'Red Wave' seats Marshall, LaTurner

KS GOP storms the ballot to elect senator, congressmen, but can't save Trump at POTUS

BY DANE HICKS THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW

WASHINGTON, D.C. — A Kansas "Red Wave" swept the state on election day, sealing wins for Republican local and state office seekers. But Republicans in Kansas, like those across the country, apparently fell barely short of the mark to re-elect President Donald Trump.

Major news networks were, as of Saturday, calling the hair's-width margin presidential election for Democrat Joe Biden after a four day delay in tallying votes in a handful of states, due apparently to large vote volumes and mail-in voting in a number of states. Trump's camp had already filed and pledged additional legal challenges to large swaths of votes in the states of Nevada, Georgia, Pennsylvania, Michigan and Wisconsin, contending election fraud and ballots counted after state-imposed deadlines tipped the scales toward Biden.

Until those legal avenues are exhausted, the identity of the new president is unverified. But Anderson County followed other voters in the state not just in painting Kansas red for Trump, but also for most other state and national candidates.

Congressman Roger Marshall delivered a sound defeat to Democrat challenger Barbara Bollier with 53 to 42 percent of the state vote. Anderson County electors gave Marshall 71 percent and Bollier 22 percent.

Republican Kansas State Treasurer Jake LaTurner from Galena also saw a wide margin win over Topeka Mayor Michelle De La Isla in the 2nd District Congressional race with 55 percent of the vote to De La Isla's 41 percent. Anderson County voters picked

County voters pick Mersman, Valentine

BY DANE HICKS THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW

GARNETT — Tuesday's Red Wave in Anderson County ousted a two-term county commissioner and fended off a write-in challenge against the Anderson County Sheriff.

County clerk Julie Wettstein said the county turned out 3,706 of its 5,758 registered voters for a percentage of just over 64 percent. Some 80 percent of those participating electors appeared to be consistent Republican voters as told by state office race vote totals.

Voters carried local political newcomer Anthony "Spike" Mersman of Greeley to an upset victory over two-term incumbent Democrat Jerry Howarter in the county's 2nd Commissioner District. Mersman, who did not attend a county commission meeting throughout the campaign, pulled 870 voters or 59 percent to Howarter's 592.

Mersman did not return emails for comment on the race last week.

Mersman

Valentine

"I got to admit, I was shocked," Howarter said. "I didn't see that coming." He said he thought Mersman got a boost from motivated Republican straight ticket voters and from a larger number of mail ballot voters.

"He's going to have a lot he's going to have to learn about the county, but I wish him the best," Howarter said.

Republican support was most apparent in the race for Anderson County Sheriff, even though both candidates are registered Republicans. Valentine, whose name appeared as the sole entry on the ballot, garnered 79 percent of the vote with 2,628 to write-in candidate James Akes' 679. Akes, a Republican registered in Linn County who owns property in Garnett and planned to move to the city if he won the election, mounted a late-comer write-in campaign in mid-September.

Valentine reacted on his Facebook page on election

Orville Cole made mark on local legal community; as political conservative and property rights advocate

Witness to 9/11 attacks had storied career in legal arena

BY DANE HICKS THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW

GARNETT — Orville Cole's pointed legal savvy was woven throughout the legal fabric of Anderson County and surrounding communities for the decades that he practiced law in the area. Renown both as a lawyer and with his wife Laverne as the only local eyewitnesses to the terrorist attacks in New York on 9/11, Orville Cole, 92 of Garnett passed early Saturday morning.

Cole attended local schools and spent two years in Germany while in the Army. Cole graduated from Washburn University School of Law in Topeka in 1951. He met his wife Laverne Klingenberg when she taught at Garnett High School from 1952-1956 — an initiative cooked up by his brother Claron, who was principal at the school at the time.

He was in his mid-30s and representing local school districts at Crest and Central Heights when the battles over school unification came to the county in the mid 1960s. He would later recount those were some of the most contentious and bitter confrontations of his career, causing rifts between individuals and communities that lasted decades. Cecil "Gene" Vining of Richmond was the first president of the new Central Heights Board of Education during unification when Cole represented the fledgling district. He said Cole's leadership was indispensable.

"All of us associated with Central Heights are very grateful to Mr. Cole and the leadership he gave our district in its formation," Vining said. "He led us through a difficult time, several court injunctions, and represented the board in the case that went to the Kansas Supreme Court," he said. "In my opinion, there probably would not have been a Central Heights if it weren't for Mr. Cole."

Cole gained notoriety in Kansas legal circles in 1987

when he and other attorneys were joined by then 4th District Judges James Smith and Phillip Fromme in arguments before the Kansas Supreme Court, saying rural attorneys who were mandated to defend indigents in local criminal cases had to be paid enough in compensation so as not to force neglect of their private practices. The argument, which later prevailed, was that attorneys couldn't afford to defend indigents at that time and pay rate and provide comparable service as that provided to private-pay clients. The case resulted in broad changes across the state in the compensation for attorneys forced to take indigent cases.

"He was considered one

ACJSHS students to skip classes to dodge Covid

BY DANE HICKS THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW

GARNETT — A jump in the number of school-age Covid cases at Anderson County Junior-Senior High School prompted administrators over the weekend to temporarily change from classroom instruction to remote learning today for ACJSHS students only.

