Police probe local 'swatting'

Bogus call ends without incident; online tech makes it easier to conceal callers

BY DANE HICKS THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW

GARNETT — An apparent bogus emergency call in a “swatting” type incident similar to the one that resulted in the death of a Wichita man in 2017 rattled neighbors and the occupants at a Garnett home Wednesday, but was determined no threat within a few hours investigation.

A press release from the Garnett Police Department said the incident at 407 W. 3rd in Garnett began shortly after 1 p.m. when local dispatch received a call from a man who said he had shot someone in the residence and had hostages. Responding officers were told dispatchers, who still had the caller on the phone, could hear responders’ public address calls to the occupant in the house through the caller’s phone. The caller told dispatch he was not coming out of the residence and that officers would have to come in and get him. The caller hung up on dispatch shortly after responders arrived.

Interviews with the three occupants of the home and a consent search of the residence turned up no one else inside and no evidence that the call had been made from inside the home. Police said none of the occupants knew who called or for what reason.

Attempts by the Review to contact the residents on Thursday were not successful. The press release noted that at no time was any gunfire involved, although that rumor had circulated on social media.

Past incidents of swatting have revolved around players of Internet-based video games, and the release said many of those calls are initiated through some type of game console via Internet connections. The release said one game console in the residence was in fact turned on and connected to the Internet upon the search of the residence.

Garnett Police Chief Kurt King said the department would continue to investigate the incident using the caller’s digital footprint, but he said the third-party calling platforms, Internet calling and other phone apps made it hard to determine a correct phone number or caller location.

“We usually get a phone number to show up in dispatch,” King said. “However today with online phone calls and all the online apps that make phone calls, it’s hard to track. You can use the same device and change the phone number every time a call is made. Usually have to trace it to a calling platform then through an IP address.”

“A lot of resources were used and it creates a potentially dangerous situation for the victims of the call,” King said.

County ponies up extra $144,000 for court remodeling job

BY DANE HICKS THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW

GARNETT — Anderson County Commissioners have had to fork up an extra $144,000 to cover additional costs for the renovation of the Anderson County District Court offices in the county courthouse, after recently finished renovations there surpassed the court’s allotted budget.

Anderson County Clerk Julie Wettstein said the court’s budget for the project contained some $335,000, but that the final tab for renovation came in at more than $480,000.

Counties by law are required to cover operating expenses for their district courts, which include cost of facilities, equipment and office supplies, while salaries and other expenses are funded by the state court system. District Judge Eric Godderz met with commissioners more than a year ago to request upgrades to the court offices, which included cosmetic additions to conceal wiring and pipes in floors and faux walls, as well as new HVAC work and other upgrades. The project was separate from the major addition of a new elevator to service multiple floors of the courthouse that was undertaken in 2019.

The Anderson County Courthouse was constructed in 1902, long before modern electrical and other office service needs became necessities. Numerous issues have also been reported in other county offices for years.

According to the Kansas Judiciary website, the system’s 2019 budget was some $144 million, about $107 million coming from the state’s general fund. Ninety-one percent of the judicial branch budget goes to pay salaries for 267 judges and justices and about 1,600 court employees.

Most Kansas households counted

TOPEKA — After initially extending the timeline for responses from July 31 to Oct. 31 in the wake of the COVID-19 pandemic, the Census Bureau recently announced that data collection will end on Sept. 30.

The good news for Kansas is that, as of Aug. 31, 2020, 92.1 percent of households had been enumerated.

Virus fear means change in court jury trials

Need for more space in the event of a trial targets fairgrounds

BY DANE HICKS THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW

GARNETT — Anderson County Commissioners have approved a plan that will allow Anderson County District Court officials to use the county’s fairgrounds community building in order to ensure social distancing meaasures should the county have need for a jury trial before Covid-19 protocols are lifted.

The move was part of a process underway by the state court system to resume jury trials in a safe manner in each of the county district courts after they were cancelled at the beginning of the Covid-19 scare.

John Steelman, District Court Administrator for the Fourth Judicial District, said plans were not finalized yet for alternate trial locations in Anderson, Franklin, Coffey and Osage counties, but that they might be completed as early as this week.

“The Kansas Supreme Court has issued mandates and guidance to each district court to ensure the health and safety of jurors and participants are met. That is also our number 1 priority,” Steelman said. “We then must have those plans approved by the Supreme Court before we conduct any jury trials.”

Court officials cancelled jury trials at the beginning of the pandemic to comply with statewide efforts to slow the spread of the virus, and used videoconferencing technologies to hearings and appearances in the interim. Each district was tasked with submitting a plan that would allow the resumption of jury trials while maintaining social

Covid-19 hasn’t slowed pipeline project

Crews take extra precautions but so far unaffected by virus

BY DANE HICKS THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW

WELDA — While Covid-19 has had a varying impact on construction industries across the globe since it became a major concern last winter, Southern Star Central Gas Pipeline officials say the virus and its fallout has had virtually no affect on the pace of the company’s 31.5-mile project underway in Anderson and Franklin counties.

“Fortunately for our team and our contractors,” said Tyler McClure, communications specialist with SSCGP, “Covid has not affected our project schedule whatsoever.”

McClure said at this point the project, which began in January, was focused on clean up and restoration along the corridor where crews have been installing a new 36-inch gas main to replace a line originally placed in the 1940s and 50s. Once installed and operational, extraction crews will come back to the project and spend almost another year removing the old 20 and 26-inch gas lines.

