Sunday accident near Lane one of Kansas' most deadly

Crash took lives of teen athletes, coaches, Missouri family in one of Kansas' worst-ever highway mishaps

BY DANE HICKS THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW

LANE - Sunday's crash on U.S. 169 near Lane that took the lives of 8 people was likely one of the two worst fatality crashes in Kansas highway history - the other occurring just weeks prior on I-70 in Western Kansas.

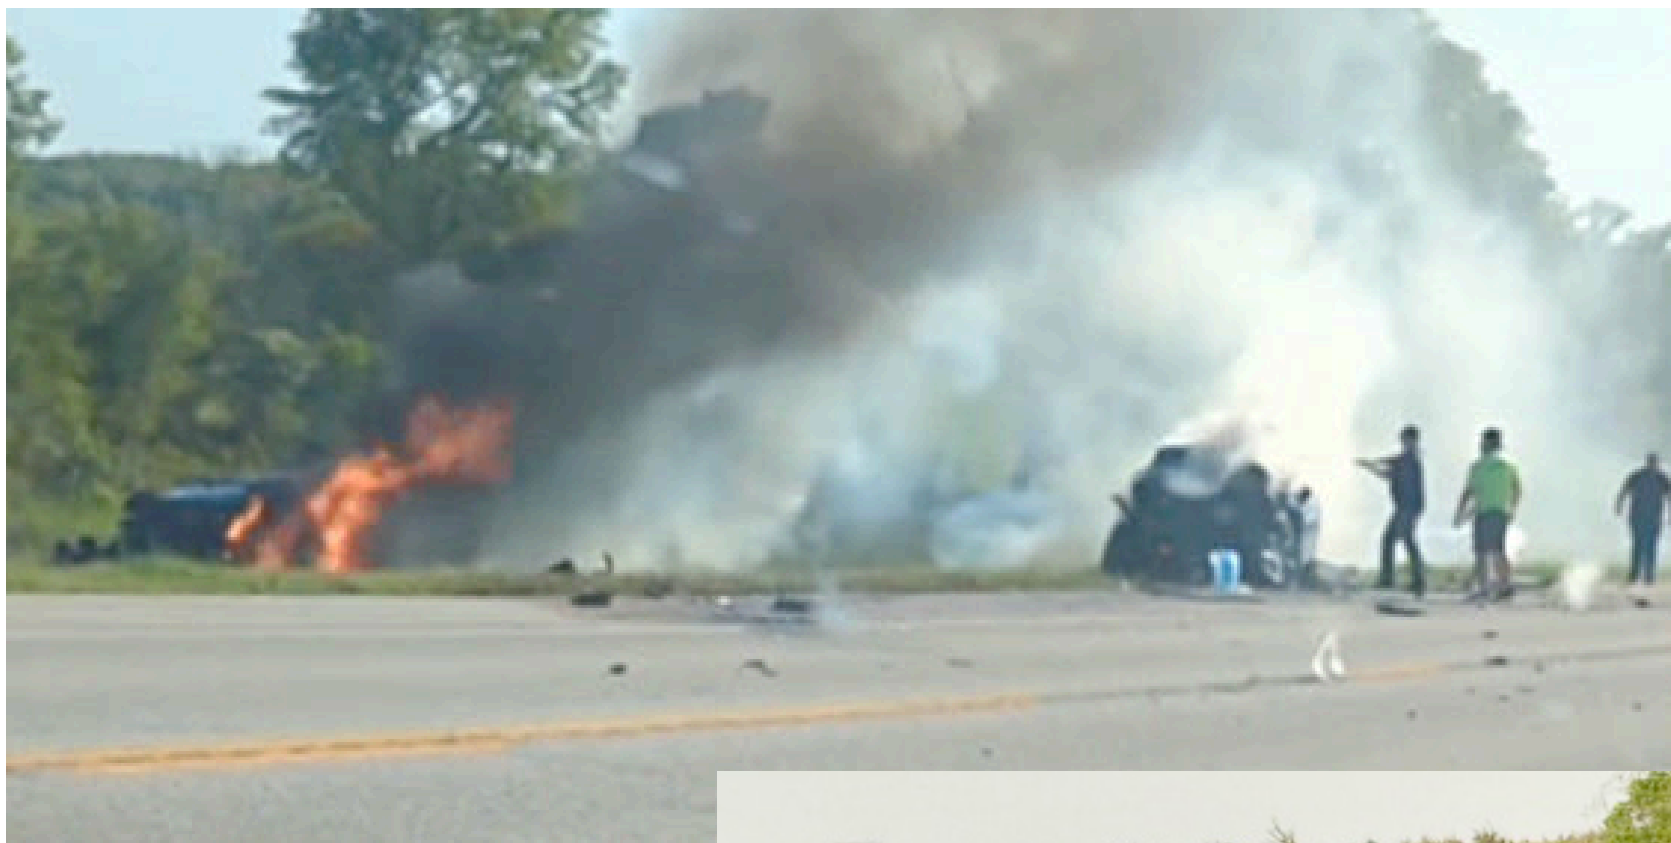

The I-70 pile-up involved more than 70 vehicles and also, tragically, claimed 8 lives on March 14 during a massive wind-driven dust storm. An internet search of fatality accidents shows no other crashes in the state that took as many lives as the two recent Kansas accidents. The closest most likely was the 2003 freak flash flood in the Flint Hills west of Emporia that swept the Rogers family from Liberty, Mo., off the Kansas I-35 Turnpike, drowning five family members and leaving the driver and dad, Robert Rogers, as the sole survivor.

The Kansas Highway Patrol identified eight people killed in Sunday's crash on U.S. 169 north of Greeley Sunday night and a 15 year-old boy who apparently escaped the tragedy with minor injuries.

KHP investigators say a 2016 Yukon driven by 33 year-old Jaimon D. Gilstrap of Tulsa, Okla., was southbound on U.S. 169 when he attempted to pass a slower moving vehicle. Alexander R. Ernst, 37 of Ames, Iowa, was driving a 2016 Subaru northbound. Both drivers attempted an avoidance maneuver and collided head-on on the northbound shoulder, erupting into flames.

