Early summer sales soggy

Rains soak spending as sales tax streams see 30-60 percent decline

BY DANE HICKS THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW

TOPEKA – Ninety days of extensive rainfall may be dampening commerce in the local area and impacting the sales tax distributed back to local counties and towns.

Sales tax collections that were distributed back to Anderson County in September dipped 20 percent over the same month a year ago, but are still running some nine percent ahead year-to-date figures from last year.

The most recent figures reflect actual taxable sales from July, which are collected by the state department of revenue in August and distributed in September.

Sales tax in small towns is heavily affected by a handful of big-ticket retailers like car dealers and furniture stores. Heavy rainfall tends to squelch some types of retail activity, and a slowdown in summer agriculture work also has an impact on those related retail sales. Anderson County totaled more than seven inches of rainfall in July, nearly twice the normal amount.

The decline in Anderson County's September revenue distributions was similar throughout the area, with numerous counties and small cities seeing declines. Those local taxes are added to the state's own sales tax of 6.5 percent to get the total local sales tax depending on jurisdiction.

Anderson County received $119,164 from its 1.5 percent tax in September 2017 but just $94,935 last month. Allen County (1.25%) dropped 5.4 percent from $174,027 last year, Miami County (1.5%) was down 2.4 percent from $451,424 a year ago and Franklin County (1.5%) showed a 1.9 percent increase to $406,452 last month. Linn and Coffey counties do not have a county sales tax.

Heavy rains in recent weeks inundated low-lying soybean fields and caused erosion damage in higher elevations, leaving local farmers to wait until the ground is dry enough to assess the level of damage to their crops.

Soybean soaker

Crops will feel sting of recent high water; some beans will be total loss

BY DANE HICKS THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW

GARNETT – Farmers and ag analysts said Friday it was most likely too early to determine the extent of damage to millions of dollars worth of Anderson County soybeans, the casualty of 90 days of above average rainfall and torrents that finally covered much of the crop knee-deep in water a little over a week ago.

Local creeks left their banks twice in recent weeks and covered lower-lying crop fields. But the damage may be at higher elevations as well.

"They (the rains) were also damaging to the upland areas in terms of erosion," said Anderson County KSU Extension Agent Ryan Schaub. He said the onslaught of flooding poses a combination of threats to soybeans that were near ready to harvest.

"The moving current and standing water were both very damaging," Schaub said. "If the beans were close to the main current they probably were laid down – that may mean while harvesting, producers will only be able to combine in one direction and still will have beans they can't pick up."

Schaub said soybeans covered in water can soak up more moisture in the seed pods, which leads to swelling and sprouting as well as mold issues.

"We will have some areas of fields with a complete loss," Schaub said.

Garnett's Gail Kueser, Region 3 Director of the Kansas Soybean Association, said soybeans covered in dirt weren't only hard to harvest but getting to them increased the potential for damaging fields with vehicle ruts.

"If they're too dirty, they're not any good anyway," Kueser said.

Anderson County farmers harvest some 75,000 acres of soybeans annually. USDA yield estimates from 2014 pegged Anderson County soybean production at some 2.2 million bushel. On Friday, soybeans were selling at around $8.68 per bushel.

A University of Wisconsin Extension article on agweb.com said soybeans can survive longer when completely submerged if the weather remains cool and cloudy – as it was locally after flooding last week – although survivability is better at earlier growth stages. Soybeans are typically harvested in early October locally, although abnormally large amounts of rain since July may have slowed down the growth of the local crop somewhat.

Schaub said weather would continue to be a factor in the days and weeks until harvest.

Voters will send advice to city commission as to adding two new elected city posts

BY DANE HICKS THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW

GARNETT – Voters in the city will cast an advisory vote Nov. 6 on the question of increasing the Garnett City Commission from three members to five.

While the vote isn't legally binding, city commissioners agreed to the language and placed the question on the ballot with the presumption that they'll give heavy weight to the voters' decision.

Commissioner Brigitte Brecheisen-Huss initiated the discussion on the issue in May, after her review of city meeting minutes showed the issue was tabled in 1986 and never revisited. She said she believed a five-member commission would give more representation to city residents in city government, and wrote a 16-stanza poem in the city's fall newsletter last week supporting the change.

Civic analysts debate the optimum size of local governments, on one side saying too small a governing body restricts representation particularly for minorities and "marginalized" citizens, while larger bodies are criticized for spending more public dollars and encouraging "pork barrel" spending allotments to please various constituencies. Though the option of adding members to the Garnett commission has been discussed at various times, the number has been fixed at three since before the city moved from a mayor/council organization to a city manager/commission system more than four decades ago.

The topic lost steam after it was last brought up in 1986 after public sentiment seemed cool to the idea. At the time a number of former city commissioners spoke out publicly against the idea, including Dale Lybarger and Claron Cole, who noted difficulty in finding people willing to run for the three existing positions as well as the increased costs to pay additional members.

In 1986, commissioners earned $75 per month and the mayor $100. Presently commissioners earn $450 and the mayor $500, amounting to an increased outlay of some $10,000 annually if enacted. Huss

Rains force race revival postponement

BY DANE HICKS THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW

GARNETT – The first six months of 2018 had many people in the local area wondering if it was ever going to rain again. Now, many are wondering if it's ever going to stop.

Heavy weekend rains Oct. 6-8 that swelled local creeks and ponds to overflowing cancelled local school classes on Monday, as well as the planned Lake Garnett Grand Prix Revival set for Oct. 13. The event has been re-scheduled to the weekend of Nov. 9.

The official rain total for the weekend ending Monday at 8 a.m., according to collection data from the Garnett Municipal Airport, showed 6.86 inches over the three day period. Tuesday totaled another 1.47 inches, with 1.52 falling Wednesday.

GACC makes it an 'ugly sweater' Christmas parade

"Even better in an ugly Christmas sweater" is the winning parade theme submitted in the organization's recent Name The Parade contest. Vivian Riblett submitted the winning entry and will be hanging out with Santa Claus in the parade during the Nov. 24 event.

