Charges filed in 3-year probe into multi-county farm equipment thefts

Alleged theft of tractors, other equipment means man will face felonies

BY DANE HICKS THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW

GARNETT - Multiple theft charges were filed last week against a Garnett man in connection with an extensive multi-year investigation into the thefts of numerous pieces of farm equipment and other items from Anderson and other counties.

Anderson County Attorney Elizabeth Oliver charged Marvin L. Slyter, 58 of Garnett, with eight amended counts of theft all connected to incidents alleged to have occurred in November 2019. More than 100 witnesses were listed on the complaint.

Slyter had first appearance last week and is set for a status hearing in the case July 12.

Items claimed to have been stolen which were recovered and on which the charges were based were primarily John Deere farm equipment items - large tractors & loader combinations, additional tractors, skid steer and a bat wing mower. Victims in the complaints ranged from private individuals to the Kansas Department of Transportation as well as the financial services arm of John Deere in the counties of Anderson, Woodson, Coffey and Miami. Oliver did not have information on the filing of other possible charges in those counties.

Though the length of the investigation resulted in heavy criticism of law enforcement in Anderson and nearby counties,

Presley will seek clemency

He'll ask Kelly to vacate remaining child sex crime sentence

BY DANE HICKS THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW

NORTON - A former Garnett man convicted of felony child molestation in 2010 has applied to Governor Laura Kelly for clemency.

Michael Tate Presley, 50 and presently held at the Kansas Department of Corrections facility in Norton, was convicted in August 2010 of aggravated indecent liberties with a 13 year-old victim stemming from incidents in the summer of 2009.

He's serving a sentence of 25 years to life.

Clemency is a request for a reduction or abolition of sentencing and in Kansas can only be granted by the governor. Governor Kelly granted eight clemency requests last year - a rarity in Kansas, since the state's four past governors all together granted only 9 requests.

The American Civil Liberties Union of Kansas filed numerous clemency requests on behalf of Kansas inmates during the Covid pandemic. The organization no longer conducts its Clemency Project but provides an online tool kit for inmates or their families hoping to file requests.

County publishes intent to sell delinquent tracts

Second tax sale in three years aims to put property back on paying rolls

BY DANE HICKS THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW

GARNETT - Anderson County plans to sell 32 tracts of property condemned for delinquent taxes at an upcoming tax foreclosure sale. Those tracts are listed on Page 9 in today's Review.

The county's last tax sale sent about 52 properties to the auction bloc in 2019. Tax sales follow what is usually years of notices to property owners and often repeated publication in an annual advertisement that lists tax-delinquent property owners and tracts, which is published in local newspapers according to state law each August.

Because of the expense of foreclosure sales in legal work and notification, most counties have sales every couple of years. Anderson County adopted a policy several years ago of stepping up the rate of tax sales to be more aggressive in getting delinquent properties back onto the paying tax rolls. Campbell said tax sales typically see about 10 percent of owners settle up their taxes when their final notice arrives, and another 10 percent pay after the final notice runs in the newspaper. Tax sales typically net only a small

Beyond the media hype, MonkeyPox isn't much to fear

Few cases but lots of alarm characterize the early days of news on rare disease

BY DANE HICKS THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW

GARNETT - Though its rare occurrence is far less impacting than even the less than one percent fatality rate of Covid infections, MonkeyPox is nonetheless getting media headlines and developing concern in some quarters of the public which are being publicly addressed by health officials.

The Journal of Urgent Care Medicine website dispels the hype pretty bluntly on its website.

"National newspapers and television news programs have breathlessly relayed mounting cases of MonkeyPox, likely eliciting concerns that may be out of proportion to actual danger among patients—at least for now," a recent post on the organization's website said.

Rebecca Johnson with the Southeast Kansas Multi-County Health Department said last week there had been 40 identified cases of MonkeyPox in the US as of June 8, but none have been reported in the 4-state area so far.

MonkeyPox is transmitted between people primarily through direct contact with infectious sores, scabs, or body fluids. It also can be spread by respiratory secretions during prolonged, face-to-face contact and by intimate sexual contact between people.

Johnson said in humans, the symptoms of monkeypox are similar to but milder than the symptoms of smallpox.

Monkeypox begins with fever, headache, muscle aches, and exhaustion. The main difference between symptoms of smallpox and monkeypox is that monkeypox causes lymph nodes to swell (lymphadenopathy) while smallpox does not. The incubation period (time from infection to symptoms) for monkeypox is usually 7-14 days but can range from 5-21 days. Within 1 to 3 days (sometimes longer) after the appearance of fever, the patient develops a rash, often beginning on the face then spreading to other parts of the body. Lesions progress through stages before falling off. The illness typically lasts for 2-4 weeks.

