Prosecution opposes change in bond conditions for man accused in death of mother

Defense says error in KHP crime reconstruction should exonerate Allen of charge

BY DANE HICKS THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW

MOUND CITY - The Kansas Attorney General's Office is opposing a July motion by attorneys for James Rocky Allen that he be released from GPS monitoring as a condition of his current bond and that he be allowed to move to a home in Centerville from a location in Princeton where he's resided since his bond was reduced several months ago.

Allen is accused in the December 2020 vehicular murder of his mother, Charlotte Grimes, 70 of Garnett, on a rural road south of Parker.

James "Rocky" Allen, 44, was released from jail after his bond was reduced from $1 million to $250,000 in November 2021. Since that time he's resided in Princeton and worn a court-ordered monitoring device and been forced to comply with drug screenings along with other conditions of his release. A preliminary hearing in the case is set for October 17.

Allen

Allen's attorney Vanessa Riebli argued a modification to Allen's bond was justified due to contradictions Allen presented during the November 2021 bond hearing which resulted in revisions to the Reconstruction/Investigation report filed on the incident by the Kansas Highway Patrol. Riebli said inaccuracies in the report, admitted to by the KHP, concluded that Allen's Vehicular Homicide and Second Degree Murder charges were no longer warranted. She also noted Allen had been released on bond for over seven months with no

County wants $1 million more in taxes in 2023

Budget exceeds revenue neutral mandate, notices seek to explain cost hikes

BY DANE HICKS THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW

GARNETT - Anderson County property owners who saw near unprecedented increases in their assessed property valuations this year will pay over a million in new taxes for the county budget in 2023 - increases that bump up against the county's "Revenue Neutral" notification requirements but which they say are necessary in order to maintain county services.

A public budget hearing will be held August 29 at 10 a.m. at the Anderson County Community Building at 10 a.m. to allow public comment on the spending plan.

The draft budget reflects a plan to increase spending from $14.4 million authorized for 2022 to $15.2 million next year, buoyed by $8.8 million in property tax dollars in 2022 up to $9.8 million in 2023.

The overall plan when projected onto the tax rates generates a mill levy of 78.174 for 2023, down from 84.288 last year while taking into consideration a 20 percent overall increase in the county's assessed property valuation to a record $126.2 million for 2023.

Kansas Revenue Neutral law passed in March 2021 requires local governments to give specific notice to property owners and hold a public hearing if the amount they'll raise in tax dollars exceeds the prior year. Anderson County Clerk Juie Wettstein said the notices should be arriving in mailboxes in coming days. Besides providing a "heads up" about the current year tax situation, the notice also makes the case that the Revenue Neutral mandate doesn't take rising costs for local governments into consideration.

"While this new revenue neutral law is an important step for budget transparency, it does not take inflation into account," the notice reads. "As property values are rising, so are the costs of goods and services."

"To provide residents with the same (or better) level of service, it costs more," the notice reads, mentioning higher costs for asphalt for streets, mowing services and other community priorities.

Kansas property owners last felt a similar hike in their assessed valuations in 1990, after voters passed a 1986 reclassification amendment to the state constitution which mandated updated property valuations statewide, some of which had not been refigured according to actual market prices for property since the 1960s. The implementation of the move drove property values up some 20 percent across Kansas, resulting in mass tax protests and political upheaval that eventually cost Republican Mike Hayden the governorship to Democrat Joan Finney.

Parched ground in the area and grass fire threat has been the result from the lack of recent moisture and temperatures bumping into the 100 degree range. Rain showers today are expected to drop temps into the mid-to-upper 80s this week.

Keeping Queer

Garnett Library Board votes unanimously to keep "Gender Queer" without age restrictions

BY DANE HICKS THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW

GARNETT - Library board members in Garnett voted unanimously last week to keep a controversial and graphically illustrated transgender memoir in the library's Adult Non-fiction section, over objections from opponents of the book who argued it is pornographic and constitutes a grooming manual to attract and develop confused young people into a transgender lifestyle.

"Gender Queer" by Maia Kobabe, who identifies herself as "non-binary" (neither male nor female) has been sparking controvery for similar criticism across the country and has been banned in a number of public and school libraries. The book chronicles Kobabe's adolescent progression determining that she had no identify as male or female, and uses cartooned, graphic illustrations - one depicting explicit sex acts including between an adult man and a young boy - to augment her narrative.

