Garnett man brought terror to the big screen in wax

1933 horror film featured the creations of a GHS graduate who sculpted for Hollywood

BY DANE HICKS

THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW

LOS ANGELES, Calif. – He was one of a mere handful of graduates of the Garnett High School class of 1903, but his talent as a sculptor and his yen for servicing the high-end retail store window displays of Los Angeles and the West Coast eventually launched him into one of the most recognizable Hollywood movie franchises' most grand era.

The story of Garnett's Lee Oates (pronounced "Otis") and his unique vocation – making wax figures for department store fashion displays – hit the Garnett newspaper with a hometown-boy-done-good item back in 1932. The piece was published just months before the 1933 release of "The Mystery of the Wax Museum" – and its international showcase of Oates' macabre and amazingly detailed wax creations for what became a Hollywood classic.

The movie itself was no major hit at the time, but it was Faye Wray's last eye candy, queen-of-scream role before the 1933 release of "King Kong," which made her a household name. Other stars included Lionel Atwill, Glenda Farrell and Frank McHugh. The original film prints and negatives, shot in what was at the time brand new two-negative Technicolor process, would even become lost in the mid-1940s before being rediscovered in the private collection of Jack Warner – of Warner Bros. fame.

"L.E. Oates, of Los Angeles, Calif., is a famed artist in wax," says The Garnett Review of December 15, 1932, "having completed one of the largest commissions on record, reproducing in almost absolute likenesses the features of famous figures in history."

"Lee Oates is a former Garnett boy, a son of Mr. and Mrs. J.M. Oates, who lived south of Garnett near Crystal Lake," the paper says. "Shortly after his graduation from the Garnett High School in 1903, he left here, taking up the work of modeling wax figures for window displays."

Tracking down Lee Oates and finding his granddaughter, Karen Kiefer, now living in Grand Junction, Colo., to round out his story wasn't easy. An internet search eventually yielded Oates' connection to the movie via the IMDb website (Internet Movie Database). We discovered his place of death in Marin County, Calif., in 1953 and found 1950 census records for that county that listed some family members. MyHeritage.com genealogy website yielded other descendants, and allowed us to fill in a gap Kiefer had wondered about.

"We knew he was from Kansas, but we didn't know where," Kiefer said.

Oates spent time in Ohio where he eventually married Elizabeth Goodsill in 1916. His mother, Isola (Farnam) Oates, passed away in 1917 and is buried in Garnett. He convinced his father, James Mercury Oates, to join he and Elizabeth enroute to California shortly thereafter, and as far as anyone knows the family left Kansas forever.

Kiefer was born in 1959, the daughter of Lee Oates younger son James, six years after her grandfather passed away in California. She Oates pioneered the technique of string cutting the molds, and used the skill to build the wax figures used in "The Mystery of The Wax Museum."

Davids backs Biden's push to control farm ponds

BY DANE HICKS

THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW

WASHINGTON, D.C. – Straining to retain the assertion of federal authority over private lakes, ponds and streams – including farm ponds on private property – President Joe Biden vetoed a congressional move Thursday to repeal the "Waters of the United States" rule that has expanded federal regulatory authority under the Clean Water Act.

Congress voted March 29 to reverse the expansive rule which began under the Obama administration, was restricted during the Trump years but was brought back with federal authority expansion under Biden. Biden's expanded version of the rule took effect March 20.

Third District Kansas Congresswoman Sharice Davids, continuing a near perfect lock-step voting record allied with Biden's liberal governmental agenda, was the sole vote among the Kansas congressional delegation against repealing the WOTUS rule. The vote in the House passed 227-198 and 53-43 in the Senate with broad support from other Democrats in both houses.

time to the Review's request for comment.

The American Farm Bureau Federation and 17 other organizations filed a lawsuit in January against the Environment Protection Agency and the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers the agencies enforcing Biden's WOTUS expansion, saying the rule makes clear the agencies "are determined to exert (Clean Water Act) jurisdiction over a staggering range of dry land and water features — whether large or small; permanent, intermittent, or ephemeral; flowing or stagnant; natural or manmade; interstate or intrastate; and no matter how remote from or lack-

Meeting set tomorrow to reveal findings of March housing study

Findings should give developers inkling of ROI for local projects

BY DANE HICKS

THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW

GARNETT – City officials will meet with the public tomorrow night to review the findings of a housing study commissioned in recent weeks to determine the prospects for housing development in the local area.

The meeting will be held at Town Hall Center at 5 p.m. tomorrow, Wednesday, April 12, and is open to the public.

Anderson County Development Agency Director Julie Turnipseed said last week the meeting would discuss the results of a focus group interview conducted in mid-March with a group of about 25 local residents, as well as review a mini-market analysis prepared by RDG Planning & Design of Omaha, Neb., which conducted the study.