McClure said the $141 million project overall had progressed well.

“We encountered more rock than expected, which required blasting in some areas,” McClure said. He said all ditch excavation and blasting had recently been completed, and design phases were underway for removing the old line in coming months.

Construction industry analysts generally agreed that

HAYDEN

JUNE 26, 1940 - AUGUST 22, 2020

Dwight Lee Hayden, beloved husband, father and grandfather, of Loveland, Colorado passed away peacefully at his home surrounded by family on Saturday, August 22nd at the age of 80. He was born June 26th, 1940 in Ottawa, Kansas to Herbert and Lucy Hayden.

Hayden

He attended grade school in a one room school house in Anderson County, Kansas and graduated from Garnett High School in Garnett, Kansas. While growing up on a country farm taught him how to be a hard worker he always dreamed of bigger and brighter things. Watching the planes flyover while working on the farm, he dreamt of being a pilot and seeing the country. He attended Kansas State University where he was in the ROTC program. He earned his Bachelors Degree in Landscape Architecture and Design as well as his Masters in Business Administration. While attending KSU he worked at the airport and soon became a flight instructor. He accrued flight hours by teaching his professors and others how to fly. While at KSU he fell in love with Dixie Darlene Baker, soon to become his wife of nearly 57 years. They married on August 25th, 1963.

After college, he served in the Air Force Reserves, living in New Jersey. While in the Reserves, he was hired by United Airlines in 1965. He was then called to active duty and stationed in Charleston, South Carolina. It was here that their daughter, Kimberly, was born. He received an Honorable Discharge as Captain in 1970. Dwight then returned to his position at United Airlines in Denver, Colorado flying the DC-6, DC-7 and DC-8. He and Dixie moved to Northglenn, Colorado, where their son, Kevin, was born. In 1976, Dwight returned to his hometown of Garnett, Kansas to be near his extended family while commuting to Chicago to fly for United. In addition to flying for United, he was able to utilize his Landscape Architecture and Design degree and designed and developed a lake and surrounding subdivision called Lakeview Estates in Garnett, KS. In 1979, Dwight transferred back to the Denver United hub and moved his family to Loveland, CO. In addition to his career with United, he designed and developed 2 senior retirement communities in Loveland called Sunset Mobile Home Park, East and West. In 1982, he became a Captain for United Airlines. He served as Captain on the DC-10 and Boeing 737, 757, 767, and retired as a United Captain on the Boeing 747-400 after 35 years of traveling the world.

One of his proudest accomplishments was teaching his son and son-in-law to fly and watch them advance their careers with United Airlines to the rank of Captain. He was also proud of his daughter-in-law in becoming a flight attendant for United. Other proud moments were cheering on his daughter in her baton twirling endeavors from national competitions, and as the feature twirler at Colorado State University to representing the titles of Miss Fort Collins and Miss EAA (Experimental Aircraft Association) in Oshkosh, Wisconsin. In 2003, while in Loveland he designed and built a state of the art car wash, Mountain Wave Car Wash, with his children. After his retirement, he and Dixie continued to travel the world together. Their favorite travel destinations included Maui, Australia, Caribbean Islands, and Europe. Together they also loved camping with all their grandkids at Red Feather Lakes, CO and traveling to the EAA convention every year with family and friends for a total of 40 years. Dwight was a devoted fan of his grandkids in all of their various endeavors from baseball and softball games to gymnastics, powerlifting, track, basketball and dance. He was so proud of all of them for accomplishing so much in all that they do, including becoming captains of their respective teams to collegiate athletes. He was such a great example for them in understanding if you work hard and have a vision, you can achieve great things. His legacy lives on.

Dwight was a deacon and a life long member of the First Christian Church. He is survived by his beautiful wife Dixie and daughter Kimberly McVay and husband Heath, grandchildren Kailyn, Makenna, Zachary of Loveland, CO; and son Kevin Hayden and wife Amy, grandchildren Kalani and Sierra of Montgomery, Texas. Also, younger brother Robert Hayden of Kansas City, Kansas, Sister-in-law Norma Hayden of Cottonwood, Arizona and many nieces. He was preceded in death by his parents Herbert & Lucy Hayden, older brother Darold, an infant brother, and sister-in-law Marlys Hayden.

A visitation and funeral service for Dwight was held Saturday, September 5th, 2020 at Allnutt Funeral Home in Loveland, CO. In lieu of flowers, memorial contributions may be made to Pro Swing and Eagle's Nest Project. Pro Swing is a non-profit boys and girls baseball/softball organization that Kim and Heath created which teaches kids the basics and fundamentals of playing the sport and continues to help them reach their dreams of playing at the collegiate level. Eagle's Nest Project is a non-profit program where Kevin volunteers and Kalani has participated in that allows the High School students, while in class, to learn about aviation by building and eventually flying in a RV-12 aircraft during the school year.

To donate for either non-profit organization please go to proswingpark.com. Contributions will be split among the two nonprofit organizations.

SCHUSTER

DECEMBER 14, 1919 - SEPTEMBER 1, 2020

Ruby Irene Schuster, age 100, of Garnett, Kansas, passed away on Tuesday, September 1, 2020, at her home with her daughter and son-in-law by her side.