A panel set up to hear an initial chal-

County's annual delinquent taxes down again

Declining trend may show county's aggressive stance regarding tax sales is working

BY DANE HICKS THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW

GARNETT - The total owed by Anderson County tax delinquent property owners hit the lowest level in 2021 of any time in the past four years, suggesting a more aggressive policy by county commissioners to pursue problem delinquencies is having success.

The legally-required publication of county delinquent taxes published in today's Review totals $317,526 owed by property owners who are at least one year delinquent in their property tax payments. That's the lowest number in four years - a time period which has seen declines in that delinquency total every year but one since an all-time high of some $398,000 in 2018.

Anderson County undertook a more aggressive stance on delinquencies in recent years, scheduling tax foreclosure sales that basically condemn and sell years-long delinquent properties to new owners for usually pennies on the dollar owed, in hopes that the new owners will pay future taxes and may even develop those properties into more substantial community assets. A sale this year targeted 62 tracts of property with 60 put on the sale bloc in 2021. New buyers are waived the back taxes but still pay their sale price plus associated research and publication fees.

Anderson County Counselor James Campbell told the Review prior to last year's sale tax sale deadlines typically force about 10 percent of owners to pay up after the final notice is published in the newspaper

Anderson County Treasurer's Office staffer Harold DeForest said the 2018 high delinquency of $398,000 dropped to

KSHSAA wants fairness in sports, just not for girls

Move to level field between private, public school teams absent on state trans issue

BY DANE HICKS THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW

TOPEKA - The Kansas Board of Education will consider a recommendation approved by the Kansas State High School Activities Association (KSHSAA) to effectively penalize successful private school teams in an effort to "level the playing field" with its public school competitors. But KSHSAA shied away from taking the same stand the last two years when the fairness issue was transgender athletes vs. biological girls.

In the 2020-21 school year, KSHSAA-member private schools, only 8% (28) of all high schools, won a remarkable 36% of state championships in which they were eligible to compete. A review of the history of state championships shows a decidedly private school favor among the leaders in Classes 2A-5A.

St. Thomas Aquinas of Overland Park, Kapaun Mt. Carmel, and Bishop Carroll, both of Wichita, take the first three positions in 5A. 4A is headed by Bishop Miege of Roeland Park and Topeka Hayden. The 3A leader is Wichita Collegiate, and the top spots in 2A belong to Sacred Heart in Salina and Pittsburg's St. Mary's-Colgan.

The KSHSAA proposal is known as

Rule 5: As reported in the Butler County Times-Gazette, it employs an "enrollment multiplier" to artificially inflate the student body populations of affected schools with the intention of elevating the most successful teams into the next highest classification.

violations and had passed each of 17 drug screenings since his release.

But Assistant Attorney General Shannon Rush's motion in opposition noted Allen's criminal history score of "A" and argued he was a significant flight risk in view of the fact he faces more than 54 years in prison if convicted in the case. Rush argued Allen had presented no reason for his relocation and requested that his weekly GPS location reports be filed under seal by the monitoring company and made available to the defense and prosecution.

Investigators say Allen pursued Grimes' car while in his truck on a stretch of Keitel road south of Parker December 21st, and struck it several times pushing it into a nearby field where she died.

Linn County District Court has so far not taken up Riebli's motion.

CALLAHAN

APRIL 19, 1936 - AUGUST 8, 2022

Richard Robert Callahan, age 86, of Blue Springs, MO, passed away on August 8, 2022, following a short battle with cancer.

Callahan

Richard was born April 19, 1936, in Manhattan, Kansas, to Robert James and Maxine Elizabeth (Van Dusen) Callahan. Richard married his wife of 57 years, Willetta M. Littrell on September 17, 1954. She preceded him in death on January 17, 2012. Richard was again blessed when he married Julie Pigg on December 15, 2013, in Blue Springs, MO.

He lived in several towns in Kansas and Missouri as he perfected his trade of welding. Richard worked on many buildings in the Greater Kansas City area from 1961 to 2001. He was a member of the International Iron Workers Union, Local#10. In 1964, he settled in Lenexa, Kansas to raise his family.

