Garnett Saturday events soar

Vendor count up almost 50 percent over last year's pre-Mother's Day tradition

BY DANE HICKS THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW

GARNETT — Craft vendor offerings as well as vintage aircraft fun and activities will roar to life this weekend in Garnett when the Garnett Square Fair and Garnett Air Fair celebrate their annual day-before-Mothers-Day festivities in town.

After a thin comeback last year following 2020's Covid-19 shutdown, Bonnie Dieter with the sponsoring Garnett Business and Professional Women's Club said this year's 51st annual fair had some 75 booths registered for Saturday's event — not as high as pre-Covid fairs but more than the 50-ish compliment of last year's comeback event.

A major change for this year's event will be the advent of a booth from an area winery which will offer samples and sell bottles of wine from city-owned property downtown. That changes required recent legal changes accommodated by the City of Garnett after statewide amendments to cereal malt beverage laws affecting grocery stores and convenience stores in recent years.

The downtown event starts with breakfast at the Garnett

Fire Station sponsored by the Garnett Fire Department Ladies Auxiliary beginning at 7 a.m. There will also be a quilt show by Pieces & Patches Quilt Guild at the Garnett Senior Center from 10 a.m.-3 p.m.

The historical society at Maple and 6th Avenue will be open from 10 a.m.-4 p.m. Square Fair will offer vendor booths with retail shopping, food vendors and live entertainment throughout the day.

The Garnett Air Fair at the Garnett Municipal Airport will run from 8 a.m.-1 p.m. The fly-in event will

BY DANE HICKS THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW

GARNETT — An 18 year-old Garnett man was seriously injured and a Newton driver was killed in a crash on U.S. Highway 59 Thursday about a mile and a half south of Princeton.

A Kansas Highway Patrol report said 31 year-old Bryce Crump of Newton was killed when his southbound 2010 Toyota Tacoma pickup was struck head-on by a northbound vehicle that crossed the center line about 4:43 a.m. Thursday morning.

The report said the northbound vehicle, a 2012 Mazda CX9, was driven by Weston Johnson, 18 of Garnett. He was

Sides will square off over "land bank" plan
from ecodevo group

BY DANE HICKS THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW

GARNETT — City leaders will debate an ordinance in May that if approved will make it easier for Garnett to acquire derelict properties and set about reclaiming them for development.

But the "land bank" concept is opposed by the mayor and others who believe the government should stay out of private property development.

Former city manager Chris Weiner first proposed the city form a land bank to handle the acquisition of problem properties in the city which are often tax delinquent and in dilapidated condition. The system allows local governments to either purchase, foreclose or be gifted derelict properties which often owe back taxes, and to hold those properties tax-free as well as exempt back taxes to make them more attractive to a private developer.

Land banks are widely used in economically depressed inner cities as well as small towns, where those properties fail to attract investment initiative and capital due to the tax and other liabilities they carry.

Formation of a land bank was part of the Anderson County Development Agency's (ACDA) strategic plan for 2020, and has been discussed publicly a number of times. Land banks are sometimes controversial because local land bank authorities can expunge back taxes owed to other taxing authorities under whose jurisdictions they fall.

Mayor Greg Gwin has spoken against the land bank concept on numerous occasions, saying city funding shouldn't be used to purchase private property without a defined purpose in mind and that private industry, not government, should lead the way in property development. Gwin argued those points again at last week's meeting in a series of sometimes testy exchanges.

"How much in tax payers dollars are you willing to commit to this," Gwin asked his fellow commissioners rhetorically, pointing to the possible need to outright purchase some properties. Commissioner Jason Sheahan responded he'd like to see some $15,000 earmarked for land bank financing, if it was needed.

Members of ACDA say a Land Bank would help put derelict properties in the city back in the hands of intended investors by putting them in temporary ownership of the city. Opponents say it's government overreach.

City hikes electric rates; gas rates to follow to shore up utility funds

GARNETT — City commissioners approved a uniform rate increase in the base charge for all Garnett electricity customers last week and prepared for a gas service increase as well, hoping to shore up funds in city utility accounts after years of negative budgeting that saw their surpluses paying for other areas of the city budget as a means to keep property taxes low.

Commissioners approved a $3 increase from $6 to $9 per month in the basic customer charge for electricity, avoiding a rate increase on actual usage. The customer base increase was expected to generate $150,000 in the remainder of 2022 with an effective date of June 1.

City manager Travis

Wilson recommended an annual assessment of electric rates during the city's summer budgeting period as a means of monitoring the fund and assessing its performance. The topic brought questions from commissioner Jason Sheahan, who questioned whether the city would be better off to couple the service increase with a broader electric department rate hike once city officials knew what the cost of a recently discussed replacement and upgrade of generator units in the city power plant would cost. Wilson said his rate proposal was targeted at the fund balance itself and didn't include decisions about the generators which commissioners have yet to confirm.

Votes fail on women's sports, parents rights vetoes

BY PATRICK RICHARDSON THE SENTINEL

TOPEKA — The Kansas House of Representatives failed on April 28, 2022, to override Governor Laura Kelly's veto of two civil rights bills — despite the Kansas Senate voting to override.