Johnson said people can avoid MonkeyPox by avoiding contact with animals that could harbor the virus (including animals that are sick or that have been found dead in areas where monkeypox occurs); avoiding contact with any materials, such as bedding, that has been in contact with a sick animal. Isolating infected patients from others who could be at risk for infection; and practicing good hand hygiene after contact with infected animals or humans. For example, washing your hands with soap and water or using an alcohol-based hand sanitizer. You can also use personal protective equipment (PPE) when caring for patients.

KCC will let watchdog groups speak on behalf of ratepayers in Anderson County power line issue after all

BY PATRICK RICHARDSON THE SENTINEL

TOPEKA - Despite calling the brouhaha surrounding a controversial electric line project that would pass through Anderson County "a circus" and "drama trauma," Kansas Corporation Commission Commissioner Susan K. Duffy voted with commission Chairman Dwight Keen to lift restrictions on a commercial ratepayers' interest group's ability to intervene in the case.

In early May, in a nearly unprecedented move, the KCC limited the ability of the Kansas Industrial Consumer's Group and another rate watchdog organization to intervene on behalf of retail elec-

USD 365 Board in round of "executive" sessions over personnel

GARNETT - USD 365 School Board members were set to meet again last night in the second of two recent special meetings called specifically for closed sessions to deal with personnel.

The board met in closed "executive" sessions at its regular monthly meeting on June 2 for some 45 minutes. The topic at that session as well was non-elected personnel.

Kansas law allows public bodies to close their open sessions for a handful of exemptions specifically detailed in the Kansas Open Meetings Act; one of those is discussions regarding personnel management. No actions can be taken in executive session; committees must return to open session to take binding action and have it recorded in meeting minutes.

The USD 365 board met last Wednesday for a 30 minute executive session but took no action stemming from that meeting. Last night's special meeting also included a business item for high school course offerings.

Colony Christian Church - "Pentecost"

Darren McGhee gave the Communion Meditation, "From the Wings of Vultures". Vultures are here for a reason, they prey on dead things. They are not pretty, and are in fact disgusting in appearance and in their choice of food. You know there is something dead when you see them. Darren recently saw three vultures on a roof, lined up with their wings outstretched, and it reminded him of Christ's crucifixion. Jesus took the world's sin upon himself, arms stretched wide, airing off the stink of that sin. We all need to air out our sin's stench to God.

land, there is a famine of God's Word. Have we kept our Holy days holy? How is the seed being sown, falling on hard hearts due to God's Word and prayer being taken out of our schools? The Israelites barns were empty and their graineries abandoned. Similarly, statistics show that Americans are not storing up the Word of God in their hearts. Joel 1 tells us how Joel gave God's message to the people to give them hope. Joel told them to fast, weep and mourn. That if they humble themselves, confess & repent of their sin, God would restore them. And God commanded them to celebrate annually in Jerusalem: Festival of the Unleavened Bread (Passover), Festival of the Harvest/First Fruits/Weeks (Pentecost), and Festival of the Final Harvest/Shelters. We are to gather together to worship God. And being obedient to God's Word will put us at the right place and time to experience the Holy Spirit working within us. And our hope is found in belonging to the Lord. Everyone who calls on His name will be saved. Why did they turn back?

BY DAVID BILDERBACK

In the 6th chapter of John, Jesus issues some hard teaching and upon hearing it we read, "Many of his disciples turned back and no longer followed him." (John 6:66) These were not the twelve but were other people who had associated themselves with Jesus.

Jesus then makes this statement in John 6:65, "This is why I told you no one can come to me unless the Father has enabled him." What Jesus is saying here is you can associate yourself with him by your choosing. But our choosing him will result only in us becoming like the disciples that turned back and no longer followed him.

Jesus says, "No one can come to me unless the Father has enabled him." So how does the Father enable us to come to Jesus? This is best illustrated in the life of Nicodemus. Nicodemus was a Pharisee and a member of the Jewish ruling council. In order to avoid being embarrassed he came to Jesus at night. Why would someone in Nicodemus' position seek Jesus out? Here we see Jesus' statement worked out in real life. God enabled Nicodemus to come by the powerful work of the Holy Spirit. Until we are convicted by the Holy Spirit we don't see our need for a new life. The Holy Spirit revealed the truth about Jesus to Nicodemus.

So what did Jesus tell Nicodemus? Jesus said, "I tell you the truth, no one can see the kingdom of God unless he is born again." Without the regenerating work of the Holy Spirit we are unable to come to Jesus. So what is the regenerating work of the Holy Spirit? The Spirit convicts us of our sin and puts within us a repentant heart that desires a relationship with God. He reveals truth to us, lives within us, and then enables us to respond to that truth. Nicodemus was enabled by the Holy Spirit to be able to choose Jesus.

For sure the Holy Spirit can be resisted. In Acts 24:25, Paul addresses Felix, the governor, and we read, Felix was afraid and said, "You (Paul) may leave. When I find it convenient, I will send for you." We never read that Felix found a more convenient time. We should exercise extreme caution to see that never happens to us.