The youths in Gilstrap's vehicle were part of the Oklahoma Chaos youth basketball program returning from the NXTPRO youth tournament in Kansas City, Ks., over the weekend. Gilstrap and the other adult in the vehicle were coaches.

Fatalities in Gilstrap's vehicle included the driver as well as 14 year-old Kyrion Gilstrap, 14 year-old Donald Laster all of Tulsa, and 41 year-old Wayne Walls of Talala, Okla. Fifteen year-old Braden Walls, also of Talala, survived with what were believed to be minor injuries.

THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW 5-8-2025 / Private Video capture

Above, a bystander video capture shows motorists attempting to free the occupants of the vehicle driven by Alexander Ernst moments after Sunday's head-on collision on U.S. 169 just north of Virginia Road in Franklin County. Ernst and seven others perished in the crash. Below, investigators and responders worked the crash scene just before sunset on Sunday.

The KHP report says all occupants of Gilstrap's vehicle were wearing their seatbelts.

Those in Ernst's vehicle included the driver as well as 76 year-old John D. Elliot, 69 year-old Noreen Elliot and 33 year-old Madalyn N. Elliot, all of Chesterfield, Mo. All occupants were wearing seatbelts.

The tragedy struck at the heart of youth athletics organizations all over the country. The Crestview, Fla.-based

Accused church arsonist awaits determination

Decision yet to be made when, how, if juvenile will face court

BY DANE HICKS THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW

COLONY - District court officials continue to evaluate Kaiden Robb to determine his competency to stand trial on allegations of assault and arson in connection with the destruction of the Colony Community Church the day after Christmas last year.

Robb

Robb, 16, is set for juvenile detention hearings in two separate cases on May 20, one dealing with assault in which he allegedly choked a family member during a domestic altercation and another involving arson and criminal damage to property after a fire at the church. Statements from law enforcement said Robb was removed from the smoke-filled church December 26 after a family argument. Firefighters initially had the fire at the church under control, but it rekindled overnight and destroyed the structure.

Court records show a confidential evaluation report was filed in Robb's case on Monday, May 5. The report followed an evaluation in March from The School board, cities face elections in '25

Filing deadlines coming Monday, June 2, for area line up of voter choices

BY DANE HICKS THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW

GARNETT - The 12 noon, June 2, filing deadline is looming for area residents considering running for local school board positions in Garnett USD 365, Crest USD 479 or Central Heights USD 288 school board elections, or any of various city commission and council seats at incorporated towns in the area. Anderson County Clerk Julie Wettstein said the traditional June 1 filing deadline would be set back a day this year since June 1 falls on Sunday. With the deadline 12 noon that Monday, filings will be followed by possible August 5 primary elections, and off-year general elections to be held in November.

Local school boards will elect three posts in 2025. Central Heights will elect posts currently held by Ross Kimball, Jack Davis and Billy Johnson. District personnel said no filings had yet been received in any of those races.

At Crest, position #4 held by Travis Church is up for vote, as is #5 held by Lance Ramsey and #6 held by Seth Black. Church has filed to retain his seat.

USD 365 positions up for election included #4 held by Michael Richards, Sonya Martin in #5 and Gina Witherspoon in #6. Witherspoon so far is the only one to file.

Harry Funk has filed for Kincaid Mayor, Wettstein said. All third-class cities will be electing one mayor and five council members, except Colony City, which will be electing 3 council members.

The City of Garnett will be electing a single commission position - the one currently held by Mayor Mark Locke.

Wettstein said the Frontier Extension District Board of Directors will have two positions

KC pediatrician: ADHD over-diagnosed, over-treated

BY PATRICK RICHARDSON THE SENTINEL

KANSAS CITY - As many as 7% or more of school-aged children - mostly boys - have a diagnosis of Attention Deficit Hyperactivity Disorder, or ADHD, and are taking some form of medication to treat it.

Kansas City-area pediatrician Dr. Christine White, in a recent interview on the Pete Mundo Show, said the problem with ADHD is that it is overdiagnosed and overmedicated.

In interviewing White, Mundo referenced a recent New York Times Magazine piece discussing how ADHD has been thought about and discussed.

Dr. Christine White

"I think it is always good to question whether or not we are diagnosing things correctly, and then if we're overdiagnosing, are we over-treating?" White said. "I think in this case, I think we are overdiagnosing and we are overtreating."

White said the school environment is often not geared toward the needs of boys, who are often unable to sit still for hours at a time.

"In some cases, you're trying to fit a square peg in a round hole," she said. "Especially boys, but some girls... they are different. They need to move. They do not keep their butt in a seat for eight hours."

White said that while many schools will have a couple of short recesses from kindergarten through third grade, it simply isn't enough.

"Kids are expected to do work that may or may not hold any interest for them," she said. "Schools are often teaching to a test."

White

White said that while it is possible to make education fun, she is "not sure that the way we teach now makes learning fun."

White said many of her patients' parents will take their children out of the school system to alternative education systems more tailored to their needs.

"They'll homeschool, or they'll find a Montessori school, or they'll find sort of a co-op where the kid can go and be maybe in the outdoors for a number of days a week," White said. "The kids that do homeschooling, also, they can get the work done in about an hour and a half to two hours that would take eight hours to get done at school, and then they have the rest of the day to play outside, to explore their world, to learn more about something that they would like to learn about, to take a field trip some where fun."

County attorney to add attempted rape charge to slate against illegal alien

BY DANE HICKS THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW

GARNETT - Anderson County Attorney Steve Wilson has filed a charge of attempted rape in addition to assault and other charges faced by an illegal immigrant being held in the Anderson County Jail in connection with a 2024 incident on the Prairie Spirit Trail.

Wilson said Monday he wasn't sure why the attempted rape charge wasn't filed initially after Porfirio Cruz-Cantu was arrested.

"She (the victim) was explicit in what she told us," Wilson said, "and she says she told them (previous prosecution under former county attorney Elizabeth Oliver) the same thing, and she doesn't know why they didn't charge it."

Former county attorney Elizabeth Oliver told the Review the Cruz-Cantu case was handled by assistant prosecutor Dan Dunbar, who was retained on hourly basis to assist with prosecutions during Oliver's term. Dunbar did not return an email from the Review on the subject by our press time Wednesday.

