THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW 4-2-2024 / NASA-JET PROPULSION LAB

An annular eclipse -- meaning most of the sun is obscured with a portion of its ring still showing -- shown in a NASA photograph.

Free celestial performance for a limited time on Monday

Local area will get great but not full view of eclipse -- show starts 12:35 p.m.

BY DANE HICKS THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW

GARNETT - Though Monday's solar eclipse won't be seen in totality from Anderson County, it's going to get dark - very dark - in Eastern Kansas. Calculations based on NASA research data show the partial eclipse should begin in Garnett at approximately 12:35 p.m., and will reach its maximum point at about 1:52 p.m., when some 90 percent of the sun will be blotted out by the moon. The whole event will last about 2 hours 34 minutes.

A solar eclipse happens when the moon passes between Earth and the sun, blocking its view of the Sun from a small part of the earth's surface either totally or partially. An alignment like that actually happens about every six months, during the eclipse season in its new moon phase, when the Moon's orbital plane is closest to the plane of the Earth's orbit.

In a total eclipse, the disk of the Sun is fully obscured by the Moon. In partial and annular eclipses, only part of the Sun is obscured. Unlike a lunar eclipse, which may be viewed from anywhere on the night side of Earth, a solar eclipse can only be viewed from a relatively small area of the world. Though total solar eclipses occur somewhere on Earth every 18 months on average, they recur at any given place only once every 360 to 410 years.

If the Moon was in a perfectly circular orbit and in the same orbital plane as Earth, there would be total solar eclipses once a month at every new moon. Instead, because the Moon's orbit is tilted at about 5 degrees to Earth's orbit, its shadow usually misses Earth. Solar and lunar eclipses therefore happen only during eclipse seasons, resulting in at least two, and up to five, solar eclipses each year, no more than two of which can be total. Total eclipses are more rare because they require a more precise alignment between the centers of the Sun and Moon, and because the Moon's apparent size in the sky is sometimes too small to fully cover the Sun.

Though the illustration of the phenomena will still be dramatic in our part of the country, Kansas will still be more than a hundred miles from the full blackout path as the shadow makes its way from southwestern Mexico across Texas and the southeast corner of Oklahoma, slicing across most of Arkansas and Southeast Missouri as it heads on a path to the New England states. The curve of the earth makes more and more of the sun visible from under the moon shadow the further a viewer is away from the core blackout path. The movement of the moon and the elapsed time of the fullest level of the event also moves faster due to that geometry.

For eastern Kansans who want to experience the total eclipse, it will require a few hours drive into Arkansas. There, the solar eclipses will reveal the Sun's outer atmosphere in the corona in a white, wispy halo of solar material that flows out from around the Sun. This atmosphere is breathtaking as it glows in the sky for viewers on Earth, surrounding the dark disk of the moon with a halo.

In addition to revealing this normally hidden part of our sun, the eclipse also darkens the sky, changes shadows, and cools the air. Animals famously alter their behavior because of the sudden change in sunlight and air temperature.

"As we go through the phases of an eclipse, there are changes in light," said Liz Aguilar, a PHD student in biology at Indiana University. "There will probably be a twilight zone' of around 30 minutes before we reach totality during the eclipse in April." During the "twilight zone," temperatures, light and wind will fluctuate,

Closed port likely to affect products shipped to Kansas

BY URSULA BILLINGS THE KANSAS INFORMER

BALTIMORE, Md. - The collapse of the Francis Scott Key Bridge in Baltimore on Tuesday will likely upset the flow of goods across the country reaching all the way to Kansas.

The collapse, which occurred after a cargo ship struck one of the bridge's southern piers, resulted in the immediate closure of the Port of Baltimore. U.S. Secretary of Transportation Pete Buttigieg said a "major and protracted impact to supply chains" is imminent, implying that indefinite disruptions to the flow of American goods, including agricultural equipment to the Midwest through Atlantic waters will occur.