Housing became a community focus in recent years with criticism from some quarters that the Garnett area lacked quality, affordable housing. The issue's become more defined recently with the announcement of three major industrial projects to be built within commuting distance of Garnett in the next couple of years. Turnipseed said the study was designed to provide factual data to be used to attract developers interested in pursuing housing projects locally.

"The Strategy will disclose where our housing gaps exist,"

Legislature overrides Kelly's veto of women's sports bill

Local votes, previous testimony key in veto's eventual rebuff

BY DANE HICKS

THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW

TOPEKA – Legislators in the Kansas House and Senate on Wednesday rallied to override the governor's veto of a law banning men from competing in women's sports in Kansas, after a three-year battle with Kelly and two override failures.

The issue has come to the forefront on the national scene as male athletes who "identify" as women have moved into women's sports, in some cases winning titles and scholarships due to their often enhanced strength and physical abilities compared to women. Kansas now joins 19 other states which have banned men from women's sports.

Key to the override vote were 9th District Republican State Rep. Fred Gardner of Garnett, who replaced a former opposition vote on previous occasions from Kent Thompson of Iola, and 5th District Rep Carrie Barth from Baldwin City, who replaced two previous opposition votes from former representative Mark Samsel. House members barely made the 84-vote, two-thirds majority threshold needed for the override, garnering only 81 votes in last session's attempt. The Senate voted 28-12 for the override.

Governor Kelly said she was disappointed in the over-

Local EMS effort underway to register defibrillators

GARNETT – As part of an effort initiated state-wide by the Kansas Board of Emergency Medical Services, Anderson County EMS is asking community members to help register all area automated external defibrillator (AED) devices through PulsePoint AED.

PulsePoint AED allows users to register AEDs which can be located on a map for quick access during a cardiac emergency. AEDs can be registered by anyone anywhere by downloading the free PulsePoint AED app or at aed.new. Simply add the location and a photo of the AED in the context of its surroundings.

Devices registered through PulsePoint AED located within Anderson County will be investigated and vetted by Anderson County EMS. Paramedic Alyssa Esson has prior experience with PulsePoint AED and is eager to lead the effort for Anderson County.

"Asking community members to help register AEDs in Anderson County is the first step in the process," shared Esson. "Once we see that a device has been registered on PulsePoint AED, we'll reach out to identify who the owner

MATHERS

NOVEMBER 12, 1944 - APRIL 2, 2023

Dorothy "Dotty" A. Mathers, 78, of North Platte, NE passed away on Sunday, April 2, 2023, at Azria Health Centennial Park.

Dotty was born on November 12, 1944, at Dr. White's Hospital in Garnett, KS. She was the sixth of eight children born to Albert and Catherine (Wilper) Hermann. Dotty grew up in rural Westphalia, KS on the family farm. An opinionated and outspoken thorn in the side of her older siblings and especially to her older brother Frank, Dotty could be found drawing and painting in her spare time she had. Dotty enjoyed sewing and was an excellent cook when her mother needed help. Dotty attended elementary school at St Teresa's Grade School and graduated from Westphalia High School with the class of 1962.

A traveler at heart, Dotty worked in many locations between Kansas and California before settling in North Platte, NE to welcome her family. She ran a daycare for children in her home for many years. She was a foster mom to many children alongside her beloved son and daughter. She was also a home health aide for the elderly for several years, before becoming a railway crew driver for Union Pacific Railroad until failing health forced her into retirement.

Mathers

She was always interested in nutrition and in practicing her religious faith. She enjoyed traveling to Garnett with her son to visit family and enjoyed reminiscing about growing up on the farm. She will be greatly missed by all who knew and loved her.

She is fondly remembered by her son, Dwane Mathers of North Platte; daughter, Deanna Mathers of North Platte; granddaughter, Kayla Mathers; 4 great-grandchildren; sisters, Mary Davied of Walnut, KS, and Sr. Alberta Hermann OSB of Atchinson, KS; brothers, Richard and Clarence Hermann both of Garnett, KS; and many nieces and nephews.

She was preceded in death by her parents, Albert and Catherine Hermann, and brothers, Al, Frank, and Harold Hermann.

Memorial services will be held at 2:00 PM on Wednesday, April 12, 2023, at the Kingdom Hall of Jehovah's Witness in North Platte. Private family graveside services will be held at 2:00 PM on Saturday, April 15, 2023, at St. Teresa Cemetery in Westphalia, KS. All those who attend are welcome to join the family in the St Teresa Catholic Church basement following the committal service.