Beachy wins most Pitch games

On June 9th we enjoyed having 14 card players come together for a fun filled night of 13-point pitch.

Martha Beachy won the most games; Karen Register won the least; Dorothy Spencer won both the 50/50 and the most perfect games with five. We welcome anyone who would like to join us for a fun evening. No professional players in this group, just people who love to play cards. Come join us!

Clueless Joe offers one after another

In 1920, a Chicago White Sox outfielder nicknamed Shoeless Joe Jackson was banned from Major League Baseball for conspiring to fix the 1919 World Series. The accusation was that Jackson did not field his position properly, leading to the Sox losing to the Cincinnati Reds. Jackson and seven other players allegedly received bribes to "fix" the series.

A Chicago newspaper reporter allegedly told Jackson: "Say it ain't so, Joe."

Today, we have Clueless Joe Biden, who is presiding over a collapsing economy in America. Is Joe doing that on purpose?

Inflation is running white-hot at 8.6 percent, much more if you factor in gas and food prices.

In addition, the stock market is melting down this June, home values are dropping in many places, and a scary recession seems inevitable.

Yet, there was Clueless Joe telling a hapless Jimmy Kimmel that the U.S. economy is the strongest in the world.

Well, it WAS in Trump's last year when inflation totaled 1.4 percent and growth was steady.

The folks know old Joe is jiving them. An ABC News poll released last week says just 28 percent of American adults think Biden is doing a good job handling inflation. Not sure, but I think some of the 28 percent were smoking crack when ABC called.

A Quinnipiac poll also last week has Clueless Joe at 35 percent job approval.

Again, who ARE those approving people?

So, as Joe might say, here's the deal. President Biden is shaping up to be the worst president since indoor plumbing was invented.

He's a certified disaster, crack or no crack. Donald Trump did a good job handling the economy. Americans across the board prospered. That's why the contrast to Biden is so shocking.

Now, some conservatives believe Biden is purposely tanking the economy just like Shoeless Joe, and his cohorts are alleged to have sunk the White Sox. Those folks think there's a conspiracy afoot to destroy capitalism.

NATIONAL COMMENTARY

BILL O'REILLY, Guest Commentary

But I don't believe that simply because I closely watch President Biden and understand these simple words: HE DOES NOT KNOW WHAT HE IS DOING.

Say it slowly.

And so we the people suffer. Our financial security is at risk. Our personal safety is threatened by criminals who are not prosecuted. Thirteen American soldiers were killed because Biden unnecessarily ordered a thousand vicious terrorists released from prison in Afghanistan. Millions of foreign nationals stream across the border illegally along with tons of lethal narcotics.

Does Joe even know? Did Jimmy K mention any of that to him?

No, he did not. Clueless meets Hapless.

Instead of primetime January 6th hearings, maybe we should have the networks cover the economic chaos in real-time. Liz Cheney could host and transfer her obsession with Trump to the Democrats who are hammering working Americans. We could have charts, live shots from gas stations, and interviews from grocery store checkouts.

All the while, Clueless Joe could chortle and blame Putin.

To quote SNL alum Jon Lovitz: "Yeah, that's the ticket."

This week's Phone Forum was really sad. It was a lot of depressing people not being very happy. There's a lot of things wrong in this world but we have to change our own minds. President Trump is an ex-president, he wasn't the Christian you thought he was. The only reason his wife is still with him is he would deport her and her family.

The simple fact that you were fooled and conned doesn't make you an idiot. What makes you an idiot is when you blatantly refuse to look at the truth and make the conscious decision to believe the lies.

The baby killers say abortion laws won't stop abortions, only safe ones. But they think gun laws will stop killings. Makes sense to me.

Let's put it out there. Gun control. Those children were slaughtered. Where were the people with the guns to protect our children from being slaughtered. Can somebody please learn to shoot the bad guy?

In response to abortion, I do not have testicles to cut off but I do have active brain cells. Keep your legs closed, tie your tubes, whatever your solution is. We all know how babies are made and no where on this earth is it okay to murder a child. Abortion is murder. "Thou shalt not kill," Exodus 20:13.

It's amazing to me that the Democrats who armed the Taliban & Ukraine with billions of dollars worth of weapons suddenly care about gun control.

Just got a question for all you Biden voters out there. Got a 401k or stocks?

About the abortion talk in the Phone Forum. I just wish they would hurry up and announce the change to Roe v. Wade. The more they wait around, the more they give the crazy baby killers a chance to kill a member of the court like they tried to do Kavanaugh. Then guess what happens? Biden appoints Obama to the Supreme Court and there goes any chance of ever stopping the murder of babies in this country. Need to hurry before it's too late.

"Value Them Both" return to reason on abortion

There is no question abortion is a highly divisive and controversial issue in Kansas and across the country.

While there are areas of debate with the practice, there are areas where the people have widespread agreement.