The Port of Baltimore is a major shipping hub that ranked 10th in dry bulk tonnage handling in 2021 per a 2024 Bureau of Transportation Statistics report on port performance. On Tuesday, President Joe Biden called it "one of the most important elements for the economy" and "the quality of life" in the Northeast. The Francis Scott Key Bridge, and these environmental shifts can initiate reactions from animals.

"The biggest response we'll see is the onset of evening patterns," Aguilar said.

For nocturnal animals, they may think it's time for their evening activities to begin. Animals like opossums, bats and owls may emerge from their daytime resting places. Crickets, whippoorwills and frogs might begin their evening chorus of chirps and songs.

For diurnal (daytime active) animals, the eclipse could signal that it's bedtime. So birds might fly into trees and chickens might settle into their coops to roost for the night. Bees could return to their hives, and barnyard animals like horses and cows may start moving toward their stables.

Even exotic animals may respond to the changing cosmic patterns. Aguilar said there are case examples from zoos where baboons were seen huddling together and remaining highly vigilant during an eclipse, while giraffes and elephants began approaching the entrance of their enclosures.

The environmental changes from an eclipse can also influence pet behavior. Dogs who get anxious during storms may associate the sudden loss of sunlight with adverse weather. Although animals may behave a bit differently during an eclipse, they aren't likely to be harmed by looking up at it.

Experts caution against looking at any sun phenomena without eye protection. Instructions and methods of viewing the eclipse are available at www.science.nasa.gov and www.eclipse2024.org.

Jesus' Father is our Father

WEEKLY DEVOTIONAL

BY DAVID BILDERBACK

Who is our Father? Jesus' Father is our Father. Everything from Genesis to Revelation points forward to Jesus. When God instituted the Passover in Egypt, the blood on the sides and top of the door frames represented a sacrificial death, in this case of a lamb, which pointed forward to the ultimate sacrifice of Christ on the cross. By the time we get to the New Testament the sacrificial system had ceased because temple worship as it was practiced in the Old Testament had ceased and had been replaced by a set of rules and regulations laid down by the Sanhedrin, the highest ruling body and court of justice among the Jewish people in the time of Jesus. This was a flawed man made system which favored the elite of Israel and persecuted the poor.

Through all this God remained on his throne, manipulating people and circumstances to bring glory to his name. It is this glory for themselves that those outside the family of God so cherish. It would have been completely fair for God to have abandoned mankind after the fall that took place in the garden when Adam and Eve transgressed the only command God placed on them. However God chose to ultimately save man from himself by providing the ultimate sacrifice of his Son establishing for himself a kingdom. In Daniel 2:44 we read of the prophecy of a kingdom which shall never be destroyed. All attempts by man to date to supersede God have failed and will continue to fail up to the establishment of God's true kingdom. The death and resurrection of Christ on the cross set in motion a path for man that leads to the adoption of believers into this kingdom.

Jesus called God Father and taught his disciples to do the same. The Lord's prayer begins "Our Father". When we speak these words we are expressing a nearness to God and placing our total trust in him. The death and resurrection of Christ unleashed the kingdom of God in full power which will climax with the return of Jesus for his church.

Protect dysphoric kids from Gov. Kelly

Sometime this week, possibly by the time this newspaper hits the street, Kansas Governor Laura Kelly will have vetoed a bill designed to stop abusive parents from paying diabolical medical professionals to surgically mutilate the genitals of and chemically retard the normal sexual development of children under 18 who have a mental condition known in medical circles as gender dysphoria.

At least that was the medical diagnosis for the condition until modern leftist culture mandated the professional crucifixion of any doctor or researcher who refused to accept this illness as a protected entitlement for a newly popular alternate sexuality group pursuing the social benefits of proclaimed victimhood.

The governor's doubtless impending veto, which hopefully will be subject to an override in the Kansas Legislature, comes on the heels of national furor this past weekend over President Joe Biden designating and confirming Easter Sunday a few days ago as the "National Day of Trans Visibility." This redundant day of recognition has been pushed by the alt-sex community since 2009, but Biden is the first president ever to use the chief executive's bully pulpit to promote it.