HIESTAND

SEPTEMBER 17, 1949 - APRIL 3, 2023

Duly recorded by Marvin D. Hiestand, the deceased, prior to his death!

Marvin Hiestand moved on to a better home on Monday, April 3, 2023, at his home in Topeka.

Now for the quick summary of Marv's life accomplishments. Modestly speaking throughout, of course! God gave Marv the sense to marry a good woman named Trish who would stand by him for almost 54 years, through tough times and sad times and good ones. God sent Marv and Trish two fine sons who had good marrying sense also, bringing them two beautiful, bright daughters-in-law. But life continued to get better. These fine sons and daughters-in-law proceeded to give them five Hollywood good-looking grandchildren all of whom made their PaPa pop his buttons with pride on a regular basis.

So, yes, my life has been happy. And I thank God, a good wife, fine children, and button-pop-pin' grandchildren for that.

Marv was born September 17, 1949, in Garnett, Kansas. He was the second of four children born to Charlie and Georgie (Adams) Hiestand. Marv grew up on the family farm seven miles southwest of Welda, Kansas, and attended elementary and high school at Welda. Following high school, Marv attended Emporia State University, receiving a Bachelor and Master's of Business in Data Processing. After graduation, he accepted a position as Instructor of Data Processing at the Topeka Public Schools Kaw Area Technical School (now Washburn Tech) and taught post-secondary students for 7 years. He then began to follow the technology changes and moved through various positions retiring as a Senior Network Specialist after 42.5 years for Topeka Public Schools.

He was preceded in death by his parents; brother, CJ; and one sister, Patty Spencer.

Marv is survived by his wife of 53 years, Trish; two sons, Jeff and Missy, and Kris and Jessica; five grandchildren, Kaitlin, Blake, Ella, Addie, and George; mother in law, Joy and Uli "Curly" Tucker; mother in law, Mahlene Nokes; and one sister, Mary Jo and Dennis Gillaspie.

Graveside services were held on Friday, April 7, 2023, at the Welda Cemetery, Welda, Kansas. Memorial contributions may be made to Welda Alumni, Midland Hospice, or Welda Methodist Church and left in care of the funeral home, P.O. Box 408, Garnett, Kansas 66032. Condolences may be sent to the family at www.feuerbornfuneral.com.

We are the ones that need to adapt!

Some 4000 years ago Job asked a question that finds its true answer in Easter. His question was, "If a man dies will he live again?" (Job 14:14) We are not told in the book of Job anything about how Job's relationship with God came to pass. We are just told that Job, "was blameless and upright, he feared God." Satan on the other hand accused God of protecting Job from any sort of trouble. Satan was right, God had protected Job but not for the reasons Satan put forth. Job's answer to his own question is found in Job 14:15. You (God) will call and I will answer you; you will long for the creature your hands have made. Surely then you will count my steps but not keep track of my sins."

The Apostle Paul understood at the end of his life in 2 Timothy 4:7-8 that eternity was a reality when he says, "I have finished the race I have kept the faith. Now there is in store for me the crown of righteousness, which the Lord, the righteous judge, will award to me in that day- and not only to me, but also to all who have longed for his appearing."

The writer to the Hebrews

WEEKLY DEVOTIONAL

BY DAVID BILDERBACK

provides us a conclusion to Job's question and Paul's statement when he says in Hebrews 12:2, "Let us fix our eyes on Jesus, the author and perfecter of our faith, who for the joy set before him endured the cross, carrying its shame, and sat down at the right hand of the throne of God."

Many have said Christianity will die out if we don't adapt to meet the felt needs of the people. For those who pursue that, it is a slippery slope. It never ended well when they tried to adapt the Bible to meet their needs in biblical times. What they got was captivity, sickness and death. If someone can find the body of Jesus, Christianity is dead because the resurrection is a hoax. Until that happens I am all in right along with Job and Paul.

Digging unveils military buttons

DIGGING UP THE PAST

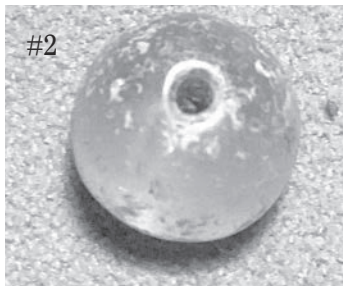

Henry Roeckers
Call (785) 504-4722 for local archeology information.

It's been nice this past week, except for the wind. After all this is Kansas. Once again I want to share a variety of four types of artifacts found at my present site.

#1 - Men, I don't know how many of you have worn these. This a sleeve or collar stud. It's not to be confused with a cuff link. This particular one depicts an oriental scene.

