Local, state and national candidates make their pitch for your vote

(*Candidates not included below did not return information in response to the Review's October 24 request)

GARNETT CITY COMMISSION

Troy Armstrong
 To quote John F. Kennedy, "The old ways will not do." It's my belief that the Government should continue to remain proactive by serving as the driving force in the sustained enhancement of the city. This can be accomplished by continually assessing the City's strengths, opportunities for improvement, and any threats we may face. Our strategic plan should first focus on

Armstrong

Mark Locke
 At the beginning of 2019 my wife and I made the decision to move to Garnett, after 6 months of looking we were finally able to find a home to rent. It took another year to find our forever home to purchase, as such I'm familiar with the housing problems of Garnett. How can we as the city address this? Well, we can't do much about the interest rates or the cost because of inflation. We can

Locke

Justin Thompson
 Garnett has been my home for many years and I grew up in Burlington so I'm very familiar with this area and I call it home. I have a wonderful family of 4 and plan to raise my two boys here in Garnett. I've endured good and bad times here, worked at local businesses and even started my own. I'm a proud member of the Garnett Fire

9th DISTRICT STATE REPRESENTATIVE

Alana Cloutier (D)
 I'm Alana Cloutier, and I am running to represent the new District 9 in the KS House of Representatives. I live in Humboldt, I am a small business owner, and a member of A Bolder Humboldt, an organization that works to revitalize our small downtown. My campaign slogan is "It's time to invest in rural," because Rural Kansas has

Dr. Fred Gardner (R)
 As a candidate for the Kansas House of Representatives, I want to be the people's voice in State government. With many years of experience in rural veterinary practice, I have a sound understanding of agriculture and business. I have the communication skills, problem-solving ability and common sense to do this job well. I am a husband, father and grandfather. I would like

KS. SEC. OF STATE

Scott Schwab (R)
 I grew up in Great Bend and graduated from Fort Hays State University. Prior to entering public service, I was a small business owner and national sales trainer in the pharmaceutical industry. During my time in the Kansas Legislature, I was honored to serve as Chairman of the House Elections and Financial Institutions and Insurance

Schwab

SEE SCHWAB ON PAGE 8

KS. ATTORNEY GENERAL

Kris Kobach (R)
 Many voters know that I was Secretary of State and brought photo ID to KS elections. But they may not know my legal background. After graduating from Harvard and Yale, I clerked on the US Court of Appeals for, and then was a law professor. I also served 2 years as General Counsel to AG John Ashcroft. In addition, for the past 20

3RD DISTRICT U.S. CONGRESS

Amanda Adkins (R)
 Are you better off today? This is the question I ask every single Kansas voter I meet and the resounding response is no, Kansans are not better off after two years of failed leadership from Joe Biden and Sharice Davids. Out-of-control inflation is the top concern I hear when I talk with voters throughout our community. Biden has proposed massive spending bills that caused

Sharice Davids (D)
 Visiting Garnett earlier this year, I stopped by local businesses from home goods to auto parts, learning about awesome 'buy local' programs. I visited with the Anderson County Farm Bureau about how I can help address some of the major issues facing farmers and ranchers through my new position on the House Agriculture Committee. I stopped at the Southeast

KANSAS GOVERNOR

Steve Hohe (L)
 I'm Steve Hohe, over the last 30 years I've been both a Voter and Candidate in the Third Congressional District. As a voter, I'm always looking for the "Best of the Best", when I don't see it then that's when I run! What is the "Best of the Best"? A candidate with a Platform, the courage to engage, and the drive to oppose what Washington D.C. is doing to our Country, Our State,

Hohe

SEE HOHE ON PAGE 8

Laura Kelly (D)
 I ran for Governor to get our state back on track. That meant bringing together both parties to get things done for Kansans. I'm happy to report that during my first term, we've done just that. Since I took office, we fully funded our schools and balanced the budget every year. We recruited some of the largest businesses in the country to come to Kansas to

Kelly

SEE KELLY ON PAGE 6

Derek Schmidt (R)
 Laura Kelly tries to hide behind a fake middle-of-the-road facade, but the truth is Kansas has a Biden Democrat in our governor's office. Kansas needs a new governor who will make daily life more affordable during this time of record high gas prices, soaring grocery bills, and a lagging state economy. Kelly vetoed 20 tax cuts - including the grocery tax cut.

Historical Society guest speaker discusses how the Civil War shaped Kansas' image

The Anderson County Historical Society will host the final meeting of the year on Thursday, November 3, 2022 at 6:30 p.m. at the Community Building in the North Park in Garnett. This meeting is our "Volunteer Recognition Night." The society will provide the main dish, potatoes and vegetable for the meal; attendees are asked to bring a salad or dessert.

Haynes

The program will be presented by Will Haynes from the University of Kansas. Will is the director of engagement and learning for Watkins Museum in Lawrence. "The Civil War in Kansas" will be the topic of his presentation. For Kansans, the violent guerrilla warfare between proslavery and antislavery forces known as Bleeding Kansas foreshadowed the national Civil War to come. From 1861-65, the border struggle continued to heat up as Kansas fended off Confederate attacks, accepted the formerly enslaved into their communities, and engaged in bitter political debates. Men of all backgrounds, white, black and Native Americans, served in uniform while women managed farmsteads and former societies to help the needy. This talk presents the story of Kansas during the Civil War and how it helped shape the state's image for years afterwards.

Funding for this program is provided by the Anderson County Historical Society and Humanities Kansas. Additional funding for the program was provided by the Lewis H. Humphreys Charitable Trust Bank of America N.A., Trustee.

Good turnout for Oct. 27 pitch

On the 27th of October we were pleasantly surprised to have sixteen players, or four full tables for 13-point pitch. The winners and losers for the evening are as follows: Shari Friesen took high winning seven of ten games; Phyllis Gordon won the 50/50; Shari Friesen also won the most perfect hands with two; and Jan Wards had low. Come join us on Thursday evening at 6 o'clock at the Senior Center for 10 games (four hands each) of 13-point pitch. Would love to have you.

Pieces & Patches Quilt Guild Minutes for October

The Pieces and Patches Quilt Guild was called to order by President Mary Parrott on Thursday, October 27th, 2022 at 9:30 a.m. The meeting was held at Kansas State Extension Office Conference Room. There were 23 members in attendance.

Minutes of the September 22nd, 2022 meeting were approved as printed.

Helen Norman gave the treasurer's report.

Committee Reports
Programs: Connie Hatch reported that today's program was how to make fabric pumpkins. She demonstrated how she made pumpkins using a roll of toilet paper, a fat quarter of fabric, and some embellishments for the stem and leaves. Several members won pumpkins that Connie had made.

BOM: Projects are due next month.

Opportunity Quilt: Lynda Feuerborn shared that she had received many totes of fabric from a family friend and these fabrics could be used for the next Opportunity quilt. She also showed several 16 1/2" blocks that were appliqued and beaded and members discussed the possibility of making an opportunity quilt using those blocks. The resulting quilt would have to be hand quilted. More discussion is needed.

Challenge: Projects are due next month.

Charity: Sandra noted that

Hope Unlimited would like some quilts. Sandra suggested that we look at a different name for our quilts, rather than charity quilts.

May Quilt Show: A new source for possible quilt racks was discussed and it was decided that Bonnie should order a quilt rack.

Old Business: No items.

New Business
 Mary Parrott updated the group on the successful trunk show and workshop led by Diane Harris, Stash Bandit on Saturday, October 22nd, 2022. Some members and non-members attended the trunk show in the morning and guild members participated in the workshop in the afternoon. All in attendance deemed it a success and learned new ideas and techniques for making scrappy quilts. The vintage quilt, made by Vivian Fink's mother, was raffled and the winner is Terrie Gifford. She was very excited to win the quilt.

The Anderson County 4-H Council presented the guild members with two large trays of cinnamon rolls in appreciation of all the work and help the guild provides to the fair. Members enjoyed the very tasty rolls.

Secret Sister Gift: Terrie Gifford received a very nice birthday card and two 1/2 yard cuts of fabric, a gift certificate and giant button coasters.

