Osler bound over for trial in shooting

Preliminary hearing yields support for charges of attempted murder

BY DANE HICKS THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW

GARNETT – David Osler will be formally arraigned on attempted murder charges January 27th, after a district court judge found there was sufficient evidence to charge him in the September 2019 shooting of his neighbor in south Garnett.

Investigators say Osler, 56 of Garnett, entered the front door of his neighbor's home and fired a single round from a .45 caliber handgun which struck Robin Durand as he sat on a living room sofa. Osler then left the home and went to his residence, according to a probable cause statement for his arrest, and engaged a standoff with area law enforcement for several hours before he was talked into coming outside his residence to surrender.

Inside Osler's home officers found a number of weapons and extra ammunition as well as prepared fighting positions which led them to presume Osler intended a shoot-out with police in the home.

According to the statement, neighbors reported several contacts with Osler in which he threatened Durand and his wife. Osler's family members said his personality radically changed when he had been drinking, and that he had on various occasions threatened to kill other family members as well as law officers.

Osler has been in custody in Anderson County Jail since his arrest with a bond set at $10 million, and will be arraigned on attempted murder and other lesser charges.

Daulton pleads guilty, will serve 16 months

Criminal threat penalty from April standoff comes with additional jail time

BY DANE HICKS THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW

GARNETT – The man who held law officers at bay for some three hours in April 2019 after he refused to leave a local residence will serve 16 months in prison after pleading guilty to felony criminal threat last week in Anderson County District Court.

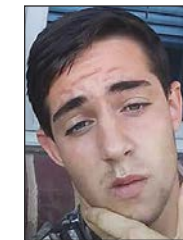

Joseph "Theo" Daulton, 26 of Garnett, had been in the Anderson County Jail in Garnett since his arrest April 24.

Daulton became embroiled in a dispute with his grandmother, Joy Dalton, the incident at her home at 608 N. Maple. She was apparently able to leave the home and with a family friend notified police that Theo Daulton, a convicted felon, was still at the residence with a firearm in violation with the terms of his release.

Garnett law officers responded to the residence, but Daulton barricaded himself in the home and refused to come out. He relented hours later as a special tactics team from Coffey County was moments away from moving on the home. He had a previous felony conviction for criminal threat, a level 9 person felony.

USD 365 amendment allows two-hour delayed starts for inclement weather

GARNETT – The Friday/Saturday snowstorm that blanketed the area in some three inches of snow may have been a warning shot for an updated inclement weather policy now in place at USD 365 in Garnett.

The ice and snow mix that started Friday cancelled ACHS homecoming festivities scheduled for Friday night's basketball games, which were also cancelled. AC homecoming was postponed to tonight, January 14th.

School board members recently reviewed a new amendment to the district's policy which will add a two-hour delayed start option during threatening weather. The policy specifies the delayed start may be used when temporary adverse conditions exist, including extreme wind chill conditions or unfavorable road conditions. The policy, which was a part of last week's board meeting materials, is designed to maximize instruction time with students rather than closing for the entire day.

If administrators opt for the delayed start, all school start times will be delayed by two hours with morning bus pick-up times also delayed for the two-hour period. Schools will end their day at the regular time and after school bus routes will operate on their normal schedule.

There will be no preschool on delayed start days, breakfast will not be served at schools and no activity or athletic practices will be held before school on those days. Also all field trips scheduled to leave before noon will be cancelled for days when delayed start is announced.

The district policy said school officials will do their best to notify residents the night before regarding any delayed start the following day, with a goal of announcing the move by 6:30 a.m. Families will receive a "School Messenger Announcement" alerting them to delayed starts and school cancellations. Information will also be posted on USD 365's Facebook page and area TV and radio stations.

ACHS approves bleacher replacement in gymnasium

GARNETT – School board members in USD 365 last week approved a $187,000 capital outlay purchase to replace bleachers in the ACHS gymnasium.

Superintendent Don Blome said the project would replace both the east and west rows of bleachers in the gym, and was expected to be completed this summer. The cost also included the dismantling and haul away of the old bleachers. The present bleachers were included in the original construction of the school in 1992.

In other business from the school board meeting:

- Blome recognized Heather

Corley, FACS teacher at ACJSHS, for receiving the Horizon Award;

- Board president Gaylene Comfort recognized Dwight Nelson for his years of service as a board member and presented him with a plaque;

- the board agreed to seek proposals for property & casualty insurance;

- approved the school calendar for 2020-2021;

- accepted a $2,000 gift from Wal Mart to be used for indoor and outdoor recess items at GES;

- approved seeking of bids for window replacement at

- approved requesting the automotive center's architect to design and build additional storage space for the program;

- held two executive sessions totaling 20 minutes for discussion of non-elected personnel, no action taken after executive session;

- approved the supplemental contract of Ty Remy as AC Junior High scholar bowl sponsor;

- approved the extension of superintendent Don Blome's contract for one year.

De Le Isla to seek Democratic nomination to run for Kansas Second District seat

TOPEKA – Topeka Mayor Michelle De Le Isla announced Monday she will seek the Democratic nomination to run for the Kansas Second District seat in the U.S. Congress this November.

De Le Isla

De Le Isla is the only declared Democrat in the race so far. The seat is presently held by Steve Watkins, also of Topeka. The 2nd District seat encompasses Anderson County and has been held by Republicans for the past 25 years except for a single term from 2006-2008.