Schuster

Ruby Spears was born on December 14, 1919, the only child of DeArmand and Anna (Crabtree) Spears, in Johnston, Missouri. She and her parents moved to Garnett in 1929, where her father was manager of the A&P Store. Ruby often recalled helping at the store with her mother, standing on boxes to reach items, sleeping behind the counter waiting for customers to return to pick up their groceries, after attending a movie at the theater.

Ruby attended Longfellow and Irving schools, and graduated from Garnett High School in 1936. Her family moved whenever she changed schools so she could walk to them. She attended Baker University for one semester and pledged Alpha Chi Omega.

Ruby always loved to drive, she told of learning to drive when she was about 10 years old. While in high school she did a lot of driving while on a family trip to Chicago while in high school and then on a trip to New Orleans with girlfriends. Ruby and Paul Woodrow Schuster were married March 7, 1942, in Chanute, Kansas, and enjoyed 61 years together before his death on May 3, 2003. Becoming a Schuster with Paul's eight siblings was an adjustment for an only child. Ruby and Paul were blessed with two children, Barbara Jean and Paul Eugene "Pete".

As a newlywed and Paul off to WWII, Ruby was befriended by a sweet neighbor, Hattie Skiles, who taught her home-making skills and assisted with the new baby, and was a long-time friend.

Ruby had a wide variety of work experiences over 46 years. Throughout her different jobs, Ruby always enjoyed working with people. Some of the places she worked included Maggio's 5 & 10, Brundredge Oil office, Sewing Factory above GSSB, where she worked for Ben Kay. Ruby also worked at the ASCS Office, Anderson Countian, Garnett Publishing Co., Webster's Jewelry (a favorite), before retiring from Greeley COOP in 1981.

She was baptized May 26, 1946 at Garnett First Christian Church, a 74 year member. Partaking in communion was most important to her; she and Paul would always stop for Sunday communion at churches during their travels. She taught Sunday School, worked at the FCC fair food stand for many years, and assisted at many church funeral dinners.

Ruby was a long time member of the Sunset Garden Club, a life member of the VFW Auxiliary, Daughters of the Nile, Eastern Star, and played with many ladies' bridge and pitch groups over the years.

Paul and Ruby had a passion for auctions, especially during the time their son Paul was in Vietnam, sales helped pass the days waiting for his safe return. They enjoyed spending a winter month or two in Texas or Arizona after their retirement. Often a group of 10-12 couples from Garnett would meet up together.

They were long time supporters of the Garnett Senior Center - delivering meals, as well as eating in and enjoying the fellowship there, until she was 95!

They also worked for the beginning of the local Rail Trail. She would always say how Garnett was the best place to live. She loved the community. All who knew her knew of her extreme love for ice cream, homemade or store bought, which became a staple for her in her last years!!

Paul and Ruby supported their grandkids baseball, football, track and band concerts, often traveling around Kansas to watch.

Ruby was preceded in death by her parents, DeArmand Spears and Anna Spears; her husband, Paul Schuster; and great grandson, Maxwell Ratliff.

She is survived by her daughter, Barbara Ratliff and husband Bill of Garnett; her son, Paul Schuster and wife Sue of Lawrence, Kansas; eight grandchildren, Paula Wilson of Glendale, Arizona; Tom Ratliff of Dossenheim, Germany; Josh Ratliff of Overland Park, Kansas; Beth Novak of Sun City West, Arizona; Miranda Wilhelm of Edwardsville, Illinois; Charles Schuster of New Strawn, Kansas; Amy Aber of Murfreesboro, Tennessee; and Emily Lorg of Olathe, Kansas; 16 great grands, Russell Wilson and wife Mary Frances; Marlee, Jenna and Whitney Wilson; Levon Ratliff; Elsa, Caroline and Henry Ratliff; Jax and Chase Novak; Aurora Wilhelm; Ryan and Reagan Schuster; Madison Coursen, Natalie Strawder, and Penelope Lorg.

Ruby's memory will live on in some of her favorite pet phrases: Schudely-do, good governor, holy kitten-britches, gad, what a mess, handy as a pocket in your shirt, what are we going to do now, let's go, hate to wash all those windows, and the golden years not what they're cracked up to be.

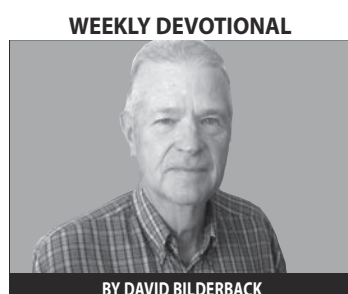

Funeral services were September 5, 2020 at the First Christian Church, Garnett. Burial followd in the Garnett Cemetery. Memorial contributions may be made to the Garnett Senior Center and left in care of the funeral home. Condolences may be sent to the family at www.feuerbornfuneral.com.

Do you have any room in your heart?

We read in the book of Luke that Jesus was asked by the Pharisees when the kingdom of God would come. Jesus replied, "The kingdom of God does not come with your careful observation, nor will people say, 'Here it is,' or 'There it is', the kingdom of God is within you." (Luke 17:20-21) It could not be said of a self-righteous, Christ rejecting Pharisee that the kingdom of God, as to its spiritual content was within him. In Matthew 23:13-14, we read, "Woe to you, teachers of the law and Pharisees, you hypocrites! You shut the kingdom of God in men's faces. You yourselves do not enter, nor will you let those who are trying to"

The Pharisees had rejected Jesus, instead preferring to put their trust in their own self-righteousness. Not only had they rejected Jesus but they persecuted any Jew who did not follow the teaching of the Law and the Prophets. Jesus angered them by saying there would be no outward form of his kingdom. Their entire religious belief was based on outward expression.

