Over opposition, city votes 2-1 to adopt Land Bank

BY DANE HICKS THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW
GARNETT – City commissioners voted 2-1 last week to adopt the formation of a local Land Bank to expedite and economize the process of re-owning dilapidated, tax delinquent properties, over the objections of members of the public and the mayor who said the legal avenue amounts to a violation of private property rights. The city has been in discussions of the topic off and on for the past two years, but responded this time to a formal recommendation by the Anderson County Economic Development

Agency to create the Land Bank, which will allow the city to assume ownership of a property through condemnation, gift or outright purchase with the objective of expunging back taxes owed against it and developing it, or conveying it to developers with a plan to reinvigorate it and presuably put it back into service and/or on the paying tax rolls again. Land Banks are authorized in Kansas and other states under specific statutes but are heavily criticized in some quarters because they allow government to usurp private property owners' rights when jurisdictions opt to condemn and assume ownership of properties. Proponents argue they're a helpful tool in putting properties with often extensive unpaid tax liabilities back into the hands of private developers who wouldn't otherwise be

Governor signs open enrollment, other education-related bills into law

BY DAVID HICKS THE SENTINEL
TOPEKA – Beginning in 2024, open enrollment will permit any Kansas student to transfer schools, based on the receiving school's capacity, following Governor Laura Kelly's signing into law a mega bill of education reforms. Criticism of the concept of open enrollment has been fierce from the "education establishment", particularly from large districts such as Blue Valley, Olathe, Shawnee Mission, and Kansas City, Kansas, and state education officials. Among their items of contention are a hindrance to their ability to plan, increased administrative responsibilities, a reduction of community support for out-of-district students, expanded costs for special education services, and potentially increased property taxes to support incoming students. Kansas School Board Member Michelle Dombrosky went so far as to suggest the new law "destroys representative government" by removing local districts' authority to accept or reject students, using local property taxes to support out-of-district children, a lack of representation on local school boards for incoming students. She warned of "a move toward the combining or dissolution of local school boards, eradicating local representative government." Writing for the Kansas Policy Institute, David Dorsey took exception to Dombrosky's assertion that open enrollment endangers representative government: "Our system of electing people to represent us to do the business of government, one that has lasted nearly two-and-a-half centuries, survived the Civil War, two world wars, and perpetual internal strife, will now be 'destroyed' because a relative handful of public-school students in Kansas will be attending a school in a

Eat on the cheap

Inflation at 8.5% gives incentive to find ways to cut family food costs

BY DANE HICKS THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW

GARNETT – "Beans, beans – the magical fruit. Eat them a lot and save some loot."

It may not be quite the rhyme you remember from your childhood, but with 8.5 percent inflation in the price of consumer goods year-over-year sapping what economists say is some $326 more per month on average from American households, there's motivation to find ways to eat on the cheap without throwing good health rules out the window. Economists say the average family spends more money on food than it does on energy each month – to include gasoline and home utility costs. That means the current inflation rate hits as hard in real dollars at your food spending as for your costs to fill your gas tank, and being more cognizant of ways to save on your food dollar will really add up. The key is planning – from devoting a little more time to searching up menu ideas to watching grocery ads in the newspaper for good buys. Foods that can be made in large quantities – think beans, chilis and soups – can be stored in single serving containers and frozen if you have the space. Planning menus, following sales, cooking with economies of scale and freezing your own prepared foods instead of eating on the fly can reduce your meal costs to a fraction of faster/easier eating – and since you control the ingredients you have more control over how healthy you eat. Professional food blogger Jessica Fisher's website good-cheapeats.com lists some 75 food ideas that can help families cut food expenses without sacrificing healthy choices, and offers some ideas on meal prep options. "Your budget grocery list is nothing more than a list of generally affordable ingredients that you can turn to when you need to pivot. If chicken is too expensive this week, what can you have instead?" Fisher notes in the preface to her ingredient list.

- eggs – Eggs are great budget foods in baking, but also serve as a key protein element

GARNETT – Local residents who want to run for the Kansas Legislature or the 3rd District U.S. Congressional seat in the November 2022 elections have until noon on June 10 to file for those offices, after state officials extended the deadline from June 1. Other offices still have a noon June 1 deadline. As of the Review's early holiday deadline Thursday, no one had yet filed for the upcoming vacant city commissioner post held by Greg Gwin, according to

THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW 5-31-22 / SUBMITTED

Rain shortened the state golf tournament last week for Anderson County by a day. Bulldog golfer Lane Richards shot an opening day 80 which was good for 14th place and earned a medal in the process.