Rarely in political circles has such an extreme position garnered so much awareness at the behest of the anti-traditional members of the progressive left, and never has such a position been embraced and promoted by a sitting U.S. president. Biden's move is yet another clear illustration of the degree to which his originally promoted moderate, centrist position - "the adult in the room" compared to Donald Trump - were little more than a smoke screen obscuring his obedience to the most radical elements of modern American society.

One can easily make the assumption regarding Kelly's impending veto of the anti-child abuse measure in SB233 because Kelly herself is a microcosm of the incompetence and subterfuge of the Biden presidency. Kelly still admonishes Republicans and claims her position as "middle of the road," even as she throws Kansas women's rights under the bus in her attempts to thwart laws preventing men from competing in their sports. She followed the lockstep template of the nation's Covid reactionaries for a near total shutdown of her state and tried to force a useless mask mandate statewide. Only action by Republicans in the legislature ended Kelly's disastrous and elongated "reopening" plan and scuttled her authoritarian chokehold to put the state on the path to normal again. Kelly's veto will come not only as a contradiction to common sense and morality but also in the face of overwhelming medical data that repudiates any value in such surgical and chemical measures. Studies show individuals who have undergone what proponents paradoxically refer to as "gender-affirming" medical care are no less likely to show symptoms of depression and mental illness and no less likely to engage in self-harm like suicide. In fact, the lifetime of physical complications associated with such measures - hormonal imbalances and never-healing open wounds requiring constant manipulation and treatment - are more likely to contribute to depression and anxiety.

The absurd notion that such measures can be somehow beneficial for anyone - much less gender confused children - negates logic not to mention parental responsibility. People suffering from gender dysphoria need mental health treatment, not irreversible surgical or chemical castration. The fact that leftist-indulging popular culture has pursued extortion measures to force compliance from business, media, education and government sectors to herald this horror as some kind of a noble pursuit of civil rights is preposterous and immoral.

The final illuminating contradiction of course is revealed in this blatant disregard for the physical and mental health of dysphoria afflicted Kansans, all while Governor Kelly lobbies for Medicaid expansion under the guise of bringing the benefits of health insurance to more residents of the state.

Once again, it is up to the Kansas Legislature to protect the state's residents from the unscrupulous, ignorant and follow-the-leader actions of Kansas' chief executive.###

I'm female and identify with the policies of the Republican Party. I'm so sick of being called a Nazi by the left and especially by the first lady of the Biden crime syndicate. This so-called educator is married to and supports the biggest promoter of slavery since the Civil War. Biden brings in his millions of illegals and demands their allegiance at the ballot box. Some 87,000 young illegal boys and girls are being enslaved somewhere in America. Where are they and what's being done to them? Where is Biden's 100% support of Israel? I think we know who are the real Nazis here. The Democrats are only fooling themselves in this real dictatorship.

As usual Trump supporters are misinformed due to his lies and the far right sources. There are not thousands of immigrants flown into the U.S. on taxpayers' money. Fact check it for details. Trump was not denied a jury trial - his lawyers did not ask for one. Trump's talk of Chinese tariffs came 9 days after Democratic Senators were pushing for higher tariffs. Trump's former tariffs reduced incomes in the U.S. as well as adversely affected Republicans. Truth and decency have no value to him.

Fascist Democrat insurrectionist mobs burned communities across the country, assaulted and injured thousands and murdered dozens, all incited by Democrat race baiting lies. They attacked the White House, injuring hundreds and forced the evacuation of President Trump and his family. But the DOJ has not charged anyone in that, while relentlessly targeting only the overwhelmingly peaceful January 6th protesters who caused no serious injuries or major damage. There was however a capitol police officer, William F. Evans, who was murdered shortly afterward by a Democrat Trump hating black supremacist Noah Green. But that was quickly sent down the memory hole.

