Square Fair kicks off busy weekend

Conflict in scheduling cancels Air Fair 2019 but looks to return in 2020

BY KEVIN GAINES THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW

GARNETT – The 47th annual Garnett Business and Professional Women (BPW) Square Fair will return to Garnett's downtown square this coming Saturday, May 11th and run from 9 a.m. - 3 p.m. Square Fair is one of the most anticipated events annually in Garnett.

As usual there will be a number of craft vendors from across the state as well as retail vendors, food vendors and live entertainment.

There will be a new look to the Square Fair this year though due to the renovations being done at the Anderson County Courthouse.

Due to the parts of the courthouse lawn being used for equipment, not all the booths will not be set up this year in the lawn. Fourth Street downtown will also be blocked off for the remaining vendors.

Another change this year will be that the Air Fair will not run in conjunction with the Square Fair as it has the past several years.

Due to some unexpected scheduling conflicts, the annual Air Fair event hosted at the Garnett Airport was cancelled.

The aviation event would have featured airplane rides, static airplane displays, a car show and one-mile runway fun run/walk.

The Garnett Airport Board will be looking at another date in 2020 to bring back Air Fair to the Garnett Industrial Airport so watch for details of the 2020 Air Fair coming soon to www.simplygarnett.com.

The 47th annual Garnett Square Fair kicks off Mother's Day weekend in downtown Garnett. In addition to the regular vendors, there are also local businesses and other things planned. See page 6B for more details.

McSwane arraignment set May 13

Formal charges to be set forth in district court hearing scheduled next Monday

BY DANE HICKS THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW

GARNETT – The Garnett woman whom prosecutors say swindled her grandmother and a local church out of thousands of dollars over the course of several weeks earlier this year will be formally arraigned on charges next Monday morning.

Jennifer McSwane of Garnett is set to appear before District Court Judge Eric Godderz at 11:30 Monday on more than 40 charges of felony forgery, felony non-residential burglary as well as felony and misdemeanor theft.

Prosecutors say McSwane executed a campaign of deceit against her grandmother and the Life Assembly of God Church at which her grandmother worked as a bookkeeper, with access to the church's checkbook, from December 2018 through January. Court documents allege McSwane began stealing from Pamela McSwane shortly after the younger woman moved in with her in December 2018, hiding bank and financial documents from her grandmother and at one point faking a cancer diagnosis and impersonating a bank official to throw her grandmother off her trail. Church officials discovered the theft when checks written to the City of Garnett, drawn on the emptied bank account, were returned unpaid in late February.

McSwane told police investigators she spent the money, pegged at some $16,000, on "shoes and dumb things."

McSwane is being held in Anderson County Jail in lieu of $25,000 bond.

Dalton faces four felonies after standoff

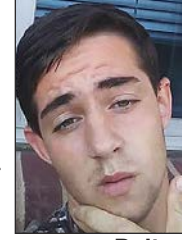

GARNETT – A Garnett man involved in a police stand-off late last month will face four felonies in connection with the incident and his alleged actions that precipitated it.

Joseph "Theo" Dalton, 24 of Garnett, was charged last week with mistreatment of an elder person (level 7 person felony), criminal threat (level 9 person felony), interference with a law enforcement officer (level 9 non-person felony) and criminal damage to property (level 9 non-person felony).

Dalton allegedly became embroiled in a dispute with his grandmother, Joy Dalton, the morning of April 24 at her home at 608 N. Maple. She was apparently able to leave the home and with a family friend notified police that Dalton, previously convicted of felony criminal threat, was still at the residence with a firearm. Officers from the Garnett Police Department went to the house to confront Dalton when he barricaded himself in the house and refused to come out, beginning a standoff that would last some five hours. Dalton gave himself up only after special tactics officers had begun to move in on the residence. Dalton was the only person in the residence at the time.

Dalton is being held in lieu of a $5,000 bond and is set for a court appearance May 14.

Highway project begins

Work from Moran north on U.S. Highway estimated to take 30 days, officials say

BY DANE HICKS THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW

MORAN – Kansas Department of Transportation officials and contractors were set to start yesterday on a major resurfacing project on 23 miles of U.S. Highway 59 north to Anderson County – unless the weather scuttles the timeline.

The roadwork starts at the U.S. 54/U.S. 59 junction at Moran and continues north and west to the south junction of U.S. 169/U.S. 59 south of Garnett.

The highway will receive a 1½-inch surface recycle, to be followed by a chip seal this summer. Flaggers and a pilot car will direct one-lane traffic through the work zone during daylight hours; expect delays of 15 minutes or less. The road work should be completed in one month, weather permitting.

Dustrol, Inc., of Towanda is contractor on the $1.7 million project. Drivers are reminded to watch for the signs and flaggers, and to "Give 'Em a Brake!" at the work zone.

Persons with questions may contact KDOT Construction Engineer Troy Howard at (785) 448-5446 or Public Affairs Manager Priscilla Petersen at (620) 902-6433.

Colony Christian Church news

Larry Wittmer gave the Communion Meditation on "Not your worst nightmare, but close".