Cruz-Cantu was charged with battery, criminal restraint and mistreatment of an elderly person in connection with an incident in which a 64 year-old Ottawa woman was knocked from her bicycle and attacked south of Scipio on the Prairie Spirit Trail in October 2024. A probable cause affidavit filed in the incident said the victim told investigating officers Cantu attempted to rape her and at one point stuffed leaves in her mouth while she was on the ground in an attempt to muffle her screams. She said she escaped by kicking herself down the trail's embankment and running to a nearby house for help.

SUPERNAW

JANUARY 10, 1937 - MAY 2, 2025

Wayne Leon Supernaw was born on January 10, 1937, to Claude and Evelyn (Loewe) Supernaw at Agricola, KS. He entered into eternal rest on May 2, 2025, at the Ambassador Care Center in Sidney, Iowa. He passed away on his mother's birthday.

Supernaw

As a young boy, Wayne was extremely ambitious, and at age 12, was mowing lawns with a push reel mower. He convinced his dad that he needed a power mower, and with that came a loan from the First National Bank in Farragut, Iowa for $300. He had his loan paid back in 90 days.

This set the tone for the rest of his life, working to achieve goals and usually surpassing expectations. He started farming at the age of 15 with his grandfather, Henry Loewe, on the Missouri River bottom south of Hamburg. He graduated from Farragut Community School in 1954.

In 1963, he was married to Martha (Miller) Pease. Wayne continued to farm until he was introduced to becoming a seed salesman for Pioneer Seed Corn for Garst & Thomas of Coon Rapids, Iowa. He found his calling, as this profession lasted for the rest of his working life. He retired as a district sales manager located in Ft. Morgan, Colorado. He made many friends during his travels and sold thousands of bags of seed during this time.

In retirement, Wayne and Martha moved to Holiday Island, Arkansas. He spent countless hours in the yard, caring for plants, trees, flowers, and his vegetable garden. They bought an RV and started touring the country. They found a place in South Texas, where they spent many winters.

In 2014, they moved back to Nebraska City to be closer to their family. It is here, on Maple Crest Drive, that Wayne and Martha became acquainted with their neighbor across the street, Kevin Connell. Wayne and Kevin struck up an immediate friendship, one that lasted until Wayne's passing. Kevin was Wayne's primary "unofficial" caregiver. His constant attention to Wayne and his needs was something that was second to none and something Wayne's family is eternally grateful for.

Wayne was preceded in death by his parents, Wife Martha Supernaw, son Mark Supernaw, sister Claudine Supernaw, brother Larry Supernaw, and grandson Josh Meyer.

He is survived by daughters Marilyn (Dan) Gable of LaVista, NE, Nancy (Bill) York of Essex, IA, Marti (Bobb) Gigstad of Garnett, KS, son Robb (Barb) Pease of Castle Rock, CO, daughter-in-law Rita Supernaw of Farragut, IA and sister-in-law Joyce Supernaw of Shenandoah, IA. Also surviving are grandchildren Lisa (Pat) Patton, Lindsay (Sendhil) Govindarajan, Amy Brent (Mike), James (Tara) York, Chris Gigstad, Michael Gigstad, Craig (Taylor) Gable, Morgan (Michael) Pedersen, Jacob (Courtney) Supernaw Cummins, Sam (Rena) Supernaw Cummins; along with 18 great-grandchildren, many friends and other relatives.

Celebration of life graveside service will be held at 11:00 a.m., Friday, May 9, 2025, at the Farragut Cemetery in Farragut, Iowa. In lieu of flowers, memorials may be directed to the family. Wabash Memorial Chapel of Shenandoah in charge of the arrangements.

The plea of a foster child Never deny the power of God

Speaking Truth by Clint Decker

CLAY CENTER - His mother gave birth to him while she was in prison. Consequently, as a newborn he was immediately placed with the state. Literally from birth, Davion Navar Henry Only was constantly in foster care. As the years went by, being shuffled from home to home and family to family, Davion had a dream. He dreamed of being adopted before he aged out of the system at 18. Time was getting short, so he shared his dream with his case worker and asked if she could find a church where he could make his desperate appeal. In sharing his story with the congregation he pleaded, "I'll take anyone. Old or young, dad or mom, black, white, purple. I don't care." Then he politely stated, "And I would be really appreciative."

Davion's words quickly spread beyond the church and touched the hearts of millions. Soon Davion was adopted and achieved his dream.

Across the United States there are over 350,000 children in foster care, from infants to teenagers, just like Davion was. Tens of thousands are on waiting lists in state after state hoping to be adopted. They all have their own story in how they ended up in foster care. Some were abused, neglected or abandoned by their parents. Whatever the reason is, when children are taken from their homes and parents with law enforcement or state officials and end up in foster care, it is a traumatic, life-changing experience.

History's first recorded adoption took place due to the death of a parent. In ancient times lived a godly man named Abraham. He had a brother, Haran, who died early in life. Upon Haran's passing, he left behind an only son named Lot. Without hesitation Abraham his uncle and his wife, willingly took him in and looked after him throughout his life.

Abraham was simply doing what the Lord his God would want him to do. For the Bible says, "Religion that is pure and undefiled before God the Father is this: to visit [or care for] orphans." (James 1:27)

Why does God concern Himself with children like this? Because He created each of them and is the architect of the family. He created children to be raised in loving and godly homes. However, when tragedy strikes from the death of parents, or dads and moms make selfish and immoral decisions that endanger their children, boys and girls can end up without their parents. It is not supposed to operate this way, and it is no fault of their own. The children are a victim of circumstances beyond their control. Therefore, God's heart is filled with compassion towards those who are suddenly without a family. As a result, He urges His followers to be His hands and feet to them. The Scriptures say of God that He is the "Father of the fatherless and protector of widows..." (Psalm 68:5)

Adoption is at the heart of God's glorious gospel. His good news to the all the world is that He is the Creator of all and a Father to those who come to Him in faith and obedience. And in that sense, everyone who turns from their sinful ways and places their full trust in Christ, God adopts as His son or daughter and becomes their Father. And through His gospel when we become His child, we also become part of His family, the church, for it is the family of God.