USD 365 Superintendent Don Blome told parents in text on Saturday the change was temporary, and that classes were set to resume November 19. Students went to class yesterday to pick up materials and instructions. Classes will continue for elementary and junior high students at the districts other schools.

"This measure is being taken out of an abundance of caution to prevent the potential spread of Covid-19," Blome told parents.

He said rehearsals and performances for the fall school musical set for this Friday and Saturday would continue as scheduled.

Anderson County along with Kansas and numerous other states have seen an increase in Covid cases since October. While cases have increased, fatality rates from the virus have declined, due, officials say, to better treatment methods and better protection of at-risk populations.

Blome said the currently no-cost breakfast and lunch will continue and be available

Gettler wins Garnett city commissioner position

GARNETT — City voters decided handily in favor of a political newcomer in Tuesday's election for a vacant seat on the Garnett City Commission.

Twenty-four year-old Cody Gettler pulled 64 percent of the vote over challenger Eugene Grimes with a mark of 839-460 in the unofficial tally.

Gettler, a University of Kansas graduate with a degree in business and an associate at Sho-Mor Financial in Garnett, thanked his supporters and told the Review he was ready to take on the job when his three-year term begins in January.

"I've spent a lot of time preparing for the city commission position," Gettler said. "I look forward to representing the citizens and being transparent and available to everyone." Grimes however sounded a dire warning for city residents in a statement on his Facebook page. "Thank you all for the votes," Grimes told supporters. "I unfortunately lost but mark my words it is going to get bad in Garnett."

Gettler takes over the seat of first-term commissioner Brigitte Brecheisen-Huss, who did not file to retain her seat.

USD 365 board allows school musical performers to go "maskless" for show

BY DANE HICKS THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW

GARNETT — The Anderson County High School school musical will be a little less muffled when it presents "Little Shop of Horrors" this Friday and Saturday night, after cast members got permission from the USD 365 School Board members last week to go "maskless" on stage.

The production, which will limit audience seating to ensure social distancing in the school auditorium, was set to follow the district's mask requirements and force the singers and performers to use either masks or face shields while on stage.

"We just didn't see any way that would have worked," said Carly Hicks, the production's lead character who made the request of the school board with a group of cast, crew and parents Thursday night. "It was a problem with the sound and with the microphones," she said, "and we just wanted it to be handled like the football games and volleyball games and wrestling, where the participants are close together and don't wear masks."

Board members did not address the request while the cast was present Thursday, but Hicks said word was received Monday the request had been approved. Audience members will still have to wear masks and performers

Colony Christian Church - "For we talk by faith, not by sight"

Larry Wittmer gave our Communion Meditation this week, stating that the scene at the cross was a paradox. Jesus had the very power and strength as God, at what appears to be Jesus' weakest moment. As the crowd yelled for him to come off the cross if he were truly God, it was his love for us that kept him on the cross. His strength was demonstrated thru his endurance. Our eternal destiny was at stake, and his death would open the door to salvation for all. Millions of people are transformed and can claim victory over sin. This salvation is offered to all those who believe in him and walk in his ways.

Pastor Chase Riebel gave the sermon over 2 Corinthians 5:7, "For we walk by faith, not by sight." (HCSB). The devil tries to destroy us using whatever means he can: circumstances that we feel stuck in, financial, addiction, our marriages, etc.

He doesn't want us to be effective for God. Satan sends out his demons to attack us by seeing what our weaknesses are. There are so many instances in the New Testament where Jesus rebukes the demons that have possessed people. He even rebukes the wind and storm that threatens to overcome the boat that he and his disciples are traveling in. To rebuke something means to silence it, to cast out evil spirits. And you can only rebuke something if it has life. If we look at that storm as being a demonic force, it makes sense that Jesus rebuked it. Mark 3:27 tells us that Jesus is stronger than Satan. To cast out a demon, you must be stronger than that demon, and the Bible clearly tells us that Satan is bound by Jesus. When the storms come, take heart and walk by faith. Be the church! Tell the devil to "Be silent!". Live out the victory in Jesus everyday. (Ref: 2 Corinthians 5:7; Mark 1:21-25, 3:11-15, 27 & 35 and 4:35-41; John 16:33) Listen to this sermon in its entirety using your favorite podcast app, on our Facebook page, or on our website at www.colonychristianchurch.org.

The words have been spoken, now a choice must be made

I either read or heard the following statement. "It is not the Christians job to clean the pond but to just fish." I have embraced this theology myself and it has had a profound effect on my understanding of my duty as a follower of Jesus Christ.

You might say what does this statement mean? I believe we can best see it illustrated in the life of Jesus. In Matthew 4:18 we read. "As Jesus was walking beside the Sea of Galilee he saw two brothers, Simon called Peter and his brother Andrew. They were casting a net into the lake, for they were fishermen." "Come follow me," Jesus said, "and I will make you fishers of men. At once they left their nets and followed him."

In Mark 10:17-22, Jesus is asked by a man, "what must I do to inherit eternal life?" Jesus tells the man, "You know the commandments: Do not murder, do not commit adultery, do not steal, do not give false testimony, do not defraud, honor your father and mother."

