Four lanes or bust

City signs on with coalition seeking future 4-lane on U.S. 169

BY DANE HICKS THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW

GARNETT – City commissioners in Garnett last week officially signed on to a regional effort lobbying to win funds to upgrade U.S. Highway 169 to four lanes running from Osawatomie to the Oklahoma border.

City manager Chris Weiner had previously discussed meetings on the 169 Corridor Coalition which have been in process since early 2017. Cities and transportation-related industries along the route have been organizing since that time, in hopes of successfully lobbying for part of a federal infrastructure investment package they believe will eventually be forthcoming from the Trump Administration and made available by the Kansas Department of Transportation.

The resolution of support from the City of Garnett commits the city in principal to the lobbying effort but does not require any type of initial financial commitment. Weiner said the effort hoped to get similar resolutions from each community along U.S. 169

“This will be a huge economic boon to Garnett and all the communities along the route,” Weiner said. “If Coffeyville ever does get Tyson to build

Sudden impact

Hart says helmet saved him in area's third recent deer/motorcycle crash

BY DANE HICKS THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW

GARNETT – Troy Hart credits his motorcycle helmet with saving his life in a bike/deer collision that severely injured him August 25 near Goodrich.

Hart, the lead supervisor in the City of Garnett's electrical distribution department, is recuperating at home with a broken scapula, broken collarbone and 10 broken ribs. His broken helmet is now on display at the Paola American Legion Post, and it's making believers out of other motorcyclists who have traditionally opted against the added protection in favor of comfort, freedom and some say better visibility. Now, better than three weeks after the crash, Hart can actually laugh about it.

“It's a lot easier to get one (a deer) with a bow or a rifle,” he said. “It's a lot less painful.”

Hart and riding partner Ron Young were just west of Goodrich on 1700 Road shortly after 8 a.m., running about 55-60 mph and headed to meet Legion Riders in LaCygne for a charity ride when the deer bounded into the roadway. Hart said Young, who was riding behind him, told him later the animal made two leaps from the hedgerow, to the ditch, to Hart's lane. Hart said he was told he never lost consciousness, but he doesn't remember the impact or immediately afterwards.

“I remember riding east of Garnett and getting close to Centerville and thinking ‘I need to be watching (for deer),’ and then the next thing I know I'm coming to Research Medical Center.”

He said his condition improves every day, but doctors initially estimated eight weeks for recovery.

Hart's crash is the third involving local motorcyclists and deer this summer. Charles Nixon of

GPD still short officers

Chief says city is near having to reduce services if department loses another police officer

BY DANE HICKS THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW

GARNETT – The Garnett Police Department continues to have trouble hiring to fill two vacant officer positions, and GPD Chief Kurt King told city commissioners recently the shortage is near the point of affecting local police coverage.

King's report to last week's city commission meeting said the department had received 21 applicants for the positions, six of which were immediately disqualified due to criminal history involving a felony or domestic battery. Seven applicants were sent the background packet on the positions to continue the selection process, King said. Out of those none had completed and returned the packets to arrange interviews, nor had they returned emails or phone calls to determine if they had any interest in continuing the process.

“This is leaving us with us with little to no option but to start looking into unqualified applicants,” King told commissioners. “If GPD loses one more officer, services will have to be cut by the department in order to maintain the normal day-to-day functions of a Police Department.”

Police departments across the country have been pressed with recruitment and retention problems in recent years, particularly since an improving economy has grown opportunities in other industries and public sentiment in some quarters has shifted against police in view of several high-profile incidents of alleged racism and abuse of power.

“What in the world is happening?” said commissioner Greg Gwin during discussions at Tuesday's meeting, noting 15 applicants for initial positions but none followed through. “Is our process too time consuming?”

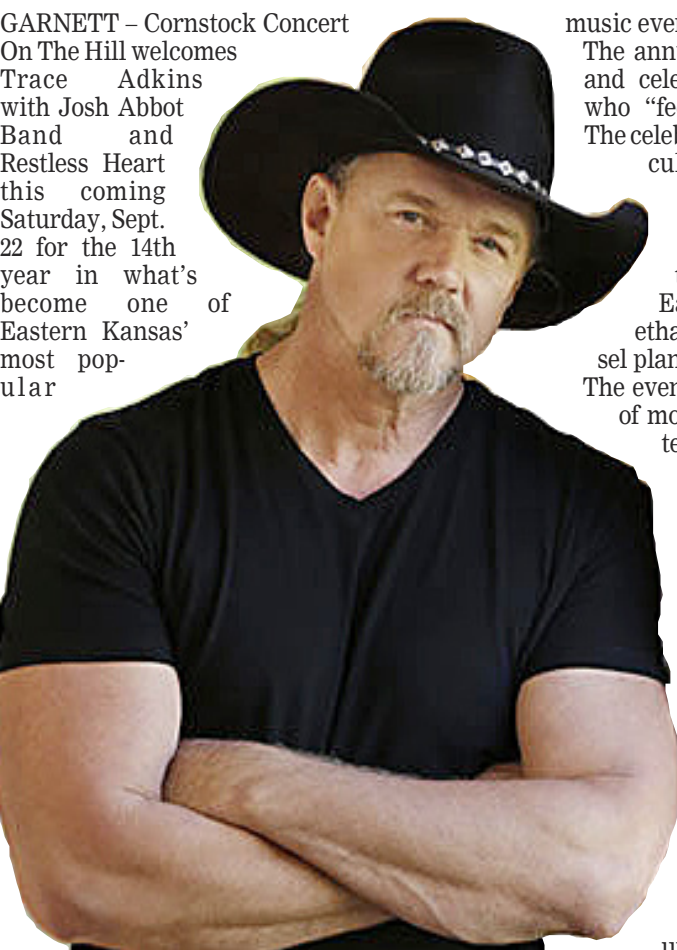

City manager Chris Weiner said the GPD's screening process was actually less extensive than some other neighboring departments, but competition for a dwindling pool of potential officers had the city coming up short.

“We're competing for a select few that want to be officers,” Weiner said. Weiner said staff discussions had focused on expanding retirement benefits from KPERS

Trace Adkins headlines Cornstock Saturday

GARNETT – Cornstock Concert On The Hill welcomes Trace Adkins with Josh Abbot Band and Restless Heart this coming Saturday, Sept. 22 for the 14th year in what's become one of Eastern Kansas' most popular music events.

The annual event began in 2005 and celebrates corn and those who “feed and fuel America.”

The celebration of the area's agricultural heritage began from an idea to hold a festival after the launch of the investor drive that eventually built the East Kansas Agri-Energy ethanol and renewable diesel plant in Garnett.

The event culminates the efforts of more than 100 local volunteers who contribute time each year to help with the organization and labor required to pull off the multi-act show. The event is funded by sponsors, by beer sales at its beer garden, by food venter registration fees and by ticket sales. Proceeds are aimed at securing and marketing next year's show, and the organization offers annual scholarships to students who have been former event volunteers.

The event focuses regional attention on Lake Garnett Park as ground zero for the performances. Campers will be arriving in Garnett on Friday, September 21st. Community Development Director Susan Wettstein said last week self-sustained or tent camping is all that is available now. Reservations are required for campsites and can be made until Friday at 3 p.m. by contacting Garnett City Hall, 785-448-5496.

This year the Long Cedar Disc Golf Club will be hosting a disc golf tournament to raise money for their proposed youth disc golf course to be installed at the Garnett Elementary School. Golfers will meet and register at the “toad stool” adjacent Lake Garnett's dam. Shotgun start at 9:00 a.m. on Saturday, September 22nd. Persons entering the tournament may purchase concert tickets for $20. This is the only option to purchase discount tickets and you must enter the disc golf tournament to get the discount. Regular tickets are $40.