A "Newsweek" poll indicated that 80 percent of Americans believe elective abortions in the third trimester that are not done to protect the life of the mother should not be allowed.

The Charlotte Lozier Institute conducted a poll where 77 percent opposed abortions based on the sex of the child.

A recent poll by the Associated Press showed a majority of Americans support abortion in the first trimester.

But a decision by the Kansas Supreme Court discounted the will of the people by claiming that abortion in Kansas is guaranteed by the Kansas Constitution.

The language in the Kansas Constitution that provided the foundation for this ruling, according to the Kansas Justices, is, "All men are possessed of equal and inalienable natural rights, among which are life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness."

They stated, "We are now asked: 'Is this declaration of rights more than an idealized aspiration? And, if so, do the substantive rights include a woman's right to make decisions about her body, including the decision whether to continue her pregnancy? We answer these questions, 'Yes.'"

By interpreting the right to life to also mean the absolute right to end it if that life is still in the pregnancy stage, the Kansas Supreme Court undid more than a century of rational regulations of abortion in Kansas.

Prior to their ruling, abortions did take place in Kansas, but there were reasonable restrictions that reflected the concerns of the people of Kansas through legislation. Those regulations did not prevent a woman from obtaining an abortion in many cases, but there were requirements on the practice and methods that had to be followed.

After the court's ruling, that wall of reasonable regulation was completely removed, and Kansas became a destination for those seeking to abort a girl because the mother wanted a boy, and those who wanted to abort by dismemberment in the ninth month could now find that service available in Kansas.

While there are those who want the practice banished altogether, the alternative cannot be to allow any and all abortions in any way, shape or form.

The procedure cannot be an absolute in any and all circumstances as interpreted by the Kansas Supreme Court.

Pro-abortion activists are trying to claim that supporting the Value Them Both Amendment will end abortions in Kansas.

History has shown that is patently false. Before this extreme ruling by the Kansas Supreme Court, abortion was allowed in Kansas. There were some reasonable restrictions, but those restrictions had to pass the Kansas Legislature and then be signed by the governor. If the people of Kansas disagreed, they could elect different representatives and change the law.

But the Kansas Supreme Court usurped

What use have Republicans for a boring Trump?

Donald Trump implicitly endorsed a half-baked conspiracy theory for why his candidates lost in the Georgia Republican primaries, and it created barely a ripple in the political world.

The man who shocked and outraged his way through four transfixing years as president of the United States has become a known commodity, indeed predictable and even monotonous.

It's a blessing and a curse for formerly cutting-edge musicians to see their once radically counter-cultural material show up in TV ads for cars. There's no danger that Trump will ever be similarly laundered into the mainstream. But he can become boring, which will put at risk one of the pillars of his appeal as the most wildly entertaining, mad-cap national political figure of our lifetimes.

Now, I say this as someone who thought Trump's act might begin to wear thin some time in 2015. I was wrong then, and I may well be wrong again. At the very least, though, Trump can't benefit from the shock of the new a second time, or a third time, depending on how you're counting.

The rallies, once an innovation and still his campaign signature, long ago fell into a groove of familiarity -- the stilted reading of scripted remarks off the teleprompter, interrupted by spontaneous riffs and ridicule of his enemies.

Perhaps, by now, the terms of abuse have become such timeless classics that fans would be disappointed not to experience them live, a little like going to a Beach Boys concert anytime over the last half-century and not hearing "California Girls."

Yet you could have heard the same lines

NATIONAL COMMENTARY

RICH LOWRY, King Features Syndicate

at any Trump rally at any place on any occasion over the last several years. The media is still "Fake News." MSNBC is still "MSDNC." Adam Schiff is still "shifty" and Chuck Todd still "sleepy."

And, as you might have heard, Chris Wallace always wanted to be like his father Mike of "60 Minutes" fame, but sadly didn't have the talent.

Much of his focus is backward-looking. Republican voters care, as they should, about the beginnings of the poorly predicated Russia probe that consumed so much time and attention during Trump's first couple of years in office, but there's no way they care as much as Trump does.

The former president said the words "Russia" or "hoax" innumerable times during a rally the other day for Liz Cheney's opponent in Wyoming. The casual observer could have been forgiven for thinking it was an event primarily about the Mueller probe with some throwaway lines about Harriet Hageman mixed in purely for variety's sake. He talked about his two impeachments, and, of course, his "perfect phone call" with Ukrainian president Volodymyr Zelenskyy.

There is wisdom in the famous William Faulkner line that, "The past is never dead. It's not even past." It's an adage that's traditionally been best suited to Southern gothic novelists, though, rather than American politicians who usually benefit from putting an accent on the future.

Trump's signature 2016 boast of, "I alone can fix it," has become, "I alone can fixate on it."

The candidate who brought relatively neglected issues that mattered to the average voter into the center of the political discussion in 2016, from immigration and trade to opioids, is now largely telling voters about the slights and ill-treatment that matter to him in 2022.