Trump attended the funeral by family invitation of New York officer Jonathan Miller, shot dead by two thugs with long violent records repeatedly released back onto the streets by anti-police Democrat procriminal policies. Trump paid off the widow's mortgage. At the same time nearby, Biden and Clinton, both credibly accused rapists, and Obama, held a gaudy campaign party where Hollywood freaks like Stephen Colbert and Lizzo entertained Democrat billionaires who shelled out $26 million for Biden, all protected by a huge police force prevented from attending their fellow fallen officer's wake.

Anybody that does business with the Chinese government is a traitor. You're selling our resources from our country and that includes the guy supposedly in the White House that's the president but it also goes to the local people around here that do business in China.

While Christians across the globe celebrate the resurrection of Jesus Christ this Easter Sunday, the destructionist Democrats and Joe Biden passed a mandate that our savior share this sacred day with transgenders. The White House has now made Easter Sunday National Transgender Visibility Day. Evil marches on.

The White House's artistic Easter Egg contest prohibited the use of religious themes in the children's designs.

I'll admit I was skeptical about Trump but looking back he seemed to elevate the country and things were going in a positive direction. With Biden it feels we're oppressed. He's killed the economic future and safety of our country.

NBC proves old fashioned balance in news a fairy tale

Trying to get a balanced view of the news has been scrutinized for years with those on the right claiming left wing bias in coverage.

Of course, the left outright denies the claim believing that networks like NBC, CBS, NBC and CNN shoot down the middle.

They are correct if they see the two sides as liberal and progressive. They balance those priorities well.

But if the goal is to be balanced between liberal and conservative views, they fail miserably and harm true journalists who really do shoot it straight.

NBC management recently attempted to provide some balance to its news coverage by hiring Republican Ronna McDaniel who recently stepped down as chair of the National Republican Party. It was a decent move to attempt to appear fair.

But the talking heads at NBC wouldn't have it.

On air, they revolted, criticizing their own management and trashing McDaniel as a supporter of "The big lie," which form the liberal point of view means anyone who questions anything about the 2020 election. Forget the fact that multiple Democrats called Donald Trump an illegitimate president for four years, which might be considered a "big lie," they simply could not co-exist with anyone who sees the world differently than their socialist, big government view.

Their viewpoint is actually more important than the financial health of their business.

According to adweek.com, FOX News dominates the ratings, but even when reporting the absolute domination of FOX, the headline for their ratings story for March 25 read, "MSNBC and CNN tie for second in daily demo."

Never mind who is No. 1. We will focus on who is No. 2, and it is a tie.

According to Nielsen ratings, FOX News has the nine top news programs, and MSNBC has the 10th.

The top-watched news program is The Five on FOX News, and while most of the voices are conservative, the show features Democratic views from Democrats.

The other networks rarely do that if at all, and that's why they have seen a decline in viewership.

NBC, which is also MSNBC might want to rename the National Broadcasting Company to the National Democratic Company, because the outrage from their on-air personalities simply would not allow any other views from being shared.

And management caved.

From Chuck Todd to Rachel Maddow, they rejected allowing McDaniel on the air, believing themselves to be morally superior when it comes to opining on the happenings of the government.

And therein lies the real sin. Any time anyone feels morally superior to views shared by half the entire nation, and are supposed to be representative of the whole, they fall short of the ability to welcome alternatives to their own messaging.

What's worse is they own the microphone.

Think of it like church. The pastor has access to the pulpit, and only the pastor has access to the pulpit.

Sermons are not debates or discussions. They are given by the pastor to the entire congregation. Should the privilege be abused, and members of the congregation feel as though they are being abused by the pastor's message, they have no recourse.

This is no different with the media only presenting one side of politics. Without the ability for an opposing viewpoint, the audience is left to believe what is being shared is supposedly fair.