Show and Tell: Many beautiful and creative quilting projects were shared. Sandra Moffatt showed a fall quilt featuring small prairie points around the edge; the colors of the quilt were browns, yellow, and oranges. She also showed 3 blocks made at Saturday's workshop. Lynda Feuerborn showed a quilt made of purples/greens/tan colors using the Aubrey pattern. Mary Cubit showed a kitchen towel and Christmas ornaments. Shirley Allen showed her BOM quilt using pink/blue batiks. Carolyn Crupper showed a lap quilt with a brown teddy bear in the center with purple and pinks outer edges. She also showed a Santa panel where she used a thread painting in the quilting design. Ruth Theis made a charity quilt using a chevron pattern done in blues/pinks/greens. Lynn Wawrzewski showed a lap quilt in blue green fabrics using the Ohio Star pattern and a lap quilt made of multicolor 5" squares in rectangle pattern. Rhonda Tiemeyer showed a large quilt for her BOM project done in pink flower power fabric and used pinks and blues for the borders with a matching pillow case. This quilt is going to her granddaughter. Terrie Gifford made several items. She showed her BOM blocks; a Bopple ball, a Jungle book made from fabric, and a squirrel wearing a little shirt and tie. She also showed a tatted birthday angel for one of her sons; a pumpkin mug rug and table runner. She was especially excited to show her BOM from the 2021 year, done in memory of her sister-in-law, Ellie. Terrie used scraps from her stash to complete almost all of these projects. Jeanette Gadelman showed her BOM blocks using the black flower power fabric. Joyce Buckley showed blocks she had made from the Stash Bandit workshop, a project bag with a smaller bag inside for her knitting supplies and book. The project bag was made with a fabric that featured balls of yarn in the fabric. She also showed a lap quilt made of scrappy colors. Donna Sutton showed a charity quilt in a 9-patch design with white background and prints; a large quilt of red/pink flowers with pink and green borders; a large quilt done in the Woodlawn Star pattern in reds/blues/pinks; and a large quilt of purple pansies. Kay Roeckers showed a bed quilt she hand quilted that was done in batiks with white background. Lori Hoyt showed an ice cream cone wall hanging, and a baby quilt showing an appliqued bull in the center. Bonnie Deiter showed a charity bed quilt using the Irish Chain pattern, done in blues and cream. Mary Parrott showed two quilts made using the Zip It pattern, one done in bandana fabrics of different colors and the second one in camo fabric. She also showed a lap quilt made using the sea by shining sea pattern in yellows and greens.

*The meeting was adjourned.

The key word is trust

WEEKLY DEVOTIONAL

BY DAVID BILDERBACK

In 2nd Corinthians 10:5 the Apostle Paul says, "We demolish arguments and every pretension that sets itself up against the knowledge of God, and we take captive every thought to make it obedient to Christ." Paul is telling us here what we think and feel cannot always be trusted. We must filter our thoughts and feelings through our knowledge of Jesus Christ. For some that is not difficult to do. For others, who possess little or no knowledge of Jesus this can become a source of frustration. Add to this the false teaching that people are all too frequently exposed to and most often people are set up for failure rather than success in their Christian walk.

The world cries out for us to be all about ourself. The more we practice this self indulgence the fonder we grow of it. We are told to enrich our lives and not to spare the expense. Jesus said in Matthew 6:21, "For where your treasure is, your heart will be also." If we embrace this lifestyle of self indulgence long enough we begin to trust totally in what we think and feel. The result of this is our heart will become dead to the things of God. This is the fulfillment of Matthew 6:21. In other words we begin to trust totally in ourselves with little or no consideration for what God might want us to do.

In Acts 5:29 Peter and the other apostles are arrested for teaching in the name of Jesus Christ. Their response to the Sanhedrin is very short and to the point. "We must obey God rather than men." Self indulgence describes one of the most grievous sins in the Bible and is found from Genesis to Revelation. It also describes the tactics the devil used to tempt Jesus in the wilderness. Self indulgence is nothing new and it is something all of us have to face. The key word here is trust. Do we trust ourselves or do we trust God? The disciples believed they had to obey God. How can we choose differently.

How to vote on everything, and why

For those of you dinosaurs still watching network TV or who weren't fast enough on the "skip ad" button when cruising Youtube or Facebook, you might be confused by he-said, she-said nonsense of this election's crop of campaign ads.

Thank goodness you're paying me a meager pittance to cut through the political bunk and providing guidance for you on your quest for electoral righteousness.

So clip this column and stick it in your wallet when you go to the polls, or save the link in your phone if you're reading online. Like Ed McMahon used to tell Johnny Carson, I'm going to tell you EVERYTHING you need to know about how to vote Nov. 8:

For 9th District Kansas Representative: For the first time in years, Anderson and Allen counties finally have a conservative running for state representative who represents the views of the mainstay of our populations. Fred Gardner's been a veterinarian in the area for years and he's got horse sense. Why that's so hard to come by in politics today is beyond me, but he has my vote.

When anything smelling remotely like Hillary Clinton gets involved in Kansas, I know which side I need to be on.

For 3rd District U.S. Congress: Watching the KCUR debate between Amanda Adkins and Sharice Davids it was clear to everyone - not the least of whom to Davids herself - that Davids was completely out-gunned by the former executive for Cerner in breadth of knowledge of issues and in common sense approach to governing. The 3rd District should consider itself lucky someone of Adkins' caliber even wants this job. But to be honest, I'd vote for an old sock rather than Davids, because she's voted lock step to enable the Biden Disaster 100 percent of the time ever since the kumquat-in-chief became president.

For Kansas Governor: If you liked having your state's economy and your livelihood shut down for never really explained reasons; if you liked the governor trying to force a mask on you that didn't work; if you like your daughter having to play volleyball against a dude with hairier legs than your grandpa; if you think drag shows are economic development - by all means vote to re-elect Laura Kelly. If you want a solid, smart, even thinker who you've known for decades as a worker for common sense in Kansas, vote for Derek Schmidt. Democrats are so afraid of Schmidt they're having Hillary Clinton's law firm run attack mailers against him. When anything smelling remotely like Hillary Clinton gets involved in Kansas, I know which side I need to be on.

For U.S. Senator: Jerry Moran is like an old saddle. Doesn't pinch or poke, is always where you need him, and always going to do the job you want done. Even more important to keep Jerry in the Senate this time around because of the Republicans' chance of winning a functional majority in the chamber - that means expediency in fixing this unheavenly mess the Democrats have made.

State Treasurer: Can't get real excited about this one. Vote for Steve Johnson I guess.

Secretary of State: Despite the witch hunt some of the wingnuts in the Kansas GOP have tried to mount against Scott Schwab, he's still a solid guy executing a voting system that's been hand crafted by prior legislatures to be darn near fool proof - voter ID, with sensible but firm rules on advance and absentee voting and a legitimate effort to ensure ever qualified Kansans's right to vote. Schwab's an easy choice.

Commissioner of Insurance: Again, regulations defined by legislative that by and large protect Kansans the way they should be protected. No reason not to vote for Vicki Schmidt.

This isn't one of those years where the choices are really tough, folks. If you want a Kansas and United States that is more like you and your values - you know what to do. ###

All counties in Kansas except Riley already elect their sheriff, so why an amendment to require it? If passed, this change to our state constitution would prohibit counties from changing how citizens change their sheriff. This limits local control. And there's more to this amendment. The second part, not mentioned in the Review's October 18 article, has to do with the authority to remove a county sheriff from office. The voters could, with a recall election, but also the Kansas state attorney general would have that power. It would be helpful to be able to read the full ballot text of issues we'll be voting on in our local paper alongside articles discussing them.

The stampede in Seoul, South Korea, kind of reminded me of the quonset hut at times when Harvesters is there. Might be a reminder. Thank you. Bless you.

I just started seeing some signs promoting Dennis Pyle for governor. I hear Democrats are dumping huge sums of money into supporting Democrats like Pyle to undermine the Republican vote in governor races like ours in Kansas. This makes sense, especially in states where the voters are looking for a change from an incumbent Democrat. With all due respect to Mr. Pyle, I fear a vote for Pyle is in fact a vote for Laura Kelly. My vote remains for Derek Schmidt.