The House voted 72-50 to override Kelly's Veto of Senate Bill 58, the Parents Bill of Rights, which states that all parents have a right to direct their child's upbringing, education, care, and mental health. Twelve Republicans joined 38 Democrats in voting to sustain Kelly's veto. The bill enumerated 12 rights reserved by the state for parents regarding their children. Such enumerated rights would have included, but would not have been limited to, the right to direct the education and care of the parent's child and the right to direct the upbringing and moral or religious training of the parents' child. However, the House fell short of the 84 votes needed to override.

The Senate had already voted to override 27-12, with

One of about 4,600 built in Wichita during the war by Cessna, the plane was used by the US Army Air Corps as an advanced multi-engine trainer to school pilots in the operation of larger transport and bomber aircraft.

Powered by twin Jacobs 245 hp rotary engines, with a metal fuselage, spruce wood wings and covered in fabric, the aircraft earned the name the "Bamboo Bomber."

Since the CAW is tax-exempt, fees for rides in the Bobcat will be tax-deductible under state and federal tax law.

May is Motorcycle Safety Awareness Month

The Kansas Traffic Safety Resource Office reminds vehicle drivers and motorists that safe driving and riding practices and cooperation from everyone will help reduce the number of fatalities and injuries on our roads.

Tips for Motorists

- Observe all traffic laws, yielding to motorcyclists, especially while turning at intersections.

- Though a motorcycle is a small vehicle, its operator still has the same rights of the road as any other motorist. Allow the motorcycle the full width of a lane at all times.

- Always use a turn signal when changing lanes or merging with traffic.

- Check all mirrors and blind spots for motorcycles before changing lanes or merging with traffic.

- Always allow more follow distance — beyond three to four seconds — when behind a motorcycle. This gives them more time to maneuver or stop in an emergency.

- Allow a motorcyclist a full lane width. Though it may seem as if there is enough room in a single lane for a motor vehicle and a motorcycle, looks can be deceiving. Share the road, but not the lane: A motorcyclist needs room to maneuver safely.

- Because motorcycles are smaller than most vehicles, they can be difficult to see. Their size can also cause other drivers to misjudge their speed and distance.

Tips for Motorcyclists

- Never ride while impaired or distracted — it is not worth the risk of killing or injuring yourself or someone else. Plus, a DUI costs $10,000 on average, and can lead to jail time, loss of your operator's license, and higher insurance rates.

- Always complete rider education courses and ride with a current motorcycle license. In 2020, 36% of motorcycle riders involved in fatal crashes were riding without valid motorcycle licenses.

- Thirty-four percent of all motorcycle riders involved in fatal crashes in 2020 were speeding, compared to 22% for passenger car drivers, 16% for light-truck drivers, and 7% for large-truck drivers. Motorcycle riders 25 to 29 years old involved in fatal crashes had the highest speeding involvement at 45%.

- Wear a DOT-compliant helmet with a "FMVSS No. 218 Certified" label and other personal protective gear. NHTSA estimates that helmets saved the lives of 1,872 motorcyclists in 2017. An additional 749 lives could have been saved if all motorcyclists had worn their helmets.

The earthly life of Jesus

WEEKLY DEVOTIONAL

BY DAVID BILDERBACK

Certainly Easter is about the resurrection but also it is about the thirty three years Jesus lived on this earth. In Romans 4:25 Paul describes the crucifixion and the life Jesus lived on earth as follows: "He (Jesus) was delivered over to death for our sins and was raised to life for our justification." Most people are familiar with the death, burial and resurrection and accession to the Father. What lies in front of this event, his life here on earth, is equally important. If all Jesus had to do to save us was die for our sins he could have come to earth on Friday been resurrected on Sunday went back to heaven and his mission would have been completed. 2 Corinthians 5:21 explains the first half of Jesus' Mission. God made him who had no sin to be sin for us, so that in him we might become the righteousness of God."

The 33 years Jesus lived here on earth were spent fulfilling the law. The law requires perfection. The Apostle Paul considered himself to be without peer with regards to keeping the law, referring to himself as a Pharisee of Pharisees. However in Philippians 3:9 Paul says, "And be found in him, (Jesus) not having a righteousness of my own, that comes from the law but that which is through faith in Christ -- the righteousness that comes from God and is by faith."

Jesus kept the commandments to the letter during his earthly life. That is the only way Jesus could obtain the righteousness we require to be acceptable to God. Jesus' entire life was spent living the life you and I could never attain. The righteous life we could never achieve, Jesus achieved through his keeping the law, he transferred or imputed to us from the cross. When God turned away from Jesus, he forsake him, there was a transaction exchanged. Christ took our sins and transferred to us his righteousness, that righteousness he had protected for us so perfectly during his life on earth. "God made him who had no sin to be sin for us, so that in him we might become the righteousness of God." To be acceptable to God we had to be both sinless and righteous.

KASB was more for special ed, but schools hold $200 mill in unspent cash

The Kansas Board of Education says the Legislature should increase funding for special education by $155 million for FY 2023 because it is not at a statutory level. But KBOE and school districts forget to mention that they have a little over $200 million of unspent funding left over from prior years.

