Sides prep for Allen preliminary hearing Monday

Long-delayed case moves into initial witness testimony

BY DANE HICKS THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW

MOUND CITY – Linn County District Court officials will take another stab at a preliminary hearing for James Rocky Allen of Parker next Monday, after multiple delays since Allen was accused of murdering his mother on a rural road south of Parker December 2020.

Allen's preliminary hearing was delayed several times over recent months while prosecutors for the Kansas Attorney General's office and defense attorneys bandied various motions, the latest of which addressed in a November 12 hearing that ended in the reduction of Allen's previous $1 million bail to $250,000 and his eventual release on bail from the Bourbon County Jail.

Prosecutors charged Allen killed his mother, 70 year-old Charlotte Grimes, when they say he reversed directions and smashed her stopped vehicle with his pickup truck on Keitel

Allen

Road more than a year ago, then smashed it again after it came to rest in a nearby pasture. Allen later returned to the scene and made comments to witnesses that he was the driver of the other vehicle in the collision. He was taken to the hospital, and while there, investigators said he removed an IV monitor for his vitals and tried to escape the hospital. He was dismissed into the custody of Kansas Bureau of Investigation agents and initially arrested based on evidence found at the scene of the incident.

However, Allen's defense attorney Thomas Bath forwarded into evidence a private investigator's accident reconstruction which the defense maintains proves the impact and subsequent injuries suffered by Allen point to the collision being unintentional. Linn County Judge Terri

Johnson reduced Allen's bail from $1 million to $250,000 at the Nov. 12 hearing after ongoing discussions regarding Allen's continued incarceration, that his bail was excessive and that home monitoring and other measures were available to reduce his possibility as flight risk.

Monday's hearing is set for 11:30 a.m. in Linn County District Court.

Yoder hopes to save regular Tuesday sale

Local auctioneer will launch own general merchandise sale to replace ACSC's event

BY DANE HICKS THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW

GARNETT – Numerous buyers, sellers and observers around the community have noted the loss of the weekly general merchandise sale at the Anderson County Sale Company every Tuesday would be a detriment to business traffic in Garnett on Tuesdays. So local auctioneer Ben Yoder stepped up last week to continue that weekly auction tradition at a different location in Garnett.

"There was a lot of us who just thought that was going to be bad for the town," Yoder, a local auctioneer and real estate agent, said last week. "It brought people to town and to the stores and restaurants – we need to keep that kind of thing going in our town if we possibly can," Yoder said.

So Yoder will kick off his sale today at the TLC Salvage location owned by Mundell Outdoors at 1664 South Maple south of Crystal Lake Park at 9 a.m. Items for sale will include produce first, miscellaneous, lumber, ATVs, vehicles, trailers, hay, wood, furniture, tools and more.

The weekly general merchandise sale at Anderson County Sale Company was a staple of the Tuesday calendar for decades, but ended earlier this month when owner Ron Ratliff announced the sale of the property at Park Road and Maple Street to Leiszler Oil of

Drop the standards, get more subs?

Kansas Board of Ed will hear proposal to drop 60 college hour proviso during shortage

BY JIM MCLEAN KANSAS NEWS SERVICE

WICHITA — As Kansas school districts clamor for relief from unprecedented teacher shortages, state education officials could soon loosen some requirements for people who want to work as substitute teachers.

The Kansas Board of Education will hear a recommendation next week aimed at lifting — at least temporarily — a state requirement that subs have at least 60 hours of coursework at an accredited college or university.

Mischel Miller, the director of teacher licensure and accreditation for the Kansas Department of Education, said the COVID-19 pandemic, combined with nationwide labor shortages and higher-than-average teacher resignations, have left schools scrambling to cover classrooms.

Some districts already are ignoring current regulations, she said.

"There are systems ... that are having to put people in front of students who do not hold that (substitute teacher) license," Miller said. "Desperate times call for desperate measures."

Some district officials say easing substitute requirements would allow them to hire people who could supervise classes and follow lesson plans but might not have college credit hours.

Blue Valley school board member Kaety Bowers, a licensed cosmetologist, said she has more than 3,000 hours of professional training, including certifications in CPR and first aid. But under current regulations, she would not be able to work as a sub.

Bowers told the state school board last month that districts are scrambling to cover classrooms when teachers resign or are out sick with COVID-19.

"We're having teachers quit at quarter, at semester, in the middle of the week. And we can't fill these spots," she said. "I think 12 to 18 months of just lessening those requirements would help us recover and help us find people."

Marcus Baltzell, a spokesman for the Kansas National Education Association, said reducing requirements for substitutes could hurt the education students get.