This nightmare is when we lose the signal on our GPS and become lost. Admitting that we're lost kills our confidence, and we don't like to ask for directions. During life's struggles, we can feel lost and there may appear to be no rest stop in sight. In Mark 2, the friends of a paralyzed man lowered him down thru a roof to see Jesus. Jesus forgave his sins, and then healed him. These men walked by faith. Luke 19:10 says that "the Son of Man came to seek and save those who are lost". He will seek us, but won't force us. Jesus is ours IF we ask. Are you lost? Seek him and he will be yours too. Pastor Chase Riebel gave the sermon on the 6th virtue of the Believe series: Patience. God's time is not the same as ours. We must learn to wait on Him. Patience is a combination of being slow to anger, and long suffering (not being relieved of sin or suffering). Patience starts with trusting in God. Knowing that he is loving, kind, just, omnipotent (all powerful), and omniscient (all knowing). Proverbs 14:29 tells us that expel with understanding control their anger, and that a hot temper shows great foolishness. So be quick to listen, slow to speak and slow to get angry (James 1:19-20).

Hear the sermon in its entirety at www.colonychristianchurch.org, or thru your favorite podcast app.

What price are you willing to pay?

In Genesis 32:22-31, we read the account of Jacob wrestling with God. Jacob was the second son of Isaac and the twin of Esau. Because Jacob had tricked his father Issac into giving him the birthright that belonged to Esau he had been forced to leave Canaan and start a new life with his uncle Laban in Paddan Aram. As years passed Esau forgave his brother and Jacob proceeded to return to Canaan with all of his holdings. On the return trip to Canaan Jacob stopped at the river for the night with his family. We read he sent his two wives, two maid servants and his eleven sons to the other side of the Jabbok River. He also sent all his possessions so that he was left alone. We are not told why Jacob did this. What happened next I believe explains the reason to us. So Jacob was left alone and a man wrestled with him till daybreak. When the man saw that he could not overpower him, he touched the socket of Jacob's hip so that the hip was wrenched as he wrestled with the man. Then the man said, "Let me go, for it is daybreak."

But Jacob replied, "I will not let you go unless you bless me." The man asked him, "What is your name?" "Jacob" he answered. Then the man said, "Your name will no longer be Jacob but Israel, because you have struggled with God and with men and have overcome." Jacob said, "Please tell me your name." But he replied, "Why do you ask me my name?" Then he blessed him, (Jacob) there. So Jacob called the place Peniel saying, "It is because I saw God face to face, and yet my life was spared." The sun rose above him as he passed Peniel, and he was limping because of his hip.

We read Jacob was left alone. This is the way it is with God. We will arrive at a point in our lives where we can go no further without God. He will press into our life to the extent we can ignore him no longer. Jacob had encountered God prior to this but now he was face to face with God.

Jacob also received a new name. He was called Israel, which means, he struggles with God. The name change clearly marked Jacob out as a man of God. What is most important is his limp. This was an outward visible sign of Jacob's struggle. This marked the man of God. Jacob is another example of how God will if necessary hurt one of his own so he can use someone greatly.

Trump's true crime: winning

Yes, President Trump committed obstruction. From the moment he defeated Hillary Clinton, Democrats have tried to overturn the 2016 election, but Trump has obstructed their efforts every step of the way.

This was obstruction in the interests of justice. The president should be applauded for it.

First, partisans within the Justice Department spied on the Trump presidential campaign. They used a mainstream news article to obtain a warrant to surveil Trump's campaign staff by misleading a Foreign Intelligence Surveillance Court judge about the source of the article.

In fact, the news story was based on unverified opposition research funded by the Clinton campaign and the Democratic National Committee.

Recently uncovered text messages between disgraced FBI agent Peter Strzok and FBI lawyer Lisa Page suggest this surveillance continued after the election, shifting its focus from the Trump campaign to the transition team of then-President-elect Trump.

Then, according to fired FBI Deputy Director Andrew McCabe, several Justice Department and FBI officials discussed staging what would have amounted to a coup to oust the duly elected president of the United States from office.

The coup would have been staged by invoking the 25th Amendment to remove President Trump from office.

The amendment was adopted to deal with cases when a president is unable to carry out his duties following a severe injury or illness - such as being wounded in an assassination attempt, suffering a stroke, or being in a coma. None of these conditions applied to President Trump.

Deputy Attorney General Rod Rosenstein allegedly suggested wearing a wire to secretly record conversations with President Trump in the hopes of entrapping him to lead to his overthrow.

Next, Trump's critics called him a traitor. Sen. Tim Kaine, D-Va., who was Hillary Clinton's vice presidential running mate in 2016, suggested that Trump might have committed treason as early as July 2017 - just two months after Special Counsel Robert Mueller began his investigation into Russian interference in the 2016 election.

That same month, former Watergate prosecutor Nick Ackerman said: "There's almost no question this is treason."

Last July, Charles Blow published a column in The New York Times headlined "Trump, Treasonous Traitor."

Then John Brennan, who was CIA director under President Obama, described President Trump's conduct as "nothing short of treasonous."