All that said, there's no doubt that rally attendees still enthusiastically enjoy Trump's lines. And there's also no beating something with nothing. If Trump's rallies are stale, what hot new event in Republican politics is going to supplant them? The fact is that Trump at his most dull still may be more interesting than a conventional Republican at his or her most entertaining.

A Trump march toward the GOP nomination will elate his supporters and create a five-alarm fire in the press and among Democrats. But at least this time around, everyone will know what he's going to say next.

Letters:

Bad roads

As a taxpayer in Anderson County, I am disgusted by the deplorable conditions of our rural roads. I travel the rural roads daily and I have seen the roads deteriorate to the point that you cannot drive on them. The countless potholes and ditches cut across the road by draining water make it dangerous, and extremely hard on vehicles. About a year and a half ago I had to replace both the tire rods on my truck, most likely due to the condition of the roads. It's hard on a vehicle's suspension and front alignments.

Most of the roads have little and in some cases no rock on them. There are no ditches on either side of the road for water to drain, so the water simply takes what gravel that was on the road and washes off to the sides of the road. In some cases, the sides of the road are above the road

Missing turtles

To any interested party, I moved to Greeley, Ks., in 2006 and purchased a home there. I came from California.

I had in my possession two box turtles that I have owned since 1992.

On Saturday, June 4, 2022, I went out on my front porch to feed them and they were gone. It was not within their power to escape from their cage so I have to guess that they were stolen.

They were in their cage on Friday late afternoon.

Am so utterly devastated by this and it is beyond my imagination that anyone would take them. I am very worried that they will come to some harm or that someone will just turn them loose. They have been in my possession for thirty years. I don't know if they could survive on their own. My heart is broken and I would truly like to have them returned to me.

If it is in your power to print this letter so some people could know and let me know if they think they can reveal the whereabouts of these animals I would appreciate it.

Sincerely,
Marilynn Lolley, Greeley

A trip to see some famous Kentucky horses of the past

Our Kentucky trip continues:

Thursday 19 May 2022

At 8:45 a.m. this morning we departed our motel, on our way to the "Old Friend's Farm" arriving there at 9:15 a.m. The Old Friends Farm is a 235 acre farm for retired race horses. There are presently 222 horses living there. Each horse has its own acre of Kentucky bluegrass.

Each acre is individually fenced in and has its own small shelter house, water tank and feed trough. As we departed from the bus we were greeted by a little Shetland pony named "Little Silver Charm."

Michael Blowen and his wife Jane are the owners of this farm. Jane was our wonderful guide for the morning. In order for a horse to run in the all races.

Kentucky Derby they must be 3 years old and can only race one time. Phillis can now race in DIGGING UP THE PAST

As we toured we got to pet and feed (a bucket of carrots) to some horses.

First was 28 yr. old 'Silver Charm' who was a 1997 winner, career winnings were 7 million.

Next was 'Special Ring' who never ran in the KD as was injured at the age of 3.

'Swain' who raced mainly in Europe, 38 yrs old (the oldest ever), career winnings 4 Million.

'Sun King' who was the 1999 Kentucky Derby winner, career winnings of 4.2 million.

There also was 'Birdstone,' a Belmont race winner, 'Game On Dude' with career winnings of 6.5 million, and 'Little Mike' who finished with career winnings of 3.6 million.

The prize winner of them all was 28 year old 'Touch Of Gold'. Career winnings on the track was only 1.8 million but a whopping 45 million breeding earnings.

While there we got to see two of the horse cemeteries. The larger one has headstones for each horse buried there with ages of birth and death on them.

All of the horses had been cremated. Near the entrance to the farm is a small special cemetery for all-time Kentucky Derby winners. This is where the famous "Secretariat" is laid to rest.

What a wonderful morning. Our next stop was at Shelbyville, Kentucky for lunch at Claudie Sanders. Guess what the menu was? "Finger Licken Fried Chicken".

Oh yes! Gas price was $5.15 per gallon.

Next week our trip will come to an end.

the legislative role with their ruling, removing the ability of the people of Kansas to support regulations on areas of widespread agreement.

The actual text of the amendment states, "Because Kansans value both women and children, the constitution of the state of Kansas does not require government funding of abortion and does not create or secure a right to abortion. To the extent permitted by the constitution of the United States, the people, through their elected state representatives and state senators, may pass laws regarding abortion, including, but not limited to, laws that account for circumstances of pregnancy resulting from rape or incest, or circumstances of necessity to save the life of the mother."

Nothing in the amendment bans the practice. It simply returns Kansas to the place it was before the Kansas Supreme Court took the extreme position of removing virtually any restrictions whatsoever.

While many may support abortion, few believe the sex of the baby is a legitimate reason for an abortion, or that a nine-month healthy pregnancy should be ended by dismemberment and evacuation so that a live birth is avoided.