Richard is survived by his wife Julie, his sister Pearle Ann Bishop of Panama City, FL, four children: Ronald Callahan of Garnett, Ks; Sandra Finnicum and her husband Doug of Olathe, Kansas; Debra Callahan of Garnett, Kansas; and Linda Lapp and her husband John of Fredericksburg, VA. In addition, Richard has 10 grandchildren: Melissa Ochoa (Gilbert), Samuel Finnicum (Chelsea), Murph Finnicum (Renee), Timothy Finnicum (Kayla), Cynthia Brown (Marshall), James Brown, Jacob Sweany (Cintia), Joshua Sweany, Nathan Sweany (Alise), and Amos Sweany; and nine great-grandchildren: Richard (Ricky), Joseph, Francisco (Kiko), Karina, Liliana, Melody, Mariah, Noah, and Mia. Bonus children from his marriage to Julie include Christine Ream, Steve Kaminski, and Vicki Howe (Johnnie) as well as four grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

Richard worked as an iron worker/welder for 40 years in the greater Kansas City area and retired at age 65 to pursue a second career raising cattle in Garnett, Kansas. No one built a fence comparable to him. Richard's fences, especially his fence posts, will last for many, many years to come!

Richard was also a square dance caller and teacher for many years. He called for the Jet Sets and Crosstrailers Clubs for many years. He taught hundreds of people to square dance over the years through the Johnson County Parks & Recreation.

Upon Richard's final retirement, he moved to Mission, TX. In November 2021, he and Julie moved to Blue Springs, MO, to be closer to family.

Everyone who knew Richard was blessed. He worked hard, played hard, loved a cold beer with friends and family, and always helped with anything that needed fixing.

Richard's final resting place will be at the Valley View Memorial Park Cemetery, Manhattan, KS 66502. The family will hold a celebration of Richard's life at a future date.

Online condolences may be left for the family through the funeral home website at www.ymlfuneralhome.com.

In lieu of flowers, memorial contributions are suggested to the John H. Lyons Scholarship Fund for children of iron workers and may be left in care of the Yorgensen-Meloan-Londeen Funeral Home, 1616 Poyntz Avenue, Manhattan, KS 66502. Debacles by Democrats under Biden just aren't all right with Americans

"Let's bungle in the jungle. Well, that's all right by me."
- Jethro Tull

No matter how it turns out, the Justice Department bungled its probe into Donald Trump's classified document deal. Just like it screwed up Russian/Collusion, Hillary emails, Hunter Biden, on and on.

Somewhere in a very warm climate, J. Edgar Hoover is blinking rapidly.

We don't yet know how serious the Trump transgression is, but it's safe to say that the raid is a symptom of a much more intense problem facing every single American. The Biden administration is blundering the country into dangerous territory. The President and his crew are creating intense problems and division among the citizenry. Let's examine the record.

Unless Donald Trump was actively undermining the security of the nation, the invasion of his home should have been handled differently. Drastic action requires precise explanation, at least in a democracy. We the people, have not gotten clarity from the Biden administration about the FBI raid.

Then we see the painful inflation ignited by the presidential attacks on fossil fuel, the incredible debacle at the southern border, the collapse of the airline industry, and the brutal rise in violent crime.

But perhaps the most dangerous federal screwup of all was Nancy Pelosi's unnecessary trip to Taiwan. Why did she provoke China? For what reason?

We don't know. Writing in the journal "The National Interest," Harvard Professor Graham Allison puts forth: "If forced to choose between accepting an independent Taiwan and a war that destroys Taiwan and much of China, Xi and his team will choose war."

Allison's opinion is speculative, but he knows

NATIONAL COMMENTARY

BILL O'REILLY, Guest Commentary

as much about China as anyone on the planet.

Therefore, competent leadership does not make the Taiwan situation worse, which is what the Pelosi visit did. What did the United States accomplish? Nothing, that's what.

The anti-Biden narrative is mostly based on his inability to govern in a positive way. He does not solve problems; he may not even understand them.

But I now believe Joe Biden is a dangerous President because he cannot anticipate serious situations, of which China is at the top of the list.

Under Biden, America is far weaker than it was when he entered office. Therefore, we are all in danger on a variety of fronts.