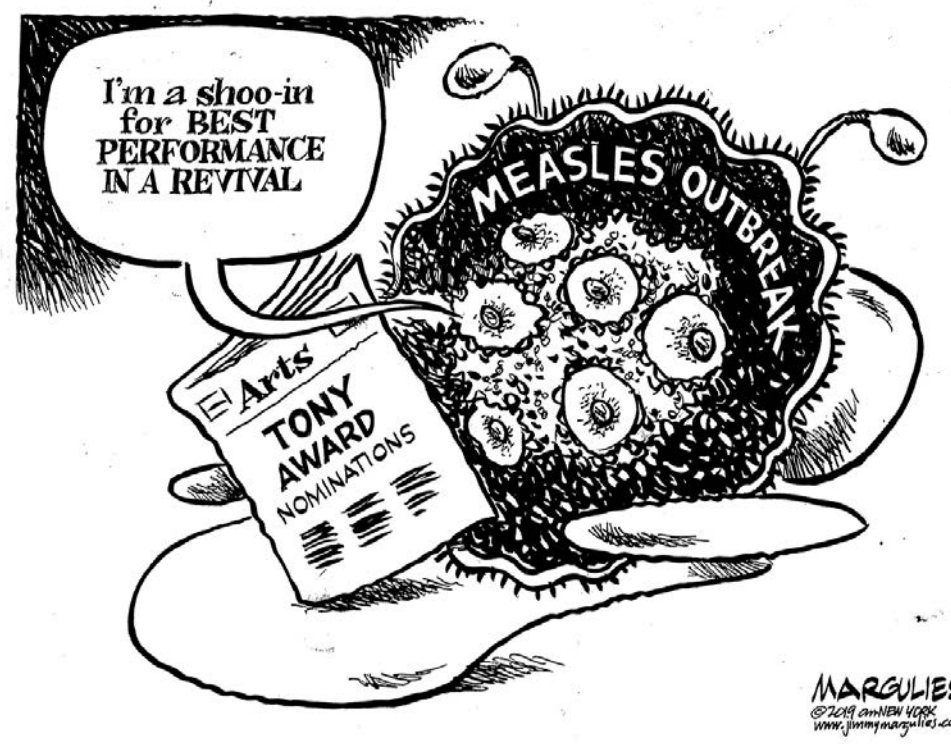

A few weeks later, retired Army Lt. Col. Ralph Peters suggested Trump had "committed treason" and compared the president to Soviet dictator Josef Stalin and Nazi Propaganda Minister Joseph Goebbels.

Others leveled the same false charge at President Trump as well.

After that, government leakers and their mainstream media allies discussed imprisoning members of President Trump's family along with him.

According to the narrative, Donald Trump Jr. and presidential son-in-law Jared Kushner were destined for orange jumpsuits over an allegedly nefarious meeting with some Russians at Trump Tower. There was even talk of the president's daughter Ivanka going to prison.

I think this local church may have gotten the cart before the horse a little bit. They moved the house off the lot, they cut down those beautiful old trees, then left a brush pile. Then and only then do they ask for a zoning change to make it a parking lot. What if the zoning change is not approved? Do we have to look at a brush pile on the corner lot from now on? Thank you.

Animal rescue is asking anybody who is feeding a stray dog, please stop. We have traps out for her but she's not going to get in any traps if you're feeding her.

The sign board at the high school out by the road is a colossal embarrassment. The time is never right, and the times don't even agree from side to side of the board. But on a positive note today, the road between Garnett and Westphalia is probably the best we've ever had. I really appreciate the pavement markings that make it really easy to see when it's raining, which it seems to be doing all the time. Thank you.

FROM ABOVE

A writer for Vice.com reported giddily on the reaction of federal inmates to the prospect of an incarcerated Trump.

Democratic politicians clamored for the impeachment of President Trump. Many said they expected Mueller's investigation would show that Trump worked with Russia to get elected. In their minds, the president was guilty until proven innocent.

But then Mueller reported he had discovered what President Trump had insisted all along was the truth: Trump never "colluded" with the Russians. No member of his campaign "colluded" with the Russians. The central accusation against the president that had fueled two years of nonstop attacks on him turned out to be a lie.

Now desperate Democrats, bereft of any legal basis for impeachment, have seized upon Trump's displeasure at two years of presidential harassment as their new grounds for removing him from office.

Over the past two years, President Trump has voiced his displeasure at what he considered unfair attacks. According to the Mueller report, upon the appointment of the special counsel, Trump said that "this is the end of my presidency," followed by an expletive.

The Mueller report then quoted Trump as saying: "Everyone tells me if you get one of these independent counsels it ruins your presidency. It takes years, and I won't be able to do anything."

The president took to Twitter to assail the special counsel's investigation as a "witch hunt." He allegedly considered firing Robert Mueller.

According to Attorney General William Barr, President Trump didn't obstruct justice. But neither did Trump take attacks on his presidency lying down.

Sen. Elizabeth Warren of Massachusetts, one of 20 Democrats seeking her party's presidential nomination to replace Trump, tipped her party's hand when asked recently to cite the grounds for impeachment.

It doesn't matter whether President Trump committed a crime, Warren said.

"This isn't even specifically about Donald Trump himself," Warren said. Right - it's about overturning the results of a presidential election that didn't put Hillary Clinton in the Oval Office.