"We're saying we can take this classroom teacher, who's trained in pedagogy and everything that comes with that, and just replace them with someone off the street? And we're going to do that because it's a crisis?" Baltzell said. "What's best for students is to have a fully certified teacher in every classroom and subs who have the

THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW 1-11-2022 / GEORGE BENNETT

George Bennett of Garnett sent us this photo last week of a "fall streak" or what some refer to as a "hole punch cloud" — a large circular or elliptical gap that can appear in cirrocumulus or altocumulus clouds. The National Weather Service says they're formed in high to mid level clouds, such as altocumulus, which are often composed of tiny water droplets that are much colder than freezing but have yet to freeze. These "supercooled" water droplets need a "reason" to freeze, which usually comes in the form of ice crystals. Aircraft passing through the cloud layer can bring these ice crystals. Once the ice crystals are introduced, the water droplet quickly freezes, grows and starts to fall. A hole is left behind, which will start to expand outward as neighboring droplets start to freeze.

By the time he was five years old, he was driving the hay truck as his dad loaded it. By age ten he had his own tractor and was working in the fields alongside his dad. He raised his own cattle and saved his money to buy a car at age 16. He said he became an entrepreneur at an early age. His leadership abilities became apparent when he was elected the president of Colony High School student council and Anderson County 4-H Council. He also had the leading role in the junior class play. In April of that same year his father was killed by lightning.

Harris owes WWII vets apology

Unfortunately it's not exactly news any more when Vice President Kamala Harris says something disrespectful to American Patriots or something that reveals her incompetence by being just flat out stupid.

But her recent assertion that the broken windows and knocked over trash cans of the January 6 capitol riot was somehow an attack on Democracy on par with Pearl Harbor or September 11 is a new record low insult to Americans. Her comments demand an apology to America's World War II veterans and their families as well as the families of nearly three thousand people murdered in cold blood by the terrorists of 9/11.

Some 74 sailors hailing from the Sunflower State are known to have died in the December 7, 1941, sneak attack on Pearl Harbor that killed some 2,400 American military men and which brought about America's entry into the war. That war, spawned by the Pearl Harbor attack which the vice-president references, claimed another 400,000 American lives - more than 5,400 from Kansas. Almost 3,000 people were murdered when terrorists slammed airliners loaded with passengers into the World Trade Center towers and the Pentagon, a handful of those as well either from Kansas or with Kansas ties.

Figuratively if not literally, those lost lives were connected both to Kansas and to all Americans. When they're referenced they should be referred to with a sense of honor and tribute because they were after all real people who were loved by their families - they had real lives. They shouldn't be prostituted in some irrelevant and utterly ridiculous analogy designed to salvage a failing political regime.

In their desperate and continuing quest to find something - anything - to draw the nation's attention away from Joe Biden's disastrous performance as president and his plunging loss of public confidence, Harris and other Democrats who can see the writing on the wall are scratching for any thread to pull that might offer a chance to shame conservatives for the actions of a few hundred morons on Jan. 6. So they have the unmitigated contemptible audacity to compare a riot that was over within a few hours to events that cost hundreds of thousands of American lives and truly changed the course of history. In doing so, vice-president Harris demeans the families of those who died and minimizes what they sacrificed.

Harris' assertions were truly despicable. Indeed her comments don't deserve even the amount of attention we're giving them here and if not for the degree of insult to the hallowed memories of those soldiers and civilians we wouldn't bother, but there's a tendency to analyze the evidence just to illustrate how ludicrous Harris' statement really was. Japan itself in the lead up to World War II was a juggernaut of military aggression and imperialism. All six of Japan's first-line aircraft carriers were assigned to the Pearl Harbor attack and launched some 430 heavily-armed attack fighters and bombers at the sleeping U.S. fleet. At the time historians say it was by far the most powerful carrier task force ever assembled. In addition to those carriers Vice Admiral Nagmo's Pearl Harbor strike force included battleships, cruisers and destroyers. They crippled or destroyed 19 American ships and killed 2,400 servicemen. Damage was in the billions even in 1941 dollars.

Meanwhile prosecutors say rioters did $1.5 million in damage to the U.S. capitol. No cache of weapons was ever found when rioters were arrested as evidence of the Democrats' claimed "insurrection." They had no plan to actually do anything once they broke into the building. The only direct death associated with January 6, as we all know, was the murder of an unarmed civilian woman, Ashli Babbitt, as she tried to climb through a window - shot dead by a capitol policeman Michael Byrd. Rioters walked around in the capitol for a while and shot selfies, some stole some stuff, and then they just went home.

