Expansion, voters' decision, still on hold

Two-pronged plan for city's 5-member commission change still awaits approval

BY DANE HICKS THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW

GARNETT – City commissioners are expected to approve a plan in coming weeks which will delay by a year the track that would add two members to the present three-member commission, and at the same time schedule an election for this coming November to give voters a chance to make a binding decision on the proposition.

A successful petition drive earlier this year against the change threw a wrench in its original timetable aimed at seating two new commissioners this coming January. The new plan will approve a duplicate charter ordinance outlining the addition of the two commissioners and the mechanics that will place them on the governing body, and a second ordinance will call for an election on that very option per the petition which successfully pushed the initial move to a public vote.

City attorney Terry Solander said election deadlines which require the city to certify how many of its elected positions will be on the November 2019 ballot didn't allow for that question to be resolved prior to the petitioned vote, which will determine whether the 5-member plan succeeds or fails. Scheduling the petition election during the November balloting allowed the city to save money over scheduling a special election, though the mechanics of the plan would have to be moved back a year.

That means the November 2019 election would be held as usual for the seat presently held by Greg Gwin. If the petition vote passes and voters vote down the 5-member commission option, there would be no change in the seat elections. If the petition vote fails, Huss' term would be extended a year to 2021 with two new commissioners elected in November 2020.

Commissioners initially adopted these mechanics in order to give two new commissioners some training time with three experienced commissioners.

Gwin and Huss both expressed concern that voter turnout in the upcoming elections wouldn't be higher than last November's advisory vote.

"The bad thing is the way the petition was driven, we're going to disregard the answer we got from 1,000 people, and we're going to accept the word we get from 350 people," Gwin said.

Huss said she still favored a mail ballot election on the question in order to have more participation.

The plan has not yet been adopted by commissioners.

City revamps neighborhood storm shelter plan for locals

Former plan outdated and some previous shelters are no more

BY DANE HICKS THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW

GARNETT – City leaders are pursuing a plan to update storm shelter locations in the City of Garnett as the 2019 severe weather season gets into full swing, hoping to line up and then publicize shelter locations before they're needed.

City manager Chris Weiner told commissioners last week at present only the Garnett United Methodist Church at 205 S. Oak was available as a public shelter during threatening weather, and the city was looking into other location options and possibly even looking into grant funds for the construction of shelters if need be.

City and county leaders last delved into the issue of organizing public shelters in 2013 after a threatening storm bore down on Anderson County but ended up blowing through with little damage. Public officials realized at the time they had traditional expectations that some locations like churches, the county courthouse and Anderson County Hospital would be available to neighbors in time of a tornado warning, but they had no actual assurance from the heads of those various facilities that would in fact be able to receive people, and couldn't legitimately be promoted as such.

Anderson County Hospital had a basement in the old structure which was replaced in 2015, but the present structure is one level.

At one time after a city list was compiled, four churches in the city agreed to serve as shelters.

City attorney Terry Solander, who also serves as a board member on the Anderson County Historical Society, said school buildings like the historical museum at the corner of 6th Avenue and Maple Streets, and the former Irving Primary School at 212 Pine, could make adequate shelters as well if some renovation was done to allow public access to a shelter area without giving access to

Tornado sheltering tips

NORMAN, Okla. – The National Storm Prediction Center in Norman, Okla., has these tips for sheltering in the event of tornados and severe storms:

In a house with a basement: Avoid windows. Get in the basement and under some kind of sturdy protection (heavy table or work bench), or cover yourself with a mattress or sleeping bag. Know where very heavy objects rest on the floor above (pianos, refrigerators, waterbeds, etc.) and do not go under them. They may fall down through a weakened floor and crush you. Head protection, such as a helmet, can boost survivability also.

In a house with no basement, a dorm, or an apartment: Avoid windows. Go to the lowest floor, small center room (like a bathroom or closet), under a stairwell, or in an interior hallway with no windows. Crouch as low as possible to the floor, facing down; and cover your head with your hands. A bath tub may offer a shell of partial protection. Even in an interior room, you should cover yourself with some sort of thick padding (mattress, blankets, etc.), to protect against falling debris in case the roof and ceiling fail. A helmet can offer some protection against head injury.

In an office building, hospital, nursing home or skyscraper: Go directly to an enclosed, windowless area in the center of the building -- away from glass and on the lowest floor possible. Then, crouch down and cover your head. Interior stairwells are usually good places to take shelter, and if not crowded, allow you to get to a lower level quickly. Stay off the elevators; you could be trapped in them if the power is lost.

In a mobile home: Get out! Even if your home is tied down, it is not as safe as an underground shelter or permanent, sturdy building. Go to one of those shelters, or to a nearby permanent structure,

AUGUST 25, 1933 - MAY 4, 2019

Norma Tilton, age 85, died on Saturday, May 4, 2019, at the Richmond Healthcare and Rehabilitation Center in Richmond, Kansas.

Norma Delight Thompson was born on August 25, 1933, in Anderson County, Kansas to

A memorial service was held Saturday, May 18, 2019, at the Feuerborn Family Funeral Service Chapel in Garnett, Kansas. Inurnment followed in the Welda Cemetery.