#2 - This blue/green is just one of several colored beads

#3 - Really a nice collection of military buttons. From left to right: large gold gilded WWII U.S. Army overcoat button, Civil War era button, 2 WWII uniform buttons & the last two are WWII U.S. Navy buttons. (All made of brass)

#4 - As you can see this large WWII Army coat button is slightly damaged but still a great deal of gold gilding remains.

Respectfully submitted by:
Henry Roeckers. 31March2023

Colony Christian Church - April 2nd

The last beatitude: "Blessed are those who are persecuted for righteousness' sake, for theirs is the kingdom of heaven." (Matt 5:10). This last beatitude works with the first beatitude by sandwiching this group of teachings between the declaration, "theirs is the Kingdom of Heaven." As believers in the Lord Jesus Christ, we have become citizens of Heaven (Phil 3:20), and now we live by a different set of standards that appear upside down from the "real world". What most people don't realize is that our weakness is actually our biggest strength. God explained this to Paul in 2 Cor 12:9, "my power is made perfect in weakness," and Paul's response was, "I am glad to boast about my weaknesses, so that the power of Christ can work through me. We see this in Jesus' own life. The devil's biggest scheme to defeat Jesus turned out to be Jesus' greatest victory! Jesus appeared weak as they stripped, beat, mocked, and then finally hung him on a cross to die. But God used Christ's willing obedience to allow the weakness of his human flesh to be killed as the perfect sacrifice that not only atoned for our sins, but by the power of the Holy Spirit, raised Jesus back to life defeating death and the devil (Heb2:14). When we live according to the teachings of Jesus and embrace the upside down thinking of the beatitudes, we are participating in the Kingdom of God, even and perhaps especially when we are persecuted, as the definition of persecution applies biblically. Matt 5:11 provides context by explaining, "Blessed are you when others revile you and persecute you and utter all kinds of evil against you falsely on my account. 1 Peter 4:15 makes it clear that you are not experiencing persecution if you are suffering consequences for doing something evil, like murder or stealing. Neither is high gas prices nor the cost of eggs persecution since believers and unbelievers alike suffer the same economic hardships. Blessed are you when you are like Stephen (Acts 6:5 - 7:60), who was feeding orphans and widows. But because he was a follower of Jesus, they stoned him to death. And Stephen prayed to God the whole time to forgive them for murdering him. Once again, just when evil thought it had won, God's power was revealed. "And there arose on that day a great persecution against the church in Jerusalem, and they were all scattered throughout the regions of Judea and Samaria" (Acts 8:1). And the church grew! Blessed are those who are persecuted for righteousness sake, for the kingdom of heaven is theirs. Stephen believed this. "Full of the Holy Spirit, he gazed into heaven and saw the glory of God, and Jesus standing at the right hand of God... and he called out, 'Lord Jesus, receive my spirit', and he entered into heaven for eternity.

Mrs. Ella Row has sold her home and will go to Topeka to be near her son, Harley. Mrs. Row has been a resident of Anderson County and Garnett since her girlhood days. She came here with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Doll, in the '50s. We greatly regret her departure.

Video Pipe Grouting will begin work on the renovation of the city's sewer lines late next month. The company will begin the repair of manholes and other contract work after the grouting is complete. The renovation project is only one part of a $1.5 million project, which also includes corrective pumping to remedy the infiltration problems that occur with heavy rains which can cause the sewage to bypass the treatment plants. The financing for the project is 75 percent by the Environmental Protection Agency and 25 percent by the City of Garnett. Square Fair spaces are filling up fast, 74 of the 101 available spaces have been spoken for according to registration committee members Donna Umbarger, Linda Caldwell, and Marilyn Shelley.

After the recent winter weather, action has been taken by USD 365 to make up the time lost in the classroom. Students will be expected to report back to school following the Memorial Day holiday from June 1-4. Contractually, the district and its teachers must provide 183 days. The four proposed additional days would make up for the missing instruction time due to inclement weather. The Board acknowledged that the State Board in Topeka was already making the attendance guidelines more strict for the coming year, changing from 183 days to 186. Refinancing the bonds used to build ACJSHS will only be approved if the bond company can get a return of $570,000 in net savings. The monetary benchmark for the George K Baum Company would mean that the district would now have to increase the mill levy on the bonds, and they would be paid off more than a year earlier than originally scheduled.

City commissioners have asked the local Garnett Jaycees to submit a security plan before approval of a special event permit for the annual Mud Run held at Garnett's Golden Prairie Industrial Park. The 2002 event turned into what city attorney Terry Solander called a drunken mob (that) forced local police to retreat in their efforts to curtail a public disturbance thereafter they were outnumbered by event-goers. Started in the late 1990s as a fundraiser for the local chapter last year and even drew an estimated 1,200 people to the event location. The Kansas Bureau of Investigation is looking for a local bank employee in connection with the disappearance of an undetermined amount of cash destined for the automatic teller machines belonging to Patriot's Bank of Garnett. Authorities are searching for Jeffery Meeker and David Valsvik for questioning as no charges have yet been filed.