So what did Jesus mean when he said, "The kingdom of God is within you." In John 3:3 Jesus tells Nicodemus, "I tell you the truth, no one can see the kingdom of God unless he is born again." What Jesus was teaching Nicodemus is that the the kingdom will not come visibly but would be in the hearts of those who believe. Now the question is believe what? The new birth is not a reformation of the old nature that would only be temporary at best. It is faith in Christ crucified. When you come to the foot of the cross and realize the ultimate sacrifice that was made there you become a partaker of the divine nature, the life of Christ himself. In John 3:16 we read, "For God so loved the world that he gave his one and only Son that whoever believes in him shall not perish but have eternal life." The Pharisee's believed in religion, Jesus said you must believe in him. The Pharisees had no room for Jesus in their heart. The question I leave with you is. Do you have any room?

WEEKLY DEVOTIONAL

BY DAVID BILDERBACK

Cancel the cancellations

The evidence is becoming more and more clear all the time. Covid-19 is not the boogeyman for rural states like Kansas that we have been sold these last months.

It's time to recognize it for what it is according to legitimate data and get back to living, and the best place to start is to defibrillate all the heretofore canceled fall festivals and events whose red lined "save the date" corpses now litter the community calendars of Kansas towns and counties.

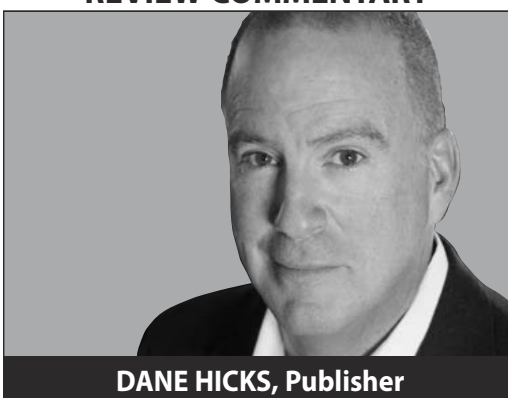

Event organizers need to rally ASAP and get those gatherings back on the schedule in their craft booth, BBQ sauce, car show, funnel cake and fiddle-pickin' glory, and help put our state back on its feet this fall.

Just as clear as the lack of rural Covid threat is the fact that government is not going to be able to fix the immeasurable economic and social damage its over-reactionary policies have wrought on Kansas. A solution is not coming from President Donald Trump or Governor Laura Kelly - government has finally done more financial damage than it can afford to fix. In slamming on the brakes to our schools, our businesses, our gatherings and our community economies without regard to virus dynamics regarding population density, government has created a financial maelstrom that it cannot manage nor rectify. Particularly in Kansas, Governor Kelly's one-size-fits-all approach has been particularly damaging to rural communities. It's time for the regulators and bureaucrats to get out of our way and let us fix this problem.

Ignorance and half-truth are the handmaidens to irrational fear even without plausible and suspected political motivations. Data finally released by the Centers for Disease Control last week noted that 94 percent of Covid-19 deaths in the U.S. were people with underlying medical conditions. In raw numbers, that means 180,000 deaths were quickly reduced to less than 11,000 nationwide, or about a third of influenza deaths the year before, when nothing was shut down or canceled. As it always is, this data relays it is incumbent on people who know they're more susceptible to health threats to personally insure against them.

In Kansas we watched state officials manipulate graphs to try to show counties that didn't follow Governor Kelly's mask mandate were recording higher rates of infection. A closer look at the actual numbers showed rates of infections were declining in mask counties but they'd also declined or stayed stable at lower rates in no-mask counties.

REVIEW COMMENTARY

Also at issue is reporting of Covid testing results. Kansas is the second lowest in the nation in Covid testing rates, reserving tests primarily for those who believe they've been in contact with someone who has the virus or those presenting symptoms of some kind. That's not a random sample - it's skewed toward those with a higher probability of infection. Even so, the state's 45,000 cases of Covid so far represent 1.5 percent of the state's 2.9 million residents. The 481 fatalities reflect mortality of .0001.

Figures like that back up the anecdotal evidence that keeps popping up in relatively sparsely populated areas. A Memorial Day gathering at Lake of the Ozarks in violation of state shutdown orders resulted in two cases out of untold hundreds of partiers - so few media haven't even investigated the aftermath. The annual motorcycle event in Sturgis, SD., yielded 260 cases out of some 500,000 attendees - about .052 percent.

The numbers alone are enough to support a move back toward open outdoors public events, but there's a more human element at play as well. As Marxist scumbags riot, murder and wreak carnage on America's cities, it's more important than ever for rural residents to be reminded that we are communities of character, and that our way of life extolls in sharp contrast to the rot being foisted on our urban cousins.

So let's break out the barbeque napkins and get back at it.

So glad to hear about the new Black Lives Matter murals that will be painted in Kansas City. Talk about symbols over substance. Will there be fewer teen pregnancies, dead beat dads, lousy schools and incidents of black-on-black violence? Aw, what the heck. Grab a brush and feel good about yourselves.