AC finishes 5th in State golf

SALINA - Rain washed out the second day of 3A State golf last Tuesday, May 24th, leaving the Bulldogs just one stroke behind Cheney High School for a 5th place finish.

Hesston finished first with a total of 319 strokes. Santa Fe Trail was a close second at 321, Heritage Christian Academy was third with 323 and then Cheney had 332 and the Bulldogs were at 333.

Junior Lane Richards medaled with a solid 14th place finish with a score of 80.

Freshman Eli Martin wasn't far behind with an 82 and senior Reese Jarrett shot an 83.

The trio of Carter Blome (88), Tyler Feuerborn (90) and Reece Katzer (106) rounded out the scoring for the Bulldogs.

the Anderson County Clerk's office. Republican Les McGhee, incumbent county commissioner in District I, has been the only candidate to file for that upcoming vacancy as well.

Both those local elections will be held in November with terms beginning in January.

Filing deadlines were extended in state legislative and congressional races due to the late approval of jurisdictional maps for those districts. Other deadlines remained set for noon on June 1, like those for state offices like governor, secretary of state, state treasurer, attorney general, commissioner of insurance and state board of education, as well as for the U.S. Senate.

Local Republican and Democrat county precinct posts that make up those respective county party committees also have a deadline of June 1.

What does it mean to follow Jesus?

WEEKLY DEVOTIONAL

BY DAVID BILDERBACK

What does it mean to follow Jesus? Does it just mean attending church service on Sunday, ascribing to the doctrine of scripture, or following a list of moral guidelines? Jesus gives us an example in Mark 19 when he meets up with the rich young ruler. It is difficult to determine whether the man is trying to convince Jesus or himself he is worthy of eternal life. His question to Jesus is, "Teacher, what good thing must I do to get eternal life?" Jesus then tells him, "If you want to enter life obey the commandments. The man's response back to Jesus was, "which ones?" Jesus then gives the man a list of five of the commandments and the man's response, he had kept all these commandments. Still not feeling secure he presses Jesus further asking him, "what do I still lack?" Jesus' response "Come follow me" caused the man to walk away.

I fear many today face the same dilemma this man faced. The problem is we cannot will ourselves into heaven. What Jesus wanted this man to see was he needed to die to self. In our world self has become very important. We have drifted to the point that we have a man based faith instead of a God based faith. Whatever you follow is what you will place a good deal of your inten-tionality on. What Jesus asks this man to do and us as well when he says "Follow me" is beyond church attendance, beyond ascribing to scripture, or moral guidelines. Many people do these very things but that is not following Jesus. The disciples followed Jesus, which means they performed the very work Jesus did. They used a God based faith to change people's lives. The approach Jesus took was radical, the result, people were changed. His message was simple. You have seen me, you have watched me now go and make disciples. Opportunities will present themselves as long as our message is based on scripture people will be changed. It is up to the church to make disciples. That is following Jesus.

Allow teachers to conceal & carry

In response to last week's school shooting in Uvalde, Texas, we are republishing this editorial from October 2015.

There's as good a chance as any that another school shooting will happen somewhere in the country before the end of this year. But there's less chance it will happen at Arkansas Christian Academy.

ACA, a private pre-K through 9th grade school just outside Little Rock, has joined schools like Clarksville, Ark., and schools in Missouri in allowing teachers to carry concealed weapons in class after they've passed applicable training courses and obtaining concealed carry permits.

If U.S. schools want federal school lunch program money or if they want their students to receive federally backed student loans, they should allow staff to carry concealed.

The school even markets the point to would-be shooters with signs that designate their school grounds as concealed carry areas for teachers and staff, and promise a deadly force response to those intent on harming children. The objective, of course, is to provide protection for students instead of defaulting to the typical rhetorical discussions each time a shooting takes place at a K-12 school or college campus. If President Obama wanted to do more than wring his hands and restrict our 2nd Amendment Rights every time a gunman targets a school, like he did recently at the scene of the junior college shooting in Oregon, he'd use his celebrated and well-exercised executive authority to legalize concealed carry for teachers and administrators by making the option contingent on receipt of federal funds. If U.S. schools want federal school lunch program money or if they want their students to receive federally backed student loans, they should allow staff to carry concealed.

