Tennessee man nabs 'bucket list' item with visit to Gerth Cabin

BY DANE HICKS THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW

GREELEY – After years communicating with local historians in the area, a “bucket list” trip by Nashville attorney Dan Haskell brought him to Greeley recently – face to face with the celebratd 1850s-era home of his great, great, great grandfather.

He’s a descendant of Valentin Gerth, an 1854 German immigrant to the Greeley area who built a two-room cabin northwest of Greeley in 1856, as eastern Kansas became the initial tinderbox in what would become the Civil War. Gerth Cabin survived more than 140 years and was donated by private owners to the City of Greeley in 1999, where an extensive renovation project turned the cabin into a mini-museum on the bank

State Board thwarts Governor Kelly’s order, local schools to open

USD 288, 479 will finalize this week, 365 will open August 19

BY DANE HICKS THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW

TOPEKA – With the rejection by the Kansas State Board of Education of Governor Kelly’s executive order delaying the fall start of public schools in Kansas, local districts are tooling up with additional technology and contact control measures to get local schools rolling in coming weeks.

Kelly’s order would have delayed the start of school until at least September 9, but a stalemate 5-5 vote on the KSBE lacked a majority to approve it. Kansas legislators amended Kelly’s authority during a special session in June to give the state school board the final say in decisions about closing or reopening schools.

USD 288 Superintendent Nathan Hinrichs said his school board planned to approve a school calendar at a special meeting July 31 and approve its back to school plans at its regular August meeting. The district plan will include both on-site and remote learning protocols, according to a post on the district’s website.

Crest USD 479 has been polling parents with an online survey to determine their comfort levels with various aspects of reopening. Superintendent Nathan Walter said his school board also planned a special meeting early this week to assess those results and finalize details.

St. Luke’s to close FCC satellite in Colony

COLONY – St. Luke’s Health System announced last week it will close its Colony Family Care Center facility, just weeks after taking over operation of the Allen County Regional Hospital in Iola in a lease deal.

Patients in Colony and elsewhere in southern Anderson County received a letter from Anderson County Hospital Administrator Rich McKain saying the facility would be closed and directing patients to seek services either at ACRH or at ACH. Colony is about 12 miles from Iola, and 18 miles from Garnett.

McKain cited the Covid-19 pandemic as a reason for the move.

“As we continue to manage the challenges of this unprecedented situation, we have made the difficult decision to close the Family Care Center-South clinic in Colony permanently.” The letter did not say what the private practice. My mother works at the Anderson County Hospital. For me, Anderson County has always felt like home, and I plan on living in Anderson County if elected County Attorney.

I have been a licensed Kansas attorney since 2009. I am pro-life and I believe in the Second Amendment. After working at Kansas Legal Services for over three years, I opened my private practice in Ottawa, Kansas serving predominantly Franklin and Anderson County. In January 2019, I joined the Sumner County Attorney's Office and handled cases including traffic, felonies, and care and treatments. While at the Sumner County Attorney's Office, I worked on jury trials that included rape, burglary, and driving under the influence. During this time, I continued to represent clients in my private practice. In October 2019, I joined the Montgomery County Attorney's office to focus my career predominantly on felony and misdemeanor criminal work. During my first week at the Montgomery County Attorney's Office, I did a felony jury trial on possession of methamphetamine and successfully convicted the person. Throughout my career, I have handled every type of case that a county attorney's office handles including child in need of care, juvenile offender, traffic, care and treatment, and criminal cases. I have done bench trials, misdemeanor jury trials, and felony jury trials.

My passion for serving rural communities and my love for Anderson County motivated me to run for Anderson County Attorney and I am asking you to vote for me on August 4, 2020.

-Gun Owners of America; -The National Border Patrol Council.

They support me, because they know my record.

As Secretary of State, I promised Kansas would be the number one state for stopping voter fraud. I promised to cut the budget of my agency without cutting services, and I delivered. Now I am making promises about what I will do as Senator.

(1) I will be the President's point man on immigration.

(2) I will help the Senate confirm constitutionalist judges to the federal bench.

(3) I will join the small number of Senators who are serious about cutting federal spending.

If you entrust me with your vote, I will deliver results again. The Washington Establishment also knows my record, and that is why I am being attacked by DC insiders like Mitch McConnell. They are spending millions in false attack ads against me, because they know I pose a threat to the status quo in Washington. They want a yes man -- not someone who will keep his promises even if it means upsetting DC insiders.

Kansans have a real choice in this election. Do you want a Senator who wants to be liked by everyone, someone who won't take a stand? Or do you want a Senator who will stand up for the conservative principles we hold dear?

I know that the Washington Establishment and their media allies will continue to attack me. But I don't care.

I haven't forgotten that I work for you.

ing TAPS for our veterans at funeral and Memorial Day services, a task which I am honored to continue to perform. After graduating from Anderson County, I attended Emporia State University receiving a Bachelor's Degree in Psychology.