Now Democrats would like to impeach Trump for obstructing their repeated attempts to overthrow him.

As far as many Democrats are concerned, Trump's real crime was winning the presidency in the first place.

Abortion ruling brings dark time in Kansas

Late last month, the Kansas Supreme Court handed down a barbaric ruling that our state constitution protects the right to dismember a baby in the womb. At a time where technological advancements show us that a child in utero is a distinct human being from the moment of conception, this is clearly a heinous decision with deadly consequences.

I have always been proud to call Kansas home. A place where settlers were called "free-staters" since they opposed the expansion of slavery and a place that was known as a trailblazer for the women's suffrage movement, there are so many reasons to be proud to live in the Sunflower State. But on April 26, Kansas took a major step backward, placing our abortion laws among some of the most radical in the country. The slaughtering of innocent lives that will happen because of the Supreme Court's ruling is in no way representative of our Kansas values.

Science has allowed us to tear down the narrative that aborted babies are just fetuses unable to feel pain. As a mother, I know from feeling that first kick or first hiccup that a baby in the womb is a living, breathing, human being.

That is why this ruling by the Kansas Supreme Court is a violent, monstrous imposition of the radical abortion regime - a regime that wants people to remain ignorant to the fact that abortion stops the beating heart of a baby that can feel the excruciating pain of terminating a pregnancy. A regime that wants people to remain ignorant that dismemberment abortion requires the abortionist to grab a living baby by their foot or hand and tear them apart piece by piece as they remove the body parts from the mother until the baby's heart finally stops beating.

COMMENTARY

SUSAN WAGLE - President, Kansas Senate

But six members of our Supreme Court believe this torturous form of murdering an innocent life is acceptable. Six members of our state's Supreme Court, whose names should forever be stained by this ruling, ignored the will of Kansans.

In recent months we've seen our country jump deeper into the culture of death with perverse abortion legislation coming out of states such as New York and Virginia. As grotesque as these laws are to the majority of Kansans, the reality is that it is a reflection on the true inhumanity of the radical abortion movement. I can vividly picture New York lawmakers cheering with delight at the passage of legislation that would allow a baby to be ripped from the mother's womb moments before birth, and I was heartbroken.

This shameless embrace of a culture of death was startling to most Americans, especially Kansans who have long fought for life. In my hometown of Wichita, the pro-life movement took off in 1991 during the "Summer of Mercy," where pro-lifers from all over gathered to show our commitment to protecting life.

I have prided myself on fighting for the sanctity of life. From passing the first pro-life legislation in Kansas, the Women's Right to Know Act, to just this year, sponsoring the first resolution in the country condemning New York's late-term abortion law, I have been wholeheartedly committed to protecting the unborn.

That is why I never thought that we would be where we are today. I never thought in Kansas the right to murdering an innocent child would be enshrined as a fundamental right protected by our constitution. But that is where we stand today.

Though it is a dark time in Kansas, we must push forward. We must come together and fight for life because sadly, life is under attack. Our commitment to the inalienable right to life is needed now more than ever. Kansans are compassionate and caring people, and because of that I am so encouraged that we will be able to win in our fight to protect the most vulnerable among us: the unborn.

While the governor and six members of the state Supreme Court may believe that it is OK to reduce the most vulnerable amongst us to a blob of tissue, I do not. We must remind these radical pro-abortionists that we, the Legislature, are a co-equal branch of government, ready to stand for all Kansans - born and unborn. And as president of the Kansas Senate, it is my vow that they will hear from us soon.

- Susan Wagle is Kansas Senate President. This article first appeared in The Kansas City Star

Trump, Dems prepare for greatest show on earth

No one enjoys getting impeached, and if it happens to him, Donald J. Trump will be no exception.

On the other hand, it's hard to imagine any potential target of impeachment in Anglo-American history relishing the fight more than Trump. He'd rather be done with the Mueller investigation in all its permutations, but there's no one better suited to being at the center of a harshly partisan, deeply personal political and legal donnybrook that will ultimately be just for show.

Trump famously told top aides at the beginning of his administration that he wanted them to view each day as a TV episode. Impeachment would be a helluva season, matching a momentous process of American government with low political melodrama.

This may feel like a devolution from the buttoned-up Mueller probe, but the House should have been the locus of the Trump investigation in the first place.

Because Justice Department policy says a president can't be indicted, Robert Mueller was never going to reach a legal conclusion about alleged obstruction. The question was whether the president's conduct constituted an abuse of power that Congress would deem impeachable; in other words, it was a political question.

Congress, then, was always the most appropriate venue for the investigation and disposition of this matter, not the office of the special counsel, where instead of being out in the open, it was behind closed doors. Instead of being nakedly political, it was clothed in thick legal analysis. Instead of being a struggle between the branches, it was a struggle within the executive branch.

Now, the battle is truly joined. The body that is going to make the ultimate decision of what to do about Trump's conduct, if anything, is on the hook. It has to decide what goes too far and not far enough. Should it subpoena Trump's children? How much time should it devote to investigations as opposed to its policy agenda? And, of course, should it impeach?