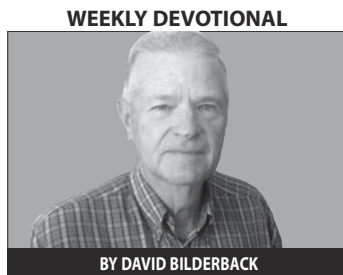

Today, prayerfully consider becoming a foster parent or adopting a child. For others, perhaps you have lost your parents due to death or have gone through a difficult childhood. Right now, place your faith in Jesus, God's only Son, who died and rose again for you. Become a child of God, be adopted into His family this day.

A prayer for you - Lord God, place a divine calling upon some to open their homes to foster children or to adopt a needy child. And if some feel like they have been abandoned, lift their eyes toward you and bring them to receive you by faith that you might become their adoptive heavenly Father. In Jesus' name. Amen.

In Psalm 14:1 the Psalmist says, "The fool says in his heart, there is no God. They are corrupt their deeds are vile; there is no one who does good." We have all sinned and fallen short. The Biblical definition of sin is, the transgression of or the lack of conformity to the law of God. In the Old Testament the law was the ten commandments. In Matthew 5 Jesus during his teaching on, "The Sermon on the Mount" emboldens this to cover one's thoughts and emotions concerning sin.

In 2 Timothy 3 Paul lists these thoughts and emotions that are the difference between godlessness and goodness. There exists a tension between godlessness and goodness that keeps us from enjoying all the joy God has available for us. Our adversary, who is very much involved in our lives, uses our past experiences in these behaviors to paralyze our growth in the kingdom. Paul says we have a form of godliness but these behaviors cause us to deny the power of God. The cross is a powerful reminder we need a solution we cannot provide ourselves. We need God's intervention. God did just that with the birth, life, death, burial and resurrection of Jesus. If Jesus would have failed in any of these areas we would have been left in our sin. In 1 Peter 3:18 the apostle clarifies our salvation when he says, "For Christ also suffered once for sins, the righteous for the unrighteous, to bring you to God. He was put to death in the body but made alive in the Spirit." In Romans 5:7 the apostle makes this statement. "Very rarely will anyone die for a righteous man, though for a good man someone might possibly dare to die. But God demonstrates his own love for us in this: While we were still sinners, Christ died for us." Being a Christ follower is not a burden it's the greatest invitation of your life. Do not ever make the mistake of denying the power of God.

White said the environment in traditional schools is not conducive for children with ADHD.

"It's an artificial environment that we're putting these kids into," she said. "It started way back, like at the start of (the) last century, when the large industrial magnates wanted workers, and they wanted people who could be forced to do something for eight to 10 hours a day, and then they would be good workers later. That is not a way to teach or raise children."

White said part of the problem with diagnosing ADHD is the way doctor visits work and the current environment in health care.

"Most doctor visits are scheduled for 15 minutes. The first four minutes are sucked up with checking in and the nurse coming in and getting your vitals," White said. "So you might get eight to 11 minutes with that physician if you are trying to see if a child has ADHD, you need time. You need to go through and check on, what are they eating?"

"Diet is so important to how that brain works. You need to have a discussion about sleep, both quantity and quality. You need to have a discussion about how much time do these kids spend outside, in the sun, in nature, how much time do these kids spend on screens?"

White said there are additional factors that need to be considered before diagnosing ADHD, such as whether or how well the child able to read, auditory processing issues, visual space orders, and others that may mimic ADHD.

White said in her current practice, Freedom Pediatrics, she's able to take significantly more time - as much as two hours over two visits - to unravel if ADHD is the actual issue or if there's something else.

"If you have 15 minutes or legitimately eight to 11 with the physician, you can write a prescription in eight minutes. You can say, 'yep, you filled out these two forms. Looks like he's got ADHD, here's your methylphenidate. Come back in a month. Let me know how it's going,'" White said. "You did not address any of the underlying reasons that might be causing this, and if you find those reasons, you can often, and I'd say in over 50 or 60% of the cases, you can, quote, cure their ADHD, because it wasn't ADHD, it was lifestyle habits that were leading to brain inflammation."

White said diet, especially eating whole, unprocessed foods is critical.

"You stop eating things that come in bags, boxes, or packages," she said. "You stop eating things with refined sugar and flour. You stop eating things with seed oils."

"If you can 90% of the time eat real, whole, and as much as possible organic foods ... you can see a big improvement with that."

White also said parents should not just limit screen time, but cut it out entirely for kids under 16."

"First of all, you do not give your child an iPad ever, and you try to prevent the school from giving your child an iPad," White said. "You do not give your child a cell phone, a smartphone, until they are 16. If you need a cell phone in middle school, you give them a flip phone. You do not introduce it to your child. If your grandma gives you one for Christmas, you give it back. It does nothing."

"I'm a little less worried about TV, especially if it's used as kind of like a social event, like you're going to watch the Chiefs tonight - but you just don't introduce it. It is like cocaine for the brain, and those kids will clamor for it, and it definitely increases attention and focus issues and behavioral issues."

RFK's right: Fat a bigger threat to kids than measles

If you'd told me two years ago I'd be giving a ringing endorsement to Robert F. Kennedy, Jr., on anything other than building upper body strength with pull ups and push ups, I'd have said you were eating way too much sodium benzoate.

But the thinly veiled Trump attack using a recent measles outbreak as a wedge and pitting RFK as a really firm-for-his-age pry bar against the president makes me second guess myself. Once again, goofy liberals and the Trump Hate media are busy looking at Orange Man Bad memes on their phones and walking right into the buzzsaw of modern reality.

After all, it's the kind of thing that got Trump re-elected. And like November 2024, this one's gonna leave a mark.

The field was of course staged earlier in April when Kennedy noted that, yes, the recent outbreak of measles among unvaccinated communities in New Mexico, Oklahoma and Texas, was sorrowful – highlighted by the deaths of three individuals from the disease in the first several months of this year in the U.S. If you don't want your kid to get measles, get him/her the MMR vaccine, Kennedy said.