I earned a Masters Degree in Business Administration from American Public University. As a Walmart employee, I started as a cashier and worked up through positions as Assistant Store Manager, Co-Manager, and Academy Manager gaining experience in human resources, employee benefits, budgeting, and payroll while always remaining passionate about my fellow associates and doing the best job possible. Although employed full time as a corporate employee, I also assisted civic organizations with grants and fundraising.

After obtaining these degrees and work experiences, I returned to Anderson County and have worked for the past two years in the County Treasurer's Office. I am thrilled to once again be close to family (including my 16 nieces and nephews) and reconnect with the community in which I grew up. I have taken that opportunity to work as a lead organizer in the construction of a Veterans Memorial in Westphalia, which I am pleased to report was planned and built within an 11-month timeframe solely with individual donations and volunteer support.

With my educational background and experience in management and civic projects, I am confident that I can excel in serving you as Anderson County Clerk.

as an economist gives me the tools to address the economic crisis we find ourselves in with this COVID-19 pandemic. My life of service in the community and of opening my home demonstrates that I will bring the good neighbor values of Kansas to Washington.

My parents are my inspiration for understanding what it means to be a good Republican and a good neighbor. They constantly opened their homes, donated, volunteered and helped out their neighbors. I have tried to live out their values my entire life--first as a minister, then working in non-profits, and then going back to school in economics to better understand how to create solutions for the poverty and economic crises.

We have had increasing housing, healthcare and education costs for 40 years, while wages have been stagnant. That situation is unsustainable--we see people locked in debt, having more trouble affording healthcare and shelter. COVID-19 has taken these problems from a long term danger to a clear and present one. Tens of millions are expected to lose healthcare through this pandemic with premiums skyrocketing for the rest. We risk opening our economy to a great depression--mass evictions, business closures, unemployment, and a budget crisis at the state and local levels. This needn't be the case. We can build a different way forward--together!

however we cannot allow this to continue. I can promise if I were elected, I will treat this as a full-time position and will do everything I can for the People of Anderson County. Further, I will not seek other office during my term and will not accept any other office if asked. I am the only attorney currently running who has tried cases to their conclusion in Anderson County. I am familiar with both Judges that serve Anderson County and have worked with them extensively on all matters that a County Attorney is responsible for. We have some qualified candidates running; however, I am the only one with deep ties to Anderson County. Most of my family is from Anderson County and I have been to every community in the County. I can promise that if I am elected, we will have a County Attorney who is responsive to both the needs of the community and law enforcement. I will work tirelessly to make sure that our community is safe and taken care of. I'd ask for your vote on August 4th. Thank you and God Bless America.

Fearing more than sausage

The St. Louis police who confiscated Patricia McCloskey's inoperable handgun last week proved that when she stood by her husband's side June 28 to defend their lives and property against a violent Black Lives Matter mob in their St. Louis suburb, she might as well have been pointing a summer sausage.

If something isn't done to abet the rampant victimization of our citizens underway by the Marxist Black Lives Matter organization, future responses by gun owning Americans may not be so inert.

St. Louis prosecutors were kind enough to have McCloskey's handgun taken apart and reassembled to make it lethal prior to the pursuit of the circuit prosecutor's charges against the couple. While it still amounts to evidence tampering, their assistance provided the McCloskeys with a valuable service for which they would otherwise have most likely paid a full hour's bench time at any local gun shop.

But the criminal case against the McCloskeys is compromised. At least for now but depending on the continued coddling of violent mobs associated with the Marxist Black Lives Matter organization, brandishing a sausage is still not a crime in Missouri.

It'll be interesting to see how that fact plays into the criminal charges against the McCloskeys, who have been rushed to the status of folk heroes among right-thinking Americans who are justifiably horrified at the destruction and murder wrought by BLM virtually unfettered by leadership in the nation's urban areas.

What will not be resolved by the now compromised criminal case against the McCloskeys is the maturing mood among most of America that it is only those who follow the rules - not those who break them - that are subject to the consequence of law. The belief is justified, growing and dangerous.

The point has no more perfect illustration than the incident with the McCloskeys, who because of a lack of police protection took the last resort available to them to protect their lives and their property by arming themselves, standing their ground and confronting a definable threat. When the government fails or abdicates its responsibility to protect American families, who's going to do it?

While the McCloskeys are quite accessible to the long arm of the law in their alleged firearm handling violations, accountability has been barely asserted against the mob of thugs who tore down a security gate marked "no trespassing" to gain access to the McCloskeys' private neighborhood. That's typical for what has become the wanton violence and destruction pursued by BLM against individuals and property owners of all races and tax brackets. Led by its avowed Marxist founders Alicia Garza, Patrisse Cullors and Opal Tometi, BLM saw a perfect smokescreen for its attack against America in the murder of George Floyd. Mainstream media has ignored the organization's Marxist roots, and generally failed to condemn its attack on the country.