This year's lineup at the Cornstock Concert on the Hill features headliner Trace Adkins, with opening acts the Josh Abbott Band and Restless Heart. Gates open at 3:30 p.m. for VIP and then 15 minutes later for everyone else. The Rickerson Pipe Lining Spotlight Stage will host The Lost Troubadours at 3:30

ANDERSON COUNTY COMMISSION MEETING, SEPTEMBER 10, 2018

ANDERSON COUNTY COMMISSION

Chairman Jerry Howarter called the meeting of the Anderson County Commission to order at 9:00 AM on September 10, 2018 at the County Commission Room. Attendance: Jerry Howarter, Present: David Pracht, Present: Leslie McGhee, Present. The pledge of allegiance was recited. Minutes from the previous meeting were approved as presented.

Road & Bridge

Lester Welsh, Road Supervisor, met with the commission. He informed the commission that he has a mechanic that is quitting and will not hire for that position immediately. The road supervisor's truck hasn't been working properly and took it to Beckman Motors to be looked at. They can repair the truck for approximately $4,600 or put in a new motor for $5,500. The commissioners would like for Lester to do more research on the issue and the cost to repair.

Public Comment

Richard Reed, Harris, met with the commission. He questioned the commission on whether the County has an inspector of homes being built in the county. He believes his house wasn't built to code but the county does not have a code inspector. Being that the county doesn't have a set of codes it reverts back to the current State of Kansas codes.

BG Consultants

Dan Harden and Eric Hethcoat, BG Consultants, met with the commission. Discussion was held on the elevator project. The county will be receiving bids on September 26th to start the project.

Adjourn

Meeting adjourned at 12:00 PM due to no further business.

Weiner said organizers of the coalition are warning participants the process will be a marathon, not a sprint.

"Highway 69 from Kansas City to Pittsburg was two lane and they fought for 40 years and they finally got it. It may take us 40 years," Weiner said.

Should the lobby efforts of the coalition move into the proposal stage, Weiner said the cities along the route would most likely be asked to come up with

As for helmets, Hart said the incident made a believer out of him.

"I've always tried to wear a helmet but I haven't always worn one," he said. "I'm definitely seeing the value of wearing one all the time now."

They missed their chance, don't you!

In the 5th chapter of John we read, "Some time later, Jesus went up to Jerusalem for a feast of the Jews: Now there is in Jerusalem near the Sheep Gate a pool which in Aramaic is called Bethesda and which is surrounded by five covered colonnades. Here a great number of disabled people use to lie-the blind, the lame, the paralyzed. One who was there had been an invalid for thirty-eight years. When Jesus saw him lying there and learned that he had been in this condition for a long time he asked him, "Do you want to get well?" (John 5:1-6)

BY DAVID BILDERBACK

To understand this text we need to know the significance of the pool. Periodically the water would be stirred. It was the belief of those who were there that the water was stirred by an angel of the Lord and whoever was the first one in the pool would be healed. In fact the man answered Jesus' question by saying why he couldn't be healed. "Sir" the invalid replied, "I have no one to help me into the pool when the water is stirred. While I am trying to get in, someone else goes down ahead of me."

who didn't. In Luke 4:17-21, we read. "The scroll of the prophet Isaiah was handed to him. Unrolling it, he found the place where it is written: The Spirit of the Lord is on me, because he has anointed me to preach good news to the poor. He then said to them, "Today this scripture is fulfilled in your hearing."

Everyone who was there was totally focused on the pool. The text doesn't say anyone even noticed Jesus. Then Jesus said to him, "Get up! Pickup your mat and walk." At once the man was cured; he picked up his mat and walked. The text does not say all of the rest of the people even noticed the man leave. Why would this be? Jesus himself walked in and among them and then walked out. They were focused on their temporary state. They saw as their salvation the pool. While they were watching the pool they missed the Savior.

Time after time Jesus presented himself and the scribes and the Pharisees missed it. The very teachers who taught of the imminent coming of a Messiah missed it. Today preachers stand in pulpits and preach Jesus Christ, radio and television broadcasts send the word around the world and people miss it. I don't know why people miss it other than the fact they have other Messiah's rather than the one true Christ. In 1st Corinthians 1:18 Paul says. "For the message of the cross is foolishness to those who are perishing, but to us who are being saved it is the power of God." What is the message of the cross to you?

To me the most important part of the story is not the man who got healed but all the people

Why Tyson still matters to Kansas

Garnett, Greeley, Osawatomie, Iola and on – do you think you have no stake in the Tyson Chicken decision that may (or may not) put a chicken processing plant in Coffeyville? Think again.

This time last year up at Tonganoxie, the newly-chartered “We Hate Tyson Foods” club was about to tar and feather everybody from the governor on down for daring to entertain the company’s plan to invest $320 million in a Kansas chicken plant in a rural area of Leavenworth County nearby.

Even laid-back Lawrence was up in arms, spooked that its Free State motif of liberal tolerance might be put to the test if the plant, 10 miles northeast of town and seeking to fill some 1,600 jobs, ended up bringing in loads of Somali and Mexican/South American immigrants to fill the jobs and seek housing in Lawrence.

So in the cacophony of protest that drowned out any positive arguments in favor of the project, it was easy to get lost in the idea that Tyson was big and evil, the politicians trying to seal the deal all needed to be strung up and no community was better off with the company than without it.

The reality, of course, was that some people actually did favor the location of the plant and they saw the practical economic benefits of locating it in Leavenworth County. But they didn’t like the idea of walking in the kitchen one day and finding their kid’s pet rabbit boiling on the stove.

So Tyson took its scolding and got sent packing with an eye toward maybe locating in Coffeyville. Now, the company and its decision on the plant almost nobody wanted will likely be a huge factor in a $1.2 billion – that’s ‘billion’ with a ‘b’ – highway project that everybody, and I mean everybody, in Southeast Kansas is signing onto with love and kisses.

The U.S. 169 Corridor Coalition is made up of cities and counties and major private business players along the highway route from Osawatomie to the Oklahoma border. This outfit is all about tapping what they hope will be federal infrastructure improvement grants coming from the Trump Administration – eventually – as part of an infrastructure plan the president has been promising since his campaign. That hope and dream is to rebuild U.S. 169 from a two-lane into a four-lane to make it safer and more efficient – but most importantly to claim the economic surge that a billion-dollar, multi-year highway project will bring to the region.

It’s a given that coalition organizers will want to cozy up with trucking companies who use the 169 route as a thoroughfare to cross the state to and from Kansas City. Right now, something like one of every four or five vehicles on U.S. 169 south of Miami County is a big axel truck. A higher percentage of truck traffic makes the interests of the trucking companies the same as those of the nearby communities when it comes to ease of travel.

Wal-Mart will be a factor, too. There’s a distribution center in Ochelata, Okla., on U.S. Highway 75, about an hour from Coffeyville. A four-lane leg of south 169 would make the K-68 DC at Ottawa just a hop, skip and jump away.

And trucking wouldn’t be the end of support for this corridor work. Think of construction companies, quarries, fuel and oil sales, motels to house work crews, restaurants. The benefits would be widespread. Those dollars would cycle in multiples several times in all those affected communities.

Even yet here’s a lot that can go this way or that with Tyson’s decision – but the fact remains that people are eating increasing amounts of chicken and Tyson’s in the best position to provide it. It is the irony however in how Tyson was treated a year ago, and how it will be treated now as a major player in a project that will bring literally billions of dollars in economic activity if it happens, that seems to stand out most.