10 years ago...
By a margin that was first reported as a mere 48 votes, but later revealed to be closer to 150, came the approval of a new $25M hospital project. The new project was defeated in almost every rural voting precinct, but only in a few of those by decisive margins, leaving Garnett's largest wards to sway the outcome. The measure was endorsed by county commissioners, which commits county taxpayers to a little over a 5 mill tax increase to combine with nearly tripled operating lease payments from St. Luke's to pay off bonds for the project. Opponents to the measure warned that St. Luke's was only committed to the first 10 years of the lease agreement with extensions out to 30 years. A drop in FTE Enrollment and pending state budget cuts mean a likely property tax increase all but inevitable for the next school year for USD 365.

legislators will regret their vote in the future when they look back on their time in the Legislature.

Groups supporting transgender and LGBTQ groups railed against the override. ACLU Kansas called the move a "devastating blow to student athletics and basic fairness, charging the bill was about discrimination and not fairness to women athletes. The Kansas Democratic LGBTQ Caucus noted the override vote falling on the 18th anniversary of the passage of a bill defining marriage in Kansas as one man, one woman - which was later nullified by action of the U.S. Supreme Court.

"They proved today that their hate is still as strong as it was 18 years ago," said Brandie Armstrong, caucus chair.

Senator Renee Erickson, who spearheaded the bill over three sessions, celebrated its final passage.

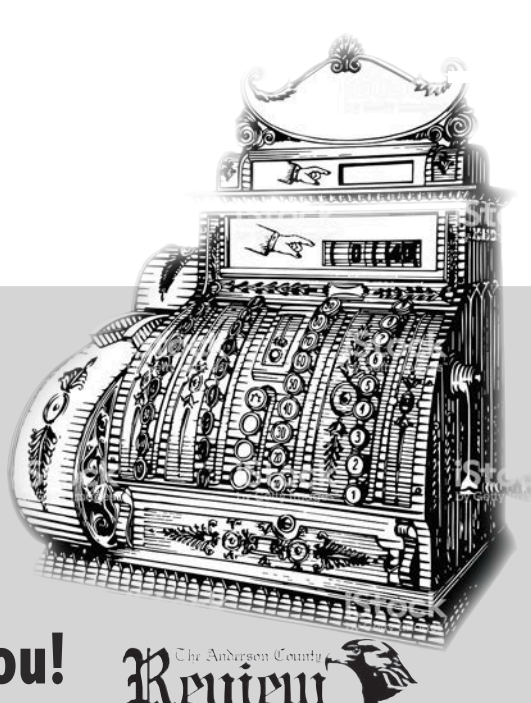

"Now that the Fairness in Women's Sports Act will become law, Kansas will be able to uphold Title IX and protect fair play for Kansas girls, as it has done for 50 years," Erickson said. "Today is truly a victory for all women."

Numerous women athletes testified in favor of the bill over the past three years, including former University of Kansas pole vaulter Callie Hicks of Greeley. Former Univeristy of Kentucky swimmer Riley Gaines, who lost a national championship to a male swimmer from University of Pennsylvania who was allowed to compete as a woman in 2022, also testified this session.

Full Cornstock lineup for September 23rd announced

GARNETT - After 5 months of negotiating entertainment, the roll-out of the Cornstock Concert on the Hill Music Festival lineup is here.

Performing at this year's music festival held at Lake Garnett on Saturday September 23rd includes an all "Red Dirt" list: Casey Donahew (headliner), Wade Bowen, Colt Ford, and Logan Mize, with a special acoustic performance by local artist, Trevor Holman.

Tickets are on sale now, online only, at the lowest price of the year at $30. The $30 price ends April 30th. As of May 1, ticket outlets will open to sell tickets in over 20 cities for the price of $35. On June 1 the price increases to $55. From September 1st through the event tickets will be $65. Kids 0-5 do not need a ticket and will be admitted with an adult. Two-night camping for $50 is available through the City of Garnett Recreation within the park where this event is held.

Cornstock is an event hosted by the Anderson County Corn Festival, Inc. (ACCF). ACCF is a non-profit 501c4 and is an umbrella organization that focuses on the development of youth leadership, promoting the arts and helps 20-plus non-profits fund-raise each year. The music festival brings on average 3,000-5,000 people to Garnett. Sponsorship and vendor opportunities are underway.

Please visit www.cornstock.net (www.accornfest.com) for online ticket link, link to camping, and more and follow @accornfest on social media.