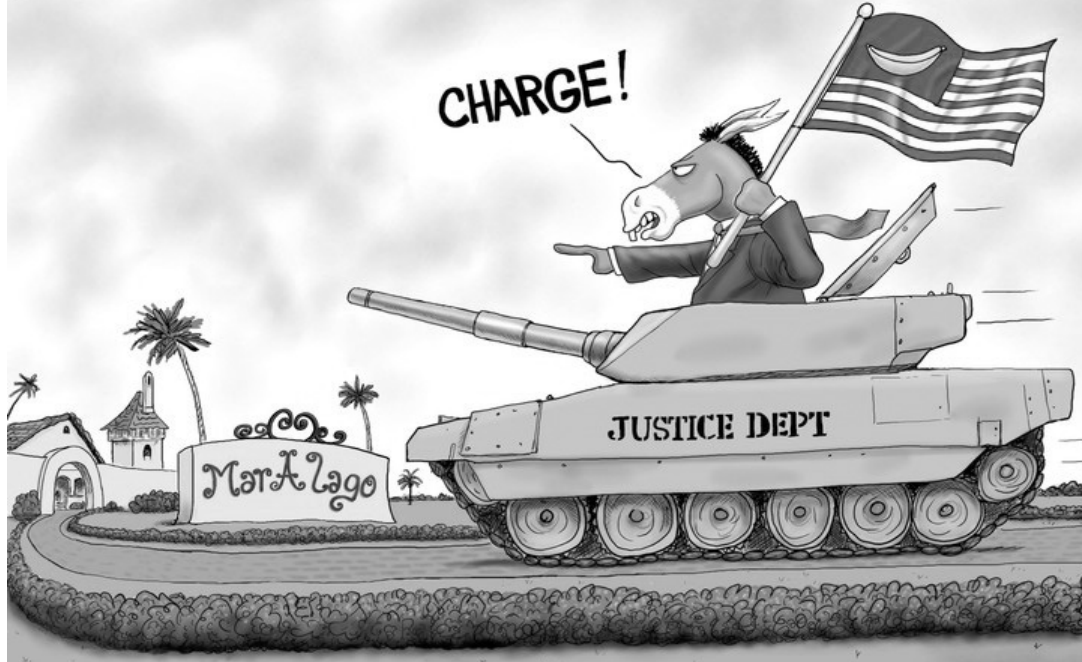

Pelosi sticking Beijing, the FBI battering Trump, millions of foreign nationals sieging the border, gas prices hurting workers. None of that had to happen.

But it has.

And, with apologies to Jethro Tull, it's not all right with me.

Unless they go after the Clintons with the same zeal that they are going after Trump, I'm afraid our Democracy is lost. We've officially become a banana republic. And now 87,000 new IRS agents? You're next.

I wanted to compliment the photographer who shot the picture on the front page of the paper this week. It's pictures like that that really capture the essence of events like the fair. I thought it was really good. Thank you.

What do you know. The CDC has finally changed their Covid guidelines. Looks like science finally caught up with common sense.

It's amazing how the car dealership at 4th and Maple has more cars than the real dealer on the north end of town. Come on Garnett. Get things cleaned up. Get this guy's lot out of town.

I hope you people with the (candidate name) signs in your yard are enjoying your recession, high gas prices, fertilizer prices and everything else that she's helped Joe Biden give you by voting in favor of everything he wants. I would be embarrassed and ashamed to have my neighbors see that sign in my yard and I'm embarrassed for visitors to our town to see it. These are the people who are now telling us praying the Rosary is extremist? This is how far they've gone. The problem with Socialism is you eventually run out of other people's money - Margaret Thatcher.

So Trump does nothing wrong and has his house raided by the FBI. Hunter Biden does everything wrong, his dad is on the voice mail commenting about it that he's "in the clear," and the FBI tried to shut down the case. What's happen to our law enforcement in this country?

I hope people are paying attention to their animals during all this hot weather and making sure they have some water and shade to get out of the sun. These are hard times for animals if they're kept outside.

Now it's Third World tactics against Donald Trump

Absolute power corrupts absolutely, and we're watching it play out in real time. On August 8, the Biden Justice Department's unannounced raid of former President Donald Trump's home crossed a line that has left many Americans wondering what's happened to our country. Using third-world tactics like this against a former president is unacceptable in a vacuum.

It's even worse considering that this is just part of a pattern of bureaucratic abuse against Trump. By weaponizing the Justice Department to punish and intimidate their political opponents, the Biden administration and Democrats have shown just how far they're willing to go to maintain their failed grip on power.

Remember the Russia Hoax, when tens of millions of taxpayer dollars and endless hours of breathless media coverage gave us the Mueller Report? That years-long smear campaign concluded there was no collusion and no obstruction of justice on the part of Trump. Instead of apologizing and moving on, Democrats and bureaucrats doubled down with a sham impeachment which saw Trump acquitted by the Senate. Time and time again, Washington elites have tried to take Trump down. Why? Because he effectively spoke up for the American people, and the D.C. swamp didn't take kindly to it.

