Gas pumps shut down as KDHE assesses leak

No word yet on cleanup or extent of contamination, owners mum on issue

BY DANE HICKS THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW
 GARNETT - An apparent underground fuel leak at Garnett's Short Stop convenience store location at the corner of South Maple and Fifth Avenue resulted in a shut down of the store's fueling system last week and what will likely be an extensive remediation effort for contamination of the nearby area.

Anderson County Emergency Preparedness Director Mark Locke said last week in a statement fuel odor had been detected at a residence on 4th Avenue a block away from Short Stop's location at the corner of Maple Street and 5th Avenue, and the leak was tracked back to a source at the store. Locke said state and federal environmental authorities had been notified and would be handling the remediation effort from there.

As of Sunday excavation had begun in an area of the main pump bay at the station. All its fuel pumps remained shut down.

Representatives from Manhattan-based Leiszler Oil, which owns both the Short Stop locations at Maple & Fifth and Maple & Park Road, did not respond to the Review's requests for comment over the weekend.

Locke said no residents of the neighborhood were in immediate danger by the leak.

Industry analysts say corrosion of underground fuel systems is a major source of such leaks, compounded by the age of some underground tanks as well as ground shift caused by drought or movement of tanks due to groundwater. Most leaks tend to start small but gradually increase over time, and can be made worse by poorly maintained leak detection equipment the lack of its use, testing not being done after modifications or upgrades, lack of secondary containers for tanks or lines and failure of sensors or alarms designed to alert if leaks are detected.

Madrid guilty on 16 counts of child molestation

Jury finds man guilty on all counts after extensive probe, trial

BY DANE HICKS THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW
 GARNETT - An 81 year-old Colony man was found guilty on 16 counts of child rape and other sex charges last week in connection with the long-term molestation of three female family members.

Isidro Madrid was arraigned in August 2023 after his August 2022 arrest on charges he raped, sodomized and engaged in indecent liberties with the three girls beginning in 2009, their birthdates ranging from 1995 to 2011. Each of the victims was under the age of 14 at the time of the assaults, and each of the counts carries a possible 40-year prison sentence.

Madrid speaks no English and required interpreters throughout his prosecution. The court ruled in a Jackson v. Denno hearing - a hearing to determine whether a confession was voluntary or not - was held earlier in January to ensure Madrid's initial statements to investigators were admissible at trial.

Anderson County Attorney Elizabeth Oliver commended the investigation led by officer Tim

Madrid

Hamm, former detective with the Anderson County Sheriff's Office, and other officers who assisted in Madrid's eventual arrest and charges. Oliver also noted the toll the case brought on the family and the young victims involved.

"I have to also commend the courage and strength shown by each of the victims as they stood before Madrid and testified about these horrific events," Oliver told the Review. "The County Attorney's Office and our law enforcement partners will continue to seek justice on behalf of the children in our community as well as all victims in Anderson County."

Madrid will remain in custody at the Anderson County Jail pending his sentencing on March 25.

Deal Kelly vetoed would have ended income tax for 341,000 poor Kansans

BY DANE HICKS THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW
 TOPEKA - In one felled swoop of her veto pen on Friday, Governor Laura Kelly denied tax relief to 341,000 low-income Kansas taxpayers who, under the Republican tax relief bill HB 2284, would have had their income taxes reduced to "0."

The plan, which among other aspects would have established a uniform 5.25% rate tax assessment on all income tax filers, would have reduced to "0" the current income taxes on filers from $6,150 - $23,000 per year. Over 20 percent of low-income filers would have paid no tax at all, state revenue records show.

Still, Kelly denied the effort to allow the poorest taxpayers in the state to keep more of their income in a time of inflation-ravaged prices, calling the Republican-led plan to give back those dollars "reckless," while the state retains its highest-ever tax-funded surplus - some $2.8 billion.

The drama over Kansas tax relief follows consumer prices which jumped a cumulative 16 percent since 2019 according to federal measurements, though anecdotal comparisons show increases in price for some individual goods up some 120 percent. Kelly's veto comes as poor Kansans struggle with not only higher prices for household purchases but also some of the highest consumer interest rates on credit cards, car loans and home loans since the Carter years of the 1970s, and only weeks after she announced the formation of a political action committee targeting Republicans in upcoming legislative races to attempt to quash the GOP's supermajority in the statehouse.

Still it is the direct withholding of tax relief as the state holds its largest ever budget balance that was on the minds of Republicans Saturday at the Kansas GOP convention in Overland Park. Frustration was clear among legislators, who said they have to continually try to explain to people in their districts why taxpayers can't get any of their money back while Kansas is engaged with surplus cash.

"The governor clearly isn't looking at the actual math, or she really just doesn't want to give Kansas taxpayers any of their money back," said 12th District State Senator Caryn Tyson, chairman of the Senate Assessment and Taxation Committee. "She'll commit a $1 billion to some foreign corporate giant, but we have to go back home and explain why corporations are more important than the people who paid that money in in the first place."

Tyson noted that besides changes to the income tax equation, the Republican plan would have exempted the first $100,000 in property value of homes before the state's 20 mill school funding tax levy was applied. Properties valued under $100,000 would have paid no tax at all compared to those which now get an exemption of the first $40,000 in value. There are over 1 million individual residential properties in Kansas. The change,

Harrison still claims city job on social media, no lawsuit filed yet

Former ecodexo director who made allegations against staff now cranky at local press

BY DANE HICKS THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW
 GARNETT - The former city/county employee who demanded a cash settlement over her exit from a post with the Anderson County Development Agency still listed the position as her present job on her social media platforms as late as the past weekend, and local Internet sites for the city and economic development agency still listed her as well.

But veiled innuendo launched at the city in November that Harrison would pursue legal action against the city if she wasn't paid apparently still hasn't come to fruition.

Sherry Harrison's account on LinkedIn - a business and professional social media platform - still lists her as employed as the Director of Economic Development for the Anderson County Development Agency since October 2023. Her member profile on the Kansas Economic Development Alliance also still lists her local position.