But that isn't the only issue with the request for more money. The alleged shortfall is based on a back-of-the-envelope estimate of special education spending that is not audited, and Kansas schools have a nasty habit of not spending money according to state law.

School districts collectively began this school year with $201.5 million in the Special Education Fund, and $5.4 million in the Co-Op Special Education fund. Funds operate on a cash basis, just like a checkbook, so the ending balance represents special education funding received in prior years that wasn't spent. School districts also had $783 million left over in other operating funds, and most of that also represents state and local aid received but not spent.

At-Risk audit: money not spent as required by law. The statutory language regarding state aid for special education says the state will cover 92% of 'excess' costs, less federal aid for special ed. The formula presumes that every dollar spent on special education is properly recorded, but there is good reason to question the validity of school districts' accounting.

A 2019 audit of At-Risk funding concluded that most of the spending they examined "was used for teachers and programs for all students and did not appear to specifically address at-risk students as required by state law." After a scathing editorial by the Kansas City Star, State Board of Education President Kathy Busch wrote a response that essentially said, 'shut up, go away, we know what we're doing.'

That cavalier attitude is certainly not supported in student achievement. Even pre-pandemic results show that local school boards are perpetuating race-based and income-based educational discrimination, and the gaps for at-risk students are getting worse.

It takes considerable chutzpah for education officials with hundreds of millions in the bank and a bad track record on spending to make yet another demand for more money.

Legislators should conduct a special education audit on spending and all related calculations. And while they're at it, auditors should re-examine at-risk spending to see if schools are still violating state law.

I don't know the details about the old service station canopy at all, but I will say I had a similar incident one other time when a tree limb fell on a storage shed demolishing the shed. The insurance company wanted estimates, I played heck getting anybody to show up to get an estimate. The insurance company then took another 2-3 weeks to review and approve the low bid. The person who was going to do the work no-showed me twice, then it took another three weeks to get a new estimate reviewed and approved, then another two weeks for that contractor to come finish demolishing and hauling off the old shed. Some of this stuff doesn't happen over night. I wonder if any of these people complaining have ever contacted the owner to see if there's anything they can do to help?

Can the guy that is the sheep farmer in the old Hutton ranch at Welda not see the dead sheep laying in the pasture by the road? This is unsightly and unsanitary and he needs to do the decent thing and take care of this.

I see they're tearing down the old home that burned next to the city hall today. Seems like that would be a good place for a municipal parking lot. If the city hasn't purchased that yet maybe they should think about it. Thank you and have a good day.

Yes, I read in the Iola paper where the deputy was upset that the commissioners decided not to spend $160,000 in Covid money to pay certain county employees extra who had to work during the pandemic. I think this is probably the stupidest thing I've ever seen. The government decided to throw money at everybody and I do mean everybody over this pandemic because they made us shut all the businesses and so many of the jobs down. This idea that because you had to work during the pandemic that you should get extra money because you're a county employee or a city employee? We worked all through Covid at my job and nobody paid us more and we didn't expect anybody to pay us more. This is just an example of government printing so much money it can't even give it all away. And remember folks this isn't free money, this is borrowed money that you and me and our kids and grandkids are going to have to try to pay back.

City's newest commissioner shares observations

I've just passed my 100th day as a city commissioner in the City of Garnett and I thought it would be appropriate to share with local residents and others what I've learned from my initial time in office.

1. Everything is tied together, and each directly impacts one other more than I ever realized. Utility rates, property taxes, and sales tax. We could offer free trash service and eliminate city property taxes, but would either need to cut entire departments and services or increase electric and gas rates dramatically to offset the costs.
2. The city has a few (new to the city used) trucks. A significant percentage of the vehicles and equipment should have been replaced a while ago.
3. The citizens of Garnett pay a lot of property taxes that go to the county. Only a tiny portion of those dollars come back into Garnett. (Still trying to determine this exact number)
4. The general perception is we have some of the highest property taxes in the state. Out of 88 Class 2 cities, 35 cities have higher property taxes than Garnett.
5. Garnett has a 1/2 cent sales tax. Out of 88 Class 2 cities in Kansas, 7 have less than Garnett, 4 have the same rate. 75 cities have

JASON SHEAHAN, GARNETT COMMISSIONER

6. There are city employees who are underpaid who work hard and try to do their best with limited resources. Once departments have processes, procedures, and KPIs in place, I will advocate for significant raises and additional funding.
7. There are city employees who cause drama or choose to make excuses instead of finding solutions. Until they stop causing unhealthy conflict or pack their boxes, it will be tough to move forward.

8. Some residents have stopped vocalizing concerns and wanting to be part of the solution because they don't believe anything will change. They have seen a lack of effort or drama for too many years.

9. Instead of making minor repairs or having regular maintenance each year, we have allowed problems to grow. If Garnett was a house, it is the same as not doing any upkeep. Then, the roof, plumbing, carpet, driveway, yard, and basement must be fixed simultaneously.