"Teacher" he declared, "all these I have kept since I was a boy." Jesus looked at him and loved him. "One thing you lack," he said. "Go sell everything you have and give to the poor, and you will have treasure in heaven. Then come follow me." At this the man's face fell. He went away sad, because he had great wealth.

If you are a child of God today it is because someone introduced you to the good news and you responded just as Peter and Andrew did. Your responsibility then becomes to introduce someone else to the gospel. You and I are not responsible for that person whether they accept or reject the gospel. We are however responsible to get God's word out. In 2nd Timothy 4:2 we read, "Preach the word, be prepared in season and out of season; with great patience and careful instruction."

We also have to be prepared when our efforts fail. In 1st Corinthians 1:18 the apostle says, "For the message of the cross is foolishness to those who are perishing, but to us who are being saved it is the power of God." The young man who asked Jesus what he must do to be saved made a choice just as Peter and Andrew made a choice. This is the key. Each one made a choice. If you don't decide that is still a choice. You did not choose to follow.

One of the very best definitions of Christianity I ever heard was made by Col. Robert Ingersoll. He meant this to be a critical statement. "Christianity cannot live in peace with any other form of faith, if that religion be true there is but one Savior, one inspired book, and one narrow path that leads to heaven. Such a religion is necessarily uncompromising."

The young man who went away sad didn't really have to ask Jesus what he must do to inherit eternal life. He wanted Jesus to compromise, after all he had kept the commandments, His heart was with his riches.

The words have been spoken. Now a choice must be made. It is a matter of the heart.

How Kansas saved America

You should start wearing capes, like the super heroes that you are – well, at least about 700,000 of you in the hinterlands of rural Kansas, anyway.

After all, it was you who swooped in to elect Roger Marshall last week as the newest senator from the Sunflower State, and in so doing probably preserved a Republican majority in the U.S. Senate and saved our nation from the dastardly clutches of psychosocialism.

True, a lot hangs on the January run-offs in the Senate races in Georgia, where Republicans are heavy favorites, but without you those races would hardly matter. With Trump's loss, holding the Senate is a bittersweet victory – yet a critical one for those whose quest is to preserve the traditional American way of life.

The fact that you and 70 million Trump supporters across the country helped salvage that ideal has compounded the morose post-election sobbing of liberals, who are so naturally unhappy and foreboding they can't even enjoy the long-awaited crucifixion of their nemesis.

The hate-filled mob that has become the Democrat Party is miserable even in finally claiming Trump's head – despondent that the split-hair-width margin of victory robbed them of the landslide mandate their delusion promised. For that, they have nothing to blame but their own self-deceptive egocentrism. Maybe harassing one more Republican and his wife at a restaurant or looting one more small business would have done the trick?

They fooled themselves, but no one fooled you.

What? What do you mean... 'aw shucks, all I did was vote for the guy?... indeed, that's precisely how you saved our nation.

It was, after all, your unbridled patriotism, sense of duty and love of country that propelled your absentee, advance and in-person votes. It was your belief in Truth, Justice and The American Way and the clarity of maturity and understanding that joined you with an entire half a country of right thinkers.

It was your common obsession to thwart the socialist hoards led by Schumer, Pelosi and Alexandria Occasional-Cortex; to stop those who would otherwise have opened our borders and made our country a candy store for MS 13, "Australianized" our 2nd Amendment, banned fracking and left you to try to manage your household finances with $6 per gallon gasoline to contend with.

You defused the nuclear tax hike that would have crippled American small business, torpedoed the stock market and cost millions of working Americans untold billions in losses from their IRAs, 401Ks and college 529 savings plans.

You didn't fall for the Joker's disguise. Barbara Bollier was as much a "common sense centrist" as my hair is likely to grow back. She was instead a meteor heading directly for our republic that would have embraced the leftist Democrats' destructive agenda the same way she did in the Kansas Statehouse.

Her mission was revealed by the millions of dollars George Soros clandestinely poured into her campaign to win Kansas for the Left. In the reporting period July 1-Sept. 30, $1.8 million of the $7.2 million Bollier received in contributions came from Blue-steeped California. The Kansas City Star said she raised six-figure amounts from 13 additional states and the District of Columbia.

One hundred Kansas counties carried Marshall – a clean sweep except for socialist-leaning university-flavored bastions in Riley, Shawnee, Douglas, Johnson and Wyandotte counties. The most rural among them were the most resolute. Tiny Lane County mustered 701 Marshall votes to 134 for Bollier; Gove County 1,169-206; Logan County 1,149-215. Even places far outside Congressman Marshall's Big 1st District made a stand. Woodson County 1,061-341; Nemaha County 4,342-1,051; Jackson County 4,055-1,997. Those whopping, piecemeal margins in gravel road

This is how dumb and stupid people are in Garnett. Our cases have gone from 3 to 63 right now positive cases in Garnett. Here I am sitting outside the store and the last 33 people I counted, only two are wearing a mask. Even though the sign says 'wear a mask.' This town is pathetic. They're ignorant and arrogant and a threat to other people's health.

Two things: Donald Trump, you're fired. And two: Donald Trump, you're fired.