Children are surviving early deliveries more and more. Doctors now consider the 22nd week of pregnancy the time period where viability is possible.

Still, most believe abortion in the first 12 weeks should remain an option.

The only way Kansans can return to reasonable regulations of abortion is to vote YES on the Value Them Both Amendment, and we believe that the people of Kansas have shown great compassion and restraint in regulating the practice through their elected officials prior to this radical ruling by the Kansas Supreme Court.

The procedure will remain controversial, but by having the conversations and debates, Kansas can return to reasonable policies that make sense for all concerned only if the Value Them Both Amendment passes.

Frontier Extension welcomes summer interns

OTTAWA - The Frontier Extension District has been awarded three summer interns through a K-State Research and Extension grant to help combat covid learning within our communities. Feedback from members of our local communities shed some light on youth mental health.

With health and wellness frames in mind, we have created Bicycle SPIN (Special Interest) Clubs partnering with local libraries. The youth will explore nature, food and nutrition, exercise, and much more. These will provide a safe space where kids feel welcomed to make connections and thrive!

Ethan Hatfield is the 4-H intern for Franklin county. Born and raised in Pomona, his family runs a small Hereford cattle operation there. Cattle showing is his favorite among the 4-H activities he's taken part in. He's currently a biomedical engineering major at Kansas State University with hopes to work as a family physician in a rural area.

Hailey Gillespie is the 4-H intern for Anderson County. She's been an active member of Seekers Not Slackers and was involved in a number of 4-H projects keeping her emphasis on sheep. She's a Fort Scott Community College Livestock Judging Team Member working on an associate's at FSCC and plans to transfer to K-State.

Josie Thompson is from Osage County and was a member of Willing Workers 4-H Club for 12 years. Her favorite projects were Livestock and Food and Nutrition. She said she's anxious to help make kids feel included and that they belong enroute to finding their passion.

Beware: Kids vulnerable to heatstroke

TOPEKA - Outside of vehicle crashes, heatstroke is the number one vehicle-related killer of children in the United States. In 2021, at least 23 children died as a result of being left in a hot car. And more than 900 children have died of heatstroke since 1998 because they were left or became trapped in a hot car.

Heatstroke, also known as hyperthermia, is the leading cause of non-crash, vehicle-related deaths for children. It occurs when the body can't cool itself quickly enough and the body temperature rises to dangerous levels. Children are more vulnerable to heatstroke because their bodies heat up three to five times faster than an adults.

Anderson County Sheriff Vern Valentine said the number of stolen items, poor documentation and the large area involved made gathering hard evidence to base charges a major problem.

Valentine said in an interview the situation was complicated by the fact that much of the equipment recovered in Anderson County was stolen in other counties - sometimes months or more back. The number of thefts, the time frame and connecting recovered items to the right individuals presented challenges, Valentine said.

"Some of the equipment had been stolen from Allen Co, and Miami County back in 2016 and the round baler had been stolen from Woodson County a few weeks (previous)," Valentine said in 2019. "I know this is not a lot but when you got crimes that occurred in other counties dating back three years there is a lot to be done."

Federal money goes to Uvalde school district

UVALDE, TX. – Last Week the U.S. Department of Education disbursed a $1.5 million School Emergency Response to Violence (Project SERV) grant to the Uvalde Consolidated Independent School District (UCISD). The proactive release of grant funds reflects the extraordinary and immediate needs facing UCISD and follows Secretary of Education Miguel Cardona's visit to the district on May 31 and June 1, 2022.

Project SERV funds are authorized under the Elementary and Secondary Education Act and may be used for activities that help restore a sense of safety and security for the district's students, teachers, staff, and families, and that address specific needs of those individuals directly affected by the shooting.

Such activities include mental health services for staff and students, and overtime pay for teachers, counselors, and security staff, and may take place over the summer in the form of additional summer programming.

tric ratepayers in a case involving a power transmission project that would grant eminent domain authority to a private company and would see Kansas consumers' rates increase with no benefit received.

At the time, Duffy and fellow Kelly appointee Andrew J. French voted to restrict the ability of KICG and Kansans for Lower Electric Rates, which filed a routine motion to intervene — as they have done many times in the last ten years — disputing whether the new transmission line was "necessary" for Kansas. Keen was the lone dissenting voice and found the order so egregious that he found it necessary — for the first time in four years on the commission — to file a dissenting opinion.

The order at the time said that retail ratepayers didn't have standing to challenge the necessity of the transmission line because those rates are set by federal agencies — despite the fact that those transmission costs would be passed on directly to Kansas consumers.

On June 2, 2022, however, the KCC reversed course. Attorney James Zakoura filed the motion as well as several motions to intervene on behalf of several agricultural groups which would also be impacted by rate increases.

Duffy, while saying she would join Keen in the new order, was dismissive of the controversy around the project.