How is this the federal government's priority right now? I doubt that Americans struggling with historically high inflation and surging violent crime are reassured that Democrats found time to authorize an unannounced and unprecedented raid on Trump's home. Nearly a hundred pro-life pregnancy centers and churches have been vandalized or firebombed since the leak of the Dobbs decision - how's the FBI investigation into that wave of domestic terrorism proceeding?

We still have a raging crisis at our southern border as beleaguered Border Patrol agents try to stem a flood of deadly drugs pouring into our country. The Biden administration doesn't care about that - they're more focused on passing a bill that will raise taxes, have no impact on inflation, and hire an army of 87,000 new IRS agents.

It's worth pointing out that prominent Democrats don't seem to get this same treatment. Hillary Clinton destroyed over 30,000 classified emails, covered it up, and got away with barely a slap on the wrist. Hunter Biden appears to have laundered money while sharing a bank account with Joe Biden. He's still painting away in his Malibu mansion and appearing at White House events. Noted anti-Semite Rep. Rashida Tlaib, D-MI, promoted a call for donations to a group tied to Hamas and the Taliban. Nothing ever came of it.

Look at the big picture. Last October Biden's Department of Justice labeled parents concerned about their kids' educations as "domestic terrorists." In May, the Biden administration tried to set up a "Ministry of Truth" to police what Americans read online. Last week, Senate Democrats passed a bill hiring a Rose Bowl Stadium's worth of new IRS government agents to financially target everyday citizens. And on Monday, the Biden Justice Department unleashed the FBI on a leading political opponent just 92 days ahead of the massively important midterm elections.

Everyone needs to pay attention to what's happening: Democrats are drunk on the power of one-party rule and growing increasingly aggressive in their attempts to punish those who push back against the far-left.

This raid on President Trump should be a

Spending bill doesn't save The Biden Disaster

Every dog has his day, and apparently so does every miserably inadequate president.

Joe Biden, who has been out-of-touch, tone-deaf and disturbingly incompetent from the outset of his presidency, suddenly has the "Big Mojo," or at least the "Moderate-Sized, This Isn't Quite the Legislative Debacle We Expected Mojo."

The climate and health care spending deal forged by Senate Majority Leader Chuck Schumer and longtime Democratic holdout Joe Manchin has revived talk in the media and among Democrats of Biden's transformative agenda - if not quite FDR- or LBJ-level, substantial and to be reckoned with.

There's no doubt that Biden has spent a lot of money between the so-called $1.9 trillion COVID relief package and now the $700 billion in the latest bill.

It's also true that winning is better than losing; success is better than futility; and passing something is better than nothing.

The Schumer-Manchin bill, though, is a shadow of the original sprawling proposal that constituted nearly the entire progressive wish list, from free community college to universal pre-K to expanded parental leave, stuffed into one legislative casing.

The scaled-back version is a not particularly coherent combination of whatever Joe Manchin and his fellow resistant Democrat, Kyrsten Sinema of Arizona, were willing to support.

Its claim to reduce inflation is a joke; its deficit reduction is backloaded and has already been vitiated by other unpaid-for spending; its taxes will hit Americans earning less than $400,000-a-year, despite Biden's promises; its electric car subsidies are frustrated by its own requirements that key components not come from China - requirements that no car can currently meet.

NATIONAL COMMENTARY

The bill doesn't remove any of the doubts about Biden, whose main contribution to the process of cutting the deal was to stay out of the way.

Otherwise, the president still hasn't successfully made the public case for anything. Indeed, he has almost zero capacity for persuasion - something that the White House clearly realizes and is reflected in his limited schedule and interactions with the press.

He's allowed the left to lead him around by the nose on most things, mouthing its lines about the Georgia voting law supposedly being "Jim Crow on steroids" and slamming the Supreme Court while on a trip overseas.

His agenda has been almost entirely removed from the concerns of ordinary Americans. The title of the new spending bill is a nod to inflation, but what it really offers Americans groaning under double-digit price increases in key goods is - just what they need - more solar panels and wind turbines.

Of course, Biden's first big achievement, the COVID bill, turned out to be most consequential for what it did to stoke an inflation that has disrupted the lives of much of the country and eroded its standard of living.

It is this failure, more than the border or Afghanistan, that has sent Biden below 40% approval in most polls. It's one thing to sag in popularity before a midterm election - that's normal. It's quite another to convince most everyone in the country, including members of your own party, that you are unsuited to running for president again.

