luckily, an off-duty cop happened to be bringing his daughter to school that day. He ended Williams' rampage with his own gun, holding him until more police arrived. Two fatalities.

— In 1998, a 14-year-old student began shooting up a school dance being held at a restaurant in Edinboro, Pennsylvania. The restaurant owner pulled out a shotgun, keeping the death toll to one.

— In 1997, a student shot several people at his high school in Pearl, Mississippi, killing two, and was headed to the junior high, until assistant principal Joel Myrick retrieved a .45 pistol from his car and pointed it at the gunman's head. Another massacre averted.

— In 1993, student Mark Duong pulled out a gun during his disciplinary hearing at Weber State University in Ogden, Utah, wounding three people, including the police officer, who, luckily, had been asked to attend the hearing. The officer immediately shot the psychotic student dead, saving the lives of everyone in the room.

We can try the walkouts, rallies, moments of silence, media adulation, poems and fist salutes. But if the full arsenal of liberal disapprobation doesn't stop schizophrenics from going on shooting sprees, concealed carry laws will at least save a lot of lives.

History of the Kaw Mission that's located in Council Grove

Last week I made the announcement of this year's KATP coming up in June and this week I would like to tell you a little about the history of the Kaw Mission.

The Mission was constructed starting in 1850 for the Kansa (also known as the Kanza or Kaw), who in 1848 left their villages west of present day Topeka, and moved southeast to their new reservation near present day Council Grove.

The Mission was constructed of native limestone and built large enough to accommodate 50 students. In addition to the Mission, a smoke house, a blacksmith shop and a well were built. The school opened in May of 1851 under the direction of Thomas Huffaker. Kaw boys aged 6 to 17 moved into the upstairs rooms of the Mission. The property was run by the Methodist Episcopal Church until 1854 when the government shut it down due to excessive cost. During the three years of operation the school averaged about 30 students, all boys, who were orphans or dependents of the tribe.

Huffaker and his wife Eliza Ann continued to live in the Mission until 1862 when he, his wife and their children moved to a new house. The Mission building and grounds were sold to Thomas Huffaker in 1865 and he owned it for 14 years. After that it passed through several hands until it was purchased by Homer Carpenter and Anna Huffaker Carpenter (daughter of Thomas and Eliza) around 1907. In 1926 Carl Huffaker, the 10th son of Thomas and Eliza, bought the property and remodeled the building giving it its current appearance. In 1951 the Kansas Legislature purchased the building and grounds from Carl Huffaker. The Mission opened as a Museum in 1952 after flood damage was repaired. In 1954 a stone residence that was built for the Kaw was relocated to the Mission grounds by the Council Grove Rotary Club.

In 1971 it was listed on the National Register of Historic Places in Kansas.

In the years since its construction, the Mission has reportedly had several functions: a Mission, a school house for area white children, a council house, a court house, a meeting house, an informal hotel, a private residence and finally a museum.

Stop by for a visit with us and our tour guide will be waiting for you, June 2-17.

First Baptist Church to host gospel music concert

Gospel music recording artists Phil & Pam Morgan will be appearing at First Baptist Church, 417 S. Walnut, Garnett on Sunday, June 3rd. The concert will begin at 6:00 pm and is part of their national "AMEN" Ministry Tour. The multimedia presentation combines close family harmony with accomplished instrumentals for a fun, motivational experience. The couple's message is summed up in their signature song, Take a Stand - a triumphant theme considering Pam was once told she would never stand on her own, much less walk again.

The husband and wife team from Kansas City, MO began singing together full-time in 1996, but their ministry came to an abrupt halt Sunday afternoon, June 4th, 2000, when the couple's van crashed into a bridge. Pam was thrown onto the roadside, suffering numerous injuries including a broken neck that left her completely paralyzed from the chest down. Top surgeons said she would never feel or move most of her body again. The couple immediately began a prayer chain from their PhilandPamMorgan.com website that soon circled the globe. Much to the doctor's amazement, feeling and movement began to gradually return to Pam's lifeless limbs. In one year she progressed from being wheelchair bound to walking unassisted. The specialists still have no explanation for Pam's miraculous recovery, but the Morgan's attribute her healing to the power of God. Exactly one year after the accident, Phil and Pam walked into a Nashville studio to record Living Proof. Phil, an award-winning songwriter, composed all the songs on that CD as well as many recordings that followed.