"It just seems like we have a lot of drama trauma before we're even out of the gate, and I want to stay clear and stay focused on the issues," she said. "Not on the — and I don't want to use the word circus — oh, I used it — that appears to be going on right now. We've got an issue we need to tackle based on the facts of the case."

The quip drew a chuckle from French — and ire from Keen.

"I wasn't intending to say anything, but I'm going to now," Keen said. "I'm going to be very succinct: I don't think there's any resemblance to a circus about the procedures taking place here. These are all serious. There are differences of opinion about some subject matter. But I do agree that maybe the differences among the commissioners is (sic) relatively small, but there are differences."

The background

The Southwest Power Pool, the regional federal electricity transmission organization that covers Kansas and other states, has asked the Kansas Corporation Commission to declare NextEra, the wind developer selected for the project by the SPP, a "public utility."

Doing so would allow the developer the power of eminent domain — the right to condemn private property from landowners who might not want to sell.

The project would cross farms and ranches in Coffey, Anderson, Allen, Bourbon, and Crawford counties before stretching into Missouri, connecting the Wolf Creek nuclear power plant to a substation in Jasper County, Missouri.

If approved, the line would send electricity that was originally intended to serve the Wichita and Kansas City metro

THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW 6-14-2022 / SUBMITTED

Myers, Benjamin now in BPW Hall of Fame

Submitted by Helen Norman

Shirley Benjamin and Jenny Myers were inducted in the Kansas BPW Hall of Fame at state convention. We are so proud of these ladies and wanted to share this great honor with our local community.

Shirley Benjamin joined in 1977 and is still very active in her local and state BPW. Besides being in BPW, Shirley is very active in the Hiatt Club, library activities and works at the Welda Flea Market. She has taught many crocheting in this community.

Shirley is are longest member that brings elegance with her knowledge, time and expertise to our local and state BPW. She prepares the monthly meals jointly with the United Welda Methodist Church ladies. She always holds the February program for the BPW birthday and always gives us more knowledge every year.

Jenny Myers joined in 2008 and look how she has grown. Her growth includes holding offices in the local organization, project chairs and more. She excelled so well locally, she jumped right into the state organization with both feet and worked her way into our State President in 2020-2021. During all this time she was also on the board with Kansas BPW Educational Foundation and is currently serving as President. Jenny shares her love not just with BPW, but is very close with her family, by raising her grandchildren. Jenny shares her love with everyone and with this love, hard work, caring all levels of BPW.

Both ladies' talents excel in many areas, and exemplifies the State's motto "BPW/Kansas: Working Together for a Better Tomorrow."

Medical experts say any individuals infected with MonkeyPox virus have a mild, self-limiting disease course in the absence of specific therapy. However, the prognosis for MonkeyPox depends on multiple factors such as previous vaccination status, initial health status, concurrent illnesses, and comorbidities among others. Currently there is no specific treatment approved for monkeypox virus infections. However, antivirals developed for use in patients with smallpox may prove beneficial.

Powls earns top academic award at Bethel

NORTH NEWTON, Kan. - Bethel College's highest academic award, the Thresher, goes to one or more graduating seniors - this year to Emma Beachy, Kalona, Iowa, in history and music, and Bethany Powls, Garnett, in English.

Powls received the Thresher for "sustained academic excellence in English studies, for completion of an outstanding English senior thesis, and for her editorial role in campus publications."

English faculty remarked on Powls' "commitment to research [that] is notable in her senior thesis, 'From Nursery to Narnia: Ideal Girlhood in Nineteenth-Century Children's Literature and C.S. Lewis's The Lion, the Witch, and the Wardrobe.'"

Even beyond Powls' excellence in the classroom, beginning in her first-year Introduction to Literature course and sustained through four years, and an exemplary senior thesis, the Thresher citation also recognized her for editorial leadership.

Powls served three years as editor-in-chief of The Bethel Collegian, the student-led newspaper, and worked on the editorial team for Bethel's annual student and alumni literary magazine YAWP! during her senior year.

As a junior, she did an independent study as an editorial intern for Mennonite Life, creating a significant section of the issue in which alumni wrote on navigating the pandemic.

In addition, Powls was a member of the Bethel College Concert Choir and the women's a cappella ensemble Woven.

Bethel is a four-year liberal arts college founded in 1887 and is the oldest Mennonite

Case No. AN-2022-CV-000012

PURSUANT TO CHAPTER 60 AND 79 OF KANSAS STATUTES ANNOTATED

PETITION

COMES NOW the plaintiff, by and through James R. Campbell, Anderson County Counsel, and for its cause of action against the defendants alleges and states as follows:

1. Plaintiff is a body politic and corporate, and is a duly organized and existing county of the State of Kansas. A resolution, heretofore adopted by plaintiff pursuant to K.S.A. 79-2801, as amended, authorized the institution of this proceeding to foreclose tax liens against real property in Anderson County, Kansas, and attached as Exhibit "A". Said liens and real property are more specifically described in Exhibit "B", which is attached hereto and incorporated herein by reference.