Jesus said, "Do not be afraid"

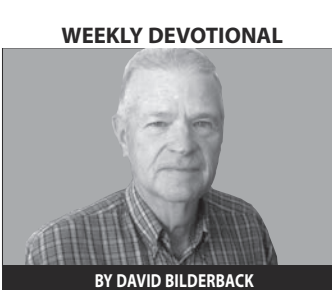

The Revelation, the concluding book of the scriptures, unfolds the great events bringing history to consummation, including the revelation of Jesus Christ at his second advent. This revelation was revealed to John by Jesus Christ while John was exiled on the isle of Patmos.

John said he heard a loud voice like a trumpet and he turned to see the voice that was speaking to him. John writes, when I saw him, (Jesus) I fell at his feet as though I was dead. Then he placed his right hand on me and said: "Do not be afraid. I am the First and the Last. I am the Living One; I was dead, and behold I am alive for ever and ever! And I hold the keys of death and Hades."

In Matthew we are told Jesus reached out his hand and touched the leper and he was healed. He healed Peter's mother-in-law by touching her hand. In Mark we are told Jesus touched the deaf man and he was healed.

I find it interesting that Jesus reaches down and touches John with his right hand. When John turned to see he tells us he saw someone "like a son of man." This is not the same appearance Jesus had when John walked with him during his ministry. John was so afraid he fell at his (Jesus) feet as dead. Then John says Jesus placed his right hand on me and he said, "Do not be afraid."

John was called "the disciple that Jesus loved." Jesus' appearance had changed. He now appears as he will when he returns to claim his church. But one thing hadn't change.

WEEKLY DEVOTIONAL

BY DAVID BILDERBACK

His heart is the same. he tells John, "Do not be afraid." He will make that same statement to you and I. If you are a child of God you have nothing to fear. If you are not answer his invitation. "Here I am! I stand at the door and knock. If anyone hears my voice and opens the door, I will come in and eat with him and he with me." (Revelation 3:20)

For "Decoration Day," Garfield said it first & best

James Garfield didn't know, when he made the first "Decoration Day" address at Arlington National Cemetery on May 30, 1868, that he himself would fall in service to his country - as its 20th president and from an assassin's bullet - 13 years later.

Five thousand people had gathered that day in May in Washington, D.C., to hear the then Ohio congressman and former major general in the Civil War reaffirm the nation's understanding of its debt to those who had given their lives to preserve the Union, and who now lie beneath the grounds at Arlington. The loss of those souls and the wounds of the Civil War were still raw.

Garfield was the first to grasp and convey the sense of Decoration Day, which later became "Memorial Day," and I thought those original words fitting as we prepare to carry forth our tradition of remembrance this week.

"I am oppressed with a sense of the impropriety of uttering words on this occasion. If silence is ever golden, it must be here beside the graves of fifteen thousand men, whose lives were more significant than speech, and whose death was a poem, the music of which can never be sung. With words we make promises, plight faith, praise virtue. Promises may not be kept; plighted faith may be broken; and vaunted virtue be only the cunning mask of vice. We do not know one promise these men made, one pledge they gave, one word they spoke; but we do know they summed up and perfected, by one supreme act, the highest virtues of men and citizens. For love of country they accepted death, and thus resolved all doubts, and made immortal their patriotism and their virtue. For the noblest man that lives, there still remains a conflict. He must still withstand the assaults of time and fortune, must still be assailed with temptations, before which lofty natures have fallen; but with these the conflict ended, the victory was won, when death stamped on them the great seal of heroic character, and closed a record which years can never blot.

"I know of nothing more appropriate on this occasion than to inquire what brought these men here; what high motive led them to condense life into an hour, and to crown that hour by joyfully welcoming death? Let us consider.

"Eight years ago this was the most unwarlike nation of the earth. For nearly fifty years, no spot in any of these states had been the scene of battle. Thirty millions of people had an army of less than ten thousand men. The faith of our people in the stability and permanence of their institutions was like their faith in the eternal course of nature. Peace, liberty, and personal security were blessings as common and universal as sunshine and showers and fruitful seasons; and all sprang from a single source, the old American principle that all owe due submission and obedience to the lawfully expressed will of the majority. This is not one of the doctrines of our political system—it is the system itself. It is our political firmament, in which all other truths are set, as stars in Heaven. It is the encasing air, the breath of the Nation's life. Against this principle the whole weight of the rebellion was thrown. Its overthrow would have brought such ruin as might follow in the physical universe, if the power of gravitation were destroyed and (quoting John Milton's Paradise Lost)... "Nature's concord broke, Among the constellations war were sprung, Two planets, rushing from aspect malign Of fiercest opposition, in mid-sky Should combat, and their jarring spheres confound."

"The Nation was summoned to arms by every high motive which can inspire men. Two centuries of freedom had made its people unfit for despotism. They must save their Government or miserably perish.

"As a flash of lightning in a midnight tempest reveals the abysmal horrors of the sea, so did the flash of the first gun disclose the awful abyss into which rebellion was ready to plunge us. In a moment the fire was lighted in twenty million hearts. In a moment we were the most warlike Nation on the earth. In a moment we were not merely a people with an army—we were a people in arms. The Nation was in column—not all at the front, but all in the array. "I love to believe that no heroic sacrifice is ever lost; that the characters of men are molded and inspired by what their fathers have done; that treasured up in American souls are all the unconscious influences of the great deeds of the Anglo-Saxon race, from Agincourt to Bunker Hill. It was such an influence that led a young Greek, two thousand years ago, when musing on the battle of Marathon, to exclaim, "the trophies of Miltiades will not let me sleep!" Could these men be silent in 1861; these, whose ancestors had felt the inspiration of battle on every field where civilization had fought in the last thousand years? Read their answer in this green turf. Each for himself gathered up the cherished purposes of life—its aims and ambitions, its dearest affections—and flung all, with life itself, into the scale of battle.