Tell me who in good conscience still defends the recent actions of our local library board? These members are adults, some even educators, who with a unanimous vote think it necessary to make sexually explicit materials available to young children. By what authority are these members allowed to usurp the rights of parents in choosing the time and manner in which to educate their children in matters of sex? This disgusting display of arrogance should call into question the integrity of these board members who don't seem to take any shame in launching these attacks on our youth. Remove the book and regain some semblance of respect from your patrons.

There needs to be lawsuits against Democrat LGBT activists using taxpayer dollars to attack our religious values, in our public schools and now infiltrating even the taxpayer funded 4-H.

Dennis Pyle. The Lynn Cheney of Kansas.

The Independents and the Libertarian candidates for governor are the reasons we will have four more years of the Laura Kelly disaster. It is why Democrat groups have been pouring money into those campaigns. They should have run in the Republican primary. Libertarians are the reason why Biden is in the White House and Democrats control the House and Senate.

Biden and the Democrats under so-called "gender affirming care" support the genital mutilation of children who are under the age of consent and who have been groomed by Democrat LGBT activists in the schools and elsewhere. Renown sports journalist Jason Whitlock was spot on in pointing out the Democrat party has become a Satanic cult.

So some nut job whops old lady Pelosi's husband with a hammer and the news all says it's MAGA Republicans this and that, but some Lawrence Democrat threatened to kill Congressman Jake LaTurner back in June and we don't hear anything about it until the end of October? Nah, the media's not biased, is it?

Please get out and vote but vote who you want. If you want Democrats, vote them. If you want Republicans, vote them. Don't be bullied into who you need to vote for. I was told if I didn't vote for a certain person I wasn't a good Christian. I'm just thinking maybe the church I went to isn't a good church.

Schmoe tops Ottawa forum despite "tilt"

Last week the two candidates for Kansas District 59 House of Representatives seat met to answer questions from the community. The event, organized by the Ottawa Chamber of Commerce, offered a glimpse into the way partisan politics play out in Franklin County. Normally with community-oriented events like this, we might expect a certain degree of impartiality on the part of those running an event as important as this. That expectation was not met.

The four-person team appointed to determine which questions were asked, and how those questions were worded, included the campaign treasurer of the Democrat candidate, Darrell McCune and the primary election opponent of the Republican candidate, Rebecca Schmoe. Surely there are enough intelligent, politically aware people in Ottawa that it wouldn't be necessary for half the committee to be composed of people who are opponents of one of the candidates.

The activities of the night went smoothly, but there was a striking difference in the way the two candidates responded to the questions. McCune, the Democrat, seemed to read his answers to each of the questions directly from paper or a device sitting on the table. As someone who teaches and speaks publicly for a living, I can tell when someone is reading text instead of using notes to speak. On the other hand, Schmoe seemed focused on communicating with the audience. Since it was left out at the beginning of the event, she used part of the time for her opening statement to lead those in the room in the Pledge of Allegiance. She spoke about her experience as a mother and a teacher and the importance of civic engagement. She made it clear that listening to the concerns of the District would be her primary focus as a legislator. Both candidates agreed that taxes, particularly property taxes, are too high and need to be reduced. Though their statements were similar, their credibility on the issue is not. Schmoe's party recently passed legislation eliminating sales tax on groceries. Had it not been for Democrat Governor Laura Kelly's vetoes in prior years, Republicans would have eliminated the tax earlier.

McCune is a proponent of expanding Medicaid in the state, which would no doubt increase federal taxes and allow the federal government to exert more control over our state. McCune is also endorsed by the Sierra Club, a radical anti-energy environmentalist group. It's difficult to square the idea of reduced taxes with the absurd subsidies required to further expand unreliable, expensive, so-called "renewable" power generation.

On the subject of energy production, McCune parroted Biden administration talking points, emphasizing the need for a forced "transition" to so-called clean energy. Schmoe emphasized consumer choice, rather than government manipulation and subsidies, as the ultimate decider of technology adoption. The candidates were asked to comment on the "Parents Bill of Rights" that was passed by the legislature but vetoed by Governor Kelly. Schmoe indicated her support for the bill,

Great art is not an enemy of the climate

Climate activists have found a new target - the greatest masterpieces in the history of Western art.

Heretofore, no one thought that Claude Monet's "Haystacks" -- a sublime series studying the changes in light and color on haystacks in a field -- or Vincent Van Gogh's "Sunflowers" -- a painting that is instantly recognizable and forever associated these flowers with the troubled artist -- had harmed anyone, let alone had anything to do with the alleged climate emergency.

But that was before activists showed up at museums to splatter these works with tomato soup or mashed potatoes, part of a trend of protests directed at some of the most recognizable works in the Western artistic canon.

The actions are a new low, which is saying something. The level of childishness involved makes Greta Thunberg look prudent and statesmanlike by comparison.

Fortunately, museums have had the forethought to idiot-proof their major works with special protective glass. The activists say they don't seek to harm the art, although they are not people one would naturally nominate to make fine-grained decisions about the consequences of their stunts involving spray paint, glue and foodstuffs in close proximity to delicate, priceless treasures.

Margaret Klein Salamon, the executive director of the Climate Emergency Fund, told BuzzFeed News that the protests only make sense because the activists are thinking things are "so bad that I'm gonna do this crazy thing and glue myself to a painting or a frame."

In other words, they are channeling the famous line from Otter in the movie "Animal

RICH LOWRY, King Features Syndicate

House" -- "this situation absolutely requires a really futile and stupid gesture be done on somebody's part."

It's not the Taliban blowing up the Bamiyan Buddha statues, but the nihilistic spirit is the same.

The protesters have asked, "What is worth more, art or life?" This is a particularly juvenile false choice. Art doesn't hurt or kill anyone. To the contrary, representational art is part of the warp and woof of humanity -- look no further than the 30,000-year-old paintings from the Chauvet Cave in southeastern France -- and profoundly enriches life.

The juxtaposition of pieces of art of great subtlety and power, whose value has stood the test of time, with often pale, ill-kempt kids ranting hysterically is comical. The beauty and mystery of Sandro Botticelli's "Primavera" and the pathos of the statue Laocöon and His Sons -- both works that have been targeted recently -- inevitably diminish anyone using the art as a cheap platform for publicity.

The protesters make strained connections between the art and their causes. A copy of the Leonardo da Vinci painting "The Last Supper" at the Royal Academy in London was on the hit list, as a news report put it, "because people around the world are experiencing a food crisis." Evidently, no one told the activists that the point of the last supper is not the food.

One of the protestors targeting the Monet painting in a museum in Potsdam, Germany, declared: "Science says we won't be able to feed our families by 2050. This painting will be worth nothing if we have to fight over food."

By that logic, there is no act of cultural desecration that isn't justified. Why not sandblast the ceiling of the Sistine Chapel, sledgehammer Michelangelo's David, or bulldoze Notre Dame because they'll all be worthless in the climate dystopia awaiting us?

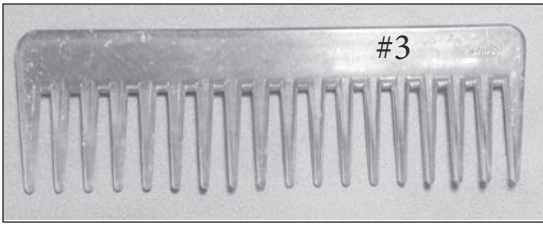

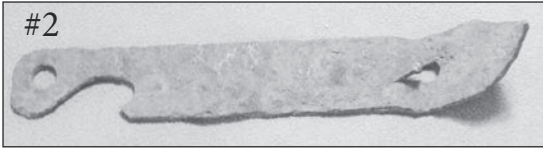

The activists are quite pleased with the attention they are getting. It's not true, though, that all publicity is good publicity. What they are really putting on display is their own recklessness and fanaticism.

On their own terms, they should think about how having easy access to the most awe-inspiring works of arts ever fashioned by mankind is the ultimate privilege. There are no world-class art museums in, say, Micronesia.

So maybe some respect and gratitude for the timeless contributions of true geniuses is in order, but that would require some perspective and decency, wouldn't it?

