School officials confront vaping with info, education

New health concerns and rising numbers a concern for educators

BY DANE HICKS THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW

TOPEKA — Increased concerns about the health risks of vaping which have caused a number of deaths has brought the issue to the forefront of concerns for local school districts.

Fresh concerns were generated most recently last week, when the Centers for Disease Control published a report saying as of October 1 of this year more than a thousand cases of lung injury had been associated with using e-cigarette devices. The incidents occurred in 48 states and one U.S. territory.

The report said 18 deaths had been confirmed in 15 states. The CDC report came on the heels of a February report on the results of a national survey that showed about 37 percent of 12th graders reported vaping in 2018, compared to 28 percent in 2017. About 44,000 students participated in the survey.

Vaping uses a battery powered electronic burner to vaporize various liquids for inhaling, including nicotine, flavoring and other chemicals, as well as marijuana, hash oil and other substances. Health analysts say exposure to nicotine during youth can cause addiction and cause long-term harm to brain development. The vapor can also contain toxins and tiny particles that are harmful when inhaled. The CDC's investigation showed most cases of lung damage prefaced in its report came with the use of THC containing products. THC is the active drug in marijuana.

Anderson County High School Principal Matt Self said USD 365 was pursuing education as the primary aspect to counteract the growth in teen vaping.

Crest Principal Travis Hermreck said USD 479 had included vaping prohibitions in its district policy, and were leery of the growth of vaping use.

"We aren't seeing many problems with vaping on a large scale at Crest, only a few isolated instances," Hermreck said. The school has made the subject a concurrent topic with students during teacher-student mentor periods, he said.

Unlike other health issues, vaping is one that schools and their staff aren't used to dealing with, Hermreck said.

"We have provided informational resources for our teachers and staff," Hermreck said. "We are hoping to heighten the awareness and knowledge of it so that we can continue to provide appropriate resources."

The mechanics of vaping and the density of the inhaled was the main concern of a woman who commented in response to a question on the Review's Facebook page.

"I have a grandson that vapes and I sit and watch him take his puffs on it — not like someone smoking a regular cigarette," said Teresa Husong of Garnett. "The amount of smoke or vapes act the growth in teen vaping. "There appears to be more health-related information available each day," Self said. "We are concentrating our focus on education to help our young people understand the risks associated with the use of these products."

The CDC said men comprised about 70 percent of the health issues in its research. Eighty percent were under the age of 35, 16 percent were under 18 years and 21 percent were 18-20 years

New ethanol rules should boost sales

Industry types like the message, but what about the past?

BY DANE HICKS THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW

GARNETT — Local farmers and ag analysts are hoping a new ethanol agreement struck by President Trump to enforce requirements for fuel refiners to blend ethanol into the nation's gasoline and expand ethanol requirements helps boost the market for corn — but it's tough to get too excited when regulators allowed for billions in ethanol sales to slip through their fingers. The Environmental Protection Agency years ago mandated that ethanol be blended with the nation's gasoline to make it cleaner burning, a mandate known as the Renewable Fuels Standard. The RFS was also promoted as a way to expand the nation's fuel supply and make the U.S. less dependent on foreign oil.

But for the past three years numerous refiners applied for and were granted hardship waivers to avoid having to purchase ethanol to blend with their fuels. That cost corn growers and ethanol

The lake that never was

60 year-old plan would have built 4,000 acre lake west of Garnett's bottoms

BY DANE HICKS THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW

KANSAS CITY, Mo. — It would have built a 4,000 acre lake just northwest of Garnett by building a huge dam on the Pottawatomie Creek right about where the U.S. Highway 59 bridge is today. It would have drastically altered the area. Surrounding towns favored it, but the Anderson County Commission did not. Some landowners loved the idea of having lakefront property — others said the lake would cover good farm land.

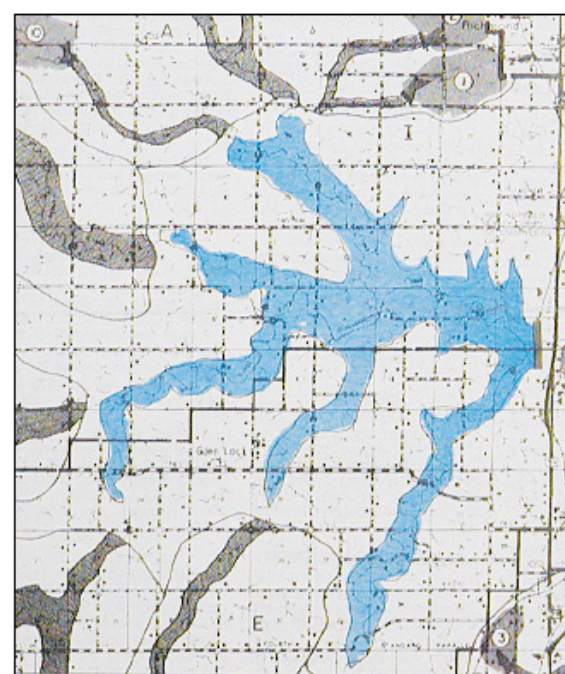

But it never happened. It's nearly forgotten history now, but for two decades lake construction for flood control dominated debate all over rural America- and in Anderson County. It was the great "Dam Debate."

Early settlers on the Great Plains discovered that along with drought, tornadoes, prairie fires, and wolves, they had also to deal with floods. During the 1940s, the US Army Corps of Engineers, charged with maintaining navigation on the nation's rivers, completed a study on flooding in the nation's heartland. The report was controversial, calling for the construction of large dams to control floods. Then came the summer of 1951, and the floods that devastated large areas of Kansas and Missouri.