"And now consider this silent assembly of the dead. What does it represent? Nay, rather, what does it not represent? It is an epitome of the war. Here are sheaves reaped in the harvest of death, from every battlefield of Virginia. If each grave had a voice to tell us what its silent tenant last saw and heard on earth, we might stand with uncovered heads, and hear the whole story of the war. We should hear that one perished when the first great drops of the crimson shower began to fall, when the darkness of that first disaster at Manassas fell like an eclipse on the Nation; that another died of disease while wearily waiting for winter to end; that this one fell on the field, in sight of the spires of Richmond, little dreaming that the flag must be carried through three more years of blood before it should be planted in that citadel of treason; and that one fell when the tide of war had swept us back till the roar of rebel guns shook the dome of yonder Capitol, and re-echoed in the chambers of the Executive Mansion. We should hear mingled voices from the Rappahannock, the Rapidan, the Chickahominy, and the James; solemn voices from the Wilderness, and triumphant shouts from the Shenandoah, from Petersburg, and the Five Forks, mingled with the wild acclaim of victory and the sweet chorus of returning peace. The voices of these dead will forever fill the land like holy benedictions.

"What other spot so fitting for their last resting place as this under the shadow of the Capitol saved by their valor? Here, where the grim edge of battle joined; here, where all the hope and fear and agony of their country centered; here let them rest, asleep on the Nation's heart, entombed in the Nation's love."

Tax cut vs. Governor's new expense plan

It's going to be a week before we find out whether Democratic Gov. Laura Kelly is actually going to get her wish of putting the state back in a fiscally sound posture.

And that wait will come when the House votes sometime around noon May 29 on the governor's veto of a whittled-down income tax bill that Kelly says the state can't afford now and might or might not be able to afford next year when the entire Legislature stands for reelection.

She, or rather, she and the calendar, won her first veto battle over a giant income tax-cut (some say tax relief) bill passed in the regular session of the Legislature. That earlier tax bill, which would have cost the state coffers more than $500 million over the next three years, was a Kelly/calendar victory because the Legislature was on spring break when it got her veto message and couldn't vote on overriding that action.

This new tax bill, which legislators received in time for a veto consideration during its final adjournment day on May 29, is the real test of the governor and count on it... there will be a vote on override.

The three-year, $238 million reduction in taxes—call it a tax cut or a tax maintenance bill because it pays down some of the increase that the December 2017 federal income tax bill triggered for mostly corporations doing international business which saw more of their income subject to state taxes—is the issue.

It's the biggest test for a new Kelly era because a majority of Republicans in the House and Senate want to pare taxes for

MARTIN HAWVER, At The Rail

Kansans, both the corporations which make millions of dollars of campaign contributions to Republicans and to upper-income candidates who are also heavy donors to GOP campaigns.

Win the veto battle? That means Kelly has the chance to maintain revenues that her administration will spend on social services, education, management of the state and infrastructure which means largely smoother roads.

Lose the battle? That means less money for those projects.

Oh, and it also means that members of the House and Senate next year will likely not be able to offer up that election-year candy, brand new and voter-targeted income tax cuts that would be at the top of their campaign literature, a demonstration that they—not some challenger who doesn't have a track record—should be sent back to Topeka for the winter.

Kelly plans to assemble a tax advisory committee this summer that will outline just what sort of tax cuts she believes the state can afford in terms of lost revenue and that Kansas voters will actually enjoy. Oh, and one that will undoubtedly include some genuine reduction in sales tax on food, likely to be returned to grocery buyers in a manner that will improve their living standards, not just a dime or a quarter every time they go to the store.

Can she see her veto sustained?

That's the tough one. That tax bill that was sent to her during the veto session passed the House—where the first vote on overriding the veto will be taken—on a vote of 83-41, with a likely pro-tax cut representative not present. That's one vote shy of the 84 needed to override the veto in that chamber and send it to the Senate where it was approved in the veto session on a 27-13 vote. Key there is that 27 votes are needed for an override, which means if nobody changes their mind, the veto will be overridden.

That's when we find out who the political winner is. Because, frankly, who in November 2020 is going to still be euphoric over a smaller tax bill they paid in April 2020?

You don't have to dig far to find the real Trump

The surprise about the big New York Times story on Donald Trump's tax returns is that there are no real surprises.

Trump's taxes have been an obsession of the left since he, in violation of a long-standing norm, reneged on his promise to release his returns during the 2016 campaign.

Democrats counted as one of the advantages of taking the House that they could demand Trump's returns. The dispute resulting from the administration's refusal to turn them over is now probably headed to the Supreme Court. All the while, the expectation, or at least the suspicion, was that the returns contained some awful secret, perhaps evidence that he is a tool of the Russians.

And here, The New York Times has obtained Trump's tax information spanning a decade from the mid-1980s to mid-1990s, and the revelation is that he wasn't doing as well as he said in public and lost a boatload of money in a period that nearly destroyed him. In other words, exactly what anyone paying any attention would have expected.