Chamber director Kris Hix said last week the organization is now taking float and other parade entry registrations and encouraged all local businesses, civic groups, churches and even family entries to take part in the 2018 parade. The 48th annual event begins at 6:30 p.m. the Saturday after Thanksgiving in downtown Garnett with the city lighting ceremony.

There is no registration fee, and entries can be in either judged or non-judged categories. All entries should be lighted for the nighttime event. Entry deadline is Nov. 16. Entry forms are available at city hall or call (785) 448-6767.

Our country's desire for religious freedom

WEEKLY DEVOTIONAL

BY DAVID BILDERBACK

In the second chapter of Acts we read about the birth of the church and also about Peter's address where he preached to the multitudes and about 3,000 were baptized. For years we have heard how the church is dying and I even heard someone say the church in America is dead.

How easily it is forgotten that this country was founded because of a desire for religious freedom. Our forefathers even went so far as to separate church and state with the First Amendment stating that "Congress shall make no law respecting the establishment of religion nor prohibiting the exercise thereof." The reason they did this was to prevent a nationalizing of religion or one government controlled religion. The problem today is in the interpretation. Issues are debated, interpretations made and laws passed based on the legalistic foundations of personal preference, convenience and tradition. This is completely opposed to the First Amendment. This has gotten us so far away from the original intent that everyone has forgotten where the emphasis is in the law. The emphasis is on the action words shall make no law nor prohibit.

The Pharisees did this with the Ten Commandments developing over 600 variations of the law. You might ask why would they do that? They did for the same reason it is done today, personal preference, convenience or tradition.

So what did Jesus have to say about his church? In Matthew 28:18-20 Jesus says, "All authority in heaven and on earth has been given to me. Therefore go and make disciples of all nations, baptizing them in the name of the Father, and of the Son and of the Holy Spirit and teaching them to obey everything I have commanded you. And surely

I am with you always to the very end of the age." Jesus makes it clear what the mission statement of the church should be. For sure the church has not always been successful with this. Most Sundays I sit in church and wonder why do people feel no need to respond to God? What will they feel when they lose a loved one or fall sick themselves?

The church is not dead, her doors are open and she waits.

The church has been persecuted, burned and defamed but perhaps what hurts most is the apathy she faces today. How long will God tarry? I don't know. His message is clear. This is your and my call to Church.

Watkins for Congress

There's just too much crazy in the Democrat Party right now to consider anything but a Republican in the race for Kansas' 2nd Congressional District.

That might sound like a less-than-wholehearted endorsement of Steve Watkins, but Watkins' strength as a candidate is a complete and separate issue to the sheer chaos we see being indulged and advocated on the part of Democrats who've allowed the radical left to take over their party.

As a result, Democrats from 10 years ago don't recognize the party as its being led today, both in Kansas and nationally, and for good reason. Indeed, until some calm is re-established in the party's leadership by those who either have clout or the ability to unseat its lunatic leadership, Democrat candidates can't be seriously considered for election — unless you're a socialist.

For starters, Democrats nationwide and in Kansas have to decide if their party intends to fully and uniformly embrace and pursue socialism as a central plank in their party's platform. Not only did a significant percentage of Democrat Party members nationwide choose the avowed socialist Senator Bernie Sanders to lead them in the presidential race of 2016, but 68 percent of Kansas Democrats themselves picked Sanders in the March 2016 caucus.

The idea that Sanders, the "free stuff" candidate bent on a "free" college tuition plan along with "free" health care and "free" housing, etc., could command the majority of Kansas Democrat votes in a presidential caucus, is astounding. If Kansas Democrats would elect a political extremist as president, that alone signals Republicans, Libertarians and Independents in the state that the competence of the Democrat Party, as it now stands, is compromised.

It's a legitimate worry — that a Democrat holding this congressional seat would behave in tandem with Maxine Waters' and her calls for public harassment of Republicans; with

Watkins

REVIEW COMMENTARY

DANE HICKS, Publisher

Diane Fienstien and her shady withholding of testimony in the Kavanaugh hearing; with Portland, Ore., Mayor Ted Wheeler, who lets Antifa thugs run roughshod over the residents of his own city. The Second District deserves a congressman more fitted to our Kansas sensibilities.

Watkins isn't a lawyer or a lobbyist — he's a legitimate political newcomer who's stood up to the scrutiny of his own party and been embraced by its members who stand steadfastly against the creeping plague of socialism. He's a soldier — a West Point graduate who's been shot at for his country in the deserts of Afghanistan. His background in private business led to his understanding of the choking nature of needless federal regulation and its effect on jobs and the economy. Watkins will be a congressional vote to keep America on the right track.

One of Watkins' most admirable points is that he has all the right enemies — liberals previously masquerading as Republicans and years ago exiled from party ranks, like John Vratil of Leawood, Wint Winter of Lawrence, Sandy Praeger of Topeka, and others who've come out to join Kansas Democrats embracing socialism. When spend-a-holic "moderates" or liberals of any suit line up against a Kansas Republican, that's a convincing enough endorsement.

Steve Watkins will help hold crazy at bay until level-headed Democrats take their party back and offer the country a sane debate on issues.

That Brecheisen commissioner that wrote the poem in the city news letter. Man, where did they find her at? The need to put her back in school, because this is not school. Thank you.

When we first moved here several years ago I think the city was running smoothly and I really liked the mayor you had for a while and that was Mike Norman. I wish that's who was running today I would vote for him.

So who's the idiot at city hall, commissioners or whatever, that had all that gravel laid on the roads here? Stupidest looking thing. No wonder people don't want to move to this town. They put chip and seal on paved roads? Someone needs to have their head examined. Thank you.

This is for that racist moron talking about John Brown. Hey dude, John Brown is a great guy. A lot better than you. You're just jealous and I bet you're a Republican on your knees praying to that orange lying orangutan you call a president. Democrats are far better people than you lying Republicans. that's all you seem to do is lie, lie lie and back rapists, You guys are sickening. You should leave the country, you have ruined it. Go Democrats.