Some such leaks can cost more than $100,000 to remediate, which includes not only fixing the leak and associated equipment but also reclaiming and cleaning the contaminated dirt and surrounding environment. Oil industry companies make payments into a state emergency fund administrated by KDHE to help cover such costs.

KDHE officials contacted by the Review regarding the spill did not immediately reply for comment.

Replying to an email last week, Harrison referred the Review to legal counsel she said she had retained, but for which she did not provide a name or contact information for comment. She termed the Review's previous coverage of her claim in a three-page resignation letter a "blatant lie and libelous statements." Short of more legal threats against the newspaper for reporting the story, she gave few further details in follow up emails about the pursuit of a settlement.

"I have been looking forward to each action being brought before the appropriate venues, and I am extremely confident in the outcomes," Harrison said.

City manager Travis Wilson said the city has so far not been served with notice of a civil action, nor had contact with Harrison or her attorneys. So far no records of a filed legal action were found under search terms on either Kansas District Court or federal court dockets.

Harrison submitted a written demand for an estimated $20,000 in a letter dated November 20 of last year, to compensate her for lost time, payroll, benefits and foregone job opportunities after she said former ACDA director Julie Turnipseed emotionally traumatized her during her orientation to her new job in the fall of last year. Harrison was hired in October and was on the job about six weeks.

In a claim that came in a scathing three-page resignation letter to Wilson rife with legal terminology and assertions, Harrison accused Turnipseed of undermining her to the business community and continuing to operate in her role as director she resigned, and that city management took no action to halt the former director's continuing activities or abuse.

"Clearly, after six weeks of tolerating such abuse, it is clear the City has no intention of taking action to eliminate her hostile treatment toward me, or demanding that Julie leave the job from which she retired," Harrison wrote in part.

Harrison came to Garnett with a background as a paralegal and a grant writer. She quietly exited a position as director of Ignite Emporia after not quite a year in the job, sources in Emporia told the Review, and did not include that post in bio material she submitted for use in a press release when she was hired in Garnett.

Harrison told the Review in December she was dealing with a family issue and would not engage the Garnett claim until she returned from out of state.

Panel to start process to replace retiring judge Kevin Kimball

OTTAWA – The 4th Judicial District nominating committee met in a conference call Friday to schedule meetings for the upcoming replacement of Anderson County Magistrate Judge Kevin Kimball, who will retire March 1.

Kimball

The committee will seek nominations for the position from among residents of Franklin County. Nominees must also be a high school graduate or equivalent, and either a lawyer admitted to practice in Kansas or able to pass an examination given by the Supreme Court to become certified within 18 months.

After serving a year in office a new judge must stand for election in a retention election and if retained, serves a four-year term.

The 4th Judicial District Judicial nominating committee is made up of Justice Eric S. Rosen as the non-voting chair, Craig Cole of Garnett, Anthony Mersman of Greeley, Phyllis Gardner and Janet Walsh of Lyndon, Ianne Dickinson and Forest Lowry of Ottawa, John Boyd of Pomona and Timothy Johnson of Waverly.

The position pays about $96,000 annually.

Kimball was appointed in 2005 and was retained by over 70 percent of the voters of the 4th District, which includes Anderson, Franklin, Osage and Coffey counties, in his 2012 and 2016.

Kimball was involved in controversy surrounding the 2021 drug trafficking trial of Tom Emerson, who claimed the search warrant Kimball signed for Emerson's home was not viable because he and Kimball had had a past sexual relationship. A subsequent hearing on that motion produced no evidence to support Emerson's claim, and Emerson was eventually convicted and sentenced in a lesser plea arrangement.

Garnett Public Library
February 2024 book discussion

Garnett Public Library's book discussion for Wednesday, February 28th at 7pm, is titled, "The Golden Doves" by Martha Hall Kelly.

"American Josie Anderson and Parisian Arlette LaRue are thrilled to be working in the French resistance, stealing so many Nazi secrets that they become known as the Golden Doves, renowned across France and hunted by the Gestapo. Their courage will cost them everything. When they are finally arrested and taken to the Ravensbrück concentration camp, along with their loved ones, a reclusive Nazi doctor does unspeakable things to Josie's mother, a celebrated Jewish singer who joined her daughter in Paris when the world seemed bright. And Arlette's son is stolen from her, never to be seen again.

A decade later the Doves fall headlong into a dangerous dual mission: Josie is working for U.S. Army Intelligence and accepts an assignment to hunt down the infamous doctor, while a mysterious man tells Arlette he may have found her son. The Golden Doves embark on a quest across Europe and ultimately to French Guiana, discovering a web of terrible secrets, and must put themselves in grave danger to finally secure justice and protect the ones they love.

Martha Hall Kelly has garnered acclaim for her stunning combination of empathy and research into the stories of women throughout history and for exploring the terrors of Ravensbrück. With The Golden Doves, she has crafted an unforgettable story about the fates of Nazi fugitives in the wake of World War II—and the unsung female spies who risked it all to bring them to justice." (https://www.penguinrandomhouse.com/books/665649/the-golden-doves-by-martha-hall-kelly/). Discussion will be held Wednesday, February 28th at 7pm. Books are available for checkout at the library. Colony Christian Church to have small group study start Feb. 11

"A Sign in Cana" from John 2:1-11 was pastor Chase Riebel's message this week in a series about the road of discipleship. When Jesus turned water to wine at the wedding in Cana it was a sign to the disciples for the purpose of strengthening their faith in the fact that Jesus was sent by God.

Howard Reiter's communion meditation was titled "Living Life to the Maximum" from John 10:7-11. Following Christ is to experience life and life abundantly in the same way a mountain climber climbs for the experience and joy of reaching the peak.

Worship songs were "Holy Water," "Victory in Jesus," "How Deep the Fathers Love For Us" and "Goodness of God." The worship team was Lexy and Anna Riebel, Ethan and Ben Prasko and Mike Billings.