But it may well be Tyson that helps tip the scale if the project ever comes to fruit – showing us what it’s like to go from heel to hero in a very short time.

A portrait for Greitens?

from The Kansas City Star

Eric Greitens did not deserve to remain in Missouri’s top office after credible allegations of sexual coercion and violations of campaign finance laws emerged earlier this year.

But the state’s short-term governor — he resigned in June after only 16 months in office — does deserve to have a portrait in the Missouri Capitol along with other former state leaders.

Portraits of past governors hang in an exhibit on the ground floor of the Capitol. Paintings of the state’s first ladies are displayed in the Governor’s Mansion. There are no immediate plans to add paintings of Greitens or his wife, Sheena, to the collections, officials say. And the disgraced former governor has effectively disappeared, at least for now.

But eventually, paintings of Greitens and the former first lady should be commissioned. A portrait is not an endorsement of Greitens’ scandal-plagued tenure but merely an acknowledgment of reality.

Greitens was governor. That history can’t be erased. Tradition holds that portraits of Missouri’s leaders hang in the Capitol, and Greitens should be treated no differently...

PBMs pocket your prescription drug discounts

The Trump administration has aimed a dagger at the heart of high pharmacy bills: the go-betweens in the supply chain that have been gouging insurers, drugmakers, and consumers.

Through its blueprint to reduce drug spending called American Patients First, the administration invited public comment on the role of pharmacy benefit managers. These are the mega-corporations that health insurers hire to administer their drug benefits.

If just one-third of the total discounts PBMs negotiate for Medicare’s drug benefit were passed on to patients at the pharmacy counter, seniors would have nearly $20 billion more in their pockets over the next decade.

MEDICAL COMMENTARY

er, seniors would have nearly $20 billion more in their pockets over the next decade. The top three PBMs, Express Scripts, CVS Caremark, and OptumRx, who together control 75% of the market, collected more than $10 billion in profits in 2015.

A recently leaked contract reveals the tactics PBMs use to secure savings for themselves.

First, PBMs tend to hog rebates. Drug manufacturers offer PBMs a percentage discount or negotiated “rebate” off a drug’s list price. In exchange, the PBM agrees to cover the drug under its affiliated insurance plans, thus making it available to more consumers.

The majority of rebate dollars should, in theory, flow back to health plans. Then the plans can pass those savings to patients in the form of lower premiums or out-of-pocket expenses.

But the leaked contract with Express Scripts, the nation’s largest PBM, gets crafty with its definition of “rebate. The contract carves out so many exceptions to the rebate that the PBM itself ends up retaining most of the negotiated discounts for itself.

For instance, PBMs receive extra ‘inflation payments’ from drug manufacturers to cover annual increases in a drug’s list price. But these payments are not classified as rebates. Similarly, PBMs charge drug companies “administrative fees,” “service fees,” and more for their services. But these fees also aren’t considered rebates. So PBMs don’t pass them along to health plans.

Second, the document reveals that Express Scripts uses cryptic algorithms to reclassify generic drugs as brand name drugs. Drugmakers usually offer higher discounts for generics than they do for brand drugs. If a PBM gets a big discount on a generic drug, and then reclassifies it as a brand drug, it avoids passing along the full discount to the health plan it’s representing. The PBM essentially buys the drug low, sells it high, and pockets the excess.

PBMs are knowingly profiting off the backs of American patients, pharmacists, and innovators. It’s time for them to change their shady practices and pass on discounts to patients. The sunlight the Trump administration is calling for will be a great disinfectant.

Letter to the editor

Government invents problems to solve, because it can’t solve real problems

Dear Editor,
Wonderful editorial on gas cans. My gas cans are over 20 years old, thus have vent caps. You take off the vent, open the spout and pour. Works fine and lasts a loooooong time. I went back to my daughters’ house in Indiana and battled their new “government reinvented” model. Dane’s article was kind in its description of using one of these monsters, and yes, I spilled gas all over the mower. Of course, fumes from spilled gas are “government approved,” while fumes that come out of the little bitty vent hole, when the cap is left off, are dangerous.

This article reminded me of the recent State Fair debate between the candidates for Governor. Senator Kelly and Greg Orman spent most of their time telling us how government was going to “reinvent the gas can” in all aspects of our lives. They, of course, did not tell us that they were going to tax us more so they could hire more employees to persecute us with their “new gas cans.” The problem with government is that they do not leave our vented gas cans alone. As Ronald Reagan noted, “Government exists to protect us from each other. Where government has gone beyond its limits is in deciding to protect us from ourselves.” Government invents problems to solve, because they have no ability to solve real problems.

In contrast modern government has implemented the view of Plato, “The heaviest penalty for declining to rule is to be ruled by someone inferior to yourself.” Government today is based on the principles of the Theory of Evolution, i.e., there are superior humans that should tell everybody else what to believe and do. To paraphrase Ronald Reagan, “government does not solve problems it spends huge amounts of money to change gas cans.”

Respectfully,
Don Small, Burlington

Economic recovery reaches mainstreet wages, jobs

The economic recovery is really beginning to reach into Trump country.

The president is famous for his extravagant promises, involving, invariably, the biggest and the best. The landscape is littered with examples, although he never promised to create blue-collar jobs at the fastest clip since 1984, something he achieved in the first half of 2018.

A labor market that has been rocky since the financial crisis, and hasn’t truly delivered for many workers for decades, is robust enough to reach all corners of the economy, including Trump areas that have recently been doing better than other parts of the country.

As the Brookings Institution observes, “goods-producing industries have been surging while services industries have seen their seasonally adjusted employment growth slow since 2016.” This is good news for smaller, more rural areas, which are now actually outpacing the growth rate in large urban areas. According to Jed Kolko of Indeed Hiring Lab, “job growth accelerated between 2016 and ‘17 in counties that Trump won by at least 20 points.”

Several things are going on. As the labor market has tightened – in June, there were 6.7 million job openings and 6.6 million unemployed Americans – it has benefited workers down the income scale.

The administration, for its part, has leaned

NATIONAL COMMENTARY

into a pro-growth tax and deregulation program meant to spur more investment and remove burdens on business. The goal has been to defeat fatalist predictions of a “secular stagnation” that supposedly meant that we could never realistically expect anything more than middling economic growth.

At the moment, the warnings are less of stagnation than of an alleged labor shortage that, according to CNBC, is nearing “epidemic proportions.” This is exactly what we need. As Josh Barro of Business Insider points out, a tight labor market puts welcome upward pressure on wages and creates an incentive for workers to get more training and employers to provide it.

This dynamic still needs time to take hold. Wage growth, at least by traditional meaasures, has been surprisingly sluggish given the low unemployment rate (the White House argues that wages are being mismeasured and underestimated). But in August, encouragingly, average hourly wages increased 2.9 percent from a year ago, the biggest increase since June 2009.

As for training, a report from the National Association of Manufacturers says that two-thirds of manufacturers plan to increase worker training in the next year. This is so important because it’s only possible to achieve sustainable wage gains by increasing the productivity of workers. And so far, despite the boom, productivity increases have still been lagging.

The encouraging news for blue-collar workers is welcome. But we should set our sights higher. Regaining what was lost in the aftermath of the financial crisis isn’t enough. The national priority should be, as Oren Cass of the Manhattan Institute argues in his forthcoming book “The Once and Future Worker,” returning to a lost golden age of work, when labor force participation rates and wage growth were both reliably high.