The Anderson County High School Girls Golf team is going to state, but I haven't seen their pictures in the paper. We support the football team, the volleyball team, the baseball team, basketball team and even cross country, yet the girls golf team gets no recognition? These girls have worked hard and deserve our support. Let's get behind the team and show some community spirit.

Race outcomes will leave important vacancies to fill

We're all waiting to see who grows up to be governor...and state treasurer and insurance commissioner, aren't we?

Now, nearly everyone cares, or at least wants to know, whom their governor is, but state treasurer and insurance commissioner?

It's largely because there is a handful of state senators who are in those races, and if they get elected, there's going to be back-filling to do, to replace those senators with new senators who will get two years on the job before they stand for election.

Those fill-in senators will be selected by Republican and Democrat party officials—precinct committeemen and committeewomen—and if the right candidates win the governorship or state treasurer or insurance commissioner, they give up their Senate seats for better-paying fulltime jobs.

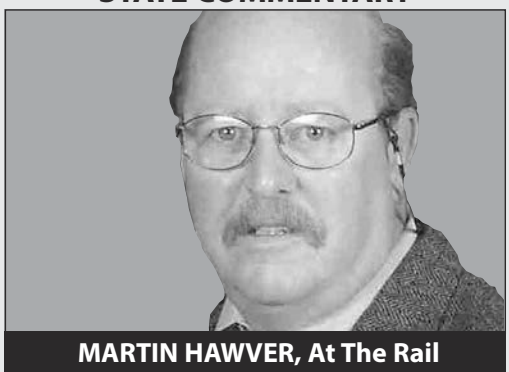

And relatively quietly, there are already some Republicans and Democrats who are chatting with those precinct committee officials to see whether they can take those Senate seats abandoned by the statewide winners.

Take the governor's race.

If Democrat Sens. Laura Kelly, of Topeka, and Lynn Rogers, of Wichita, are elected as governor and lieutenant governor, they will leave two Senate seats to be filled by their districts' Kansas Democrat Party officials. The seats stay within the party, so Democrats will continue to have nine senators, just two new faces.

If Secretary of State Kris Kobach and his runningmate Wink Hartman are elected, well, they just get new jobs. Kobach abandoned his secretary of state office for the governor's

STATE COMMENTARY

If independent Greg Orman is elected governor, his lieutenant governor runningmate John Doll, who used to be a Republican, will leave his Senate seat for a replacement, presumably as Republicans which was what Doll was before dropping the party membership.

If Sen. Marci Francisco, D-Lawrence, is elected treasurer, there's going to be a new face in the Senate for the next two years.

If Sen. Vicki Schmidt, R-Topeka, is elected insurance commissioner, the remaining two years of her four-year Senate term will be filled by those party officials.

Those replacements? For Democrats it probably isn't going to shift votes on the Senate floor. Oh, and Democrat representatives are being quiet about their aspiration to the Senate. They need to be reelected first, and they all appear to have the common sense not to talk out loud about giving up the House seats they are campaigning for now. That wouldn't sound good on the doorstep, would it?

It's the insurance commissioner race where there is likely to be more political consequence. Republicans now have 30 Senate seats and depending on whether Sen. Richard Hilderbrand, R-Galena, who was appointed to the seat after now-State Treasurer Jake LaTurner left the chamber, wins over Democrat Bryan Hoffman, of Mulberry, the number will not change.

But...already there are some House members and political groupies quietly looking at the seat Schmidt will give up if elected. Nobody's talking yet, but there are very conservative Republicans looking at taking Schmidt's chair, and there are moderate Republicans looking, too.

Why the interest in the Schmidt seat? It's because she is a moderate Republican who often votes with Democrats on tax, school finance and social issues.

That means, for Senate leadership purposes, she might just as well be a Democrat, and if she is gone and replaced with a conservative, well, it means that vetoes can be overridden, and that there is a solid conservative majority in the chamber. For the Senate's conservative leadership, it doesn't get much better than that. A majority to pass bills and a super-majority to knock down vetoes.

Nov. 6? The election will be important, but depending on the winners, it may get even more interesting...

The shunned Left's foolhardy attack on the Senate

Democrats suffered a stinging loss in the fight over Brett Kavanaugh's confirmation, and have concluded that the constitutional system is to blame.

You see, if only the Founders hadn't forged the Great Compromise between large states and small states at the Constitutional Convention in 1787, giving each state equal representation in the U.S. Senate, they would have defeated Brett Kavanaugh handily. It's only because smaller red states have two senators just like larger blue states that the judge got confirmed.

For the left, the U.S. Senate is now looming, together with the Electoral College and the Supreme Court, as an institution of villainy in American life.

In the words of Vox, the Senate is "a grotesquely unrepresentative body." Washington Post columnist E.J. Dionne calls the ascension of Kavanaugh to the high court "a coup" because he was "confirmed by senators representing 44 percent of the population."

Democrats have gone from bragging about their permanent majority a few years ago to complaining it's impossible for them to win under the governing regime that we've had for more than 200 years, since it's so tilted toward "minority rule."

It's certainly true that the Senate is not fully democratic and gives an outsized role

NATIONAL COMMENTARY

RICH LOWRY, King Features Syndicate

to small states, since this was the price they exacted for signing on to the Constitution. This arrangement isn't a conspiracy against the left.

Yes, Wyoming, population 560,000 in the 2010 census, cancels out California, population 37 million, with two Republican senators to the Golden State's two Democrats. But Vermont, population 630,000, cancels out the two Republicans from Texas, population 25 million, with a Democrat and a socialist.

Gross population disparities aren't anything new. In 1790, shortly after the ratification of the Constitution, Virginia had 747,160 people, Delaware 59,096. In 1900, New York had 7,268,894 people, and Nevada all of 42,335. The republic survived.

The Senate ensures that flyover country isn't ignored. It reflects the dizzying geographic diversity of a continental nation and promotes national cohesion by giving every corner of it a voice.

The House is the more democratic body. California has 53 representatives; Wyoming has one. Yet Democrats don't control the House, either.