Arkansas schools began the constructive dialogue on arming teachers after the 2013 Sandy Hook shootings. The killing of 20 children and 6 adults during the 2012 shootings at Newtown, Conn., resulted in at least 9 states passing legislation that allowed teachers to be armed. Missouri lawmakers overrode a governor's veto last year to allow districts there to arm their teachers.

While some states have made an objective assessment of the threat and acted responsibly and proactively in response to this particular brand of American terrorism, opponents, including the president, refuse to accept that until we find a magic pill for the narcissistic mental derangement in this country that makes gunmen shoot up schools, comparable firepower is the only real defense. School shooting stories are filled with tales of heroics by teachers who laid down their lives for their students. We believe if pressed, most are willing to do that. Why shouldn't they have a fighting chance?

The other solutions? Maybe outlaw all guns? Hasn't done much to stop gun crime in places where guns are already outlawed, like New York and Los Angeles. Maybe make laws and post signs outside schools declaring them "Gun Free School Zones?" Schools have been doing that since the 1980s, designating those specific areas as unarmed killing zones for crazies. Perhaps post an armed guard or resource officer? A good effort, but that concentrates the entire school's defense in the hands of one person and makes that officer an initial ambush target in an attack. Locking "buzz in" door systems? Another good option, but defeatable by a determined shooter. It can take several minutes for officers to respond to a 911 emergency call. A semi-automatic rifle or handgun can fire 30-45 rounds per minute.

For some reason that no one knows or understands or has a solution to, disaffected people are targeting large groupings of presumably unarmed people in our country. Until we figure out why and fix it, if we ever do, arming teachers even on a voluntary basis puts the odds back in favor of the students. It should be the law in Kansas, too. ###

In response to paragraph three of last week's Phone Forum, I believe Biden's only concern is to see how many minorities he can put in high positions. We need these illegals coming in like you need another hole in your head.

Now you got two right wing conservative nuts that find a book offensive to them that most of Garnett didn't even know was there, but now they called attention to it. Pornography? You're sick. You're really sick. I'm tired of you Republicans and conservatives telling us how to live our lives. No one's telling you how to live your lives don't tell us how to live ours. This is like you're hunting for witches.

It's not the gun that kills people it's the heart of the person carrying the gun. If we do away with guns it will not reduce the deaths. I believe the first murder ever recorded was done with a club or a rock. Death will go on if we don't work with the heart of the people.

We took God out of the picture, now we have death loss in all kinds of forms. We kill innocent babies, we have no respect for the lives of the born or the unborn. We shoot them in the classroom and kill them in the womb. Let's look back to God.

My opinion on mass shootings, shouldn't put the blame on guns alone. We have had guns around for hundreds of years but in the last 20 years we have seen a rise in violent behavior. I think we should lay some of the fault on the violent movies, TV shows and video games we let our young kids see for hours at a time. A lot of factors are in play not just guns. Thank you.

Another evil shooter in another school and now we learn police "staged" outside the building and didn't go in for more than a half hour. Every police department in the country gets federal money to conduct training and drills for these sorts of situations. Don't make excuses for cowardice and a complete lack of professionalism. Civilians were willing to go in there to protect those kids, and the cops cowered outside while 8-year-olds were slaughtered. There is no excuse.

No prosecution in Kansas election bribery

The Ellis County Attorney's decision to not prosecute election bribery signals that the trend of picking and choosing which crimes to prosecute is no longer confined to major U.S. cities with progressive prosecutors. And that is a very dangerous sign for freedom in Kansas.

As The Sentinel reported earlier this month, Hays USD 489 Superintendent Ron Wilson emailed district staff on April 22nd concerning the May 10 bond issue election, which included this offer:

"Here's my challenge to you. If 100% of the eligible voters in your building vote before May 10th we will bring lunch for you one day before the end of school. Yes, we'll know if you vote (and no we can not see how you vote) The first building in our district to get 100% also gets dessert with their lunch! My expectation is to buy lunch for every building in our district!"

Wilson's email makes it pretty clear that he is asking employees to vote for the bond issue. He writes, "If we want to change the spaces we work in, we must be willing to take the time to vote and change our teaching and learning environments. It doesn't cost us a penny to vote! Simply, by not voting really registers as a NO vote when it comes to our school staff."

Ellis County Attorney Robert A. Anderson,

KANSAS COMMENTARY

DAVE TRABERT, KANSAS POLICY INSTITUTE

Jr. last week announced that he won't prosecute Wilson - not because he doesn't believe a crime was committed, but because he has more important crimes to prosecute.