In city after city, American property owners have been victimized to the tune of billions and numerous citizens murdered, yet leadership in these cities still refuses to treat BLM as the enemy it is. The ludicrous rebukes by mayors of these urban muck pits to President Trump's assignment of federal protection there speaks volumes as to whose side they're really on. They lack the courage and the will to protect their citizenry, then they castigate the federals who try to cover for their neglect and cowardice. The immediate demands of citizens' safety justify seizing to their own means of protection as they await an election to throw these left-leaning incompetents from office.

If leadership won't act, the citizenry has no other choice but defend itself. And they won't be pointing sausages. ###

If we don't listen as adults to rules, such as "wear a mask in (name store)" it's right there on the front door, how do you expect your children to listen? It is a simple rule. Nobody's asking you to cut off an arm or a leg. Just wear a mask. It's so simple to do but yet we're bucking the system for whatever reason. Please take note of that. Your kids will act the same way you do.

Does anybody know of a recall petition for Kelly? I would love to sign a recall petition and get her out of the governor's office and I know a lot of other people who would sign one too. If there are any out there please let me know. I'd like to sign it.

Yeah, I keep asking but no one will tell me, what happened to all them people down at the lake over Memorial Day partying and all the shame-shame on them for passing around the Covid? How many of them got it and how many are dead now? I only heard of one that got it but now the news don't say anything about it. I wonder why that is?

Hey, I have five good angels taking care of me since I got out of the hospital. I'm sure a lot of people have angels taking care of them too. I just want everyone to know that Donna and Lori, Liz and Nancy and John are looking after me and taking care of me. I sure do appreciate it. Thank you.

'I can't breathe': Maybe not what you think

NATIONAL COMMENTARY

MARILYN SINGLETON, M.D., AUTHOR

The COVID-19 lockdown has its benefits: a chapter a day of the unabridged version of Aleksandr Solzhenitsyn's The Gulag Archipelago, a study in fear and redefined "normal" values, among many other lessons.

Lately I've seen face coverings stenciled with "I can't breathe." The beauty of the statement is its dual meaning. It can be a nod to George Floyd, an arrestee who apparently suffocated at the hands of a rogue law enforcement officer or it can be a statement of the wearer's condition behind the mask. More generally, it can be a statement about the suffocation of society as a whole.

Free speech is the bedrock of our politics, but media manipulation is now rampant. Under the guise of fact-checking, our modern day newspapers—YouTube, Facebook, and Twitter—have become the arbiters of what constitutes a worthy opinion or fact in contrast to "misinformation." Scientists were certain that something heavier than air could not maintain flight. The misinformed Wright brothers proved them wrong.

Vladimir Lenin recognized that the media are propagandists and their information presented should be "easy to digest, most graphic, and most strongly impressive." With COVID-19, the media create irrational fear with daily charts of deaths and case numbers without corresponding recoveries. They fail to mention that many deaths were of patients with serious underlying conditions or who were already in hospice and had weeks to live and coincidentally tested positive. The raw numbers are unaccompanied by the CDC's instruction to classify a death as COVID-19 even if merely suspected or, in some cases, with a negative test. There is no corresponding warning with blinking lights that the tests have false positives or that the daily report of "increases" includes old tests that were not previously reported.

As Lenin noted, "ideas are much more fatal than guns." Thus, where propaganda and media bias do not succeed, censorship will. Currently, a vocal physician is being silenced and investigated for questioning the motives and possible over-reporting of COVID-19 as the cause of death. Censorship is our polite version of "disappearing" dissidents. We are not Communist China and cannot allow the treatment of Dr. Li Wenliang, a Wuhan ophthalmologist to be the "new normal." In December 2019, he courageously warned his colleagues on social media about the new SARS-like pneumonia cases but knew that he "would probably be punished." Indeed, Chinese officials forced him to sign a letter accusing him of "making false comments" that had "severely disturbed the social order." Fortunately for scientific advancement of our relentless search for COVID-19 treatments and mitigation, many questioned the official story about the novel coronavirus coming from a pangolin at a Wuhan wet market.

Censorship, corrupt scientific inquiry, and media bias have no place in medicine. It is not clear that lockdowns are scientifically sound. Curiously, social justice protests are allowed despite lockdowns. One epidemiological analysis concluded lockdowns in Western Europe had no effect on COVID-19 deaths. Additionally, studies show severe psychological effects of quarantines. The 5 states with the most COVID-19 deaths from March through April showed a 35 to 400 percent increase in deaths from various non-respiratory underlying causes, including diabetes, heart diseases, Alzheimer's disease, and cerebrovascular diseases. Some 80,000 diagnoses of five common cancers may be missed or delayed by early June because of disruptions to medical care caused by the COVID-19 pandemic.

Most reviews conclude that masks do not slow down the spread of the SARS-CoV-2 virus

Judaism is a religion of life

Dear Mr. Hicks,

I'm writing to you to let you know that I, and I'm sure many other Jews, were not at all offended by the cartoon that you removed two weeks ago. You were simply trying to make a point about totalitarianism and were using an extreme example to do so. That's standard practice in debate and political satire.