The implicit Trump pledge in the 2016 campaign was of jobs good and stable enough to make a decent living and raise a family. That should never be overpromising in America.

— Rich Lowry is editor of the National Review.

Old brass key found in local park

Isn't this a nifty little bottle? I found it recently at the old home site I've been working at for the last several months.

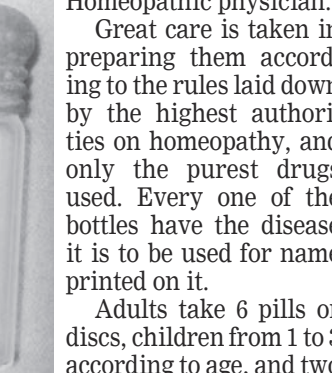

What stands out about this bottle is the fancy brass cap and the fact is the cost of this cap was probably more than the glass used in its manufacture.

What was the contents of this bottle? Well, we really don't know, however in a 1897 Sears Roebuck catalog one just like this one is called, "Homeopathic Medicine Bottle". They normally contained pills or discs.

The 1897 advertisement read as follows: Our Homeopathic Specifics are prepared under the supervision of an old experienced Homeopathic physician. Great care is taken in preparing them according to the rules laid down by the highest authorities on homeopathy, and only the purest drugs used. Every one of the bottles have the disease it is to be used for name printed on it. Adults take 6 pills or discs, children from 1 to 3 according to age, and two to four doses are to be taken every day according to the severity of the case. We make the price as low as we possibly can in order that they may be within reach of everyone of our customers. Only $.18 each bottle, with exception of the three rare ones.

Are you wondering what diseases these pills or discs were used for. Actually there are 38 named. Here are a few: cholera, whooping cough, malaria, dyspepsia, ulcers, dropsy, cancer sores, toothaches, diarrhea, infants teething, ear aches, kidney diseases, diseases of the heart, etc.

Four Winds Chapter announces Junior American Citizen Contest

The Four Winds Chapter of the National Society Daughters of the American Revolution is announcing the Junior American Citizen (JAC) contest for this year. The contest is open to all students in preschool through 12th grade. All students in public, private, or parochial schools, and in sanctioned home study programs may participate. All entries MUST follow the theme and meet the specifications of the category entered. Entries are judged by grade level and within these divisions: gifted, general, and special needs, so that every child may enter the contest regardless of ability. The ability of the student is never disclosed. Students may enter more than one contest. Only one first place entry per student advances on to the next level.

The "Art Contest" includes four categories: poster, banner, stamp, and photographic essay. A winner will be selected in each grade level and category. Students may compete as individuals only in the poster, stamp, and photo essay contests; and in the banner category only groups may enter, groups being three to five students. Art generated on the computer using clip art, cut and paste technique, or scanned images is not allowed. Preschool and kindergarten students may participate only in the banner category. The "Creative Expression Contest" includes two categories: poetry and short story. Students compete as individuals only - group entries are not allowed. Pre-school and kindergarten students may not compete in the Creative Expression Contest.

The "Community Service Project" can be either an individual entry for students in grades 1 - 12. Group service project entries can be done by PK -12th grade. Groups are not limited in size. A group service project could be done by a church youth group, scout troop, 4-H club, a student council group, an entire classroom, or any other group.

The 2017 theme is "50th Anniversary of The Lunar Landing - America's Great Move Forward in Exploration and Technology." This theme was an exciting time in our nation's history. The feat of having a man travel through space, step on the moon, and return safely to earth was huge. This event was a gigantic turning point for the United States in exploration and technology. The theme allows students to show how much has changed from that lunar landing in the two areas of exploration and technology. Just to think that there is talk of vacationing on the moon one day and today you can explore almost any place in the world in an instant. America has definitely changed in the last 50 years! Everyone in the world has been impacted by this event. Be creative and have fun!

The purpose of the Junior American Citizen Committee is to help children learn civics, history, love of country, service and promote good citizenship to every child in the United States in preschool to 12th grade. Calling all budding artists and aspiring writers- now is the time to enter this contest! The contest entries are all due by November 30th, 2018. Local first place winners will advance to the Kansas State Contest and first place winners of the state will move on to the South Central Region (KS, MO, OK, AR, TX, and LA) and first place winners there move on to the National level. Prizes and awards are presented at all levels for all entries.

For more information and the specific guidelines please contact: Connie Becker, Four Winds JAC chair, 785-489-2449 or csbrltiks06@wildblue.net. All entries will be appreciated and will be returned to the owner at the end of the contest! We look forward to honoring our local, state, regional, and national winners!

Doodlebugs and Jitneys

My dad read two newspapers daily when I grew up in the '50s. His newspapers of choice were the Kansas City Star and Denver Post.

Both arrived on the same day and both contained the latest news from that date in history. The doodlebug or jitney brought the two papers from KC 358 miles to the east and Denver, 255 miles to our west. We farmed outside the small Sheridan County community of Seguin.

For you younger readers, people called self-propelled railroad cars doodlebugs or jitneys. Doodlebugs sometimes pulled an unpowered trailer car but were often used singly.

They were popular with some railroads during the first to middle part of the 20th century. Jitneys provided passenger and mail service on lightly used branch lines, often in rural areas with sparse populations.

By operating these two-car trains in northwestern Kansas, the Union Pacific (UP) didn't need to use conventional trains consisting of a locomotive and coaches. Several railroads, mostly small regional and local networks, provided their main passenger services through doodlebugs in a cost-cutting effort. This also freed up the UP to use its locomotives for the transportation of wheat, milo, barley and livestock.

Our home was located a little more than a block north of the tracks and from the time I saw my first train, I was fascinated by the sound, smoke and the sight of these hulking metal monsters. I couldn't wait to see them, hear them, count the cars and eventually ride on one of them.

Doodlebugs were considerably quieter than the steam locomotives that carried millions and millions of bushels of grain from the breadbasket of the world where I grew up to hungry mouths around the globe. These two-car trains typically consisted of a gasoline-powered engine that turned a generator and provided electricity to traction motors, which turned the axles and wheels on the trucks.

The doodlebug that stopped in our little village, population 50 with dogs and cats, usually came mid-morning, about 10:15. Back in those days you could almost set your watch by its arrival.

And that's how my dad received his two daily papers on the same day. A half century later after the rail lines were torn up and steam engines were a distant memory my dad subscribed to the Salina Journal. One of his neighbors, Elmer Reitcheck, subscribed to the Hays Daily News. After they'd read their copies, they'd swap.

The funny thing about this is that Dad and Elmer were now reading yesterday's papers. To be more exact, it often took two days to receive their daily papers. That's right. With all our technology, and lightning quick U.S. postal service, it still required two days to deliver a paper 94 and 188 miles.

Talk about old news. You know the old saying, "That's a heck'uva way to run a railroad." Well, I can't remember how many times I heard my dad say, "bring back the railroads."

I guess, you could blame part

The Community Service Award is given to an outstanding individual nominated by community members for his or her exemplary volunteer service.

Cox has been active in the Anderson County area for the past 3 decades. he has been a DJ for school dances, fundraisers, car shows, Square Fair, elementary school play day, Jump Rope for Heart, Family Health Festival, Anderson County Hospital Health Festival, and various other activities for many years. He also helps with high school cross country meets and school track meets. He volunteers at the Anderson County Hospital at the Hospitality Desk and the Information Desk.

Several quotes from the nominating committee members were, "Without knowing it, Everett Cox has been setting an example for all of the students of Anderson County. Here it is hoping that they all follow his lead." "Everett is deserving of recognition for his volunteer nature and his fun personality. Our community would not be the same without him."