So far it sounds logical – like the kind of thing a guy cutting back on his processed sugar would come up with. So RFK made a point about that sugar, noting the media and the Hate Trump First segment of the population was laser-focused on a “measles pandemic” when there's been a 40 percent increase in childhood diabetes between 1990 and 2019 – fat kids eating junk food and not exercising and setting themselves up for a lifetime of health complications, early death, and heaping massive social costs on the rest of America through consumption of health care – and lots of Skittles – in the process.

Sounds like a mouthful, and it is – something only a guy in pretty good cardio condition could say in one breath – especially with that breaking, halting, somebody's-got-me-in-a bear hug spasmodic dysphonia condition Kennedy lives with.

Cue the meme-obsessed crucifixion squads: “Trump's HHS Secretary's minimizing a “pandemic” because he hates sugar and thinks kids should be eating carnivore and doing IronMan competitions. Quick – let's nominate AOC and Bernie to save us from these crazies!”

I almost wonder if, when America's libtard population runs head-on into another brick wall in public policy or culture or maybe just an actual brick wall – if there's a sound effect of somebody dropping a piano out of a helicopter.

REVIEW COMMENTARY

CHARRRRBLRARRNGGG!

What RFK knows and what the dopey leftist skills at NPR and PBS never do (and they'll be less likely to know after Trump cuts their federal subsidy and there's no more Kopi Luwak in their breakrooms) is that some 5,400 children died globally from diabetes in 2019. Now, due to medical advances and no doubt U.S. aid, that number is down 20 percent from 6,700 in 1990 – the same period incidentally that diagnoses of childhood diabetes rocketed by 40 percent.

But let's get to what you're itching to know right now – and that's that Kopi Luwak is the most exclusive and expensive coffee in the world for a reason – it's produced from coffee beans which have been partially digested by the Indonesian palm civet and then excreted. Sure, it sounds disgusting and not all that tasty, but like I said, it's public broadcasting.

RFK's point hit home with anyone with any gumption. We just went through a ridiculously overblown and overwrought pandemic that proved the old adage about someone “being from the government and here to help.” Are you telling me we still haven't learned that it is the numbers in those comparisons that really count – not the politics?

Dumb question. The only thing that matters to Team Libtard is finding something to hang on to. If they get to momentarily and gleefully mock and contradict Robert Kennedy and the deaths of 5,400 kids a year all over the world – well, being proven wrong is a small price to pay.

It's just another day in America's modern, struggling digestion. Anybody got a Tums? ###

The Garnett cemetery is a constant issue around here due to its lack of upkeep. Other cemeteries contract it out. Why doesn't Garnett?

I hope the Review editor and his colleagues question why the Allen County Commissioner locked them out of the meeting. That same Allen County commissioner is always big about transparency. When he's left in charge of a multi-county issue, he's not. Just wondering what's really going on. Thanks for covering it and letting us know. Keep up the good work, Dane.

Yeah, we're out at the cemetery to decorate and the grass is so high, it's hard to find the stone. You go to the Catholic side and everything's all nice and mowed and neat. City of Garnett, something's going on and something's wrong. Disgusting how the cemetery looks.

President Trump is so disgraceful. Dressing up like the Pope? That is just childish and ignorant. And what he said on Meet The Press yesterday was ugly. He doesn't seem like he knows what's going on, but I know he does. He cannot be that stupid. So that is my opinion. I was hoping for the best but all it is is getting worse, and it's ugly, and I am so disappointed in him. Thank you and bless you.

Judge: 'Conservative' school board must keep sex books in library

A school board in Colorado cannot remove sexually explicit, profane, and “transgender” books from school libraries because the school board is conservative, according to a federal judge touted as the first openly lesbian judge west of the Mississippi.

The ACLU's Colorado chapter filed a suit on behalf of two minors, the NAACP Wyoming State Area Conference, and the Authors Guild, claiming that the school district engaged in viewpoint discrimination when removing the books. The judge granted a preliminary injunction in March, forcing the Elizabeth School District (in Elizabeth, a suburb southeast of Denver) to restore the books.

Judge Charlotte Sweeney second-guessed the school district's objections to the books' contents, calling the objections “pretextual” and condemning the removals as partisan because school board members had discussed following their conservative convictions when debating the removal of the books.

“Other than pretextual declarations, at this stage, there simply is no reason to believe that the books were removed because of vulgarity, age-inappropriateness, or for legitimate pedagogical [teaching] concerns; the board's own emails strongly suggest that the book removal was motivated by the directors' ‘commitment to conservative values.’” Sweeney wrote. “The court questions what could be more partisan or political than removing books to further the board's self-described conservative values.”

Julian Ellis, the school district's attorney, told The Daily Signal that the district had asked Sweeney to hold an evidentiary hearing so she could review the books herself, yet the judge refused. The board had included segments from the books in its filings, aiming to demonstrate the vulgar and inappropriate material, but the judge dismissed those.

Instead, the judge ruled that “the district's

NATIONAL COMMENTARY

decisive factor in voting to permanently banish the removed books was because the district disagreed with the views expressed in the books and to further their preferred political orthodoxy.”

“The court viewed any decision motivated by ‘conservative values’ as unacceptable and partisan,” Ellis explained. “The problem with the district court's analysis is those ‘conservative values’ could be assigned to anybook removal decision—a book that's never been checked out, a book with ice cream stains on the cover, or a book that denies the Holocaust” (emphasis original).

“This also begs a question: How could a ‘conservative’ school board ever remove problematic content without the board members' conservatism disqualifying the decision?” Ellis asked. He condemned the ruling as “unequal treatment because of one's conservative values.”

Dan Snowberger, the board's chairman, told The Daily Signal that Sweeney abused her authority.

“The fact that she is failing to acknowledge that the plaintiffs have mischaracterized the content of the books in question—despite our filings, including segments of the books, and refuses to even hold a hearing to allow the parties to present facts—is rather interesting and doesn't seem impartial,” he said.

Left-leaning activist groups cheered Sweeney's confirmation to the federal bench in 2022, celebrating her as “the first LGBT woman to serve as a federal district judge west of the Mississippi.”

“We have an unelected judge forcing her particular opinion and values on a community with which she has no connection and no desire to hear from the defendants, judging all submitted evidence as invalid over a few cherry-picked, out-of-context emails regarding a couple of the books in question,” Snowberger said.