Anderson practically acknowledges that a serious crime was committed in his statement reprinted below. He just didn't want to take action. And by failing to act, he has all but declared open season on election fraud in Hays, Kansas.

"As the Ellis County Attorney, I am not required to provide this statement. However, I recognize that as the Ellis County Attorney I have been entrusted with a great deal of discretionary authority and with that, an immense responsibility. There has been a great deal of public attention and concern surrounding allegations that USD 489 Superintendent Ron Wilson committed "Election Bribery" in violation of K.S.A. 2020 Supp. 25-2409, a severity level 7 non-person felony. There were also many alleged instances of "Electioneering" (illegal placement of signs) in violation of K.S.A. 25-2430 on both sides of the bond issue. It is my intention to address those concerns now.

"Unfortunately, we live in a time where we are very divided politically. Community, friendship, and family bonds are all too often dissolved as a consequence of political divisiveness. Elections and political issues are fraught with passion. Despite the best of intentions, we say and do things in support of our position without carefully considering the consequences . . . because these issues are important to us. Because acting and speaking for what we believe in is fundamental to who we are as Americans and as Kansans. It's patriotic to vote, debate, challenge others, and to act when our values are questioned or challenged. It's patriotic to encourage others to fulfill their civic duty to vote. But, accord-

Penny-pinching on Ukraine can hurt the U.S.

Populist critics have gone after the new $40 billion in aid to Ukraine hammer and tongs. Donald Trump has complained that we are sending billions to Ukraine "yet America's parents are struggling to even feed their children." Republican Sen. Josh Hawley calls the assistance "unfocused globalism."

There's no doubt that $40 billion constitutes a vast sum, even in Washington, D.C., circa 2022, but the expenditure is warranted.

At the end of the day, there's no getting around the fact that it costs lots of money to support a country fighting a war in the 21st century against an advanced, if incompetent, military foe.

We would have saved tens of billions of dollars, at least initially, if we had never aided Ukraine and contented ourselves with letting Russia overrun it. But a victorious Putin would have posed a more direct threat to NATO. That would have caused an even bigger military build-up in the West than we are seeing now, and we would have been part of it, unless we were to decide to give up on our most important alliance.

The Ukraine war might be expensive, but it is the Ukrainians doing the fighting. They are degrading the military of an adversary of the United States and trying to push it away from NATO's borders without a single U.S. or Western soldier engaged in the fight. All things considered, this is a deal.

Nearly $9 billion of the package replenishes U.S. stockpiles after Biden sent U.S. weapons to Ukraine on an emergency basis using Presidential Drawdown Authority. It'd be perverse not to replenish our supplies of Javelins at this point in the name of economizing over Ukraine.

Likewise, several billion dollars in the package pay for the U.S. deployment of troops to NATO countries.

Part of the military aid is billions of dollars in financing for Ukraine and NATO countries to buy U.S. weapons, something that Trump has supported strongly in the past on "America First" grounds.

Indeed, it is strange that critics of the bills are invoking nationalism in their opposition. Hawley worries that the bill doesn't represent "a nationalist foreign policy."

By what definition? Assisting a sovereign country in defending its borders against a nation bent on restoring its imperial glory is a broadly nationalist project. So is resisting an adversary of the United States that, together with its de facto ally, China, wants to reduce our national power and influence, and end the preeminence of the U.S.-led Western world.

It's not as though the assistance keeps us from pursuing urgent domestic priorities. We don't have a baby formula shortage because we've sent too many weapons to Ukraine, and the shortage - in large part, a regulatory problem - would still exist if our new level of assistance to Ukraine were $0. The same is true with the border. Biden is not interested in the policies that might restore order there, which was true prior to the Ukraine war and will presumably be true after.

There's certainly more Europe could do, especially regarding general support for the Ukrainian government and food assistance to Ukraine and countries most affected by war-related disruptions. Our other allies who don't have an interest in taking sides between Ukraine and Russia should be providing food assistance, as well.

There should be no mistaking, though, that the stakes in the war are large. The outcome will profoundly affect the future of Ukraine, the robustness of the Western alliance, perhaps the nature of the Russian regime, and China's consideration of whether or not it is too risky to try to take Taiwan by force.

"Paris is worth a Mass," Henry of Navarre supposedly said before converting to Roman Catholicism and becoming king of France in the 16th century. Similarly, staving off Russia, and perhaps defeating it without firing a shot, is worth $40 billion.

Trip time - Kentucky tour

Break time. That's just what Kay and I did May 15-20th.