Danny Mattheis announced a small group study will start Feb.11th that will study the "Journey to Resurrection."

Sunday service begins at 10:45 a.m.

Our God has unlimited power!

Perhaps no where in scripture is the power of God demonstrated by Jesus better than in the calming of the storm. The story is recorded in all three gospels. The following is recorded by Mark in chapter 8:35-41. We read beginning in verse 37. "A furious squall came up, and the waves broke over the boat, so that it was nearly swamped. Jesus was in the stern, sleeping on a cushion. The disciples woke him and said to him, "Teacher don't you care if we drown?" Due to the low elevation of the Sea of Galilee and the length and width of the lake a funneling effect can be created by the wind which can whip the lake into sudden violent storms. Most of the disciples being fisherman had no doubt experienced this before but the intensity of this storm created panic in the boat. The disciples being no different from you or I turned to their leader for help. What they were not ready for was the result of their request which would leave them terrified.

They were probably somewhat annoyed that Jesus could sleep through such a storm, which gives us a glimpse into the humanity of Jesus. We read, "He (Jesus) got up, rebuked the wind and said to the waves, "Quiet! Be still!" The wind died down and was completely calm. The disciples fear quickly becomes terror. They ask each other "who is this? Even the wind and the waves obey him!" What they had witnessed was beyond their understanding. Their life situation had been changed by three words, no action just words. What the disciples did not understand was that Jesus was God incarnate. The Son who came from the Father's side at the Father's will to become the sinner's substitute on the cross.

Jesus the God/man was a visible manifestation of God. God clearly speaking to Moses tells Moses when he asks to see his face, "no one can see my face and live." If we contrast this statement with the statement of Jesus in Matt. 5:8, "Blessed are the pure in heart for they shall see God," we begin to see the need for some kind of transformation to take place in our lives. It is not our eyes that prevent us from seeing God but our impure heart. This should give us pause for thought concerning the holiness of God and our sinfulness. Those whose lives have been transformed by a relationship with Jesus Christ will indeed look into the face of God when they pass from this life. The only thing that makes that possible is the atoning work of Jesus Christ on the cross and the resurrection.

VETO...

Tyson said, would have raised the number of Kansans fully exempt from the 20 mill state property tax from 147,000 to 350,000.

Kansas Senate President Ty Masterson said the veto was more about politics than economics.

"Today the governor again put a radical ideology ahead of the people," Masterson said in a statement. "She is so focused on hyper-partisan politics that she has again vetoed a compromised tax plan that was primarily designed to increase the take-home pay for every Kansan and bring sustainable tax relief for hard working taxpayers who are suffering under Bidenflation."

Speaker Dan Hawkins said legislators hoped their third try at tax relief would be a charm, but those hopes were dashed.

"Governor Kelly has now axed the third tax relief bill in less than a year, choosing political wins over increasing Kansans' paychecks," Hawkins said. He noted the plan the governor had denied would automatically adjust for inflation, would have totally eliminated property tax for some homeowners, simplified the tax code and put an immediate end to sales tax on groceries and income tax on Social Security.

Kelly presented her own plan earlier in the session with the similar exemptions of the first $100,000 in property value and the exemption of Social Security payments from income taxes. still she termed the Republican plan "irresponsible," but said she was still committed to some form of tax relief for Kansans before the end of the session and would call a special session if she had to.

Time for Kansas to stand with Texas

If Governor Laura Kelly won't make a public proclamation of support for governor Greg Abbott of Texas and his efforts to secure the federal border between his state and Mexico, the Kansas legislature must draft and pass a resolution to that effect immediately.

In addition, every municipality and county in the State of Kansas should do the same. We asked Governor Kelly's press secretary Grace Hogue yesterday if such a proclamation would be forthcoming from the governor. We didn't receive an email in response by press time yesterday afternoon. We will keep you posted.

But since such a proclamation of support from Governor Kelly is about as likely as President Biden challenging Iran's Ayatollah Ali Khamenei to a winner-take-all breakdancing contest on the south lawn of the White House, it's going to be incumbent on the rest of Kansas to do the job.

It is of course reprehensible, and a situation most of us never dreamed we would find our country in, to have to look among our own citizenry for rhetorical or even literal physical protection of the U.S. southern border, but it is one more disastrous situation Democrats and the Biden Administration have forced upon the population of the United States through their incompetence and outright intention. According to our constitution and the laws of civil government, we have to wait until the coming election to affect the political change that will literally save the nation, but we can exert public relations pressure and express solidarity.

Of course there is no way to view the construct of the present border situation any differently than as an intentionally contrived mechanism to enhance the numbers of illegal immigrants in the nation. We can all debate what that end objective may be, but the fact that Biden's immigration policy is intended to flood the country with millions of migrants, as quickly as possible, is undisputable. Biden has the federal Authority and the military might to end this invasion literally within minutes, but he refuses to do so.

Texas and the southern border states of course have the undeniable constitutional right to defend themselves against this illegal alien onslaught in the absence of the federal government doing its job. So far dozens of states have stepped up in support of Texas after Abbot refused to be bullied into inaction by the Biden Administration.

Abbott was clear in his resolution to fight what can only be seen as an internal tyranny in our country: "The federal government has broken the compact between the United States and the states. The executive branch of the United States has a constitutional duty to enforce federal laws protecting states, including immigration laws on the books right now. President Biden has refused to enforce those laws and has even violated them. The result is that he has smashed records for illegal immigration," Abbott wrote.