Looking at the picture of the trick or treaters on the front page, it does not look like they are staying the six feet apart and you cannot see a mask. The only ones that look like they're playing it safe are the ones handing out the candy. Thank you.

Unity, Biden says? Like the way you Democrats all worked for unity after 2016? To the last I grapple with thee. From hell's heart I stab at thee. For hate's sake I spit my last breath at thee.

The 2020 presidential election results are in. The thugs, looters, protestors and creators of violence are silent. They have what they wanted. Now, do you feel safe?

I got my stupid coupon from the cheap-(deleted) county for the dump. What am I supposed to do now, go buy a truck? What is everybody supposed to do who don't have a way to haul their crap to the dump because of the cheap (deleted) county? But no, they're kissing Welda's (deleted) over that pipeline making thousands and thousands of dollars, and now they decide not to do the Garnett spring and fall clean up. I blame the city and I blame the county. You guys are cheap. I threw the $5 coupon away. Like I'm going to haul away a refrigerator in my car?

To the people that live on the south side of the median on West 4th Street, it's really nice of you to rake all the leaves in your yard to pile up in the median. Really makes it look nice. Thanks.

My wife works in a nursing home and there's some people that's supposedly out because they have to quarantine, well we saw two of them out at the grocery store. One was going in without a mask, and there he is been exposed to Covid and supposed to be in quarantine. There should be a law that these people are arrested for not being in quarantine.

Now, Biden/Democrats want unity?

Remember when Democrats called for peace and unity in the days following the 2016 election of Donald Trump? Neither do I.

In fact, I remember my congressional office being inundated with angry calls from people alleging voter fraud, demanding investigations, and insisting Donald Trump could not be allowed to assume the presidency.

Back then, they wanted a special prosecutor, criminal investigations, lawsuits, and congressional hearings to ensure there would be no peaceful transition of power.

In the months following, the "Resistance" was born. Clinton voters, many from outside my district, packed my town hall in the days following the presidential inauguration.

They carried out a well-documented plan to disrupt the meeting, displace many actual constituents, and shout me down. Similar acts of sabotage were replicated around the country, all following a script developed by Resistance activists.

Back then, we were assured protests were the American way. As I recall, when Donald Trump won Joe Biden was the vice president. Never heard a peep from him about unity.

But now in 2020, as Joe Biden proclaims himself the president-elect, it's a "time to heal." Convenient.

"The better angels of America are back," Biden proclaimed to a parking lot of cars and a smattering of people in Delaware Saturday night.

And just like that, "Resistance" is no longer in fashion. The rules have been rewritten.

When Democrats hold power, we must be unified, and our opposition must be silent. Not to be confused with the rules when Republicans hold power – which are that Resistance is as American as apple pie.

In reality, it's highly unlikely Trump supporters will replicate the violence, the hate, and the looting that characterized so many leftist protests over the last four years. But if Democrats believe Americans are obligated to passively stand by while they pursue an agenda that hurts American workers and limits their fundamental rights, they will be disappointed.

Former first lady Michelle Obama said Saturday on Twitter, "Let's remember that tens of millions of people voted for the status quo, even when it meant supporting lies, hate, chaos, and division."

In other words, Trump voters, more than 70 million of them, are idiots. Doesn't sound like a move for unity to me.

Americans will not be silent. Instead, we will take the wins President Trump left us and use them to defend against a leftist agenda we believe undermines the very core of American values.

The irony of Saturday's night of celebration for Democrats is that Election Day was actually quite devastating down-ballot. Though they believe they have claimed the presidency, Democrats failed at every other level. And it shocked them.

In the Senate, bad polling told them to expect to flip the chamber. They failed. In the House, Speaker Pelosi last August had projected "double-digit" gains for Democrats. Instead, their majority narrowed. With only some two dozen races left to call, Democrats have failed to defeat a single Republican incumbent and have seen one race after another flip red.

More importantly, the blue wave Democrats hoped would flood state legislatures in the election before the post-census redrawing of Congressional maps never materialized. Republicans control 28 state legislatures and picked up one more governor race to hold 27 state governorships. With redistricting on the horizon, this does not bode well for the future of Pelosi's House majority.

On top of all of this bad news for Democrats

Even in loss, Trump's presidency still has impact

Pending the outcome in a few key states, Donald Trump may be leaving the White House, but he's not exiting the room.

The fiercest Never Trump critics hoped for -- and wishfully predicted -- a cleansing landslide that would wipe out every trace of Trump and his enablers from the GOP.

That's not happening. Trump's poll- and pundit-defying surge toward the cusp of a second term vindicates Trump's approach enough to give him and his potential successors continued traction, if not a dominant voice, in the party.

Trump's possible loss is nothing like the shellacking the GOP experienced in 2008, when Barack Obama won in a landslide together with a 60-seat Senate majority.

Trump's party has a chance to retain its Senate majority and will pick up House seats, while the margin of his own defeat may be a whisker in the Blue Wall states, just as his margin of victory in 2016 was a whisker.

He did his own side the inadvertent favor of perhaps buffering it from the worst consequences of his own possible loss -- first, by filling the Ruth Bader Ginsburg seat on the Supreme Court that otherwise would have fallen to Joe Biden, and by performing well enough to aid the cause of Republican Senate candidates, who will check a Biden presidency from the outset if they do indeed manage to hold the majority.