Pastor Mark Young has hosted several of the Morgan's concerts. "Phil has an amazing gift of writing their personal journey of faith into music that relates to everyone," he said. "His lyrics speak truth and offer hope in a way that is truly impressive."

"When tragedy struck our family, God was the only One who got us through," Pam said. "My prayer is that through our story and music, others will be motivated to walk with God everyday, no matter what life brings."

The Morgan's inspiring message has been featured on Oprah, Montel, Discovery Health Channel and The 700

Club. The full 15-month account has been published in her book, I Stand, by Jubilee Press, and is currently in its fourth printing. Their music is heard on Christian radio across the United States, Australia and Europe, and their live appearances entertain and encourage audiences nationwide with an unforgettable blend of music, humor and heart-to-heart honesty.

A Pittsburg man charged with arson and the murder of a Colony man and his roommate two years ago has made his way back to the courtroom. Andrew Hummer Morris was originally found incompetent to stand trial and has been receiving mental health treatment at Larned State Hospital. Morris is accused of setting fire to a house that killed Waylon Boots of Colony the morning of February 11, 2006. The incompetent ruling was overturned and Morris is now being held in Crawford County jail until his arraignment on June 27. Morris will make a formal plea to his charge at that time.

Local residents who live near a proposed convenience store and fast food franchise told Garnett City Commissioners that they were concerned about additional traffic and dust if a nearby alley is improved as an exit for a drive-thru restaurant window. Mike and Teresa Gretencord announced plans to raze the present Mike's Total location and reconstruct a larger Texaco convenience store and gas station with a Taco Bell Express. Part of the plan was to use an alley north of the site as an exit for the drive-thru window. Local residents Bob Caron and Karl Gebert told commissioners they were concerned and suggested control

A Milwaukee, Wn., go-kart racer was killed Sunday afternoon during the Garnett Jaycees Enduro Races, the first fatal racing accident to occur at the races since their beginning in the early 1960's. The accident occurred near the end of the second of three races planned for the day. A light rain had been falling for several minutes when Rob Dees apparently missed a curve at the northeast corner of the Lake Garnett Park race track known as the Muleshoe. His kart went down the embankment and struck a tree. He was taken to the Anderson County Hospital where he died several minutes later.

Ronald Benus was charged Monday with failing to yield cattle he had put up as security on a loan from United Kansas Bank of Overland Park. The charge against Benus is the second action in Anderson County District Court involving cattle. Benus' father, Ivan, recently took out a temporary injunction against Sheriff Gadelman to keep the sheriff from taking the cattle which he says he owns. The elder Benus' injunction prevented the sheriff from executing an earlier order from the Johnson County District Court telling him to seize and sell the cattle to satisfy the bank's judgment against Ronald Benus.

John Paul Wesley, a patriotic young man of this city, is mad. In fact, he is not only fighting mad, but greatly disappointed. The cause for John Paul's anger and disappointment is that he was rejected for the U.S. Marine Corps because of defective teeth. "Sherman said war is hell," stormed John Paul. "But I think your examination is even worse. Just because I'm not able to bite the Kaiser, I'm rejected. What do you want me to do, kill 'em and then eat 'em too?" "Sorry old man," said Sergeant Frank Buck. "Go see a dentist and come back. Maybe there'll be a chance then."

Richmond Museum open weekends for the summer

With a new carpeted concrete floor to support its treasures, the Richmond Community Museum is now open each Saturday and Sunday, 1-4 p.m., and will keep that schedule through Labor Day weekend. The museum will also open anytime on request. There is no admission charge, but donations are appreciated.

Visitors will enjoy a new arrangement of displays which gives the room a more spacious feeling. One new display is a model of Beachner (formerly Co-op) Grain Elevator which was made as a 4-H fair entry by Cara Wentzel of Watertown, WI, when she was 12 years old. Although Cara never lived in Richmond, she is the granddaughter of the late Raymond and Alma Wagner and visited often. She made the scale model using pictures from fair parades with the elevator in the background, and from memory.

Students from Greeley Elementary School who visited the Museum recently were intrigued by the model, but enjoyed seeing the variety of displays, said one of their teachers, Megan Hennessey, who scheduled the trip as part of their field day.

The next event at the museum is the Richmond High School Alumni Banquet day June 9th, when the museum will be open before and after the noon meal.

Plan to spend some time at the museum that day, or any weekend afternoon this summer, and see the more than 1,000 artifacts and countless archival pieces, all related directly to the Richmond community.