Even the liberal press has now well established the impact Biden's illegal immigrant invasion has had on the nation's cities where these individuals have located. States and cities which previously nobly proclaimed their self-designated - albeit illegal - intent as "sanctuaries" where local government and police would refuse to extradite illegal immigrants or assist federal immigration officials in their enforcement of immigration law, are now shown to be over taxed with the fruits of their own noble virtue. Having had to put their money where their mouth is, they now struggle not only to feed and house the onslaught of this passive invasion but also to clean up its sewage. City and state budgets for public assistance have been exhausted, and in some places public schools have been emptied of tax paying parents' children to make room for illegal immigrant squatters. Even the most noble sanctuary endorsing New Yorkers, like mayor Eric Adams, are now screaming for an end to the invasion and for federal assistance to handle its fallout.

Meanwhile Texas has chosen true nobility, to stand so far solely in the way of this invasion. States that have signed on in support of our Lone Star Brothers and sisters include Wyoming, Iowa, Arkansas, Montana, Idaho, North Dakota, Nebraska, West Virginia, Alabama, Tennessee and Louisiana.

Kansas, her elected representatives and her cities and counties should join them, whether or not our governor can summon the logical where-withal to do so. ###

Let's see what the Leftist destructionists in Congress have been working on this past week that will benefit the American people. Oh yeah, that's right, they proposed a bill to tear down the Statue of Liberty. Meanwhile, having no problem promoting and encouraging the trafficking of thousands of women and children into sex slavery and indentured servanthip to the cartels.

Trump has made massive sacrifices trying to protect this country. It has cost him over a billion dollars as Democrats have waged war on his businesses. He is the only president to refuse a salary, and he has taken a personal toll under relentless legal and other Democratic attacks. The Bidens and Obama's on the other hand became filthy rich exploiting public office, including multiple sprawling beachfront estates with huge carbon footprints, showing they really don't believe the climate hysteria they push about rising sea levels.

The article on low income families better off with a flat tax, written by a true Republican who's lying as usual. Flat taxes tend to favor those with the highest incomes including the most profitable businesses, more than small businesses. Tell the truth Republicans, not some BS.

Did you hear what Vice President Kamala Harris said the other day when she and President Joe Biden were out the other day campaigning together? She said something to this effect: Don't worry, we have a president that knows how to win a race. What's she saying? More than face value there? Just a thought. Maybe Trump was right. Thank you.

Hey the rec director or whatever you want to call him isn't worth a darn. why don't we get rid of him and give his truck to the electric department so they don't have to ride three in a cab.

The ADL, taken over by Democrat Party activists, is silent instead of condemning as trivializing the Holocaust the mindless Democrat coordinated attack on Trump, the most pro-Jewish president ever, calling him Hitler. The Democrat central political strategy is critical race theory and its dog whistle DEI, which was based on the National Socialist Workers Party framework of a dehumanized racial Boogeyman scapegoat object of hate. Instead of the "Nazi Institutional Jewish supremacy privilege and oppression myth," it is the "White supremacy privilege and oppression myth" being used by democrats to incite racial violence for political power. So let's now start calling them the "Nazi Democrat Party."

Crisis in Texas accelerates talk of a national divorce

What used to be talked about in private has now come to the public.

The national media is now talking about "TEXIT" after the Supreme Court approved the federal government's effort to cut razor wire installed by Texas to stop the invasion taking place at the southern border.

Whether they meant to or not, the Supreme Court emboldened the Biden Administration to act against Texas even though the ruling is only temporary while the entire court weighs the issue of whether or not a state can secure its border when the federal government fails to do so.

According to Article I, Section 10, Clause 3 of the Constitution, "No State shall, without the Consent of Congress, lay any Duty of Tonnage, keep Troops, or Ships of War in time of Peace, enter into any Agreement or Compact with another State, or with a foreign Power, or engage in War, unless actually invaded, or in such imminent Danger as will not admit of delay."

While the courts weigh whether or not millions of illegal immigrants crossing into Texas is an invasion, Gov. Greg Abbott has taken extraordinary steps to slow the tide while the policies of the Biden Administration have been to open the border and allow anyone claiming asylum (which everyone now does knowing it is an admission ticket) to come in.

KANSAS COMMENTARY

But Abbott has stood his ground in Texas and will not allow agents to continue to ignore federal law. Biden officials skirt this by issuing "notice to appear," much like a driver receives when being issued a traffic violation. The individuals are allowed in, and their court hearing, which will most definitely deny their request, won't be heard for years, at which time they would be deported, unless they don't show up, which more than 95 percent never do.

With the SCOTUS' 5-4 decision and Abbott's position to enforce the Constitutional right of a state to defend itself against invasion, a crisis is emerging that is expediting the political rift already existing in the United States.

Some Democrats are calling on President Joe Biden to take control of the Texas National Guard.

Such moves are rare and have typically taken place to restore order during riots, the last of which was in 1992 after the Rodney King beating by Los Angeles police officers.

All of those were done in cooperation with states, not in opposition to them. The last time that happened was in the 1960s when some Southern states resisted integration of public schools.

If Biden attempts to nationalize the Texas National Guard in the political climate today, it won't be seen as noble as ending racial segregation.

It's one thing when fringe groups call for secession, but it's quite another when the governor is challenging federal authority and using the Constitution to do it.

"I have already declared an invasion under Article I, § 10, Clause 3 to invoke Texas's Constitutional authority to defend and protect itself," Abbott said. "That authority is the supreme law of the land and supersedes any federal statutes to the contrary. The Texas National Guard, the Texas Department of Public Safety, and other Texas personnel are acting on that authority, as well as state law, to secure the Texas border."

When will they call Jack Smith out for election interference?

Jack Smith is a threat to American democracy.

He is blatantly seeking, as a prosecutor, to influence the outcome of the 2024 election. This is not his role and, in fact, is against Justice Department guidelines. If Smith succeeds, the consequences will be long-lasting - the special counsel will have delivered a devastating blow to the legitimacy of our electoral system, in the name of defending it.

Donald Trump and his allies were able to fashion a narrative of a rigged election in 2020 with much less material than Jack Smith is now going to give them in 2024.

He clearly is not playing it straight, and is not proceeding at anything like a normal pace. Fairly routine Jan. 6 cases have taken longer to get from indictment to trial. There is no reason that the question of criminal immunity - a big, consequential question never taken up directly by the Supreme Court - needs to be decided with lightning-quick rapidity.