Three old, but common items from latest old homesite

This week I will be sharing three more artifacts found at my latest old homesite. I'm really lucky for as dry as it is that I'm still able to dig. Boy, today we are seeing something we haven't seen in quite awhile. RAIN!. According to the weather channel we are 10" behind in rain for the year. I sure hope we close that gap before it snows.

I'm sure there are a number of you have used these (picture #1) many times over the years. If you ever raised, lowered or shut your old windows I'm certain you have. Do you recognize these old window pins.

Almost everyone recognizes this old bottle/can opener (picture #2). Did you ever hear someone call it a "CHURCH KEY". This style is most likely from the 1930's or 1940's. Today's opener is much smaller.

This is a very heavy duty plastic comb. I say it's in real good condition after being in the ground for several years. If you look closely in the upper right hand corner, you will see the word CHINA. What didn't they make and sell anyway?

10 years ago... USD 365 ponders buying own school buses

10 years ago... USD 365 will soon be making a decision on the potential purchase of a fleet of school buses to take over the service previously supplied by Apple Bus as early as next month. School Board members heard from Apple Bus Service about the cost to continue service for another five years, but with a slight increase of cost for a cost of living adjustment. An alternative plan where the buses would be district owned, but managed by Apple Bus Service was also heard. The district has received bids from the purchase of new and used buses and costs average about $87,455 per bus for new buses and the average cost per bus for used would be $72,000. The district's need of 24 buses for a total cost over $1 million but that cost would be spread across 5-10 years. With an annual payment of about $140,000.

20 years ago... A declining national and state economy are partly to blame for the lower sale prices of residential properties in Anderson County according to a study of the county's home sales data over the last two years. Analyzing values from 2001 and 2002 a decline of 12.3 percent in the average sale prices of homes that were sold without acreage and a 10.4 percent decline for nominations of homes with and without acreage land attached to the sale. In 2001 the Anderson County average was 9.58 homes per month sold, where from

Chelsey D'Albini

January to October 2002 the average dropped to 8.6 homes. County Appraiser Gary Stapp said more homes tend to be sold in the fall, so the final months of 2002 could make up the difference, but those sales have not been finalized. The decline is also due to a parallel decline in sale prices. The average sale price of a home without acreage land fell from $51,807 in 2001 to $45,389 in 2002.

A two year project to replace the windows of the century old Anderson County Courthouse in Garnett is now complete, just in time for cold weather. The project began in 2000 after the county received a Heritage Trust Fund Grant through the Kansas State Historical Society which paid $80,000 of its $100,000 tab. Historical Wood Windows of Harrisonville, MO conducted the restoration.

30 years ago... Though he was unable to surmount the election of Bill Clinton, Presidential Candidate Ross Perot carried Anderson County in the Presidential election. Election night turned out to be an anti-incumbent overhaul for many offices. In major Kansas races and regional races of which Anderson County was a part, incumbents won sound victories over their challengers. Retaining their seats were: George Teagarden from LaCygne, Doug Walker from Osawatomie, Doug Lawrence, Jim Slattery, and Bob Dole.

USD 479 Kincaid School Board approved the purchase of a new math program aimed at the mastery of the basics with development toward achievement during the most recent board meeting. The cost of the new program will be approximately $5,200 by the end of the school term. The program is a series of worksheets aimed at gradually taking each student through the various learning levels in math. A student must first take a placement test, and is started at one or two grade levels below the recommended placement. The self guided learning model allows each student to achieve quick success and gains self-confidence needed to master harder problems as the program moves along. Using the repetition of problems, combined with speed and 100 percent mastery, the program can progress students into a fundamental of college level math complexity.

40 years ago... Garnett City Manager Rick Doran said a settlement had been reached between the City and Kansas City Power and Light concerning a rate increase that took effect in January 1981. New rates were a part off the settlement and KCPL has 45 days from the date of the settlement to enact the decrease in rates and refund the money back to the city. The rates from KCPL were lowered and will affect the fuel adjustment portions of consumer's bill in parallel. The settlement concerned a 42% increase in the demand billing rate, and also includes a refund for charges from January 1981, in power charges from KCP&L. The refund totaling approximately $60,000 directly to the City of Garnett which was one of ten municipalities involved. City Manager Doran said the amount would probably not be refunded directly to customers, but rather should be left up to the Garnett City Commissioners to decide.

Vandalism reported in Garnett and other local communities was down over the Halloween holiday this weekend from previous years. Garnett City Police cited only two mailboxes pulled, oil was poured in the street in three places, two dumpsters burned, trash was thrown in the street and there were several instances of egg throwing. This pales in comparison to the report from Colony where debris was piled in the street and burned, and a dead cow was left on the main street of that city. Damage was also reported to a

The Kansas Cold Weather Rule takes effect November 1

TOPEKA - The Cold Weather Rule, designed to help Kansans who are behind on their utility payments avoid disconnection during the winter months, will begin on Tuesday, November 1 and remain in effect through March 31.

With energy costs expected to rise this winter, the protections offered by the Cold Weather Rule could be more critical than ever in keeping individuals and families safe and connected.

According to the U.S. Energy Information Administration (EIA), Midwest households heating with natural gas could see their bills increase by 33%. Those using electric heat could pay 8% more. If the weather is colder than expected, those numbers could be higher.

While the Cold Weather Rule is in effect, utility companies cannot disconnect a customer's service when local temperatures are forecast to drop below 35 degrees within the following 48-hour period. The Kansas Corporation Commission, the agency that regulates public utilities in the state, implemented the rule in 1983 to prevent utility companies from disconnecting a customer's natural gas or electric service during periods of extreme cold.

The Cold Weather Rule also requires utility companies to offer a 12-month payment plan to allow consumers to maintain or re-establish service. Any residential customer with a past due balance will qualify for payment arrangements; however, it is the customer's responsibility to contact their gas or electric company to make those arrangements.

Payment plan terms to maintain or restore service require that customers agree to pay 1/12th of the total amount owed, 1/12th of the current bill, the full amount of any disconnection or reconnection fee, plus any applicable deposit to the utility. The remaining balance must be paid in equal payments over the next 11 months, in addition to the current monthly bill.

The Cold Weather Rule applies only to residential customers of electric, natural gas, and water utility companies under the KCC's jurisdiction, however many municipal utilities and cooperatives have similar winter weather policies.

Information about the Cold Weather Rule is available on the Commission's website. Kansans may also contact their local utility company or the KCC's Office of Public Affairs and Consumer Protection at (800) 662-0027.

Information on what to expect in terms of energy costs this winter is also available on the KCC's website at <https://kcc.ks.gov/kcc-consumer-alert-winter>.

KANSAS GOVERNOR

UNITED STATE SENATE

Dennis Pyle (I)

Please allow me to introduce myself. I am a fourth generation Kansas grain and livestock farmer. My wife, Jennifer, and I have been married for forty-two years. Together we raised six daughters. We now have thirteen grandchildren and two more on the way. Please see www.pyleforkansas.com.

Pyle

I was first elected to the Kansas House of Representatives in 2000. I was elected to the Kansas Senate in 2004. Currently I am in my fifth term in the Senate. As a lifelong republican, I recently changed my party affiliation to run for Governor as an independent.

Many ask why not a primary? Well, if one looks at the history of Kansas gubernatorial races, we can see that in 2002 Shellenberger lost to Sebellius, in 2006 Barnett lost to Sebellius, in 2018 Kobach lost to Kelley. The fact is that left wing republicans will always support the most left wing candidate. Just look at the republicans endorsing Kelly. History tells me that had I ran in the primary and won, why should I expect different results than what we have seen in the past?

The short story-if I weren't on the ballot, voters in Kansas would have absolutely no conservative choice for governor. The three of us served together for six years in the Kansas Senate. I watched as republican majority leader Schmidt and democrat Kelly voted together over and over again against a majority of republicans. They are two peas in a pod- liberals. I am the only conservative.

The Pyle Plan is:

- 1) Stop Government overreach by protecting your healthcare freedom.
- 2) Protect Educational freedom by empowering parents and limiting government.
- 3) Act on my election audit and answer the question on election integrity.
- 4) Ban out of state, non-resident abortions.