As a general matter, you should know that the mainstream Jewish organizations in this country are run by secular Jews who don't believe in traditional Judaism and therefore seek ersatz "religions" to fill the void. For many of them, that ersatz religion is liberalism plus Holocaust remembrance. The Holocaust was an absolutely horrific event - possibly the most evil this planet has ever witnessed - but it is just the latest in a long line of persecutions of the Jewish people have suffered. Moreover, Judaism is a religion of life, not death. We don't worship death, and Judaism is not a death culture. In fact, it is quite the opposite.

In short, I don't mind that you took down the cartoon, but you should know that many Jews - particularly Orthodox (i.e., traditional) Jews who, by and large, vote Republican, not Democratic - weren't offended by the cartoon, which was simply making a political point that a decent portion of us agree with. Should you ever wish to hear the voice of traditional Jewry, I would suggest speaking to the Coalition for Jewish Values, Agudath Israel of America, or your local Chabad rabbi.

Sincerely,

Elliot Resnick, Chief Editor

Joe Biden's shockingly adequate campaign

NATIONAL COMMENTARY

RICH LOWRY, King Features Syndicate

The Biden campaign has been lucky most of all, but it's also been smart, at least smart enough.

To go, as Joe Biden did, from left for dead to sweeping to the Democratic nomination and quickly thereafter emerging as the favorite in November is a run of success that would be the envy of any national politician.

It's easy to consider this a mere accident given the weakness of Biden's opponents, first a socialist in the Democratic primaries who had a ceiling on his support and now an incumbent president whose ratings have sagged.

The Biden team certainly isn't going to rewrite any campaign playbooks or dazzle anyone with its brilliance, but it has avoided serious mistakes and demonstrated an understanding of the basic political terrain and its candidate's strengths. It hasn't asked Biden to do anything out of his comfort zone or beyond his capabilities and has been content for President Donald Trump to dominate all the attention, so long as Trump is not advancing his cause, and often setting it back, with all the airtime and headlines.

Biden's theory of the Democratic Party, even if it seemed doubtful at the outset, proved correct - that the center of gravity of the party was still with, as he put it, Obama-Biden Democrats rather than with the avowed socialists and social justice warriors.

Biden hewed to this line when other candidates went the other way. It might seem obvious that endorsing "Medicare for All," which involves yanking away the private health insurance of more than a 100 million Americans, is foolish and politically indefensible, but several candidates in the Democrat race did it anyway.

He's steered clear of other pitfalls since locking up the nomination. He's said he wouldn't ban fracking. He didn't endorse defunding the police. He defended the statues of America's founders.

He's indisputably slid left. This has been his MO his entire career - to stay smack in the middle of whatever is the consensus position of the Democratic Party at any given time.

His campaign knows that it benefits if the election is a referendum on Trump - and is acting accordingly.

Why should Biden try to take the mic from Trump if the president is using it to feud with Bubba Wallace and Dr. Anthony Fauci? Not only do these diversions do nothing to dent Biden, they serve to validate the former vice president's case that the county needs a return to normalcy.

Still, nothing is decided in July. Biden's record and agenda give Trump targets to shoot at, and he should obviously take every opportunity to make the election, to the extent he can, about the radicalism of the Democratic Party.

Finally, there's the fact that Biden is an unsteady performer at best. The strictures around COVID-19 have relieved him of the rigors of the typical presidential campaign, but he's going to have to emerge to participate in a debate or debates in the fall, and no one can rule out some catastrophic failure.

So, Trump can't be counted out. But the Biden campaign is canny enough that it isn't going to make it easy for him.

Children's author trinket found?

HASKELL...

This past week at the new site I'm now working at I uncovered this rather interesting artifact.

In fact, it really caught my eye. Everyone knows how I love to research and that's exactly what I did.

Born: June 26, 1909, New York, NY.

Gertrude Crampton was an author of children's books. She wrote the beloved classic Little Golden Books, The Tootle (1945) and Scuffy the Tugboat (1946), both of which have never been out of print as of 2001. The Tootle was the all time best selling hard-of the Pottawatomie Creek.

Haskell said he'd conversed with Greeley historian Dorothy Lickteig for years about local history, his genealogy and his connection to Gerth cabin. When he retired from his Nashville law practice during the Covid-19 pandemic, he decided it was time to see the site and experience the restored project first-hand.

"Somebody did a really nice job of moving this thing and setting it up," Haskell said. The project cost about $27,000, and Lickteig said the site of the cabin is where Greeley's first school was located in the mid-to-late 1800s.

Haskell's connection to the Gerth family comes from his mother's side. Mary Manerva Gerth was born in 1927 and grew up in the Lane area where her family had lived for those generations since Valentin Gerth settled the area. When World War II rolled around, Haskell said his mother attended nursing school and met his father, Al, a native of Maine who was assigned to the Naval Air Station at Olathe. His father became a pharmacist after the war and the family eventually moved to the Bonner Springs area where Haskell was raised. They made frequent, though uneventful trips to his grandparents' home in Lane when he was a boy.