Of course, Smith has to worry that Trump will get elected again and, as president, squash the case. This was a foreseeable eventuality, though, and the Justice Department could have addressed it by indicting Trump years ago. It didn't only recently emerge, after all, that Trump gave a speech on Jan. 6 to a crowd that went on to storm the U.S. Capitol.

Once the timing of the case pushed hard up against a national election in which Trump was likely to run, forbearance would have been the proper and public-spirited course.

Trump didn't shoot someone on Fifth Avenue. He engaged in unworthy and impeachable acts, but nothing that is straight-forwardly criminal. There was no reason that this absolutely had to be prosecuted no matter what; at best, the case is discretionary.

But influencing the outcome of the election is clearly a feature, not a bug, for Smith and his minders.

There is no way President Biden, Merrick Garland, Jack Smith and Judge Tanya Chutkan would be going down this route if they thought doing so would help Donald Trump become president again. But nearly everyone assumes that a conviction would, at a minimum, hurt Trump's chances and perhaps destroy them.

The posture of the Biden administration is, basically, it'd be really awful if Republicans supported a felon for president, and, by the way, we are going to move heaven and earth to make your likely candidate a felon.

Democrats fear losing the election but apparently haven't thought about what it would mean to win this way, or maybe they just don't care.

Now, if he loses, Trump won't accept the result, even if it is a strictly by-the-books affair, and his rhetoric will be angry and irresponsible. But after a conviction and a 2024 loss, Trump would have legitimate reason to complain - to wit, he was targeted in a politicized prosecution that succeeded in its goal of taking him down in a national election.

Smith's prosecution would be much more consequential than, say, how Twitter handled the Hunter Biden laptop story prior to the election in 2020.

Imagine if, because Chutkan has to wait on a Supreme Court ruling on obstruction, the trial doesn't start until July or August, and a guilty verdict comes down in October? Smith will have fashioned a classic October surprise. Even on the current timetable, sentencing easily could take place in October. The most extreme scenario, of course, is that they actually jail Joe Biden's opponent.

And how do they expect any of this to be received by the roughly 47% of the country that would support Donald Trump in a rematch with Joe Biden? Are these people supposed to believe in the neutrality of Joe Biden's Justice Department, even though that's absurd, or simply accept that this is how the system works now?

Exactly how this plays out this year is impossible to predict, but what's clear is that Jack Smith has foolishly and unnecessarily set in motion a dangerous dynamic.

Did you celebrate Kansas Day?

How did you celebrate Kansas Day yesterday?

Kansas Day, which is celebrated January 29, reminds us that our state was named after the Kanza Tribe. The Kanza lived in Kansas until 1873 when they were forcibly relocated to a reservation in Oklahoma, where they reside today.

Many Kanza archeological sites have been found along the Kansas River, including Blue Earth Village. This was the principal settlement of the Kanza, occupied between 1790-1828. The artifacts found at this site show how the Kanza utilized a variety of items to meet their needs and illustrate that Euro-American goods were being traded in the area.

Did you know that Kansas Day was first celebrated in Paola, Ks. in 1877 by students of L.G.A. Copley. He continued the practice when teaching in Wichita, Ks. two years later. This led to an 1881 article suggesting that Kansas Day be celebrated in other Kansas schools and the annual Kansas Day event we know today was born.

It's my hope that wherever you were on 29 January 2024, you celebrated Kansas' 163rd Birthday.

Richmond Library recipient of donation of children's books

The Richmond Public Library has just received a gift of 100 new children's books, ranging from pre-kindergarten through early readers. These books were a donation from the Brownstone Book Fund, a private foundation in New York City, interested in fostering early reading, a love of books and encouraging parents and children to read together. They are in the process of cataloging the books now. Come to the library and see what new books the library received.

Adell Brecheisen filed Monday morning as the only candidate for City Commissioner of the City of Garnett. He filed about an hour prior to the deadline. Dale Lybarger, who has served three three-year terms, declined to run for re-election this year. Elections will be held April 3. Brecheisen practiced as a veterinarian for three decades, 28 of the years in Garnett before retiring in 1972 to devote his time to a family business. Local students at the Mont Ida School have constructed a model of the community as it would have appeared in 1901. Students in Mark Cation's third, fourth, and fifth grade classes reconstructed the city using plat maps and other local resources. Copper wire and toothpicks were used to make railroad tracks, street signs are in place at every intersection, and even the barber shop has a barber pole. The model will be available to the public for viewing from January 30 through February 10.

Garnett will have one fewer doctor to choose from at Anderson County Hospital after the governing board voted to revoke the privileges of Dr Mildred Julius-Stevens at a recent meeting. Citing Dr. Julius's recent exclusion from the federal Medicare program, the board voted for her removal from ACH staff. The embattled Dr Julius had been a defendant in a 1992 childbirth malpractice suit that also named the local hospital as a defendant. That case was settled out of court via settlement. Anderson County Sheriff David Vaughan will be purchasing a new radar gun to target speeding violations. This $1,195 purchase brings the total number of radar guns to 4 for the county. Not included in the regular budget, Sheriff Vaughan will be using funds from the diversion fund. Ironically, the diversion fund is excess fund from diversion agreements, some of which are for speeding.