The root of the problem is that Democrats don't have much appeal to the middle of the country anymore. As recently as 2010, both senators from North Dakota were Democrats, and back in 2004, both senators from South Dakota were Democrats.

The disenchantment is a function of the left's preference for coastal rule. It wants California to have the whip hand in our national life. But why should Los Angeles and San Francisco have an outsized role in governing distant, rural parts of the country, with which they have no sympathy?

Fundamentally remaking the Senate is a fantasy, regardless. The Constitution stipulates in Article 5 that "no state, without its consent, shall be deprived of its equal suffrage in the Senate." Striking the language would require the assent of some smaller states that wouldn't be enamored with reducing their own relative power so California can have more.

Rather than cursing the design of the Senate, Democrats would be better-served simply winning Senate elections, a cause they materially harmed with their fevered attack on Brett Kavanaugh.

20 years ago: As much as 14 inches of rain over a two week period costly to county

10 years ago...

Wednesday, October 8 is not a day Betsie Badders will soon forget. It's the day she scratched off a crossword lottery ticket that put $50,000 in her pocket. Badders, who lives north of Lone Elm with her husband Kent, said she was on her way home from work in Pittsburg when she stopped in Fort Scott to buy a ticket. The ticket was a $5 Red Hot crossword scratch off ticket. According to Badders the most she has ever won before was $1,000 a couple years ago from a ticket she bought in Moran. The $50,000 is the maximum that can be won on a Red Hot crossword ticket.

20 years ago...

Two straight weeks of heavy rainstorms may have cost Anderson County close to $45,000 to fix the road damages and pay extra labor required to handle the emergency jobs. County engineer Hub Caspar estimated the odd pattern of Sunday afternoon rainstorms recently cost the county about $20,000 and about $25,000 a week later. The first round dropped about 3.5-8 inches of rain and the latter storm about 4-6 inches, but the saturation of the ground made the new rain run faster and do more damage.

Members of the Colony City Council denied the request of the Halfway House manager Clair Wiley for a cereal malt beverage license. About 12 citizens were on hand to listen to the discussion on the license request, but no one spoke out against the request. However, upon advice of council attorney Sheryl Bussell, the council voted not to approve the request. According to Bussell, it is improper for a manager of the saloon to be awarded the license as it is the duty of the owner to acquire the license. The tavern has been Mike Rockers of the Bank of Greeley left his car parked in the middle of the street Monday afternoon and it rolled north, jumped the curb, and hit the front of the Kansas State Bank. Fortunately, it hit the brick part and little or no damage was done. If the car had been a little further east it could have rolled right through the plate glass window of the bank.

Colony surely has had her share of fires within the past several years. Former fires have benefited the town in that old shacks were replaced with good, solid business buildings; but the fire last Sunday night destroyed one of the best buildings in Colony consisting of three store rooms. The building was owned by Charles Ewen, which contained the Maxwell hardware store and the electric light plant. The latter was entirely destroyed, but most of the hardware stock was saved. By hard work, the buildings on either side were saved. There is no fire fighting apparatus in Colony, and the work had to be done by a bucket brigade, carrying water from three large cisterns near the burning building.

KAA Fall Fling comes to a close

My last two days at this year's KAA Fall Fling in Council Grove, Ks. The following notes are taken from my daily journal.

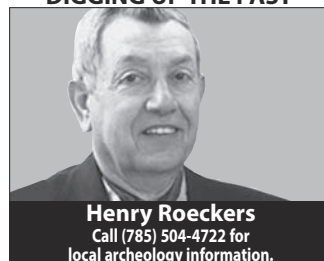

Saturday - Sept. 29, 2018

I woke up at 6:45 a.m., it was showering and a cool 49 degrees. I enjoyed a wonderful breakfast at the Saddle Rock Cafe before reporting to our work site.

Arrived at the field at 8:45 a.m., it's now 43 degrees with no wind. There are 35 here today and we opened up two more grids, now a total of seven.

Artifacts found today: several glass and dishware shards, white ware with makers marks from England, some beautiful hand painted glass shards, a rather large portion of a wine bottle, Indian Head Penny, iron gate latch, white Porcelain glass buttons (several sizes), and a variety of nails and staples.

This evening I ate at the DQ and later visited with Todd Bevitt (a contract archaeologist and his son Liam, later returning to my cabin. I called Kay before retiring for the night.

Sunday - Sept. 30, 2018

Up at 6:30 a.m. It had warmed up during the night, as it's already 59 degrees. I paid a visit to the Saddle Rock Cafe for breakfast and coffee.

There are 23 of us at work this morning and we are only working until noon.

Artifacts found today: naturally more dishware and glass shards and those pesky nails, an interesting piece of jewelry, a couple of blacksmith tools. I found two little round domed black buttons while screening (cuff, glove or high topped shoe buttons) and more rock foundation of the old blacksmith shop appeared.

After lunch we started packing up and back filling all the grids we had excavated in. Everyone said their Good-byes and departed the site at 2:00pm.

I made a quick stop in "Wally-World" in Ottawa, Ks. arriving home at 3:45 p.m.

Another archaeological adventure came to an end.

Bulldog cross country girls finish 2nd in league, boys 4th

THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW 10-16-2018 / Courtesy of USD 365 Twitter
Rayna Jasper finished second for the AC women at the Pioneer League Cross Country Championships last week in Burlington.

BY KEVIN GAINES THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW

BURLINGTON - The Anderson County cross country squads traveled to Burlington for the 2018 Pioneer League Cross Country Championships and fared well despite coming up short of the ultimate goal of winning league.

In girls action, Rayna Jasper led the way for the Lady Bulldogs finishing second with a time of 19:18.

Elka Billings of Iola finished first with a finish of 19:02. Iola won first as a team as they had 6 of the top 9 finishers on the day.

Emily Moyer (21:30, 15th place), Katie Schmit (21:31, 16th place), Lilly Spring (21:59, 19th place) and Maya Corley (22:01, 20th place) all finished in the top 20.