"All the years we lived in Lake of the Forest we came down and visited my grandparents in Lane three or four times a year," he said. "Really boring weekends. Lane is not the highlight of much."

Still the sense of history and local tradition was apparent in his family, he said, and as he got older and learned more about the history of the area, those roots meant more to him.

Gerth Cabin is notable because it's believed to be the location where John Brown hid 11 freed slaves enroute to Canada just after Christmas 1858, after Brown and his men conducted a raid in Vernon County, Mo. Brown would be captured after he tried to commandeer a U.S. armory at Harpers Ferry, Va., the following October. He was executed in December 1859. The Gerth Cabin incident was one of his last acts of rebellion in the area known as Bleeding Kansas.

While hiding near Greeley, a baby boy named John Brown Daniels was born to escaped slave Jane Daniels. Local historians believe the slaves were most likely hidden under the floor of the cabin. A cut-away portion of the floor of the cabin is still visible from inside, though no one knows if it was an actual access to the hiding place.

Haskell said he had fallen heir to a number of Valentin Gerth's belongings, including a honing stone on which to sharpen shaving razors as well as a leather shaving strap, and a land deed made out to Gerth from one of John Brown's sons. He said he hoped to gift the items for the cabin exhibits.

He said the family's connection to the Civil War and its Eastern Kansas roots had struck a chord with him most of his life.

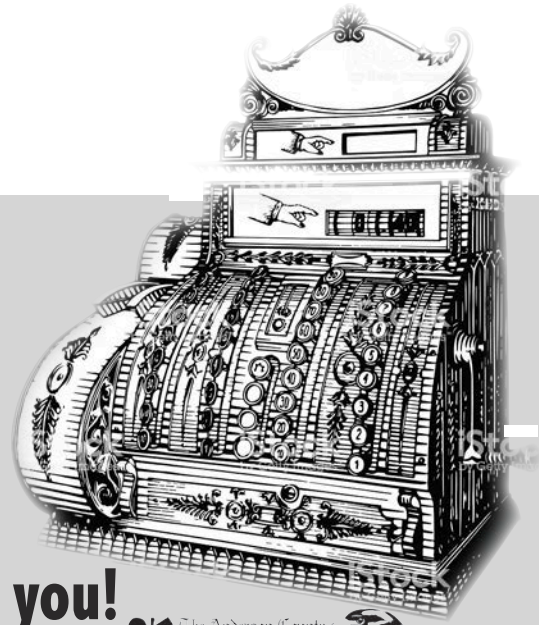

"I was always interested in that sort of thing," he said. "This has been one of those bucket list issues for me."

is mandated is a form of, or a practice run of the mark of the beast, because many businesses and government are requiring face masks for you to do anything like buy or sell. Some people think that when the Covid-19 vaccine comes out everyone will be forced to have the vaccine or you will not be able to go into a business or to your job, so this vaccine will be like the mark of the beast in the fact that you will not be able to buy or sell.

To the person who called in last week about the Covid-19 and the mark of the beast, I highly recommend you find a pastor if you do not have one. Have him go visibly with you. Matthew says 'take heed, no man deceive you.' Whether the Covid vaccine is implicated in the mark of the beast which is fast approaching is irrelevant. God has already conquered evil. But he is allowing some evil for a season. Find a pastor.

They hear and truly believe

In Romans chapter 9 and 10 the Apostle Paul contrasts the difference between the Gentiles and Israel as far as hearing and understanding of the teachings of Jesus. For the Apostle there were two different kinds of hearing. The first is stated in Romans 10:18, where Paul asks, "Did they (Israel) not hear? Of course they did; Their voice has gone out into all the earth, their words to the end of the world." Paul bases this on Romans 1:20, "For since the creation of the world God's invisible qualities-his eternal power and divine nature -have been clearly seen, being understood from what was made, so that men are without excuse." Their conscience knows the righteousness of God as they see God in nature. They have heard of God's righteousness. But people do not necessarily believe what they hear.

The second kind of hearing Paul references is apparent in Romans 10:16. "But they have not all obeyed the gospel. For Isaiah says, 'Lord who has believed what he has heard from us?'" The word obeyed in Greek refers to a type of hyper-hearing. This word describes the kind of hearing that makes someone obey the gospel. They hear and truly believe it, which shows in their obedience to it. According to John Calvin hyper-hearing is not something humans can generate. The Holy Spirit takes the external calling and makes it an internal calling, efficacious or successful in producing the desired result and peculiar to the elect.