For his part, Trump is liberated to fight like a caged animal, asserting executive prerogatives vis-a-vis the legislature and engaging in flat-out partisan combat.

Trump would prefer a world in which he's universally praised, but short of that, this is his element. He's handled every controversy or fight - no matter how personal or treacherous - with the same straight-ahead aggression.

Trump is almost certainly better prepared and temperamentally suited for thermonuclear war with a Democratic House than he was to get substantive achievements out of a Republican House. He obviously hadn't thought through an actionable populist-conservative policy synthesis, but he has a lifetime's experience resisting and belittling enemies and extemporizing his way from one crisis to the next.

It may be impossible for him to stop impeachment, certainly not if Nancy Pelosi supports it. But he'll be the focus of a historic drama that will rate -- or at least be remembered and analyzed -- for a very long time. He will have succeeded in making the Democratic House majority all about him, and, if not getting convicted by the Senate counts as a victory, he will win in the end.

The post-trial tweetstorm will be something to behold.

10 years ago...

With only weeks remaining before the opening of the new Anderson County Law Enforcement Center in Garnett, officials are stepping up procedures in preparation for the move. One of the most recent changes to ready for the move include hiring of a new head jailer. John Hawes has served as head jailer for several years, but made the choice to step down to a jailer position when the new facility opens. Bob Wedel, of Garnett, has been hired to fill the position after the move.

Use up your small and undersized envelopes and cards before July 15 because that is the date when the postal service's new size standards become effective. After July 15 envelopes and cards measuring less than 3 1/2 inches high or 5 inches long will be returned to the sender if mailed. Postmaster Don Hampton said stores should not be selling many undersized items as they have had three years to prepare for the new standards.

100 years ago...

There is little doubt that the two men who broke into the Lone Elm bank several days ago are now in jail here. They were arrested in Joplin, Mo., and Sheriff Hawthorne went after them and brought them to Garnett. The men gave their names as Ed Morey and William Graner. Both are pretty tough looking chaps. The two men stopped at a hotel in Joplin and a man occupying a room next to theirs heard them talking. One of them remarked that they had to get rid of the bonds. The man went and informed an officer and the men were soon arrested. The bonds proved to be those taken from the bank in Lone Elm.

I'm sure almost everyone can identify this artifact as a "door latch".

However, this old latch was found by me at the site of a house built in 1857 and abandoned just two years later in 1859.

In fact this house was a part of one of Anderson County's earliest settlements.

This artifact is known as a "Rim Dead Lock".

These locks could not be used with door knobs. All were made to be used with either right or left hand doors.

In 1897, some 38 years later you could purchase this lock as advertised in the Sears Catalog.

Rim Dead Lock, iron bolt, iron key, one tumbler, packaged with mounting screws were 10-cents each or $1.00 per dozen.

I'm wondering what the very same lock would cost you today?

Lady Bulldogs winning streak ends with split

BY KEVIN GAINES THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW
CARBONDALE - Santa Fe Trail and Anderson County met bright and early Saturday morning for a doubleheader as the teams split the games in large part due to Lady Bulldogs miscues late in game number two.

Anderson County won the early game 8-5, stretching their win streak to 10 games.

The Lady Bulldogs scored a run in the first, two runs in the second, four runs in the fifth inning and tacked on an insurance run in the seventh inning.

The first run came via a two-out rally.

The top two hitters in the lineup were retired before three straight singles by Cali Foltz, Holli Miller and Ashley Lickteig scored the first run.

Santa Fe Trail answered with a run of their own in the bottom half of the first but the Bulldogs struck for two more in the second.

Another slow start to the inning as Abbie Fritz struckout to lead off the inning which was followed by a Madison Stevens bunt single.

After a groundout the Bulldogs again rallied with two outs, this time with back to back doubles by Eli Pedrow and Kaylyn Disbrow.

The bats were quiet for the next couple of innings before Disbrow led off the fifth inning with a double and was promptly driven in on a home run by Foltz to stretch the lead to 5-1.

Miller and Lickteig also singled and both would go on to score in the inning.

Santa Fe Trail picked up 3 runs in the bottom half of the inning, cutting the lead to 7-4, to stay within striking distance.

Both teams would plate a lone run in the seventh to account for all the scoring.

Disbrow, Miller and Stevens all picked up 3 hits in the game. Lickteig and Foltz each had a pair of hits.

The production was up and down the lineup as all but one starter either scored or drove in a run in the game.

Alison Brown pitched all 7 innings, allowed 8 hits, walked 3, struck out 13 and allowed 4 earned runs.

In the second half of the doubleheader, Santa Fe Trail rallied from an early 4-0 deficit in the final two innings to win 5-4.

Foltz hit her second home run of the day in the opening inning to give her Bulldogs an early 2-0 advantage.

Anderson County would score two more runs in the third inning.

Rachel McAdam opened the inning with a walk and was followed by Pedrow and Disbrow with singles to load the bases for Foltz.

Despite trailing 2-0, Santa Fe Trail wasn't going to let Foltz blow the game wide open with a big hit so they walked her on 4 straight pitches to give Anderson County a 3-0 lead.