Yes, the amount of the reported loss, $1.17 billion, is remarkable (although inflated for tax purposes) and some of the details memorable, but can anyone say that they are surprised?

Trump himself, the Washington Examiner notes, talked about his precarious financial state in this period on the first episode of "The Apprentice." In fact, he may have exaggerated, saying that he had been "billions of dollars" in debt.

As for Trump's use of tax loopholes, he said in a debate with Hillary Clinton that if he didn't owe any tax liability, that made him "smart."

There really are no Trump mysteries. His flaws aren't hidden away. He often attests to them himself, or demonstrates them publicly. For someone who cares so much about his image, and so assiduously crafts it, he's a relative open book.

No blockbuster report has more than a passing effect because each dispatch is, ultimately, another dot in a pointillist portrait of the president that was largely completed long ago.

This is also why the hope that we are one investigation, tax return or subpoena away from the revelation that will finally bring Trump down -- or even make a difference -- is almost certainly forlorn.

Obviously, it was news that he had paid off a porn star during the presidential campaign, and highly embarrassing. This is why Trump denied it for so long. But he'd already told us about his womanizing in his own words, often on "The Howard Stern Show."

Likewise, the most blameworthy conduct regarding Russia's election interference in 2016 was out in the open -- the Trump campaign was happy to derive any possible advantage from the WikiLeaks disclosures, and Trump tried to deny the obvious Russian involvement.

We didn't need a 400-page special counsel report to break this news. None of this is to defend or excuse Trump's business practices, or his conduct in office. It is merely to say that he's an extravagantly known quantity, and will likely win or lose in 2020 based on what we already know rather than the fruits of further investigation and fact-finding.

What does the anchor represent? 40 years ago...Bank approved for new building that would double their capacity

Once again I am asking for your help. This tombstone is located in the Hyatt cemetery southwest of Garnett.

I'm not asking for help on identifying the name Jackson Black, but on the anchor symbol on his stone.

Through research I know a little bit about Jackson Black.

I know Jackson came to Anderson County after serving in the Civil War and that he purchased some land west of Welda, KS.

He was married to a sister of Henry T. Hill, who later purchased this land from his brother-in-law Jackson Black.

H.T. Hill operated a stage coach station on this site for many years. This stage station became known as "Hungry Hollow".

As for the identification of the anchor. Thru my research I Jackson Black was in the Civil War, but not in the Navy.

Is the anchor a symbol representing some organization or could it have spiritual meaning? The Bible tells us to hold on to our anchor firmly.

These are unanswered questions I have and that's why I'm asking for your help.

The Kansas Department of Revenue sent the county treasurer's information stating their had been a final ruling on the matter of odometer reporting that will be retroactive to April 29, 1989. New titles issued will have a space on the back for the signature of both the purchaser and the seller. Garnett Savings and Loan Association received authority to build a new building at the northwest corner of Oak and 6th in Garnett and plan to start construction as soon as the contractor is available. Darrell Berry, manager, reports that the new building had been planned for some time but before it could be built a hearing was necessary before the Commission of Savings and Loan Association in Topeka. The new building will have 3,000 square feet of working area, more than twice as much as the present building, a full basement, unfinished. New features will include a drive-up window and night depository. Triangle Builders of Paola will be the contractors.

There isn't an empty modern house in Garnett and not half a dozen houses that are not modern. Indeed, there is such a demand for houses that we know of families who have received warning to vacate and don't know where to go, the reason being these houses have been sold and the purchasers want to take possession and move in. Garnett needs more houses, good, modern, up to date houses and it is up to people who have means to build some in order that people wish to come here to live here may do so. The city is so situated from a railroad point of view that it is an ideal place for commercial travelers to bring their families and make it their home. It would be an easy thing to induce traveling men to locate.

May declared beef month in Kansas

Many products get publicity and special recognition during the year. But in Kansas, if any product deserves its own month, it's beef. That is why Kansas Governor Laura Kelly has declared May as Beef Month in the state. This declaration makes the 35th consecutive year beef has received this honor.

According to Kevin Thielen, executive director of the Kansas Beef Council, the value of beef to the economy and social fabric of the state is remarkable. "With more than 6.35 million cattle on ranches and in feedyards in the state, Kansas ranks third in the country," says Thielen. "That's more than twice the state's human population. Kansas cattle producers are proud of the nutritious, delicious beef they help bring to tables in this state, across the country and around the world."

Kansas has about 46 million acres of farm ground. Not all of this land can be used to grow crops, however. Grazing cattle is an ideal technique for efficiently utilizing grasses and plants growing on nearly 15 million acres of Kansas pasture and rangeland. These acres would be wasted if not for ruminants like cattle that can turn these resources into essential protein and nutrients for humans.

Kansas ranked second in fed cattle marketed, with 4.9 million in 2017. Beef cattle and calves represented 52.8% of the 2017 Kansas agricultural cash receipts.

The effect of the beef industry on employment is significant as well. According to the American Meat Institute, Kansas companies that produce, process, distribute and sell meat and poultry products employ as many as 19,502 people, while generating an additional 48,070 jobs in supplier and associated industries. These include jobs in companies supplying goods and services to manufacturers, distributors and retailers, as well as those depending on sales to workers in the meat industry.