Pagie Rupp (23:04) finished in 28th, Alina Eggers (23:20) finished 31st, Bailey Gruver (24:06) finished in 36th and Lizzy Comfort (24:59, 48th) rounds out the Bulldog runners.

Iola's team score was 26 as the Bulldogs were a distant second with 72 points followed by Burlington with 85 points.

The boys were represented well in the top 10 as Morgan Hall-Kropf (16:33), Ryland Porter (16:44) and Riley Hedges (17:05) finished 6th, 7th and 9th respectively.

What hurt the boys as a team is they just didn't have the depth needed to compete for the league title.

The next top finisher was Damone Kueser (17:56) in 26th place. Nathan Schmit (18:28, 34th), and Jeremiah Riehl (18:45, 38th) finished just ahead of the quartet of Leo Sheahan (19:02), Kasey Fudge (19:03), Cody Bahnsen (19:06) and Orvel Broce (19:11).

Sheahan, Fudge and Bahnsen finished 42nd, 43rd and 44th and Broce was just behind them in 46th.

Garrett Bures (19:30) finished just inside the top 50th in 49th place.

Other Bulldog runners included Dylan Cole (20:29, 68th), Russ Peterson (20:56, 72nd), Dom Meyer (22:21, 83rd), Dustin Friend (22:50, 89th) and Todd Crawford (24:56, 90th).

In the girls 7th grade run, Addie Fudge (13:50, 5th place) and Hallie Munsey (20:03, 18th) were the only two Bulldogs in the race.

The boys 7th grade run only had two entrants as well as Colten Wittman (11:37, 3rd place) and Hershyl Corley (13:01, 10th) both finished inside the top 10.

Maryah Ackerman (12:38) finished 4th in the 8th grade girls race.

Eli Peterson (11:54) finished 10th in the 8th grade boys run, followed by Tucker Nelson (12:50, 13th place), Levi Corley (13:13, 16th place) and Ty Hedrick (13:20, 18th place).

Lady Bulldogs winless at own Invitational, Sub-State set

BY KEVIN GAINES THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW

GARNETT - On Saturday the Anderson County Bulldogs hosted the 2018 Anderson County Invitational. AC failed to make bracket play after going winless in pool play.

Anderson County opened with a 25-21, 23-25, 25-17 loss to Wellsville to open up pool play.

They then lost a hard fought two set match to Fort Scott, 25-17 and 27-25 and the final match was a loss to Burlington 26-24 and 25-21.

Burlington would go on to win the Championship Final with a 25-20, 25-19 win over Independence.

The All-Tournament team, which is selected by the coaches, included Justice Brackney (Lafayette County), Ashlynn Doebele (Burlington), Kate Gordon (Independence), Abby Reid (Anderson County), Gabby Stadel (Burlington), Grace Showalter (Wellsville).

Anderson County (10-17) has received their 4A Sub-State assignment and are the 11th seeded team (out of 18) and will play Bishop Miege High School (15-12) in the opening round in Atchison following the opening round game between #3 seed Atchison (30-7) and #14 seed Baldwin (8-25), which begins at 2:00 p.m. on Saturday, October 20th.

Viking boys win their first ever Flint Hills League Championship

BY KEVIN GAINES THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW

COUNCIL GROVE - Host Council Grove had won the previous 5 Flint Hills league championships in cross country, but that run came to an abrupt halt by the Central Heights Vikings as they won the championship in dominating fashion with 30 points, Northern Heights was 2nd with 59 points.

Tyler Stevenson (17:45) won the individual title for the boys, finishing 9 seconds ahead of second place finisher Taj Bailey (17:53) of Northern Heights.

Caleb Meyer (18:05, 3rd), Alex Cannady (18:12, 5th) and Bryce Sommer (18:21, 7th) all finished in the top 10.

Luke Cotter (18:58) and Mason McCurry (19:07) had solid finishes as well finishing 14th and 16 respectively.

"Muddy. That's the best word to describe the conditions at the Flint Hills League meet," head coach Troy Prosser stated.

"While times are typically what runners are gauged by, effort and places became the main indicator of how the day would play out," Prosser added.

"On paper, the boys race was much of the same with Tyler Stevenson again coming in first and bringing another individual league title; Caleb and Bryce's consistency were the steady force needed to bring the team its first Flint Hills League championship. David Craft has been on the fringe of the varsity team, but he keeps racking up wins in the JV races and will continue to be a major contributor going forward," Prosser said.

The Lady Viking varsity runners were just as impressive, but a lack of numbers doesn't allow them to compete as a team.

Freshman Lily Meyer (21:10) finished first, 14 seconds in front of second place finisher Maddie Montgomery (21:24) of West Franklin.

Madison Bridges (21:43) would finish in 3rd place on the afternoon.

"Lily became Central Heights' first league champion in well over a decade, while Madison has become a fantastic runner in her own right this season," Prosser noted.

Often overlooked and undervalued is middle school athletics, but Prosser understands that is where the foundation is built.

Prosser said, "One group that deserves recognition that they rarely ever get are our middle school runners. They work just as hard as anyone else, never get the headlines, but still compete and finish with a smile on their faces. To place six of them in the top 10 and have a (unofficial) team champions on the girls side really set the bar for every race that followed."

Middle school runners placing for the girls were, Emma Cubit (13:04, 3rd), Melaney Chrisjohn (13:15, 4th), Kaylee Holstine (13:16, 5th) and Layla Roll (15:17, 10th).

In boys action Connor Burkdoll (12:12, 5th), Owen

Miller (12:48, 7th), Jotham Meyer (12:50, 13th), Dakota Burnett (12:57, 14th) and Alex Skeet (16:39, 50th) all competed well on the afternoon.

Lancer volleyball splits a pair of games, regional matches set

BY KEVIN GAINES THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW

CHEROKEE - Due to storms, the Crest Lancers traveled to Southeast Cherokee High School on Wednesday instead of the originally scheduled Tuesday. The Lancers defeated Moran on the night before dropping the final match to Southeast.

The Lancers defeated Moran 25-23 and 25-9.