The Four Winds Chapter would like to congratulate Everett Cox for embodying the spirit of this award and thanks him for his tireless service to the Garnett community and the Anderson County area.

Carla Ewert presents the award to Everett Cox.

Children and tractors: safety webinar, Sept. 19

Children born on farms have many opportunities and experiences that other children don't have. But even if a child is "born to farm," he or she shouldn't be on a tractor until they are old enough to operate it safely. There are other, safer ways to cultivate an interest in farming.

Join presenter Marsha Salzwedel, M.S., at noon (CT) on Wednesday, Sept. 19, for an AgriSafe Network webinar examining, "Children and tractors: myths, facts or 'other.'"

"We do get calls about babies on tractors," said Salzwedel, agricultural youth safety specialist with the National Children's Center for Rural and Agricultural Health and Safety, part of Marshfield Clinic Research Institute, Marshfield, Wis. "Parents and grandparents may see this as a way to foster an interest in farming, but truth is, the farm worksite is a dangerous place for infants and toddlers."

The webinar, scheduled in the middle of National Farm Safety and Health Week, will discuss the risks and benefits associated with children on the farm, and will also:

•Explore some of the common "myths" associated with children and tractors

•Discuss safety concerns of babies in tractors

•Explore safe ways to nurture an interest in farming in children

•Discuss how youth can work safely in and around tractors

•Determine what can be done to keep visitors safe around tractors and equipment

•Identify resources that can be used to help safeguard children and youth around tractors

Tractors and equipment are a leading cause of injury and fatality for infants and children, and many of the myths surrounding them contribute to the problem.

"Instructor seats ('buddy seats') are not designed to adequately restrain a child's car seat, nor are the seat belts designed for small children," Salzwedel said. "And it should never be assumed that cabs – even with locked doors – will provide protection. There are known instances of cab doors opening during operation and children being run over. There are also cases of windows and windshields giving way when children lean on them."

Children on tractors can also be a serious distraction for the operator, as "their attention is split between the job they are doing and the infant/child, putting their safety and the safety of the child in jeopardy. Distracted work is dangerous work."

The webinar is free, but attendees must register at www.agrisafe.org.

33 kids are injured daily in farm-related incidents and one child dies every 3 days

Recently, National Children's Center for Rural and Agricultural Health and Safety released a report concerning agricultural safety for children. The data they compiled was shocking. In the United States, a child will die in a farm-related incident every three days. In addition, every day, a farm will injure 33 kids in an agriculturally related accident.

Marsha Salzwedel, a safety specialist with the National Children's Center, therefore, explained which data the National Children's Center used. "When we say seriously injured, we're not talking about a child falling down and scraping their knee or something like that. It's an injury that if it took place in an adult would probably require time off work."

Leading Cause of Child Fatalities

The leading cause of child fatalities on a farm is machinery. Over 25% of the time, this was the case. Motor vehicles, including ATVs, come in second. Teenagers are one of the highest groups of children at risk on a farm. This is because it is legal to use any farming equipment. This includes tractors, which are responsible for the most farming injuries.

When a tractor rolls over, the chance of injury and even death is very high.

New tractors must have roll-over protective structures (ROPS). ROPS provides a protective space to prevent the tractor from crushing a worker. However, the seatbelt must be worn. Without it, a farm worker can easily fall out of the seat. Then, the tractor or ROPS can crush him or her.

Not Your Fault

Remember, you don't have to use farm equipment negligently for it to malfunction. Farm equipment malfunctions occur because companies don't design safe machinery. Manufacturers often fail to warn you of all the ways you can be injured while using these heavy, complex machines.

When farmers are injured by unsafe farm machinery without adequate warnings for secure operation, it is equipment is considered "defective". This term that applies to poor design, improper manufacturing, negligent marketing, or all three.

Consequently, if you are an injured farm worker, if one of your family members has been injured or died working on a farm, or if you have lost wages due to injury, you may be entitled to compensation.

THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW 9-18-18 / DANE HICKS

Anderson County head coach Greg Welch instructs his players during a timeout during Monday night's 39-14 loss to Parsons.

Parsons downs AC Bulldogs 39-14 in makeup game

BY KEVIN GAINES THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW

GARNETT - Due to area flooding, the Anderson County Bulldogs and Parsons Vikings met on Monday night with Parsons controlling the game from the start and winning 39-14.

It was a defensive battle in the first half before the Vikings took control in the third quarter.

The Bulldogs started off the game allowing two unconventional touchdowns, one off a punt return and the other a fumble return to fall behind early 13-0.

The first offensive score came with just under 4 minutes left in the half as Parsons hooked up for a 51 yard scoring strike to take a 19-0 lead into intermission.

The big plays would continue in the second half for the Vikings as the Bulldogs just didn't have an answer.

On the night, the Vikings would score four offensive touchdowns on passes totalling 167 yards.

Outside the 4 touchdowns, the Bulldogs limited the Vikings to 176 yards on 49 plays, just 3.6 yards per play.

The Vikings connected on a 66 yard pass with under 2 minutes left in the third and another 30 yard pass for a touchdown with 24 seconds left in the third to open up a commanding 33-0 advantage.

Anderson County would finally get on the scoreboard as Gavin Wolken would connect up with Bo Dilliner for a 21 yard touchdown with 7:20 remaining to cut the deficit to 33-7.

After the Vikings answered, the Bulldog's Logan Allen tacked on the final touchdown of the night with a 15 yard scamper to account for the final score of 39-14.

The Bulldogs lost their first road contest of the season with a 41-7 loss to Santa Fe Trail on Friday night. Anderson County scored first before Santa Fe Trail reeled off the final 41 points of the game for the victory.

Next up for Anderson County (0-3) is their Homecoming game this week against Iola (0-3). Parsons beat Iola 49-14 to open the season.

Bulldogs boys and girls both runner-up at Parsons

BY KEVIN GAINES THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW

PARSONS - Last Thursday, both the boys and girls cross country teams finished 2nd at the Parsons Invitational at Big Hill Lake.

The underclassmen led the way for the Lady Bulldogs. Sophomore Rayna Jasper (6th, 23:26) was the top female finisher for ACHS.

The trio of Emily Moyer, Katie Schmit and Lanie Walter all finished in the top 25.

Moyer (14th, 24:52) is a freshman. Schmit (17th, 25:28) and Walter (22nd, 26:23) are both sophomores.

Junior Lily Spring (25:53) finished just outside the top 10, in 11th place.

Maya Corley (26th, 26:43) and Paige Rupp (48th, 34:49) round out the Bulldog varsity runners.

Iola (44 points) edged out the Bulldogs (54 points) and Independence (57 points) to win the team title.

Contrary to the girl's team, the boys were led by upperclassmen.

Morgan Hall-Kropf (19:05), led all Bulldog runners with a 3rd place finish.

Seniors Ryland Porter (19:27) and Damone Kueser (21:13) finished in 7th and 21st respectively.

Sophomores Riley Hedges (6th, 20:26), Jeremiah Riehl (29th, 21:45), Leo Sheahan (33rd, 22:09) and Orvel Broce (42nd, 22:42) round out the Bulldog runners on the afternoon.

Iola won the team title with just 27 points. ACHS was second with 70 points, followed by Erie with 118 points on the day.

Central Heights Vikings snap 18 game losing streak in football

BY KEVIN GAINES THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW

RICHMOND - Central Heights Vikings rallied from a 14-12 halftime deficit against Wabaunsee to earn their first win, 34-22, after losing 18 straight games. Their last win was September 12, 2016, a span of 2 years and 2 days.