Chapter 12 of John's gospel states that Christ performed many signs during his preaching ministry. But many hearers still did not believe in him. Why not? Because God had "blinded" their eyes and "hardened" their hearts. This was prophesied in the book of Isaiah. The people's unbelief is the fulfillment of God's divine election. Scripture tells us He (God) chooses whom he will, (He has mercy on whom he will. Therefore the word of Christ has not failed when some people refuse to hear and obey the gospel. Those who do not believe fail to believe because God does not grant them hyper-hearing. First Thessalonians 2:13 reads, "And we also thank God constantly for this that when you received the word of God, which you heard from us, you accepted it not as the word of men but as what it really is, the word of God, which is at work in you believers." Preachers therefore should not become frustrated or discouraged. It is not that the gospel message failed to convert the hearers. But God, who bestows hyper-hearing as he wishes, has magnified himself even in their unbelief. The regenerate person hears the word differently than the unregenerate and truly believes it.

THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW 7-28-2020 / DANE HICKS

ACHS graduate receives Work Ethic Scholarship

Guy Young, son of Joe and Jennifer Young of Westphalia and a member of the 2020 Class of Anderson County High School, has been named a recipient of a Work Ethic Scholarship from the Mike Rowe Works Foundation.

Each year the Work Ethic Scholarship Program recognizes folks they consider rock stars. They recognize the people who understand the importance of personal responsibility, delayed gratification, a positive attitude, and, of course, work ethic.

Mike Rowe is a firm believer

in hard work, and he is wanting to help redefine the definition of a good education and a good job. The Work Ethic Scholarship was created to help those individuals wanting to attend a trade school and help fill those blue-collar jobs that keep America going. In 2008, Mike wanted to find a way to articulate the qualities he values most, and the S.W.E.A.T. Pledge was created. It stands for "Skills and Work Ethic Aren't Taboo. It is made up of 12 statements that a person must embody and live by. It is a collection of beliefs that outlines the importance of work ethic, personal responsibility, delayed gratification, and a positive attitude that every worker could benefit from having.

Anyone from across the nation that is wanting to attend a trade school and willing to sign The S.W.E.A.T. Pledge can apply for a scholarship. There is a little work in applying for the scholarship though, it requires references, essay questions, and coming up with a thirteenth statement and a video 45 to 60 seconds illustrating the thirteenth statement. This year they awarded 223 scholarships to individuals from across the United States. Guy Young the son of Joe and Jennifer Young of Westphalia was a recipient of a Work Ethic Scholarship. Guy will be attending Fort Scott Community College and participating in the John Deere Tech Program. His sponsoring dealership is Prairie Land Partners of Iola.

Kincaid student awarded America's Farmers Grow Ag Leaders Scholarship

Recent Marmaton Valley High graduate Julianna Sprague has been awarded a $1,500 scholarship from America's Farmers Grow Ag Leaders, sponsored by Bayer Fund. In the fall, Sprague will study General Agriculture/Agricultural Sciences at Fort Scott Community College.

"We are committed to improving educational opportunities for students in rural communities. Grow Ag Leaders gives Bayer Fund and farmers the ability to help youth across the country with college expenses and assist in their pursuit of an ag education," said Amy Simpson, Community Engagement Manager, Bayer Fund.

The future of agriculture relies on talented young people like Sprague to fill thousands of jobs in a variety of fields, such as plant science, engineering, communications, finance, and more. Grow Ag Leaders raises awareness of diverse career opportunities in the agriculture industry and provides 352 scholarships nationwide to support student's post high school ag education.

Grow Ag Leader scholarships, administered by the National FFA Organization, are available to high school seniors and college students pursuing degrees in ag-related fields. To be considered, each applicant is required to receive endorsements from two local farmers. Both FFA members and non-FFA members are eligible to apply. With support from Bayer Fund, more than $3.2 million in scholarships has been awarded to students since Grow Ag Leaders began in 2014. For a complete list of recipients or more information, visit americasfarmers.com.

America's Farmers Grow Ag Leaders is part of the America's Farmers community outreach initiative. Since 2010, the programs have partnered with farmers to award more than $57 million to nonprofits, aspiring ag students, and public schools across rural America. Other programs include America's Farmers Grow Communities and America's Farmers Grow Rural Education. Visit www.AmericasFarmers.com to learn more.

U.S. CONGRESSMAN 2ND DISTRICT

Steve Watkins

My name is Congressman Steve Watkins. I am the pro-Trump, pro-life, pro-gun, pro-business conservative outsider who will never stop fighting for you. I am the only candidate endorsed by the NRA, the National Right to Life Committee, the National Federation of Independent Businesses, and selected by President Trump as the honorary co-chair of his Kansas re-election team. President Trump needs conservative outsider warriors in Congress and that is exactly what I am. I vote with the President 96% of the time.

Watkins

Jake LaTurner

I am a sixth generation Kansan from Galena and a graduate of Pittsburg State University. My wife Suzanne and our four kids live in Topeka where I currently serve as Kansas State Treasurer.

LaTurner

I am in this race because we need someone who represents our values and we need someone who can keep this seat in Republican hands. The likely Democrat opponent is extremely well funded and we cannot give Nancy Pelosi another seat from Kansas.

I have a strong record of leading on issues and getting things done. This is the same thing you can expect from me in Congress. As a two-term state senator, I received an A+ from the NRA for getting Constitutional Carry passed into law, which allows Kansans to carry a firearm without having to have permission from the government.