To them, big government is a religion. To them, our rights are given to us by our govern-

The 4-day work week: Work less, and enjoy being poorer

Karl Marx would be proud. Bernie Sanders has proposed taking another step toward the philosopher's envisioned utopia by proposing to mandate a four-day workweek.

Marx wrote how in communist society, workers would be liberated to "hunt in the morning, fish in the afternoon, raise cattle in the evening, criticize after dinner, just as I have in mind, without ever becoming hunter, fisherman, shepherd or critic."

Needless to say, that's not how communism turned out. Yet the belief that work is basically a capitalist imposition that is unnatural and bad for people still holds sway on the left, and Sanders is, accordingly, proposing to move from a 40-hour to a 32-hour workweek to make us healthy, wealthy and wise.

"It is time to reduce the stress level in our country and allow Americans to enjoy a better quality of life," the Vermont socialist insists. "It is time for a 32-hour workweek with no loss in pay."

The last clause is the key one. If everyone can work less and produce and earn exactly the same, why not? And if this is possible, why stop at four days a week? It'd be positively cruel to make someone work four days when they can work three days with the same outcomes.

Of course, the promise that we can work less and make the same is the socialist equivalent of Mexico will pay for the border wall. It's not just promising a free lunch, but a free breakfast, lunch and dinner, with room service delivering a late-night snack gratis.

What we earn is not an arbitrary number, but is linked to what we produce. To simplify,

NATIONAL COMMENTARY

RICH LOWRY, King Features Syndicate

if everyone were to work 20% less without becoming any more productive, GDP would decline by 20%. The pie would shrink, even though Sanders is saying everyone's slice would - impossibly - be just as big.

It's certainly true that Americans work more than people in other countries. France has a much-vaunted 35-hour workweek, although that stricture only applies to blue-collar workers. Still, France works less than we do, and -- in a sign that basic economic laws aren't so easily suspended -- its workers make less money. The average net disposable household income in France, according to The Week magazine, is $34,375 a year, whereas it is $51,147 in the U.S.

If Sanders were being honest and weren't a socialist, he'd say he has a great deal for Americans -- they can work less and become poorer. There probably wouldn't be many takers.

Sanders complains that American workers are 400% more productive than they were in the 1940s, yet they are still working long hours. Over time, though, we have worked less. In 1830, the average working week was more than 70 hours, and over the course of the next century, it dropped by almost half.

If we were all content with 1940s living standards, maybe we could go all the way and adopt a two-day workweek. From a 21st-century perspective, though, returning to 1940s-era housing, plumbing, technology, transportation and health care would feel like impoverishment, and it would be.

What Sanders misses, as economics writer David Bahnsen argues in his new book "Full Time: Work and the Meaning of Life," is that work is good for us, indeed an inherent part of the human condition. Moreover, the problem isn't that Americans work too much, but that too many Americans aren't working at all. Noting the long-term decline in labor-force participation, Bahnsen points out that if the participation rate were the same as it was in 2000, an additional 10 million Americans would be working, with a concomitant increase in goods and services.

In short, the Sanders idea is a frank expression of economic illiteracy. Instead of working so hard to propose and publicize such baldly ludicrous ideas, it'd be better for everyone if the senator found more time for leisure pursuits and resolved to put in fewer hours on the job.

A few finds from earlier this Spring

DIGGING UP THE PAST

Henry Roeckers
Call (785) 504-4722 for local archeology information.

Am I ever glad I have several photos of artifacts I found earlier this spring. It's now been over a week since I've made a trip to either of my sites. Between the weather and truck problems, my digging time has been zilch.