A 43 year-old Puerto Rican native, a cancer survivor and formerly homeless, De Le Isla said in her announcement she was a candidate that voters in the 25-county district could identify with. She formerly worked for Every before a December employee buyout.

She previously worked for Habitat for Humanity in Topeka and was chief financial officer for House and Credit Counseling in Topeka. She was the first Latina ever elected mayor of Topeka in 2017, having previously served on the Topeka City Council since 2013.

"Public service is not about politics—it's about people," De

Le Isla's campaign website says. "When I look at a map of the 2nd Congressional District, I don't see red and blue counties, I see friends and neighbors. I see teachers, pastors, and farmers. I see our children. I see all of us. Our families deserve an advocate who understands the challenges Kansans face."

Watkins won a 7-way primary fight to lead the Republican ticket and has been the target of politicians both inside his party and out since defeating Lawrence attorney Paul Davis in the general election of 2018. Watkins faces Kansas State Treasurer Jake LaTurner in a Republican primary this August.

K-State plans leadership academy for youth interested in livestock industry

MANHATTAN – Students from across the country with an interest in the livestock industry and related careers can apply now for the Kansas State University Animal Sciences Leadership Academy (KASLA).

The academy, now in its 12th year, is an intensive four-day educational experience designed to enhance the leadership skills and animal science knowledge of students in grades 9-12.

Hosted by the K-State Department of Animal Sciences and Industry and sponsored by the Livestock and Meat Industry Council (LMIC), the academy's goal is to develop young leaders within the livestock industry and prepare them for a successful future in this field.

"The biggest benefit that I received from KASLA was identifying my strengths and weaknesses and figuring out how to play to my strengths," said Gavin Beesley, 2019 participant from Conway Springs, Kansas. "I would encourage others to apply. You get to have learning experiences while also being able to meet people in the agriculture industry. I got to meet so many fun people who were interested in similar things that I was and we got to have fun while learning."

The academy will take place in Manhattan, June 24-27. Applications are due April 15, 2020, and can be found at <http://www.YouthLivestock.KSU.edu>.

The program's itinerary will feature interactive workshops, tours and faculty mentor time with animal sciences and industry professors. Industry leaders will also join the participants frequently to share their knowledge and expertise.

Throughout the week, participants will work in teams to evaluate current events within the animal science industry in order to educate others. The leadership academy will culminate with team presentations and a closing reception on Saturday morning.

Only 20 students will be accepted for each session so that counselors, professors and industry leaders can provide individualized attention. Participants will stay on campus in university housing with program staff for the duration of the event.

Transportation to and from the event is the responsibility of the participant, along with a $50 fee to reserve space. This fee is only due upon acceptance and not at the time of application. Through its sponsorship, the Livestock and Meat Industry Council covers all other costs.

For more information or questions, contact academy director Sharon Breiner at sbreiner@ksu.edu or 785-532-6533.

Jesus and the Samaritan woman

WEEKLY DEVOTIONAL

BY DAVID BILDERBACK

In John 4 we read how Jesus left Judea and went back once more to Galilee. In doing so he went through Samaria. The Jews despised the Samaritan's because they had inter-married with foreigners after the captivity of the Northern Kingdom by the Assyrians. This hatred had grown so strong the Jews did everything they could to avoid traveling through Samaria. But Jesus did not live by such cultural restrictions and this was the shortest route to Galilee.

In traveling through Samaria Jesus came to a town called Sychar and stopped at a spot called Jacob's well. It was about the sixth hour or noon. When a Samaritan woman came to draw water Jesus said to her, "Will you give me a drink?" The Samaritan woman said to him, "You are a Jew and I am a Samaritan woman. How can you ask me for a drink?" There is a conversation that develops between Jesus and the woman and Jesus says to her. "Everyone who drinks this water will be thirsty again, but whoever drinks the water I give him will never thirst. Indeed, the water I give him will become in him a spring of water welling up to eternal life."

The woman said to him (Jesus), "Sir give me this water so that I won't get thirsty and have to keep coming here to draw water." The woman wanted the water for the wrong reason. She wanted the living water for the here and now. She wanted to be able to have water without having to go to the well. She was looking for a way to make her life easier.

So what is living water and where do you get it? Jesus is saying we should thirst after God and the things of God as we thirst after water. The woman mistakenly believed if she received the water Jesus offered she would not have to return to the well each day. The message Jesus presented to her went far beyond this. He presented himself as the living water. Today he makes the same offer. In John 7:37-38, Jesus says, "If anyone is thirsty let him come to me and drink. Whoever believes in me as the scripture has said, streams of living water will flow from within him." Do you believe? If not why not?

Allen County's first windmill lesson

Contractors and landowners who hired on for the construction of wind turbines in the Prairie Queen turbine generation field in Allen County have gotten their first lesson in the economic morals of wind farms.

That lesson is this: If they don't want to pay you what they owe, they just don't.

That's reflected in a whole slew of liens filed against the properties of landowners there who leased turbine sites to EDP Renewables for the skyline obliterating construction project. And as everyone eventually learns about the national financial scam which is the wind industry in the U.S., the deal is only a deal when it benefits Big Wind.

The recent encumbrance of landowners' properties because companies haven't honored their word to hired contractors is an unfortunate common denominator connecting numerous wind turbine field developments across the country. We saw liens filed a few years ago with the turbine field nearby in Waverly in Coffey County; projects in New Hampshire, in New York, Oklahoma, Illinois, North Dakota and Indiana and others have seen liens filed against participating landowner properties.