I received the Pro-Life Hero award for passing Simon's Law, which puts parents in charge of their children's healthcare decisions. Kansans for Life and Kansas Farm Bureau have both endorsed me in this race. I introduced property tax reform and welfare reform and we got those passed as well. My plan for the future can be found on ContractwithKansas.com. First on my list is to get term limits passed at the federal level. We can't send people to Washington, D.C. time and time again and expect a different result. We also need to balance the budget and stop continuing to saddle our children and grandchildren's future with our debt. We need to secure our borders and hold the Chinese Communist Party accountable for covering up the spread of the Coronavirus.

Finally, I promise to live and raise my family here in Kansas, because to represent people well need to know who they are. The August 4th primary is just around the corner, and I'm asking for your vote.

SCHOOL...

Superintendent Don Blome said USD 365 will stick with its original calendar with a planned first day of school on August 19. In a letter to parents last week, Blome said the district's goal would be to offer traditional in-classroom instruction taking place in the district's school buildings, with an alternative remote learning option available for families dealing with health issues or other concerns. Families who prefer their kids take part in remote learning need to contact their building principals, Blome said.

Students will have to wear a mask or face covering while in occupied school buildings 'for a period (s) of time,' Blome said, based on the governor's previous order. Parents will be asked to provide their students with masks. Visits to the building by parents or outsiders will be limited, and all visitors will have to wear masks in the building.

Students who ride district buses will also have their temperatures checked before boarding, and siblings will be encouraged to sit together instead of with others. Blome said bus riders may also be asked to wear masks while on the bus.

Blome said if schools were shut down at any point during the year, all students will move to the online learning environment.

A group of 239 scientists from multiple disciplines from 32 countries have recently agreed that SARS-CoV-2 is spread by such small droplets. They recommend improving indoor ventilation infection controls as the key protective measure. Faced with a global pandemic, physicians were exploring hydroxychloroquine (HCQ), which had been favorably studied during the 2003 SARS epidemic, as a prophylactic or an early treatment. Numerous reports of HCQ's efficacy on thousands of patients continue to mount. Once the media labelled it "Trump's drug," the fix was in.

community activities and enjoyed the local shops with my Mom and daughter. I have also seen the wide-spread drug use and lack of resources. I have worked to support my clients in their efforts to live better lives and obtain necessary resources and I want to continue those efforts for the entire County. I am committed to holding this office long term for the benefit of the people of Anderson County.

I have experience in criminal prosecution and defense and am focused on holding criminals accountable and advocating for more mental health and family resources within the county. I will take a hard stance on drugs. I have cultivated excellent relationships with law enforcement and other professionals in the County and am ready to work with them in addressing the drug issue as well as student truancy, property crimes and neglected/abused children. I am the daughter of a former marine and retired law enforcement officer. I was raised with a great respect for Country and strong Christian values centered around integrity, perseverance and honesty and have instilled these same values in my own children. I am a hard worker and I stand up for what's right, even when it may not be popular.

If we work together, we can make Anderson County an even better community.

Anderson County deserves a full-time County Attorney that is fully committed to the betterment of the community and will represent the Office with ethical integrity and fiscal responsibility. I believe I am that candidate.

I've been blessed to live that dream. I'm running for the United States Senate because I want my kids and grandkids, and your kids and grandkids, to have the same shot at the American dream that I did.

We raised our family in Great Bend, where I had the honor of delivering over 5,000 babies throughout the course of my career. I'm 100% pro-life, and I am proud to be the only candidate endorsed by Kansas for Life and the National Right to Life.

Agriculture is 40% of the Kansas economy, and I will continue to stand with President Trump to fight for better trade deals for our Kansas farmers and ranchers.

I'm honored to have the support of the Kansas Farm Bureau and the Kansas Livestock Association.

As the only farm kid in the race, I know these issues. I've worked with agriculture my whole life. I'm the only candidate in the race that can sort steers and heifers, and I'm the only one that's helped negotiate trade deals and craft a farm bill.

I will be a strong voice for Kansas on the Senate Agriculture Committee.

We must keep the Senate Majority in November, and stop the Democrats from implementing their socialist agenda.

As a congressman, I've voted with President Trump 98% of the time (100% of the time on his immigration agenda). I'm a proven conservative, trusted by President Trump, and I will win in November.

I humbly ask for your support, and I would be honored to serve as your United States Senator.

community when I was three helping my Mother at Birthright providing alternatives to abortion for women.

I am a pro-life, pro-gun father of four, that has served as a foster-parent. I have continued to protect my community thru my 31 years of service in the military.

I have practiced law more than 25 years and I have been a prosecutor for more than 14 years. I have prosecuted and defended every kind of case. I worked on the first death penalty case filed in Kansas in 1995 when the death penalty was reinstated.

I am the only candidate that has prosecuted and defended-murders, rapes, violent crimes and drug cases. I have practiced law longer than the other three candidates combined. My time as a prosecutor is equal or longer than the other three candidates have practiced law. I have tried more Jury Trials than the other three candidates combined.