"The girls served 98%, 47/48 with 7 aces. Cassie Bowen had 6 blocks, 5 kills, 5 digs and 9/9 on serves. Camryn Strickler had 7 kills, 3 blocks, 9/9 on serves. Aubree Holloran had 4 digs and 10/10 on serves with 4 aces. Regan Godderz lead the team in assists and served 9/9 with 2 aces. Lindsey Godderz served 7/7 with one ace. Serving was huge in this match. I knew we served well, but I did not realize how good until I went over the stats. The first set was back and forth, both teams within two most of the time. The second set, we began to pull away with the strong net presence of Cassie Bowen. She had a career high of 6 blocks in one match. Camryn Strickler was also a force at the net with 7 kills. The girls continued to play focused and together," head coach Abigail Hermreck stated about their opening game victory.

In the second game of the night, the Lancers dropped the game in two sets to Southeast, 16-25 and 10-25.

"Jewel Armstrong went 5/5 serving with 2 aces and lead the team in serve receive passing with 10/11 passes to the target. Anna had 3 digs and 1 block assist. Camryn Strickler lead with 4 kills, 1 block, and 7 digs. Aubree Holloran went 5/5 serving with 1 ace. Cassie Bowen served 3/3, had 8 digs, 2 kills, and 1 block. Southeast played very well, with lots of energy and intensity. We made some great defensive plays and passed well, but could not get our offense running," Hermreck added.

The Crest Lancers (16-17) earned the second seed and will play in the second match at regionals on Tuesday, October 16 at Moran against Altoona-Midway (0-30) and seeded seventh. The winner advances to play the victor of the Marmaton Valley (14-18) and Sedan (1-27) match. The top 2 teams from each regional will advance to sub-state.

Greeley Preschoolers loved their visit to the pumpkin patch

Greeley Preschool students had an adventurous day at Peckham Pumpkin Patch in Rantoul, Kansas. The morning group had to detour around a flooded road, but when they arrived at the pumpkin patch they were able to enjoy the sunshine. The afternoon group arrived safely as well. Both groups had fun doing a variety of activities. They started out with a hay rack ride down through the woods and to the pumpkin patch.

Here, they each searched for the perfect pumpkin. Then they took a ride back to the entrance and went through the hay bale maze, slid down bumpy slides and played duck races where they had to pump water to make the ducks go. They had a wonderful time.

Bulldog girls' golf heading to State

THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW 10-16-18 / SUBMITTED

NDEPENDENCE - While heavy rain and flooding over the weekend canceled classes for Anderson County on Monday, the golf team was able to get to Independence for Regional golf and battled the conditions all day en route to the team winning the team title, knocking off both Chanute and Girard, sending the team to the state tournament which was originally scheduled for Monday, October 15 in Hutchinson but rescheduled for today due to the weather forecast. Tee time is scheduled for 12:00 p.m. Sammy Walter is a senior who has qualified for the State tournament each of her 4 seasons. Walter finished 2nd overall with an 86, 14 strokes over par and just 1 stroke behind Lauren Madison of Fort Scott.

Maclaine Sears (103), sophomore, finished tied for 5th but lost a playoff with senior Marci Heatherly of Girard High

Why control freaks make more money

Let's not kid anybody. You and I are small businesspeople, and we're here to make money.

There's 'service to humanity' and 'loving what I do' and following my 'calling,' yada, yada, yada; but if you and I don't generate sales and manage costs to earn a profit, all the pie-in-the sky stuff is going to get nailed to our doors with the bankruptcy papers.

That's why it's okay to be a control freak when it comes to generating sales, and you need to understand that being in control of the message you convey to customers and potential customers is probably the only way your business will survive. Here's why...

Look at the opposite side of control freaking: Non-control. In terms of marketing your small business to generate sales, you have these two options: work at it and exert control, or do nothing and accept that your sales will be determined by somebody or something other than you.

Which one sounds more conducive to a good night's sleep? Too many people in small business hesitate to exert con-

HOW TO SELL STUFF

rol of their advertising and marketing efforts. They think somehow they'll be viewed as "too pushy" if they actually try to sell; people might actually get the idea that you need their business if you're aggressive in selling. Couple all that with the fact that marketing your particular business takes practice, trial and error, and constant study to see what's new and what you could be doing better. Like anything else that can have tremendously high yields, it doesn't happen by itself.

But some business people do expect success to happen without exerting any control over it, and the reason is that it's easier to make excuses that attracting and keeping customers is beyond our control. "My customers already know I'm here," (the line etched on more business tombstones than any other) and similar dodges take all the weight off our shoulders; faulty insulation from doing what we know we need to do - constantly define, approach and sell existing and new customers.

These are the businesses that locate in malls or shopping centers and expect foot traffic is all they need; the ones who put up a website or a Facebook page thinking the billions of folks on the Internet are a ready-made customer base. They never listen to a TV, radio, newspaper, digital or other sales rep because advertising is just a big hustle. To do more than that brings hesitation, and as anyone who's ever thrown a hand grenade knows - hesitation kills.

But it's unavoidable in the end - businesses that exert no control over their marketing find themselves relying on "Final Days" or "Upcoming Auctions" advertising when they close their doors. Then it's too late.

Control brings peace of mind - at least more so than not being in control - and you only get control by adopting a marketing mindset to determine who your customers are and are likely to be, and then finding a way to reach them and sell to them.

Being a control freak won't just help you sell stuff and make money, it will help you sleep at night!

Christian Church

Howard Reiter gave the Communion Meditation on Ecclesiastes 9:11-12, reminding us that tragedy can strike at any time. We need to always remember not to lean on our own strength and understanding, but on God's. Pastor Chase Riebel gave the sermon on week five of "Believe" series: Identity in Christ, asking "Who am I?". God identifies us as his own, placing the Holy Spirit in our hearts. We are NOT identified by the way others see us, or by what possessions we have, or our successes or failures, etc., but in God alone.