It proved to be a smart play as the next three Bulldogs were retired, Pedrow was able to tag and score on a sacrifice fly by Lickteig.

Pitcher Brown pitched out of a key jam in the fifth inning.

Brown walked the lead-off hitter before a single and another walk loaded the basis.

Brown was able to retire 3 of the last 4 hitters to limit them to one run.

The score would remain 4-1 until the bottom of the sixth inning.

An error to leadoff the inning, followed by a single had Santa Fe Trail on the attack.

Brown did force a pop out to record an out but the defense would let her down again with another error on the ensuing batter, which also scored a run to cut the lead to 4-2.

Three straight singles followed to score 3 runs and put the Bulldogs behind 5-4 which would go on to be the final.

Foltz led the way going 3-3 at the plate, driving in 3 runs and scoring another.

Brown pitched well enough to win but in the end she went 6 innings, allowed 9 hits, struck out 7 and allowed 1 earned run.

Two Bulldog golfers finish in the top 3 at league

BY KEVIN GAINES THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW

Josh Martin and Carson Powelson finished second and third at league golf last week.

Martin finished with an 83 and Powelson was just one stroke back with an 84.

Justin Rockers (96) finished just outside the top ten in 13th place.

Bulldogs Jayden Jarett (106),

Zach Barnes (114) and Nathan Gwin (115) finished 18th, 21st and 22nd respectively.

Jace Watkins of Burlington was 7 strokes ahead of Martin with a 76.

As a team Burlington (344) was in first, Santa Fe Trail (362) finished second and Anderson County (369) was in third.

Offense leads Bulldogs to sweep of Burlington

BY KEVIN GAINES THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW

BURLINGTON - Anderson County added a pair of wins to stretch their winning streak to 9 games now, sweeping Burlington by a combined total 24-9.

In the opening game, AC cruised to a 17-4 victory.

Big innings have been the norm lately for Anderson County and this game was much of the same. The Bulldogs scored 6 runs in the third and tacked on 7 in the sixth to end the game early.

A grand slam by Bo Dilliner with two outs in the top of the sixth was the icing on the cake to the lopsided victory.

Anderson County pounded out 16 hits in the game. Everyone starter reached base at least once with 8 of the 9 reaching base twice.

Austin Adams and Travis

Spencer both had 3 hits on the afternoon.

Dilliner and Adams both drove in 4 runs, followed by Spencer with 3 runs driven in.

Tyler Denny started the game on the mound and allowed 5 hits in 4 innings, walking just one batter and allowing 2 earned runs.

In the second game, Anderson County jumped out to a 5-0 lead after their half of the third inning before Burlington rallied but fell short losing 7-5.

The Bulldogs plated a run in the first on a Dilliner single, scoring Damone Kueser.

The big inning was a 4 run third inning for the Bulldogs, which was aided heavily by a dropped third strike that led to extra runs.

Austin Adams led off the inning with a walk which was followed by a Porter Richards single.

Following a Dilliner flyout, Kyle Edgecomb singled to score both Adams and Richards.

With two outs, Allen struck out but did so on a wild pitch and was able to get to first base as the ball rolled to the backstop.

After walking E. Lutz on four pitches, the Burlington pitcher allowed a single to Travis Spencer to stretch the lead out to 5-0 as both Dilliner and Allen crossed home plate.

Burlington scored 3 runs in the bottom of the third inning to cut the lead down to 5-3.

Anderson County responded with single runs in both the 4th and 5th inning to stretch their lead to 7-3.

Burlington wasn't going down without a fight as they began a two out rally in the bottom of the seventh that came up with two more runs.

Anderson County assisted the rally after retiring the first two batters, they committed an error that should have been the third out. Burlington walked in the next at bat and then hit 3 straight singles before the rally was stalled with a flyout to end the game.

Kueser was the starting pitcher in the late game. He allowed just 4 hits, 0 earned runs and struck out 3 in 6 innings of work.

They spoke about proper etiquette when handling the flag, such as how to raise, lower and fold the flag. Pictured is VFW member Clarence Herman showing 5th graders, Brooklyn Strobel and Anthony Hartle, the proper way to fold our nation's flag. VFW member Marvin Roberts watches the folding lesson, along with sixth graders Dalton Howard and Cayden Secrest. One of our favorite days of kindergarten in Westphalia is the wedding day of Q and U. Why would the letters Q and U get married, you ask? Well if you ask Kindergarteners, they'll tell you that they are letter buddies and Miss Q cannot live without Mister U. This is a fun celebration of letter sounds and decoding skills in kindergarten. To honor this union, Mrs. Dodd's kindergarten room becomes a wedding venue and the "marriage" celebration takes place. Of course, a wedding is not complete without vows, a dance reception, and wedding cake! Pictured are Aleecia Hudson and Aiden Perry.

Pieces and Patches Quilt Guild preparing for quilt show during Square Fair

Pieces and Patches Quilt Guild Minutes, April 25, 2019
 The Pieces and Patches Quilt Guild was called to order by President Mary Parrott on April 25, 2019 at 9:30 a.m. at the K-State Extension Office Conference Room. Roll call was answered by 22 members. There were no guests.