Removed books include “The Bluest Eye” by Toni Morrison (which critics say contains sexually explicit content and depicts child sexual abuse) and “Thirteen Reasons Why” by Jay Asher (which critics say glorifies suicide), among others.

The Lawsuit

The case traces back to 2023, when the school board's director, Mike Callahan, learned that his 11-year-old daughter had checked out a book with sexually explicit content. The board established a Curriculum Review Committee to review and weed out inappropriate books. The committee listed approximately 100 books containing sensitive topics and recommended 19 books for suspension pending review. The board solicited feedback from the community about the books and then voted to remove them.

The board voted to suspend or remove books because they had sexually explicit, violent, or age-inappropriate content; because parents, voters, and taxpayers expressed opposition to the books being in school libraries; and because the board members did not consider the books'

Media blackout on abortion pill study another attack on women

Democrats and corporate media spent much of the 2024 election cycle trying to pin deaths directly linked to the abortion pill on pro-life policies. Their lies and deceptions primarily centered on the story of Amber Thurman, a Georgia woman who died alongside her twin babies after suffering complications stemming from the abortion pill.

Thurman's death is no doubt the direct result of a two-drug regimen (mifepristone and misoprostol) responsible for more than half of the nation's abortions. Yet, outlets such as ProPublica skipped past mifepristone's known correlation with serious adverse events to insist that women who took the pills, such as Thurman and Candi Miller, lost their lives due to pro-life laws.

Years after Thurman's death, the harmful and sometimes fatal effects of mifepristone on women and their babies are no doubt still news. Yet, when the “largest known study of the abortion pill” debuted this week, showing the rate of serious or life-threatening complications after the abortion pill is 22 times higher than the U.S. Food and Drug Administration and the mifepristone manufacturer Danco Laboratories suggest, the same outlets that spent months smearing pro-life protections to advance Democrats' radical abortion agenda were silent.

Corporate media's blackout on a landmark study should not come as a shock.

If the press truly cared about women like

NATIONAL COMMENTARY

JORDAN BOYD – THE FEDERALIST

Thurman suffering and potentially dying, they would amplify news that tens of thousands of women who took the abortion pill over a seven-year period ended up with emergency room visits, sepsis, infections, follow-up surgeries, hemorrhage, or other complications. Instead, the little media attention the wide-ranging analysis of mifepristone-related insurance claims has received was written off as “junk science,” using quotes from abortion activists.

The same outlets snubbing the new mifepristone study are the ones that routinely lament abortion limits, despite the fact that those better reflect Americans' true feelings about abortion than Democrats' abortion through birth agenda.

As Democrats' biggest abortion ally, the press ignore mounting science about the dangers of mifepristone to pitch the abortion pill as a safe, effective, and easy way to end the life of an unborn child largely undetected. Shortly after the U.S. Supreme Court's Dobbs v. Jackson decision, the media even ran puff pieces about the abortion activists smuggling abortion pills to women in red states.

On the flip side, any mention of the legal battles concerning life-saving abortion pill reversal or the movement to hold accountable abortionists who prescribe mifepristone to women in red states like Texas without ever examining them is laden with hostility from the media.

The data about mifepristone's devastating effects on women and babies is clearer now than ever before and may even prompt action from the FDA. But don't expect the corporate media to cover it well, if at all.

The press, which prided itself on amplifying Thurman's story and the Harris-Walz campaign's use of it, only pretends to care about victims of the abortion pill if they can figure out a way to twist them to meet their political aims.

Mystery tour continues...

2 April 2025

Wow! Looking out our big window, it looks as if those big ocean waves could come right into our room this morning. No bags out, so that means we are staying another day and night. David, our tour guide, is back on board our bus today. On our agenda for the day, is another tour of Galveston Island. The island is 27 miles long and approximately 2 miles wide. As we travel along, I will share a few of the scenes we saw and visited. I didn't try to count the amount of millionaires and billionaires homes we passed. Even a couple of castles. The Sacred Heart Catholic Church, the home of the Bishop in 1892. The "Rat Pack" House, if I understood right, this was once the hang out of musicians, actors and actresses. Queen Victoria's House, Alfred Hitchcock had a suite here. We actually drove down Church Street. Beautiful, one of the churches had the world's oldest stained glass windows. The oldest candy store, still making and selling all kinds of taffy.

Our next adventure was a visit to the Historic Pier 19 and often was referred to as the "Cruise Ship Harbor." Looking across the harbor, we could see the Battle Ship Texas undergoing restoration. By this time it was lunch time and we ate at Katie's Seafood House (Great).

Call (785) 448-6244 for local archeology information.

After lunch we had a wonderful tour of the "Ocean Star" oil rig, just like the one our granddaughter worked on in the Gulf. We then walked to the "Tall Ship Museum" and at 2:30 p.m. we boarded the Sea Gull II for a cruise of the harbor and beyond. Our first exciting thing that happened, was one of the passengers caps blew off, so we had a cap rescue mission. The docks we passed were: Exxon/Mobil Oil Company, Fertilizer and Banana. French, Pursian, Norwegian. We soon encountered a whole pod of diving dolphins. Dolphins can reach a length of 12 feet and weigh 1,000 pounds.

A female is a cow, male bull and baby a calf. A calf often stays up to 16 years old by its mothers side.

Our day was still not over, but I will continue in my next column.

educational value enough to outweigh other concerns.

The ACLU of Colorado sued in December, representing a high school junior at Elizabeth High School, a preschooler at Running Creek Elementary, the NAACP Wyoming State Area Conference, and the Authors Guild. The ACLU claimed that the Colorado NAACP chapter includes parents of kids in the district's public schools, but neither the ACLU nor the NAACP identified the parents. The Authors Guild includes authors of some of the restricted books.

The ACLU claims that the school board violated the First Amendment rights of the high school junior and the preschooler, and claims it violated the authors' First Amendment rights by interfering with their ability to communicate their ideas to students.

On Jan. 27, the school district decided to make the 19 disputed books available to the plaintiffs in the lawsuit. Even so, Sweeney ordered the district to restore the books on March 19. The district appealed the case, and while the U.S. Court of Appeals for the 10th Circuit will hear the case, it rejected the district's appeal for a stay to block Sweeney's order.