The product they help bring to market is one that contributes substantially to the human diet. Lean beef provides 10 essential nutrients, including zinc, iron, protein and B vitamins. It does all this for only 170 calories per 3-ounce serving. In fact, a serving of beef provides the same amount of protein as two servings (1 1/2 cups) of cooked black beans - which have 341 calories.

Kansas ranchers and feeders are committed to producing beef responsibly and sustainably, Thielen says. But beef production refined over many generations is only part of the story. Producers also keep consumer needs and wants top of mind.

"While all aspects of beef raising and processing are important, producing beef that is delicious, safe, wholesome and nutritious is 'job one' for our industry," Thielen says. "After all, producers of beef are also consumers of the beef they produce. They're proud of their role in supplying this terrific food that so many people enjoy."

Pitching sends Lady Bulldogs to state

BY KEVIN GAINES THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW

INDEPENDENCE - It has been a roller coaster season for Anderson County. The season began with a 4 game losing streak, then a 10 game winning streak before losing their final 3 games of the regular season.

The Bulldogs (10-7) dropped to the #8 seed because of the end of season skid which dropped them into the bracket that included the #1 overall seed Independence (13-3).

Their opening round game for the Bulldogs was an 8-1 victory over #9 seed Fort Scott (11-8).

Anderson County got off to a quick start by scoring 4 runs in the bottom of the first inning.

The first run scored on a double by Cali Foltz which was followed up by a single by Ashley Lickteig to put the Bulldogs up 2-0.

The third and fourth runs of the inning would come via bases loaded walks to M. Stevens and A. Fritz.

The pitching of A. Brown shut down the Fort Scott bats the entire game. Brown pitched 7 innings, allowed 5 hits, struck out 16 and walked just 2 batters.

AC scored their 8 runs on 8 hits and 6 walks.

Cali Foltz was 2-3, scored a pair of runs and drove in three runs to lead the attack.

Foltz hit a 2 run homerun in the bottom of the fourth that stretched the lead to 7-0.

Fritz was just 1-1 on the afternoon but walked twice, scored a run and drove in two.

Next up for the Lady Bulldogs was top seeded Independence who just cruised past Field Kindley (4-12) 10-1 in their opening round game.

Anderson County would go on to upset Independence 3-1 to advance to 4A State this Thursday in Salina.

Brown held Independence to just one hit in 7 innings, 0 earned runs and struck out 11. On the day she allowed just 1 earned run over 14 innings, gave up just 6 hits while striking out 28 hitters.

The Bulldogs would garner just 4 hits of their own, all doubles.

K. Disbrow, Foltz, Lickteig and Lilly Spring all picked up a hit in the game. Spring and Disbrow each recorded one run batted in to lead the way.

State softball begins play in Salina on Thursday and will finish up on Friday.

The Bulldogs are the #7 seed and will open up at 5:00 p.m. against #2 seed Augusta.

If they win they will play Friday at 11 a.m. for the chance to make the championship game which would follow at 2:00 p.m.

Bulldogs let large lead slip away, season comes to an end

BY KEVIN GAINES THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW

GARNETT - It was a day of upsets across the 4A state baseball playoffs on Tuesday and unfortunately the upset bug hit the third seeded Anderson County Bulldogs (13-6) in the regional championship game as the #11 seed KC-Piper (8-12) battled back from 5 runs down in the final three innings to win 12-8.

It wasn't the only upset as the top seeded, defending state champs and undefeated Iola dropped their regional championship game to eight seeded Tonganoxie.

In the opening round regional game for Anderson County, they downed #14 seeded Independence (5-13), 4-2.

Independence struck first with a pair of runs in the top of the third inning.

The Bulldogs battled back scoring a run of their own in the bottom half of the inning.

After back-to-back strikeouts to begin the inning, Travis Spencer walked then stole second base which allowed him to score on a single by D. Rockers.

It would remain 2-1 until the home half of the fifth inning.

One out singles by Spencer and Rockers led to the first run of the inning.

Spencer would score via error which was followed by a run scoring single by Porter Richards to put AC up 3-2.

Bo Dilliner drove in Austin Adams on a ground ball fielder's choice to put the Bulldogs up 4-2.

Richards and D. Rockers each had 2 hits to pace the Bulldogs.

Tyler Denny started the game on the mound. He pitched 4 innings, allowed just 2 hits and 2 runs (0 earned runs).

Richards closed out the game pitching the final 3 innings and allowing 3 hits while striking out 4 batters.

Next up for the Bulldogs was the regional championship game against KC-Piper which after falling behind 2-0 in the top of the third inning Anderson County scored 7 consecutive runs to take a commanding 7-2 lead heading into the fourth inning.

The Bulldogs scored 3 runs in the bottom of the third inning.

After a groundout to open the inning, Bo Dilliner reached on an error and Damone Kueser followed with a walk.

The bases were loaded following a K. Edgecomb single.

Anderson County's first run came on a D. Kellerman ground out to cut the lead to 2-1.

The ensuing Bulldog batter struck out before T. Spencer picked up a two out single that scored both Logan Allen, who was a courtesy runner for Kueser, and Kellerman.

Six singles in the fourth inning plated four more runs for AC.

Edgecomb hit an infield single to score a run, Kellerman singled scoring two runs and Spencer singled scoring the fourth.