Yet the sitting vice president of the United States views this incident of criminal dumbassery as an attack on democracy that rivals Pearl Harbor?

To the contrary, it is Harris' comments that affront democracy, not to mention the families of the dead who sacrificed for it and provided her the opportunity to reveal herself as such a sanctimonious idiot.

Triple vaxxed people still getting Covid. Have you figured it out yet, folks?

You're so far right you really need some help. I ain't kidding. There were innocent people at the capitol January 6? They were all guilty. Of course people like you are going to defend them. Trump lovers, Trumptards. You all just love that orange orangutan don't you? God you guys are pathetic.

Please don't take away the hard copy of the paper for those of us who don't have a computer. We really enjoy getting our weekly paper. Thank you.

You're not the only one having issues with our horrible mail service. I've been having trouble getting my monthly bills in a timely matter before Covid even started. I had to pay late fees several times because of getting my bills after their due date. Go down to the post office to complain and they give you some lame excuse. USPS - U.S. piece of (deleted).

The medical profession is once again asking the public's help with the Covid 19. There are different variants. The best thing the public can do is don't self diagnose. It spreads it very, very badly. If you have any symptoms and want to do what the medical profession is asking, please get tested. Don't go out in public with symptoms because it just spreads it and spreads it.

Why are the staffs not all vaccinated at these schools where we've sent our young children? Not all our children can be vaccinated at this time and I don't think that's fair to them. I think we need to have masks put back into place until all staff wants to get vaccinated.

If you're not getting vaccinated because of political reasons maybe you should rethink your strategy. It is your decision but you can't vote from a hospital bed or a tomb. Every vote counts. Stay healthy so you can vote.

Trump states gain population; Biden states lose

As a Christmas present to statistics lovers, the Census Bureau has released its estimates of the population of the nation and the 50 states as of July 1, 2021. The Bureau admits up front that, due to COVID, its numbers are subject to more than usual uncertainty. But overall, they provide important clues as to how the public has coped with the pandemic and how COVID may have changed the trajectory of national growth - and contraction.

A comparison of these estimates with the April 1, 2020 census covers almost exactly 15 of the first 16 months of the pandemic. The headline is that 2020-21 was the slowest growth year in U.S. history, with the population rising by only 0.1%. That's even lower than the 0.5% growth in 1918-19, when the influenza epidemic killed more people than COVID in a United States with less than one-third our current population.

Any predictions that lockdowns would produce a spurt of births obviously were laughably wrong. Instead, we've had the biggest birth dearth in the nation's history.

This and the "Great Resignation," the withdrawal of a couple million from the workforce, look like results of demoralization. They're the opposite, in any case, of the baby boom and the workforce surge that got started during World War II and flourished for two decades postwar.

The census estimates confirm reports of people fleeing crowded central cities starting at just about the time of the April 1 census. That's apparent in the states with the nation's four largest metropolitan areas: New York's population declined 365,000 (-1.8%), California's was down 300,000 (-0.8%) and Illinois's down 141,000 (-1.1%). (I've rounded off population numbers to avoid the distraction of statistically insignificant digits.)

Also down, after a decade of gentrification growth, was the District of Columbia (-2.8%).

Washington has been the fastest-growing metro area in the East for decades, but evidently no more. Maryland's population declined in 2020-21 (-0.2%), and Virginia's barely rose (+0.1%). The Biden administration failed to duplicate the New Deal, either legislatively or in capital area growth.

Altogether, 20 states lost population, from high-education Massachusetts (-0.6%) to climate-ideal Hawaii (-0.9%). Both were high-lockdown locales.

At the other end of that spectrum, percentage growth was highest in the Rocky Mountain West: Idaho (+3.4%), Utah (+2.2%), Montana (+1.8%), and Arizona (+1.7%).

And in Texas (+1.3%). That's a big deal, because it's the second-largest state, with a population over 29 million. Its 2020-21 population increase was 382,000, accounting for 86% of the national increase.

Florida also scored a similar percentage increase (+1.1%), with a population increase of 243,000. So the population of those two low-lockdown states increased by a total of 625,000, while the population of the other 48 states plus D.C. fell by 181,000.

You see similar contrasts when you compare the states by political preference. The

Democrats say Jan. 6 justified federalizing all voting

On Jan. 6, 2021, rioters seeking to disrupt the counting of electoral votes breached the U.S. Capitol and rampaged for hours before order was restored.

This was a disgraceful spectacle that shouldn't be repeated, and Senate Majority Leader Chuck Schumer knows just what is needed to respond to the moment -- passing every progressive voting-related priority that can possibly be jammed through the Senate on an extremely narrow, partisan vote.