Trump's voters were still there for him -- in fact, more so than ever. His tack of doubling

NATIONAL COMMENTARY

down on his base wasn't quite as insane as we were always told by commentators. His strong close proved his power as a campaigner, with his signature madcap rallies serving as effective organizing and messaging vehicles.

This is not to deny that Trump's own failings helped sink him. There are a thousand pitfalls he could have avoided if he weren't so self-involved and undisciplined. No single one of them made the difference, but cumulatively they blighted his presidency and made him radioactive in the suburbs.

No one should want to repeat them, and the party should never again get behind such a flawed personal figure.

Nevertheless, Trump points to a viable GOP future. He posted startling gains among Latino voters. This shows it's possible to imagine a working-class-oriented Republican Party that isn't a demographic dead end, but genuinely crosses racial lines, even if this potential is still inchoate.

Given how Trump's base showed up massively in the past two presidential elections, it's also unlikely that these voters are going to be jettisoned anytime soon by some other Republican presidential candidate. Indeed, the education- and class-based re-sorting of the GOP -- affluent suburbs peeling off and working-class voters coming on board -- predated Trump.

The concerns of these voters have to figure prominently in the agenda of the GOP going forward. That doesn't require embracing any particular Trump policy, but it does mean the party will inevitably have a populist coloration.

Trump will remain an outside presence. His supporters will still consider him a legendary warrior, a totem of resistance to the media and the cultural elite. His endorsements will continue to be valuable, and ambitious 2024 candidates will seek to inherit his mantle.

Trump might not win the biggest, most important prize of a second term in 2020, but there's no doubt he has staved off political irrelevance.

A probe is a necessity for metal detecting

First of all, I don't want anyone to get the idea that I'm in the advertisement business for Garrett Metal Detectors and Accessories.

Yes, I own and operate a Garrett's Ace 300, but that's by choice.

What I want to write about is one of best metal detecting accessories I've ever purchased. Pictured below is what is called a "Pro-Pointer" also known as a probe. I myself refer to mine as a "Hand-held mini metal detector".

This little tool measures 9" in length, weighs 6.5 oz. (including battery), it operates on a single 9 volt battery. Speaking of batteries: Carbon: 16 hrs and Rechargeable 8 hrs. These are hours of operation. My pin pointer shown here, has sensitivity settings for both audio and vibration modes, a rugged edged side scanning strip, a depth ruler and can be used in up to 10ft of water. It also carries a 2 year warranty on limited parts and labor.

Almost every major brand of metal detector companies now manufacture their own brand of pin pointers and list them as an accessory.

If you own and operate a metal detector as much as I do, I honestly believe that this metal detecting accessory is a "MUST" in your metal detecting tool inventory.

ACHS is proud to present "Little Shop of Horrors" Nov. 13 & 14

GARNETT - Anderson County High School Theatre and Vocal Departments proudly present Little Shop of Horrors, Friday, November 13, and Saturday, November 14.

Director Vicki Markham, says, "This is a show our seniors really wanted to do; they've been begging for a couple of years. It was a hassle and very expensive to prepare, but the show couldn't be cast any better. It will be phenomenal."

The Little Shop of Horrors cast features Koby McCarty as Seymour, Carly Hicks as Audrey, Spencer Hermann as Mushnik, April Powlis as Chiffon, Garrett Bures as Orin, Abby Reid as Ronnette, Kaitlyn Day as Crystal, and Bryar Wight as Audrey II. Other characters are played by Zack Mead, Frankie Williams, Reese Witherspoon, Nathan Stephenson, Emma Schaffer, Marissa Friend, Ella Reichard, and Hope Goetz.

Little Shop of Horrors book and lyrics by Howard Ashman music by Alan Menken, directed by Vicki Markham, choreography by Holly Byerley, Kaitlyn Day & Carly Hicks. Musical direction by Natasha Goetz & Carmen Powlis and accompanist Carmen Powlis & Debbie Weisner.

This will take place at Anderson County High School Auditorium, 1100 W. Highway 31, Garnett. Performances will be Friday, November 13, & Saturday, November 14. Ticket price is $10.

About the Show

Seymour Krelborn, a timid, poor floral assistant, lives downtown on Skid Row. Constantly berated by his boss, Mr. Mushnik, and longing to be noticed by his beautifully flawed co-worker, Audrey, Seymour serendipitously discovers a mysterious plant in town. Aply naming it the Audrey II, Seymour takes the plant back to his run-down flower shop. Suddenly Seymour's life is filled with recognition and riches, all thanks to the Audrey II. Unfortunately, the plant has an unconventional thirst for something other than water. Seymour is faced with the tough decision of giving into Audrey II's demands and continuing down the path to success or returning back to his simple life. Hit-filled and hair-raising, ludicrous laughs unfold in this unconventional, killer comedy musical.

Natasha Goetz, music director says, "Little Shop of Horrors is the perfect musical to show off the amazing talents of our cast! They have all been eager to do this musical and have worked so hard to make it delightful and fun! The songs are challenging and the story unique. We hope folks will come enjoy this show with us!"