KC-Piper scored two runs in the fifth and then tallied 4 runs in both the 6th and 7th to pull off the surprising comeback.

Adams picked up three hits to lead the Bulldogs and scored a pair of runs.

Spencer, Richards, Edgecomb and Kellerman all picked up two hits in the game. Spencer and Kellerman led the way with 3 runs driven in.

Kueser got the start allowing 15 hits in 5 2/3 innings and 7 earned runs.

Edgecomb came in to try to stop the KC-Piper rally but couldn't cool off their hot bats pitching 1 1/3 innings allowing 4 runs.

Anderson County Emergency Management receives assistance to purchase bleeding control stations

The MFA Oil Foundation has awarded a grant to Anderson County Emergency Management to assist with purchasing 4 public access bleeding control stations. The MFA Oil Foundation provides support to nonprofit organizations that are working to improve communities where MFA Oil has a significant concentration of members and employees. Since it was established in 1998, the MFA Oil Foundation has awarded more than one million dollars in grants.

In addition to this grant Wes Skillman with the Garnett Fire Department worked with the Lake Garnett Grand Prix Revival group to purchase 2 additional kits.

These kits consist of tourniquets, bandages, and protective equipment to be utilized if an incident should occur where someone is injured and suffering major bleeding. The kits are to be mounted in public areas, similar to AED's, so they are easily accessible.

Anderson County has several instructors in the National Stop The Bleed Project which consists of training for the general public to know how to stop bleeding using a variety of tools and supplies. This training takes about 90 the rest of the building's interior.

Garnett's two newest school buildings afford the most protection for a larger number of people, but since they're built on the edges of town few people are in close proximity to them. Anderson County Emergency Preparedness Director J.L. Mersman said the county's smaller communities except for Bush City currently have stand alone, FEMA rated shelters in them.

"We currently do not see a need for additional shelters in those communities that would require a church or other building be utilized," Mersman said.

Garnett leaders plan to distribute information on the shelter plan once it's finalized.

Timely, trendy and profitable

HOW TO SELL STUFF

Dane Hicks
Publisher - THE TRADING POST

If you've been in business any amount of time at all you know being a slave to trends can be disastrous. Buy the "hot" merchandise at the top of its popularity when the price is high and get stuck with it after the customer buzz dies and you can lose your shirt.

But identify the right trend at the right time and the ride can be a profitable one, especially in categories like food, fashion and entertainment where purchases are usually short term and more frequent. As Brad Sugars notes in an article for Entrepreneur online, "How to capture a trend-setting business idea," these are the categories where what goes around comes around - and where frequently what's old becomes new again.

Sugars directs our attention to major brands and the way they reintroduce nostalgic product lines. Not long ago at an urban bar I saw Schlitz beer on tap - that's right - Schlitz. If you're under 40 you probably thought it's brand new. Trust me - it ain't.

Schlitz is famous in beer circles for torpedoing its own quality in an effort to boost profits and take market from Anheuser-Busch back in the late 1960s. But now, Pabst has fixed the recipe and brought back the nostalgia of your dad's beer, and people are digging it because, well, it's cool to drink old. Look at all the moonshines and specialty bourbons on the rise as well.

In trying to identify trends, keep these things in mind:

- 1) Look to the past in your own business category, one with which you're familiar - not a new one. You have a better sense of the past there than elsewhere.
- 2) Remember the golden rule: You have to keep costs low and margins high. If you can't introduce or follow an emerging trend at an extremely comfortable margin (including product, marketing, distribution, etc.), don't do it.
- 3) It won't last. Sugars reminds us to keep an eye on additional opportunities that may appeal to your customer base and be ready to pull the plug on those that wane. Get in. Get out. Don't linger.

Local wildflower tour to be June 20th

Have you ever driven down the highway or maybe turned on to a gravel road just to look at the wildflowers that are scattered across a pasture? If you have you probably wondered what some of those beautiful plants were? If that's the case, then you are in luck, the Frontier Extension District will be hosting a Wildflower and Pasture Tour. The tour will take place in southern Anderson County, Thursday June 20th, 2019. Plans are to meet at the Welda Community Building, which is located just west of 169 Highway, in Welda, KS at 6:30 pm. From that point, the group will then convoy to the pastures.

Once at the location, we will then break into small groups. Each group will be led by one of our tour guides to help you learn about some of the wildflowers that we can find in our native grass meadows and answer any questions that might arise. There is no need to RSVP and there is no cost to attend. But please be advised that this tour will be over rough/uneven terrain, so if you have limited mobility please plan accordingly. You might also want to grab some bug repellent to keep ticks and chiggers off!

Not only will participants learn about our native wildflowers, they will also learn why ranchers burn their pastures in the spring, why they use herbicide in their pastures, and maybe even a little about stocking rates. If this tour sounds of interest to you then please mark Thursday June 20th, 2019 on your calendar. If you have any questions or special accommodations please give Ryan Schaub, Frontier Extension District Agent, a call at 785.448.6826.

MidAmerica Nazarene University announces Spring 2019 Honor Roll

MidAmerica Nazarene University recently announced its President's, Dean's List and Honor Roll for the spring 2019 semester. A total of 384 students qualified for one of the honors.

Ether Morrow made the President's List, Rachel Morrow made the Dean's List and Sarah Morrow made the Honor Roll.