Historical Society opens museum for summer season

The Anderson County Historical Society met at the museum on Thursday, May 17th. Thirty five members and guests enjoyed a carry-in dinner, followed by the business meeting.

Children's Librarian, Katy Holloran, proposed a summer activity for youth related to historical figures and artifacts found in the museum. ACHS extended support for the project and offered assistance. Watch for more details of "Night at the Museum".

Henry Roeckers invited all interested in archeological digs and historical artifacts to visit a project in Council Grove during June 2nd through June 17th. Professional and amateur archeologists will be conducting a dig at the Kaw Mission site. The school, operated by the Methodist Episcopal Church, was built in 1850. An average attendance of 30 Kanza boys, 6 to 17 years old, who were orphaned or dependent upon the tribe were enrolled. The government closed the school in 1854 due to operating costs. Two side yards will be excavated during the project. Following the business meeting, Kristie Kinney showed pictures of early day schools, churches, and businesses in Garnett, Kincaid, and Harris.

The museum has opened for the summer season. Volunteers are welcome to assist with staffing the weekday afternoon hours. Annual memberships are $5, and all who are interested in the preservation of Anderson County history are welcome to participate.

Bulldogs shock top-seeded Nickerson in opening round

BY KEVIN GAINES THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW

In the opening round at the state baseball tournament, the eighth seeded Anderson County Bulldogs (12-11) pulled off the shocker of the weekend, upending top-seed Nickerson (22-2) 6-5 after scoring a run in the seventh to pull out the victory.

Considering the Anderson County Bulldogs started the season with 6 straight losses and overall lost 9 of their first 11, it seemed highly unlikely that they would find themselves in the state baseball tournament, nonetheless knocking off top seeded Nickerson in the opening round.

The season turned around on April 26th after Louisburg blanked the Bulldogs 8-0 in the first game of a doubleheader. The Bulldogs would shutout Louisburg in the late game en route to reeling off 7 straight victories leading into a showdown against Burlington to end the season.

Burlington seemingly deflated the Bulldogs, dominating them to the tune of 19-0 and 14-2 in the doubleheader sweep in the final games of the regular season. To make matters worse, Burlington would be the top seed in the Regional tournament just a week later.

Since those blowout losses to Burlington, the Bulldogs have won each of their two regional and state games by just one run each.

The Bulldogs started quickly by scoring 3 runs in the top of the first, giving them the confidence that they do belong in the tournament.

Travis Spencer opened the game with a double, followed by a Damone Kueser single. To put runners on the corner.

Cole Denny laid down a bunt that would score Spencer to give AC an early 1-0 lead.

Bo Dilliner would follow with a bunt single putting runners on the corners once again.

Austin Peine would single with two outs to score Kueser.

Porter Richards would follow with a single to load the bases.

After a first pitch strike, Secrest would take four straight balls to walk and score the third run of the inning.

Nickerson would get a run back in the second.

Starting pitcher Denny would walk the first two batters of the inning and allowed a two out single to score the run.

Nickerson would tack on one more run in the third before the Bulldogs answered with two more in the fourth to create a little breathing room.

Spencer would pick up an RBI single in the inning and then would score the second run of the inning on a single by Kueser.

Nickerson clawed back from a 5-2 deficit with a 3-run 5th inning.

With the score still tied at 5 heading into the 7th, the Bulldogs opened the inning with a Kueser walk.

Denny attempted to sacrifice Kueser over to second but on the bunt Nickerson gunned down Kueser to knock down the lead runner.

Dilliner then reached on an error by the second baseman.

Following a ground out by Adams, Peine would drive in the winning run with a single to right field with two outs.

Nickerson would have an uneventful bottom of the seventh going down in order to send the Bulldogs into next round.

In the second round game, AC squared off against Iola (21-2) and lost 6-0.

The game was tied at zero heading into the bottom of the sixth before Iola was able to tally all 6 runs to move onto the championship game.

The Bulldogs played in the third place game Friday afternoon against the loser of the Parsons (14-9) and Kansas City-Bishop Ward (14-7).

GARNETT — Lisa Williams, certified medical assistant, was recently honored as the Employee of the Quarter at Anderson County Hospital for the first quarter of 2018.

Williams, who works in the specialty clinic, was nominated for the award by her peers. Her nomination described Williams as someone who always goes above and beyond to support positive patient experiences at the Anderson County Hospital Specialty Clinic. Additionally, the nomination noted her willingness to train new staff and assist other departments when they were short staffed.