The March 2019 minutes were approved as printed in the Newsletter. Lynda Feuerborn gave the Treasurer's report.

Committee Reports

Program
 Jeanette Gadelman reported that she and Mary Parrott and Vickie Hurt went to the Heartland Quilt Network annual meeting and had a good time. It was so crowded that the Network will be moving to a bigger venue next year. They displayed our Opportunity Quilt, got many compliments (especially about the machine embroidered flowers and vine by Connie Hatch) and they sold some raffle tickets. They booked a trunk show for March 2020 by Theresa Ward on String Quilts. They learned about a grant from Nancy Wakefield, rules and application sometime in the fall. It is open to guilds with 50 members or less to help the guilds bring people in.

Following our May 23rd meeting and lunch, we will have a Twilling Class taught by Christina from the Eudora Quilt Shop. It will be $20 per person and the supplies will be provided.

Our June meeting will be followed by a workshop by Linda McAdam to teach us how to make a bag from a placemat. Our meeting was suspended for a Show and Tell program from three students of Todd and Kelli Mildfelt (teacher and para at Greenbush), Matt, Porter and William. Each student showed their hand sewn quilt representing planets and showing the current scientific research into the Universe. Each of their quilts had a special item sewn into them that was of significance to them. Guild members were amazed by the knowledge of these students and the quilts they had made. The Guild has invited them to put their quilts in our Annual Quilt Show.

Our meeting resumed. Violet Holt reminded us that the Sunflower Quilt Guilds Quilt Show is Saturday the 27th 9-4 and Sunday the 28th 12-4 at the National Guard Armory in Iola. Admission is $3. Violet Holt showed the Ribbons that were made for the winning quilts. Another member of our guild pointed out that Violet Holt is the featured quilter at the show.

Scholarship: Mary Parrott relayed Ruth Theis' report that a winner has been selected. Mary will attend the award ceremony.

Charity Quilts: Sandra Moffatt delivered nine quilts to the Life Care Center in Burlington.

2020 Opportunity Quilt: Judy Stukey announced that the rows of "Shimmering Leaves" blocks have been sewn together and work will next be on the borders.

May Quilt Show: Quilt racks will be delivered to the Senior Center at 2:30, Friday, May 10 and we will begin setting them up and receiving and hanging quilts. Bonnie passed out entry forms and emphasized that people will want to read the section of the form where you can provide a story of your quilt. Our quilt show is an Open Quilt show and we encourage members of the community to bring in their quilts. We will also receive quilts Saturday morning, May 11 from 8-10. Bonnie has written and sent a press release to the Newspapers and to the local Channel 20. She sent the press release to Terrie who posted it on our Facebook page. She asks Mary to forward it to other quilt guilds.

Bonnie would like to have 4-5 additional raffle prizes besides the Opportunity Quilt. Violet Holt and Cynthia Fletcher each donated a prize.

Bonnie requests members bring items to put in front of the legs of our quilt stands. Given this is our 30th Birthday, one idea for them might be a wrapped birthday gift.

Bonnie would like members to bring any completed Fidget Quilts for the Quilt Show.

Jackie Gardner is in charge of the Boutique and asked members to contact her after the meeting if willing to help price the items.

2019 Block of the Month: The following members showed their completed second Block of the Month pattern, "Brilliance Runner": Cynthia Fletcher, Judy Stukey, Phyllis Gordon, Shirley Allen and Terrie Gifford. Phyllis Gordon won the drawing and received a prize. A group picture was taken.

Mary Parrott handed out the instructions for the third Block of the Month to be completed by the June meeting. She showed the sample made by Sharon Rich as well as her own sample.

August Luncheon: Mary read the names of those who are on the committee and suggested that planning begin.

Nominating Committee: Mary asked for volunteers to be on the nominating committee. Bonnie Deiter and Judy Stukey volunteered.

Secret Sister Gifts: Two members reported they had received Easter Cards from their Secret Sister. Bonnie Deiter received a birthday gift.

Show and Tell: Ten members showed 22 quilted items.

The meeting was adjourned by President Mary.

Following lunch, there was a sew-in to make Fidget Quilts.

Historical Society hears native son Edgar Lee Masters discussion

Thirty members and guests of the Anderson County Historical Society met at the museum for a potluck dinner, meeting and program on May 2.