Tickets for Little Shop of Horrors are priced at $10.00. Due to the ongoing pandemic, there will be limited seating and all attendees must wear masks at all times. Performances are Friday, November 13, and Saturday, November 14. Tickets must be reserved in advance by calling 448-3115. Little Shop of Horrors is produced with the permission of Music Theatre International (MTI).

COLE...

of the best trial attorney's while he was practicing, said his nephew, Garnett attorney Craig Cole. "He never lost a felony jury trial, and a couple of those were murder trials," Craig Cole said.

In later years Cole found himself in the role of staunch property rights activist. Owning land bordering the Prairie Spirit Rail Trail when the old Santa Fe rail line was railbanked by the federal government in the early 1990s, Cole was incensed that adjacent landowners were being prevented from reacquiring the right of ways, when most of them had contractual reversion agreements with the railroad saying the land would be returned to them in the event it was no longer used as a rail line. He testified at Kansas legislative hearings various times on behalf of himself and other adjacent landowners who argued they were due compensation for the usurping of their property rights. In 2005, he told the Review a U.S. Supreme Court opinion upholding the taking of private land for economic development was a case of liberal judges "run amok."

But it was a sight-seeing tour to New York in 2001 after his retirement that would embolden Cole's conservatism and alter the way he and his family looked at the world. He and Laverne visited the World Trade Center in New York on September 10, and the following morning were on a tour bus blocks away from the site when airliners hit the twin towers. When U.S. Navy Seals final found and disposed of 9/11 architect Osama bin Laden, Cole said justice was finally done.

"That was a real tragedy," Cole told the Review in 2011. "Three thousand of our own citizens simply got wiped out." It was very upsetting and it took the fun out of traveling for us."

Graveside services will be held 11 a.m. Thursday, Nov. 12, at the Garnett Cemetery. The family asks that attendees observe proper Covid-19 protocols.

Be there in spirit by safely sending holiday foods

OLATHE, Kan. - COVID-19 will keep many from traveling to see friends and family for the holidays, but you can be there in spirit by sending your special homemade fudge to your mom or cookies to your favorite niece.

"Everyone likes to get gifts of food, especially homemade or specialty foods," said Londa Nwadike, extension associate professor in food safety at Kansas State University and the University of Missouri.

She advises, however, that when sending a food gift, to pack it safely, mark it clearly and notify the recipient that it's on the way. That's especially important for perishable items to ensure that your efforts don't go to waste because they sat in a mailbox or on a porch too long.

Sending your blueberry preserves or special salsa or summer sausage may be even more meaningful this year than usual since we've been encouraged to be apart for months. It's like sending a little part of you.

It is important to note that the risk of getting sick with COVID-19 from eating or handling food and food packages is considered very low, Nwadike said. It is always important, though, for everyone to use good food safety and COVID-prevention practices including frequent hand washing.

Keep perishables pleasing
Perishable foods will stay at a safe temperature longer if frozen solid first, Nwadike said. Once completely frozen, pack the food with a cold source, such as a frozen gel pack or dry ice.

The post office or shipping company may be able to recommend the best packing and shipping method to get perishables to their destinations as quickly as possible.

"Although you may want the gift to be a surprise, with perishable foods you should notify the recipient and make sure someone will be home to receive it on the expected delivery date," Nwadike said. "For packing, use a sturdy box made of heavy foam or corrugated cardboard. Use crushed newspaper or foam 'peanuts' to help cushion the item and fill empty space. Air space in the box can cause the food and cold source to thaw more quickly."

Mark the package "Keep Refrigerated" and list the contents on the outside of the package. Include instructions on proper temperature and storage inside the box for the recipient.

Going retail

If time is short or your cooking or baking skills could use a little more refining, consider ordering mail order or online food gifts. With a range of food companies based in Kansas and Missouri alone, it's a way to support local businesses in this most challenging of years.

Don't be hesitant, however, to ask the company how they keep food cold in transit (if perishable) and if their boxes are clearly marked "keep refrigerated" and come with proper arrival and storage information for the recipient.

Sweet foods such as fruitcakes, candy, jams and jellies can be shipped at room temperature and seldom pose health problems, because the sugar and other preservatives generally postpone deterioration, Nwadike said.

There are exceptions, however, when it comes to cheesecake and similar foods, which must stay cold (under 40 degrees F) to prevent spoilage. Those foods should be shipped frozen with directions to refrigerate upon arrival.

The main thing, Nwadike said, is to enjoy the holidays and if sending a homemade or specially ordered food can enhance someone's day - even if you can't be there - then all the better.

More information about food safety, including food preservation and produce safety is available online or by checking with your local K-State Research and Extension office.

is the reality that they can no longer depend on activist courts to enforce unpopular legislative priorities they are unable to pass in Congress. President Trump's herculean efforts to rebalance America's courts will pay dividends for decades to come.

Whatever happens over the next three months, Republicans will move forward with optimism and confidence. The 2020 election brought new constituencies to the tent, with Trump's share of votes among traditional Democrat constituencies increasing across the board. Latinos, Muslims, LGBT voters, blue collar workers, union members and many others aligned with an emerging coalition that will shape American politics far beyond the 2020 election.