Mark Holland (D)

I am a fourth-generation Kansan and third-generation United Methodist Pastor. I have served as County Commissioner in Wyandotte and as Mayor of Kansas City. I work with individuals who are both left and right of center, but if you cannot see the center from where you are standing, you are likely standing in the wrong place. My opponent, Senator Jerry Moran often gets a pass for being a centrist, but his voting record is extreme. Here are just a few examples:

Holland

- I trust women and I will vote to codify Roe v Wade. My opponent voted for Supreme Court Justices to eliminate Roe v Wade. He has co-sponsored 75 different bills to take away choice for women. He gave $50,000 to the Vote Yes campaign in Kansas.
- I believe in the separation of church and state. My opponent wants the government to enforce his religious views about women and abortion.
- I back working families. My opponent voted against the bi-partisan infrastructure bill that is bringing $3.8 billion of real jobs and real wages to Kansas.
- I back our seniors and I will protect Social Security and Medicare. My opponent voted against Medicare negotiating better prescription medicine costs for Kansas seniors. And he voted against capping the cost of insulin.

The last thing Kansas needs is another weathervane. My opponent has spent 20 years in Washington DC, weakly following the political winds. The result of his lack of leadership is a government that is as toxic as any in our lifetimes.

I will bring to Washington commonsense and courage. I will work across the aisle to bring real solutions to Kansas. I will not hesitate to take a stand for what is right. Kansas deserves better leadership. I look forward to serving as your next US Senator.

KELLY...

invest more than $14 billion. We've cut $1 billion in taxes for Kansans – including eliminating the food tax. We are paying down debt while making record investments in the state's Rainy Day fund.

I'm proud of that record. But my opponent, Derek Schmidt, will take us back. He supported the Brownback agenda that drove our state into the ditch in the first place. We've come a long way – we simply can't afford to turn backwards now.

Kansans face a really important choice this November.

We can either stay on track – with a growing economy, a balanced budget, fully funded law enforcement and public schools, and lower taxes. Or, we can return to the same disastrous policies that broke our budgets, our schools, and our economy.

My opponent wants you to believe I'm someone I'm not.

But Kansans know I'm pretty middle of the road – I bring people together, not pull them apart with divisive politics. I've worked tirelessly to put party politics aside and do what's best for Kansas.

Now that we've steadied the ship, we're well-positioned for big things.

We've come a long way, but I believe our best days are ahead of us. I know that we can make Kansas the very best place in America to raise a family.

I hope to earn your vote again this November to keep building on all we've done these last four years.

SCHMIDT...

If she had just signed into law the bill Republicans put on her desk, our grocery tax would be cut in half today.

Kansas needs a new governor who will always put kids and parents first in education. Our current self-proclaimed "education governor" did more damage to more of our children than any other governor in state history with her lockdowns. As a result, more parents than ever are demanding a greater role in their kids' education and upbringing, but she vetoed the Parents Bill of Rights calling it "the worst thing we can possibly be doing." I'll sign it into law.

Kansas needs a new governor who shares our common sense values. I will sign the Fairness in Women's Sports Act, which Kelly vetoed twice. She won't fight for Second Amendment rights, but I do. She accused Kansas law enforcement of "systemic racism," I'll always Back the Blue. She allowed her administration to promote and fund drag shows for children of "all ages," neither of which will happen on my watch.

She won't stand up against Biden's policies hurting Kansas, but I will.

As your governor, I'll focus relentlessly on making daily life more affordable, putting parents and students first in education, building safer and healthier communities, and growing our economy and population faster than our government.

Republican leadership with common sense and conservative values offers a better future. I would be honored to receive your vote.

MAILER...

Federal court documents show Hillary Clinton's presidential campaign hired Perkins Coie in 2015. The firm then retained the intelligence firm Fusion GPS to do opposition research on Donald Trump's campaign in 2016. That association led to the Clinton campaign's acquisition of the later debunked "Steele Dossier" as a part of what later became known as the failed Russia Hoax attack on Trump's presidency.

The mailer attacks Schmidt on his stance on immigration, although the Attorney General and former state senator is in fact endorsed by border wall project initiator former President Trump, as well as by the National Border Patrol Council – the union that represents Customs and Border Patrol Agents.

The Review reached out to Perkins Coie's Washington office Friday for comment but so far has not received a response.

Republicans say the move shows more fear on the part of national Democrats that the Kansas Governor's seat will be another victim of "The Red Wave," a surge of Republican wins in various races due to Democrat policy failures, expected to flip numerous state governorships and congressional and senate races.

"National Democrats are desperately meddling and misleading voters in Kansas," said Shannon Pahls, executive director of the Kansas Republican Party. "They know Laura Kelly is losing, so they trot out Hillary Clinton's law firm to fund a last-minute effort to lie to Kansans. Kelly and the Washington liberals spreading lies should be ashamed of themselves. Kansans won't be fooled."

The Democrat connection to Pyle's campaign is the latest in recent fissures apparent in Democrat efforts to re-elect performance-plagued incumbent Laura Kelly.

Last week, Democrats and left-leaning state media were in fire extinguisher mode after it was revealed the Kansas Department of Commerce, headed by Kelly's running mate Lt. Governor David Toland, funded organizations that sponsored "all ages" drag shows in Wichita in recent weeks.

HOUSE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION No. 5022

A PROPOSITION to amend sections 2 and 5 of article 9 of the constitution of the state of Kansas to require that a sheriff be elected in each county for a term of four years.

Be it resolved by the Legislature of the State of Kansas, two-thirds of the members elected (or appointed) and qualified to the House of Representatives and two-thirds of the members elected (or appointed) and qualified to the Senate concurring therein: Section 1. The following proposition to amend the constitution of the state of Kansas shall be submitted to the qualified electors of the state for their approval or rejection: Sections 2 and 5 of article 9 of the constitution of the state of Kansas are hereby amended to read as follows:

"§ 2. County and township officers. (a) Except as provided in subsection (b), each county shall elect a sheriff for a term of four years by a majority of the qualified electors of the county voting thereon at the time of voting designated for such office pursuant to law in effect on January 11, 2022, and every four years thereafter.

(b) The provisions of subsection (a) shall not apply to a county that abolished the office of sheriff prior to January 11, 2022. Such county may restore the office of sheriff as provided by law and such restoration shall be irrevocable. A county that restores the office of sheriff shall elect a sheriff by a majority of the qualified electors of the county voting thereon for a term of four years. Such sheriff shall have such qualifications and duties as provided by law. The time of voting for the office of sheriff may be provided for by the legislature pursuant to section 18 of article 2 of this constitution.

(c) The filling of vacancies and the qualifications and duties of the office of sheriff shall be as provided by law.

(d) The legislature shall provide for such other county and township officers as may be necessary."

"§ 5. Removal of officers. (a) Except as provided in subsection (b), all county and township officers may be removed from office, in such manner and for such cause, as shall be prescribed by law.

(b) A county sheriff only may be involuntarily removed from office by recall election pursuant to section 3 of article 4 of this constitution or a writ of quo warranto initiated by the attorney general."

Sec. 2. The following statement shall be printed on the ballot with the amendment as a whole:

"Explanatory statement. This amendment would preserve the right of citizens of each county that elected a county sheriff as of January 11, 2022, to continue electing the county sheriff. The amendment would also provide that a county sheriff only may be involuntarily removed from office pursuant to either a recall election or a writ of quo warranto initiated by the attorney general.

"A vote for this proposition would preserve the right of citizens of each county that elected a county sheriff as of January 11, 2022, to continue electing the county sheriff via popular vote. The amendment would also direct that a county sheriff only may be involuntarily removed from office pursuant to either a recall election or a writ of quo warranto initiated by the attorney general."

"A vote against this proposition would not make any changes to the constitution and would retain current law concerning the election of a sheriff and the procedures for involuntary removal of a sheriff from office.

Sec. 3. This resolution, if approved by two-thirds of the members elected (or appointed) and qualified to the House of Representatives and two-thirds of the members elected (or appointed) and qualified to the Senate, shall be entered on the journals, together with the yeas and nays. The secretary of state shall cause this resolution to be published as provided by law and shall cause the proposed amendment to be submitted to the electors of the state at the general election in November in the year 2022, unless a special election is called at a sooner date by concurrent resolution of the legislature, in which case it shall be submitted to the electors of the state at the special election.