Methane extraction is quickly becoming another money maker for farmers in the area. The extraction of the methane from their land is proving to be a lucrative revenue generating tool alongside their normal crop yields. The Kansas Farm Bureau is hosting an informative meeting on the gas lease question at the Franklin County Fairgrounds where they plan to discuss in greater detail the extraction of the gas and the mineral leases needed to do so. Larry Brady, a geologist slated to speak at the meeting, said that methane gasses account for nearly 8 percent of the annual production of natural gas nation-wide. In 2003, the state of Kansas produced approximately seven billion cubic feet of methane, but that pales in comparison to the amount of natural gas produced in Kansas. Ambitious young women need look no further than the annals of Garnett history to find a heroine worth noting. Garnett High School 1898 graduate Mary Tiera Farrow would go on to become the second woman admitted to the practice of law in Missouri and one of the earliest female law practitioners in America. Tiera, as she was known, was an ambitious young girl who would sneak out of her father's store on the corner of Fifth and Main, now Cornerstone Antiques, and into the back of the old courthouse where she could observe trials as they were argued by Anderson County lawyers. Tiera put herself through law school at the Kansas City School of Law, while working 57 hours a week at a grain company by taking her classes at night. The Kansas Parole Board yesterday concluded a series of three public comment sessions prior to the considering the possible March 2004 parole for a man responsible for the death of a Colony woman in 1986. Kent Badders was convicted in the 1988 murder of Hannah Ziegler in Anderson County. Ziegler, 53, was reported missing in March of 1986 when she did not show up for work. Her remains were found in a well on a rural property in November of 1987.

A local man may soon see limelight on a much larger scale. Central Heights graduate Eric Gordon made it through the first round of auditions in Detroit to earn a golden ticket to Hollywood. Gordon, a 2005 graduate, auditioned before a panel that included Harry Connick, Jr, Jennifer Lopez, and Keith Urban, all of whom gave him glowing reviews and unanimously agreed to send him to the next round of auditions in Hollywood. Principal Tom Horstick said the episode that included Gordon was the first time he'd ever watched the show, but also noted that while Gordon was in school at Central Heights it seemed like he was destined for greater things. With a March 4 target for reopening after a devastating fire that destroyed two Colony businesses, the owners of the Colony Community Diner and Convenience will be rising from the ashes. Poised and ready for their re-entry into the community. The fire was discovered in the early morning hours on December 4 and was a total loss for both the diner and Colony Foods. The Garnett Veterans of Foreign Wars Post have selected Mr. Jeff Russell as the nominee for the National Teacher of the Year award. Mr. Russell teaches instrumental music for USD 365 and also vocal music in Greeley. The VFW commended Russel for the performance of his band at music competitions, the visibility of the band throughout the year in both school and community arenas, and the significant presence of the community band which is enjoyed by the community as a whole. They also noted in their nomination letter that for the past several years, the annual Veterans' Day program has been in held in the auditorium of the Anderson County Jr/Sr High School and Mr. Russell has been very active in facilitating the music for the program.

Caring is a superpower

Glenn Brunkow, Pottawatomie County farmer and rancher

When I was in grade school there were very few things I enjoyed as much as a good snow day. When school was called off, I got to play outside in the snow making snowmen and having snowball fights. It's funny how things change over the years.

Then, when I was old enough to be useful help, Dad saw a snow day as a chance for extra chore help. This made the day not nearly as much fun, but it still beat the alternative of being in school. Snow days were tolerable and even enjoyable.

Fast forward to the present, snow days are not nearly as much fun. In fact, I really don't like them. Don't get me wrong, I do appreciate the moisture they bring. I just wish there was some way to get moisture without mud.

Snow and the cold associated with it just add another layer of difficulty to everyday chores and come with added stress and worry when it comes to the livestock I care for. I do have to stop and appreciate the beauty of the snow, but that appreciation is short lived when it comes to feeding and bedding livestock.

We know that in agriculture there is no such thing as a snow day. I always get amused when the local news advises everyone to stay inside, rest and relax when the weather turns bad. There is no rest and relaxation for those of us who own livestock.

Am I complaining about this, well, maybe a little, if I am going to be honest. Would I trade taking care of my animals, even in the worst of conditions, for another job? I wouldn't trade this way of life for any other, no matter how demanding or uncomfortable it may be.

Our livestock come first, and winter weather means long days before the storm, preparing for it. Longer days during the storm as we make sure all the animals are cared for as well as we can and more long days after the storm making sure that we are ready for the next round of inclement weather.

Even when we are inside, warm and dry, our thoughts are with our livestock. I think I have spent more nights pacing the floors, hoping and praying everything is OK than I want to admit. We dedicate our lives to the care of our animals, and we should be proud of that.

We take care of what is entrusted to us without giving it a second thought, coming inside just long enough to warm up, change into dry clothes before charging back into the cold, ice and snow. All of this to ensure that our consumers can be assured they will be able to have their bowl of chili or lamb stew.

Caring for livestock may not be as cool as flying as fast as a speeding bullet or driving the Bat Mobile, but make no mistake, it is our superpower.

Despite the snow storm and freezing temperatures we managed to work two nights of 13-point pitch into our schedules in without a hiccup.

On January 11th, 15 brave souls braved the oncoming storm for an evening of fun with friends. The results of that evening are as follows: Kyle Trendel took the top honor winning 7 of 10 games and also the most perfect hands of 13 points with 4; Glenda Stanley captured low winning the least games and Carla Ewert won the 50/50.

On the 18th of January we managed to miss the extreme cold temps with twelve players. The results of that night are as follows: Jan Wards won the most games winning 8 of 10 and having the most perfect hands of 13 with 3; Karen Register won the least number of games and Pat Uhlenhake won the 50/50.

On January 25th we had sixteen players for 13-point pitch. These are the results from those 10 games: John Walter had the most perfect hands with four; Carla Ewert won the 50/50; Paula Water won the least games and Jan Wards had the most wins with 8 of 10 games.

We are all looking forward to spring and warmer temperatures but the cold has not detoured us from our card games. Come join us on Thursday evening promptly at six o'clock at the Senior Center for a fun time. Need not be a senior to play.

Kansas artists on display in the Walker Gallery

Now through the end of February be sure to stop by the Garnett Public Library and visit the Walker Gallery. You will find an amazing display of Kansas artists.

This display is brought to us from the collection of Stephen and Kristen Graue, New Lancaster, KS.

Steve and his wife Kristen have been collecting Kansas artists' work since 1995. Their emphasis is on the Prairie Printmakers, a group of artists from around Lindsborg and Salina.