Annual Meeting set for Kansas Horse Council

By Frank J. Buchman

Time is now to become involved in the future of everything involved with horses in Kansas and the nation.

"The annual meeting of the Kansas Horse Council (KHC) is scheduled Saturday, Nov. 14, at the Osage City Fairgrounds," announced Justine Staten.

In the Community Building, activities are set to begin with musical entertainment by Steve Boyce Saturday morning at 11 o'clock. "Highlighted by a noon banquet admission is free with adjournment planned by mid-afternoon," said the KHC executive director.

However reservations for the noon meal served by Barkin' Dawgs are required by emailing director@kansashorsecouncil.com or calling 785-776-0662.

"We're especially pleased to have Ernie Rodina of Better Horses Worldwide as our featured speaker," Staten said.

Rodina is a longtime advocate for all matters horses throughout the world. He is prominently recognized for his syndicated weekly Better Horses radio and television programs and quarterly newspaper.

"Certainly, Ernie is most enthusiastic for betterment of horses and their owners. He'll have a very educational and always enjoyable presentation," Staten assured.

Additional features of the KHC session will be updates on issues relating horses including legislation, trails, events, health and wellness.

"The Kansas Horse Council's main fund raising event is the EquiFest of Kansas," Staten reminded. "So, details about EquiFest 2021, set March 5-6-7, at Salina will also be reviewed."

Many people including horse owners and others with heartfelt interests in horses still don't completely understand what the KHC is. "We provide the Kansas equine industry with leadership and direction through education, promotion and public policy advocacy," Staten explained.

"Regional directors and representatives are passionate about horses and the horse industry in Kansas," Staten assured. "They are the link between what's happening in your area and what's happening at the KHC headquarters in Manhattan."

Those representatives are said to help promote and inform keeping everyone updated and engaged in the Kansas equine industry. "They often assist with activities, planning regional meetings and events that bring us all together," Staten added.

KHC is the state's largest equine network providing members with access to purchase discounts and youth equine scholarships. "The KHC Foundation 501c3 was founded in 2003. It is to encourage learning and higher education pursuits of individuals involved in the equine industry," Staten pointed out.

"An additional unique feature of the KHC is the horsemanship rewards program recognizing members for time spent enjoying their equine friends," Staten said. Marty Bloomquist, KHC board member from Tecumseh, oversees the rewards program.

Students, individuals and family memberships automatically include a million dollar personal excess liability insurance policy. It provides protection in the event a horse does damage to person or property.

The Kansas Equine Directory features membership listings, horse events and trail riding opportunities. "Members can list equine services and businesses for free," Staten said. "Make this the hub for all things equine in Kansas. Encourage your equine service providers too; it's that easy."

Kansas Horse Council license plates are available at county courthouses. "Show your love for horses and the horse industry in Kansas everywhere you drive," Staten encouraged. "All are welcome and you don't even need to be a current KHC member."

KHC officers include Jim Thomas, Lyndon, president; Jana Barcus, Paola, vice president; Cheryl Thomas, Lyndon, secretary; Greg McDonald, Stilwell, treasurer; and Craig Barnett DVM, Paola, legislative representative. Gabrielle Hamler is the KHC official administrative assistant.

Additional board members are Sheryl Strathman, Topeka; Kallie Emig, Burlington; Shanda Mattix, Colby; and Pam Wasserman, Salina. Board liaisons are Chris Blevins, Manhattan; Erin Glassman, Buhler; and Justin Janssen, Alma.

Additional information about the Kansas Horse Council can be found at www.Kansashorsecouncil.com.

The importance of monitoring credit, financial information

MANHATTAN, Kan. – Before you pitch that unidentifiable piece of mail without opening it – that bland envelope with no return address – think again. It could be the first warning that something's amiss with your finances.

As COVID-19 swept through the country this year, ushering in the threat of illness, business closures and rising unemployment, it also led to a sharp increase in fraudulent unemployment claims linked to identity theft.

"A review of these fraudulent claims indicates that scammers are obtaining personal information through activities such as credit card data breaches, email phishing schemes or sophisticated cybersecurity attacks and using that information to illegally attempt to collect unemployment insurance," said Kansas Acting Secretary of Labor Ryan Wright in the Oct. 6 statement.

There are steps Kansans can take to protect themselves, said K-State Research and Extension financial management specialist Elizabeth Kiss. She advises:

- Keep track of your financial information. Whether you get paper copies or electronic copies of bank, credit card, and retirement account statements, monitor them closely and routinely. That way, you'll know the familiar from the unfamiliar.

- Don't let statements or other financial documents build up in your mailbox or sit in a pile of unopened mail.

- Open your mail. Don't assume something is junk mail or a donation solicitation and throw it away just because it's not from a recognizable or familiar source. It could contain something you should be aware of.

- Practice what Kiss calls "good financial management hygiene." Don't leave statements lying around the house where a service worker or casual acquaintance might see them.
- Destroy documents you don't need.

In this day of using cell phones and computers for conducting business online, people tend to check their postal mailboxes less frequently than they used to, Kiss said. That's a mistake for a couple of reasons – it may delay notification about a problem with your credit; and in extreme cases, if the box is full, the postal service will stop delivering to it.