Where did we go this time? We went to Kentucky. Our bus tour was entitled the "ARK ENCOUNTER".

There were 47 of us, plus Angie Bozeman the owner/manager of Heritage Tours out of Yoder, Ks. and our wonderful driver Keith Leinbach.

Day 1

We left Garnett at 10:05 and arrived in Ottawa at Loves Station at 10:35. Our trip began at 10:55 am. At 11:30 we had introductions for everyone. We stopped for lunch at 12:10 pm in the Independence Mall in Missouri. At 1:00 we were on the road again. 2:15 we witnessed our first traffic accident. A truck went over the guardrail and down into a steep ravine. No fatalities. At 3:15 we saw the Missouri Fire Fighters Memorial as we passed by in Kingdom City, Missouri. At 3:20 our mid-afternoon break at the Petrol Travel Stop. After our stop, small bags of Kettle popcorn were passed out to everyone. Passengers Leonard & Marilyn Yoder from Yoder, Ks. had brought it onboard. Our next stop was at our motel the Drury Inn in O'Fallon, Mo. (Gas Price $4.89)

Day 2

We left our motel at 8:00. Angie, our tour guide, held short devotions at 8:10. She did every morning of our trip asking God's blessings upon our motor coach.

Next we watched the two films, The Building of the Ark & The Creation of the Animals. At 9:50, our morning break, at the Indiana Welcome Center. At 11:20, the time changed moving ahead one hour.

As we crossed the Ohio River at 1:00 we entered into Kentucky. We ate lunch at the Kentucky Downs Race Track, before going on a wonderful guided tour. At 4:10 we were on our way to our motel in Florence, Kentucky. We arrived at the Hampton Inn at 5:50 pm. We ate lunch at the Cracker Barrel Restaurant before retiring for the day. (Gas Price $4.39) on their own or worked into casseroles, salads, or sandwiches.

- canned or dry beans – Add beans to soups, salads, chilis, and burritos in addition to serving them as a side dish. Dry beans cost even less than canned, and it's easy to cook beans in the pressure cooker.

- lentils -Lentils are a hearty budget food, a cheap protein that you can add to soup and salads. You can also make homemade dal and save on dining costs.
- dry split peas – A key ingredient in Instant Pot Split Pea Soup, split peas are another cheap plant protein.

- canned chick peas – You can serve garbanzo beans in salads and soup, but you can also make your own Homemade Garlic Lime Hummus.

- rice – Rice is key for breakfast, lunch, or dinner: in Cream Of Rice, Vegetable Fried Rice, or as a base for bowl meals. Rice is one of those no-brainer budget foods to add to the list.

- oats – Use oats for Baked Oatmeal Cups, as oatmeal, or in granola. They are a powerhouse of fiber and super cheap to buy.

- pasta – Who doesn't love pasta? It makes for a good cheap eat any night of the week. In lasanga, salads, soups, and a bowl with meatballs, pasta is where it's at.

- ramen noodles – While ramen may get a bad rap with Gen Xers, it's a surefire win with the younger crowd, especially when you dress it up with dashi and a soft boiled egg. Ditch the msg-laden seasoning packet and make your ramen something more. The noodles are super cheap and quick to fix.

- tortillas – You can do so many things with tortillas: pizza! burritos! quesadillas! tacos! and enchiladas! They are definitely a great addition to your budget grocery list.

- flour – If you've got flour, you've got a world of options within your reach. There are so many things to do with flour! Bake bread, rolls, pizza, and so much more. Flour is a must-add to your budget grocery list.

- cornmeal/grits/polenta – With some grind of cornmeal on hand you can easily whip up this Quick & Cheesy Polenta Recipe or bake a batch of Whole Grain Cornbread Waffles.

- frozen vegetables – when you can't find good buys on fresh produce, look to the freezer aisle at your grocery store for sales on frozen veggies. Frozen green beans will always be cheaper than fresh ones and you're guaranteed quality since the veg is frozen straight from the field. Frozen veggies are generally just as nutritious as fresh and the prep work is already done for you!

- pork roast – pork's one of the more affordable proteins. Some cuts will be cheaper than others, but generally speaking pork will be cheaper than most chicken, beef, or fish. Load up when you see a sale and stash the extra in the freezer.

- chicken legs – Bone-in chicken legs tend toward being the most affordable cut of chicken. Compare prices at the store though! I have seen situations when the boneless skinless breast was cheaper than chicken legs or quarters.