After trailing by 2 at halftime, the Vikings added a touchdown and 2-point conversion in the third to take a 20-14 advantage.

The Vikings tacked on a touchdown with 7 minutes remaining to take a 26-14 lead. Wabaunsee was driving with 3 minutes to go when Mason Roberts intercepted a pass to seemingly seal the win, but a fumble return touchdown by Wabaunsee made things interesting over the past couple of minutes as they cut the lead to 26-22.

The Vikings would recover the ensuing onside kick and Roberts would again make a key play, rushing 55 yards in the final minute of the game to seal the victory.

Roberts would finish the day with 136 yards on 19 carries and 2 touchdowns to lead the way for the Vikings. Roberts also led all receivers with 6 catches (40 yards).

Quarterback Dakota Beers would connect on 11 of 24 passes, 141 yards, for 3 touchdowns and 1 interception.

Matt Cubit hauled in 4 passes for 79 yards and 2 scores on the evening.

Roberts and Brady Burson led the team with 7 tackles each, 4 of them being solo stops.

Next up for the Vikings (1-2) is a trip to Oskaloosa (0-3) on Friday night. Oskaloosa has been outscored 138-6 over the first three games of the season.

Viking boys cross country win Wellsville Invitational

BY KEVIN GAINES THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW

WELLSVILLE - It was another hot, humid September afternoon last Thursday at the Wellsville Invitational but it wasn't just the weather heating up as the Central Heights runners are off to a hot start this season as well.

"It was the most successful day at the Wellsville meet in many years," head coach Troy Prosser stated matter of factly.

Juniors Tyler Stevenson (3rd place, 17:54) and Alex Cannady (4th, 18:11) paced the Vikings enroute to a team total of just 43 points and winning the invitational, defeating much larger schools such as Spring Hill, Burlington and Chanute.

All six varsity runners finished in the top 20 out of 77 runners on the afternoon.

Caleb Meyer (7th place, 18:45), Mason McCurry (13th, 19:19), Bryce Sommer (16th, 19:27) and Luke Cotter (20th, 19:36) were the 4 other runners that contributed to the victory.

In junior varsity action, David Craft won the gold medal with a time of 19:55 while running a very intelligent race in the mind of Coach Prosser.

On the girls side freshmen Lily Meyer (3rd, 21:31) and Taryn Compton (23rd, 23:30), as well as junior Madison Bridges (17th, 22:51).

Prosser stated, "It was a very competitive field that included a handful of 3A State medalists from last season."

In a combined 7th grade race comprised of 84 girls and 121 boys, 7th grader Emma Cubit ran her personal best of 13:49 to finish 2nd, while 6th graders Melaney Chrisjohn and Kaylee Holstine were both in the top 10 with 7th and 9th place finishes respectively.

The top boys in this race for the Vikings were 6th grader Connor Burkdoll and Owen Miller finishing 7th and 11th.

"We are making progress and setting personal bests all over the teams, but we will have another tough challenge ahead of us next week at Prairie View," said Prosser.

Crest Lady Lancers fight hard but drop 2 out of 3 at NE-Arma

BY KEVIN GAINES THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW

ARMA - The Crest Lady Lancers came up short in 2 out of the 3 games last Tuesday at Northeast Arma High School, downing Altoona in the final game of the day to salvage at least a win on the afternoon.

First up was host NE-Arma. Both games were hotly contested but Crest fell short in both of them 23-25.

Regan Godderz led the way connecting on all 9 serves (1 ace), had 14 assists, 7 digs and recorded the highest received average (3.0).

Jewel Armstrong also connected on all of her serves (8) to go along with 1 ace and 3 digs in the match.

Cassie Bowen record 7 digs and 6 kills and Aubree Holloran added 5 digs and 5 kills.

Camryn Strickler was perfect on her serves (8), 1 ace, 1 block and 3 digs.

Lindsey Godderz had 3 digs and 1 kill to go along with a 3.0 serve receive average. In game 2 against Chetopa, the Lady Lancers started out hot winning the first set 25-15 before dropping the final two sets, 14-25 and 19-25.

R. Godderz connected on 14 of 15 serves to go along with 15 assists and 7 digs.

Bowen did well defensively with 6 digs and 4 blocks in the set to go along with 9 kills at the net.

Strickler led the way serving in the match recording 4 aces on a perfect 13 serves. She was also solid defensively with 14 digs and 2 blocks and was second on the team with 8 kills.

The last game of the evening saw Crest get the upper hand against Altoona (26-24, 25-16).

R. Godderz recorded 13 assists and 1 kill in the match and had the highest serve receive average (3.0).

Bowen was second on the team with 7 kills and 2 digs.

Strickler had a team high 4 aces on just 9 serves and added 8 kills.

Correction:

Due to a reporter's error, last week's article on the Central Heights Vikings cross country runners results were incorrectly listed in their opening meet at Lyndon.

Tyler Stevenson (19:46) finished 2nd (not 6th) and Mason McCurry (20:42) finished 6th and Caleb Meyer (20:55) finished 7th.

Our apologies for the error.

Sell stuff to your Uncle Sam

When I was a kid at the U.S. Marine Corps Officer Candidate School in Quantico, Va., back in the early 1980s, we got a “buzz” haircut every week, whether we needed it or not.

Of course, we didn’t need it. Nobody’s hair grows that fast after the first “buzz,” not even when you’re 19. The reason we got our hair cut every week was... wait for it... because that’s what the Navy Department guaranteed to the barbers who won the bid to cut our hair. They were private contractors, of course, and they were guaranteed “x” number of heads of hair to cut per week at $2.50 per head, even if there was barely any hair on the heads they were cutting.

The moral to the story is this: No matter what it is your business does, you should register yourself as a contractor with the federal government – you may end up getting paid for a job that doesn’t even need to be done!

First, you have to register with the System of Awards Management (SAM) – it’s the vendor database for all federal departments which they use to source up providers for various products and services. When completing the profile section you’ll have to answer questions about your company, its size, socio-economic status, location, etc.

That information is all keyed to certain codes which different agencies use when retrieving your information. For instance, there’s your NAICS code which identifies your industry along with the SIC (standard industry code), and a DUNS for your location.

HOW TO SELL STUFF

You’ll also need your businesses’ federal tax ID number.

The questions are pretty extensive, but the more information you complete the better chance federal agencies have of finding you when they submit queries into the system on their end.

Once you’re registered you can start reviewing bid announcements and submitting bids on federal contracts. There are online bid notification services (check with your industry association for one they recommend) or look through options like fedbizopps.gov or bidsync.com. Some will have certain limits like contract minimums, location restrictions, etc., so look for one that works for your specific company. Also, review the SBA’s government contracting information and watch for local colleges and universities that may offer seminars on government contracting.

Remember, the U.S. Government is the biggest customer in the world. Don’t miss your chance to sell stuff to your Uncle Sam!

Christian Church

Sept. 9 church service Howard Reiter gave the Communion Meditation on focusing more on what God sees as important. The more we are attracted to Christ, the less we will be distracted by the world. Pastor Chase Riebel began our first week of the "Believe" series which focuses on understanding God and the Trinity. He discussed the power of God, which encompasses God's works (He created everything and holds everything together), nature (He does not change and knows all) and character (He is holy, merciful and just).

Men's Bible study Tuesday morning, 7 a.m. Wednesday 5:30 p.m. will be a meal and prayer time at the parsonage, youth "Believe" study 7 p.m. (kids are welcome to come hang out at 4:30). "Believe" small groups start this week with four groups to choose from. If you have not yet gotten your books, they're available for purchase at the church. Groups will be held on Sunday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday nights. Thursday will be the middle school hang out at the Community Church prior to the ballgames from 3:30-5 p.m.