"We are lucky to have Lisa as part of our team in the specialty clinic," said Rich McCain, CEO of Anderson County Hospital. "Her positive attitude, willingness to help out, and outstanding work ethic helps to make Anderson County Hospital the best place to get care and the best place to give care."

Williams joined Anderson County Hospital in 2012 as a certified nursing assistant before joining the specialty clinic staff as a medical assistant. Williams was recognized at a reception in her honor where she received a café gift card and a pizza party for her department.

Flame of Hope to travel from Ottawa to Emporia Your birthday is a selling event

Ottawa, KS – Law enforcement officers from the Ottawa Police Department and Franklin County Sheriff's Office will carry the Special Olympics Kansas Flame of Hope May 30, from Ottawa to Emporia.

The 60-mile run is part of a 1,600 mile journey for the Flame of Hope across Kansas as part of the ceremonial 2018 Law Enforcement Torch Run (LETR) for Special Olympics Kansas.

Special Olympics Kansas athletes will join with the law enforcement runners and help carry the torch through Ottawa after a short ceremony at 7:45 a.m. at Kansas State Bank North located at 236 North Main in Ottawa.

"Without the support and dedication of law enforcement officers throughout the state we could not do what we do for our athletes," Special Olympics Kansas spokesperson Heather Waters said. "Law enforcement officers band together with their communities to change attitudes and support Special Olympics athletes with intellectual disabilities. They truly transform lives and we are grateful for all they do."

Torch Runs are held in Kansas leading up to the annual summer games in Wichita. Law enforcement officers raise money for Special Olympics Kansas throughout the year by participating in these runs as well as events like Polar Plunges, Tip-A-Cop and Cover the Cruiser.

Law enforcement officers will begin the run at the Kansas State Bank North and continue along the following route: South on Main Street to 17 Street; west on 17 Street to Eisenhower Avenue; south on Eisenhower Avenue to Old 50 Highway; west on Old 50 Highway. Arrive in Williamsburg, approximately 10 a.m.; continue west on Old 50 Highway; arrive at 500 Mechanic, Emporia, approximately 3 p.m.

In 2017 more than 1,300 officers took part in more than 30 runs throughout the state. In total, Kansas LETR participants raised more than $550,000 for Special Olympics Kansas in 2017.

"Year after year we have the support of men and women of law enforcement who elevate Special Olympics Kansas within their communities," Special Olympics President/CEO John Lair said. "Every year officers from local agencies, Sheriff Offices, campus police and the Highway Patrol give so much to this event and expect nothing in return."

At the conclusion of this leg of the torch run the torch will be passed along to Emporia and travel to El Dorado on June 1.

"For more than 30 years, the Law Enforcement Torch Run has been an integral part of the Special Olympics Movement," Lair said. "What started right here in Kansas has become an annual tradition all around the world."

Your birthday is a selling event

Everybody has a birthday – use yours to help you sell stuff. Your business birthday is an important event – think of it this way – if not for your business' birth, you wouldn't be in business right now!

Remember back when you were 6 – what was it that was so cool about your birthday? The answer is simple – it was all about (italic) you (end italic)! Your birthday party was your deal, and for at least a few hours you were the center of attention.

Follow that into adult life. What does every company do when some worker has a birthday? Obviously, we have cake or cupcakes or ice cream or something – some kind of a little party to make that person feel special. Face it, we all love a party – especially if there's cake!

Your business' birthday is an easy excuse to make yourself special for a day – and to make everyone else pay attention to you. The opportunities to promote your birthday and promote yourself to existing customers and possible new ones abound:

- Offer a percent-off discount for the number of years you are old, or some derivative thereof; you can make it for existing customers to help reward them;
- Throw a cocktail party or after hours event and invite VIP customers;

• Have a birthday breakfast at your location and be sure to promote it in advance with in-store signage, flyers, and your Facebook, email, TV, radio and newspaper ads;

• Use the opportunity to talk about your history – how your business was founded, your amazing success stories, interesting trivia, etc.;

• Remember if you're going to have an "open house" type event, it's got to be interesting to visitors. A tour through your barbershop will look like any other barbershop; but if you have a barbershop quartet performance – now that's different;

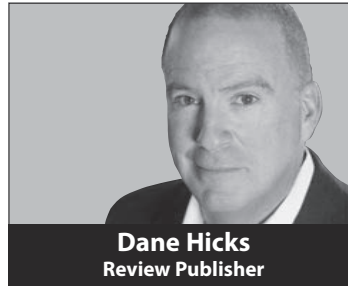

• Entertainment can be cheap and effective at the same time. Don't forget your local high school has bands, drama classes, chorale groups, FFA meat judging teams – all kinds of talent that will bring in a crowd if you give them a venue in which to perform;

• Have vendor reps come in to promote your product with info, seminars and samples;

• Have a birthday cookout with free food if the weather's good.