10. Hard choices are coming very soon. We will need either to start eliminating entire departments or increasing rates or a combination of both.

11. I am excited because of the opportunities, and I am prepared to help make the tough choices, whether it is cuts, increases or elimination of positions that do not add value to the team or work well with others.

Closing thoughts: The American motivational writer William Arthur Ward said: "The Pessimist complains about the Wind; The Optimist expects it is going to change; The Realist adjusts the sails."

Disney made its bed, now it has to lay in it

Just like that, tyranny has descended on Florida.

The state legislature, with the support of Gov. Ron DeSantis, voted to repeal the "special independent district" enjoyed by Disney for half a century.

This is a sign, we are told, of the advent of an American authoritarianism that brooks no dissent -- Disney criticizes a measure supported by the Florida GOP, the so-called Don't Say Gay bill, and immediately gets targeted.

There's a reason this fight escalated to this point, though. Disney was the aggressor in the battle over the education bill, lied about it, and pledged to work to repeal it.

Even though the bill had nothing to do with Disney whatsoever -- nothing to do with its product, its business model, or its employees. The company got pushed into its stance based on pressure from a woke segment of its employees and from progressives on the outside.

Disney's case against the bill relied on the smear that the legislation somehow threatened gay or trans people. In fact, the law merely seeks to exclude inappropriate material from being taught to young children in the classroom -- an objective that once would have been considered utterly banal.

"Classroom instruction," the law says, "by school personnel or third parties on sexual orientation or gender identity may not occur in kindergarten through grade 3 or in a manner that is not age appropriate or developmentally appropriate for students in accordance with state standards."

RICH LOWRY, King Features Syndicate

Based on that, Disney went to the mattresses. And it did so, not to serve its shareholders, enhance its profitability, protect its intellectual property, or align itself with its vast and politically diverse customer base.

This was, shockingly, an iconic American brand making itself into a free-floating weapon of woke cultural politics in response to the social and political influence of a small number of vocal progressives.

Like so many companies before, Disney calculated the risk/reward of gratuitously taking up a left-wing political and cultural fight and considered it all reward, no risk. The Florida legislature decided to convince it that it was wrong.

Republicans have fantasized about exacting revenge on woke corporations before, but to no effect. Disney's problem is that it had a glaring vulnerability in the form of an arrangement that can easily be portrayed as a special favor.

The provisions allowing Disney to govern itself in its special independent district are so extensive that one analyst refers to the so-called Reedy Creek Improvement District as "the Vatican with mouse ears."

"Never before or since has such outlandish dominion been given to a private corporation." Florida writer Carl Hiaasen notes in his book "Team Rodent." "Disney owns its own utilities. It administers its own planning and zoning. It composes its own building codes and employs its own inspectors. It maintains its own fire department. It even has the authority to levy taxes."

For good measure, it can build its own airport and nuclear power plant. Now, that's all scheduled to go away in a year's time. Obviously, it is not a good practice for government to retaliate against a business, even a business enjoying a special status.

This fight could have welcome effects, though, if it convinces Disney that it made a mistake by allowing itself to get bullied and cajoled into becoming a combatant in the culture war, or if it convinces other corporations that there's a potential price to be paid for joining woke mobs.

Republicans don't want corporations to become tools in advancing their agenda; they just want them to exit the culture wars and focus, once again, on their business, an one Republican joining 11 Democrats to sustain the veto of a parent's basic civil rights to protect their child.

Kelly stated the bill was pure politics in her veto statement.

"This bill ... is about politics, not parents," she said. "Over one hundred Kansas parents testified against this bill. It would create more division in our schools and would be costly. Money that should be spent in the classroom would end up being spent in the courtroom."

While she cited the parents who testified against the bill, Kelly ignored the parents who testified in support of the Parents Bill of Rights. Further, a statewide survey shows that 57% of parents are concerned about what their children are being taught, and a whopping 88% agreed that parents should have the primary say in their child's education.

The groups most strongly opposed to the Parents Bill of Rights and its transparency elements were the Kansas National Education Association and the Kansas Association of School Boards.

Veto of bill protecting female athlete's rights sustained

The Kansas House also failed to override Kelly's veto of Senate Bill 160, which would have prevented biologically male athletes from competing in girls' sports.

The House originally voted 81-41 to pass the bill and came up three votes shy of the 84 needed to override the veto. Three Republicans joined 37 Democrats to sustain Kelly's veto.

The Senate had already voted 28-10 to override.

In a release, Kelly stated, "Both Republican and Democratic Governors have joined me in vetoing similar divisive bills for the same reasons: it's harmful to students and their families, and it's bad for business." Kelly added that while "we all" want student-athletes to have a "fair and safe place" to compete, this bill "didn't come from the experts at our schools, our athletes, or the Kansas State High School Activities Association. It came from politicians trying to score political points."

In reality, however, legislators who proposed and voted to prevent biological males from competing with females did so on behalf of parents and other voters who strongly believe in protecting the rights of females to compete fairly. It is not a matter for so-called school experts to decide what is correct, as Kelly implies; it is a matter of personal opinion and belief. Indeed, her statement can be attributed to a politician trying to score political points with her supporters.