I cannot believe how selfish grown ups are being because they're setting examples for children that aren't correct. You don't need to be selfish by not wearing a mask. You may not want to wear it but you don't have to wear it all day. Wear it to the store and out in public. But older people are catching the Coronavirus. You should go sit with someone who's losing someone from it. So your mask theory of being a government conspiracy, well, whatever you think, but people are still getting it. I pray that nobody in your family gets it. Wear your mask.

Black Lives Matter is not racial justice. It is racist lynch mob justice.

Hey Nancy Pelosi, come to Kansas to get your hair done. We're open here and we need the business.

As disgusted as I am with what I am watching on television that is happening in all these cities, I pray these misdirected young people cease and desist before what I think is going to happen happens. You can only put up with it for so long, like the boy who shot the rioters. If it doesn't stop soon I fear we're going to have war in our streets and I know who's going to win. They may be stupid but I hate to see them killed. Thank you.

I'm not sure the Code Red alert system in Garnett is doing more good than harm. As soon as the call came about the thing over on 3rd and Vine everybody just hopped in their cars and had to drive by over there to see what was happening. Lucky somebody didn't get run over in all that traffic. Geez, people.

Kenosha conundrum: Hate Trump, love riots

In riot-torn Kenosha, Wis., President Trump met with local law enforcement officials Tuesday and promised to help stricken residents rebuild their lives. One would hope that those across the political aisle would respond by joining in a bipartisan effort to heal and rebuild. But that's not what happened.

The opportunity was there. After months of downplaying the damage and danger of riots playing out in cities across America, the progressive mainstream over the weekend flipped their script. Suddenly, they announced, they are horrified by the violence; they want it to stop, and they want you to know that it's all Trump's fault.

That was exactly the wrong response. Public safety is not a plaything for politics. Left and right ought to be working together to make our streets safe.

Ignoring or excusing violence for over three months is highly problematic. Such willful blindness or abetting behavior normalizes violence.

In this case, "silence is violence." Silence was a wink and a nod conveying the message that rioting, looting, arson, extortion, smashing windows, destroying businesses, and injuring police officers are OK.

But they are not. To make matters worse, the left delivered more than the sounds of silence. There were celebrity endorsements, professional sports boycotts, and tons of corporate donations that had more to do with easy virtue-signaling than promoting justice and respect for all.

GUEST COMMENTARY

Absent was any denunciation of the flames consuming block after block of family-owned businesses, or the beatings of innocent bystanders.

Now, however, pollsters report that more and more Americans are disgusted with the violence, leaving leaders on the left less inclined to cheerlead for more unrest in the streets.

Moreover, those on the left have witnessed the mob turn on some of their own. For example, having established the most permissive environment in the nation for rioting, Portland, Ore., Mayor Ted Wheeler was rewarded by an effort to burn the condo building where he lives.

Reeling from these developments, the left refuses to look in the mirror. Instead, progressives have fallen back on their default explanation for why any and every bad thing happens: Blame President Trump.

In this case, that's like the arsonist blaming the fire department for the fire. But what makes it truly sad is that it accomplishes nothing.

To address the organized criminal violence destroying our neighborhoods, it's vital that local, state and federal officials work together. That requires bipartisan cooperation, not partisan finger-pointing. Unfortunately, President Trump can't wait for the left to come to its senses. As president, he has to act. But he can't just step in and take over. For one thing, it's impractical. Add up every law enforcement officer in the federal workforce, and it's not much more than the size of the New York City Police Department.

Moreover, many of these federal law enforcement officers have day jobs. They can't just run off to Seattle and Portland. The federal government was never meant to police a city. That's why we have local police.

Then there is the National Guard. The guard is good for, well, guarding stuff and providing support to civilian authorities, but is not equipped to police cities.

Members of the Guard also have day jobs. For example, they're needed to help communities deal with hurricane season. They also

QAnon fosters rot in the Republican Party

Donald Trump took over the Republican Party, but it's still discernibly the Republican Party.

The Republican National Convention was obviously very Trumpy. At least one member of the family had a slot every night, and it featured theatrical touches worthy of reality TV. There also are notable differences of substance. Trump's party has reversed itself on trade and jettisoned concern over deficit spending. The party is much less hawkish than George W. Bush's GOP and much more skeptical of immigration than Ronald Reagan's. It doesn't have the focus of the 2004 Republican convention on terrorism or the 2012 Republican convention on out-of-control entitlement spending.

And yet there is a clear throughline between today's Republican Party and the GOP of the past several decades. Someone transported from the floor of a Republican convention in the 1980s, 1990s or 2000s to the Mellon Auditorium would unquestionably have known where he or she was.

Take Don Trump Jr.'s forceful speech, which by lineage and inclination should be most representative of the Trump GOP.

Sure enough, on trade and immigration, Trump Jr. hit distinctively Trumpian notes. But much of what he said echoed high-profile speakers at past Republican conventions.

Trump Jr. argued that "Biden's radical left-wing policies would stop our economic recovery cold," in part by raising taxes.

That contrast with Democrats is a GOP commonplace. The keynoter at the 1984 convention during the high tide of Reaganism, Katherine Davalos Ortega, then treasurer of the United States, hit Democratic nominee Walter Mondale for his long record "based on the idea of high taxes, big spending and more government regulations."

NATIONAL COMMENTARY

RICH LOWRY, King Features Syndicate

Trump Jr. called the former vice president "Beijing Biden" and said he's "weak on China."

Harsh? Yes. But name-calling aside, Republicans have been hitting Democrats as weak for decades.