The defense of our democracy, Schumer maintains, demands nothing less.

The latest pitch for the Democratic voting agenda is more cynical and detached from reality than ever. We are to believe that the only way to counteract the furies unleashed on Jan. 6 is by imposing same-day voter registration and no-excuse mail voting on the states, ending partisan gerrymandering, and requiring the counting of ballots that arrive up to seven days after Election Day, among other provisions completely irrelevant to events that day or afterward.

If you're thinking that Democrats supported all of this on Jan. 5 of last year and still supported it on Jan. 7, you're correct.

Their agenda has as much to do with Jan. 6 as an annual appropriations bill or the naming of a post office.

The Democratic drive to nationalize our elections has always been a sweepingly radical step in search of an alleged crisis to address. When a version was first introduced a few years ago, it was sold as addressing "the vile voter suppression practices" of the GOP, in the words of The New York Times. The big lie of the time was that the Georgia gubernatorial campaign of Stacey Abrams in 2018 was undone by such practices. Now, the justification is the Capitol riot and subsequent GOP state-level voting changes that have been portrayed, falsely, as the return of Jim Crow.

In reality, voting has never been easier and voters have never had so many options for how to participate in elections, whether early in-person voting, traditional same-day voting, or mail-in voting. There are partisan disputes about how to strike a balance between convenience and security, but there is no reason that these differences can't be debated at the state level, with the balance struck differently depending on the policy preferences of elected officials in each state.

I would almost bet there are a lot of you that are thinking, I have forgotten all about my Christmas tour to San Antonio, Texas. No, really I didn't, it was just the holidays changed my priorities for a couple of weeks.

So continuing on our trip, it is Wednesday 8Dec2021 and a very foggy start to the day. Our very first morning stop was in Georgetown, Texas at the large Wal-Mart store for about 20 minutes. While there our daughter Lori from Round Rock, Texas had driven up to see us. We had a wonderful 20 minute visit. Our next stop was in San Antonio at the largest Mexican shopping Plaza in the U.S. While there we ate lunch at a Mexican Cafe. It was here that a tour guide joined us and shortly we were on a bus tour of San Antonio. It

Our next stop was at a 4-D Theatre where we watched the video called Skies Over Texas. (Really Neat) Then we had lunch at the 1881 Buckhorn Saloon. Our afternoon was watching a film 'The Battle of the Alamo' and also taking a tour of the Alamo. Our day ended by returning to our motel and enjoying another Kick-Back dinner.

25 states that voted for former President Donald Trump increased their populations by 1,049,000, while the 25 states plus D.C. that voted for President Joe Biden saw their populations fall by 607,000.

If you set aside the eight marginal states, which no candidate carried by 5% or more, you find the solid Trump states gaining 694,000 people, the marginal states gaining 544,000, and the solid Biden states losing 796,000.

Or contrast the nine states with no state income tax, which gained 782,000 people, while the other 41 states plus D.C. lost 340,000. The 10 states with the highest income tax rates lost 704,000 people.

No one knows whether these trends will continue for some time, and no trend continues forever. But COVID and the responses to COVID seem to have done quantifiable damage to sectors of society dominated by the cultural Left. Public school enrollments are down, college and university enrollments are down, anti-Trump media patronage is down, restaurants are closing, and concerts are canceled.

The flight from high-tax to low-tax states was already in progress pre-COVID, and Sunbelt migration has been apparent for half a century.

But what we seem to be seeing during this plague year is the withdrawal of significant numbers of people from what had been comfortable left-wing cocoons and their dispersion to odd corners of the landscape.

In a politics that often looks like a battle between metropole and heartland, the metropole seems to be losing ground, while the heartland is hanging on or even booming.

It's unlikely Kansas lawmakers will ban the use of cell phones while driving, despite recommendations from the National Traffic Safety Board. The NTSB recommended a full ban on the use of cell phones while driving. The proposal would outlaw non-emergency phone calls and texting by operators of every vehicle on the road, including hands-free as well as hand-held devices. Even though Kansas banned texting while driving, local representatives and a local senator say it's unlikely the state's Congress will expand that to an all-inclusive ban.

It is rarely in these modern days that a brand new flower is introduced, but in the new colored freesias developed in the last few seasons, and which have taken the florists' world by storm, we have something new. Resembling in growth a miniature gladiolus, they now come in a bewildering series of lavenders, roses, mauves, orange bronzes, and yellows and the hybridizers have only started on their work. The old white and yellow varieties were fine, but the introduction of the colored kinds makes an entirely new race of plants.