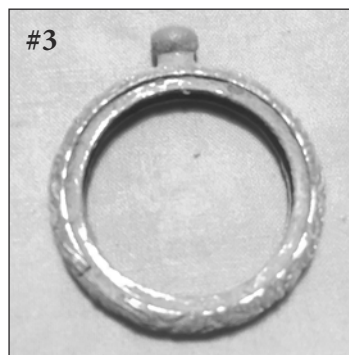

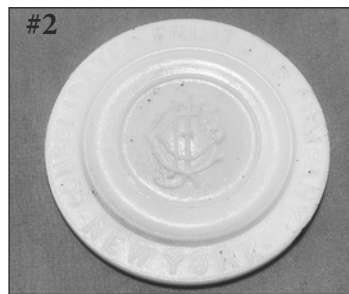

It's been a good time to catch up on my research. I'm really having a terrible time trying to identify several early iron artifacts found on my farm site.

The only thing I know is that most of the iron is from horse-drawn farm machinery and from horse harnesses.

Right now I'm getting awfully anxious to get back to digging or at least get outside.

which was located at the mouth of the port, took five years to construct in the mid-1970s and was recognized as a "significant engineering achievement" as it could accommodate local traffic over the busy harbor.

Case/IH, John Deere, Caterpillar, Massey Ferguson, Komatsu and other brands of farm equipment as well as automobiles widely used in Kansas are shipped through the roll-on/roll-off facilities at the Port of Baltimore.

The closure of the Port of Baltimore could negatively affect Kansas farmers. NBC reported that according to data from DAT Freight & Analytics, "Baltimore is the largest entry point in the U.S. for large agriculture and construction equipment like tractors, farming combines, forklifts, bulldozers and heavy-duty trucks that are bound for the Midwest." These pieces of equipment are necessary components of the planting, growing, and harvesting seasons and are crucial for increasing efficiencies and negating losses. According to Maryland Governor Wes Moore, the port processed a record 1.3 million tons of large equipment last year.

Main ag product categories shipped through the port include sugar, soybeans, grain (corn & soybeans), coffee and grocery items. Writing for the Farm Progress website, reporter Chris Torres quoted USDA figures and noted the port was a "relatively small player" in this area, at least compared to larger ports like New Orleans which handled more than 40 million metric tons of soybeans in 2021.

An interruption in the normal passage of roll-on/roll-off (wheeled and/or driven) cargo into the U.S. may also increase shipping costs. As major equipment is diverted to other ports, particularly in the south, congestion may inflate transit times via delays which automatically inflates costs. Even ports located nearer to the Midwest may be unable to efficiently distribute goods to adequately service farmers.

Since only a small number of American ports, including Baltimore's, are capable of processing roll-on/roll-off cargo, the emphasis on the broader economic repercussions of the collapse of the Francis Scott Key Bridge is substantial. In addition to large equipment, the Port of Baltimore is a major handler of automobile brands like Nissan, Toyota, and General Motors; agricultural products like sugar, salt, gypsum, and fertilizers; and some paper and wood products, according to research by Reuters. Local truck traffic has already become a point of concern for the City of Baltimore as "hazardous materials" are being shipped on atypical routes.

Presentation explores the legacy of railroads

The Garnett Public Library in Garnett, Kansas will host "Railroaded: The Industry that Shaped Kansas," a presentation and discussion by Leo E. Oliva on Wednesday, April 10th, 2024 at 10:00 a.m. in the Archer Room at the library. Members of the community are invited to attend the free program. Contact the Garnett Public Library at 785-448-3388 for more information. The program is made possible by Humanities Kansas.

Few industries dominated the economy of the nation in the 19th century more than the railroad. Railroads brought immigrant settlers, created jobs, and fed beef markets in the East. They enabled regular mail service and the adoption of standard time. Most Kansas towns were founded because of the railroad, and few survived without it. Yet the advancement of the railroad industry came at a significant cost to the Plains Indians who were forcibly displaced by this westward expansion.

This presentation examines the complicated legacy of railroads and the impact on native peoples who called Kansas home.

Leo Oliva is a historian with a research focus on 19th-century Kansas. He is the author of "Soldiers on the Santa Fe Trail," six books for the Kansas Fort Series, and a founding member of the Santa Fe Trail Association and Fort Larned Old Guard.