- whole chicken – It's easy to Roast Chicken at home and you can often find it very affordable. A rotisserie chicken, however, may even beat homemade so don't discount bringing one home next time you're at the store.

- canned chicken – Canned chicken has a lot of benefits: it's precooked, ready to use, super tender, shelf-stable, and often more affordable than fresh chicken. Consider it as a viable option for soups, casseroles, and Chicken Salad Sandwiches.

- ground turkey – While ground beef is super easy to stretch, the price of beef can be too high for many budgets. Ground turkey is a nice alternative, but make sure that the only other ingredient besides turkey is rosemary extract. This will ensure a very fresh clean flavor and not that weird ground turkey thing that turns people off.

- canned tuna – Widely available and generally affordable, canned tuna has been a good cheap eat for generations. It's an easy protein to keep on hand for simple Tuna Macaroni Salad or Tuna Pita Pockets.

- sausage – Bacon may be your preference, but bacon prices probably are not. Consider sausage as a more affordable alternative to bacon. You can find it in all kinds of flavors, including turkey, pork, and even plant-based options.

- ham – Like its fresh pork counterpart, ham is going to be the more affordable lunch meat. There are so many great Leftover Ham Recipes to Help You Save Money, you definitely won't get bored.

Recipes featuring this list of items and additional ideas are at Fisher's website, www.good-cheapeats.com./

ing to a strict interpretation of our "Election Bribery" statute, there's a thin line between conduct that is patriotic and conduct that is criminal.

"Under K.S.A. 25-2409, "Election Bribery", it is a severity level 7 non-person felony crime if you confer, offer or agree to confer, or solicit, accept, or agree to accept any benefit as consideration to vote (generally); it is the same crime (and same punishment) if you confer, offer or agree to confer, or solicit, accept, or agree to accept any benefit as consideration to vote specifically for or against a particular candidate or issue. The latter is objectively more criminal than the former, yet they are the same under this statute.

"Similarly, when talking about value equal to or greater than $3.00, the crime is the same regardless of the value. Objectively, it is less serious to offer someone something valued at $3.00 to go out and vote (generally - not for a particular candidate or issue) versus offering someone $1,000.00 to vote for a specific candidate or issue. Yet, they are the same crime and punishment under this statute.

"The strict letter of the law seemingly criminalizes more conduct than what was probably originally targeted, and that becomes more apparent when examining all the election crimes in Chapter 25. Of the thirty election crimes statutes, "Election Bribery" and "Bribe Accepted by an Elected Official" are the two most serious election crimes in Kansas.

"Election Bribery" is more serious than: voting more than once, bribing an elected official, intimidating voters, tampering with the election, voting without being qualified, election forgery, election perjury, possessing false or forged election supplies, voter machine fraud, election fraud by an election officer, electioneering, and corrupt political advertising... just to name a few.

I have a duty to prioritize the efforts of my office and maximize community safety. I cannot justify prosecuting Superintendent Ron Wilson, or any recipients of the email who "agreed to accept value" for "Election Bribery" because it will come at the cost of diverting time and resources away from prosecution of sexual assaults, homicides, child abuse & neglect, aggravated batteries, aggravated assaults, drug distribution crimes, burglaries, and other very serious matters that have a major impact on community safety. As such, concerning the allegations against Superintendent Ron Wilson, others who may have "agreed to accept value" to vote, and those who may have committed acts of "Electioneering", I will take no action at this time.

So we see how seriously election bribery is taken by at least some public officials.

Garnett reinstates city fall clean-up week Oct. 31 - Nov. 4

During the Tuesday, May 10th City Commission Meeting, the Garnett City Commission through Resolution No. 2022-8 designated October 31 through November 4, 2022 as Fall Clean-Up Week for residential areas only. The City of Garnett has not had a Clean-Up Week since September of 2018.

The City-Wide Clean-Up Week allows city crews to pick up items left curbside, or alley, to dispose of at the county landfill at no charge to city refuse customers who participate by placing their unwanted items out for city crews to pick up. This annual clean-up program was established back in October of 1969. The annual, week-long event had become so popular with residents that a bi-annual program was offered both in the spring and fall to City of Garnett residential refuse customers until 2019.

In the past, the City of Garnett was not charged by Anderson County for disposal of Clean-Up Week items taken to the County Landfill. And likewise, Anderson County has allowed for a Free Dump Week to coordinate within the same time frame, giving all Anderson County residents the opportunity to discard unwanted items at the landfill at no charge.