2. All requirements of law pertaining to assessment, levy, taxation, publication and proof thereof, sale and purchase in the name of Anderson County, Kansas, as prescribed by K.S.A. 79-2301 et seq., and every other legal condition precedent to judicial foreclosure of said tax liens, have been performed and satisfied. The taxes have not been paid as required by law, and all the within described real estate is subject to foreclosure and sale for delinquent taxes.

3. The caption of this Petition is incorporated herein and made a part hereof by reference. The persons named as defendants therein are the owners or supposed owners, and persons having or claiming to have an interest in the lands described herein, so far as plaintiff is able to ascertain, but the exact nature of such ownership and interest is unknown to the plaintiff.

4. Plaintiff further alleges that it has diligently inquired as to the residences and whereabouts of the defendants herein and, except as set forth in Exhibit "B" attached hereto, is unable to state the residences and whereabouts of the defendants, and each of them, or whether any of them are dead, other than indicated thereon, and, if they or any of them be dead, plaintiff is unable to ascertain the names, residences, whereabouts and identity of the heirs, executors, administrators, devisees, trustees, conservators and assigns of such defendants other than as indicated on Exhibit "B". Upon diligent inquiry plaintiff is unable to ascertain whether the defendant corporations named herein are domestic or foreign corporations, nor their legal status, nor whether they continue to have legal existence and officers, nor the names and whereabouts of the successors, trustees or assigns, if any, of such corporations as may be dissolved. All of the defendants herein named, and those claiming under or through them, should be required to appear herein, so that all claims, estates, titles and interests may be determined by the decree of this Court and so that the tax lien therein to be foreclosed may be adjudged a good, valid and perfect first and prior lien upon each tract, lot or piece of real estate described herein, for the taxes, together with interest, charges, penalties and costs thereon.

5. Exhibit "B" is a schedule containing information pertinent to this proceeding and is attached hereto, incorporated herein and made a part hereof by reference. Each tract, lot and piece of real estate intended to be included in this foreclosure proceeding is described as a separate item upon Exhibit "B", and that each such tract described upon Exhibit "B" also carries a key number by which it is identified in the files of the Anderson County Treasurer, Anderson County Appraiser and Anderson County Clerk.

6. Said lands described in Exhibit "B" are all in Anderson County, Kansas. All of the descriptions used in Exhibit "B" are intended to indicate with ordinary and reasonable certainty the real estate intended to be included in this foreclosure proceeding.

7. Each item described upon Exhibit "B" is also subject to charges occasioned by this foreclosure proceeding and to an equitable portion of the costs of this proceeding to be fixed and determined by the Court herein.

8. The plaintiff's lien is for unpaid taxes on the real estate in questions and is a first and prior lien to the liens and claims of all of the defendants herein, including the unknown members of the classes set forth in the caption hereof. Plaintiff is unable to allege in greater detail the nature of extent of the claims of any of the defendants, and is unable to allege which, if any, of the defendants may be dead, and which, if any of the corporate defendants may be dissolved, and in the event of such death or dissolution, the plaintiff is unable to allege the names of the heirs, executors, administrators, devisees, trustees, conservators and assigns, if any of the decedent or the successors, trustees, and assigns of any dissolved corporation or the whereabouts of any of said persons, except as alleged herein. Plaintiff respectfully requests that each defendant and those claiming under or through any of the defendants herein, be required to appear in this cause and to assert what interest, if any, they or any of them have or claim to have in and to any of the real estate described herein so that all claims, estates, interest and titles may be determined by the decrees of this Court and so that the plaintiff's tax lien herein may be foreclosed against each parcel listed on Exhibit "B" and adjudged to be a good, valid and perfect first and prior lien upon each parcel.

9. Plaintiff is entitled to a decree of this Court determining the amount of taxes, charges, interest and penalties chargeable to each particular tract, lot and piece of real estate in such amount as the Court shall determine, and to judgment for costs herein equitably apportioned against each tract, lot and piece of real estate and to judgment for charges herein, and for judgment determining the owner or parties having an interest herein, and to a decree adjudging the amount so found to be due to be a first and prior lien upon each item of real estate described in Exhibit "B" and for an order directing that each item of real estate described upon Exhibit "B" be sold at public sale for the satisfaction of each lien and for other necessary relief.

WHEREFORE, plaintiff prays that the Court determine the amount of taxes, charges, interest and penalties chargeable to each particular tract, lot or piece of real estate described herein; the name of the owner or party having an interest therein and that the Court adjudge and decree the amount due to be a first and prior lien upon the real estate; that each defendant be required to appear and establish their claim, estate, title or interest in said property; and that the same be sold at public sale for the satisfaction of the lien, costs, charges and expenses of the proceedings and sale and for