"Railroads are the key to understanding the development of Kansas," said Oliva.

"Railroaded: The Industry that Shaped Kansas" is part of Humanities Kansas's Speakers Bureau, featuring humanities-based presentations designed to share stories that inspire, spark conversations that inform, and generate insights that strengthen civic engagement.

Garnett Rotary Club donates $20,000 for legion field renovations

The Garnett Rotary Club announced that its membership will be donating $20,000 to support improvements to the Legion Field baseball complex located near the county fairgrounds. Recently, members met with Tim Benton, Legion Baseball Director, to discuss plans for the upgrades. Upgrades include new fencing around the field, moving the in field further from the backstop, and possible upgrades to the dugout areas. The project will be a joint venture between the Garnett Rotary Club, Legion Baseball, and the City of Garnett. Tim Benton, Travis Persinger, and Kurt King, the Legion project organizer. King said, "This will be a much-needed improvement to the complex, the players and coaches truly appreciate the support". Each year the Garnett Rotary Club conducts fundraisers such as Charity Fireworks, the Pancake Feed. Etc. Proceeds from these fundraisers go to support youth and community projects. The Garnett Rotary has a long history of providing scholarships to local seniors as well as promoting several other local initiatives. "The Garnett Rotary Club membership is excited to financially support the Legion Field project as well as local senior scholarship", said Don Blome, Garnett Rotary Club President. "The project should begin the first week of April and be ongoing until completed, according to King. King states, "We appreciate the effort that has gone into this project and the dedication of the City of Garnett, Tim Benton, and the Legion Coaches in leading the Legion Baseball Program".

Garnett Public Library's Plant Exchange 2024

Garnett Public Library would like to invite everyone to our community 4th annual plant exchange! Come and meet other gardeners, share information and swap plants! To participate, bring in one plant, or many. A perennial, annual, shrub or vegetable in a container which you are willing to give away would be perfect. Please label your plants as best you can—name, light, soil requirements, and any unique characteristics they may have.

Each plant you bring gives you the opportunity to exchange it for something new. You can start potting now, or bring in 'freshly' dug plants as well. Please bring your plants for exchange on Monday April 15th and Tuesday, April 16th, 2024. The exchange will begin Tuesday at the library promptly at 11:00 a.m. We hope to see you there! Any questions you can call the library at 785-448-3388 or email us at garnettlibrarystaff@gmail.com.

Chapter Y P.E.O. met in March

The Richmond Museum was the gathering place for members of Chapter Y P.E.O. On March 18, 2024. Elaine Dunbar and Dorothy Miller were hostesses and served delicious refreshments as members arrived.

The Richmond community museum committee purchased the old lumber yard building in 2005 and have slowly turned the space into a place of local history with many special exhibits.

Pat Vining, Docent, shared many of the stories. Family of George Putnam, Rhodes Scholar from Richmond, previously owned the lumber yard. Mark Hart, from the Scipio area was wounded in France during WWI. His uniform is one of the special exhibits. David "Scoop" McLise wrote a book about about his experience in a leaking Navy submarine. He was one of thirty-three crew members saved by using a diving bell that was untested for submarine rescues. Mary Hall has art hanging in the museum and there are antique telephones, wash tubs, and a civil war era bayonet. Community family history archives are an ongoing project and asset to the museum. Research is carefully done by Dennis Peters. Museums always remind us that we are connected to the past through family and community.

Rita Boydston, president, presided over the Chapter Y business meeting. Denise Weber, chaplain, shared Proverbs 3:5 in a meditation on Decisions and led group in prayer. Seventeen members answered roll call. The P.E.O. Spring Fling will be held in Humboldt on Saturday, April 6. Election of officers was as follows: President, Alice Anderegg; Vice President, Rita Boydston; Secretary, Connie Fagg; Treasurer, Deanna Wolken; Chaplain, Denise Weber; Guard, Alice Canavan; and Delegate, Sonya Martin. Diane Doran presided over the installation of the new officers.