In his acceptance speech as vice president in 1984, George H.W. Bush referred to the "Carter-Mondale era of vacillation, of weakness, of lecturing to our friends and letting them down."

At the 2004 convention, Democratic Sen. Zell Miller scorned John Kerry as "more wrong, more weak and more wobbly than any other national figure."

Trump Jr. declared that "in the past, both parties believed in the goodness of America. We agreed on where we wanted to go. We just disagreed about how to get there. This time, the other party is attacking the very principles on which our nation was founded."

In her famous 1984 foreign policy speech, Jeane Kirkpatrick hit a similar note, saying that Democrats once "were not afraid to be resolute, nor ashamed to speak of America as a great nation."

Republicans have long promoted national pride and national strength, or as Trump Jr. put it, "this land of promise and opportunity - of heroes ... and greatness." In 2012, Chris Christie ended his keynote speech by declaring, "together, we stand up for American greatness."

This perspective sheds some light on the future of a post-Trump GOP. In the main, it's not likely to be radically different from the current one. As Michael Barone argued in The Wall Street Journal, America's political parties are great institutions that change gradually, while preserving an identifiable DNA.

If the convention again demonstrated Trump's personal grip on the party, it also showed that the Republican Party as it has existed for decades isn't going away.

September 1990 - Iraqi forces invade Kuwait, cause gas prices to go up locally

September 2010

When Rose Holloway and her family added a pot belly pig as a family pet, they did extensive research into pot belly pigs before making what she considered a commitment. But Holloway forgot to check one thing: city regulations. Holloway learned in July that swine, including pot belly pigs, are prohibited in Garnett City limits. Now she is taking on City Hall for the right to keep her pet.

September 2000

School board members of USD 365 voted to add a bus stop near Willow Street Apartments in order to pursue an experiment in offering transportation to a handful of students with attendance problems. The decision was an exception to a district policy that prohibits busing of students if they live within the district city limits.

September 1990

Gas prices in Anderson County have gone the way of all gas prices in America, up in light of the recent invasion of Kuwait by Iraqi forces. However, some major oil companies have announced price freezes and price cuts to take effect soon. After jumping almost 20 cents per gallon during the week, full service gas prices ranged from a low of $1.22 per gallon to a high of $1.40 per gallon for leaded gasoline.

Self-service retailers had regular gasoline going from $1.20 to $1.25 per gallon.

A Garnett youth was sentenced Friday for destruction of property. Scott Berry, 18, of Garnett, was given a one to three year indeterminate prison term and was ordered over to the custody of the Board of State Corrections. Probation was denied. Berry was convicted

September 1920

For a few years, baseball has been dead in Garnett, but with the opening of the present season, Garnett put a real team on the diamond and they have been playing real ball. They will stage another game with Richmond Sunday and Richmond says she is going to take this team's scalp home with them. The local team beat them once here and we think they can do it again. There were a number of the boys around the square who could not play fast enough ball to beat some of the regulars out of their places, so they organized a "City League" composed of the American Legion, Grenan Broilers, and the Hudson Speedsters.

local archeology information.

As you can see by these photos, I have been finding several religious medals, etc., at my latest work site.

Finding them almost assures me that a Roman Catholic family once lived in this home.

Looking at the landownership records this proves to be true.

Picture #1 is a very rare antique Our Lady of Mt. Carmel, Pray For Us and Miraculous Infant of Prague Catholic Medal. It is very old from Ca.1800.

Picture #2 is a very old crucifix.

Picture #3 is a medal attached on a Holy Rosary.

Picture #4 is St. Gertrude Herald of Divine Love-Praised Be The Eucharistic Heart Of Jesus.

AC Bulldog boys finish 1st, girls 2nd

A sense of normalcy returned on Thursday afternoon as the Anderson County junior high and high school cross country teams opened their season at home running at the Country Club in Garnett. It was a successful day on the course as several runners finished within the top 5 and the varsity boys finished first overall and the girls finished second. The varsity boys top finishers were Riley Hedges (2nd place), Kasen Fudge (4th) and Seneca Wettstein (5th). The top varsity girls finishers were Rayna Jasper (1st) and

Colony Christian Church - "A Strong Warning From James"

Darren McGhee gave the Communion Meditation taking on the book "Tactics: A Game Plan for Discussing Your Christian Convictions" by Greg Koukl that our Men's Bible Study is studying. Just as Jesus many times answers people's questions with another question, this book helps teach people to answer in a similar fashion. It helps to guide a conversation using questions to help others look inside themselves to see why they believe what they believe, and to hopefully also help them to see other's point of view. It helps us learn to defend our faith without being offensive to others, and to help them think about what they're saying. (Ref: Matthew 16:1-2 & 26:17-19)

Pastor Chase Riebel gave the sermon on "A Strong Warning from James", referencing James 5:1-6. There are four specific sins that we can find in this passage. 1 - hoarding wealth. We can't take our wealth beyond this life, and it is foolish to try to store up earthly wealth. The Bible also tells us to not let greed control us, or to keep us from God's glory. 2 - people are cheating the poor and/or their laborers. We are told not to take advantage of our employees, or the poor. Pass on the blessings that you have been given. 3 - self indulgent lifestyle. We need to consider others above ourselves, to not be selfish, stay humble. 4 - use our influence in a negative way. Don't throw your weight around and think too highly of yourself. Just like for King Ahab, it won't end well. So don't be distracted by what's out there in the world. We are here on earth to gain souls for Heaven. That is the treasure that will last us forever. You can listen to this sermon in its entirety using your favorite podcast, or on our website at www.colonychristianchurch.org (Ref: James 5:1-6; Isaiah 13:6 & 15:3; Luke 12:23-24; 2 Timothy 3:1-5; Hebrews 1:1-2; Deuteronomy 24:14; Malachi 3:5; Philippians 2:3-11, 1 Kings 21) Men's Bible study, Tuesday mornings at 7:00 in the church basement. Women's Bible study, Tuesday mornings at 9:00 at the parsonage. Meal Wednesdays at 5:30. Adult Bible study (we are still studying the book of James for another week) following the meal at 7:00 in the parsonage, with the youth group at 7:00 in the church.