The other common denominator is the savvy way wind companies slip the noose when they cause havoc in accounts receivable and let the chips fall on landowners who have no interest in the project other than hoping to collect lease payments. Anyone who's ever actually read one of the leases flashed in front of landowners, along with that nice signing bonus, isn't surprised. The mainstay of what should be company responsibility is specified in the very language of those leases to fall squarely on the heads of the landowners signing up with them.

The leases typically require landowners to pay any litigation costs involving their sited, 500-600 foot tall monoliths. They give up majority control over much of their land through site plans and easements, which the companies use to stack equipment and parts. Worse yet, gag clauses in those leases prevent disgruntled landowners from ever uttering a peep against their new benefactors, lest they lose their lease payments and get sued for breach of contract.

In fact, a recent news story on the Allen County property liens by The Iola Register quotes a sole landowner who "asked not to be identified," but swore he still supported the Prairie Queen project. That's a magnanimous perspective from someone who now can't sell his own land until a debt against it is paid to someone else.

Unfortunately Governor Laura Kelly's rural interest dog and pony show of 2019 never offered any blanket state protections for communities and landowners beset by these unneeded, tax-credit fueled grotesque abominations.

So, the landowners who made them possible are left to fend for themselves. ###

Mourning in Iran...

**There were no calls to the Review's Phone Forum this week.*

Iran shows why government shouldn't control the Internet

From the Washington Examiner

After anti-regime protests rocked Iran over the weekend, the country is considering an even further crackdown on internet freedom on top of the censorship that's already in place. This offers yet another reminder why we must resist calls from liberals and nationalist conservatives alike to give the government increased power over the web.

The threat of a violent crackdown on protesters looms after demonstrations began on Saturday. The unrest arose after the revelation that the Iranian military accidentally shot down a passenger aircraft, killing all 176 people on board, including Ukrainians and Iranians alike. Thousands took to the street, protesting the regime and chanting, "Death to the dictator." Now, government forces have started shooting protesters.

...For example, in 2009, the Iranian regime simply "turned off" the internet in many parts of the country to quell unrest that emerged as a result of that year's elections. And it interfered with the 2013 election as well, by blocking websites containing certain keywords and candidates' names...

...The Iranian example makes it clear that the only way to preserve a free and open internet is to keep the government as far away from it as possible.

The rise of the Totalitarian Left in America

Perhaps the worst thing to happen in America last year was the continued rise of the totalitarian left, which now controls some democrat presidential candidates, and many college campuses, aided by a corrupt media.

The "woke" movement is a threat to every American as the idea behind it is to literally destroy opposition to progressive policies.

Wall Street Journal columnist Peggy Noonan put it this way: "The past decade saw the rise of the woke progressives who dictate what words can be said and ideas held, thus poisoning and paralyzing American humor, drama, entertainment, culture and journalism. In the coming ten years someone will effectively stand up to them. They are the most hated people in America, and their entire program is accusation: you are racist, sexist, homophobic, transphobic; you are a bigot, a villain, a white male, a patriarchal misogynist, your day is over."

While Ms. Noonan's description of the totalitarian progressive movement is stunningly accurate, she's a bit late to the table. She once wrote that she believes all "misconduct" accusations because she doesn't know any women who would falsely accuse, a preposterous piece of analysis when money is often involved.

Yet, let's give Peggy Noonan credit for clearly identifying a brutal American problem: the presence and acceptance by the media of culture assassins.

"Bow to them," Ms. Noonan writes, "and they'll accuse you even more of newly imagined sins. They claim to be vulnerable victims, and moral. Actually, they're not. They're mean and seek to kill, and like all bullies are cowards."

But it is almost impossible to "stand up" to these brutalizers because they are well organized and funded. Corporations fear their boycott abilities and the media gleefully trumpets every accusation they spew without skepticism.

So who could possibly bring them down? I don't know. But I do know that many Americans indeed hate these people. Their media projects almost always bomb and their overall loathsomeness is apparent to anyone with a sprinkling of intelligence.

However, like Senator Joseph McCarthy and other destroyers, they are having their day. And they are hurting the country. Drastically.

Lord, place your arms around our young warriors

There is something haunting, yet button-busting proud, to see hundreds — and apparently soon to be thousands — of American military troops as they load onto an assortment of mammoth aircraft bound for the Mideast.

It matters not why the president and Pentagon leaders chose to take out an Iranian general, or why the drone attack took place at an Iraqi airport, or whether the Congress was properly notified, or if a counter attack can be expected in the coming days.

The fact is: Young Americans are leaving our shores, making no protest in doing so, all superbly trained to fight those dedicated to dastardly terrorism.

The troops do not step before microphones before deploying. They simply pack their gear, each one carrying a rifle designed specifically for their duty. Their packs weigh between 60 and 100 pounds including body armor, weapons, batteries, ammunition and emergency food rations.

RUDY TAYLOR, TAYLOR NEWSPAPERS

There is no youthful arrogance or boasting among the men and women toting those bags and heading into unknown skies. Only top brass know their destinations, but all know their orders and are sworn to obey them.

Political and cultural situations in Iraq, Iran, Israel, Lebanon, Syria and other Mideastern countries are mired in centuries-long conflict, so another war is almost commonplace to them. Not so with the American troops who are trained to do specific jobs, complete their missions then come back home.

It is they for whom we pray today — along with their leaders who have battles of their own to fight in Washington.