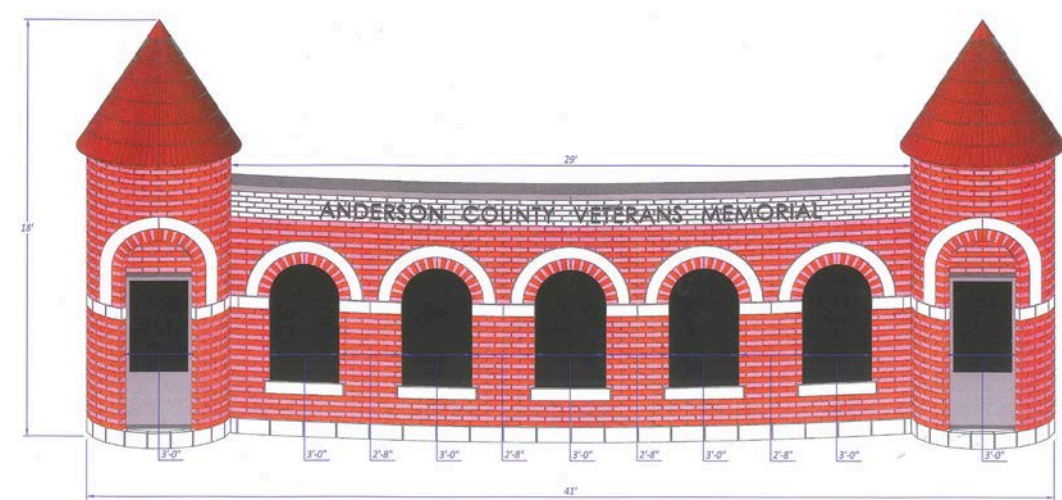

In the aftermath of the record floods of 1951, Congress passed the Flood Control Act of 1954, authoriz-

Design complete, plan for construction underway

GARNETT — Organizers are getting closer to breaking ground on the Anderson County Veterans Memorial, and last week released an artist's rendering of the structure and prepared to publish the list of veterans names they hope local residents will check and validate.

marble panels featuring each of the military services, and will mimic the Romanesque Revival style of the Anderson County Courthouse, complete producers billions of dollars nationwide in lost sales.

The new commitment to corn and ethanol was welcome, locals said, but those past exemptions and lost sales are still hard to swallow. East Kansas Agri Energy CEO Bill Pracht estimates the exemptions probably cost the local ethanol plant $15 million over three years.

"This does nothing for the ethanol producer for the over 4 billion gallons of lost demand over the past three years," Pracht said. "The announcement will help in future years providing the final implementation," he said.

"Farmers will need a strong ethanol industry because if they plant as much corn as some are predicting for next year, along with average or above yields, prices will still be at barely break even or loss," Pracht said.

In a press release, EPA Administrator Andrew Wheeler and Department of Agriculture Secretary Sonny Perdue touted the support the ag industry was receiving from the new rules.

"Building on the success of the year-round E15 rule, this forward-looking agreement makes improvements to the RFS program that will better harness the production of our farmers and ensure America remains energy dominant," the release said.

The new agreement will request public comment on expanding biofuel requirements beginning in 2020 up to 15 billion gallons, and that the existing volume obligation for biomass-based diesel fuel is met. EKAE has a biodiesel addition to its Garnett plant, but it's not presently running because producing the fuel isn't cost effective with present diesel prices.

Those volume targets take into consideration exemptions for some small refiners, the release said. Last year the EPA exempted 31 refiners from the blending requirements.

The agreement would also strip some of the red tape from the sale of E15.

Greg Krissek, executive director of the Kansas Corn Growers Association headquartered in Garnett, said the announcement begins a process to address the ethanol demand lost due to the refinery waivers.

"The administration is doing the right thing legally by beginning a process to redistribute those waived gallons back into the RFS volumes, upholding the integrity of the law," Krissek said.

"It's good to have positive news to share with our growers," said KCGA president Steve Rome.

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION No. 1605

A PROPOSITION to amend section 1 of article 10 of the constitution of the state of Kansas; relating to reapportionment of senatorial and representative districts.

Be it resolved by the Legislature of the State of Kansas, two-thirds of the members elected (or appointed) and qualified to the Senate and two-thirds of the members elected (or appointed) and qualified to the House of Representatives concurring therein:

Section 1. The following proposition to amend the constitution of the state of Kansas shall be submitted to the qualified electors of the state for their approval or rejection: Section 1 of article 10 of the constitution of the state of Kansas is hereby amended to read as follows:

"§1. Reapportionment of senatorial and representative districts.

(a) At its regular session in 1989, the legislature shall by law reapportion the state representative districts, the state senatorial districts or both the state representative and senatorial districts upon the basis of the latest census of the inhabitants of the state taken by authority of chapter 61 of the 1987 Session Laws of Kansas. At its regular session in 1992, and at its regular session every tenth year thereafter, the legislature shall by law reapportion the state senatorial districts and representative districts on the basis of the population of the state as established by the most recent census of population taken and published by the United States census bureau of the census. Senatorial and representative districts shall be reapportioned upon the basis of the population of the state adjusted: (1) To exclude nonresident military personnel stationed within the state and nonresident students attending colleges and universities within the state; and (2) to include military personnel stationed within the state who are residents of the state and students attending colleges and universities within the state who are residents of the state in the district of their permanent residence. Bills reapportioning legislative districts shall be published in the Kansas register immediately upon final passage and shall be effective for the next following election of legislators and thereafter until again reapportioned.

(b) Within 15 days after the publication of an act reapportioning the legislative districts within the time specified in (a), the attorney general shall petition the supreme court of the state to determine the validity thereof. The supreme court, within 30 days from the filing of the petition, shall enter its judgment. Should the supreme court determine that the reapportionment statute is invalid, the legislature shall enact a statute of reapportionment conforming to the judgment of the supreme court within 15 days.

(c) Upon enactment of a reapportionment to conform with a judgment under (b), the attorney general shall apply to the supreme court of the state to determine the validity thereof. The supreme court, within 10 days from the filing of such application, shall enter its judgment. Should the supreme court determine that the reapportionment statute is invalid, the legislature shall again enact a statute reapportioning the legislative districts in compliance with the direction of and conforming to the mandate of the supreme court within 15 days after entry thereof.

(d) Whenever a petition or application is filed under this section, the supreme court, in accordance with its rules, shall permit interested persons to present their views.

(e) A judgment of the supreme court of the state determining a reapportionment to be valid shall be final until the legislative districts are again reapportioned in accordance herewith."