These artists include Birger Sandzen and Lester Raymer. There are beautiful ceramic paintings by Inge Bow, who, with her husband, dug Kansas clay for her works.

Howard Raynes and his wife Tricia Spencer supported themselves during Covid, by giving art and music lessons on line. Howard's paintings will bring a smile to your face.

Stephen and Kristen are also artists. Kristen is an accomplished fiddler in the Appalachian Old Style of fiddle music. Stephen plays upright bass.

In addition, Steve is an artist himself, a poet, and collector. He is a veteran of the Viet Nam War and attended college on the GI Bill. He holds a Bachelor's degree and double major from the University of Kansas. In addition, he has a Master's degree in Human Resources from Ottawa University, KS.

AAA: Wash winter off your car to avoid costly repair bills

WICHITA - If you don't wash winter off your car, costly repair bills could clean out your wallet instead. With warmer temperatures in the forecast this week, AAA Kansas is reminding drivers to get their vehicles washed - car in a drive-through car wash especially the undercarriage - to reduce the potential for rust damage and the corrosion of brake and fuel lines caused by winter road salts.

Previous AAA research indicates Americans spend $3 billion a year on repairs from rust damage caused by de-icers.

"Taking the time for a quick car wash now could save vehicle owners both time and money down the road," said Shawn Steward, spokesman for AAA Kansas.

AAA Car Care estimates the minimum cost to repair brake lines is around $150, but the fix could cost up to $1000 or more depending on the vehicle.

Safety Concerns

Washing winter off your car is not just about savings, it's about safety as well. In the past, the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration issued a safety advisory linking road salt and de-icers to the corrosion of brake components that could, eventually, lead to brake failure, especially in older vehicles (2007 and earlier).

"Drivers are now keeping their cars longer so it is critical that they understand that keeping them clean is not just a matter of vanity," Steward added.

AAA recommends motorists take the following preventive steps to minimize damage and risk:

- When possible, limit driving immediately before, during and after winter storms when salt and de-icing solutions SUV covered in road salt are being applied and are at their highest concentrations.
- Frequently wash your vehicle, paying particular attention to the undercarriage. This will loosen, dissolve and neutralize road salts. Many drive-through car washes offer an undercarriage rinse as an option.

•Always use a high-quality car wash solution, not a household dish detergent that will strip the wax from your vehicle.

•Repair any body damage and touch up paint scratches and chips that expose bare metal and could lead to rust.

•Give the entire vehicle and undercarriage one last cleaning in the spring. Any deposits left over from winter can continue to cause corrosion year-round if not properly removed.

Lady Lancers score win over Oswego

ARMA - The Crest Lady Lancers won a pair of games last week knocking off both Northeast-Arma and Oswego on the road.
 On Tuesday night, Crest won a tight one 36-32.
 They hit the road again on Friday, this time knocking off Oswego in easy fashion 48-25.
 Crest jumped out to a double digit lead after the first quarter, 12-2.
 The second quarter saw the road team dominant Oswego at home as Crest outscored them 22-4 to take a commanding 34-6 lead into the break.

 After halftime, Crest doubled up Oswego in the second with a 14-7 advantage to lead 48-13. With a bevy of reserves playing, Crest was held scoreless in the fourth as Oswego tallied 12 points.
 Kinley Edgerton led the way with 15 points, Kayla Hermreck had 12 and Aylee Beckmon also hit double digits with 10 points.

Lady Bulldogs pull away for double digit OT road win

LACYGNE - It was a struggle last Thursday as the Anderson County Bulldog girls had to hold off a pesky Prairie View squad on the road winning 42-32 in overtime.
 Both teams entered the night winning 9 of their first 10 games and both team's only defeat was at the hands of Santa Fe Trail.
 It was Anderson County that would take the early lead behind a strong defense over the first quarter giving the Bulldogs a 7-3 advantage.
 Prairie View would rally early in the second quarter and take the lead before the Bulldogs had a small run just before halftime to take a slim 14-13 lead into the break.
 The second half would be just as tight. AC had the upperhand in the third, 7-5, to lead 21-18 heading into the fourth.

 Prairie View would respond with an 11-8 advantage over the final 8 minutes to send the game into overtime.
 The AC girls wouldn't trail again with a dominant 13-3 advantage in overtime to pull away for the win.
 Caitlyn Foltz and Rilyn Sommer would lead AC with 15 and 13 points respectively.
 Sommer would also add 9 rebounds and Foltz would add 8 rebounds of her own.
 Kylie Disbrow scored 6 points but also added 9 rebounds and 8 blocks.
 Also scoring for Anderson County was Brylie Kohlmeier with 4, Alexis Overstreet with 3 and Brooklyn Kellerman added 1 point on the night.

Lancers struggle offensively in loss to NE-Arma

ARMA - The Crest Lancers hit the road last Tuesday night, traveling to Arma to take on Northeast-Arma, and struggled offensively in a 43-35 defeat.
 The two teams were tied at 8 apiece following the first quarter but the host team opened up a 5 point halftime lead with a 12-7 advantage over the second quarter to lead 20-15 at intermission.
 NE-Arma just wouldn't let Crest mount a rally, outscoring them again in the third quarter 10-8 and 13-12 in the fourth to hold onto the win.

 The Lancers were led in scoring by both Ryan Golden and Rogan Wier as they each tallied 13 points. The duo shot a combined 11-16 from inside the arc but just 1-6 from three-point land in the loss.
 The rest of the team was just 2-12 from the field and combined for just 9 points.
 Golden also led the team with 7 rebounds.

Fast start leads to road win for the Lancers

OSWEGO - Crest jumped on top early in Friday night's road tilt against Oswego and used that momentum to mount a 53-41 victory.
 Crest led 11-4 after the opening 8 minutes. Oswego did bounce back in the second quarter, outpacing Crest 14-10 to cut the halftime deficit down to 21-18.
 Crest would double their halftime lead with a 17-14 advantage in the third quarter before putting Oswego away in the fourth as Crest outpaced the host team 15-9.