Let your birthday work for you and help you sell stuff!

I didn't appreciate then what I do now

Grandma and Grandpa Becker were people of action rather than words. Not that they didn't have much to say. They just chose their words well and needed only a few to convey much.

As their oldest grandson, I visited them during the summer when I was growing up in the late '50s. I always talked Grandma into letting me sleep in the screened-in porch on the east side of their home.

Shaded by tall elm trees, this was the coolest place to slumber on those warm summer nights before air conditioning. More importantly, the porch was right next to my grandparent's room where I felt safe and slept like a log each night.

JOHN SCHLAGECK, Kansas Farm Bureau

Their morning activities would always wake me, and their longest conversations of the day took place while drinking black coffee with bacon and eggs several hours before I crawled out of my comfortable bed. In the background you could always hear a black Zenith AM radio providing them with the news and weather of the upcoming day.

I'd just lie there comfortably in my bed soaking up the sounds. I knew Grandma would make me my own special breakfast at a more kid-visiting-his-grandparents hour.

My Grandpa Bert was a tall slender man with kind eyes and a rich baritone voice that invited attention and respect. During those early-morning conversations with my Grandma Rose, he spoke with a gentleness that was unlike any other.

While I didn't really think of it back then, I just remember I loved listening to them visit and appreciated how my Grandpa talked to my Grandma.

Today, I understand what I was listening to were conversations between a woman and a man who had truly become one.

Grandpa always respected and took care of Grandma's every need. She cheerfully and willingly gave back all that she received.

My Grandpa Bert was a veteran of World War I, saw action in France. He died nearly 25 years before Grandma Rose. His later years were difficult, and he suffered from Parkinson's disease. I also believe ghosts from those brothers in arms, who didn't return home with him, weighed heavy on his soul.

Please submit applications to ACH no later than Friday, July 6, 2018.

Still, I never heard him complain. Grandma and my mother loved and cared for him when he couldn't do so for himself.

I have always considered myself a lucky man to have inherited some of the wonderful attributes of the Becker family – cheerfulness, perseverance, a willingness to think, work smart – and the ability to enjoy and appreciate others.

Having Becker blood also means you have family and some good friends willing to stand by your side during the best and worst of times. And while your living may be hard-earned – your life will be rich beyond measure.

2018 Colony day theme set and date announced

Calendar

May 30-City Council meeting, City Hall Community Room, 7 p.m.; June 4-Cemetery Board meeting, City Office, 7 p.m.; 6-Lions Club, United Methodist Church basement, 7 p.m.

Meal Site

June 1-beef taco salad, red beans and rice, lettuce, tortilla chips, berry mix; 4-vegetable beef soup, salad with spinach, rosy applesauce, crackers, cookie; 6-roast beef with gravy, mashed potatoes, Prince Edward veggies, roll, cherry crisp. Phone 620-852-3457 for meal reservations.

Christian Church

Howard Reiter gave the Communion Meditation at the May 20 service on legal vs right, referencing Acts 5:17-29. We must obey God rather than any human authority, because sometimes what is legal, isn't right in God's eyes. Chase Riebel continued with his sermon from last week about the "Cost of Being a Disciple" and what we put our hope in. He referenced many Bible verses about how we should always put our hope in Jesus and the truth of God's word. We need to always remain steadfast and to count on the Lord. Jesus is stable and his word does not change. Also, congratulations to Chase Riebel on being elected in as our new full-time pastor!!!

Men's Bible study Tuesday at 7 a.m. Wednesday at 4:30 p.m. will be youth group, followed by a meal and prayer at 5:30 p.m., Adult Bible study at 7 p.m. Our current study is on "Praying the Psalms".

COLONY NEWS

Mary A. Luedke
Contact (620) 852-3379 or colonynews@ckt.net with Colony news.

Everyone is welcome to join us! Creative Blessings will meet at the parsonage on Tuesday from 9-11 a.m.. All ladies are welcome. The May 22 craft is a "market bag". Please bring an old or new T-shirt. May 29 they'll be making greeting cards.