Sec. 2. The following statement shall be printed on the ballot with the amendment as a whole:

"Explanatory statement. The purpose of this amendment is to eliminate the adjustment of census taken by the United States census bureau regarding nonresident military personnel and nonresident students when reapportioning the Kansas senate and house of representatives.

"A vote for this proposition would eliminate the adjustment of census taken by the United States census bureau regarding nonresident military personnel and nonresident students when reapportioning the Kansas senate and house of representatives.

"A vote against this proposition would continue in effect the requirement for the adjustment of census taken by the United States census bureau regarding nonresident military personnel and nonresident students when reapportioning the Kansas senate and house of representatives."

Sec. 3. This resolution, if approved by two-thirds of the members elected (or appointed) and qualified to the Senate, and two-thirds of the members elected (or appointed) and qualified to the House of Representatives shall be entered on the journals, together with the yeas and nays. The secretary of state shall cause this resolution to be published as provided by law and shall cause the proposed amendment to be submitted to the electors of the state at the general election in November in the year 2019, unless a special election is called at a sooner date by concurrent resolution of the legislature, in which case it shall be submitted to the electors of the state at the special election.

EICHMAN

OCTOBER 1, 1986 - SEPTEMBER 27, 2019

Jordan Trent Eichman, son of Dondi and Rachel (Heck) Eichman, was born on October 1, 1986, in Garnett, Kansas.

On September 27, 2019, he had open-heart surgery to replace a torn aorta, followed by a 9 day hospital stay. After 3 precious days at home, he left us suddenly to be with the Lord, shortly after midnight, on October 10, 2019, just days after his 33rd birthday.

Eichman

On July 28, 2012, Jordan married the love of his life, Bronte Holsinger, and to this loving union was born 2 children, Braxton Joel and Brexley Jayne, who were very precious to him. Jordan and Bronte were members of the Old German Baptist Brethren Church, to which he remained faithful.

Jordan learned how to farm during his growing up years with the help of his dad and granddad. He gradually took over the whole farming and livestock operation, living on the farm his whole married life.

Jordan had Braxton "B", his little buddy, with him nearly every day as he labored on the farm. He enjoyed hunting and fishing with his family and friends. He loved being with others, especially playing 42 with Bronte, as his partner. He will always be remembered for his smile and his fun-loving personality.

Jordan is survived by his loving companion, Bronte, 2 children, Braxton Joel and Brexley Jayne; his parents Dondi and Rachel Eichman, only sibling Kami Wray and husband Marcus and their children, Kate, Denver and Jalen; his mother-in-law, Rhonda Klein, father-in-law Brent Holsinger, his brother-in-law, Brennen Holsinger, grandparents, D.C. and Betty Eichman, Thelma Heck, Everett and Lois Miller, Allen and Bernadine Holsinger; great grandfather George Flora and great grandmother Fern Miller; uncles, aunts, cousins and many dear friends.

He preceded in death by an uncle, Dennis Heck, an aunt, Brenda Jamison and granddad, Owen Heck.

Even though our hearts are broken over our loss of him, we praise the Lord and anticipate and look forward to that glad reunion day!!!

Funeral services were held at 10:00 AM, on Monday, October 14, 2019, at the Old German Baptist Brethren Church, near Westphalia, with burial following in Bethel Cemetery.

Why did they turn back?

In the 6th chapter of John, Jesus issues some hard teaching and upon hearing it we read, "Many of his disciples turned back and no longer followed him." (John 6:66) These were not the twelve but were other people who had associated themselves with Jesus.

Jesus then makes this statement in John 6:65, "This is why I told you no one can come to me unless the Father has enabled him." What Jesus is saying here is you can associate yourself with him by your choosing. But our choosing him will result only in us becoming like the disciples that turned back and no longer followed him.

Jesus says, "No one can come to me unless the Father has enabled him." So how does the Father enable us to come to Jesus? This is best illustrated in the life of Nicodemus. Nicodemus was a Pharisee and a member of the Jewish ruling council. In order to avoid being embarrassed he came to Jesus at night. Why would someone in Nicodemus' position seek Jesus out? Here we see Jesus' statement worked out in real life. God enabled Nicodemus to come by the powerful work of the Holy Spirit. Until we are convicted by the Holy Spirit we don't see our need for a new life. The Holy Spirit revealed the truth about Jesus to Nicodemus.

So what did Jesus tell Nicodemus? Jesus said, "I tell you the truth, no one can see the kingdom of God unless he is born again." Without the regenerating work of the Holy Spirit we are unable to come to Jesus. So what is the regenerating work of the Holy Spirit? The Spirit convicts us of our sin and puts within us a repentant heart that desires a relationship with God. He reveals truth to us, lives within us, and then enables us to respond to that truth. Nicodemus was enabled by the Holy Spirit to be able to choose Jesus.

For sure the Holy Spirit can be resisted. In Acts 24:25, Paul addresses Felix, the governor, and we read, Felix was afraid and said, "You (Paul) may leave. When I find it convenient, I will send for you." We never read that Felix found a more convenient time. We should exercise extreme caution to see that never happens to us.

Snoop Dogg symbol of KU culture

So let me get this straight: Chick-fil-A doesn't reflect the values of the University of Kansas, but Snoop Dogg does?

Maybe it's a moon phase thing or something, but the University of Kansas is managing to embarrass itself lately with a regularity that makes the rest of the state and the Kansas Board of Regents wonder how much pot you have to smoke to get a job in KU administration.

The rapper's performance and the backlash from it at the recent Late Night In The Phog at KU - complete with nearly naked strippers on poles, Fbombs and explicit lyrics - eclipsed the event's celebrated kick off of the KU basketball season. Last week more people were talking about the debacle than were talking about buying team merchandise and over-priced popcorn at Allen Fieldhouse, which I'm guessing was not the outcome the school generally hopes for.

It's not that Snoop did anything un-Snoop. He's like a hit man- if you hire him, you pretty much know what to expect. The question is, how hard a blow to the head did it take to make KU's athletic department think a Snoop Dogg performance at Late Night was going to be a great idea?