COLONY NEWS

Cowboy

Praise and worship in music and songs to the Lord was led by Cindy Beckmon, Terri Louk, Randy Maple, Billy Beckmon, Lance Ramsey and Patty Spain Sept. 9 at High Point Cowboy Church.

Emphasizing 'God's Promises Are For Us', apostle Jon Petty urged all to study God's word to find your promise, meditate on it to get it in your heart, because what is in the heart comes out of the mouth. It is written in 2 Peter 1:2-4 He has given great and precious promises.

A time of fellowship followed the morning message and the study group gathered to review the book "God is Good".

Crest Education Foundation

The Crest Education Foundation met Sept. 6 at the City Hall Colony Community Room. Officers Candace Powell, Chrissy Powell, Laura Schmidt and Denise King were present. Casey Cook was absent. Joining them was guest Christy McGhee.

New items of discussion were the Kincaid Fair and Trivia Night. CEF is planning a float for the Sept. 29 Kincaid Fair Parade. This will follow along with the theme of Pioneer Ways to Modern Days. The following weekend, on Saturday, Oct. 6, CEF will host a Trivia Night fundraiser at the Kincaid School Gymnasium. Doors will open at 6 p.m. with trivia starting at 6:30. They are currently seeking teams of six people, $20 per person or $120 per team. All players 21 and over please. Spots are limited, so call Chrissy at 620-363-0080 to reserve your table soon! All teams should be registered by Monday, Oct. 1.

Old items of discussion were following up on CEF involvement at Open House and Colony Day, as well as the

CEF Read 2 Lead Campaign. CEF was very happy with the turnout at Open House and they have received all positive feedback. The CEF Lancer Tailgate Basket was won by Trilla Miller. Thank you cards were received from Mrs. Wicoff and her students. CEF printed and sent home pictures to all students and staff that participated in the photo booth. They look forward to participating in this event again next year. Colony Day was a fun day for the Education Foundation. Their Lancer Lemonade Stand, worked by Crest students, was a big hit, with the stand selling all of the lemonade during parade time. They also raffled off a Lemonade Basket, being won by Kendall McGhee. The CEF float, titled "Don't Stop Believin' In Our Future," won first place in the mini float division. They discussed the continuation of the Read 2 Lead Campaign, with hopes of donating more books to the Crest Library. CEF received a donation of 42 new hardback books from School wide, Inc. that were presented to the school and on display during Open House. Librarian Brenna Hammond sent a thank you card and is working to get those books into circulation soon. CEF hopes to receive a book list from Mrs. Hammond and will work towards purchasing more books for the school library.

The Crest Education Foundation wants to thank the community once again for the wonderful outpouring of support shown to our foundation. The next meeting will be Thursday, Oct. 4, at 6 p.m. in the City Hall Community Room. Any and all Crest patrons are welcomed to attend and join the foundation.

City Council

At the July 25 City Council meeting reports consisted from Supt. Tim Dietrich saying cold patch on Beech St. to be applied the following day and needed to rent a tamper to get it packed down better; picnic tables are in and pictures need to be taken to finish the grant.

Steven Leonard presented a petition to the council asking for Children at Play signs and to reduce the speed limit in residential areas to 20 mph to protect the children. Council informed him they did not have the funds to put up Children at Play signs all over town or to hire a full time police department to enforce reduced speeds. There are also speed limit signs around town now that people are ignoring.

Ordinances 440 and 441 authorizing the use of the 2018 Standard Traffic Ordinance and 2018 Uniform Public Offense Code for Kansas Cities were approved.

Around Town

Dustin and Rochelle Smart have a baby girl born September 8 at the Chanute Hospital. She was named Lily Elizabeth and joins a sister, Jayden. Darren and Cindy McGhee, Westphalia are grandparents, Thelma Culler of Colony is a great grandmother.

Colony weather left hot and dry weather to a cool 40 and a flood by Saturday morning Sept. 8. Kansas weather, right?

Charlene Tinsley, 88, passed away at her home August 31. She and her late husband lived here all their married life. She was born here but moved with her parents to Boulder, Colorado where she graduated from high school and attended Boulder University for awhile. Funeral services were held Sept. 5 at the Colony High Point Cowboy Church. Burial followed in the Colony Cemetery. Charlene will be missed.

Trace Adkins, Josh Abbott Band & Restless Heart take the stage Sept. 22nd at Cornstock

GARNETT - Trace Adkins' trademark baritone has powered countless hits to the top of the charts. The three-time GRAMMY-nominated member of the Grand Ole Opry is a TV personality, actor, author, and spokesman for the Wounded Warrior Project and the American Red Cross, for whom he raised more than $1.5 million dollars as winner of NBC's All-Star Celebrity Apprentice.

Trace Adkins

In recent years, Adkins has performed for our service men and women across 11 USO Tours. In his 2007 autobiography, A Personal Stand: Observations and Opinions from a Freethinking Roughneck, he recounted his rise to fame, brushes with death and battles with personal demons. Adkins has played a tough-as-nails biker in The Lincoln Lawyer (starring Matthew McConaughey), a desperate father in Deepwater Horizon (starring Mark Wahlberg) and a wise oracle of a tattoo artist in the family-friendly film Moms' Night Out (starring Patricia Heaton, Sean Astin, Sarah Drew). Adkins starred in his latest movie, I Can Only Imagine, which came out in March.

Trace Adkins song list includes: Honky Tonk Badonkadonk - You're Gonna Miss This - Ladies Love Country Boys - Just Fishin' - Still A Soldier - Arlington - Songs About Me - Every Light In The House - Chrome - I Got My Game On - Muddy Water - Hot Mama - Hillbilly Bone and more.

For more information, visit www.traceadkins.com or on Twitter, Facebook and Instagram@TraceAdkins.

Josh Abbott Band

Josh Abbott Band is a Texas country (red dirt) band from Lubbock, composed of Josh Abbott (vocals, guitar),

Josh Abbott band.

Austin Davis (banjo), Preston Wait (fiddle, guitar), Edward Villanueva (drums), James Hertless (bass guitar), Caleb Keeter (guitar), and David Fralin (keys/mandolin).

In August 2017 the band released its 5th album. Here is what Josh Abbott has to say about it:

"Until My Voice Gives Out" is a song about embracing life lessons learned and using them to make a better future. Josh Abbott intends to do that in a way that supports his daughter, who arrived as JAB completed the album. And the band is making a statement through that song - and through the entire risk-taking album - about its continued growth and evolution as it moves forward, a decade after that first single gave Texas a taste of JAB's brand of country. Through its time on the road and its growth from college-aged hellraisers into successful, self-employed musicians, Josh Abbott Band has been tested thoroughly and discovered that life's joy comes not from playing it safe, but from taking chances and from tackling hurdles head-on.

"I feel like we're way better than we were 10 years ago, and that's natural," Abbott says. "There's a good vibe among all of us, and a lot of familiarity, so there's a lot of trust, which is a very simple word but very complex sometimes. There's no ego. There's just a group of guys working together, letting each other kind of do their own thing and loving life again."

Restless Heart

John Dittrich, Greg Jennings, Paul Gregg, Dave

Restless Heart

Innis, and Larry Stewart - the men who make up Restless Heart have enjoyed one of the most successful careers in Country Music history, placing over 25 singles on the charts - with six consecutive #1 hits, four of their albums have been certified Gold by the RIAA, and they have won a wide range of awards from many organizations - including the Academy of Country Music's Top Vocal Group trophy.