HOUSE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION No. 5014

A PROPOSITION to amend article 1 of the constitution of the state of Kansas by adding a new section thereto, concerning oversight by the legislature of certain executive branch actions.

Be it resolved by the Legislature of the State of Kansas, two-thirds of the members elected (or appointed) and qualified to the House of Representatives and two-thirds of the members elected (or appointed) and qualified to the Senate concurring therein:

Section 1. The following proposition to amend the constitution of the state of Kansas shall be submitted to the qualified electors of the state for their approval or rejection: Article 1 of the constitution of the state of Kansas is hereby amended by adding a new section to read as follows:

"§ 17. Legislative oversight of administrative rules and regulations.

Whenever the legislature by law has authorized any officer or agency within the executive branch of government to adopt rules and regulations that have the force and effect of law, the legislature may provide by law for the revocation or suspension of any such rule and regulation, or any portion thereof, upon a vote of a majority of the members then elected or appointed and qualified in each house."

Sec. 2. The following statement shall be printed on the ballot with the amendment as a whole:

"Explanatory statement. The purpose of this amendment is to provide the legislature with oversight of state executive branch agencies and officials by providing the legislature authority to establish procedures to revoke or suspend rules and regulations.

"A vote for this proposition would allow the legislature to establish procedures to revoke or suspend rules and regulations that are adopted by state executive branch agencies and officials that have the force and effect of law.

"A vote against this proposition would allow state executive branch agencies and officials to continue adopting rules and regulations that have the force and effect of law without any opportunity for the legislature to directly revoke or suspend such rules and regulations."

Sec. 3. This resolution, if approved by two-thirds of the members elected (or appointed) and qualified to the House of Representatives and two-thirds of the members elected (or appointed) and qualified to the Senate, shall be entered on the journals, together with the yeas and nays. The secretary of state shall cause this resolution to be published as provided by law and shall cause the proposed amendment to be submitted to the electors of the state at the general election in the year 2022, unless a special election is called at a sooner date by concurrent resolution of the legislature, in which case it shall be submitted to the electors of the state at the special election.

these problems, and Davids has voted for them 100% of the time. I believe we need to cut wasteful discretionary spending and get back to a budget surplus. Families in Anderson County - and across Kansas - must be fiscally responsible and balance their budgets; government should do the same.

High energy prices have also hurt American families and businesses. Biden declared war on American energy the day he took office, and Davids supported every policy. Now the price of diesel continues to rise, contributing to high prices and empty shelves at the grocery store. I have released a plan to unleash American energy production so we can lower costs for families.

In August, I visited the Southern border and saw firsthand that our border is not secure. I've released a plan to secure our Southern border by investing in a physical wall, high-tech border surveillance, and proper funding for border patrol agents. I also believe we must examine the needs of our workforce in order to solve our immigration crisis and support American businesses.

Joe Biden and Sharice Davids have led our country down the wrong path; I'm running to get us back on track. Davids will spend the next two years continuing to vote with Joe Biden 100% of the time, but I have real plans to solve the crises facing our country and bring relief to Kansans. I'd be honored to have your vote.

look at the housing codes and regulations. As far as attracting developers to build more housing there are many things to consider. Where would we put it? Do we have the land within the city to put a subdivision or a multi-unit complex? Maybe not. We first need to work on the infrastructure of the city. Streets, sewer, water services, electrical system. We are very fortunate to have a city that provides all these services. However, we are way behind in keeping them up to date and improved. All of this takes money and I for one do not want to see taxes go up. It affects me as much as it does

Department and enjoy serving the community. My goals as commissioner are to help the town grow by chasing every lead and researching any way possible to bring more business here and by doing so creating more jobs. Housing and daycare are also major issues I plan to tackle. In order for the town to make improvements we will need to grow the yearly budget and my goal is to see it steadily increase so we can been left behind. We aren't the power center of the Democratic party, or the Republican party. The cities are making decisions for us, and we need representatives who will fight to make sure we're not getting overlooked.

Topeka is dysfunctional. I see a lot of bipartisan issues that Kansans want, pushed aside for ones that play well for fundraising. The legislature needs to focus on kitchen table issues, not culture war issues.

These are some other issues I am hearing about across the district. Mental health funding. Housing. Child care! Fully funding special education. Medical marijuana. The drought. A cost of living adjustment for KPERs. These are the

to leave behind a governing system that provides for my grandchildren the same opportunities that my wife, Jackie, and I have enjoyed and benefited from.

With inflation, taxes and regulations pressing on all of us, we need to push back. People in rural areas tend to be hard-working, problem-solving and self-governing. In recent years, state general fund spending has increased more than twice the inflation rate. If this is not addressed soon, significant tax increases will be necessary. The number of people employed by the state of Kansas is increasing. We need to push back against the expense and regulations that Committees - leadership positions that gave me the experience of passing strong election security and business-friendly legislation. Now, as Secretary, I am honored to carry out those intentions.

First, to strengthen our economy, we must make it easier for businesses to start and grow in our state. Over the last four years, we have been migrating our Business Services Division off of an outdated computer system and onto a new and reliable system that will streamline filings and enable Kansas businesses to file more documents online. By reducing filing and regulatory burdens and allowing reports to be filed on a biennial basis rather than annually, we can foster economic growth in our communities. These initiatives to our Country, Our State, and the People who live in the Third. I base my Campaign on Facts Not Fear, Logic, and Not Feelings.

The Campaign Motto: Deregulate>Free the Market>Free Yourselfes.

My Platform is: 1. To downsize the Federal Government by eliminating Branches, Offices, and Programs that are antiquated, not used nationwide, or would be better funded and run at a State or Local level. Focusing towards lower the National Debt, which is one of the causes of Inflation, and reducing federal spending.

2. Change the present income tax system to an automated Flat Tax system.

3. Create a Per-session Payment System, similar to the Kansas Legislators. You're paid for your performance, either on the floor of congress or at your town hall.

Offering Americans Personal Freedom and the ability to control more of their wealth and not give it to the government to control.

Free the Market! Allow businesses to conduct their financial affairs without Government involvement or intervention, do away with the ESG scoring and the Fed's Transformation to Keynesian Economic structure.

this expansion of state government brings us.

Fairness has long been an important part of our culture. Kansas just needs to resist the voices who are demanding exceptions for a few and pass bills such as the previously vetoed Fairness in Women's Sports Act. We also need to protect the vulnerable among us, including the elderly, mentally and physically challenged and the unborn.

Politics in recent years has seen an increase in partisan bickering and disrespect. We need to get back to civility, thoughtful communication and problem solving. I can help bring these things to state government.

are in progress, and I am running for re-election to finish what we started.

Second, Kansas is nationally recognized for our free, fair, and safe elections and is an example of how to increase security to protect your vote without limiting ballot access or voter turnout. In the legislature, I pursued policies like voter ID and post-election audits to ensure we provide Kansas voters with trusted results without sacrificing voter engagement. As your Secretary of State, I have spent my first term in office increasing training and resources for election officials, enhancing security for election equipment, and protecting your right to a secret ballot.

It is a privilege to serve as your Secretary of State, and I humbly ask for your vote on November 8.

years, I have been a civil litigator who has argued more than a dozen federal lawsuits... defending cities and states across the country.

And that is an Attorney General's number one job—defending laws in court. And I have been doing it for two decades in private practice. In addition, a state attorney general is the one official who can stop a president of either party when he violates the Constitution. More than any other attorney in KS, I have done that, litigating a total of 4 such lawsuits against the Obama and Biden administrations.

Very few attorneys have the skill set to fight and win these complex lawsuits against the US Department of Justice.

That is why 35 Kansas Sheriffs have endorsed me.

They know that I have what it takes to keep Kansas safe and to keep our constitutional freedoms secure.

When you hire an attorney, you hire one that has the specific skills and experience you need.