Lady Bulldogs kick off new year with a win

BY KEVIN GAINES THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW

GARNETT - Fredonia (3-3) just didn't have an answer for the inside game of the Anderson County Bulldogs (3-2) as they earned a 44-36 victory at home last Tuesday night.

Anderson County jumped out to a huge 21-8 lead after the first quarter of play.

Fredonia bounced back, outpacing the Lady Bulldogs 14-9 in the second quarter to cut the halftime deficit to 30-22.

The second half would be a tale of two quarters though. The Bulldogs used a 10-4 third quarter to build the lead back to double figures, 40-26, heading into the fourth.

But it would be Fredonia trying to make a late rally as it was their turn to outscore Anderson County 10-4 to account for the final score.

Fredonia shot less than 19% in the contest, including just 6 of 34 (16%) from inside the three-point line.

That number was in large part due to the Lady Bulldogs shot blocking ability. They held a 16-0 advantage in that department in the game.

Anderson County also dominated on the glass with a 48-29 advantage in rebounding.

A pair of Lady Bulldogs led the way as both Kylie Disbrow and Caitlyn Foltz each recorded double doubles.

Disbrow led ACHS with 16 points, 15 rebounds and 8 blocks. Foltz tallied 12 points, 11 rebounds and 6 blocks.

Brooke Galey came just shy of a double double herself with 9 points and 10 rebounds.

Lancers win handily over Altoona-Midway

BY KEVIN GAINES THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW

BUFFALO - The Crest Lancers improved to .500 (3-3) on the season with a solid 62-44 win over Altoona-Midway (2-5) on the road Friday night.

Crest did most of their damage early on, taking a commanding 18-6 lead early on.

The Lancers would stretch their lead out to 30-15 at halftime before Altoona-Midway outscored Crest 14-12 in the third to cut the deficit down to 42-29 entering the fourth.

The Lancers did what they needed to in the fourth quarter, connecting for 20 points while holding their opponents to 15 points in the final frame to account for the final score.

Ethan Godderz knocked down 6 three-pointers in the game en route to leading Crest with 24 points. Second on the team was Keaton Davis with 10 points.

Next up this week for Crest are home games against Marmaton Valley (1-4) on Tuesday night and Chetopa (0-3) on Friday night.

Bulldogs pull away late in record-setting performance

BY KEVIN GAINES THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW

WELLSVILLE - The final score makes it look like it was a lopsided win for the ACHS Bulldogs as they won 46-28 on Friday night over Wellsville, but they actually trailed entering the fourth quarter as stat-sheet stuffer Kylie Disbrow recorded the first triple double in Lady Bulldog history.

The game started slowly as Wellsville held a slim 5-4 lead after the first 8 minutes of play. Anderson County would presence of the Bulldogs overwhelmed Wellsville in the fourth. The AC girls outscored Wellsville 24-4 over the final 8 minutes to finish off the victory.

Anderson County was dominate inside. The Bulldogs won the rebound battle 58-26, including a staggering 26 offensive rebounds. AC had 15 blocks to zero for Wellsville and outscored them 40-2 inside the paint.

Disbrow's record breaking night included 22 points, 18 rebounds and 11 blocks. She also tacked on 4 assists for the night.

The only other Bulldog in double figures was Caitlyn Foltz with 12 points. She also tallied 7 rebounds.

Brooke Galey scored 4 points and pulled down 14 rebounds.

The Lady Bulldogs will travel to LaCygne to play Prairie View tonight and host Santa Fe Trail on Friday night.

Lancers drop first contest of new year

BY KEVIN GAINES THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW

MOUND CITY - It wasn't the start the Crest Lancers wanted as they opened the new calendar year on the road and came up short against the Jayhawk-Linn Jayhawks, 52-45 victory.

It was the second straight win for Jayhawk-Linn after they opened the season 0-3. The loss dropped the Lancers to 2-3 on the season.

Jayhawk-Linn edged the Lancers 8 to 6 in the first. The Lancers held a slim 16-15 advantage in the second quarter to cut the halftime deficit to 23-22.

Following intermission Crest struggled to slow down Jayhawk-Linn in the third quarter, being outscored 17-11 in the period, falling behind 40-33 heading into the final period.

The fourth quarter was a back and forth battle and unfortunately for the road Lancers they just couldn't put a run together late to put the pressure on Jayhawk-Linn as both teams tallied 12 points in the period.

Keaton Davis was the only Lancer in double figures with 11 points. Ethan Godderz chipped in with 9 points and Karter Miller and Tucker Yocham each tallied 6 points on the night.