All students in traditional programs carrying 12 semester hours or more with a term GPA from 3.2 to 4.0 may qualify for one of these academic honors. Neutral credit hours are excluded from the calculation and reduce the course load used to figure the honor. The President's List is a 4.0 grade point average for the semester; Dean's List ranges from 3.5 to 3.99; and the Honor Roll is 3.2 to 3.49.

MidAmerica Nazarene University is a private, Christian, liberal arts university of more than 1870 students. Offering 40 plus traditional undergraduate majors, the university is also known for its accelerated professional and graduate programs. Study abroad as well as service-learning experiences are encouraged through MNU's Go Global and ServiceCorps programs. The campus is located on 105 acres in Olathe, Kansas. More information may be found at www.mnu.edu.

Remember to report planted acres to FSA

Area farmers and ranchers should remember that filing an accurate acreage report for all crops and land uses will prevent the loss of benefits for a variety of Farm Service Agency (FSA) programs. If you would like this reflected on your farm acreage report, you must report it in a timely manner or late-file fees will apply. Failed acreage must be reported within 15 days of the disaster event and before disposition of the crop. Failed acreage only needs reported if a different crop will be planted for harvest this growing season.

Prevented planting must be reported no later than 15 days after the final planting date for the applicable crop. May 25, 2019 is the final planting date for 2019 corn in Anderson County. As a result, prevented planting acreage must be reported to FSA by June 10, 2019, if you want this reflected on your acreage report without any late-filed fee being assessed.

July 15th is final date to report your planted acres of corn, grain sorghum, soybeans, and sunflowers. Please contact the Anderson County FSA Office at (785) 448-3128 or stop by the office at 111 N Maple, Garnett, KS, once your corn is planted and we will mark maps with your corn planting dates. This will save time in the office later in the year after you come to report your planted acres of soybeans and grain sorghum.

Colony Christian Church news

The Communion Meditation was given by Howard Reiter. He referenced 1 Peter 5:7, reminding us to cast all our worries on Jesus. So many times, we want to keep carrying our cares and worries, and have God carry us, but he tells us to release them all to Him, to totally turn our burdens over to Him. Guest pastor, Steve Bubna, gave a sermon on Religion and Politics. In Romans 13:1-2, 6,

God tells us to submit to our government authorities, as all authority comes from God. God doesn't see things the way we see them, and these leaders were put in place by Him. Sadly, many people are more passionate about their political views than they are about their religious views. When we engage in religious or political discussions, we need to make sure that the message is not lost by being critical and overly confrontational. As we interact with others, we need to constantly ask ourselves, "Do I 'look' like Jesus?". Hear the sermon in its entirety at <http://www.colonychristianchurch.org>, or you can listen by using a podcast app.

Nearly 43 million Americans expected to travel over Memorial Day

Nearly 43 million Americans will start their summers on a high note with a Memorial Day weekend getaway. This long holiday weekend, marking the unofficial start of summer vacation season, will see the second-highest travel volume on record since AAA began tracking holiday travel volumes dating back to 2000, trailing only the bar set in 2005. Overall, an additional 1.5 million more people will take to the nation's roads, rails and runways compared with last year, a 3.6% increase.

Despite a rising national gas price average that is inching closer to the $3 per gallon mark, the vast majority of holiday travelers will drive to their destinations. For these motorists, INRIX, a global transportation analytics company, expects travel delays on major roads could be more than three times longer than normal during evening commutes.

"Americans are eagerly anticipating the start of summer, and high gas prices won't keep them home this Memorial Day weekend," said Shawn Steward, AAA Kansas spokesman. "Consumer spending remains strong, helped by solid job and income growth. Families continue to prioritize spending their disposable incomes on travel, and near-record numbers of them are looking forward to doing just that for Memorial Day."

By the numbers: 2019 Memorial Day holiday travel forecast

Automobiles: The vast majority of travelers – 37.6 million – will hit the road, the most on record for the holiday and 3.5% more than last year.

Planes: 3.25 million people will take to the skies, 4.8% more than last year, second only to 2005.

Trains, Buses and Cruise Ships: Travel across these sectors will increase by 3.8% to 1.9 million passengers.

Drivers beware: Worst times to hit the road

For the 37.6 million Americans traveling by automobile, INRIX, in collaboration with AAA, predicts drivers will experience the greatest amount of congestion on Thursday, May 24 and Friday, May 25 in the late afternoon as commuters leave work early and mix with holiday travelers. Several major U.S. metros could experience double the travel times compared to a normal trip, while New Yorkers and Washington, D.C., could see three times the delay.

"Drivers in the most congested metros should expect much worse conditions than normal," said Trevor Reed, transportation analyst, INRIX. "Travelers should anticipate delays to start on Wednesday and continue through Memorial Day. Our advice to drivers is to avoid the morning and evening commuting times or plan alternate routes."

Higher gas prices won't keep holiday travelers home
Gas prices have increased by more than 30 cents in the last two months with the national average approaching $3 per gallon ($2.86 on May 14, 2019), which is relatively on par with prices this time last year ($2.87 on May 14, 2018). However, 88% of travelers will choose to drive to their Memorial Day destinations this year, the most on record.

