Highest gas prices ever

Not since 9/11 have local gas prices broken $4 gallon, but plenty of gas to go around

BY DANE HICKS THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW

GARNETT - With the exception of a few hours on September 11, 2001, the price of gasoline hit the highest level in Anderson County last week ever in the history of refined petroleum products as drivers prepare for 2022 Memorial Day weekend travel.

It's distressing news for a large chunk of the local work force which commutes to and from work each day. Local gas prices hit $4.09 by Thursday at some stations in Garnett, eclipsed historically only by the frantic few hours following the terrorist attacks on the United States the afternoon of 9/11 when prices hit $5 at some stations locally. The last time prices neared this level was during the recession of 2008. U.S. Census Bureau data from the 2020 census shows some 45.5 percent of Anderson County's estimated over 16-aged workforce of 3,293 - some 1,500 workers - leave the county each day for work, with a median commute time of 26 minutes. The data showed 21 percent of county commuters travel 45 minutes or more one way. By far most of those commuters - 74 percent according to the census data - make their work trip alone, meaning they bear the full brunt of their fuel costs themselves without splitting costs with a carpool. Spiking prices are being felt across the local as well as national economy,

JP Morgan says gas may hit $6 per gallon by summer's end

Record prices could get worse, but some say drivers won't accept it

BY AMANDA BREEN ENTREPRENEUR.COM

NEW YORK CITY - It's been a rough stretch for Americans at the pump, with 28 U.S. states seeing record-high gas prices over the past couple of weeks alone, and, unfortunately, it looks like things are about to get worse. According to a research note from JPMorgan, analysts estimate that the national average gas price will likely reach $6 by the end of the summer. "With expectations of strong driving demand...U.S. retail price could surge another 37% by August," the report states, per CNN. The average national gas price rose by two pennies on Tuesday, per AAA, bringing the new record high to $4.52 per gallon. Of course, some areas of the country have seen much higher increases than

Locals protest Garnett library book they say shows child porn

Some of book's drawings are graphic; library review underway

BY DANE HICKS THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW

GARNETT - A local conservative media group will meet with Garnett Public Library officials in hopes of having a copy of a transgender memoir removed from library shelves over their concerns it depicts child pornography. Library director Andrea Sobba said last week she was planning a meeting with Wes Keller and Franklin Urqhart, who operate the local conservative organization Molon Labe Truth, after they filed a formal written challenge to "Gender Queer," a graphically illustrated comic book-style work by Maia Kobabe detailing her experience with her own gender issues as child, adolescent and adult. The Anderson County Review inspected a copy of Gender Queer, noting it was heavy with sexual content and some illustrations were deemed too graphic to be published with this article. According to an article in The New York Times, the title was the most often banned book from schools and libraries in 2021 after parent and community uproar across the country.

Keller and Urqhart, who both also work for the City of Garnett, maintain illustrations in the book depicting adolescent sexual experiences constitute child pornography. "We are fervently requesting that the library remove this pornographic book from your shelves and collection post-haste, as we discovered that Gender Queer is not only accessible to adults, but it is located on a shelf that any child could

Court: Local voters finally have a home

Kansas Supreme Court approves map, brings more controversy

BY DANE HICKS THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW

TOPEKA - The Kansas Supreme Court reversed a Wyandotte County District judge's decision last week and affirmed redrawn political maps for the state last week, settling for Anderson County where its voters land in upcoming elections.

The KSC overturned Judge Bill Klapper's decision regarding the new Kansas congressional district, after Klapper ruled the Republican majority in the Kansas Legislature - charged by the state constitution with reapportioning voting districts after every census - violated the rights of Wyandotte County voters by splitting them into two different congressional districts. The new map also moved Lawrence, formerly in the 2nd District, into the sprawling First District which runs all the way to southwest

Kansas. Republicans maintained populations had to be leveled between the state's four congressional districts due to large population gains in Johnson County, which along with Wyandotte and Miami counties comprised the old 3rd District where Sharice Davids, a Democrat, holds Kansas' sole Democrat congressional seat. As it moved part of Wyandotte County into the 2nd District, the new map moves Anderson and

DECEMBER 21, 1964 - MAY 9, 2022

Christopher Lee Katzer, 57, of Independence, Missouri, passed away on Monday, May 9, 2022. Memorial services will be held on Friday, June 3rd at St. Jude Catholic Church, with visitation from 10:00 - 11:00 a.m. and memorial at 11:00 a.m., followed by a luncheon, also at the church.