President Herbert Hoover made the wise statement during the groundswell that finally led into World War II. "Older leaders declare war. But it is the youth who must fight and die."

Give our leaders wisdom, oh Lord. Our young people have fought too many battles in their short lives already.

But thank you for the determined albeit fearful looks in each of their eyes as they load onto those planes this week.

They are our heroes. And, they shall be victorious.

Colin Kaepernick's stupid lie about America

In the torrent of idiotic commentary unleashed by the killing of Qassem Soleimani, Colin Kaepernick's deserves a place of honor.

The NFL washout and Nike persona who makes sure the company doesn't produce any overly patriotic sneakers tweeted, "There is nothing new about American terrorist attacks against Black and Brown people for the expansion of American imperialism."

For Kaepernick, Soleimani is just another dark-skinned man brutalized by the United States. The Iranian terror master was, in effect, driving while nonwhite and paid the ultimate price. For all we know, the operator of the MQ-9 Reaper drone that took him out was making a white-supremacy hand signal while unleashing this racist attack.

This interpretation of events takes identity politics to a whole new level, defining the blood-drenched hit man for a terroristic, profoundly anti-Semitic, deeply intolerant theocracy as a victim, based on his skin color alone. Obviously, no one will mistake Colin Kaepernick for an original thinker; he's only repeating things he's read or been told, in a slightly more lurid form. His worldview is disproportionately represented in academia and on the left, which objects to calling Soleimani a monster (hence, Elizabeth Warren's pathetic backtracking after forthrightly condemning Soleimani in her initial statement).

It is certainly true that America has had a large hand in U.S. foreign policy through much of our history. We drove Native Americans from their lands, in part based on racial animus. Thomas Jefferson refused to recognize an independent Haiti after a successful slave revolt, for fear it would fuel insurrections here. The American South coveted lands in Latin America prior to the Civil War, seeking more territory for slavery. After World War I, Woodrow Wilson opposed a racial equality proposal made by Japan at the Paris Peace Conference.

All of this, and more, are stains on our nation's history, but to consider racism the chief principle of a rapacious U.S. foreign policy is reductive, of a rapacious, dishonest and incredibly stupid.

The U.S. engaged in titanic struggles in the 20th century against Imperial Germany, Nazi Germany and the Soviet Union, none of which were brown or black. Enormous resources of blood and treasure were poured into stopping these truly imperialist powers from subjecting foreign peoples to their rule.

The United States opposed European colonialism, and its biggest wars since World War II were fought shoulder to shoulder with Asian people in Korea and Vietnam who didn't want to be overrun by rival Asians allied with totalitarian powers.

In the more immediate, post-9/11 period, we toppled the Taliban and Saddam Hussein. These were interventions motivated by national interest, but also optimistic and idealistic to a fault. Viewing these conflicts through a racial prism requires ignoring that the Taliban and Saddam overwhelmingly killed, tortured and repressed other nonwhite people. The same is obviously true of Qassem Soleimani. He has prodigious amounts of American blood on his hands (of Americans of all races and creeds), but he mainly killed other people in the Middle East — Syrians opposed to Bashar Assad, Iraqis protesting Iranian influence, anyone who got in the way of the Iranian imperial project.

His end is a boon to humanity, which should be obvious to anyone who's not drunk on ideology or racial obsessions.

January 1980 - Foul play was suspected in storage shed fire

January 2000

Two local companies will be required by the Kansas Department of Health and Environment to make changes to their open lagoon sewer systems in order to conform to state health codes. Scott Shields with KDHE said lagoons owned by the Anderson County Coop and Bill's Quick Shop would have to undergo various repairs due to problems that made them noncompliant with state sewage disposal standards.

January 1990

Low volume of patients at the Anderson County Hospital during October once again has hospital financials in the red. According to a report from Financial Director Janet Buckman the hospital lost $23,799 for the month of October. "Much of the loss can be accredited to the loss in patient days," said Buckman. "We were down 63 patient days from a year ago." Patient days are the days that people are in the hospital.

January 1980

A storage shed with lawn tools and gasoline caught fire at the Gene Hollingshead residence Friday afternoon. Foul play was suspected as there were no electrical lines to short out or open flames in the building. The heat from the fire was so intense it actually melted a plastic storm window inside the Hollingshead home about 30 feet from the building. No one was home at the time of the incident.

January 1920

Monday was wood-chopping day at Colony. The men turned out and went to the timber and cut a lot of wood and hauled it to town. As there's no coal in Colony, the men decided that the best thing they could do was to get in a lot of wood. It would be a good thing for Garnett to follow Colony's example. Why not establish a wood yard here and sell wood to those who need it at a cost? There are many people in town who cannot afford to pay $10 a cord for wood. Later: It is learned that the city commissioners are now planning to secure some timber land for this purpose.

Well, here it is. The beginning of a New Year and time to start planning on attending the 2020 Kansas Archeology Training Program Field School.

This year's KATP will be held at the Historic Lake Scott State Park in Scott County, June 5-21 2020.

The program will focus on two Dismal River aspect sites, that date between AD 1650 to AD 1750. Dismal aspect people are believed to be part of the Athabaskan language group and to be the predecessors of the modern day Apache people, now known as Apache Tribe of Association, has been held annually since 1975.

It provides an opportunity for the public to work alongside professional and experienced avocational archeologists in finding and excavating archeological sites and processing the resulting artifacts in the lab.

I will share more as I receive more information about this wonderful program.