Daddy-Daughter Dance to be April 29

Chapter Y of P.E.O. has chosen Dancing Under the Big Top as the theme for this year's Daddy-Daughter Dance to be held on Saturday, April 29, 2023 at the Garnett Knights Hall from 7:00 to 9:00 PM. The event promises to treat the girls to an evening of fun with music, dancing and refreshments. Girls from 2 years of age through 6th grade may be escorted by a dad, step-dad, grandfather, uncle or family friend!

Suggested admission is $20 per family at the door. All event proceeds will be applied to the Chapter Y scholarship projects. P.E.O. is a philanthropic education organization that supports educational advancements for women at all levels of higher education. Two well-deserved 2023 graduates from Anderson County High School, who will be enrolled in college this fall, each will be awarded a $1,000 scholarship provided by the local chapter.

Chapter Y is quietly active in assisting with numerous community needs. Members can be found donating items to ECKAN, participating as readers in the Kansas Reads event and donating books to the library reading program.

Date night at the Daddy-Daughter Dance can make two dreams come true. One is the dream of a special girl being treated to a night of "Dancing Under the Big Top" and the other is the dream of a high school graduate in need of financial support for higher education.

The Daddy-Daughter Dance is an evening filled with fun, laughter and memories!

of words, he claims we haven't put our civilization in the hands of government but rather we have staked our political institutions upon the capacity of mankind to self govern.

Wake up call Rep. Jacobs, that's exactly what the founders did.

The ability to self govern begins with the very people elected to office, and if they choose not to practice self restraint, they can use the power of the office to be re-elected. Hence, the very real need for term limits.

His justification seems to be some sort of vindictive position that since the 10

Commandments have been rejected, mankind is left with corrupt government.

Rep. Jacobs, I invite you to look at your Bible and recognize that we have all sinned and fallen short of the glory of God. Throwing in the towel as you have cannot be hidden in our faith. All are redeemable, thank God, and your condemnation on humanity is no excuse to avoid trying to limit the very people you acknowledge as corrupt.

Another Republican, Ken Collins, voted no because he simply believed a convention wouldn't bring any greater control on Congress.

So why even try, right, Rep. Collins?

The 12 Republicans who voted no are Reps. Awerkamp, Borjon, Butler, Collins, Corbet, Gardner, Houser, Jacobs, Maughan, Schrieber, Underhill and Younger, and two who didn't bother to show up were Concannon and Poetter Parshall.

I've had my reservations about a Constitutional Convention, but the bill limited any conversation to fiscal limits and term limits. The convention would not be able to touch any other part of the Constitution.

This is an example of electing people for superficial attributes rather than true conservative acumen and a sound background in the Constitution.

It might seem nerdy, but it is the best way to advance a nation conceived in liberty and dedicated to the proposition that all men are created equal.

It seems for 12 Republicans elected to the Kansas House, some are more equal than others.

Term limits would drastically drain the swamp in Washington, D.C., and it would begin the transition back to a citizen Congress rather than the professional politicians we have today.

And a $31 trillion national debt should cause anyone to support any effort to curb federal spending.

This should be an issue in the next election, and the people should not vote for a candidate who isn't willing to support term limits.

ing in a physical connection to actual navigable waters," the lawsuit states.

Those restrictions include but are not limited to farm ponds and lakes on private property like those used for livestock operations. It's under review by the United State Supreme Court after an Idaho farm couple sued over the rule. Kansas Attorney General Kris Kobach in February joined a multi-state lawsuit against the Biden Administration taking shape in federal court against the rule as well.

HOUSING...

Turnipseed said. "This strategy will encourage unique, safe, and affordable housing for residents of Anderson County."

City commissioners had pressed members of the Garnett Housing Authority Board in recent months to pursue a study in order to determine if waiting lists for the city's senior living facilities indicated a need for more senior living units in the city's three retirement living facilities. Housing board members were reticent to pursue a study, saying the organization should instead pay down more of its $500,000 debt before pursuing an expansion. Commissioners appointed two vacancies on the board in December who are more open to pursuing an expansion.

ACDA opted to engage a housing study on its own with the Nebraska firm, which was funded by a $10,000 grant from the Throckmorton-Riser Foundation.

Amendment would cap property value increases at 4%

David Hicks, The Sentinel
TOPEKA – The Kansas Senate moved last week to amend the Kansas Constitution to allow no more than a 4 percent per year increase in property valuations for most properties.

The final vote on SCR 1611 was 28-11 with one member absent.

Last week, the Senate stood at 26-14 on the issue, one shy of the necessary 2/3 required to approve a constitutional amendment limiting increases in property valuations to present to voters. That measure limited increases to 3% yearly.