Christopher was born December 21, 1964, in Garnett, Kansas, the son of Jerome M. and Faye (Croan) Katzer.

Colony Christian Church - "Compassion: The Calling to Care"

Bruce Symes gave the Communion Meditation, remembering an article he had once read about a man who had raped and murdered a woman. The woman's dad hated the man, and then drank himself into a dark hole. Years later, in an AA meeting, in walks the murderer. After hearing his confession and regret, and now looking at the man thru spiritual eyes, he forgave him.

We are all pretty self-centered and self-serving, making life lessons hard and painful. Forgiveness is a common theme in the Bible. We need to look at forgiveness from Christ's perspective, and also look at what it can mean to us and for us when we accept His grace and extend forgiveness to others. Forgiveness is powerful! When we forgive, we are following God's command. By forgiving others, Christ will also forgive us. And forgiving others can relieve us of bitterness, anger and strife. And when Christ forgives, he tells us that our sins have been swept away; he remembers them no more.

Pastor Chase Riebel gave the sermon "Compassion: The Calling to Care". It is God's intention for us to care for and help people in need. God gives us compassion, and when fueled by the Holy Spirit, it will give you the desire, the courage, and the strength to help someone out. Focusing on why we should serve the poor and impoverished: It's the right thing to do. It fills out hearts with gratitude. It's a way of spreading God's Good News, God commands it, and It helps us to know God better. Serving others allows us to directly serve Jesus. The biggest obstacle you may face in serving others may very well be yourself. We are a nation of selfish, self-obsessed people. We need to fight this mindset. Self-focus can never produce happiness because it is a sin, and sin can only lead to death. But when we die to ourselves and care for the poor, we actually FIND ourselves. (Ref: Matthew 25:34-40; Luke 6:13, 9:23 & 18:16; 2 Corinthians 8:9 & 9:7; Psalm 145:9; John 13:35; James 1:27; Jeremiah 22:16; Isaiah 58:10) Hear this and all our sermons by using your favorite podcast app, on our Facebook page, or on our website at www.colony-christianchurch.org.

As summer approaches, be aware of tick-borne illnesses

With this warmer weather we've been having, many of us have been outdoors quite a bit lately. In turn, this puts us at risk of contracting vector-borne (insect) and zoonotic-borne (animal) diseases.

Recently the SEK Multi-County Health Department has seen and uptick (no pun intended) in tick-borne illnesses. The American Dog Tick, Lone Star Tick and Deer Tick are the most encountered ticks in Kansas. Ticks can transmit serious/potentially fatal diseases. Lyme Disease, Rocky Mountain Spotted Fever and the Bourbon Virus are common to our area. The Bourbon Virus was identified in Bourbon County, KS in 2014, where it got its namesake.

Remember DDAC for tick-bite prevention:
Dress: Wear long sleeves and long pants if out in tall grass or wooded areas. Tuck shirt into pants, and pants into long socks. Wear over-the-ankle shoes. Clothing should be light colored to make ticks more visible.

DEET-When outdoors, use insect repellent containing 20-30% DEET on exposed skin and clothing. Reapply per label instructions.

Avoid-Regular mowing will decrease tick encounters. Avoid wooded, brushy areas with tall grass and leaf litter.

Check-Check yourself for ticks every couple of hours while outdoors for an extended time. Check in and around hair, backs of ears, in belly button, under arms, between legs and backs of knees. The best method for removing ticks is to grasp it with tweezers as close to the skin as possible and pull up gently.

If you are feeling sick, have a fever or rash after potentially having a tick bite, call your doctor as soon as possible.

West Nile Virus (WNV) is the most common mosquito-borne disease in Kansas and the US. Symptoms of severe illness include high fever, headache, neck stiffness, stupor, disorientation, coma, tremors, convulsions, muscle weakness, vision loss, numbness and paralysis. People over 60 years of age are at greater risk. According to KDHE, our region is at moderate probability at this time of being bitten by a WNV carrying mosquito. For WNV prevention residents should wear mosquito repellent, where long sleeves and long pants as weather permits, use mosquito netting on baby carriages and playpens, and dump standing water twice weekly. Also, avoid outdoors when mosquitoes are most active.