Together we are stronger

by Glenn Brunkow, Pottawatomie County farmer and rancher

We have flipped the calendar to a new year, and that also means the "silly season" of politics is starting in earnest. This year promises to be an even sillier year than most because of state and national elections. More than just about any year I can remember, there is more at stake for our nation, state and, most importantly, for rural Kansas.

Increasingly we are seeing our population drop in most of rural Kansas, which means our political influence also is shrinking. We are seeing a shift of political power swing to more populated portions of the state. This could spell trouble for agriculture as many of those in more urban areas are more removed from agriculture and often don't fully understand our point of view or how issues affect us.

That is why it is so important for us to tell our side of the story, for us to let our views and stances on critical issues be known. If we don't advocate for ourselves no one else will, and our interests will be forgotten.

I know many of you are like me. I feel like I am so bogged down in my day-to-day activities and work that I don't have time to get involved. It is hard to know how to make your opinion heard and even harder to know how to make your vote count. It seems awfully lonely out here in rural Kansas and in agriculture.

I agree — it is hard to make your voice heard as a lone citizen. It is possible, and it is something we should not ignore. But often a lone voice is not very effective. That is why being a member of Kansas Farm Bureau is so critical for all of us in agriculture. It is a way for us to combine our voices and make them louder.

When we come together as a group, we magnify our power and influence. However, this does not lessen the importance of each one of us or our individual influence over our own elected officials. That is why it is also important to not only join Kansas Farm Bureau but to be an active member. In the coming weeks and months we will have an opportunity to voice our opinion and to help educate and influence our elected officials. Through the elections we will also have the chance to decide who many of those officials are.

I ask that you take the time to find out how you can be an active part in the efforts of our Kansas Farm Bureau. Sign up for alerts and contact your elected officials. Kansas Farm Bureau is the most influential farm organization in our

Northeast pulls away late over Crest

BY KEVIN GAINES THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW

COLONY - A game that was tight for 3-plus quarters turned into a lopsided defeat but the score is no way indicative of how the game went in Crest's 59-43 loss to NE-Arma Tuesday night.

Crest and Northeast exchanged blows in the first half as Northeast led 16-14 after the first quarter but Crest battled back to take a 29-27 lead at intermission.

The Lancers would go cold though in the second half as Northeast continued their pace throughout. Northeast tallied 13 points in the third quarter while limiting Crest to just 5 to hold a 40-34 heading into the final period.

Crest started the fourth quarter with a 6-1 run to cut the lead down to 41-40 with 4 minutes to go in the game. Northeast went on a quick 7-0 spurt to open the game back up en route to outscoring Crest 18-3 over the final 4 minutes of the game.

Head coach Travis Hermreck said, "This was a tough loss for us. We were down one with four minutes to go, and gave up a quick 7-0 run. At that point we were in desperation mode and the lead ballooned a little bit. We allowed Northeast to dictate our tempo a little more than we would have liked, but I am incredibly proud of how hard our kids played. We absolutely left it all on the floor."

Both teams struggled from 3-point range on the evening. Crest connected on just 3-16 (19%) and Northeast 3-14 (22%).

THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW 1-14-2020 / KEVIN GAINES Zach Beckmon watches as Ethan Prasko drives the lane against NE-Arma last Tuesday, Crest lost 59-43.

Inside the arc though Northeast was scorching hot on the night nailing 22 of 34 attempts (65%).

Northeast also dominated the glass out rebounding Crest 29-11.

The Lancers had just 4 players scoring on the night and were led by Zach Beckmon with 24 points and 4 steals, Kobey Miller with 12 points, and Ethan Prasko with 4 points and 10 rebounds.

Lady Lancers lose nailbiter to NE-Arma

BY KEVIN GAINES THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW

COLONY - Early on the Crest Lancer girls had the number of Northeast Arma as they bolted out to an early 7 point lead before they nearly overcame a double-digit deficit of their own in a 44-41 defeat at home last Tuesday.

After the first quarter, Crest led 11-4 but that advantage would be short-lived. NE-Arma would begin the second quarter on a 14-0 spurt to jump out to an 18-11 lead.

The remainder of the quarter would be back and forth but NE-Arma would still head into the locker rooms up 26-21, scoring 22 points in the period after that 4-point first quarter.

Following intermission, NE-Arma would limit Crest without a bucket the first four minutes of the second half while notching 7 unanswered points, capped by a 25 foot three-pointer by NE-Arma to take a 33-21 lead. Crest kept within striking distance heading into the fourth quarter trailing 38-27.

There was still a glimmer of hope after the Lady Lancers opened the fourth quarter on a small 5-2 run to be within 8 points with 5 1/2 minutes remaining.

Over the next three minutes, the Crest pressure had NE-Arma frustrated but the Lancers were struggling with their own turnover issues as the teams battled back and forth.

With 2:20 remaining, Crest was clinging to hope trailing 42-35 but time was running out.

The Lancers would connect on consecutive field goals to cut the deficit to 42-39 but a breakaway layup by NE-Arma stretched that advantage back out to 44-39.

A huge steal by Crest leading to a fast break score cut it back to 44-41.

NE-Arma took an ill advised shot in the waning seconds that missed but with less than 3 seconds remaining Crest couldn't get a good shot off in attempt to send the game into overtime.

Rylee Beckmon scored 24 points to lead Crest and also added 4 steals.

Aubree Holloran scored just 3 points but pulled down 15 rebounds, dished out 4 assists and also had 3 steals.