To support my argument, let me humbly submit some Snoop Dogg lyrics from a little ditty of his entitled "Murder was the case":

*Yeah oh yeah that's that n---
Ni--- roll up on the side of him man
Roll your window down
Man hand me my m-----f----- Glock man gimme another clip
Cuz I'm gonna smoke this fool
Yeah roll the windows down
Yeah, OK there you go
Ay man, you Snoop Dogg?*

I know - I can't wait 'til his Christmas album comes out.

So the KU list of hits keeps growing. In a little more than a year, we've watched as KU has hosted workshops to teach people how to be "allies" to illegal aliens; we've witnessed KU professors attack Christian-based Chick-fil-A and University management for moving the eatery to the Kansas Union because, well, the company is Christian-based; some time back the university funded some flakey artist to desecrate the American flag and then they flew it over Spooner Hall. Ah, yes... and who could forget the therapy puppies offered to students the day after the 2016 presidential election?

C'mon... there were other options to fit the student and faculty mindset available closer to home. I hear there's a great traveling puppet show in Ness City where all the characters are Democrat politicians... Pelosi, Schumer, Al Sharpton...

As if Snoop's antics weren't enough, he capped it off with a finale where he shot $100 bills all over KU players and the crowd - not exactly an image that will bolster the school during the NCAA investigation that athletic sponsor Adidas paid the parents of top recruited players to go to KU and wear their gear. It's the kind of thing that makes NCAA investigators look for - I don't know - maybe a therapy puppy?

Kansas taxpayers shell out $245 million a year to KU, in addition to more than $300 million paid by students, parents and the federal government which loans them money. You'd think for that kind of cash, we'd be getting better gumption.

Well after reading the Town Talk I've come to the conclusion there is no such thing as Christmas and no such thing as Christians. You're going to have a Christmas parade called "I'll be MaHomes for Christmas?" That is the most stupid, idiotic idea I have ever heard. It's Christmas, not football. He's not God or Christ. He's just a person. Ridiculous. That just goes to show you how stupid people are in this town.

I was driving down 4th Street the other day and saw someone run out of his house and deliver some water to the guys on the trash truck. I thought that was a very nice thing to do.

They say they can't pay but willing to work around the house however they are only willing to do it when it's convenient for them as they create more messes. Say they're out looking for work when they're not. Want to smoke but can't afford any of their own so your's is their's and you'll never be reimbursed for anything even though they say they will pay you back. They will run your bills and not care because they aren't paying them. Lights, TVs will be left on. Your fans will be used at their discretion with no consideration of your income. There's no end in sight for you as you allowed the immature, irresponsible good for nothing homeless people into your home thinking they meant anything they said as far as helping out and getting a job. It doesn't work they never will and you will be left feeling the financial burden for months or even years after attempting to do something you thought was going to be mutually beneficial and good. Reality is that you need to kick them back to the streets where they belong and let them fend for themselves while you recover from the losses you have incurred and regain your sanity and life. After all that is done, in the future just say no and leave them outside.

Newspapers reveal things you're not looking for

When Jim Phillips of Lexington, Ky., started poring through microfilm copies of old newspapers to research his family history, he thought it would be "a legacy to be left for my family and others, documenting the world of my parents' youth and their home Pulaski County, Indiana," as he wrote in a research paper for an independent-study course I supervised at the University of Kentucky.

But Phillips experienced something that may make printed newspapers last longer than many think: the serendipity that often manifests itself in scanning the pages of a newspaper, discovering and digesting information that you aren't specifically seeking.

He also discovered a fundamental element of community newspapers that may also make them survive, in whatever form: the granular coverage of individual lives that weave together to form a community. That led him to expand his work to the independent-study course in journalism.

"When this project started, I was merely looking for items mentioning my family, but it soon expanded to other items that interested me," Phillips wrote. "This occurred - as my journalism professor, Al Cross, aptly pointed out - because of the wide variety of information displayed on each newspaper page.

Newspaper serendipity was well described in The New York Times by Bill McKeen, chairman of the Department of Journalism at Boston University, when he held the same job at the University of Florida (after teaching at my alma mater, Western Kentucky University). Bill required students to read the Times in print, not online, when you "find only what you're looking for," he wrote. He defined serendipity as "the ability to make fortunate discoveries accidentally" and called it "a historian's best friend, and the biggest part of the rush that is the daily magic of discovery."

GUEST COMMENTARY

AL CROSS, UNIVERSITY OF KENTUCKY

As Phillips scanned the pages of the Pulaski County Democrat and the Winamac Republican, he found not only things that he didn't know about his family, but many other happenings - some of which constituted narratives about individuals and families, and economic, technological and cultural trends from 1924-25 - the years his parents were born - to 1947, the year he was born. It's all there: the Ku Klux Klan, Prohibition, the Great Depression, World War II and so on.

The project showed the value of newspaper archives in researching trends, some of which Phillips notes with striking examples, such as Chet Reynolds, who wrote a letter to Santa Claus in 1925, when he was 7, asking for "an electric moving picture machine." In October 1947, as manager of the Home Appliances and Radio Store, he ran an ad announcing that it had a "television," and in May 1948 one of the papers pictured him installing the antenna for "the first home television set in Pulaski County."

Phillips' paper is online at <http://www.uky.edu/CommInfoStudies/IRJCI/JimPhillipsStalking.pdf>. He wrote in the first paragraph, "I came to know my hometown just before my birth, because the reporting of these weeklies was relentlessly local."

And granular. He found no enterprise reporting, but plenty of personal reporting. "Births, marriages, deaths, and courthouse reports were front-page staples," he writes. "In each issue, Sunday dinners, family visits, short trips and parties were routinely reported by correspondents for each of the county's five to eight communities and their adjacent farms. Hospitalizations and long trips were also announced, without concern for confidentiality and burglaries."

This amounted to a lot of information. "The number of people mentioned in an issue was about 2,500," Phillips estimated, including as one of his many illustrations a house ad that bragged about 2,630 names in one edition. "Although it included visitors from outside the county, that number is significant in a county with a population of about 11,000."

Community correspondents are much less common today, but are still seen in some rural newspapers. I wish there were more of them. Times have changed, and most of the information a weekly correspondent might report would already be known, but the best correspondents also include insightful personal observations and valuable background knowledge of their communities.