KSNT reports that during the Senate debate, Minority Leader Dinah Sykes (D-Lenexa) stated everyone's body is "different" and claimed there was no evidence that the average transgender girl is "bigger, stronger, or faster" than a biological woman.

However, in January of last year, NBC News reported on a British study that found that even after a year of hormone replacement -- which most transgender minors are not receiving -- transgender athletes retain their advantages over biologically female athletes.

Moreover, a comparison between 2016 male finalists for the New Balance Nationals Outdoor Championship -- an elite track and field tournament for the best Jr. high and high school competitors in the country -- and the 2016 women's Olympic track and field finalists found that, in many cases, the women's gold medalists would not have even qualified to enter the boys' competition.

Bills such as SB 160 gained momentum this year after transgender swimmer Lia Thomas -- who was ranked No. 462 as a man in 2019 -- bounced to No. 1 in the women's ranks in 2022.

Bulldogs sweep Prairie View

GARNETT – Last Tuesday, the Anderson County Bulldogs made easy work of a double-header sweep of Prairie View outscoring them 29-2 over the two games.

In the opener, AC won 14-2. The Bulldogs scored their 14 runs on just 9 hits, thanks to 6 walks issued by Prairie View and they also hit another 5 Bulldog batters.

Dalton Kellerman led the way picking up one hit in his only official at bat, walked once and was hit by a PV pitch twice. Kellerman drove in 3 runs and scored twice.

Garrison Martin and Braxton Spencer each chipped in with a pair of runs batted in as well in the contest.

Martin also started the game on the mound, pitching all 5 innings, allowing just 2 hits, 2 earned runs while striking out 7.

In the back end of the doubleheader, it was a game dominated by Dallas Kueser as the Bulldogs cruised 15-0 in just 3 innings

AC erupted for 9 runs in the first inning and scored 3 in each of the second and third innings to end the game early due to the 15-run mercy rule.

Kueser picked up 4 hits in 4 at bats and drove in 6 runs in the game.

Kueser was also the starting pitcher as he went all 3 innings, allowed just one hit and struck out two in the shutout victory.

Bulldogs win in dramatic fashion, winning streak now at 14 straight

GARNETT – Last Thursday, Louisburg came to Garnett and gave the Anderson County Bulldogs all they could handle, but AC would prevail in both games of the doubleheader to make it 14 straight victories since the season opening loss.

In game 1, Anderson County held on for a 7-4 win.

Braden Blaufuss provided the spark offensively. Blaufuss only picked up one hit, a double, but drove in 3 runs and scored twice.

Derek Rockers was the only player with multiple hits, picking up 3 hits in 4 at bats and driving in one run.

Rockers would also pitch a complete game for the win. He pitched 7 innings, allowed 7 hits, 4 runs, 3 earned runs and struck out 11 Louisburg hitters.

In the second game, Anderson County appeared to be cruising towards another win with a 3-0 lead after 3 innings.

Louisburg would score twice in the fourth to cut the deficit to 3-2 before the Bulldogs answered in the bottom half with a run to take a 4-2 lead into the fifth.

Louisburg would get the bats going again in the fifth, scoring 3 runs to take a 5-4 lead over Anderson County.

The Bulldogs answered with one run in the bottom of the fifth inning to tie the game at 5.

After a scoreless sixth and top half of the seventh, the Bulldogs picked up a walk-off win with a run in the bottom of the seventh.

Preston Kueser started the game for Anderson County. Kueser allowed 8 hits and 4 runs in 4 innings before Dalton Kellerman came on in relief and pitched the final 3 innings and allowing 4 hits but just one run to pick up the victory.

MOUND CITY - Seven personal records and two more season best performances fueled the team to a very successful day in both the field events and on the track. While the usual standouts worked on some changing strategies and tried some new events, there were some fantastic highlights all around. Connor Burkdoll (800, 1600) and Christian McCord (400, 800) both set multiple personal records while the top billing would have to go to those two along with Cody Hammond with the 1-2-3 sweep of the 800m.

"All three are freshmen still finding their way in a sport that can, at times, be very unforgiving. While it was a little cool and breezy, I was quite pleased with the effort from all of our runners, jumpers and throwers," Coach Troy Prosser stated.

Vikings sweep Chase County

COTTONWOOD FALLS – The Central Heights Vikings improved to 8-5 with a double-header sweep of Chase County on the road last Tuesday.

In the opener, the Vikings won 15-4.

The Vikings were in control leading 8-0 after 5 ½ innings before Chase County finally scored 2 runs in the bottom of the fifth and sixth before the Vikings answered with 6 in the top half of the seventh to put the game out of reach.

Connor Peel picked up 3 hits in 5 at bats, scored 3 runs and drove in one run to lead the Vikings.

Luke Burkdoll, Carter Kimball and Ethan Rowan all had 2-hit games. Burkdoll led the team with 4 runs driven in and also scored twice, with one of them coming on a home run.

Crest rolls past Oswego

OSWEGO – Crest baseball traveled to Oswego last Monday, April 25 and made easy work of the host team rolling to a sweep.