How to survive the "off-season" of a business

If your business is seasonal and has punctuated periods of strong sales followed by slack times, surviving the off season when cash is no longer flowing with the same gusto is no doubt a point of constant concern.

Aside from the issue of sales during slow times, the best defense against seasonal downturn is an established budget. That doesn't mean glancing at your check book from time to time or analyzing your gut feel for present expenses; it means having an actual written document that reflects your anticipated expenses and revenues, broken out to weeks or months for close monitoring, and using it as a roadmap. If you've been in business a few years you have records of your own to refer to; if you're new, insist on a year's worth of data broken month-to-month from your predecessor or a similar mentor in another market. If you're wondering what a budget is, go to sba.gov and query it. But I digress...

Breaching slow times basically comes down to two ideas; 1) pursue ancillary options aimed at different niches, maybe related or maybe unrelated to your core mission but aimed at generating cash, and 2) spending the time on lower-intensity and lower-cost marketing efforts designed to make you top of mind when the season comes back around.

1) Look for ways that your core business can appeal to niches off-season. Slow times in the restaurant business for example can be used to focus on low-carb or low-fat offerings for the ever-burgeoning weight loss market, or maybe promote delivery; some shops or eateries in tourist areas re-price their inventory after the season ends to make their goods more attractive to local customers who don't want to pay tourist season prices - and there's nothing wrong with making those adjustments; Landscaping companies can do snow removal and sell de-icing products in the winter; don't forget to be "locale savvy" - when the season is warming or cooling where you are, it's the opposite on the opposite side of the globe from you - your custom wool sweaters might have a July market in Australia.

2) Whether or not you find cash sale possibilities in your off season, don't neglect to maintain your presence with customers. Develop your following to your website, Facebook Page or blog by continuing to develop content of interest to your followers. Email or print newsletters (don't overdo it with the email) should never be neglected, especially in off-season. And don't forget crazy, unexpected promotions. If yours is a warm-weather season, host a Polar Plunge in the winter with sponsored participants and give the money to a local charity; you can also employ your email lists and contacts to solicit some customer reviews or endorsements to use in all your marketing.

Basically, keep both seasons in mind no matter which one you're in. Planning and executing for both will help you sell stuff!

have to train and support operational missions for the Defense Department.

In short, the federal government can partner with, but it can't police, our cities.

One area where the federal government can step up and show leadership is to investigate and expose the behind-the-scenes people who are organizing and financing criminal activity in the disturbances in cities around the country. Organizing criminal activity is itself a serious federal offense.

The Trump administration recently announced a joint federal investigation is now underway. That is needed. The government should investigate and arrest those crossing state lines to riot or incite rioting, as well as the leaders of enterprises that organize and fund rioting activity.

Fifty years ago, Congress passed the Racketeer Influenced and Corrupt Organization Act (RICO) to eradicate organized crime. The Justice Department should consider pursuing prosecutions of the rioters' strategists, ringleaders and funders under RICO. To restore peace to our streets, we need to cut off the head of the rioting beast.

while the virus did not stop many construction projects, it did slow them down due to delays in materials shipping and other administrative tasks performed by industry office workers who may have been restricted to work-from-home capacities during the height of the virus scare.

"At this stage, COVID-19 is not, broadly speaking, rendering projects altogether impossible to complete. But it is slowing them down, causing delay and disruption, even if only because supply chains have been severely disrupted," said an April post on the website of the international construction law firm of White & Case. The firm suggested the lesser impact was probably due to specifics of outside projects.

"People who are working outside and are not physically close to each other may be in a better position to comply with the new health and safety precautions than people working in an enclosed environment," the web post said. "In all cases, though, where work continues, health and safety risk assessments need to be conducted, consistent with medical, scientific and government guidelines, and contractors' duty to provide a safe working environment."

by Jo Ann Derson

• "In my shop, I have stored small bits of hardware in baby-food jars. They were all on a shelf together, and when I needed one, I would have to move bottles around until I found the right one. I took a piece of 1-by-4 and cut it into 2-foot sections. Then I glued the bottoms of the bottles in a row to the wood. Now, they still sit on the shelf, but all I have to do is slide the 1-by-4s out and find the right jar. I can still see in the sides, and it makes them so much easier to deal with." — J.N. in Missouri

• "My child has so many toys that they were starting to take over his room and our house. We got three big plastic storage tubs and distributed the toys among them. Now the rule is that only one tub can be open at a time, so if he wants to play with other toys, he must pick up all the toys from the tub he is playing with first. It has made such a difference since the house gets picked up at least once a day." — C.I. in Tennessee

AAA: 'Refresher Course' Needed in Back-to-School Safety

It has been 6 months since students have been in school and that means 6 months since school buses have been on the road so, AAA Kansas says, this is a good time for a 'refresher course' on back-to-school safety.