Cowboy Church

The May 20 service at High Point Cowboy Church was opened with welcome and announcements by Leo Ramsey and praise music led by Cindy Beckmon.

Pastor Jon Petty spoke about Pentecost Sunday referring to scripture in Acts 1 and 2, which records the beginning of the church and when Holy Spirit came 'in' believers, rather than 'on' believers, empowering us to tell the world about Jesus.

UMC

Scripture presented at the May 20 service was Psalm 104: 24-34, Acts 2: 1-21, Romans 8: 22-27 and John 15: 26-27. Pastor Dorothy Welch's sermon topic was "How Exciting, How Remarkable, How Miraculous..."

Colony Day

The 2018 Colony Day theme has been set. Theme is: 'Don't Stop Believin'. It will be held on Saturday, Sept. 1. Get it on your calendars!

Crest

From the Desk of Travis Hermreck, Elementary Principal - The inaugural high school softball and baseball seasons at Crest are in full swing, with over 20 students participating. Every night brings a new historical event to the school, from Stratton McGhee collecting the first ever hit in a Crest baseball game to Regan Godderz hitting the first ever home run in a Crest softball game. These sports offer student-athletes another opportunity for growth and learning in a competitive environment, as well as provide entertainment for our school communities. Home softball games are being played at Kincaid, while home baseball games are at Colony. A lot of time, work, and money have been put into the readying of the fields for high school competition.

While momentarily wielding the power of the pen, I would like to recognize some of the many who sacrificed much of their own time and resources for our kids: Travis Church, Tony Barron, Karla Boots and Pair of Boots Trucking, Richard Church, Seth and Angie Black, Jay Bowen, Tim Dietrich, Paul Stephens, Brant McGhee, Rick Nelson and Nelson Excavating, Roy Whitcomb, Mike Davis, Bill Johnston, the Kincaid Lions Club, Kevin and Kacie Nilges, Blake Boone, Pat Golden, and Dexter Wiley.

On another note, our communities recently celebrated the life of Susie Bubna. I have not encountered very many people quite like her. In addition to all she has done for people outside of the school, she also had a significant impact on our school district - adults and students alike. She ran the "Good News Club" on Wednesdays after school for over 20 years, drove a preschool bus route, and coached forensics, just to name a few. We may truly never know how many lives she actually touched, but we do know our lives were better because she was a part of them. Her faith, kindness, stadium-sized personality, and joy for life will continue to be a part of our school system for many, many years to come.

Library

Library Board meeting was held May 15 with four members in attendance.

Summer Story Hour dates were made: June 12, 19, 26, July 3, 10, 17 and 31.

Debbie Wools will be the leader and this year's theme is "Libraries Rock".

Community Bingo

Every three months there is a cash Blackout. Next one is Thursday, June 14. They meet every second Thursday of the month at the City Hall Community Room at 6 p.m.

Seekers Not Slackers 4-H members will serve refreshments.

Around Town

Mary and Mark Luedke attended the funeral of a classmate of Mary's at the Bethel Church, Polo, Mo on May 16.

We have been receiving welcomed rains as of late. It may delay some of the baling of hay and crop planting, but most certainly was needed.

to 3.5 percent in April with 214 of its 6,202 member workforce jobless. Coffey County dropped from 4.6 in March to 4.2 in April down from 4.9 percent in April last year.

Franklin County dropped from 3.6 to 3.2 from March-April of this year, totaling adult workers at 13,651 of the 14,108 labor pool. Linn County notched a jobless rate of 5.5, down from 5.9 in March. Linn County's labor force stood at 4,311 in the April numbers. Miami County had 568 workers unemployed out of its 17,186 person work force for a percentage of 3.3 in April and 3.6 in March.

Statewide, Kansas reported a seasonally adjusted unemployment rate of 3.4 percent in April, even with the 3.4 percent recorded in March and down slightly from 3.6 in April 2017.

Rebounding oil prices are expected to have a strengthening effect on the state's employment picture, particularly as mothballed oil wells are brought back into production and crews hired to run them.

Edward Cross, president of the Kansas Independent Oil & Gas Association, said last week those higher oil prices no longer mean a slowdown on the nation's economy, the way they did before the U.S. became a leading oil producer. He said energy analysts point to several reasons for this turnabout which they call 'flipping.' Historically, high oil prices slowed economic activity and low oil prices led to a strong economy. However, the leadership role the U.S. plays in world oil markets has helped 'flip' the historic model.