I have an assistant that will help me in Anderson County and combined we have more

Anderson County. My education begins with graduating from Ottawa High School then obtaining a bachelor's degree in Business Management from Emporia State University. Most recently, I completed courses to become a Certified County Clerk through Wichita State University, which is a testament that my quest for gaining knowledge to better serve you never ceases. In my 10 years of working for county government, beginning at the Miami County DMV then to the Franklin County Clerk's Office until being elected to serve Anderson County, I have realized that my valuable experience and learning from tenured officials is the best preparation for this position. I oversee or execute the many responsibilities of the Anderson County Clerk's Office, including human resources, accounts payable, payroll, and secretary to the County Commissioners while conducting fair and efficient elections. I also hold the titles of Public Information Officer and Freedom of Information Officer. Within 3 1/2 years as County Clerk I have added services to my office, gained multiple resources and continue to provide exceptional customer service. Without my family I would not be where I am today. I recently married Brandon Wettstein and have 2 boys, Seneca and Easton, who attend high school at Anderson County, and Sydney, who is 7 months old. We enjoy all things outdoors. My passion to serve the public resonates daily in the effort I put forth in my job duties. I ask for your support and appreciate your vote August 4th to continue to strive to exceed your expectations as I work hard to forge a better future in Anderson County for you and your family. I couldn't be more proud than to continue to serve you as Anderson County Clerk. Together, we will be better.

and support of my lovely bride Teresa.

I knew success was dependent upon a recipe my father taught me, of hard work and respect.

His formula worked. Today that company employs 150 people in the Kansas City area with trucks all over the roads serving customers well.

Teresa and I have not only worked hard, we have been blessed to raise 12 children and spoil 11 grandchildren.

I am running for the Senate because President Trump needs a strong, conservative ally from Kansas.

President Trump has to deal with a lot of crap. As a plumber, that's my specialty.

Washington is broken and the professional politicians are not capable of fixing it.

We need an outsider who has spent his life fixing things.

That's been my whole career.

I'm a plumber, a businessman, a husband, and a dad. Not a politician.

I will go to Washington to secure the border, stop amnesty and build the wall.

I will vote prolife all the way, because life is sacred and must be protected.

I support the 2nd amendment and your right to bear arms and defend your families.

I don't need this job. I have a good life and a great family.

But if we don't stand up for this country, if we don't replace the professional politicians who don't solve problems, and only think of their re-election, then this country is in danger.

If you like the mess in Washington, hire a professional politician.

But if you want someone to help Trump drain the swamp, hire a plumber.

will compete against the Democrat in our November 3rd General Election.

The results of this, and general election, will determine how our government will function in 2021-22. We are living in historic times where the protection of our natural Right to Life, Liberty, and Property hangs in the balance. This is the pivotal point that will determine the restoration, or continued deterioration, of our federal republic.

The burdens we must endure as citizens of this great State will not go away if operatives inside our government remain to vote for progressive agendas under the guise of "Republican". The Kansas Chamber of Commerce and Liberty PAC have endorsed the Mark Powls campaign but we must elect the "candidate", not the endorsement. The Kansas Chamber of Commerce provided you with Fact Sheets (independent of my campaign) that included information about my opponent along with footnotes and sources for public verification. My opponent is a good guy, but not only did he contribute to the Obama campaign twelve times, he also donated to the Paul Davis and Laura Kelly for Governor Campaigns (both Democrats) as well. These can be verified on the Federal Election Commission website and FollowtheMoney.org. A vote for Mark Powls means electing a true constitutional Republican capable of making the tough decisions necessary to restore Kansas. I will protect ALL human life and the right to keep and bear arms. We have a lot of work to do in the area of making sure government is reformed to offset our shortfalls without cutting essentials like education or raising our taxes. Thank you for your trust.

have been active and responsive throughout our entire district. I support local business whenever possible, and support our youth in FFA, 4-H, band, biking trails, FBLA, and reffing basketball.

I do my best to serve every person in this district and I have a proven record of standing up to special interest groups and legislative leaders to do right by our community. That is why I am being attacked by them in the mail and online. That is why they recruited a candidate to run against me - they want someone who they can control in Topeka rather than standing up for all of us. I have made small donations to candidates on both sides of the aisle because I believe our country is at its best when we have strong candidates in both parties who are level-headed, honest, and set a good example for our kids. The attack ads never show this full information because they benefit by dividing us with their animosity and part-truths.

I have a 100% voting record supporting life and the 2nd Amendment, and enjoy hunting and fishing with my friends. I back our rural economy and stand up for our local schools and hospitals. Kansas for Life, Kansas Farm Bureau, Kansas Livestock Association, Kansas Agribusiness Council, Kansas National Education Association, and Kansas Contractors Association have all endorsed me over my opponent because they know I share their values - OUR values. I humbly ask the people of the 5th District for the opportunity to serve them another 2 years in the Kansas House of Representatives