Only 18% of Americans in the latest Yahoo News/youGov poll say that Biden should run for a second term. Just 29% of Biden voters are ready for him to suit up and ride again in 2024, an astonishing repudiation from people who presumably wish him well and were hoping for the best.

Well, at least Biden, the oldest man ever to serve as president, set up his succession with foresight and care, right? Naturally, only 30% of Democrats and Democratic independents want Vice President Kamala Harris to be the nominee in 2024.

Perhaps it makes Biden's legislative achievements all the more impressive that he's been able to manage them while simultaneously cratering. If that's a distinction of sorts, it's not one any president should welcome.

Three more of my 'mixed finds'

DIGGING UP THE PAST

Henry Roeckers
Call (785) 504-4722 for local archeology information.

Another week of mixed photos. The three artifacts shown here were found at the same site. In fact I'm still busy digging at this site. It sure is getting dry.

In fact I'm not sure how much longer I can keep digging.

I was out for 4 hours this morning and the soil is starting to turn up in chunks, which is no good for finding anything.

Another neat variety. The picture (top, middle) is a snap on earring. Their history goes back to the 1920's and then they made another come back in the 60's-70's again a few in the 90's and can be found yet today.

Boy I'm really excited anytime I find an artifact like the bottom picture. I'm not sure what this I.D tag is all about. A friend of mine thinks it may be a milk can tag, if they were on a milk route. The word

"COLLECT" sort of throws me for a loop. Anyone have any ideas?

lenge to the book recommended 4-2 it be retained without restriction in July. Board members Mike Herman, Denise Scheibmier, Karen Katzer, Linda Huettenmueller, Sharon Yost and Rachel Dougherty held no discussion of the topic after a series of public comments from a packed library meeting room. The group of 18 speakers who addressed the board was slightly tilted in favor of retaining the book at the facility.

Tegan Modica, adult services coordinator at the library, clarified that the book was held in the adult non-fiction section and said parents concerned about their children's reading materials should exercise their own judgment and oversight, but that right didn't extend to other children and other homes.

Sheryl Urquhart told board members censorship had been rampant in America the past several years and it was incumbent on people to avoid it, but the content of "Gender Queer" went too far. She said the book should be age restricted.

"I do think, rein it in," Urquhart said. We're so far out of control right now. I don't think anybody's sexuality needs to be out there like this."

Garnett First Baptist Church Pastor Daniel Meyer

noted the apparent inconsistency in library policy in that its internet access computers include software to restrict access to pornography sites, while "Gender Queer" is greatly accessible. He said if the book is kept at the facility it, too, should have an age restriction.

Pat Wittry of Greeley said while she didn't think the book was appropriate for children, the book could be vital to some young adults and that in the end it was up to parents to determine what their kids were exposed to.

Before the unanimous vote board member Linda Huettenmueller made the only comment on the issue to come from the board.

"My emotions were all over the place during this whole conversation, but I'm here as a board member," she said.

A recent report based on CDC data shows a sharp increase in the number of young people suffering from gender dysphoria and "identifying" as transgender. The study found people 13-25 accounted for a disproportionately large share of the transgender population. While younger teens make up 7.6 percent of the total U.S. population, they make up roughly 18 percent of gender dysphoric individuals. Similarly, 18-24 year-olds are 11 percent of the total population but 24 percent of the population.

Older adults had a far lower incident of gender dysphoria, according to the CDC data. Those 25-64 make up 62 percent of the population but only 47 percent of transgenders. Twenty percent of the population is over 65, but make up just

Backyard BBQ competition planned at Burlington

BURLINGTON — Is your backyard barbecue good enough to win a piece of a $5,400 prize pool being offered at the inaugural Smoke on the River Backyard BBQ competition?

The amateur contest, sanctioned by Kansas City Barbeque Society (KCBS), will be held Saturday, Sept. 17, at Kelley Park in Burlington.

Backyard cooks will compete in two meat categories, chicken and pork ribs.

The grand champion will receive $850 and the reserve champion will receive $650. Cash prizes will be paid through seventh place in the chicken category and pork ribs category with $500 being awarded to first place followed by $400 (2nd), $300 (3rd), $225 (4th), $150 (5th), $100 (6th), and $75 (7th).

KCBS 2022 Official Rules and Regulations and Judging Procedures will be used for the Backyard BBQ competition.