Cross said that today, with the U.S. leadership role in world oil markets, higher oil prices give rise to an increase in production and jobs in the U.S.

"Consumers are affected by rising oil prices, but many experts now believe job creation is a huge positive trade-off," Cross said.

Pieces & Patches Quilt Guild minutes for 4/26

The Pieces & Patches Quilt Guild was called to order by President Joleata Kent on April 26, 2018 at 9:30 a.m. at the Extension Annex, Garnett. Roll call was answered by 32 members. The guild had three guests. The minutes of the March meeting were approved as corrected. Lynn Wawrzewski gave the treasurer's report.

Committee Reports:

Programs—Judy Vore is scheduled for our September meeting, when she will present a Panelmania trunk show. Patricia Knoechel will be back on June 22nd. A committee has been formed to handle refreshments. Guild members will bring cookies or pay $3.00 as non-members pay. Jeanette introduced the idea of co-hosting and sharing costs for a trunk show by quilter Pattie Poe, possibly in March. A caravan is planned for June 28th on the normal meeting day. There will be no June meeting.

Scholarship—The scholarship recipient has been selected.

Charity Quilts—Two quilts were taken to the Anderson County Specialty Clinic, and they are again requesting more quilts. Marilyn McDonald donated 2 bags of baby quilts, cleaned out of her Mother-in-law's closet. Members can use stored fabric for charity quilts.

Opportunity Quilt 2019—The 2019 committee is meeting each month to work on the "El's Kitchen" quilt; the top will be displayed at the June Patricia Knoechel show. Tickets for the 2019 quilt will be sold at the event.

Anderson County Fair – The dates of the fair are July 30 through August 4. Members, be working on your challenge blocks; Country Fabrics has the kits for $3.00. The theme is "Picture Perfect Memories." The fair has added prizes for those under 18 years old who submit a block.

May Quilt Show –Bonnie Deiter handed out entry forms and encouraged members to bring their items to the show and to sign up to work. Many members brought boutique items. There will be a Christmas tree with Christmas items.

Block of the Month—Cynthia Fletcher reports that the next set of blocks of the month will be released in May. Connie Hatch showed her first six blocks of the Civil War Sampler.

Challenge blocks— Many had Challenge projects to show. Donna Sutton - a baby quilt from the book Lewis and Clark, Vol. 2. by Terry Clothier Thompson. Carolyn Crupper - a table runner from Eleanor Burns' Victory Quilts Book; her fat quarter fabric shows up in an appliqued star on the front. Connie Hatch - a courthouse steps tablecloth, inspired by the book, Scrappy Quilts. Phyllis Gordon - her completed bobbins baby quilt (top was shown in March). Betty Seachord - a project from Eleanor Burns' Egg Money Quilts. Joyce Buckley - a scrappy quilt from Pat Speth's More Nickel Quilts. Sharon Rich - a wall hanging from Terry Clothier Thompsons' A Cowboy Christmas. Additionally, she made a quilt from the book. Jeanette Gadelman - an unfinished Flying Geese quilt block from the American Barns book, made in half an hour using triangles cut on a Go Cutter.

Show & Tell –In addition to the Challenge projects, the following items were shown:

Local student named Governor's Scholar

At the invitation of Kansas Governor Jeff Colyer, Owen Lutz of Anderson County High School in Garnett, was selected to attend the 35th Annual Governor's Scholars Awards Program on May 6, 2018, in Topeka.

The recognition ceremony honors the top academic one percent of Kansas high school seniors. Scholars are selected from accredited public and private schools in the state. "These high school seniors have shown dedication in their studies and a commitment to learning. They've earned this honor, and I want to congratulate them on this achievement," Governor Colyer said. "We also should recognize their families, teachers, and mentors for helping these outstanding students achieve their academic goals."

This program is coordinated by the Governor by the Confidence in Kansas Public Education Task Force. It is funded by donations from private sector businesses in Kansas. The Confidence in Kansas Public Education Task Force was formed 35 years ago to strengthen public confidence in education. The following organizations are members of the Task Force: American Association of University Women, Kansas State Board of Education, Kansas Association of School Boards, Kansas Congress of Parents and Teachers, Kansas State Department of Education, Kansas State High School Activities Association, Kansas League of Women Voters, and United School Administrators of Kansas.