The Crest Lancers won the opener 21-1. Crest scored 4 in the first, 6 runs in the second, one in the third and then 10 in the fourth inning to blow the game open.

The big bat in game one belonged to Holden Barker. Barker hit a home run and a triple in his only two official at bats, driving in 4 runs and scoring 3 times.

Stetson Setter chipped in with 3 hits in 3 at bats, scored 3 times and drove in a pair of runs.

Setter also started the game on the mound pitching the first two innings, did not allow a hit and struck out 6.

Jack White finished the game off pitching the final two innings, allowing 2 hits and one unearned run while striking out 3.

In the late game, it was much of the same. Crest scored 9 runs in the first and 8 more in the second en route to a 19-4 win in just 3 innings.

Trevor Church hit two triples in the game, picking up 3 hits in the process, drove in 2 runs and also scored 3 times.

Ryan Golden, Holden Barker, White and Kaden Nilges all tallied two hits in the game.

Tucker Yocham picked up the win on the mound pitching 2 innings, allowing 3 hits and one earned run.

Rogan Weir pitched the third inning, didn't give up a hit but did walk two batters and strike out another.

Lancers dominate in doubleheader sweep of Yates Center - remain undefeated

YATES CENTER –The Lancers 15th and 16th straight wins to open the season came in dominating fashion as they downed Yates Center on the road last Thursday by a combined score of 37-0.

Crest won the first game 18-0. The Lancers picked up just 8 hits but were helped out by 6 Yates Center errors and their pitchers walked 8 batters and hit another two Lancer batters with a pitch.

Rogan Weir was the only Lancer with multiple hits. Weir picked up 2 hits in 2 at bats, scored 3 runs and drove in a pair.

Trevor Church was dominant on the mound allowing just 1 hit in 5 innings, struck out 11 and didn't walk a batter.

In the second game, it was a different kind of start but the result was nearly identical as Crest won 19-0.

Yates Center and Crest were in a dogfight after 3 innings as the Lancers were clinging to a 1-0 lead.

The game was blown wide open with an 18-run top of the fourth inning.

It was the same script as the first game. Crest scored their 19 runs on just 11 hits but were helped out by 5 more Yates Center errors and 9 more walks and a staggering 8 Lancers were also hit by a pitch.

Ryan Golden paced the Lancers with 3 hits in 4 at bats, drove in 4 runs and scored once as well.

Jack White and Rogan Weir helped out as they both had 2 hits, 2 runs scored and 2 runs batted in.

Stetson Setter pitched all 4 innings to earn the victory. Setter allowed just one hit, didn't allow a walk and struck out 9 batters.

Vikings continue to improve as season progresses

LACYGNE - The Prairie View Invitational was our second meet in four days, but even on short rest the team was able to pull out 11 more personal and season bests.

"Addey and Ava had a great day in the throws, Cody is now jumping four feet further than last year in Long Jump, Taryn and Tony keep pushing their limits in the hurdles, and our mid/distance group of Lily, Connor, Cody and Christian have been pulling off some very difficult doubles in events all season long," Prosser stated.

Prosser added, "With a little extra recovery time ahead of us the next two weeks, it will be nice to have some chances to get healthier and work on several of the finer details before the championship meets start. All in all, it was another great day to be a Viking!"

recently moved into the 9th District after the completion of legislative redistricting following 2020 census results.

Thompson did not respond to an email from the Review inquiring as to the reason for his change in votes. Both measures received majority support in the House on the second attempt but fell short of the 2/3 majority necessary to override Kelly's veto.

Anderson County's former representative, Mark Samsel, whose 5th District is now shifted north to include parts of Douglas and Miami Counties, voted on both the original and veto override measures of both bills, in the minority against other Republicans who sought their passage. Samsel also voted twice against a women's sports protection bill last year when it was first considered by legislators. Both measures were passed by veto proof majorities by the Kansas Senate.

Samsel announced last week he would seek re-election in 2022, after speculation he might bow out of the new district contest after he was sentenced to probation and stipulations after a high-profile assault incident against a Wellsville High School student last year when Samsel was substitute teaching there.

The Protection of Women's Sports bill would have prevented men who claim transgender identity as women from competing in Kansas women's sports at the high school and college level, due to what proponents say is an unfair advantage due to their genetic physical makeup. This issue has been hotly contested on the national scene as transgender politics has gained ground in women's sports and elsewhere at local school districts and state capitals across the country.

The Parents Bill of Rights legislation would have expanded parents' ability to challenge books, educational materials, curriculum and training materials in Kansas classrooms and provided more opportunity to have questionable materials removed. The bill was opposed by teachers organizations. Kelly called the measure a "teachers' demoralization act" in comments on the bill's initial passage. Support for such legislation has gained steam across the country as well after an awakening of parents to some of the materials being taught in their schools regarding transgender, sex ed and race topics after the shutdowns and online schooling of the pandemic saw more parents directly witnessing questionable instruction.

Feuerborn said the ability to convey such properties more quickly could be the difference in some local developments moving forward or remaining stagnant, noting many abandoned properties were already costing the city funding to mow, police and attempt to track down owners.