Rabies is a viral disease that affects the nervous system. Rabies is typically spread by an infected animal biting another animal or a human. Raccoons account for most of the cases of rabies in wild animals, followed by skunks, bats, foxes and coyotes. If you are exposed to the saliva of these animals in the wild, through a bite or close encounter, you should call your doctor to be evaluated for rabies prophylaxis. Given on time, this treatment prevents the development of rabies if you are indeed exposed. If left untreated, once signs and symptoms appear, the disease is practically 100% deadly.

It is important to stay a safe distance from wildlife, but if you do happen to have an encounter with a wild animal, wash the area immediately with soap and water and consult with a healthcare provider as soon as possible.

Have an enjoyable summer, with lots of time spent outdoors, and remember to take precautions to prevent insect and animal-borne diseases.

Job a man of vision!

The book of Job reads like a novel. Satan struggles to prove that the reason Job is such a faithful servant to God is because God blesses Job for his faithfulness. The book centers around the following challenge Satan presents to God. "But strike out your hand (God) and strike everything he has and he will curse you to your face." What follows is Job's struggle to make some sense out of a situation that is far out of his control.

In Job 14 Job begins to talk about death and sees no hope for man. He says even when a tree is cut down there is hope for it to eventually begin to regrow because new growth can occur with the roots receive water, but with man there appears to be no such hope. Job then begins to ponder the deeper question. "If a man dies will he live again?" In the next several chapters Job is counseled by three men who are referred to as his comforters, who only lead him away from this question with charges of sin against Job being the reason Job is in this situation.

In chapter 9:32-35 Job reveals his fear of God when he says. "He is not a man like me that I might answer him that we might confront each other in court. If only there were someone to arbitrate between us, to lay his hand upon us both, someone to remove God's rod from me, so that his terror would frighten me no more. Then I would speak up without fear of him, but as it now stands with me, I cannot." How and why God chooses to distribute the blessings he gives is beyond man's ability to understand. Yet when God chooses to withhold blessings from us we quickly feel the weight of the situation Job was in. What Job could only wish for, a mediator between himself and God, we have. In 1 Timothy the Apostle Paul speaking to the early church says. "For there is one God and one mediator between God and men, the man Christ Jesus." We live on this side of the New Testament a benefit Job did not have. Jesus is the mediator of a New Covenant. The initiator of a new relationship of conscious peace with God, going beyond what was known under the Old Testament. Job was absolutely correct with his vision. He foresaw the need 1500 years prior to the birth of Christ.

Soros' money fails in dark media ploy

The Kansas Supreme Court has settled voting district maps in time for the upcoming elections just the way Republicans in the Kansas Legislature drew them, and George Soros is not happy about it.

You can tell it by the hair-on-fire, end-of-the-world wailing by Soros' dark money-funded media shills at The Kansas Reflector and other pouting Leftists in his national network of so-called media organizations, whose job since 2016 has been to blend in to the media landscape in multiple states, attack traditional American values and help turn you Left.

In a nutshell, the fops at the Reflector are beside themselves that Kansas voters support a Republican Legislature and appreciate the way it's protecting the state from the disasters we see in Democrat-run states. And they're probably a little concerned that failing in their mission might convince Soros and the other far-left money bags hidden by multiple generations of 501(c)(3)s to pull the plug and find more effective ways to spend their money.

But since Soros' big win with the defrocking of Donald Trump in 2020, Democrats and liberals have mucked things up so bad there's just no way to spin news stories to make Democrats look like they know what they're doing and paint big government, liberal initiatives good old-fashioned Socialism like they're all rainbows and butterflies. It's not just in Kansas but nationwide - sheer political incompetence and inability is leading Liberals to a shellacking in November the likes of which has only been matched by Wile E. Coyote staring at the headlight in the train tunnel.

Last week's confirmation by the Kansas Supreme Court of newly redrawn congressional district maps is just the latest in a string of losses for liberals in the media supporting the Joe Biden debacle. Kansas Liberals are terrified their Lone Ranger for the Biden Agenda - Sharice Davids in the 3rd District is the only Democrat in the Kansas congressional delegation - will get the boot in November after legislators moved part of Wyandotte County out of the district due to population growth in Johnson County.