The public will be able to participate by judging the people's choice category. Individuals will be able to purchase samples of each team's barbecue. For the teams competing, it is an extra competition category in which they can win prize money. Teams turn in a predetermined amount of barbecue to the festival organizers, then the organizers sell that barbecue back to the individuals who then score the barbecue while they eat.

People's choice is a "winner take all" category. The winning team will receive $400.

The entry fee to compete in Smoke on the River is $175. Those competing in the people's choice category have an option to provide designated amounts of cooked pulled pork and pork ribs instead of paying the entry fee.

For more information, contact Bobby Skipper at (620) 364-8780 or bskipper@ coffeycountyks.org, visit the Smoke on the River BBQ Club Facebook page or the webpage at www.smokeontheriverbbq.org. If you are interested in being a volunteer or a sponsor for Smoke on the River, email smoke66839@gmail.com.

It's been five years since a KCBS-sanctioned competition has been held in Burlington.

Organizer Mark Petterson said plans are to establish the Smoke on the River Backyard BBQ contest as an annual stand-alone event. A master's series competition (four meat categories - chicken, pork ribs, pork and brisket) may be held earlier in the year.

Smoke on the River will be part of a much larger three-day festival, Coffey County Fall Festival, which will also include eight presentations of the Culpepper & Merriweather Circus Show, carnival games, a car show and a rodeo.

SPORTS..

(Schools can only be moved up one class, and 8-man football programs will not be forced to compete with 11-man squads.)

The proposal is three-phased; the second and third phases, however, are not activated unless the first one is reached.

Championships Won: If a school has earned 10 championships in any sport over a 5-year period, a multiplier of .3 is added

Location: If a smaller school is located within a 5A or 6A district, another .3 is added. If located within a 3A or 4A district, add .15. The purpose is to dissuade private schools from recruiting public school athletes.

Socio-economic: If a private school has fewer than 20% of its student body receiving free- or reduced-price lunches, another .15 is added to its population total as its signifies a more prosperous school with greater resources to support its athletic and scholastic programs.

For example, a 3A private high school with a mid-level enrollment of 250, with the 10 championships, located in a 4A, 5A, or 6A district, and fewer than 20% on reduced or free lunches, would see its "population" soar to 438, and into 4A classification.

After the KSHSAA Board of Directors overwhelmingly approved the proposal, it was sent to member schools for review and vote. There was far more support among the smaller schools, indicating the fairness issue is of more concern in Classes 1A-4A.

- 1A: 74-43 For
- 2A: 43-21 For
- 3A: 46-18 For
- 4A: 30-6 For
- 5A: 19-17 Against
- 6A: 30-6 Against

The measure passed 242-111, with a 68% majority, setting the state for action by the State Board of Education.

Rep. Tim Johnson of the 38th District, a retired teacher and coach, supports the proposal from experience:

"Three times as a coach and or parent, I have watched my top-notch 4A team be destroyed in state playoffs by a private school with depth and lineups featuring an array of talent from across the entire metro area.

"I cannot believe the private schools do not want to win championships at higher divisions and earn them with coaching, hard work, and no unfair advantages.

"My Hall of Fame high school coach Walt Shublom who won 10 state 5A/6A state basketball championships and took three second-places finishes at Wyandotte HS, always said, 'to be the best, you have to play the best'. Let's give private schools an opportunity to prove themselves."

Some observers see a double standard in the KSHSAA position, noting its efforts to address what it sees as competitive disadvantages suffered by public schools in athletic competitions when the organization demurred the last two years on the question of transgender athletes competing against biological girls. KSHSAA took a neutral position each year on the "Fairness in Women's Sports Act", sponsored by Wichita Republican Sen. Renee Erickson. Each year, the measure failed to override Governor Laura Kelly's veto.

Executive Director Bill Faflick says the legislation was a solution in search of a problem:

"Relative to transgender participation, recent data does not suggest an imbalance of success and our membership continues to follow a policy adopted approximately ten years ago. No member school administrator nor board member has asked us to consider modification of this policy. Accordingly, the KSHSAA has taken no further action on the transgender issue as detailed in the proposed legislation from Sen Erickson as the evidence of unfairness has not developed for our membership."

On the issue of private vs public school competition, Faflick said input was received statewide and this solution addresses a long-standing problem:

"The decision to send the item under consideration through the amendment process was based upon recent historical data demonstrating the private school members win a greater percentage of championships when compared to the percentage of membership comprised by private schools. It has been repeated as a theme needing attention for several years."