You do not hire an attorney who has never argued a single case in federal court. You hire a veteran who has defended state laws across the country. I will defend every Kansas law in court, whether I agree with it or not.

Kansas needs an attorney who has both the ability and the will to protect our freedoms against unconstitutional edicts from Washington DC.

I have both. And I would be honored to have your vote.

Kansas Mental Health Center to hear about the challenges and successes of rural health-care. And, of course, I tried some pie at Dutch Country Cafe.

The most important thing I learned is that as Kansans, we share common values: we want economic opportunity in our hometowns, we want our families to be healthy and safe, and we want to support the history and tradition that makes our state a great place to live.

I'm working hard to support those values in Congress. My mom raised three kids on her own, serving in the Army for 20 years and then in the Post Office. Her dedication showed me what it means to serve.

In Garnett, I spoke with folks from all walks of life, and regardless of politics, we found common ground. For example, we agreed that we should introduce our kids to all different paths to success—including apprenticeships and certifications to get folks on the job.

Or we agreed that in order to bring down costs and reduce inflation, we need to be making more products here in America, not overseas in countries like China.

Or we both think that the cost of prescription drugs and insulin is far too high, and both parties should be working together in Congress to address it.

I'm dedicated to bringing those common sense changes home to the Third District, which now includes Anderson County. I would be honored to earn your vote this November.

ACHS graduate Katie Lybarger coaches 4-H meat judging team that wins national contest

By Maddy Rohr, K-State Research and Extension news service

MANHATTAN — Katie Lybarger, a 2017 graduate of Anderson County High School, coached the Kansas 4-H All Star meat judging team which won the national championship at the American Royal in Kansas City, beating teams from 14 states during the 4-H Meat Judging Contest championship.

It is the first-ever national title for a Kansas team, which won by 27 points over Texas. The contest has been in existence since 1970.

“The Kansas team was successful due to its work ethic,” said Katie Lybarger, a meat science graduate student at Kansas State University.

“These kids met with us for virtual practices weekly, studied on their own time, and practiced from sunup to sundown in the days leading up to the contest. They never once complained and took advantage of every opportunity to get better. More importantly, they had fun together throughout all of this and had a very strong team bond,” Lybarger said.

The team placed first in retail cut judging, retail cut identification, oral reasons and overall judging. They were second in pork judging and beef judging.

The Kansas 4-H All-Star Meat Judging Team consisted of individuals who placed in the top 10 at the state 4-H meat judging contest in August. According to Lybarger, students needed to have excellent meat evaluation and decision-making skills, and exceptional oral communication.

The team included:

-Luke Fankhauser, Greenwood County.

-Gwenyth Fry, Southwind District (Bourbon County).

-Callan Smith, Barber County.

-Calley Stubbs, Sunflower District (Wallace County).

-Lyle Perrier, Greenwood County

-Lillian Hulse, Central Kansas District (Ottawa County).

-Liam Nichols, Central

Kansas District (Ottawa County).

In addition to Lybarger, the team was coached by Steph Witberler.

“Steph and I enjoyed coaching this team because it was an opportunity to invest back into the next generation of meat judging,” Lybarger said. “We both competed on the K-State meat judging team and found the experience to be incredibly impactful.”

Lybarger credited the 4-H members’ coaches and volunteers at the local level who, she says, “have invested years into these kids.

“They truly give these students the essential meat judging foundation needed to be successful at this level. Our roles as the coaches of the all star team was just to take the kids to that next step.”

Individually, four Kansas 4-H members placed in the top 10, including Stubbs (first), Perrier (third), Fankhauser (fifth) and Fry (seventh).

Stubbs placed first in retail cut identification with the only perfect score in the contest; first in oral reasons, and first total judging. She was second in pork judging and retail cut judging.

Perrier was second in retail cut identification, third in retail cut judging and oral reasons, and fourth in total judging. Fankhauser was fourth in beef judging. Fry was third in total judging and fifth in retail cut judging.

Students evaluated six classes of carcasses or cuts and gave three sets of oral reasons during the contest. Additionally, they identified 30 retail cuts and specified the species, primal, and cookery of each. This year, the team evaluated pork carcasses, beef ribs, pork loins, beef rounds, porterhouse steaks, and pork blade chops. Reasons were given on the pork carcasses, pork loins and porterhouse steaks.

Lybarger said: “This was a talented and hard-working group of leaders, and we feel very lucky to have gotten to know them each through this team.”

Lady Lancers cross country finishes 3rd at State meet

WAMEGO - It was a great way to finish one of the most successful seasons in Crest cross country history as the girls finished in 3rd place behind strong finishes by both Josie Walter and Peyton Schmidt.

Walter finished in 3rd place and Schmidt was just inside the top 15 with a 14th place finish.

Also helping the Lancers finish on the podium as a team was Aubrey Allen, who finished in 24th place and Kyree Pucket (73rd place).

The top three runners for Crest freshmen, so the expectations will be high heading into the 2023 season next year.

South Gray finished in first with 40 points, in second place was Ness City with 58 then Colony with 74.

Deadline for DAR citizen and essay contest approaching

The Four Winds Chapter of the National Society of the Daughters of the American Revolution wants to announce the upcoming deadlines for the American History Essay Contest and the Junior American Citizen Contest. The deadline for both contests is Friday, December 2.

DAR has sponsored these contests and many students from the area have won local, State, Division, and National Awards. DAR is proud of all the opportunities for students from PK - 12th grade. Public schools, parochial schools, and homeschools are all able to participate.

The Junior American Citizen Contest is for PK - 12th grade. The themes change each year and this year the theme for JAC is "The 200th Anniversary for the Santa Fe Trail: Moving the Stars and Stripes Westward." This is especially close to home as Kansas has large part of the trail not too far from us here in eastern Kansas. There are Art Contests including poster, stamp design, photo essay, digital design, and banner design; Creative Writing includes poems and short stories; and Community Service has two categories for individuals or groups.

The American History Essay Contest for 5th - 8th grade has the topic of being a delegate to the Second Continental Congress and the 9th - 12th grade writes about any patriot of the American Revolution. If you know any aspiring artists or talented writers, please contact the Four Winds Chapter Chair, Connie Becker by phone/text: 501-920-8062 or email: csbrltsk06@outlook.com for detailed guidelines.

Any woman 18 years or older who can trace her lineage back to an American Patriot or anyone who helped the cause of the American Revolution is welcome to find out more about joining this vibrant service organization. Please use the contact information given to find out how you can join! FWNSDAR is looking forward to sharing all the winning entries from our local students later.

Be a Voice for Kansas

Glenn Brunkow, Pottawatomie County farmer and rancher

We are in the heart of what has been termed the "silly season of politics." I know that for many of us voter fatigue has set in, and I have good news and bad news on that front. The good news is that in about a week or less it will all be over. The bad news is that the next cycle is a presidential election, so you have about six months before that gets cranked up.

Unfortunately, the sheer volume of campaign ads and fliers turns many of us off or makes us numb to the candidates. I get that but you must fight through the urge to ignore all of it and tune it out. This is one of the most critical elections that we as an ag community have faced and this is a call for all hands on deck. It is true that all votes count but when it comes to agriculture that statement has never been truer. Candidates who support agriculture need your vote.

Kansas is becoming increasingly urban and because of that voters in those areas are farther and farther away from agriculture. We are a democracy where the majority rules. Soon we could find ourselves having less of a voice over who represents us and, more importantly, what legislation gets passed. We know laws made in Topeka and Washington D.C. can have huge impacts on how we run our farms and ranches. It is important that we elect representatives that will have our best interests in mind and who understand our business.

That is why the work Voters Organized To Elect Farm Bureau Friends does is so important. They take the opinions from the grassroots level and develop a list of candidates who are friendly to agriculture and will keep our best interests in mind. That work is not done in a couple of days but rather in a painstaking process, making sure that all voices are heard. However, that great work doesn't mean anything if we don't get out and vote for those candidates.

While I would like you to vote for the people on that list, and I ask that you take the time to look at it, I just want you to exercise your right to vote. Historically those of us in rural areas have gotten out at higher levels than our urban counterparts, and that amplifies our voice. Lately, that has not been the case and is a trend we need to reverse. If you are really tired of the noise around the election, go vote now. Advanced voting is open, check with your county clerk to find out how. Then it is done and no matter what happens, your voice is heard.