AC girls wrestling finish well at Burlington

BY KEVIN GAINES THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW

BURLINGTON - With only two wrestlers competing, the Anderson County lady wrestlers know they won't do any damage as a team, but individually both Bailey Clawson (120) and Clarissa Sheahan

(143) finished within the top 4 at Burlington on Saturday.

Clawson finished second on the afternoon. She received an opening round bye before winning by fall (2:10) over Elizabeth Gutierrez of Independence and by fall (2:10) over Jaiden Whitehead of Silver Lake.

Layla Tindle of Fredonia had the upper hand in the 1st place match though as she defeated Clawson by fall (2:46).

Shehan advanced past the first round with a bye before defeating Kelly Newton of Independence in the quarterfinal round by fall (4:33). In the semifinal, Lyndsey Escareno of Eureka downed Sheahan by fall (2:44). Sheahan rebounded with a win by fall (1:17) over Ashton Altman of Erie before dropping the 3rd place match to Taylor Plumley of Cherryvale by fall (4:36).

AC wrestlers do well at Louisburg

BY KEVIN GAINES THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW

LOUISBURG - Four AC grapplers finished on the podium at Saturday's wrestling tournament in Louisburg.

AJ Schaffer (126) continued his impressive season by sweeping all 5 matches to earn first in his class. Schaffer won by tech fall (TF-1.5 3:33 (15-0)) in round 1 over Emilio Salinas of Liberal, in round 2 by decision (7-2) over Drake Brooks of Girard, in round 3 over Eismael Hernandez of Pittsburg by fall (1:28), in round 4 over Alexander Finn of Leavenworth by fall (1:12) and by decision (4-3) over Kaven Bartlett of Louisburg in round 5.

John Wright (152) fell just short, finishing in 2nd place after dropping the 1st place match. Wright won his round 1 match by fall (5:13) over Alex Schwindt of Liberal, his round 2 match was won via forfeit and his round 3 match was a win by tech fall (TF-1.5 2:08 (15-0)) over Jesse Murphy of Louisburg. Wright would go on to win his opening round in the championship bracket by fall (1:40) over Veda Gummadipudi of Blue Valley West before dropping the championship match to Brady Fankhauser of Shawnee Mission East by fall (3:20).

Finishing in third was Dallas Kueser (160) and Dalton Kellerman (285). Kueser finished the afternoon by knocking off Joel Jubber of Girard by fall (2:59) in the 3rd place match. Kellerman defeated William Kralichek of Hoyt-Royal Valley by Fall (0:53) to win the silver.

Other wrestlers competing at Louisburg were Connor Prothe (113) who dropped all 4 of his matches for a 7th place finish, Masten Wright (138) lost in 2 of his first 3 rounds sending him to the consolation bracket where he rebounded to win his final two matches to finish in 5th place. Connor Wittman (145) won 2 of his 5 matches on the afternoon which included dropping the 5th place match to finish 6th. Trey Clark (170), after finishing 1-2 in pool play, won his opening round in the consolation bracket before dropping the 5th place match. Porter Foltz (182) finished 8th on the afternoon, dropping all 5 of his matches.

Bulldogs roll past Fredonia

BY KEVIN GAINES THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW

GARNETT - The ACHS Bulldogs (3-2) controlled Fredonia (1-5) from the opening tip until the final buzzer in a lopsided 72-36 victory last Tuesday at home.

The loss was the 5th straight for Fredonia after they opened the season with a win over Neodesha.

AC led after the first quarter 16-9, behind 7 points in the opening period by Reese Jarett.

It was Chaylin Peine that took control in the second quarter notching 8 of his team's 19 points, while limiting Fredonia to 10 to take a 31-19 lead into halftime.

In the second half, the Bulldogs continued to control the game with a 16-10 advantage in the third quarter and closed out the game with a 21-7 advantage in the fourth.

Peine led 4 Bulldogs in double figures with 19 points in addition to 13 rebounds. Peine was efficient, knocking down 9 of his 10 shots on the night.

Jarett reached double digits with 14 points, Kyle Belcher 11 and Reese Katzer 10.

This week the Bulldogs will play on the road against Prairie View on Tuesday night and host Santa Fe Trail on Friday.

proper credentials to do the job."

Baltzell said Kansas lawmakers worsened teacher shortages by limiting how districts can respond to the pandemic. A state law passed last year limits remote learning to 40 hours per student or schools risk losing more than half of state funding for that student.

That creates tough decisions for districts. Officials have to decide whether to hold classes during an outbreak, cancel school or offer online education and risk a loss of state funding.

It also creates more pressure for teachers, Baltzell said.