I like to say that every American has the First Amendment right to commit journalism. Note that verb; it connotes responsibility for your actions. At a time when every American has the ability to publish, without understanding the responsibilities of journalism, it would serve us well to have a cadre of correspondents in every county, citizen journalists, serving as connectors to the local newspaper and helping their neighbors identify with it.

The NBA pays homage to its Chinese overlords

Little did Dr. James Naismith know when he invented the game of basketball in Springfield, Massachusetts, in 1891 that, more than a century hence, it would become beholden to its Chinese overlords.

The NBA disgraced itself kowtowing to Beijing after the general manager of the Houston Rockets, Daryl Morey, tweeted his support for Hong Kong protesters. The words he associated himself with - "Fight for Freedom. Stand with Hong Kong" - would seem uncontroversial. Who doesn't hope for the best for plucky demonstrators trying to advance democracy against an overweening imperial dictatorship?

Morey, though, failed to adequately account for the feelings of the dictatorship. "I was merely voicing one thought," he said, in a groveling tweet after deleting his original offending one, "based on one interpretation, of one complicated event. I have had a lot of opportunity since that tweet to hear and consider other perspectives."

The "other perspectives" are those of people supporting a regime that is determined to crush Hong Kong underfoot, maintain a one-party state that stifles all internal dissent, brutally repress Uighur Muslims, grab the South China Sea, build up its military with an eye to a future confrontation with United States and rewrite the rules of the international order to its liking.

But who's to judge?

NATIONAL COMMENTARY

RICH LOWRY, King Features Syndicate

In its own lickspittle statement, the NBA said that Morey's views "have deeply offended many of our friends and fans in China, which is regrettable." It appears that the Chinese-language version was even more craven, saying that the league is "extremely disappointed" in the GM's "inappropriate" tweet.

If you follow the NBA and missed the part where Red China stole the league's soul, it's only because you haven't paid enough attention to the international business. China is a huge and growing market for the NBA. When Chinese sponsors and partners of the Rockets began to pull out, the team and the league buckled.

The joke of it is that here at home the league flaunts its woke social conscience. The NBA used the leverage of its All-Star Game coming to Charlotte to force changes to a North Carolina bathroom bill, in the name of "equality."

One would think that reeducation camps for a million Uighurs is much worse than any choice North Carolina makes about its restrooms. The NBA should be repelled by China's policies, which run counter to everything that the NBA purports to stand for.

This episode exposes the league's gutless hypocrisy. So long as social activism is costless, the NBA is all about its values. As soon as there is any price, it is willing to salute smartly at the dictates of one of the most cynical, self-interested regimes on Earth.

Of course, any profit-generating enterprise is going to care about its bottom line most of all. That shouldn't efface all sense of decency and self-respect, though. James Harden, the Houston Rockets star, has grown very rich and famous playing an American game in an American league. His reaction to Morey's tweet was unequivocal: "We apologize."

He thus neatly encapsulated the willingness of a segment of the American business elite to express a kind of national loyalty to a nation that isn't its own.

Bulldogs win big after sluggish start

BY KEVIN GAINES THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW

GARNETT - Last Friday night the Anderson County Bulldogs squared off against Osawatomie on a cold homecoming night and came away victorious, 41-14.

The distraction of homecoming, playing a rival and a bitter cold night led to early struggles for the Bulldogs.

"I think with it being homecoming and playing Oz we got a little tied up in that stuff. After we settled in we really came to life both on offense and defense," Bulldog coach Logan Pegram said.

The score was tied at 14 late in the first half before Anderson County rallied to score the games final 27 points for the pull away victory.

Anderson County never trailed though despite the game being tight early on.

The scoring opened on an 18 yard scoring strike from Bo Dilliner to Garrett Edens with 2:52 remaining in the first quarter to put AC up 7-0.

Osawatomie answered on a 30 yard touchdown pass with 1:33 left in the second to knot the score up at 7.

Midway through the second, the Bulldogs broke free for a 78 yard touchdown pass from Dilliner to Spencer. It would be one of three touchdowns that duo connected on.

Oz answered on their ensuing possession on a 8 yard touchdown run with just 1:19 left to tie it up at 14.

It appeared that they would be tied at halftime but Anderson County struck quick and scored on a 27 yard pass and catch from Dilliner to Spencer with just over a minute left and a 21-14 halftime lead.

Dilliner would score the first touchdown of the second half giving the Bulldogs some breathing room and a 28-14 lead.

With 7:08 left AC struck again on a 58 yard pass from Dilliner to Spencer to put the game away, 35-14.

Dilliner led the offense with 10-15 passing, 240 yards and 4 touchdowns and also tacked on 13 carries for 82 yards.

Austin Edens has 10 carries for 36 yards and Galey tacked on 8 carries for 43 yards and a touchdown.

Spencer's big night included 6 receptions for 170 yards and the three touchdowns.

Garrett Edens caught 2 passes for 27 yards and one touchdown, Corbin Danner added one catch for 13 yards and Brody McClain had 1 reception for 9 yards.

The defense really clamped down in the second half aided by three Oz turnovers.

Jayden Jarrett and Corbin Danner had interceptions and Josh Stifter recovered a fumble.

"Tanner Spencer had another big game for us catching the ball. The o-line gave Bo a lot of time to throw and he was able to find some guys open. Overall, it was a good performance for our kids and it was great to see some of the young guys that have been preparing us week after week get in late in the game," Pegram said. "We look forward to a huge game next week (this Friday) that will challenge us to step up real quick. Prairie View has got it going and is coached well. Anytime you can play for the district title it's a big game. I can't wait to see how our kids approach the week and how we play Friday night at Prairie View."

Prairie View is 6-0 on the season and the Bulldogs have improved to 4-2 and are on a 3 game winning streak heading into the showdown.

Viking cross country teams earn home sweep

BY KEVIN GAINES THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW

RICHMOND - Last Monday, October 7th, the locals finally had the opportunity to see their defending champion boys cross country team compete at home as well as the up and coming girls squad that is suddenly winning as well and the teams didn't disappoint as they both ran well earning a home sweep of both the girls and boys cross country teams.