UMC

Scripture used Oct. 7 at the United Methodist Church were Psalm 26: 1-12, Job 1: 1, 2: 1-10, Hebrews 1: 1-4, 2: 5-12 and Mark 10: 2-18. Pastor Dorothy Welch presented the sermon, "Angels and Saints".

CEF

The Crest Education Foundation met Oct 4 at the Colony Community Room. All officers were present. They were happy to welcome back guest Christy McGhee.

New items of discussion were Trivia Night, Read 2 Lead, and Caps to Cash. All CEF members have worked hard to prepare for Trivia Night and supplied prize baskets for each team registered. They would like to thank the following area businesses for their prize basket contributions: 6th Avenue Boutique & Bronze, Audacious Boutique, B&B Iola Sterling Six Cinemas, Colony Hi Point Cafe & Convenience, Front Row Sports, Maple Street Liquor, Pizza Hut-Garnett, Prairie Belle Kitchen and Catering, Sonic-Garnett and Twin Motors Ford. Special thank you also goes to individuals Cathy Allen, Christy McGhee, Daryl Sigg and Sharon Wiley for their prize basket contributions. Brant McGhee will be the MC for the evening, with Laura Schmidt being the judge. Other CEF members will be available to help as needed.

It was voted on to expand the CEF Read 2 Lead Campaign with plans for a Christmas Book Drive. This drive is the same concept of an Angel Tree, only we will be collecting funds to purchase books for the Crest School Library. Denise King is working to secure locations to place Christmas Book Tree's within the district. Candi Powell will work with the school on a list of books they would like purchased. More information on this project as it becomes available.

Laura Schmidt introduced Auburn Pharmacy's Caps to Cash Program. CEF voted to enroll in this program which is another way to raise funds. Boxes will be placed around the community in the near future. Citizens can turn in their specially marked Auburn prescription bottle caps to those boxes. CEF will then submit those caps and earn 25 cents each, turning your caps into CASH! Keep an eye out for this project to start soon!

Old items of discussion included following up on the Kincaid Fair Parade participation. CEF was very thankful for the students that rode the float and helped them to win first place in the high school category, as well as grand champion overall! Discussion was held on if CEF wishes to continue with floats in the future due to the high cost members are spending out of pocket, both to decorate and purchase candy. Decision tabled at this time.

The next regular meeting of the Crest Education Foundation has been moved from the first Thursday of the month to Friday, November 2, 2018, at 6:6 p.m. in the City Hall Community Room. Other school groups, to include Crest Booster Club and Crest Elementary PTO, have been invited to attend. On the agenda will be discussion hosting a large fund-raising event. It will take many hands to pull this off and CEF is hoping for a good turnout at the first planning meeting. A light supper will be provided. Any and all Crest Supporters are welcome!

Lions

President Delores McMullen was in charge of the Oct. 3 meeting held at the United Methodist Church basement room with the United Methodist Women fixing and serving the meal. Eleven members answered roll call.

Guest Bill Smith thanked the club for their support of the Fun in the Sun Car Show. He is planning another car show on August 24, 2019, and is adding an Arts & Crafts area. He gave the club a donation for the use of the picnic tables. President McMullen thanked the club for helping the Kincaid Lions during the Kincaid Fair.

Mary Scovill presented a design for a 65 year pin. The design is based on the city boundary of Colony. Sue Colgin will send the design to a manufacturer for pricing. The Zone Social will be on Nov. 3. It will be at the Nazarene Church in Garnett. The meal cost is $15 per person. Zone Chairman David Branton has requested that each club donate a $20 door prize. Also, he would like each club's Tail Twister to assist in selling raffle tickets for the door prize.

President McMullen reported they do not have a Tail Twister and asked the club about a replacement. Members elected Mary Scovill as Tail Twister. The city of Colony is starting a newsletter. We will be submitting information for a Lions news section.

Lions Club was donated bottled water by the Fun in the Sun Car Show. Since this is a large amount of water bot-ties, the club decided to donate them. It was voted to donate the water to the Colony Ballfield Association. Bill Ulrich stated that it was time to plan for a new raffle if the club wanted to do it. Members voted another Gun-A-Month raffle.

Around Town

Colony has been receiving more than their share of rain as of late. It's rather hard on cattle and other outdoor animals. We hope by Halloween it will be better weather for all the little goblins at our doors. We have a yellow and white tomatcat that has been at our house for a few months. If he is yours, please phone 620-853379.

Joe Dean Marlow, 68, Iola died Oct. 4 at the Olathe Medical Center. He was a 1968 graduate of Crest High School. There was cremation. Survivors include a wife, son and daughter and four brothers. Words of remembrance may be submitted to the online guestbook at cheney-witt.com.

PSRT met October 10

Twenty-two members and one guest, Andrea Sobba, met for a Prairie Spirit Rail Trail meeting October 10, 2018.

Andrea Sobba, Director of the Garnett Public Library, spoke to the group about the new grant the library received to start a Permanent Story Walk on the trail for children. Friends of the Library will be helping with most of the expense of the matching grant. Friends of the Prairie Spirit Trail will become a sponsor for one of the kiosks to be used for the project.

Terry Singer, chairman of the Halloween Haunted House, gave an update on it. Eric Vaughn of Baldwin City, Kansas will be performing his magic for trick or treaters that evening. Can goods will be accepted as donations for ECKAN that evening. Haunted House times are 5:30 to 7:30 at the depot.

The next meeting of the Prairie Spirit Rail Trail will be November 14, 2018 at the library.

Conservation Nominations Needed

The Conservation Awards Program will once again be held in Anderson County. This program is sponsored by the Kansas Bankers Association (KBA). This year's sponsoring bank is the Bank of Greeley. The KBA, K-State Research and Extension, and the Kansas Department of Wildlife and Parks, and Tourism are proud to announce six award categories including Energy Conservation, Water Quality, Water Conservation, Soil Conservation, Windbreaks and Wildlife Habitat.