There's no doubt that there are a million ways to divide population among districts. Did political influence enter into Republicans' decision? No doubt - just like parties in power everywhere have always done during redistricting. In the immortal words of Barack Obama back in 2009 to Republicans in Congress regarding his economic agenda (notably a precursor for the Biden disaster) - Obama quipped "elections have consequences." In other words: Tough luck buddy, I won. Get over it.

In the 3rd District the change may in fact be inconsequential. Much of the Johnson County growth is young liberals, so Davids has a great chance of retaining her seat anyway. But who can blame Republicans in the Legislature for trying? Davids may be a nice person and a fine kickboxer, but she is a consistent vote for the Joe Biden agenda that's put his job approval rating in the upper 30 percentage points among Americans.

For Liberals, the futurescape is a bleak one. Biden's mess, residual effects of the Black Lives Matter riots across the country in 2020 and parents' first-hand viewpoint on public education after witnessing it in their kids' online classes during Covid have illuminated the negative outcomes of a liberal agenda in action. The U.S. Supreme Court is poised to overturn Roe v. Wade and allow about half the state legislatures in the country to enact more restrictions on abortion. In Kansas and elsewhere, state legislatures are standing up against the farce of transgenderism by banning or attempting to ban men from competing in women's sports. Kansas and other states have passed laws banning "sanctuary cities" that give local protections to illegal immigrants. Americans are chagrined that the federal government refuses to protect the country from an invasion of criminals at our southern border. Spiking inflation, driven by off-the-rails government Covid spending and record high gasoline prices, steal income from every American. Those Americans are rightfully putting the blame where it belongs.

The current American mood and upcom-

If you have not yet seen the beautiful roses at the Garnett Motel on 169 you should certainly go see them. Very beautiful. Worth the drive. Thank you.

Yeah, to the two idiots sitting there saying 'it's my body, it's my choice' why don't you get your testicles cut off instead of having the woman have to do it? People are tired of Republicans telling women what do do with their bodies. It is their body and what's inside it is their business not yours.

The dumb Republicans need to quit blaming Biden for shortages. He's got nothing to do with gas prices. He had nothing to do with baby formula, it got shut down for being unsafe at the factories. No one will work, everywhere you go people are hiring, hiring, hiring. That's why we need illegals to come here to do our jobs because no one else will do it.

I'll believe America has a working justice system once I see Hillary behind bars.

Social media for all it's toxicity is the only medium where people can actively and openly push back against the regime/tv narratives. That's why they're so eager to censor or ban the sites they don't already control. Imagine how much more easily manipulated we'd be if we only got our news from television/print.

If the school districts haven't been able to spend their Covid money it should go back to the tax payers.

If you ever feel useless, just remember the U.S. took four presidents thousands of lives, trillions of dollars and 20 years to replace the Taliban with the Taliban.

I want to hear more about the idea of having a power plant in Garnett that burns trash and makes electricity to help cut the cost of electricity for the city residents and the cost of dumping trash at the landfill. If the landfill is too busy to have a clean up week, they shouldn't mind if the city starts burning our trash and taking in trash from the county to burn. I'm sure they'll all still get paid.

At BLM, nepotism proves itself a cash cow

The racial agitators known as Black Lives Matter duped thousands of people into donating to their group to stop alleged racial injustices. Yet the people who seemed to benefit the most were the friends and family of one of the group's founders.

Based on the latest revelation about the organization's finances, the only black lives that mattered were those of co-founder Patrisse Cullors and her immediate family and friends. Tax documents revealed that she gave them millions of dollars in contracts to perform unspecified jobs for the scandalous group.

Cullors previously came under fire after reports revealed she spent millions on multiple extravagant real estate purchases using BLM's donations. Now comes the latest story that Cullors helped make those closest to her wealthy. This means that while numerous minority-owned businesses were destroyed by the rioting and looting that was inspired by BLM, Cullors used money donated to the group to elevate the lifestyles of herself and her loved ones.

The records released Tuesday highlighted that Cullors was the main person responsible for how the group spent its money. It also showed that her former romantic partner, family members, and buddies received contracts from BLM that were worth millions of dollars, the Washington Examiner's Andrew Kerr reported. Given these recent disclosures of how the group actually spends its donations, it raises the question of what BLM really should stand for. Is it "behind laundering millions"? Or is it "buy large mansions"? Because, based on its spending, it most definitely does not stand for what its name suggests.