AC wins a thriller in overtime

BY KEVIN GAINES THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW

GARNETT - It took a three-pointer from Garrett Edens towards the end of regulation to send the game to overtime and the Bulldogs rode that momentum to a 67-66 win on Tuesday night against Fredonia.

Anderson County entered the season young and inexperienced but an overtime victory following a couple weeks off for the holidays just may go a long way towards growth and confidence as the season progresses.

Edens continued to lead the way in overtime scoring 6 of the team's 12 points. The other overtime buckets were a pair of treys from Bo Dilliner and Kyle Belcher.

If not for a huge discrepancy in free throws, the game may not have needed overtime to determine the outcome. The Bulldogs connected on just 5 of 14 attempts (36%) while Fredonia hit 24-35 attempts (69%).

Anderson County had three players in double figures led by Edens with 27 points followed by Reece Katzer with 14 points and Reece Jarrett chipped in with 11 points.

Lady Bulldogs down Fredonia with ease

BY KEVIN GAINES THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW

GARNETT - The Anderson County Lady Bulldogs picked up where they left off before the holiday break with a 56-33 win over Fredonia on Tuesday night.

The Bulldogs led 13-7 after the first quarter and really broke the game open in the second and third periods outscoring them by 12 in the second and 9 more in the third quarter to take a 47-20 lead heading into the fourth quarter.

With the game well in hand, Fredonia chipped away slightly in the fourth, outscoring AC 13-9, but it was still a comfortable victory for the Bulldogs.

Nine different players got into the scoring column in the game with Rayna Jasper and Cali Foltz leading the way with 12 points each.

Jasper also added 5 assists and 4 steals.

MaKenzie Kueser had 6 points and a team high 5 steals.

Marmaton Valley edges Lady Lancers

BY KEVIN GAINES THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW

COLONY - The Crest Lady Lancers were leading at half-time against Marmaton Valley before a disappointing fourth period gave Marmaton Valley a 54-50 victory.

Crest jumped out to an early 17-14 lead after the first quarter and stretched their lead slightly in the second to head into intermission with a 29-25 lead.

Marmaton Valley answered in the third quarter cutting the lead in half, 38-36, heading into the fourth.

Crest couldn't keep pace in the fourth quarter as Marmaton

Crest wins handily over Marmaton Valley

BY KEVIN GAINES THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW

COLONY - From the opening tip, Crest took control and dominated Marmaton Valley on Friday in a dominating 67-25 victory.

Crest led after the first quarter 21-6 and stretched that advantage to 41-13 at intermission.

Crest continued to play solid defense in the second half limiting Marmaton Valley to just 12 combined points in the third and fourth quarters while they scored 13 in each period to close out the win.

Kobey Miller led all scorers with 23 points, knocking down 5 of 13 three-pointers and 4 of his 6 field goals on the night.

Ethan Prasko chipped in with 8 points to go along with 7 rebounds and 3 steals.

After some tough losses this year late in games, Coach Hermreck was happy with how his team played.

"We came out making shots, kind of took them out early. After two tough losses it felt good to get back in the win column. Marmaton Valley plays hard and has a good young core of players," Hermreck stated.

Women's wrestling forced to go to a two day regional format

Regional girls wrestling originally scheduled for February 15 will now take place over two days, Friday, Feb. 14 and Saturday the 15th at Paola High School.

The change is necessary because of the number of girls participating in Kansas has eclipsed what was expected and it would not be able to be completed in just one day as originally planned.

For the inaugural season, as of Jan. 2, there are 972 girls participating in Kansas with an alpha weight.

By rule, each wrestler is limited to five matches per day. The amount of matches needed to complete the regional would not be possible under the one day format.

One classification made up of 150 schools has been divided into two regional brackets. Each school will be permitted one entry per weight class and we will qualify the top six finishers in each weight class from each regional.

The state tournament is scheduled for February 27 in Salina.

NCBA and Masters of Beef Advocacy announce 2019 Advocate of the Year

By National Cattlemen's Beef Association

The National Cattlemen's Beef Association (NCBA), a contractor to the Beef Checkoff, has selected Brandi Buzzard Frobose, blogger, Kansas rancher and influencer, as the 2019 Advocate of the Year. This honor is given annually to an outstanding Masters of Beef Advocacy (MBA) program graduate to recognize his or her success in reaching and educating consumers who want to learn more about beef and raising cattle. MBA is a Checkoff-funded program designed to equip advocates with the training, knowledge, and experience to advance their advocacy efforts as spokespeople for the industry.

In addition to being a mom to 3-year old Oakley and co-owner of High Bar Cattle Company with her husband, Hyatt, near Greeley, Kansas, Buzzard Frobose is a full-time beef industry communications professional. As busy as she may be, Brandi still finds time to connect with consumers by honestly and transparently sharing information about beef's great taste, unbeatable nutrition and the hardworking farmers and ranchers who produce it through her online social media platforms and blog.

Brandi's interest in and passion for the beef industry was ingrained in her at a young age as she tagged along with her dad and grandpa at feedlots, roping, and working with her cattle and hogs for the local fair.

Local rancher, Brandi Buzzard Frobose, recognized for beef advocacy effort.

As an exemplary advocate, Buzzard Frobose enjoys giving her fans and followers a glimpse into her life as a rancher and mom. She also frequently shares tasty beef recipes and candid perspectives on current beef events through her blog, Buzzard's Beat, and across her social media channels. Her "door" is always open for people to ask questions. Brandi uses social media as a way of connecting, sharing and inspiring others about life on the ranch and raising cattle.