"After having our home meet delayed from last Thursday to Monday, I was happy with the excitement and energy the runners brought with them. In most sports you get multiple home "games" but in Cross Country you may only get one shot at displaying your athletic ability in front of your home crowd," Viking coach Troy Prosser stated.

It was just another day at the office for the Viking boys. Four of the top 6 runners were from Central Heights with Alex Cannady again leading the way with a time of 18:57.01, which was good for second place.

The winner was Kyle Haner of West Franklin with an impressive time of 18:41.68.

Following Cannady closely was Mason McMurry (19:00.60, 3rd place), David Craft (19:24.35, 5th place) and Luke Cotter (19:48.35, 6th place).

A pair of freshmen ran with the varsity this week. Nicholas Schultze (21:18) and Luke Burkdoll (22:35.74) finished 20th and 30th respectively.

As a team the Vikings finished with 33 points, West Franklin was well behind in 2nd place with 67 points.

The Lady Vikings finished with 3 of the top 6 runners and 5 of the top 13 overall en route to the top overall finish as a team.

Madison Bridges (22:36.07), Lily Meyer (22:49.08) and Abby Brown (22:52.36) finished 4th, 5th and 6th.

Taryn Compton finished 12th with a time of 24:17.58 and right behind her in 13th was Samantha Ferris (24:18.40).

As a team the Vikings finished with 32 points, West Franklin came in second with 39 points.

All four junior high teams finished with the top individual runner overall.

Eighth grade girl Emma Cubit (13:50), eighth grade boy Dakota Kuczmariski (12:54), seventh grade girl Kaylee Holstine (13:31) and seventh grade boy Connor Burkdoll (12:30) all brought home gold for the Vikings.

Coach Prosser stated, "Even with the day starting with four individual first place finishes in the middle school races (among several medals and personal bests), a big personal best in the high school JV race by Max Cannady, and ending with the varsity girls and boys again coming out on top in the team standings, this group is still not quite satisfied with everything."

"The course was wet, soft, and muddy in several places which definitely slowed things down, but it's all part of outdoor athletics. We couldn't control the weather or what our competition did, but the groups found ways to help each other and bring out some fantastic efforts. I have to give a huge shout out to all of the parents who put in countless hours getting the course ready, the CH staff who helped run the meet smoothly, and all of the spectators. The championship meets are right around the corner and I'm thrilled for the accomplishments of each and every runner on this team," Prosser added.

Lady Lancers lose twice

BY KEVIN GAINES THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW

MOUND CITY - Crest took to the road last week and lost to Yates Center and Jayhawk Linn in their two games at Jayhawk-Linn High School.

Yates Center downed the Lancers 15-25 and 13-25 while Jayhawk Linn dominated Crest 8-25 and 11-25.

"It was a rough evening. We struggled to put the ball away and anticipate on defense. There are definitely frustrations and we are continuing to learn to work through mistakes. Mental toughness and recovery are not learned overnight. All we can do is continue to work hard, support each other, and never give up. No one is ever happy about losing, but that is never an excuse to throw in the towel. The Lady Lancers are not giving up," Crest head coach Abigail Hermreck said matter-of-factly following a disappointing evening.

Some statistical leaders on the night are Sophomore Lindsey Godderz and Junior Aubree Holloran served 100%.

Freshman Haylee Beckmon led with 3 ace serves. Sophomore Lindsey Godderz led serve receive passing. Freshman McKenna Hammond led with 8 digs.

The Lancers next game will be Tuesday at home, Senior Night, to close out their home schedule.

Crest blows past Chetopa

BY KEVIN GAINES THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW

CHETOPA - The Lancers football team has put together back to back solid performances, albeit against teams that have struggled this year.

That being said, the Lancers rolled over Chetopa 65-0 on Friday night with the game being called at halftime due to the 45-point mercy rule in 8-man football.

The entire team played a hand in the rout as seven different Lancer players accounted for a touchdown on the night.

Quarterback Jacquez Coleman accounted for 2 touchdowns through the air and another on the ground. He completed 7 of 9 passes for 89 yards and rushed 6 times for 50 yards.

Quarterback Stratton McGhee also picked up touchdowns both through the air and on the ground. McGhee completed both of his passes for 68 yards and a touchdown and rushed for 30 yards on 4 carries and scoring another touchdown. McGhee led the defense with 8 tackles on the night.

A trio of running backs had 2 carries for the night, each with one touchdown. They include Tyson Hermeck (34 yards), Ethan Godderz (52 yards) and Caleb Nolan (41 yards).

Hermreck also hauled in 2 passes for 68 yards and another score and Godderz hauled in one catch for 38 yards and a touchdown.

Zach Beckmon caught two passes for 35 yards and a touchdown as well.

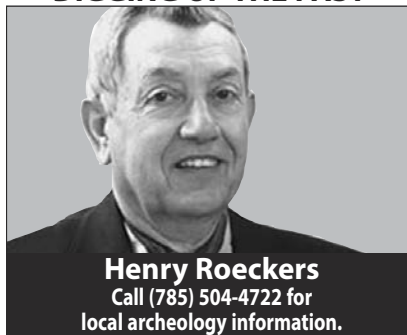

The defense also got in on the act as Stetson Setter picked off the Chetopa quarterback and returned it 23 yards for a touchdown.

Next up for the Lancers (3-3) is a matchup against Southern Coffey County (2-4) at home on Friday night beginning at 7 p.m.

162 year old homesite artifacts discovered

DIGGING UP THE PAST

Henry Roeckers
Call (785) 504-4722 for local archeology information.

An old 162 year old homesite continues to surrender very early Anderson County artifacts.

This week's picture reveals artifacts I found on my last two afternoons at this site.

Hopefully, sometime in November, I will be able to return to the Hungry Hollow stagecoach stop and continue my adventure there.

Eagle button, iron button and a beautifully decorated glass bottle shard.

Other common items always found are, dish and glass shards, plus hundreds of those pesky square nails.

It never ceases to amaze me, all the artifacts that were lost, left behind, etc. and remain buried for years and years.