Whatever its meaning, at BLM, nepotism pays extremely well.

Consider the facts. Cullors' friend and member of the group's board of directors, Shalomyah Bowers, owns a consulting and managing company that BLM paid over $2 million. Her child's father, Damon Turner, has an art firm, Trap Heals, that was paid nearly $1 million for "work" with BLM. He was given $969,459 for unspecified work, tax documents showed. Her brother, Paul, was paid $840,993 for "professional security services," whatever that means.

It must be nice to almost become a millionaire just by protecting your sister.

It's a pretty safe assumption that nearly everyone who contributed to this deceitful organization did not think their donations would be used to buy mansions or enrich the co-founder's family and friends. The group stoked a great divide in the country, ripping the country apart. Under the "Black Lives Matter" banner, rioters and looters caused billions of dollars in damage throughout the country - much more than the ballyhooed Jan. 6 Capitol riot. Yet rather than help her community, or the actual people she claimed she wanted to help, Cullors looked out for her own.

It's just the latest proof that BLM is a total sham that exploited the emotions of "woke" people and dead black men for its own benefit.

Dems celebrate, then weaponize demographics

The horrific massacre in Buffalo, New York, has created a debate about the "great replacement theory," the rancid theory adopted by white supremacists that Jewish people are conspiring to destroy the influence of white Americans by importing non-white immigrants.

The Buffalo shooter was in thrall to the theory, as have been other racist and antisemitic killers.

The theory should be denounced by all people of goodwill and, indeed, it thrives only in the most sewerish precincts of the internet.

Yet, there is an attempt to tar Republicans more broadly with the theory and somehow attribute responsibility for the atrocity in Buffalo to them on this basis. The argument is that the likes of Elise Stefanik, a Republican congresswoman from New York, have warned that the Democrat party views immigration as a way to change the electorate in their favor, and so are mainstreaming the hateful replacement ideology.

This is a smear, and especially perverse since Republicans sounding the alarm about this Democratic view have been unquestionably correct. There hasn't been any secretive cabal at work - it's all been out in the open, discussed by progressive political operatives and think-tank analysts, and celebrated in the press.

The left-wing Center for American Progress issued a report in 2013 titled "Immigration Is Changing the Political Landscape in Key States." It summarized its argument thusly, "Supporting real immigration reform that contains a pathway to citizenship for our nation's 11 million undocumented immigrants is the only way to maintain electoral strength in the future."

Books were written about this idea. The widely cited (and overinterpreted) 2004 book, "The Emerging Democratic Majority," by John Judis and Ruy Teixeira, called the Democrats "the party of transition" as "white America is supplanted by multiracial, multiethnic America." In 2016, Steve Phillips wrote "Brown Is the New White: How the Demographic Revolution Has Created a New American Majority." The website for his publisher says the latest edition of the book contends that "hope for a more progressive political future lies not with increased advertising to middle-of-the-road white voters, but with cultivating America's growing, diverse majority."

Donald Trump's victory in 2016 suppressed some of this sentiment since it made it clear that white working-class voters didn't appreciate being spoken of as if they were a relic of the past; and the 2020 election and its aftermath made the assumption that Democrats will own Latino voters forevermore seem increasingly shaky.

But the left wants to create rules that define it as perfectly acceptable for Democrats to advocate high levels of immigration as a means of gaining political power, and out of bounds for Republicans to call them on it.

Washington Post writer Greg Sargent slammed New York Rep. Elise Stefanik for allegedly flirting with the great replacement theory in Facebook advertisements last year. They warned that Democrats want a sweeping amnesty for undocumented immigrants in order "to overthrow our current electorate and create a permanent liberal majority in Washington."

Never mind that Stefanik could have drawn her warning directly from various left-wing writers and advocacy organizations. Or that Sargent himself wrote after Barack Obama's victory in 2012 that the election had been "all about demographics" and that the outcome showed the electorate wasn't "reverting to the older, whiter, more male version Republicans had hoped for."

What makes Sargent's basic view different than Stefanik's, other than the fact that he welcomes how immigration trends have changed our politics and she doesn't?