"We're hearing ... examples where administrators are telling their teachers, 'You can't be sick,'" he said. "When you minimize the impacts of a global pandemic and say, 'We're going to do these things regardless,' this is what happens."

Kansas isn't the only state considering reducing requirements for substitutes. Missouri reduced its education requirement from 60 college credits to requiring only a high school diploma. Iowa relaxed its regulations, from requiring a bachelor's degree to requiring some college credits.

Michigan lawmakers passed a bill last month that would temporarily allow school support staff, such as bus drivers and cafeteria workers, to substitute teach even if they don't have a single college credit.

Miller, Kansas' director of teacher licensing, has not offered details on what a proposal may look like. The state board is scheduled to hear a presentation during its meeting Tuesday and vote on recommendations the following day.

"What we have talked about in our office is adjusting the qualifications for that license," Miller said. "We will always maintain the minimum standard is that they pass the fingerprint and background check."

Model trains on display at the Garnett Public Library

With our holiday season behind us, the Garnett Public Library has filled their Display case with some more historical model trains from the Mike Canavan and Skip Landis collections. Mike's collection specializes in "N" gauge while Skip's collection is vintage "O" gauge.

The "O" gauge display offers viewers a glance back to the late 40's and early 50's, with a series of steam driven coal and passenger trains. This month's display offers: 1949 MTH Pennsylvania Steam Turbine passenger set and a 1947 Lionel Steam engine passenger set. Also featured is an early 50's K-Line Coal Car set, and some of the collector train action accessories from the late 1940's to the late 1950's.

This year's "N" gauge display features a Kansas City Southern engine with cars representing various Midwestern rail lines, including an Atchison Topeka Santa Fe caboose and a Leigh Valley engine with various cars representing Eastern Rail lines. Also being displayed are pieces of railroad working equipment.

Stop by, and once more, take a look at the display case, and perhaps, visions of your childhood, or the love of those steam engines could send you back in time. "Happy New Year and may the Spirit of model railroading be with you and yours."

KDHE updates isolation and quarantine guidance

TOPEKA – The Kansas Department of Health and Environment (KDHE) has updated the isolation and quarantine guidance following the recent changes by the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) for health care workers in a hospital setting and the general population. CDC is in the process of updating guidance for other settings such as correctional facilities, long-term care facilities, preschool, K-12 schools and institutions of higher education.

Health Care Workers in a Hospital Setting
 •Health care workers with lab confirmed COVID-19 infections should isolate for 10 days OR 7 days with negative test, if asymptomatic or mildly symptomatic (with improving symptoms).
 •Health care workers with COVID-19 who are asymptomatic or mildly symptomatic can return to work only with COVID-19 positive patients during the remainder of the 10-day infectious period.
 •Boosted and asymptomatic health care workers who are close contacts of a person with confirmed COVID-19 infection have no work restrictions with negative test on days 2 and 5-7.
General Population
 The general population does not include people who work in a health care setting or other congregate setting. If individuals develop symptoms, they should get a test and stay home.

•People with lab confirmed COVID-19 infections, regardless of vaccination status should stay home for 5 days. If you have no symptoms or your symptoms are resolving after 5 days and you are fever-free for 24 hours without the use of fever reducing medications, you can leave your house. Individuals should continue to wear a mask around others for 5 additional days.

•Boosted or fully vaccinated individuals with Pfizer/Moderna within last 6 months or Johnson & Johnson within last 2 months who are close contacts of a person with confirmed COVID-19 infection do NOT have to stay home and should wear a mask around others for 10 days. If possible, individuals should get tested on day 5.

•People who are unvaccinated OR have completed the primary series of Pfizer/Moderna vaccine over 6 months ago and are not boosted OR completed the primary series of Johnson & Johnson over 2 months ago and are not boosted who are close contacts of a person with confirmed COVID-19 infection should stay home for 5 days. After that continue to wear a mask around others for 5 additional days. If unable to quarantine, individuals must wear a mask for 10 days. If possible, individuals should get tested on day 5.

January is Kansas Radon Action Month

TOPEKA – Governor Kelly proclaims January as Kansas Radon Action Month. The Kansas Department of Health and Environment (KDHE) encourages Kansans to protect their families by testing their homes for radon, an odorless and invisible gas. Unchecked radon in the home can lead to dangerous health effects like lung cancer. More than 200 lung cancer deaths per year in Kansas may be linked to indoor radon. EPA estimates that indoor radon contributes to 21,000 lung cancer deaths in the U.S. each year. Exposure causes no immediate symptoms and often goes unrecognized until serious health complications arise.