The purpose of the program is to stimulate a greater interest in the conservation of agricultural and natural resources of Kansas. Each year over 200 Kansas producers and landowners are recognized through this program. Nominations for these awards can be made by any person in the county. Information about these awards can be picked up at the local extension office or by visiting the K-State Research and Extension website: <http://www.agronomy.k-state.edu/extension> Nomination forms are available at the Anderson County Conservation District Office in Garnett, the Frontier Extension District Office in Garnett, or the Landmark National Bank in Kincaid. You may also call the Extension Office at 785.448.6826 and we will mail you a nomination form. Nomination forms should be completed and returned to the Frontier Extension District, PO Box 423 Garnett KS 66032, by November 9th. Upon receipt of the nomination forms, a committee chaired by Ryan Schaub, Frontier District Extension Agent, will select this year's winners. Winners will be recognized at the Anderson County Conservation District's annual meeting.

Rockers family holds reunion in early October

The descendants of the late John J. and Leona (Bowman) Rockers - a family whose roots are deep in the Scipio and Garnett areas of Anderson County - gathered at the Garnett Town Hall Center on Sunday, Oct. 7, 2018 for a family reunion.

The children of John and Leona Rockers (in the order they were born) are the late Clifford Rockers, Naomi Gregg, Wanda Powls, Luella Stiffler, Dale Rockers and the late Donna Miller.

At total of 63 people attended the family reunion this year, which included a luncheon, lots of visiting and catching up, photo sharing and group photos.

The Wanda and Bob Powls family was the host family this year. Next year, the Dale and Linda Rockers family will be the host family.

Those attending from the family of the late Clifford and Joann Rockers family were Joann of Independence, Mo., her daughter Cheryl and husband Jeff Ory of Independence, Mo., and her daughter Caryl and husband Scott Summers of Lee's Summit, Mo., along with their daughter Kayla Summers.

Those attending from the Naomi and Robert (Sonny) Gregg family were Naomi and Sonny of Princeton and their daughter Vicki Evans of Bates City, Mo. and her daughters Alina Williams of Lee's Summit, Mo. and her children Tyler and Anna; Katheryn Fields of Kansas City, Mo., and Katheryn's three-month-old baby girl, Boey; and Matt (grandson of Naomi and Sonny) and Jill Gregg of Kingsville, Mo., and their three children - Charlie Marie, Hudson and Everly.

Those attending from the Wanda and Bob Powls family were Wanda and Bob of Garnett - Mike and Colleen Powls of Olathe and their daughter Katie and Chad Eck of Wichita and their two sons, Levi and Jared; and their son Eric Powls and his son, Johnny.

Also attending were David and Connie Powls of Holton, along with their son Michael and Shannon of Topeka and their two-month-old baby boy, Paxton; and their daughter Justine of Overland Park.

Also attending were Dennis and Cindy Powls of Kyle, Texas.

Also attending were Dan Miller and Marilyn Peine, both of Garnett and Dan's son Brian and Natalie of Eudora and their two children Aidan and Sofia; and Dan's daughter Lisa and Justin Foltz of Eudora and their three children Riley, Tyler and Rayah.

Those attending from the family of Dale and Linda Rockers were Dale and Linda of Garnett and their son Rodney and Melanie Rockers of Overland Park and their two children Cameron and Abigayle.

Also attending from the family of the late Donna and Pat Miller were son Allan and Kim Miller of Kansas City, Mo., and their daughter Ashley and Dave Cox of Overland Park and their daughter Grace of Overland Park and daughter Amanda McHenry of Kansas City, Kan., and her daughter Amya; and son Mark Miller of Kansas City, Kan. and his daughter Sarah Miller of Kansas City, Kan.

Cutting cattle numbers

INSIGHT

JOHN SCHLAGECK, Kansas Farm Bureau

Mother Nature turned the tables this year in Kansas as eastern Kansas cattle producers dealt with diminished grass for their livestock while central and western regions of the Sunflower State flourished with pastures nourished by abundant rain.

In southeastern Kansas, Jim DeGeer, veteran cattelman from Neosho County, says a long, cool spring delayed native grasses (used for summer grazing) from taking off and growing like they normally do. And when it finally did warm up, conditions were so dry, these grasses never had the opportunity to grow.

"Our pastures were extremely short all summer," DeGeer says. "I know the guys who cut prairie hay throughout our regions and they told me production amounted to only a third to one-half the normal output."

Yep, forage availability has been tight in much of southeastern Kansas beginning in June and running into August.

"It's been dry most of the summer," the veteran cattelman says. "We were drier and had less grass this summer than during the bad drought years beginning in 2011 and running through 2013."

Then in mid-August, it started to rain, and the grass began growing and greening up a bit, DeGeer says. By the end of September, the pastures looked like they should have.

Despite the dog days of summer, DeGeer says his cows managed to stay "looking pretty good."

So, what will this dry spell mean to cattlemen like DeGeer in the long run?

"We're starting to pregnancy check our herd and we're seeing more open (not with calf) cows than we normally do," the long-time cattelman says. "I'm sure weaning weights on the calves will be less this year as well."

While this scenario is not one any cattelman wants to be faced with, DeGeer will live with the hand he's been dealt, make changes and move ahead.

This will mean reducing the family cow herd this year. In turn, this will allow the pastures a chance to recover from the dry summer of 2018.

Buying additional feed for his livestock will also mean steeper prices for big round bales. Prices for this coveted commodity have jumped from $30-35 a bale to $75-100 each.

"We buy a lot of hay anyway," the Neosho County cattelman says. "We'll need to pay the piper to keep our cow herd well fed."

DeGeer isn't the Lone Ranger when it comes to cutting cow numbers. Neighbors and other livestock producers are faced with the same dilemma.

"I laugh to myself this year," DeGeer says. "I grew up in south-central Kansas, in the Gypsum Hills around Medicine Lodge, and cattlemen have received more rain out there than we have in south-eastern Kansas during the summer."

This year is one DeGeer is looking forward to closing the book on. He does not relish paying top dollar for feed at the close of the year especially when some will not even be the best quality.

"It's kind of been one of those years," the veteran cattelman says with a shrug of resignation in his shoulders. "Next year's going to be better."

John Schlageck is a leading commentator on agriculture and rural Kansas.