Library's May book discussion

Garnett Public Library's book discussion for May will be held on the 25th at 7pm. Our book, an international best seller, is titled, "The Little Old Lady Who Broke All the Rules," by Catharina Ingelman-Sundberg.

"Martha Andersson may be seventy-nine-years-old and live in a retirement home, but that doesn't mean she's ready to stop enjoying life. So when the new management of Diamond House starts cutting corners to save money, Martha and her four closest friends—Brains, The Rake, Christina and Anna-Greta (a.k.a. The League of Pensioners)—won't stand for it. Fed up with early bedtimes and overcooked veggies, this group of feisty seniors sets about to regain their independence, improve their lot, and stand up for seniors everywhere. Their solution? White collar crime. What begins as a relatively straightforward robbery of a nearby luxury hotel quickly escalates into an unsolvable heist at the National Museum.

With police baffled and the Mafia hot on their trail, the League of Pensioners has to stay one walker's length ahead if it's going to succeed." Ingelman-Sundberg, C. (2016). The Little Old Lady Who Broke All the Rules. United States: HarperCollins Publishers.

Discussion will be held May 25th at 7pm. The books are available for checkout at the library. Please join us and connect through books!

Above - Greeley Elementary hosted Family Fun Night, Raffle, and Book Sale on Monday night, April 25th. The goal of the fundraiser was to promote parents, grandparents, and their children having fun together, while also raising money for the school's PTO. Bowling, bean bag toss, and 9 square were a few of the games enjoyed by everyone. A raffle drawing, concession stand, and Scholastic Book Fair were also part of the evening's events.

On right: A Scholastic Book Fair was organized by fifth/sixth grade teacher, Jayme Secrest (right), and third/fourth grade teacher, Annie Wiesner (left).

Best time to book Memorial Day travel

WICHITA - With the unofficial start to summer just a few weeks away, AAA wants travelers to know if they're planning a Memorial Day getaway, start now if you haven't already. AAA Travel booking data shows that reservations for flights, rental cars, cruises and hotels for Memorial Day are up 122% over last year.

Airfares - Best (and Worst) Time to Book for Memorial Day Recent AAA booking data shows the best time to purchase airfare is about two weeks before Memorial Day with travelers paying an average of $445 per ticket. Those who like a longer planning window will pay slightly more since flights reserved 28 - 60 days ahead of the holiday are coming in at an Airplane Flyingaverage of $470 each. Sunday offers the lowest airfare followed by Friday (an average price of $543 and $596, respectively).

AAA advises that travelers looking for a last-minute deal by waiting to book the week of Memorial Day will end up paying almost double - an average of $845 per flight. AAA also wants travelers to know that in the past, the cheapest day to fly for Memorial Day weekend has consistently been Saturday. This year, however, it is the most expensive day to fly. As expected, Friday is the most popular air travel day and Memorial Day is the lightest.

When looking at the average costs of airfare for each day over Memorial Day weekend (Friday, Saturday, Sunday and Monday) for 2022 compared to 2021, flights are skewing about $160 more this year.

Think Like an Early Bird Travelers who want to get away for Memorial Day should start planning now, if they have not already done so. To maximize time, savings and alleviate stress, AAA recommends working with a trusted travel advisor. These industry experts have many resources at their disposal to help plan and organize a trip that fits a traveler's specific needs and budget. They can easily look at a variety of options and scenarios to find deals and savings not always available to the public. AAA also offers travelers the following advice:

Flexibility is key - Where and when you travel - fly on off-peak times/days, pick a hidden gem closer to home or opt to stay at an all-inclusive resort with plenty of on-site activities. This limits the need for a rental car and paying a la carte for entertainment and dining.

Book early - Flights, hotels, tours, cruises, car rentals - the earlier the better to lock in the best rate and make sure to ask about discounts for pre-paying. Something else a travel agent can help navigate.

Travel with your bubble - Small group travel rose in popularity during the pandemic when many opted to vacation with people they were in close contact with. Consider taking a group trip to divvy up costs for things like activities and accommodations. If everyone is spread out, a travel agent can help manage the logistics.

Protect your investment - The first step to planning your trip is to purchase travel insurance. This provides a safety net should something unexpected happen ahead of or during your trip. This is another example of where a travel agent is useful. They know you, your trip, your budget and your specific needs and can easily walk you through what travel insurance policy makes the most sense.

Top Destinations Include Big Cities and Beaches

Travelers are targeting big cities and beaches for their Memorial Day getaways this year. These are the top 10 domestic destinations according to AAA bookings for flights, tours, car rentals and hotels:

- Orlando, FL
- Seattle, WA
- Miami, FL
- Las Vegas, NV
- Anchorage, AK
- Honolulu, HI
- Boston, MA
- Anaheim, CA
- New York, NY
- San Francisco, CA

Gillett- Rockers wed in California

THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW 5-3-2022 / SUBMITTED

Kelly-James Harris Gillett and Weston Bardon Rockers were married October 15, 2021. After two postponements and a fifteen month delay due to the Covid pandemic, they exchanged vows at Temecula Creek Inn, Temecula, California with Richard Gillespie, friend of the groom, officiating.