"When gas prices are higher, travelers may shorten the distance of a road trip, eat out less or look for free activities," continued AAA Kansas' Steward. "But, overall, prices are very similar to this time last year and, like then, they aren't letting that deter them from taking summer road trips."

Travelers to see relief in lower hotel and car rental costs

While road trippers are paying more to fill up their vehicles at the gas pump, some of that additional expense can be made up with lower prices on car rentals and hotels this Memorial Day. According to AAA's Leisure Travel Index, car rental prices have declined 7% compared with last year, with an average daily rate of $55. Mid-range hotels are between 2% and 3% cheaper this year, with an average nightly rate of $146 and $183, respectively, for AAA Two and Three Diamond Rated properties. Meanwhile, airfares are holding steady compared with last Memorial Day, for an average roundtrip price of $171.

Victim assistance grant opportunities open for application

Five grant programs serving victims of crime across Kansas are open for application, Kansas Attorney General Derek Schmidt announced today.

More than $2 million in grant funds were awarded last year from five different state programs through the office of the attorney general. Funds are used to assist local and state crime victim assistance organizations across Kansas in providing direct services to crime victims, as well as in developing prevention programs to address violence.

Grant opportunities are open in the following programs:

Child Exchange and Visitation Center Program (CEVC) – This fund seeks to provide supervised child exchange and visitation to children and families at risk due to circumstances relating to domestic or family violence. Applications must be postmarked by May 21, 2019.

Human Trafficking Victim Assistance Fund (HTVAF) – This fund was established by the Legislature in 2013 (K.S.A. 75-758) to provide training regarding human trafficking for law enforcement agencies throughout Kansas, and to support care, treatment and other services for victims of human trafficking and commercial sexual exploitation of a child. Applications must be postmarked by May 22, 2019.

Child Abuse and Neglect (CVAFC-A) – This fund seeks to provide for ongoing operating expenses of programs assisting child victims. Applications must be postmarked by May 23, 2019.

Crime Victims Assistance Fund (CVAFC) – This fund seeks to provide for ongoing operating expenses of programs assisting crime victims, and establishing and maintaining new programs providing services to the victims of crimes. Applications must be postmarked by May 24, 2019.

State Protection from Abuse Fund (PFA) – This fund seeks to provide temporary emergency shelter for adult victims of domestic violence or sexual assault and their dependent children, counseling and assistance to those victims and their children, or educational services directed at reducing the incidence of domestic violence or sexual assault and diminishing its impact on victims. Applications must be postmarked by May 29, 2019.

Application forms and more detailed information on the application process for each of the grant programs can be found at www.ag.ks.gov/grants. Awards will be made this summer. These grant programs are administered by the attorney general's Victim Services Division.

Kansas small business optimism up in April

TOPEKA — Optimism among small business owners continued its steady climb in April, with the NFIB Small Business Optimism Index increasing 1.7 points to 103.5. Sales improved in April, the inventory soft spot seen in last month's report rebounded, and profit trends posted a very solid advance. Job creation plans gained, hiring remained strong, and expectations for sales, business conditions, and credit conditions all improved.

"America's small and independent businesses are rebounding from the first quarter 'shut down, slow down' and don't appear to be looking back. April's Index is further evidence that when certainty and stability increase, so do optimism and action," said NFIB President and CEO Juanita D.

Duggan. "The continued economic boom is thanks, in a major way, to strong growth in the small business half of the economy."

State-specific data is unavailable, but NFIB State Director Dan Murray said, "Our members believe the economy is healthy, so they're comfortable with spending the money necessary to grow their businesses and bring in additional workers."

A net nine percent of all owners (seasonally adjusted) reported higher nominal sales in the past three months, a four-point improvement, and the net percent of owners expecting higher real sales volumes rose one point to a net 20 percent of owners. The net percent of owners reporting inventory increases fell three points to a net two percent (seasonally adjusted). This is consistent with the significant build up in the first quarter that added nearly one point to GDP growth, and owners slowed additions to wait and see how much customers reduced the excess stock. The net percent of owners viewing current inventory stocks as "too low" improved two points to a net negative four percent as fewer owners viewed stocks as excessive.

The net percent of owners planning to expand inventory holdings rose from a negative one percent to two percent, a three-point gain, indicating that strong sales gains resolved the excessive Q1 inventory build and owners are ready to place new orders and build inventory.

Stapp presents program on the making of corn husk dolls

Four Winds Chapter, Revoluters of the American Revolution of Garnett welcomed Gary Stapp on May 4, 2019. Gary presented a program on the making of Corn Husk Dolls and gave the group an actual hands on demonstration in the steps of making a doll from beginning to finish.

In 1984 Gary and Kim had their first baby and Gary wanted to give Kim a special gift for the occasion. Being a frugal person he decided he could make that special gift cheaper than paying such a high price for the corn husk doll in the gift shop, so he did just that. The group asked if they still had that first doll and Gary and Kim laughed, NO! Gary commented he had improved over the years with the technique and the art of designing his dolls. Each doll certainly is amazing to see and the details are to perfection.

Gary is most proud of his "Southern Bells with parasols." Over the 35 years he has made many specialty dolls for people requesting nurses, teachers and brides along with his creations of a complete Nativity with animals, Betsy Ross, Little Bo Peep and many others. Every prop and detail in each doll is made by Gary's hands and creative mind. Gary inspired the group so much there will certainly be a run on corn husk sales in the stores.