 Ryan Golden paced the Lancers with 14 points and 10 rebounds. Levi Prasko connected for 14 points.
 Jacob Zimmerman tallied 9 points, Rogan Wier had 8, Drake Wier scored 5, Denton Ramsey finished the night with 4 points and Henry White chipped in with 2 on the night.

ACHS girls defense shuts down Vikings Friday night

GARNETT - The size of Anderson County proved to be too much for the small Central Heights Vikings in Friday night's Homecoming victory for the Bulldogs.
 Anderson County would jump out to a 10-4 lead after the first quarter and 20-10 at halftime.
 The Bulldogs would more than double their halftime lead with a 16-5 third quarter advantage to lead 36-15 heading into the fourth.
 The AC girls held a slim 7-6 advantage in the fourth to account for the final tally of 43-21.
 Neither team shot the ball well as the Bulldogs connected on just 18 of 63 shots (29%) but the Vikings connected on just 4 of 35 attempts (11%).

 Anderson County controlled nearly every statistical category.
 The Bulldogs tallied a 19-2 advantage in second chance points, 28-6 advantage with points in the paint, outrebounded the Vikings 52-22 and had a 15-0 advantage in blocked shots.
 Caitlyn Foltz was the only Bulldog in double figures with 13 points. She also had 19 rebounds and 4 blocks.
 Kylie Disbrow scored 10 points, had 11 rebounds and 10 blocks on the night.
 Rilyn Sommer added 7 points and 9 rebounds.
 Macy Cubit of Central Heights led all scorers with 17 points on the night.

After sluggish start, Bulldogs rout Prairie View on the road

LACYGNE - It was a slow start for the Anderson County Bulldogs on Thursday night on the road at Prairie View, but after trailing by 2 points after the first quarter they would outscore Prairie View 35-6 over the next two quarters en route to the easy win.
 AC trailed 15-13 after the first quarter but would clamp down defensively in the second, outscoring Prairie View 12-1 to lead 25-16 at halftime.
 Any chance at a comeback by the host team was quickly squashed in the third quarter as the Bulldogs outscored Prairie View 23-5 for a 48-21 lead.

 Prairie View would double up the Bulldogs in the fourth quarter 8-4 to close out the game.
 Noah Porter nearly outscored Prairie View himself with 26 points on the night.
 Also scoring was AJ Hawkins 8, Brayden Wheat 6, Preston Kueser 5, Eli Martin 3, Jack Dykes and Aidan Steele with 2 points each.

Anderson County Hospital's Family Care Center welcomes Cecilia R. Mathis, MD

GARNETT, KS -- Anderson County Hospital's Family Care Center is pleased to welcome family medicine physician Cecilia R. Mathis, MD, to the medical team. Dr. Mathis is accepting new patients of all ages and has special interests in pediatrics, women's health, in-office procedures, and sports medicine.

Mathis

Dr. Mathis's philosophy is to meet her patients right where they are in life and to provide high-quality, empathetic, evidence-based holistic care. "My patients can expect a friendly, caring environment with a laid-back approach," said Mathis.

Dr. Mathis grew up in near-by Richmond, Kansas, and is a graduate of Central Heights High School. She attended Kansas State University in Manhattan before going on to earn her medical degree from the University of Kansas School of Medicine in Salina, Kansas. This past summer, she completed her family medicine residency training at Spokane Teaching Health Clinic in Spokane, Washington.

While in medical school, Dr. Mathis completed part of her clinical rotations at the Family Care Center. "I'm grateful to be back at the Family Care Center and for the opportunity to begin my family medicine career in the community that I already know and love," she shared.

Dr. Mathis has settled near Garnett with her husband and three young children. In her free time, she enjoys spending time with family, barbecuing, playing recreational sports, and cheering on the K-State Wildcats.

The Family Care Center is located next to the hospital at 536 W. 4th Avenue in Garnett.

Wolken Tire was purchased by Jack & Patty Rundle in August of 1994.

Jack passed away in 2019, but his legacy of business and community service remains a hallmark of Wolken Tire. After 10 years with the business, son Jacob has taken over management duties.

In recent years we dedicated ourselves to the renovation of the outside and inside of our building at 601 S. Oak. Our showroom no longer looks like "A Dusty Ol' Tire Shop".

We have exposed the beautiful rock, the maple flooring from upstairs now covers one wall, there are new windows, etc. You'll enjoy your visit.

In 2018 we built a building which added the addition of 2 more bays. We also purchased another lift to be able to perform oil changes on a more timely basis.

There were two hardware stores on the south side of the Garnett Square, Meyers Hardware & Hutchison Hardware. Ralph Meyers bought out Hutchison Hardware and combined the two into Meyers Hardware.

In the 1960's Ray Miles bought out Ralph Meyers and in 1974 Earl & Martha Miller bought the business from Ray Miles.

Earl and Martha built Miller ACE Hardware in its current location in 1978. Mike and Amy Blaufuss, the current owners, bought the business in 2009.

REMODELED!

A community legacy with an eye on the future.

Founded in 1865 as The Garnett Plaindealer, the Anderson County Review continues today as the oldest surviving business in Anderson County, set to celebrate its 159th birthday in 2024.

Besides print publications, Garnett Publishing, Inc., also launched Garnett's first presence on the World Wide Web in 1995 and today continues its electronic news presence with the Review's breaking news website and social media presence. The company remains one of the area's premier marketing resources, having won numerous awards for graphic design and offering a full range of business and personal printing in four color and black and white. For more information call (785) 448-3121 or email review@garnett-ks.com.

In 2023, GPI formed Ad Astra Global Media with partner publishers in Liberal and Washington, Ks., to launch Kansas' first conservative-based statewide news service – The Kansas Informer – pursuing the founding principles of American Democracy.