The bride is the daughter of James and Chris Gillett of Sarasota, Florida. The groom is the son of Mike and Nancy Rockers of Greeley, Kansas.

Kelly wore a white, long sleeved, Mikado gown with a chapel length train. She carried white, ivory and blush pink roses which reflected the flower arrangements for the wedding. After the ceremony, Kelly changed into a white, light weight, long sleeve lace gown for dancing. Kelly's bridesmaids wore navy floor length gowns. Her maid of honor was Julianne Nunez, a friend from California. Bridesmaids were Kristen Parker and Margot Taylor, friends from California; Corinne Gillett, sister-in-law of the bride, Sarasota, Florida; Paige Rockers, cousin of the groom, Overland Park, Kansas and Bailey Rockers, cousin of the groom, Leawood, Kansas.

Weston wore a navy blue suit and gray suits were worn by his groomsmen. The best man was Weston's brother, Sennett Rockers, Baltimore, Maryland. Groomsmen were Tyler Rockers, cousin of the groom, Lawrence, Kansas and friends of the groom Brad Alexander, San Francisco; Tim Byus, Los Angeles; Blake Chipman, Denver and Travis Short, London.

A garden dinner reception and evening dance followed the wedding ceremony. Toasts of good wishes were made by the father of the bride, James Gillett, and the groom's brother, Sennett.

Kelly graduated from Locust Valley HS on Long Island in Bayville, New York and the University of Hawaii, Manoa in 2011 with a business administration degree. She received her MBA in 2018 from the University of California, Davis and is currently employed by The Wine Group as a brand manager.

Weston graduated from Anderson County HS, Garnett, Kansas in 2002 and the University of Kansas in 2006 with a degree in business administration. He received an MBA from Pepperdine University in 2009 and a Law degree from Pepperdine Law in 2010. Weston is a partner with the law firm Polsinelli LLC in San Francisco specializing in commercial real estate transactions.

The couple cruised to Cabo San Lucas after the wedding. Currently, they are making their home in San Francisco in the Twin Peaks area of the city.

Colony Christian Church - "New Life"

Brant McGhee gave the Communion Meditation this past Sunday. Easter is over, but in the Easter story, there are twists and turns, feelings of happiness and sadness. What you think of as the ending, is just the beginning. And even the disciples didn't understand after Jesus told them exactly what would happen. Jesus did exactly what he would do. We know what happened and what he went thru. Why treat Easter as just another holiday? Every day, week, month, we need to keep the Easter story in our minds and hearts. Don't make his sacrifice celebrated only once a year.

Pastor Chase Riebel gave the sermon "New Life" over 1 Peter 1:1-6. Peter is 100% for Jesus, but sometimes his decisions aren't quite right. He knows what direction he wants to go, he just has a hard time figuring out how to go in that direction. He lets his emotions control his actions many times. When Jesus is arrested, there is nothing he can do. And after he denies knowing Jesus three times and the rooster crows, he weeps bitterly. This bitter weeping is a God given physical reaction to relieve emotional pressure. Weeping doesn't mean that you're weak. David wept. Even Jesus wept. Sometimes this weeping can help clear your head and get you ready for what is to come next. After Jesus' death, Peter wrote to other followers that were being persecuted, to encourage them. If you believe and follow Jesus, you almost assuredly will face difficult things in life, but remember, God is with you! God has given you a new, true, full life through his Son, Jesus. And the life he gives is filled with an unconquerable, unquenchable hope. The Jewish believers understood new life in 3 parts: Live with great expectation in the hope Jesus gives, we inherit the Kingdom God has created for us, and our future salvation on the Last Day. All praise to God! (Ref: 1 Peter 1:1-6; Mark 14:29-31; Matthew 6:19-21, 25:34 & 26:40; John 11:35 & 18:10; Luke 12:32 & 22:49-50; 1 Samuel 30:4;) Hear this and all our sermons by using your favorite podcast app, on our Facebook page, or on our website at www.colony-christianchurch.org.

"This increase is to address the fact that we're not going to have enough money to operate on in 2023," Wilson said.

Commissioners stopped short of adopting an increase to the city's gas rates after reviewing the mechanics of the rate and surcharge structure. Wilson proposed an increase from $8 per unit of gas to $10, but said the surcharge needed to be adjusted prior to a change in the rate. Commissioners tabled action on the gas rate increase until a following meeting.

In other business at the meeting:

- commissioners heard from Paula Scott, head of Growing

Garnett Heart & Soul, who reported survey data of local high school students showed the majority of students said they'd never been asked by an adult for their input on the future of the city; 74 percent also said they most likely would not live in Garnett after high school;

- economic development director Julie Turnipseed reviewed a number of new businesses that had recently opened in the area;

- commissioners approved a $6,750 grant to the Lake Garnett Grand Prix Revival organization from the tourism-targeted Transient Guest Tax Fund;

- commissioners welcomed newly-hired city clerk Trish Brewer.