Sweeney's Order

The school district argued that it is a matter of government speech which books the district allows in school libraries, but Sweeney rejected this argument. Sweeney cites the 1982 Supreme Court case Board of Education, Island Trees Union Free School District v. Pico, a complicated case involving a school district's decision to remove books from a school library.

The Supreme Court did not issue a majority opinion in Pico, only a plurality holding that school boards "may not remove books from school library shelves simply because they dislike the ideas contained in those books and seek their removal to 'prescribe what shall be orthodox in politics, nationalism, religion, or other matters of opinion.'"

Though a Supreme Court plurality opinion is not considered binding on other courts, Sweeney nonetheless used it as a "starting point." Sweeney then quoted school board members' emails to suggest that the book removals were political.

"While I completely agree that we must keep politics out of the classroom and shield our students from partisan influences, it's equally important to remember that our commitment to conservative values was a key aspect of our campaign," one school board member wrote.

The judge never even considered whether the "conservative values" involved protecting children's innocence or prioritizing reading, writing, and arithmetic over sexual lessons at young ages.

Ellis, the school district's attorney, cited Chief Justice William Rehnquist's dissent from Justice William Brennan's opinion in Pico.

"Justice Brennan would hold that the First Amendment gives high school and junior high school students a 'right to receive ideas' in the school," Rehnquist noted. "This right is a curious entitlement. It exists only in the library of the school, and only if the idea previously has been acquired by the school in book form. It provides no protection against a school board's decision not to acquire a particular book."

Yet Sweeney dismissed this argument because Hazelwood involved a high school newspaper published by students in a journalism class. She ruled that which books a library contains is not as directly tied to the school curriculum.

The School Board's Response

In appealing the case, the school district noted that all school board members declared under penalty of perjury, "My objections are based on the age-inappropriate content that appears in these books and they have nothing to do with the 'viewpoints,' 'ideas,' or 'worldviews' expressed by the authors, or the fact that some of the books 'discussed LGBTQ+ and race-related topics.' I would oppose the inclusion of books with this type of content in our school libraries even if those books supported conservative viewpoints, ideas, or worldviews, and even if they discussed topics other than LGBTQ or race-related issues."

The district also argued that Sweeney's "claim that the First Amendment forbids 'viewpoint' discrimination and 'content' discrimination in library-weeding decisions is untenable and unsupported by any decision of the Supreme Court."

Courts need to clarify this issue, and the appeals court should strike down Sweeney's perplexing ruling. Sexually explicit materials have no place in school libraries, and courts need to make it clear that removing them does not violate the Constitution.

Pieces & Patches Quilt Guild minutes for April

The Pieces and Patches Quilt Guild was called to order by President Connie Hatch on Thursday, April 24, 2025, at 9:30 a.m. There were 21 members in attendance.

There were corrections to the Minutes of March 27, 2025 meeting: Mary Cubit also showed her Block of the Month (BOM), Ruth Theis was also a presenter of a way to sew a Half Square Triangle (HST) and the winner of last years Coffey County Scholarship was misspelled, her name is Emily Rolf. Helen Norman made a motion to approve the minutes as corrected and Shirley Allen seconded. Motion passed.

Mary Parrot gave the following Treasurer's report. Brenda Futrell moved to accept the treasurer's report as presented, seconded by Ruth Theis. Motion passed.

COMMITTEE REPORTS

Programs: Jeanette Gadelman reported that the May program will be a social affair where we will play Quilt Bingo and enjoy snacks. She passed out the instructions for how to make the Bingo card out of 2 1/2" squares. You can make as many cards as you want to play with. Bring buttons for the chips and 2 fat quarters that will be used as prizes. The Bingo card is not a finished block so that they can be used to make a Quilters' Hug quilt at a later sew-in. The June program will be a trunk show by Dinah Nash called Hawaiian Style Quilts. Jeanette has booked a September program for whoever is the new Vice President. It will be a trunk show by Cathy Minzie of Threadscapes on "Landscaping with fabric (not dirt). Jeanette and Lori Hoyt attended the HQN annual meeting where they found out about these and other presenters. There is no guild meeting in July. There will be a Shop Hop August 7&8 on a route through Joplin and Springfield Missouri. Today, Terrie Gifford will show how to make various 3-dimensional fabric flowers.

Quilters' Hugs quilts: Ruth Theis reported that she gave all 9 quilts to Hope Unlimited in Iola and one Walker bag to Parkview. So keep making Quilters' hugs quilts.

Opportunity Quilt 2025: Terrie Gifford reported that the 2025 Opportunity Quilt is now at Patriots on the highway. The next move is to the Senior Center on May 2.

Opportunity Quilt 2026: Jeanette Gadelman reported that the committee met to cut out and package another set of blocks and they are available today for those who want to take them home to piece them together.

Member Morale: Brenda Futrell mailed out cards while she was on her vacation in Idaho. Sharon Rich was the first to point out that her envelope had an Idaho cancelled stamp.

2025 Block of the Month (BOM) Mystery Quilt: Jeanette Gadelman and Sharon Rich each showed samples of blocks 3, 11 and 10. Block 3 is Half Square Triangles (HST's) that will be part of the border. Block 11 is a straight Square in a Square. Block 10 is a plain square.

2025 Challenge: Terrie asked if anyone still wanted to declare a UFO for the challenge. There were no new declarations.

Scholarships: The names will be released after the award ceremonies.

Anderson County Fair: Terrie Gifford reminded members the Challenge Fabric packets are on sale at Country Fabrics for $3 cash only. Sign up for sitting with the quilts at the County Fair will be in June.

May Quilt Show: Mary Parrott passed around the sign up sheet for working the quilt show. She is concerned that not all of the times are signed up for yet. Members are encouraged to make items for the Boutique. Mary had the forms to fill out for the show entries. Terrie asks members to send her items in their quilts that she can use to create the "I Spy" Game and asked for donations of small items as prizes. Visitors to the show can play the "I Spy" game by identifying 15 items hidden in the quilts. All correct entries are put in a hat and names are drawn to win prizes. Bonnie is asking members to fill vases or baskets with scrap fabric to set at the foot of the quilt racks to avoid visitors stumbling on the legs. Jerry Lou showed her jars filled with scraps.