“Radon is the second-leading cause of lung cancer in the U.S. and the first in people who have never smoked,” said Janet Stanek, Acting Secretary. “Knowing the radon level in your home is the only way to minimize long-term health risks and is as simple as performing an inexpensive test.”

Elevated radon levels have been detected in each county — one out of every four radon tests conducted returned results above the EPA action level and individuals should act to reduce radon level to minimize long-term health risks. Inexpensive radon test kits, available at your Kansas county extension office or local hardware stores, can reveal the amount of radon in any building. High levels can usually be fixed with simple and affordable venting techniques. Homeowners should talk with a certified radon contractor if high levels are detected.

A list of certified radon contractors is available by calling the Kansas Radon Hotline at 800-693-KDHE (800-693-5343). Additional information about radon can be obtained at kansaradonprogram.org and epa.gov/radon.

God will lead you home!

In Jonah 3:10 we see the grace of God on display. “When God saw what they (Nineveh) did and how they turned from their evil ways, he had compassion and did not bring upon them the destruction he had threatened.” The Lord’s sovereignty over all the nations is implicit in the command to Jonah. He is the judge over the whole earth. The Assyrian capital of Nineveh is the focus of divine wrath and is depicted as an evil and cruel nation. They were guilty of horrendous atrocities against the Hebrews. When the king of Nineveh heard of Jonah’s proclamation he removed his robes and repented in sackcloth and ashes. Then he issued a proclamation of his own to the entire city to be in prayer and fasting.

The Apostle John in 1 John 1:9 explains why God makes certain choices. “If we confess our sins, he is faithful and just and will forgive us our sins, and purify us from all unrighteousness.” Perhaps the greatest lesson we can learn from God saving the Ninevites is no one is ever too far from God to be redeemed and forgiven. God is always powerful, yet it is prayer and faith that activates God’s mighty power. It is very easy for us to feel that all of our sin has gotten us to the point where we can never be saved. The result of this is we often try to clean ourselves up to present God with something he can’t use. You must come as you are, bring all your scars, we all have them. God is in the business of changing men’s hearts which is what must be done. Quit trying to do life your way and begin walking with God. He will lead you home. If you choose to stick with your way you will never find your way home.

Building for the Future

All that's left of the original home at the ranch is a foundation underneath an apple tree. Eventually, after years of sitting vacant, it was deemed unsafe and summarily demolished. I never got to see the inside, but I remember badly wanting to walk through the door and explore the rooms my great grandparents had inhabited at one time.

I haven't given the place much thought in the last 30 years, but it's been on my mind lately as I sorted through the recently released Kansas Statewide Housing Needs Assessment, which is projected to be the first step in identifying how to address the needs and priorities for housing across the state.

While at one time that farmhouse at the ranch was a home, if it were still standing the number of people who would consider living there is vanishingly small. I know at some point it was retrofitted with running water and had electric service, but it also had a coal furnace, little insulation and none of the modern-day luxuries we take for granted.

If it were still standing, the house would be closer to a shelter than a home. In fact, that's one of the main reasons it sat vacant for so long. It was outdated by the standards of the 1970s, and it would have been cost prohibitive to modernize it then.

This scenario has played out across the state, especially in rural areas for the past century. Individually, it doesn't appear like a big deal. Collectively, however, the decaying housing stock has become a limiting factor in the state's future.

One line in the report's opening section stands out, "A lack of quality, affordable housing is widely recognized as one of the state's biggest barriers to growth and development, particularly in rural and underserved communities."

I agree with this wholeheartedly, even though "affordable" causes some queasiness. Far

KANSAS COMMENTARY

too often the decision to expand a business or take a job in rural America aren't solely decided by the dollars and cents of those individual decisions. Rather it comes down to secondary factors like an available workforce or desirable housing options, with the latter often limiting the former.

The report also found that Kansas comes up short for housing across the income spectrum. Simply put, there's a lack of housing at every price point, every size and every shape.

The challenge isn't simply building new dwellings, it's figuring out how to create homes attractive to working families who can unlock the potential awaiting discovery across Kansas. While Johnson City will never resemble anything close to Johnson County, writing it off as just another casualty of modern life isn't acceptable.

I must confess I don't have the solution for this problem, mainly because while the problem is singular and widespread, the options for fixing it is as diverse as it is local. The solution for Colby is likely far different than what will work for Colwich.

Assessing the problem is the easy part. Finding the correct mix of public and private partnerships isn't going to be easy. But it's the best way to build to a better future.

"Insight" is a weekly column published by Kansas Farm Bureau, the state's largest farm organization whose mission is to strengthen agriculture and the lives of Kansans through advocacy, education and service.