The next meeting will be in the home of Alice Anderegg on April 1, with Stacy Gwin serving as co-hostess. High school student applications for the P.E.O. scholarship will be reviewed and voted on.

mental leaders. And as their spokesman, like a pastor, they spread the faith rather than the news. They see themselves as developing disciples, not of informing the masses on both sides of the political spectrum.

They don't believe in a political spectrum. There is what they believe and everything else is evil.

It's a cult of control, and as long as they have it, your job is to listen and obey, not to question and hold accountable.

But you aren't blindly following them, and they hate you for it. The presidential polls are evidence that the media is being rejected.

They claim Trump will be a dictator, but the public saw him serve as president for four years and never did he use the Department of Justice to charge is political rivals. They hear the media focus on 80-plus charges against Trump, and yet Trump leads the polls.

Do they learn from this? No. They double down. "Trump is trying to destroy democracy."

Funny, Trump isn't trying to keep anyone off the ballot. Democrats are, from Trump to Robert F. Kennedy, Jr. Isn't that how you destroy democracy?

"If Trump wins, we will never have another election." Well Trump won in 2016. And there was an election in 2020. Hmm.

"We can't air Trump live because he lies." And yet MSNBC and all the rest pushed the Russia hoax for four years, and they tried to cover up Hunter Biden's laptop. All of this was done on air, and to this day only the New York Times offered any type of apology. Not one television network has done so.

State-run media is something we see in Russia and other communist nations. But in America, the pro-government media is done on its own so you won't know the truth about inflation, crime, illegal immigration and diplomatic failures across the globe that have led to conflict.

They believe in their superiority more than your right to know. And the firing of McDaniel after one weekend proves it.

Vikings send partial squad to Uniontown to open the season

BY KEVIN GAINES THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW

UNIONTOWN - Early in the track season it is nearly impossible to predict what the weather will be like from meet to meet and the season's first meet saw the weather be a challenge for the Central Heights Vikings.

"The weather at Uniontown was cold and windy but our kids showed up ready to go and competed very hard in every single event," Vikings head coach Troy Prosser stated.

"There is a lot to unpack but we had a lot of very good results in team standings as well as individually and personally with 26 personal records set on the day."

Fifteen belonged to the boys and 11 on the girl's side.

The Vikings earned 13 medals on the day despite not having a full squad to compete with.

CH Vikings set new school records at Shawnee Mission South Relays

BY KEVIN GAINES THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW

OVERLAND PARK - The Vikings coach Troy Prosser knows to be the best, one must beat the best and that is exactly what the Central Heights Vikings set out to do as they sent a group of 4 guys to the Shawnee Mission South Relays in Overland Park last week.

The talented quartet of juniors that competed were Connor Burkdoll, Cody Hammond, Christian McCord and Owen Miller.

They comprised the 4x800 relay team that finished in 8:21.35 and finished in 2nd place overall.

Hammond also ran the 800 meter run and finished in 5th place with a time of 1:59.79

Burkdoll ran the 3200 meter as well, finishing in 19th place with a time of 10:03.24 which they continued the race to a standard two mile distance as well with a time of 10:16.56, also finishing 19th.

They also ran another unique race that is rarely ran in Kansas anymore, the 4x1600 meter relay.

They would finish in 3rd place with a time of 18:43.74, breaking a school record set back in 1996. The previous best time was 19:56.

"This was one of our primary focuses on the day," head coach Troy Prosser stated about topping the school record.

"The Relays was the only meet we could find that ran the race."

It's really a great start to the season for this talented group. Their 4x800 time was about the same time as they were at Regionals last year and it came in the opening event of the season.

The 3-run 9th inning consisted of a pair of singles, 2 errors, a sacrifice fly and an intentional walk.

Rossville tried to rally in the bottom of the ninth by opening the inning with 3 straight walks but a runner caught stealing 3rd, an infield fly and strikeout ended the game.