Immigration has been hotly contested

Another week, more great finds

This week I want to share two more of my recent finds.

The top picture is a rather rare find for this area. In fact I was really surprised when I found it.

This button actually has at least three names: Civil War enlisted man's button, a general service button and most popularly referred to as an EAGLE button.

It is made of brass and shows a small area of damage.

The second picture shows the reverse side of the same button. What makes this button so neat is the wire looped soldered shank is still in tact.

The bottom picture. Hey! A rather neat little hoe wouldn't you say? At first I thought it was a toy hoe. Then I thought, why would anyone make a hoe completely out of iron.

In fact it's rather heavy for such a small artifact. I did research it and the only thing I was told is, that it was used for mixing small amounts of concrete. I can't argue with that. If anyone knows any other use, please let me know.

This little hoe has been slightly bent, but there again I was told it was made slightly curved.

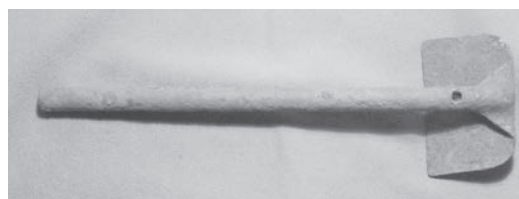

Enjoy!
I was really surprised when I dug up this WWII service man's ID or commonly known as a "DOG TAG". It is pictured on the bottom right.

This dog tag gives a person all kinds of information. First of all we know to whom it was issued: LOUIS V. SOMMER He had "O" type blood, his assigned service number, troop number and he was in the U.S. Army. Also down in the lower right hand corner we can see his faith was Roman Catholic.

Do you want to hear something really ironic about this Dog Tag? Through research it once belonged to the landowner's uncle where I was excavating. It has now been placed in the landowner's possession.

wander up to and grab," the complaint reads. "To be clear, Gender Queer contains both pornography and child pornography." Keller and Urqhart also maintain the book violates Kansas pornography laws.

The book jacket comments for Gender Queer detail the author's reasoning and objectives for the book:

"In 2014, Maia Kobabe, who uses e/em/eir pronouns, thought that a comic of reading statistics would be the last autobiographical comic e would ever write," the description says. "At the time, it was the only thing e felt comfortable with strangers knowing about em. Now, Gender Queer is here. Maia's intensely cathartic autobiography charts eir journey of self-identity, which includes the mortification and confusion of adolescent crushes, grappling with how to come out to family and society, bonding with friends over erotic gay fanfiction, and facing the trauma and fundamental violation of pap smears."

"Started as a way to explain to eir family what it means to be nonbinary and asexual, Gender Queer is more than a personal story: it is a useful and touching guide on gender identity—what it means and how to think about it—for advocates, friends, and humans everywhere."

Sobba provided the Review with a copy of the library's material selection policy as well as its policy regarding challenges to materials individuals might find objectionable. The policy delineates the responsible for materials selection to the library director or other designees.

"Library materials will not be marked or identified to show approval or disapproval of the contents," the policy reads. "The use of rare or scholarly items of great value may be controlled to the extent required to preserve them from harm, but no further.

Responsibility for what children check-out rests with their parents or legal guardians. Selection will not be inhibited by the possibility that adult books may inadvertently come into the possession of children. Children's books will be selected with the age and educational level of the children in mind."

The complaint process first involves a meeting with the plaintiffs and the library director. If the complainant wants further consideration, another meeting between the concerned party and a committee including the person who recommended the material be purchased, a library board member, someone from the community who is a library user and a person appointed by the complainant. If the complainant still isn't satisfied with the committee's decision, her/she can petition for a hearing with the library board within three weeks of the committee decision.

throughout our history, and is an inherently highly emotive issue, involving the composition of our polity and core questions of national identity. It can only inflame the issue further to explicitly weaponize demographic change, as the left has for decades now. We should have an immigration policy that serves the national interest, not the narrow interest of one political party.

Yes, by all means, further shun and marginalize replacement theory, but don't support high levels of immigration for partisan reasons and expect the other side not to notice.

THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW 5-24-2022 / DANE HICKS

AC's Easton Mead checks the play as he rounds second base during the Bulldogs regional tournament opener against Prairie View last week. AC dropped the Buffaloes 15-0 but fell in the final tournament round to Girard by a score of 8-6 to end the season 22-2.