If passed by the House and eventually approved by voters, the amendment would cap tax-assessed property value increase year-over-year at 4 percent. There would be exceptions for changes in property class, new construction or for when property is transferred to a new owner.

Three Republican senators; Brenda Dietrich of Topeka, Michael Fagg of El Dorado, and Carolyn McGinn of Sedgwick voted “Yes” after initially opposing the amendment. The Sentinel asked each senator for a comment, but none responded.

Sen. Jeff Pittman from Leavenworth County was the lone Democrat voting in favor. Sen. David Haley of Kansas City, a “Yes” vote initially, was absent for the final tally.

Sen. Carny Tyson of Parker saluted her GOP colleagues:

“With this bill, the Senate has put the percentages in favor of the taxpayers. Now, we’ll see where it goes from here”

Along with the “Truth in Taxation” law passed in 2021, Kansas lawmakers appear to be making progress in reining in contentious property tax increases.

SCR 1611 now goes to the House for consideration, but it’s not known when that could occur. If approved, the amendment will be on the ballot in November, 2024.

WAX...

learned about Lee's interesting career from Lee's wife Elizabeth, who died in 1968 and kept much of the promotional materials, photos and other memorabilia from Lee's career. Those materials and Internet references from other sources are about the only thing that links him to the movie, Kiefer says, because though his work was the backdrop for the entire film and was eventually literally destroyed by fire in the movie's climatic scene, he wasn't listed in the credits.

Kiefer said the family's unsure how Oates got into the wax figure business, but they know he opened his own studio in Los Angeles and plied his trade with celebrity reproductions which store owners could buy and adorn with their own clothing for sale. The idea was apparently a hit with some of the higher-end retailers, and Oates made a reputation that garnered the attention of movie execs.

Photos and production documents show the procedure Oates used to make the reproductions so lifelike. First, naked models were outlined with string taped to their bodies along seam points, then greased and coated with plaster. When the plaster hardened, technicians carefully pulled the string to cut the plaster, and used the half sections as molds to later fill with wax and reattach to make whole bodies. Clothing was then tailored to fit the forms to make the most attractive displays. It was a process Oates invented and is still used today in sculpture and molding.

Kiefer said Oates eventually moved his family north to Marin County when he retired. Keifer's father James more or less followed in Lee's footsteps after his hitch in World War II.

"He got out and I guess didn't really know what to do with himself, so he got into selling mannequins to stores all up and down the West Coast," Kiefer said. "He took a lot of care in building them with detailed, attractive faces."

But as time went on retailers started buying cheaper mannequins with no facial features – sometimes no faces at all. The market for detailed mannequins ebbed, and Kiefer's father had to find a new line of work.

Kiefer said her family grew up with the little known gem of her grandfather's wax-based movie stardom. They all knew the film, and they'd watch for it on the occasions it would be featured as a late-night fright flick.

Kiefer eventually acquired a VHS tape of the film, which combined with the materials her grandmother saved, form a trove of family history that connects them to a piece of Hollywood movie magic.

And, unbeknownst to them until now, it connects them to Garnett as well.

ABOUT THE FILM: A sculptor (Lionel Atwill) is disfigured when a London wax museum is burned by its owner for the insurance money. Years later, that sculptor has relocated to New York and is about to reopen a new museum with recreations of his greatest works. A young reporter (Glenda Farrell) notices that the Joan Of Ark figure looks a lot like a young woman who died a few days ago, and whose body disappeared from the morgue. (Obviously, 195House Of Wax was a very faithful remake.) Then, as luck would have it, Fay Wray wanders into the museum, and she's the spitting image of Atwill's melted masterpiece, Marie Antoinette. From there, things get even weirder and far more sinister as Atwill's evil plan and despicable working methods are discovered.

Rick and Connie Thompson, Kincaid, KS, were recognized as part of the 2022 Class of Master Farmers and Master Farm Homemakers. This recognition program is for local farm and ranch families.

The Thompson Family selected as 2022 Master Farm Family

Rick and Connie Thompson, Kincaid, were recognized as part of the 2022 Class of Master Farmers and Master Farm Homemakers. This recognition program is for local farm and ranch families. It is sponsored by K-State Research and Extension and Kansas Farmer Magazine, with additional support provided by Kansas Farm Bureau, Frontier Farm Credit/American AgCredit, and the Kansas State Fair Board.

The Thompson family, who call the Frontier District home, have been in agricultural production for 44 years. As the children of generational farmers, agriculture runs in Rick and Connie's blood. Rick's love of the farm and hard work made him sure his place was on the farm. Rick's father, in partnership with Rick's uncle, inherited the dairy business in the early 1950's. Rick recalls milking the 120 cows at 3 AM prior to class and basketball practice. Strong worth ethic has always been a part of the Thompson family. Rick began farming in 1979, the year after he graduated from high school.