Restless Heart Number One singles include: "That Rock Won't Roll", "I'll Still Be Loving You", "Why Does It Have to Be (Wrong or Right)",

"Wheels", "The Bluest Eyes in Texas", and "A Tender Lie." Besides these songs, the band has nine other Top Ten singles on that chart. Two of the band's singles - "I'll Still Be Loving You" and "When She Cries" - both reached Top 40 on the Billboard Hot 100.

Restless Heart will take the stage at 5:30 p.m. Josh Abbott Band will follow at 7:00 p.m., followed by Trace Adkins at 9:00 p.m.

An "Info Booth" is on the festival grounds (with our official festival merchandise) courtesy of the Garnett Area Chamber of Commerce. For assistance, directions, etc., please visit the Info Booth. Special "Welcome" programs will be given at the entrance to the festival. Maps, schedule of events and feature articles are included in the welcome programs.

Free Shuttle Bus Service

FREE shuttle bus service is available for visitors throughout the day and evening. These shuttle services will take you to all events, activities, food and vendor booths, Concert on the Hill and parking areas. So if you don't want to walk, ride the bus!

Parking

Parking is available throughout the park in designated areas. Be sure to locate the parking lot signs to remember where you parked. Buses will stop at "Bus Stop" signs designated throughout the park.

Camping

Camping in designated areas within the North Lake Park. Reservations required through the City of Garnett, 785.448.5496. Electric hook-up and primitive camping spots are available on a first come basis. These sell out fast so make your reservations immediately. All campers must purchase concert wristbands. Otherwise, any congregating in parking and camping areas during the concert is strictly prohibited. All persons camping must comply with all city regulations. Questions can be answered by camp hosts or visit www.simplygarnett.com.

Handicapped

Handicap parking is located west of Legion Field in the fairgrounds (look for signs). A bus equipped for handi-capped persons will be stopping at this designated stop and parking areas throughout the park. Handicapped port-a-potties are available at the Cornstock Concert on the Hill.

Personal Safety

If you lose someone: In the event you, your child, or friends/family become separated at the festival, please talk beforehand and pick a designated place to meet - like the Information Booth!

First Aid

First aid will be available for people that might need assistance.

Police & Security

Police and Security will be accessible throughout the park and concert areas.

Personal ATV's and golf cars are prohibited by the public throughout the park and concert area.

Swimming is prohibited in Lake Garnett at any time. Boating is prohibited September 22, 2018 for this event.

Cornstock Concert on the Hill is a rain or shine event.

Admission

Entry requires a ticket or wristband. No exceptions. All wristbands will be checked. Wristbands are $40 at the gate. All sales are final. No refunds, exchanges or returns.

Proud Sponsor of Cornstock. Come and have a great time at the concert!

Westphalia's third and fourth grade classes are off to a great start!

"Among the many exciting things that take place in our day, I always take time for daily read aloud," third and fourth grade teacher Ms. Hazlett said.

This school year Westphalia 3rd graders started off with the book "How to be Cool in the Third Grade" written by Betsy Duffey.

"After completion of the book, the students were asked to share what "Being Cool" meant to them," Hazlett added. "Here are some of their ideas, I hope you enjoy!"

"I believe that being cool just means being yourself. You don't have to wear like cool gear or cool clothes. Even if someone says you are not cool, don't believe them, believe in yourself. Being you is being cool!" - Trowtt

"I believe being cool means, if you think that you are cool then that's enough. You don't have to have the money, clothes, or even the coolest friends. Just think you are cool!" -Bree

 "I think that being cool means being nice to people and your family. Girls are cool!" -Cheyanne

"I believe that being cool means you have a cool family and that being cool is being a nice person." - Carly

"I believe that being cool means being yourself. You don't need to have cool clothes. You don't need to have another name just because you want to be cool." - Kathy

PSRT met in September

Twenty-one members and one guest, Julie Turnipseed, new Anderson County Economic Development Director met Sept. 12, 2018 at the depot for the Prairie Spirit Rail Trail monthly meeting.

Bill Ratliff announced the Ultra Marathon will be Oct. 27th & 28th on the Prairie Spirit Rail Trail. This year they have added bike riders.

Members will meet to put up scarecrows Wednesday evening, Sept. 19th at 6:30 pm on the trail. Members also discussed the upcoming Halloween Haunted House on October 31st.

The next regular meeting will be October 10, 2018 at the depot at 7:00 PM.

Crest announces FFA Member of the Month

Ridley Black was named September FFA Member of the Month for Crest High School.

Black finished 9th place in Food Science Team and is currently the Vice-President.

"I joined FFA because Makayla and Breyanna didn't give me the option not too," Black stated.

One of the memories that Black states that she will never forget is a trip to the mini-golf course.

"Having Breyanna hit me in the head with a golf club while mini golfing is a memory I will never forget while being in FFA," Black added.

Ms. Boehm, Agriculture Education Instructor for Crest High School, stated "Ridley has gone above and beyond as VP getting sponsors for our FFA t-shirts. She has been a great role model for our incoming members."

AAA: New cars lose $3,000 annually from this single expense

TOPEKA, Kan. – Sep. 13, 2018 – AAA's 2018 Your Driving Costs study reveals the largest expense associated with purchasing a new car is something many drivers fail to consider – depreciation. In fact, it accounts for almost 40 percent of the cost of owning a new vehicle – more than $3,000 per year – and is influenced by a number of factors, including shifting consumer preferences. AAA urges car buyers to think about both market trends and length of ownership when shopping for their next vehicle purchase.

"New vehicles offer the latest designs, cutting-edge technologies and warranties that offer peace of mind," said John Nielsen, AAA's managing director of Automotive Engineering and Repair. "But, car owners that like to change vehicles frequently should be thinking about the resale value – not just the purchase price – when choosing their next ride."

AAA's annual analysis found demand for sedans has slipped as American appetite shifts to SUVs and pickup trucks. As a result, depreciation costs of these once-popular vehicles increased up to 13 percent as compared to last year. Electric and hybrid vehicles, however, have seen a gain in popularity with 20 percent of Americans saying they will likely go electric for their next vehicle purchase, up from 15 percent the previous year. This year, these vehicles also saw a dip in depreciation and offer many cost benefits such as lower repair and maintenance bills, making going green a more affordable choice than in years past.

Buyers often only give priority to purchase price and monthly payment when choosing a new car, sometimes selecting a vehicle based on the best deal available. The length of car ownership, however, is of equal importance. Consumers who plan to keep a vehicle for only a few years should be cautious of deep discounts and incentives offered by automakers and dealers. These are often designed to sell less popular models and directly influence depreciation. Low down payments and extended finance terms can also have a similar effect.

Stretching a car loan over five, six or even seven years may be an effective way to lower payments, but owners may quickly find themselves owing more than the vehicle is worth.

Leasing is similarly affected since payments are based in part on the projected residual value of the car at the end of the lease, serving as a good indicator of which models experience higher or lower depreciation. Since resale value is not a factor at the end of the lease period, buyers who prefer less popular models or only want a vehicle for a short time, may consider leasing a more viable option.

"The secret to minimizing depreciation costs?" continued Nielsen. "Keep your car for a long time and keep it well-maintained or even consider buying a quality, pre-owned vehicle."

AAA's Your Driving Costs found the average cost to own and operate a new vehicle in 2018 is $8,849 per year. The figure is calculated based on the cost of fuel, maintenance, repairs, insurance, license/registration/taxes, depreciation and loan interest. The study examined 45 top-selling 2018 model-year vehicles across the following nine categories.