2009: Pair of fires deemed to be arson

October 2009

Investigations into the fires of two homes in Anderson County are continuing by the Kansas Fire Marshall and the Kansas Bureau of Investigation. A home near Lone Elm owned by Debbie Womelsdorf caught fire on September 9 and required assistance from several local fire departments before the blaze was extinguished. The fire was deemed arson and a suspect is under investigation, but the suspect's name couldn't be released. On September 13, a two-story home in Kincaid owned by Carol Hunsperger was found ablaze. That fire was also determined arson but no suspects are under investigation in that case. The two incidents are not believed to be related.

October 1999

After 10 years in the salvage, recycle, and used car sales and service business, Joe and Betty Lytle have decided to close TLC Auto south of Garnett and try to reclaim the personal lives that a decade in business has put under a squeeze. "We're not going broke, or anything," Joe Lytle said. "In fact, we're doing really well. The reason we're closing down is we're so busy we have no life."

October 1989

Concerns from residents and others over the recent $3 per day increase in charges for Long Term Care service at Anderson County Hospital had a group of eight present at the regular Board of Trustees meeting. The group addressed concern over the recent raise and what it meant to patients that would soon have to be moved out of the facility due to inability to pay for care. The

Two people from Woodson County, Kendell Kimberlin and Lorraine Fletcher, were arrested by the Anderson County Sheriff about four miles south of Garnett. He had just heard the radio report that a Chevrolet was heading his way and the two people who were wanted by Woodson County in the car when he saw the car approaching. He notified his backup, stopped the car, and arrested the people. The two were wanted for questioning in regard to an attempted stabbing in the Toronto area. The two face a possible attempted murder charge.

"The Open Road" is the title of a film to be shown here at the People's Theater Monday evening by the Universal Film Manufacturing Company, in the interest of the good-roads movement. The purpose of this exhibit is to educate the people along this line - to create a sentiment in the interest of hard-surface highways. THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW 10-15-2019 / DANE HICKS Kelcy Doles bristles against the cold as she and Austin Edens walk in Friday's Anderson County Homecoming Parade in downtown Garnett. Temps barely made 40 degrees, with 12-15 mph winds all day.

KU to honor more than 3,600 high school seniors statewide

LAWRENCE— This fall, the Kansas Honor Scholar Program, a longstanding tradition of the University of Kansas Alumni Association and KU Endowment, will honor more than 3,600 high school seniors throughout Kansas for their academic excellence and achievement.

Since 1971 the program has honored more than 140,000 high school seniors—from all 105 Kansas counties and approximately 360 high schools—for ranking academically in the top 10 percent of their class. The program is made possible by KU Endowment, alumni donations and proceeds from the Alumni Association's Jayhawk license plate program, and allows the University and the Alumni Association to create more scholarship opportunities for Kansas students.

There are several students from Anderson County that will be recognized. From Anderson County High School they are Joseph Feuerborn, Hailey Gilbert, Becky Kropf, Nicholas Lybarger, Grace McAdam, Daelynn Peine, Brookelyn Schettler, Tanner Spencer and Lillian Spring. From Crest High School they will honor Gregory Hardwick. Central Heights students Madison Bridges, Abigail Brown, Cyla Gardner and Ryder Roll will also be honored.

This year, the Association and KU's Office of Admissions and Scholarships awarded five incoming freshmen from Garden City, Kansas City, Liberal, Topeka and Winfield one-time, $1,000 Kansas Honor Scholar Scholarships, funded entirely by alumni donations. In addition, two students, from Salina and Kansas City, received the $1,000 renewable four-year Herbert Rucker Woodward Scholarship, given annually for the past 21 years to Kansas Honor Scholars. Since 1985, more than 17,000 Kansas Honor Scholars have attended KU.

Scholars and their families are invited to attend any of the 13 regional ceremonies, the most local one being on November 11th in Lawrence.

Ceremonies will include speakers, recognition of the scholars, and a reception for scholars, families, school administrators and alumni. During the ceremony, students will receive distinctive Kansas Honor Scholar medallions that can be worn at their local graduations or recognition events. In addition, the Alumni Association will mail certificates to all high schools for distribution to all 3,600 Kansas Honor Scholars. with towers. Inside will be touch screen computer kiosks containing photos and possibly audio and video materials from each of the veterans featured in the memorial.

The project was initially kicked off in 2012 but stalled over design and management issues. County commissioners prioritized the effort last year and got the planning back on track, along with a change-up from a traditional etching of names into the stone presentation to a more tech-based kiosk with expanded digital information available for the veterans' listings.

The Review published some 5,000 veterans names destined to be a part of the memorial in this week's edition beginning on page 2B, in hopes of validating them for accuracy and promoting participation to vets or families who may not yet have submitted information.

The project has been funded by private donations and a temporary tax levy in the county's budget, which has raised about $480,000 to date.

Community asked to verify names for the Anderson County Veteran's Memorial

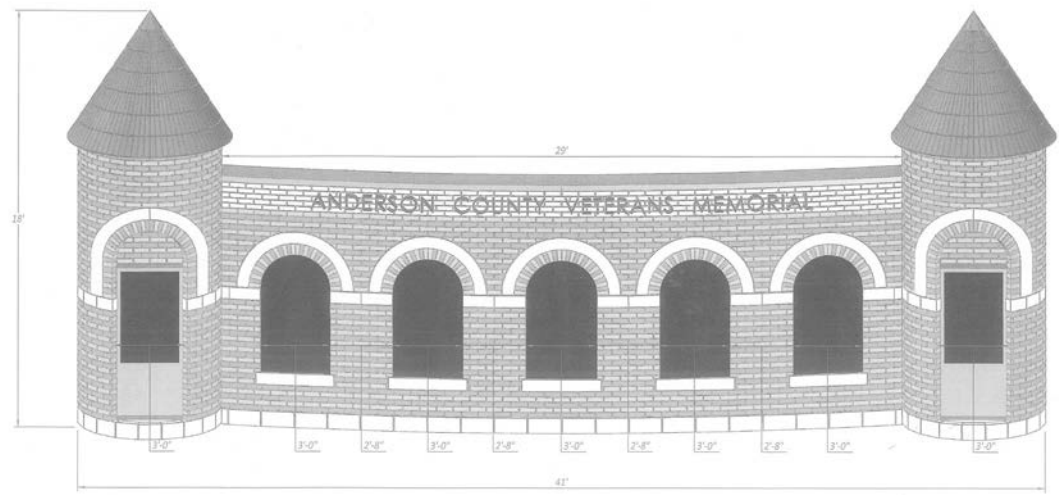

The Anderson County Veteran's Memorial Committee is pleased to announce the progress on the memorial. The Anderson County Commissioners and the committee are holding monthly meetings to make decisions on the design, plan, and timeline of the memorial. The committee is hoping for construction to begin in Spring of 2020, weather permitting. The memorial will be located on the northeast side of the courthouse lawn.