Colony Christian Church - 'Beniah and his feats'

In preparation for the Men's backpacking trip to Wyoming later this week, Pastor Chase was inspired by Beniah and his feats in 2 Sam 23:20. Beniah was one of King David's Mighty Men who was promoted to captain of David's body guard after chasing a lion into a pit on a snowy day and killing it. Lions are ferocious and are a threat to people and livestock. The Bible describes our enemy, the devil, as prowling like a roaring lion, looking for someone to devour. As Christians, we need to defeat the lions of temptation and sin that threaten to destroy our lives. Often this requires us to engage in battle in the deep places in our souls during difficult times in our lives, like Beniah's pit on a snowy day. And don't stop short. The threat must be totally defeated. Don't walk away from a lion in a pit assuming it will not find a way out. It is quite possible for it to return and attack you again when you least expect it. How do you defeat a lion when Proverbs 30:30 says that "the lion, king of animals, won't turn aside for anything"? Put your faith in Jesus, the Lion of the tribe of Judah. The devil is only "like" a lion, but Jesus is the true lion who did not turn aside from the cross, but took on sin and death and rose again in victory!

Boundaries or no boundaries

Sometimes to assure our life is headed in the right direction we have to ask ourselves a couple of questions, Question number one is. What is the single most important thing in our life? Now don't get side tracked by some current circumstance affecting you today. What I am referring to is the one thing that we value or care about more than anything else. It may be something you don't want to admit has a grip on your life. It can be found by looking at our bank statement or credit card statement or where we hang out or any number of ways. It is what is most difficult for us to give up. Many times in our life it is the hardest thing for us to control.

This leads us to question number two. How is this desire working out in your life and how is this going to affect you long term. I can tell you what happens to me when I get off track. My perspective gets skewed, I get frustrated, ultimately I can lose my joy. You see a life lived contrary to God's desire for our life is driven by our own preferences. This leaves us at the mercy of whatever circumstances develop from this. As long as our circumstances please us we are fine, however, if they change so can our mood or disposition. And here comes frustration around the corner to greet us. We then have to work to change our circumstances which can even create more problems for us. Think of all the people you come in contact with daily who are fighting some type of battle. Sounds like a recipe for problems. So there must be a solution to this dilemma right?

Jesus said in John 14:15, "If you love me you will keep my commandments." If God is not in control of our life then someone else or something else must be. If we live our life working to keep Gods' commands we have direction, boundaries let's say. If we don't there are no boundaries. Consider this, if there were no out of bounds in basketball we could have no game. Safe to assume the same can be said about our life.

Act" in the U.S. House, criticized by many as a bill that will boost instead of reduce inflation.

No Republicans in the House voted for the bill, which passed on party lines 220-207. Davids did not immediately respond to emails from the Review on Sunday to comment.

The bill contains a number of provisions to hike federal revenues by raising income taxes 15 percent on large corporation with more than a billion in income over a specified three-year period, sets up negotiations between Medicare and Medicaid for price bargaining on pharmacy prescriptions, expands green energy initiatives with extended tax credits for wind and solar farms and others and hires some 87,000 new Internal Revenue Service employees with the mission to develop federal revenues. The bill marks Davids' 76th vote with President Biden to pursue agenda and policies which have reduced his approval rating below 40 percent.

Davids' opponent in the 3rd District election coming up in November, Amanda Adkins, said the bill's name was a misnomer. "Unfortunately, this bill doesn't live up to its name or bring financial relief to Kansas families and businesses who are suffering," Adkins said in a statement. "The Inflation Reduction Act does absolutely nothing to reduce inflation." Adkins said the most disappointing part of the bill are the healthcare provisions that fail to address the urgent needs created by skyrocketing prescription drug prices at a time when health insurance inflation "has already increased by 20.6%." Adkins said she supports allowing Medicare to negotiate drug prices, but she said the negotiating power given to the Secretary of Health and Human Services by the legislation does not begin until 2026 and is limited to just 10 drugs. By 2029, it will extend to 20 drugs. "We can't wait until the end of the decade to tackle the cost of prescription drugs," said Adkins.

Anderson and Franklin counties were moved from the 2nd District into Davids' 3rd District earlier this year in a map drawn by Republican majorities in the Kansas Legislature, while it moved the northern half of Wyandotte County into the 1st District. The map has been heavily criticized as gerrymandering by Democrats and was struck down by a Wyandotte County Judge as unconstitutional in April before that ruling was overturned by the Kansas Supreme Court in May.