Bulldogs come up just short of State

A disappointing end to an amazing regular season after the Anderson County Bulldogs fall in the Regional Championship game to Girard, 8-6.

AC was riding a 22 game winning streak after losing the opener, but despite ending the season 22-2 they will come up short of state.

Anderson County cruised in the opening round of districts, downing Prairie View 15-0 and then following that up with a 7-0 win over Osage City.

Garrison Martin pitched a hitless 3 innings in the complete game victory, striking out

5 and walking 4 hitters against Prairie View.

The win over Osage City would be another gem as Anderson County combined to allow just one hit over the seven inngs.

Bulldog golf qualified for State

CARBONDALE - Anderson County boy's golf punched their ticket to the state tournament that kicked off Monday, May 23 and concludes today in Salina.

The Bulldogs finished in 2nd place with a total of 337, behind first place Santa Fe Trail (310).

Lane Richards finished 4th to pace AC with a score of 80, which is 10 over par for the course.

Eli Martin was just one stroke behind with an 81, good for a 6th place finish.

Reese Jarett (86), Tyler Feuerborn (90) and Carter Blome (95) finished 12th, 14th and 18th respectively.

Reece Katzer finished just outside the top 20 in 24th with a score of 102.

Viking softball statebound

RICHMOND-The Central Heights Vikings (11-6) were the third seed, but after opening the regional with a 15-0 win over Crest, they upset Jayhawk-Linn in the second game 7-5 in 8 innings and downed Yates Center (17-3), 16-5 to qualify for State.

They open play against Bluestem (22-1) Thursday night at 7:00 p.m. in Pratt.

Senior Center pitch results for May 12th and May 19th

On May the 12th we were pleasantly surprised to have 14 card players gathered together, including one new player. The winners for that night were: Dorthy Spencer with high, Phyllis Gordon won 50/50, Carla Ewert took low and Doug McIntosh had the most perfect games with five of 10.

May 19th we had 12 players having the following results;

Martha Beachy won high, Jan Wards won 50/50, Betty Lygarber took low and Karen Register had the most perfect games with five of 10.

We invite you to come join us on Thursday evening at six o'clock at the Senior Center for a fun evening of 13-point pitch.

already impacting fertilizer and chemical costs for local farmers and eating into gains they made after commodity price increases. Local governments are also looking to the impact higher gas costs will have on their transportation fleets, as well as police and sheriff departments to patrol their jurisdictions.

Restrictive petroleum industry policies instituted by the Biden Administration as well as general inflationary factors and the Russian invasion of Ukraine are blamed for the gas price increase, with markets reacting to the instability and petroleum companies taking advantage of the opportunity to take profits after a long period of low oil prices leading up to 2020.

Supplies of gasoline are plentiful, however - so if you're willing to pay the price, you can always find gas. Kansas AAA reported last week the national average cost of a gallon of regular unleaded gas was $4.58, with the Kansas average at $4.04. The lowest prices in the state were in the south central and northeast most counties, with prices in the $3.90s and $3.80s.

The reporting agency showed Kansas unleaded averaging $2.84 statewide a year ago.

Franklin counties into the 3rd District along with Miami and Johnson. Anderson County has been in the 2nd District for decades.

In another ruling the same day, the KSC affirmed state legislative and senate district changes which were also hammered out by legislators according to decennial census data. That reconfigured map moved Anderson County out of the 5th Representative District, currently represented by Mark Samsel of Wellsville, and into the 9th District whose seat is held by Kent Thompson of Iola. The new map leaves Anderson County in the 12th Senate District held by Caryn Tyson of Parker.

The affirmation of the state rep districts means retired local veterinarian Republican Fred Gardner of Garnett, who initially filed for office against Samsel in the 5th, will now run for the Republican nomination in the 9th.

Samsel is so far the only filing for the 5th District, and Gardner so far is the only filing on either the Democrat or Republican ticket in the 9th. Candidates can file for state legislative posts or the Kansas congressional races up until June 10.

Trio of Lancers heading to State

COLONY - Ethan Godderz, Mia Coleman and Brenton Edgerton will all get one more shot to compete this season as they qualified for State at their regional meet last Thursday.