Please note the following changes:

a) At this time, there will not be a Free Dump Week for Garnett/Anderson County residents. Anyone taking items to the landfill for disposal will be charged a fee.

b) The City of Garnett (municipality) will be charged by Anderson County for dumping fees for items picked up during Clean-Up Week, just like any other week. For this year (2022), this cost will not be passed on to city refuse customers. During City-Wide Clean-Up Week, October 31 through November 4, city crews will start on the north side of town and proceed south until the entire town has been covered. City crews will not go back once they have been through. Please be ready!

The following items must be placed in separate piles:

- Brush
- Leaves and lawn clippings
- Paper
- Metal (No car or vehicle parts)

- Appliances
 - Furniture
 - Lumber
 - Rock/Concrete
 - Shingles
 - Sheet Rock
- *If items are not placed in separate piles they will not be picked up.

KART Racing: Fun for the whole family

The weekend of June 4-5 for the only race for 2022 in Garnett we welcome the Go-Kart road race. The Garnett Enduro Kart Club, which has been hosting races since 1957, will once again bring racing to the North Lake Park road course. The racing schedule runs from 8 am to 4 pm both Saturday and Sunday.

For over 60 years the Garnett KART Club has been hosting road races. Each racing event brings over 100 entries and involves people from many states across the country.

KART racing is a great spectator sport. The North Lake Park is unique in that it provides a free viewing site on the south side of the road course (near park entrance), or for only $20 for adults, this pass is good for two days and the family can access the pit area located on the east side of Lake Garnett for a truly "awesome" view of the road course. In the pits you can watch the crews work on their karts and learn more about this motor sport, and then watch the racers as they sprint down the west side straight-away exceeding 100 mph, maneuver the chicane made of hay bales, cross the dam and, fight nose to tail for position around tight corners surrounding Lake Garnett.

We invite you to promote this event by attending the races on June 4-5.

Also, the Garnett KART Club wants people to know they can pick up broken straw bales for their garden after 3:30 (after last race) on Sunday. For more information about district in which they do not reside," Dorsey asked. "Never mind that the bill in question was passed and signed into law by duly-elected officials. If you believe that, well..." Dorsey said.

"This reaction is representative of how virulent the education establishment reacts when there is the slightest loosening of the stranglehold that is the public education system in Kansas," he said.

The Kansas Policy Institute owns The Sentinel.

Among other items now law from House Bill 2567:

The Every Child Can Read Act will require every school district in the state to implement a literacy program designed to ensure all students learn to read by 3rd grade.

School boards are now required to annually review state academic assessments and conduct a building needs assessment in all schools, publicizing both to ensure transparency and accountability, before approving the district's annual budget.

Rep. Kristey Williams, Chair of the House K-12 Education Budget Committee, hailed the reform package:

"As Kansans invest in K-12 education funding, it is equally important to ensure the funding produces improved outcomes. This package delivers on funding and policy."

EXHIBIT B

REDEVELOPMENT DISTRICT PLAN FOR THE REDEVELOPMENT OF THE GUFFEY PROPERTIES, LLC REDEVELOPMENT DISTRICT THROUGH TAX INCREMENT FINANCING

May 2022

SECTION 1: PURPOSE

A district plan is required for inclusion in the establishment of a redevelopment district under K.S.A. 12-1770 et seq. (the "Act"). The district plan is a preliminary plan that identifies proposed redevelopment project areas within the district, and describes in a general manner the buildings, facilities and improvements to be constructed or improved.

SECTION 2: DESCRIPTION OF TAX INCREMENT INCOME

Projects financed through tax increment financing typically involve the creation of an "increment" in real estate property tax income. The increment is generated by segregating the assessed values of real property located within a defined geographic area such that a portion of the resulting property taxes flow to the City to fund projects in the redevelopment district, and the remaining portion flows to all remaining taxing jurisdictions. The portion of property taxes flowing to the City is determined by the increase in the assessed value of the properties within the redevelopment district as a result of the new development occurring within the same area. When the current aggregate property tax rates of all taxing jurisdictions are applied to this increase in assessed property value from new development, increment income is generated. Public improvements within the district and other qualified expenditures are funded by the City and repaid over a specified period of time with this increment income. The property taxes attributable to the assessed value existing prior to redevelopment, the "original valuation," continue to flow to all taxing jurisdictions just as they did prior to redevelopment. This condition continues for the duration of the established district, as defined by statute, or until all eligible project costs are funded, whichever is of shorter duration.