After attending Crest High School with Rick, Connie attended nursing school at Ft. Scott Community College. She worked at a local hospital and doctor's office prior to having their 3 children, Blake, Erin, and Nick. Together, they decided Connie would be a stay-at-home mom. Connie joined many local volunteer organizations to help in any capacity. She continues these efforts today. Over the years, the Thompsons have been heavily involved in activities, such as the Extension Board Council representing Anderson County (later the Frontier District), Seekers- not-Slackers 4-H Club, the Kincaid Fair Association, and many more.

Rick & Connie were once asked, "Why are you involved in so much?" The answer was short. "Because if no one volunteered, nothing fun would ever happen."

Blake attended Highland Community College in Highland, KS on a football scholarship. After a few years of city life and city traffic, he and his wife Hannah (Poss) returned to the farm. Hannah is a physical therapy assistant and stay-at-home mom. Blake serves on the Anderson County Committee of Kansas Livestock Association. He is also chairman of the Farm Service Agency County Committee in Anderson County. Their five children attend St. Rose School in Garnett, KS.

Erin graduated from Neosho County Community College as a registered nurse. She works at a physician's office and volunteers her time and talents at a Rodeo Bible Camps and other rodeo activities. Her husband, Justin, owns and operates Zook Excavating in Garnett, KS. He also serves on the Anderson County Soil Conservation Advisory Committee and the Anderson County Fair Board. Their children are members of the Christian Youth Rodeo Association and the Kansas Junior and High School Rodeo Association. Erin serves on the Board of the CYRA and their daughters, Brylee and Brekyn, are on the youth board. Their son, Kaxton, will start pre-school and is beginning his first year of rodeo competition.

Nick graduated from Kansas State University with degree

Park Management and Natural Resource Conservation. He currently lives and works in Overland Park, Kansas and is employed by Ryan Lawn and Tree as a Special Project Manager. His fellow employees often comment on how well rounded his knowledge of common skills are. He simply explains it as, "Growing up on a farm, you learn to do it yourself."

Rick and Connie shared, "God gave use this wonderful life as a blessing and it is our job to make the best of it. No matter what job you chose, do it well, do for others, and give back blessings to others."

The family was nominated by the Frontier District Governing Board and submitted a detailed application of their agricultural practices, family, and community involvement. They were one of six families chosen from across the state to receive the award.

Garnett Library to host 3rd annual plant exchange

Garnett Public Library would like to invite everyone to our community 3rd annual plant exchange! Come and meet other gardeners, share information and swap plants! To participate, bring in one plant, or many. A perennial, annual, shrub or vegetable in a container which you are willing to give away would be perfect. Please label your plants as best you can—name, light, soil requirements, and any unique characteristics they may have.

Each plant you bring gives you the opportunity to exchange it for something new. You can start potting now, or bring in 'freshly' dug plants as well.

Please bring your plants for exchange on Monday April 17th and Tuesday, April 18th, 2023. The exchange will begin Tuesday at the library promptly at 11:00am. We hope to see you there! Any questions you can call the library at 785-448-3388 or email us at garnettlibrarystaff@gmail.com.

DEFIB...

mation with local emergency dispatchers to record in their system, so instead of asking the caller if there is an AED available, dispatch center staff can inform callers of nearby lifesaving devices.

Anderson County EMS covers nearly 600 square miles in Anderson County. Even with volunteer departments located in rural Colony, Greeley, Harris, Bush City, Welda, Westphalia, Kincaid, and Lone Elm, it can take some time for help to arrive.

"The PulsePoint AED app displays where all the registered AEDs are located on a map," Esson demonstrated with one touch on her mobile smartphone. "We encourage anyone who is CPR-trained to download the PulsePoint AED app for information on AEDs in your geographic area. As more AEDs are registered in Anderson County, and across the state, the more useful this tool will be."

Early application of bystander CPR and rapid defibrillation from an AED have proven to be crucial in improving a person's chance of surviving sudden cardiac arrest.

"With PulsePoint AED, we hope to create greater awareness throughout our community around the important role CPR-trained bystanders and AEDs play in out-of-hospital cardiac arrest survival," said Troy Armstrong, Manager of Anderson County EMS. "We'll also be offering CPR courses to get even more folks trained and prepared to respond in an emergency."

"Having an accurate AED registry within our community, along with increasing the number of CPR-trained bystanders, can greatly improve the odds during a cardiac arrest event and can help save a life."

For questions about registering an AED or to learn more about CPR training opportunities through Anderson County EMS, please contact Sherry Schmitz, Education Coordinator, at 785-204-7194.