Junior Godderz qualified in both the long jump and triple jump. Ethan finished 2nd in the triple jump with a jump of 41' 6" and 3rd in the long jump with a leap of 19' 9 3/4".

Coleman finished 2nd in the 100 meter hurdles with a time of 17.46 and Edgerton finished 4th in the 100 meter hurdles with a time of 11.75.

The State meet will be this Friday and Saturday in Wichita at Cessna Stadium located on the campus of Wichita State University.

Several Vikings punch ticket to State

RICHMOND - Central Heights head coach Troy Prosser is extremely happy with his team's performance throughout the season and is ecstatic many of them get to showcase their talent at State track this coming Friday and Saturday in Wichita.

It was a hot and humid regional, which was a change as competition days this year have been relatively mild for the most part.

"The heat and humidity of Kansas spring wasn't able to deter any of our athletes Thursday. I'm incredibly proud of all of our kids and it's even sweeter to have several moving on to one of the greatest championship events in all of high school sports," Prosser stated.

Three personal records and a season best propelled the team to seven state qualifying events. Jenny Hale and Addey Froggatte had some fantastic, personal best throws in the Javelin and Discus to end their senior campaigns in excellent fashion.

Once they were able to hit the track, the boys 4x800 (Connor Burkdoll, Christian McCord, Cody Hammond and Tony Detwiler) dropped their season best time by six seconds to become Regional Champions and set the tone for a great string of performances in the running events for us.

Taryn Compton quickly followed that up with a third place finish in the 100 hurdles then she and fellow hurdler Tony both moved on to State with gritty fourth place finishes in the 300 hurdles. Lily Meyer and Cody (3rd and 2nd respectively) then both perfectly executed the strategies needed in the 800. Connor's victory in the 3200 was a methodical and tactical race which had him pull away on the last lap.

"I guess it's kind of poetic to have regional champions in both our first race on the track as well as the last. With the pressure of needing to qualify now off, the State Championships are the ultimate reward for all of the hard work put in," Prosser concluded.

ing probable election outcomes are far from what the leftist funding organization Arabella Advisors and Soros had in mind when they and others dreamed up and bankrolled the string of non-profits that eventually birthed the Kansas Reflector after Trump's 2016 win. Massive funding led to similar Leftist mouthpiece "news services" in more than 20 states.

That's a lot of money going to a lot of biased reporters and editorialists with very little to show for it. Given the ineffectiveness of this media effort, Soros and crew must be wondering if there are more cost effective ways to try to grow Socialism in America. ###

Crest Lancers remain undefeated, top seed in State tournament

The Lancers (23-0) dream season continues after earning the regional championship trophy last week.

Crest opened play with a 14-3 victory over Marais Des Cygnes Valley before earning a championship game berth by downing Central Heights 10-2.

Southern Lyon County (18-3) gave the Lancers all they could handle, but Crest prevailed with a 4-1 hard fought victory.

Top seeded Crest will open the state tournament with a first round matchup with St. Mary's Colgan (9-12) Thursday morning at 11 a.m. in Great Bend.

The winner will advance to play either Elkhart (19-4) or Little River (18-5) on Friday morning at 11 a.m. and then if they advance the championship game will be Friday evening at 5:45.

Crest's Stetson Setter scrambles back to second base after a slide play as Southern Lyon County players bobble the play during Crest's regional championship game last week. Crest came out on top 4-1 to advance to the first round of the 1-A state tournament.

Richmond Museum opens for 15th season

The Richmond Community Museum will open Saturday and Sunday, May 28th and 29th, 1-4 pm, with no admission charge. It will open Monday, Memorial Day, on request. Just call one of the phone numbers on the sign in the window.

Dennis Peters will be the host on Saturday and Charlie Prue on Sunday. These two men know a lot of information about the area, so bring questions with you.

Probably the most popular part of the Museum is the archives (or records) where visitors like to look at albums about the Richmond Fair or Co-op, early stories, veterans, Richmond Grade and High Schools, four books of obituaries/funeral folders (alphabetized), and several others. Almost everyone will find family members or friends in these albums.

There are some surprising artifacts, (things), also. Bring the family and take a little trip back in time at the Richmond Museum. The Museum will continue to be open each Saturday and Sunday afternoon through Labor Day weekend, and will always open on request.