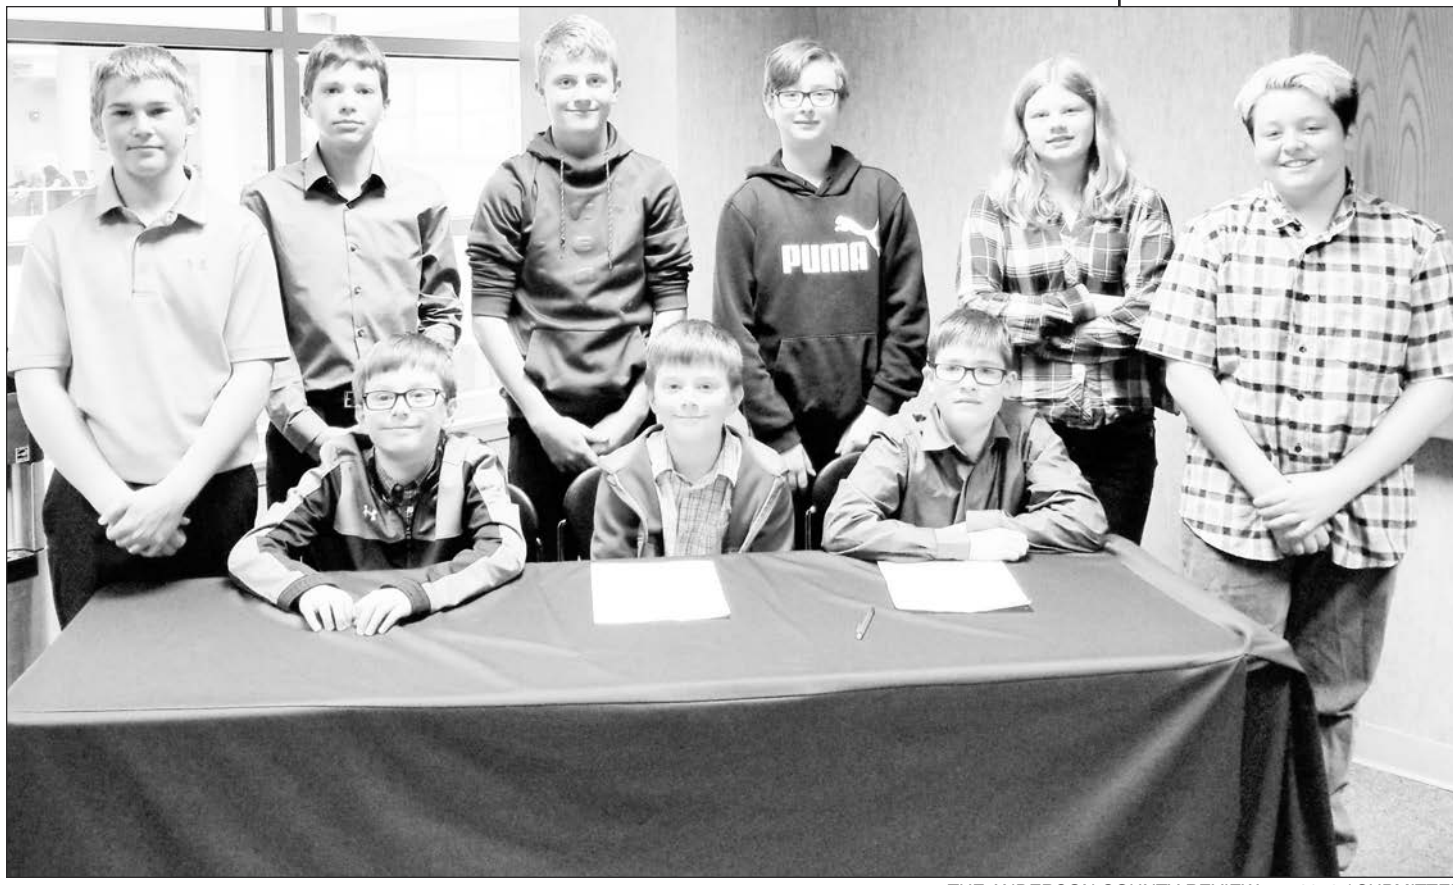

Ruth Lee Hastert presented a book review of Spoon River Anthology by Edgar Lee Masters, a Garnett native son. Masters, born in Garnett in 1868, moved to a small town in Illinois as a child where he grew to adulthood. Although becoming a successful lawyer in Chicago, his passion was writing. Spoon River Anthology, published in 1915, became an American literature classic and provides insight into the mystery of truth and the mastery of life. The literary masterpiece is a collection of 246 poems, which Masters described as epitaphs, each told by a citizen of the fictional town of Spoon River who speaks from the grave. The stories become intertwined, as each citizen gives his own view of life and the culture of the small town.

Masters died in 1950, and is buried in the Petersburg, IL cemetery, one of the small towns used as a model for Spoon River.

A U.S. Postage stamp was issued with his picture on August 22, 1970. The Garnett Post Office held a ceremony celebrating the release of the 6 cent stamp.

In 2015, Lewiston, IL celebrated the 100th Anniversary of the publication of Spoon River Anthology with a festival, tours, exhibitions, and theatrical performances. Today you can take self-guided tours through the Oak Hill Cemetery in Lewiston and view tombstones with the surnames of the characters in the anthology.

Mrs. Secrest, the 5th/6th grade teacher at Greeley Elementary and Mrs. Richards, Jr High social studies teacher at ACJHS, assembled a team of nine students to travel to K-State in Manhattan, Kansas to compete in the Middle School "We the People" competition. The students worked in teams of three to four, answering six different questions about our constitution. They were given their questions in November and were required to do all the research and put their papers together on their own. They competed against six other schools in the state of Kansas. The Greeley/ACJH team won top question for Question Number 4 over all the other schools. They competed against schools with teams of 30 to 40 students, yet they were a team of only nine. The Greeley/ACJH team had never attended the "We the People" competition before and they competed well.