If you are like me and a traditionalist, make sure you get out and vote on Nov. 8. Every vote counts and every vote matters. We have seen it time and time again, even right here in Kansas. Please, look at the list of VOTE FBF endorsed candidates before you make your decision. I cannot stress just how important your vote is. It's our chance to be a voice

"Insight" is a weekly column published by Kansas Farm Bureau, the state's largest farm organization whose mission is to strengthen agriculture and the lives of Kansans through advocacy, education and service.

WANT TO SAVE A LIFE?

STOP A FRIEND FROM DRIVING UNDER THE INFLUENCE.

All Kansas Voters Need to Vote

When changes to our Constitution are on the Ballot ALL voices need to be heard. In November we have two proposed Amendments that would change our State Constitution.

1. The Legislative Veto or Suspension of Executive Agency Regulations Amendment would shift the current balance of power by allowing the Kansas Legislature to revoke or suspend any rule or regulation adopted by executive branch
2. The Kansas County Sheriff Election and Recall Amendment would require county sheriffs be elected and give authority to the State Attorney General to begin the process to remove or recall sheriffs from office, instead of the Local District Attorney.

Yes - Vote Changes the Constitution
No - Vote Keeps the Constitution as it is

Four Viking runners place at State Cross Country

WAMEGO - The 40th cross country season in Central Heights history will go down as another success as the current era of Viking runners are enjoying a great run over the past few seasons and the future remains just as bright.

"We were able to bring home some great results and some encouraging signs of what's to come, Vikings coach Troy Prosser stated.

In what turned out to be an abnormally mild day for weather, the Lady Vikings team had some incredible success individually.

Emma Cubit and Melaney Chrisjohn were without a doubt the most outstanding runners on the girls side this year in terms of placement.

"The State course at Wamego is known for being one of the most punishing and unforgiving courses in the entire region due to the nature of the hills and lack of flat ground running. The girls followed our plan to a T on the first mile and worked their way up through the field over the last two miles," Prosser added.

Cubit has now captured the highest placement in school history (6th) at the State meet since moving to the 5K distance. The previous best was her own 8th place last year.

Chrisjohn also put together a blazing last two miles to move from a spot in the 40s up to 11th place which is the third best finish in school history at that meet and distance. Arabella Dunbar ran a season best on the hardest course of the season while Alexis Davis, Skylar Dyerson-Fritchman, Lillie Johnson and Lillian Coulson rounded out the team for the 12th place finish after coming into the meet ranked 15th.

The boys had come into the meet with several question marks concerning healthy runners, but who can't say the same at the end of the season? When the dust settled, Cody Hammond chased down the field and finished 7th place, a mere 13 seconds from the individual state champion, and Connor Burkdoll, after getting shoved to the ground in the first mile, was able to climb from the mid 40s to 17th place to complete his second straight All-State season as a sophomore.

Owen Miller, running with a foot injury that kept him out of most of the practice for the past three weeks, finished 28th with Christian McCord right behind him in 32nd place. Brylan Sommer and Aydan Dunbar were our next two runners across the line and our lone senior boy, Nicholas Schultze, finished his running career at CH helping their team to a 4th place finish in an absolutely loaded 2A field.

"It's always easy to look back and think that if maybe one or two things had gone a little differently then there could be even more to celebrate, but the reality is, had one or two things gone differently, there could easily be less to celebrate and be thankful for," Prosser said.

Coach Prosser said some of the lifelong lessons learned from cross Country always finds a way to give more than appears on the surface. The friendships made over the miles travelled, the four All-State athletes who earned their place among the best of the 64 schools in class 2A, and the memories made will last much longer than the bad practices, the days of illness and injury, or the emotional come down once the last finish line has been crossed.

Prosser added as he looks forward to next season, "While we graduate three seniors, the next year will require a new group to fill the gaps, pick up the pace, and make their mark on the Vikings Cross Country program."

AC Bulldog runner Nelson finishes in top 40

WAMEGO - Senior Tucker Nelson was the lone representative for the Anderson County Bulldogs at the state cross country meet in Wamego and on a great day of weather finished in 37th place with a time of 17:32.

Wichita-Trinity won the team title and the individual title was won by Clay Shively of Wichita-Trinity with a time of 15:26.

Crest rolls into 2nd round

COLONY - Crest rolled past Norwich 60-40 in an offensive shootout.

Ethan Godderz passed for 217 yards and 4 touchdowns and added another 97 yards on the ground on 16 attempts.

Harrison Barker continued to roll up the yards with 157 yards and 3 touchdowns on 15 attempts.

Stetson Setter was the top receiver with 5 catches for 153 yards and 3 scores.

Next up for Crest is a Friday night matchup against Osborne (8-1). Osborne has won 8 straight after an opening season loss. The defense has been especially tough allowing 8 points or less in 7 of those contests.

St. Mary's ends Vikings season

PITTSBURG - Central Heights ran into a buzzsaw on Friday night as they met up with one of the hottest team's in 2A, and wound up on the losing end to St. Mary's (8-1) 56-0.

As expected with the final score, the Vikings struggled to put up much offensively in the loss. Quarterback Jose Velez completed just 7 of 16 attempts for 58 yards and also threw 4 interceptions.

The ground game mustered just 80 yards on 36 attempts. Carson Wood led the way with 31 yards on 12 carries.

emphasizing the authority of the parent as their child's ultimate moral teacher. McCune, on the other hand, stated that it made it "too easy" for parents to impact the moral teaching implicit in the curriculum. He whined about "book bans," another left-wing extremist talking point. A school deciding not to buy a book or removing it from the library shelf because it contains sexually explicit material does not constitute a ban.

The final question was on election integrity. Does Kansas have secure elections? Schmoie said that Kansas has the best election system in the country, but that we need to be vigilant and continue to maintain election security. McCune yet again repeated far-left Democrat talking points, stating that Kansas has laws that "make it harder for people to vote." Though he had his talking points written down, he failed to give specifics on that accusation.

Ultimately it was a night of clarity. It was clear why Schmoie won her primary. She understands the concerns of voters in District 59 and, as our Representative, she will do her part to ensure the government acts in our best interests. It was also clear why McCune is the leader of the Democrat party in Franklin County. Though he claims to be a moderate, his talking points and endorsements make it clear that he would, like his counterpart Sharice Davids at the Federal level, toe the Democrat party line if he were elected. We have a choice on November 8th. This candidate forum made that choice very clear.

Bulldogs bounced from playoffs in opening round

GALENA - On Friday Galena (7-2) rolled past Anderson County (3-6) 38-13.

Despite the lopsided loss Anderson County had their opportunities early, and if converted the game may have had a completely different outcome.

Galena coughed up the football on their opening drive, giving the ball back to Anderson County. The Bulldogs marched down the field and with just under 8 minutes left in the quarter AC converted a 4th and 1 from the Galena 5 to keep the drive alive.

Galena put the clamps down defensively though and shut AC down on the ensuing 4 attempts to turn the ball over on downs with 5:09 remaining in the first.

They immediately flipped the field on their next possession as Galena marched down the field and were facing a 1st and goal at the 4 yard line to open the second quarter.

Galena scored on the opening play of the second half and after the conversion led 8-0.

Galena tacked on another touchdown with just over 6 1/2 minutes remaining to take a 16-0 lead.

It appeared that would be the halftime score as Anderson County turned Galena over on downs with just 51 seconds remaining at the AC 19. After back-to-back completions AC had the ball at the 33, AC was flagged for intentional grounding clear back at their own 4 with 6:8 seconds remaining in the half.

Instead of punting, AC ran a quarterback keeper and failed to run out the final seconds giving Galena the ball back at their own 6, which they scored on the next play to take a 24-0 lead into halftime after the conversion.

Preston Keueser opened the second half scoring with a 53 yard run but the conversion failed.

Galena quickly answered to push the lead back out to 30-6, which is what the score would be heading into the 4th quarter.

Trailing 38-6, Kueser would score his second touchdown of over 50 yards on the night, this one from 54 yards out to account for the final score.