"Passionate, knowledgeable people are among our industry's greatest assets," according to Laurie Munns, Utah rancher and chair of the Federation of State Beef Councils, a division of the NCBA. "When you add the willingness to communicate with both consumers and critics about the value we bring to society, it's a blessing. Brandi represents what is best about beef industry outreach."

Buzzard Frobose started blogging in 2009, and since then has elevated her status as an influencer and beef advocate. She's become heavily involved in the MBA program, a project she helped to grow during her time as a NCBA employee from 2013 to 2017.

Buzzard Frobose continues to set a strong example for other beef advocates by sharing her story in ways that connect with others inside and outside the beef community. Brandi's focus on blending stories about her life on the ranch and raising cattle with her role as a working mom resonates with her audience and has fueled success on her social platforms. She genuinely connects with consumers, which has led to interviews this past year on national television networks including CBS, FOX, and MSNBC.

As part of her advocacy work, Buzzard Frobose has tackled large issues, including food labels at the grocery store, environmental sustainability, and beef's role in healthy sustainable diets. She continually gives back by encouraging fellow beef advocates and sharing her experiences to help others. You can follow Brandi Buzzard Frobose's advocacy efforts online at BuzzardsBeat.com or on social media at @BrandiBuzzard. Buzzard Frobose will be recognized as Advocate of the Year during the 2020 Cattle Industry Convention in San Antonio.

'Rule of Thumb' for a marketing budget

Anytime you go looking for a "rule of thumb" for something, you can always expect the added caveats to start with "unless...", "but..." and "except..." or something to that effect based on any specific situation. So when we start talking about the "rule of thumb" for coming up with a marketing and advertising budget for your small business... well, you see where I'm going with this.

But there are still general rules that can help you get some direction as to your specific situation, and one thing for certain when you start talking about generating sales in a business - if you don't do it right, it can and will end up biting you.

First of all, remember what "marketing" really is - it's 1) your public relations efforts; 2) your personal sales efforts; 3) your publicity efforts and 4) your advertising efforts - basically everything you do directly and indirectly aimed at generating sales. Keep that in mind, because your marketing budget isn't just advertising expenditures.

I love the SCORE organization affiliated with the U.S. Small Business Association because we can get the free advice of people who've "been there, done that." These are some "rules of thumb" from SCORE regarding setting your marketing budget:

1) Dedicate about 10 percent of your revenues or projected revenues to your marketing budget. If you're a $500,000 per year company, you should be thinking in the neighborhood of $50,000 on marketing, with about 1/2 that going to labor directly aimed at sales. If you're launching a new product, figure 20 percent of projected revenues to marketing. 2) Dedicate 20 percent of your time to sales and marketing. You're probably not just the boss but the bookkeeper, the floor sweeper and the light bulb changer. Still, budget a day a week or two hours every day to generating sales. This includes costs of bringing on distributors and salespeople, networking, social media, traditional advertising, etc.

HOW TO SELL STUFF

3) Expect $10 in revenue for every dollar you invest in marketing. Sometimes this is hard to tell in evaluating specific projects, media and social media efforts, but over a period of time like a quarter, six months or a year, you should see a significant return. If you don't it's time to reassess your marketing plan.

When you have a minute go and check out www.score.org, the SCORE website. There's lots more there that will help you sell stuff!

The Pieces & Patches Quilt Guild was called to order by President Mary Parrott on December 19, 2019 at 9:30 a.m. at the Anderson County Extension office. Roll call was answered by 27 members. Barb Merry was our guest.

Meeting was adjourned for our Christmas brunch. Judy Stucky read "The Quilter's Blessings" and said grace.

Meeting was reconvened at 10:05.

Block of the Month
 Shirley Allen, Terrie Gifford,

Donna Sutton, Ruth Theis and Lynn Wawrzewski showed their December "All Wrapped Up" and/or "Peppermint Spin Runners." Ruth and Lynn won the Block of the Month prize drawing.

Old Business
 Bonnie Deiter reported that she gave five of our HALOS quilts to the Modlin family who lost their home to a fire. She is requesting more quilts to restore her stash for future needs. They should be at least 4' x 6' with pillowcase.

Secret Sister Gifts
 Last year's secret sisters were revealed with Christmas cards during the brunch. Bonnie Deiter conducted the new drawing for secret sisters.

 Thirteen members showed 20 items. Show and tell door

Before adjourning the meeting Mary Parrott gave away three cool door prizes she had purchased at "Sticks & Weeds" craft shop in Leroy. Jeanette Gadelman won a trio of wooden Christmas trees and Shirley Allen and Kathy Zimmerman each won wood and coffee can crafted snowmen's hats.

Vickie Hurt read a story and every time she read the word "left" or "right" members passed their fat quarter to the corresponding person on that side of them. She had everyone in stitches.

Cattle study reveals connection between drug treatments and antimicrobial resistance

MANHATTAN — A new study from Kansas State University on the treatment of non-responder cases of bovine respiratory disease, known as BRD, conducted by Hans Coetzee and his collaborators from Iowa State University, sheds light on the relationship between drug treatments and the emergence of antimicrobial resistance.

The study, "Association between antimicrobial drug class for treatment and retreatment of bovine respiratory disease (BRD) and frequency of resistant BRD pathogen isolation from veterinary diagnostic laboratory samples," was published in the December 2019 issue of the journal PLOS ONE.