SECTION 3: DESCRIPTION OF THE DISTRICT BOUNDARIES

The property within the proposed district includes all property generally located northeast of the intersection of North Maple Street and West Park Road at 506 N. Maple Street in Garnett, Anderson County, Kansas; and including all street rights of way adjacent thereto. The legal description of the proposed district is attached hereto and incorporated herein as Attachment 1.

SECTION 4: BUILDINGS AND FACILITIES

The existing structures on the property within the proposed redevelopment district are 35 years old or older, and may become a blighted area due to the dilapidation and deterioration of the structures and the presence of structures below minimum code standards. Accordingly, such property is a "conservation area" and an "eligible area" as defined in the Act and is legally eligible for establishment of a redevelopment district.

SECTION 5: REDEVELOPMENT AND PROJECT AREAS

It is anticipated that all property within the district will be designated as the "project area" under the redevelopment project plan, which must be adopted by the City Commission by a 2/3 majority vote before the expenditure of any tax increment financing funds. The plans for redevelopment of the project area generally call for a full remodel or replacement of the current structure into a single use retail building, and associated improvements.

Tax increment financing may be used to pay for eligible costs, including site preparation, demolition, public infrastructure improvements, such as streetscape, public parking, utility extensions, landscaping, pedestrian and bike paths and public plazas. Except as specifically provided by the Act, tax increment financing may not be used for construction of any buildings owned or leased to a private, nongovernmental entity.

SECTION 6: CONCLUSION

After the establishment of the redevelopment district, any redevelopment projects to be funded with tax increment financing will be presented to the Governing Body for approval through the adoption of a Redevelopment Project Plan. The Project Plan will identify the specific project area located within the established tax increment financing district and will include detailed descriptions of the projects as well as a financial feasibility study showing that the economic benefits out-weigh the costs. The Project Plan must be reviewed by the Planning Commission to determine if the Project Plan is consistent with the intent of the comprehensive plan for development of the City. Thereafter, the Governing Body shall adopt a resolution calling a public hearing to consider the Project Plan; notice of such hearing to be provided by mail and publication in accordance with the Act. After conclusion of the public hearing, the Project Plan may be approved by ordinance passed by not less than a two-thirds majority vote of the Governing Body.

Tax increment financing does not impose any additional taxes on property located within the redevelopment district. All property within the district is appraised and taxed the same as any other property. However, if property within the district increases in value as a result of redevelopment, the resulting increment of additional tax revenue is diverted to pay for a portion of the redevelopment costs.

Library's book discussion to be June 22

Garnett Public Library's book discussion for June will be held on June 22nd at 7 p.m. Our book to be discussed will be, "An Unfinished Story: A Novel," by Boo Walker.

Our novel takes place in Florida and focuses on two specific people. "It's been three years since Claire Kite lost her husband, David, an aspiring novelist, in a tragic car accident. Claire finally finds the courage to move on; then she discovers among the remnants of her shattered world her husband's last manuscript. It's intimate, stirring--and unfinished. An idea comes to her...What if she can find someone to give David's novel the ending it deserves?"

Whitaker Grant is famous for his one and only bestselling novel--a masterpiece that became a hit film. But after being crippled by the pressure of success and his failed marriage, Whitaker retreated from the public eye in his native St. Petersburg, Florida. Years later, he's struggling through band's last manuscript. It's intimate, stirring--and unfinished. An idea comes to her...What if she can find someone to give David's novel the ending it deserves?"

Discussion will be held June 22nd at 7 p.m. The books are available for checkout at the library. Please join us and connect through books!

City manager Travis Wilson told commissioners the Land Bank would have to be separately funded under the 2023 city budget which will be prepared this summer. Gwin argued that to adopt the measure, it needed to come with a budget recommendation and a source for that money. Sheahan and Cole favored discussing the funding sources after more study and along with the hammering out of other operational mechanics of the entity.

The family of Don Stockton would like to take this time to say a very heartfelt thank you for the excellent care and kindness that Dr. Ross Kimball and his staff showed Don over the last several years. Thank you to Jennifer, the nurse from Good Shepherd Hospice for the tender care given to Don and our family during his final hours. It was a great comfort to us. Finally, thank you to the nurses, doctors, hospital staff, and EMTs that cared for Don while he was a patient at the Anderson County Hospital. Words cannot express our gratitude for all of the kindness shown to our family through cards, memorials, food, phone calls and visits from our friends, family and neighbors. Our time with you remembering Don will be treasured by our family.

Thank you and God bless.