Whether students are returning to full-time in-person learning or a hybrid of remote and classroom instruction, transportation will undoubtedly be impacted, affecting not only school districts, parents and students but everyone else on the roads as well.

COVID-19 concerns means more traffic safety concerns near schools because:

- Staggered schedules and social distancing could mean more school buses on the roads to transport students.

- Many parents may opt to transport their children to and from school, avoiding the school bus ride but increasing the volume of vehicles during drop-off and pickup.

- More students may take to walking or biking to school, increasing foot and bike traffic close to schools

AAA Kansas is reminding all drivers to brush up on school bus safety and prepare for possible changes in and around school zones.

AAA Kansas offers the following tips as schools begin to reopen:

AAA Drop-Off/Pick-Up Safety Tips

- Follow school drop-off and pick-up procedures.

- Don't double park, it blocks visibility for other children and vehicles.

- Don't load or unload children across the street from the school.

- Have children exit the vehicle on the "curb side" every time (so they aren't opening the car door into an oncoming traffic lane or crossing around the front/back of car to get to curb)

- Slow down, eliminate distractions, and watch for children.

AAA School Bus Safety Tips

- Always Stop for School

Buses - Flashing yellow lights on a school bus indicate it is preparing to stop to load or unload children and motorists should slow down and prepare to stop. Red flashing lights and extended stop arms indicate the bus has stopped and children are getting on and off. Motorists are required to stop their vehicles and wait until the red lights stop flashing, the extended stop sign is withdrawn and the bus begins moving before they can start driving again.

- Keep Track of Time - Be aware of the time of day you're on the road and how that coincides with the school day. More school-age pedestrians are killed from 7 to 8 a.m. and from 3 to 4 p.m. than any other hours of the day.

- Slow Down - Whether in a school zone or residential neighborhood, drivers should keep their speed low and be prepared to stop quickly for increased vehicle or pedestrian traffic.

- Come to a complete stop - Always come to a complete stop, checking carefully for children on sidewalks and in crosswalks before proceeding.

- Eliminate distractions - Research shows that taking your eyes off the road for just two seconds doubles your chances of crashing. Children can be quick, crossing the road unexpectedly or emerging suddenly between two parked cars. Reduce risk by not using your cell phone while driving.

- Obey Traffic Signs -

Unfortunately, many motorists violate stop signs in school zones and residential neighborhoods - many failing to come to a complete stop, rolling through a stop sign or not slowing down at all.

AAA Pedestrian Safety Tips

- Cross only at corners so drivers can see you. Never cross between parked cars or mid-block.

- Use a crosswalk when it's available. Don't assume that because you can see the driver, the driver can see you. Always use caution when crossing.

- Look all ways before crossing. Look and listen for cars, pedestrians and bicyclists.

- Cross right when the light turns green so you have time to cross safely.

- Use the crosswalk push-button signal when possible, and cross when the signal allows.

- Watch for cars that are turning left or right when you are crossing.

- Walk on a sidewalk when it is provided. If you must walk in the street, walk facing traffic, on the left side of the road and as far to the left as possible.

- Make it easy for drivers to see you - dress in light colors, wear reflective material or use a flashlight.

- Remove headphones and don't use cell phones or electronic devices when crossing the street.

- Watch for white lights on vehicles signaling backing up in driveways or parking lots.

- Avoid walking alone. Walk with a friend.

AAA Bicycle Safety Tips

- Make sure your child has the skills to ride a bike safely, such as riding in a straight line and signaling to vehicles when turning.

- Choose the safest route to bike to school, one with less traffic and slower speeds. Use bike paths if they are available.

- Make sure your cyclists understand traffic safety rules, such as riding in the same direction as traffic and stopping at all stop signs and signals.

- Explain the importance of wearing a bike helmet to your child. They're critical to minimizing injury in case of a crash. According to the Insurance Institute of Highway Safety, wearing a helmet can reduce the odds of head injury by half.

- Ride focused and alert. Never use earbuds or electronics while riding.

- Use bike lights if you are riding when it is still dark out early in the morning. Use a flashing white light in front and a flashing red light in the rear.

- Bring a lock so you can secure your bike when you arrive at school.

"No matter the plan, no matter the mode of transportation, everyone needs to remain vigilant - put down the phone, look up, and pay attention to help our students get to and from school safely," says AAA Kansas' Steward.

two men ended in the killing of a third uninvolved man. In that case an accomplice used voice over IP through the free Wi-Fi provided by a South Los Angeles library to phone the Wichita City Hall. Because the call was transferred from city offices to the 911 operator, the dispatcher believed the call was coming from the Wichita area. Officers were dispatched and in a case of mistaken identity killed the uninvolved homeowner.

distancing requirements for everyone involved in a trial.

Courts in the Fourth District reopened May 26 with additional protocols like requiring masks, screening questions, hand sanitizer and social distancing requirements, but jury trials which typically entail larger crowds were not rescheduled prior to the new location plan.

Jury trials are rare in the Fourth District's more rural courts but are more common in Franklin County with its higher density of population and court traffic. Steelman said that court was working a deal with the City of Ottawa to use Ottawa Municipal Auditorium as its temporary jury trial location.