The committee would like to give residents a chance to review the names that will be added to the memorial kiosks. The names are listed by conflict in which the veteran would have been involved in. If there's an error or any corrections that someone would like to be made or a name added please contact the County Clerk's office at 785-448-6841. Honorably discharged veteran's will be accepted to be included by the committee if the veteran was born in Anderson County, had moved or was raised in Anderson County, or resides in Anderson County. Any names that would like to be added must provide proof of service such as a DD-214, obituary, or any other documents that will show when the veteran served.

The committee is also selling sidewalk paver bricks that will be included on the walkway leading up to the memorial. The bricks are $100 each and can be engraved with family sentiments. The cost for bricks could increase after memorial completion due to extensive work to add a brick in the sidewalk. If you would like to purchase a brick the committee recommends doing so immediately. Bricks can be purchased in the Anderson County Clerk's Office. The committee thanks you for your patience and support in the Anderson County Veteran's Memorial project.

ing the construction of a series of dams, termed "Big Dams", on the Missouri, Kansas, and Osage Rivers, and tributaries of the Osage River. And the list of proposed lakes included one in Anderson County, on Pottawatomie Creek.

The dams were, to say the least, controversial. Building a dam requires huge expenditures, and exercising the right of eminent domain, or the condemnation of private property. That meant that in order to save some farms from flooding, other farmers would have to be evicted.

Debate about the dams began in Anderson County even before Congress authorized the dams. In an interview in 2007, Bob Boots remembered going to an anti-dam meeting out of curiosity, and hearing a call to raise money to fight the dams. "And Don Stith, the Chevy dealer, plopped down a $100 bill," Boots told the Review.

Some farmers took another route. Congress also authorized, in 1954, the Federal Soil and Conservation Act. Local watershed districts were authorized to build "small dams" to control flooding on smaller streams. Floodwater held upstream aids flood control downstream, and while small dams also require the condemnation of private property, they rarely take an entire farm.

Meanwhile, the Corps was building its "Big Dams" elsewhere, including Pomona, completed in 1963, and Melvern, completed in 1975. By 1966, they were ready to talk about building one in Anderson County.

Public works require appropriations as well as authorization. In April of 1966, Congress considered appropriations for the proposed Garnett Reservoir. Dr. Paul Nesbitt, president of the Garnett Dam Reservoir Association, a group of local promoters, and Bill Tschudy, Garnett City Manager, went to Washington to testify in favor of the appropriations.

The same week, at the Harris Community Hall, 37 landowners gathered to consider organizing a watershed district on the south fork of the Pottawatomie. Some of them were surely discouraged, for they were told by Charles Bredahl, a representative of the Kansas State Soil Conservation Committee, that they were "off base" if they planned on stopping the Garnett Reservoir by building "small dams."

Bredahl informed the listeners that gallon-for-gallon, "big dams" are cheaper than "small dams." But he also told them it was feasible to have both, and they could start a watershed district anytime, regardless of whether the "big dam" was ever built. All that was needed were the signatures of 20% of the landowners, representing 25% of the acreage. Eventually, a district was organized, a watershed plan was made, and several detention dams were constructed.

Colonel William Kratz, of the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, came to Garnett in April of 1966 and addressed the Garnett Dam Reservoir Association. He told the group that because of changes in Federal Law, a new feasibility study would have to be conducted, to include ramifications for municipal water supply, fish and wildlife conservation, and recreation. Even so, building a dam would require three years of pre-construction planning and four to five years of actual construction. And, the estimated cost was $22 million.

Debate continued in the Anderson County area. Landowners downstream were tired of being flooded out (there was another flood in 1962). Droughts were a constant strain on local water supplies. Construction costs rose with rapid inflation. And landowners upstream became less inclined to let the government take their land.

In 1972, the Corps held a public hearing at the Garnett High School auditorium, attended by 160 people. In response to a question, Colonel William Needham told the crowd that if the corps recommended construction, and if Congress agreed, "and moves with speed," it would be 1982 before a reservoir was completed.

Two possibilities were under consideration. One proposal called for creating a large lake covering more than 4,000 acres, and costing 37 million dollars. It would be able to sustain an electric power plant. The second proposal called for a smaller lake, about 2500 acres, costing about 32 million dollars. Both proposals would have built a dam near the present location of U.S. Highway 59 where it crosses Pottawatomie Creek, north of Garnett.

About 60% of those in attendance at the public hearing opposed the lake, according to The Anderson Countian of April 13, 1972. A letter was read from the Franklin County Commission endorsing the project. Anderson County Commissioner Wayne Pracht said the Anderson County Commission was opposed. The mayor of Richmond favored the lake, and the Greeley mayor was in favor of the larger alternative lake. Les Rockers presented a petition signed by 600 people opposed to the reservoir and 32 in favor. Dean Bartholomew stated that he was "against covering good ground with lakes."

The argument went back and forth. Supporters argued in favor of economic development, wildlife, and water supply. Opponents argued against taking land off the tax rolls. Homer Russell said that his land had flooded seven times, and he wondered when he would get some help. Lewis Hiner said that he needed a bridge and couldn't get it, so he wondered how could he even think about getting a reservoir.

The reservoir was never built. The City of Garnett eventually built Cedar Valley Reservoir, several miles upstream, and much smaller than the proposed "big dam," to supply municipal water. Most of those who were intensely involved in the debate are gone. But for two decades, it was the talk of the county every time it flooded - or didn't.