"If you find yourself in the unfortunate situation of recovering from someone's attempt to use your identity to make a fraudulent unemployment claim or any financial fraud, keep a record of what you've done to rectify the situation, when you've done it and who you've spoken with," Kiss said.

She recommends following steps outlined by the Federal Trade Commission on www.IdentityTheft.gov if you've been a victim of identity theft of any kind, starting with contacting companies where you know the fraud occurred.

In response to the increase in fraudulent claims in Kansas, KDOL created the www.ReportFraud.ks.gov website so individuals and businesses can report suspected cases of identity theft related to an unemployment claim. Once a claim is reported on the site, the system generates a police report number and tips for victims to use to help mitigate the damage from the theft. The agency's fraud team can then prevent the fraudulent claims from being paid.

Now here's a tip!

by Jo Ann Derson

• This is a wonderful tip received via e-mail: If you have a panic button for your car alarm, keep your keys by the bedside. If you experience a problem during the night, trip the panic alarm. Let your trusted neighbors know about your intention, and they will be able to assist you.

• "Great gravy is only a plastic bag away! This is my tip for separating the fat from pan drippings to make gravy. I take a quart-size plastic bag and set it in a glass measuring cup. Pour the pan drippings through a strainer, right into the bag. Let it sit for 15-20 minutes, and the fat will separate to the top. Seal the bag, and snip a small hole in a bottom corner, drain the liquid into a saucepan to make gravy. It's that easy!" — T.C. in Idaho

Pieces and Patches Quilt Guild minutes for October

The Pieces and Patches Quilt Guild was called to order by President Jeanette Gadelman on October 22, 2020, at 9:30 AM at the K-State Extension Office Conference Room.

Jeanette advised us that elected Secretary, Vickie Hurt, will be unable to serve as Secretary. Given there is no provision in the By-Laws for filling Officers positions mid cycle, Jeanette is asking for a volunteer or may have to appoint someone. Terrie Gifford will take the minutes for October.

Roll call was answered by 14 masked members. Our guest was Theresa Ward who will be giving a trunk show of strip quilting.

Terrie Gifford read a note from Renee Trimble, daughter-in-law of Darleen Trimble, in whose name we received a $100 memorial donation.

Jeanette Gadelman gave the October treasurer's report for Lynn Wawrzewski.

Jeanette passed around the Committee sign up sheet as she is needing more volunteers.

Committee Reports Programs

Jeanette reported for Jackie that our November and December meetings will be one week earlier: November 19 and December 17. Terrie Gifford will give a demonstration on how to make a Dresden Plate Tablemat at the November meeting. December meeting will be our annual Christmas party.

Charity Quilts

We are waiting on the designation of a new Charity Quilt Chairman. Sandra had nothing new to report from last year. She accepted a baby charity quilt from Connie Hatch and a lap quilt from Ruth Theis.

Opportunity Quilt 2020/2021

Lynda Feuerborn is currently storing the quilt. Ticket sales will continue to be sold. Terrie Gifford, 2022 Chairman, reported that work on the 2022 Opportunity Quilt will begin in January.

2020 Block of the Month
Joyce Buckley, Chairman, introduced our October Block of the Month called "Sunny Skies Table Topper". Joyce showed us several versions of "Sunny Skies" in varying sizes and color schemes. Members had no previous month Block of the Month's to show.

2020 Challenge
Sandra reminded us that November meeting is the Challenge Reveal. She has a small amount of the blue challenge fabric if anyone needs it.

Christmas Luncheon
Jeanette still needs committee members and a chairman.

Old Business
Bonnie Deiter has the Vivian Fink quilt that was given to us by her family to be a fund raiser for the guild. There were several quilts given to various organizations in the county. Bonnie would like ideas on how and when to start a raffle. Members came to the conclusion that we should wait until summer 2021 (so as not to interfere with our 2021 Opportunity Quilt Raffle which ends at our May Quilt show) and think about the possibility of running the raffle on our FACEBOOK page.

New Business
Connie Hatch mentioned that she would like to see more content on our FACEBOOK page. The Wichita Guild is doing FACEBOOK Live, would we want to consider that? Other members mentioned "Zoom". Connie will do some research on those options.

Jeanette reported that upcoming retreats are February 2021, dates still to be confirmed, and October 11-13, 2021.

Secret Sisters
Secret sister gifts were received by Shirley Allen, Lori Hoyt and Terrie Gifford.

Show and tell
Six members showed various items during Show and Tell. Sandra Moffatt and Terrie Gifford won Show and Tell prizes.

The meeting was adjourned.

Sale's 50th Anniversary

THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW 11-10-2020 / SUBMITTED

Gary and Juli (Harden) Sale, of Tucson, Arizona, recently celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary.

They were married at the United Methodist Church in Garnett on October 31, 1970.

They have two married daughters and two grandchildren.

Due to COVID-19, the celebration will take place next year with a family trip to Disneyland.

Theresa Ward gave a trunk show on Strip Piecing, showing a progression of her work over three years. She brought 45 quilts and that was only a part of what she has done over those three years. She also shared information on different products she has used as the base on which to sew the strips.

Minutes recorded by Terrie Gifford.