"Bovine respiratory disease is one of the most important diseases facing beef cattle producers in the United States with economic losses estimated to approach $1 billion a year," Coetzee said. "Antibiotics are critical to minimize losses associated with BRD caused by bacterial infections."

Antibiotics that are used to treat BRD are broadly classified into two groups: namely those that prevent growth of the bacteria — i.e., bacteriostatic — and those that kill the organism — i.e., bactericidal. Although 90% of BRD relapses are reported to receive retreatment with a different class of antimicrobial, the impact of antibiotic selection — bactericidal or bacteriostatic — on disease outcomes and the emergence of antimicrobial resistance has not been investigated, according to Coetzee. The focus of the study is determining the association between antimicrobial class selection for treatment and retreatment of BRD relapses and antimicrobial susceptibility of Mannheimia haemolytica, Pasteurella multocida and Histophilus somni.

Pathogens were isolated from samples submitted to the Iowa State University Veterinary Diagnostic Laboratory from January 2013 to December 2015. A total of 781 isolates with corresponding animal case histories, including treatment protocols, were included in the analysis.

"Our overall interpretation of the data suggests that there is direct association between the number of treatments to which an animal was exposed and the emergence of antibiotic resistance in samples submitted to a veterinary diagnostic laboratory for analysis," Coetzee said. "In addition, these exploratory data suggest that BRD treatment protocols involving first-line treatment with a bacteriostatic antibiotic followed by second-line treatment with a bactericidal antibiotic may increase the probability of isolating BRD bacteria that are resistant to antibiotics."

While this observation suggests that consideration should be given to the mechanism of action of the antibiotic when selecting drugs for retreatment of non-responder cases of BRD, Coetzee said further research is needed to determine the clinical relevance of this finding in live-stock production systems.

Colony Christian Church - "Starting at the Beginning"

Larry Wittmer gave the Communion Meditation referencing Psalm 119:89-96. God's laws and commandments are for eternity, as enduring as the earth he created. Everything that has happened, and will happen, is by his word. We must know what his word is by studying it. God is loyal to what he created, forever. And heaven and earth are loyal to God's word. "As long as the earth remains, there will be planting and harvest, cold and heat, summer and winter, day and night." ~ Genesis 8:22. (Ref: Psalm 1119 & 147, Genesis 8:22, 2 Peter 3)

Pastor Chase Riebel gave the sermon on "Starting at the Beginning". When we believe something, we act as if it were true. Our church doctrine is what we use to guide our church, and it comes directly from the Bible. We believe in ONE God. There are many verses in the Bible that state there is only one God. Do we treat our one God as if he is the only one? Or as three separate Gods? Looking at the father as wrathful and seeking vengeance, the son as being meek and mild, and the Holy Spirit as giving us liberty and freedom? When we tie them all three together, we have one God, perfectly united in character and purpose, and they don't contradict each other. False gods mask themselves, they shift identity depending on what we want them to be, no power over life or death. The one true God is self-existent, outside of time, unchanging, sovereign, and has power over everything. Hear this sermon in its entirety at <http://www.colonychristianchurch.org>, or thru your favorite podcast. Join us at church Sunday mornings at 9:30 for Cross Training, and 10:45 for church service. (Ref: Deuteronomy 6:4, Mark 12:29, 1 Corinthians 8:4-7, John 14:8-11 & 19, Hebrews 1:3, Matthew 28:19, John 17:3 & 20-26)

Men's Bible study at the church, and Women's Bible study at the Cross Roads, Tuesday mornings at 7:00 am. Adult Bible study at the Cross Roads and youth group at the church, Wednesday evenings at 7:00 pm. Working Wonders, Monday January 13 at 6:30 at the Cross Roads.

Greeley Elementary thanks USD 365 police officer LeVota

THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW 1-14-20 / SUBMITTED

In recognition of National Law Enforcement Appreciation Day, students and staff at Greeley Elementary presented USD 365 Police Officer Phil LeVota with a few gifts. Thank you cards, cookies, and a gift card were given to Officer LeVota in a show of appreciation for all he does to keep the school district safe. Above picture: Sadie Moody, Noelle Stinnett, Anthony Hartle, and Rylee Wolken have cards and gifts for Officer Phil LeVota.

National Law Enforcement Appreciation Day (L.E.A.D.) was January 9th

On January 9th, 2020, partnering organizations in support of law enforcement officers nationwide promoted National Law Enforcement Appreciation Day (L.E.A.D.). In light of recent negativity directed toward law enforcement nationally, there is a need to show law enforcement officers that our citizens recognize the difficult and sometimes impossible career they have chosen, in public service to us all. On January 9th of each year, we will call our nation's citizens to action in support of law enforcement. Those citizens who appreciate law enforcement and are discouraged about the negative attention being given to law enforcement are encouraged to take time on to show their support. Our citizens can show their support in a number of ways:

- Wear blue clothing in support of law enforcement.
- Send a card of support to your local police department or state agency.

- Share a story about a positive law enforcement experience on social media.
- Ask children in your community to write letters in support of law enforcement.
- Participate in Project Blue Light - Proudly display your blue light in support of law enforcement.

- Organize an event or a rally in support of your law enforcement officers.
- Advertise your support through local media outlets/billboards.
- Post the public service announcement supplied by C.O.P.S. to your organization's webpage or social media pages.
- Coordinate and/or participate in a Blue Blood Drive.

Most importantly, if you see a police officer, thank a police officer.