Nominating Committee: Mary Parrot stated that the committee will be meeting to nominate members for President, Secretary, Treasurer and Newsletter as their 2 year term is up. Slate to be announced and voted on at the June meeting.

OLD BUSINESS

Jeanette reported that the HQN is only accepting dues a year at a time and she did not know when they are due. Connie will investigate.

NEW BUSINESS

Jeanette Gadelman was asked by the Library if the guild would do a Quilt Hanging for the months of January and February with no particular theme.

Rhonda Tiemeyer reported that her daughter, Nikki Birk, assistant Director of nursing at Life Care Center in Burlington wanted her to pass on that the Center will be hosting a Quilt Showing, Monday, May 12 2-4 PM. Anyone is welcome to bring quilts in by 10 AM, Monday with a description card for the showing. Visitors are invited.

Donna Sutton reported that the LaCygne museum will have a display of Historical Quilts everyday during the months of April and May.

Terri Couture reminded us that the Kansas City Regional Quilt Festival (KCRQF) at the Overland Park Convention Center runs from June 11 - 14. The first day the quilts will be on display is the 12th. There will be 175 quilts on display.

SECRET SISTER GIFTS

Bonnie Deiter and Jodi Denton received gifts but were not at the meeting.

Joyce Buckley got Earrings that were a Star Block, a Ruler handle, a Quilting Journal and bright colored fabrics.

SHOW AND TELL

Mary Parrott invented a new quilting term when she showed a "Sleeve Quilt". She made the quilt from the cut off sleeves of a farmer who never wears a shirt with sleeves.

Sharon Rich showed a round tablecloth with embroidery on which she applied embroidered patches from dresser scarves, all of which were items with cross stitch and embroidery made by the mother of Doug Witterman.

Rhonda Tiemeyer showed last month's BOM blocks and she showed her 2nd completed 2025 Christmas present, a large quilt made of scrappy HSTs. She tied the quilt top and put the ties through buttons.

Ruth Theis showed pot holders she made for the boutique.

Sandra Moffatt showed a Grey and Yellow quilt made with a Honey Bun package of fabric (1 1/2" x 44 inch strips). The blocks in it were 32 patches of varying short lengths. The back of her quilt was made with the same leftover fabric from the front. She also showed a baby quilt she made for a neighbor's new baby which was quilted by Jeanette Gadelman.

Brenda Futrell will be attending her annual Mother of Twins Convention whose theme is "Out of this World." She made a tablerunner, pot holders, zipper bag and the most clever jar opener made with one side fabric, the other side the grippy shelf liner you can buy at a dollar store.

Margaret Keen showed two BOM's and a quilt of a pattern called "Dogs Walk About" where she used puppy paws fabric.

Shirley Allen went on a trip of Europe with her daughters. She bought fabrics from stores in Rome and Paris. The store in Paris is called the "Liberty Store" and she passed around one of the pieces to show how soft the fabric was.

Donna Sutton showed a baby quilt with Tweety Bird squares.

Janet Truelove showed a double 3-yard quilt made in turquoise and other bright colors.

Terrie Gifford showed the step-by-step process to make various 3 dimensional flowers. She explained three different techniques to make the flowers. She was inspired by other quilters she had encountered since she began quilting.

The meeting was adjourned.

Minutes recorded by Terrie Gifford.

Great news about our new jail that needs $300,000 to get accredited. When the jail salesman and the public building commission told us this was a slam dunk because it makes so much money farming in prisoners. Pay for the repairs out of the surplus revenue.

Why doesn't President Trump try to dress up like a Cardinal and get into the church and make fun of that too.

Hello. Once again, the Democrats have been very busy. This time forming their MS 13 caucus.

The city posted on the Facebook page about not blowing grass clippings into the street. Do we have an ordinance about this? If we do, the city needs to make sure that their city employees and their families are aware of it. In our neighborhood, a city employees' family member, always mows, throwing grass into the street, followed by using a leaf blower to clear off their driveway into the street, and often, walking across the street to the curb on the other side, while cars are going past. If they don't blow it across the street, they blow it down the curb to the storm drain. Another neighbor uses his leaf blower to blow the tree propellers out of his yard and off his drive to the street next to the curb, where they lay in piles.

Is there anyone working for the city that knows how to make the water drain off the street like that Pine and Monroe? If so, get it fixed.

Lady Bulldogs split with Louisburg

LOUISBURG - The Anderson County Bulldogs and Louisburg Wildcats split a doubleheader matchup on Thursday, May 1st.

Louisburg won the opening game 10-7, holding off a rally attempt by the Bulldogs.

Louisburg led 9-0 after a 4-run fourth inning before the Lady Bulldogs rallied with 2 runs in the fifth, 5 in the sixth and 1 more in the seventh.

Anderson County pounded out 15 hits, led by a perfect 4-hit day by Addy Kueser. Kueser scored and drove in a pair of runs on the day.

Ava Mills, Brylie Kohlmeier, Taylor Clark and Brooklyn Kellerman each chipped in with two hits on the afternoon. Kellerman hit a solo home run in the seventh for the game's final run.

Maura Rockers was charged with the loss as she pitched 5 2/3 innings, allowed 14 hits, 10 earned runs and struck out 3 hitters. Bree Schaffer came on in relief with the bases loaded and would get a Louisburg hitter to line out to end the threat.

In game 2, the Bulldogs were able to finish the rally from an early 3-0 deficit to win 9-5.

Louisburg scored 3 runs in the first. The score would remain that way until the fifth inning when the Bulldogs tallied 3 runs to knot the game up.

Louisburg tacked on a run in the home half of the fifth before Anderson County finished them off with a 6-run sixth inning.

It was another hit barrage for the Lady Bulldogs as they had 18 hits in the game.

Ava Mills, Clark and Kellerman all accounted for 3 hits in the game and Schaffer, Khole McCarty and Brystol Barnes each had a pair of hits.

Kellerman's bat was the difference as she hit two more home runs and drove in 6 runs in the game. Kellerman hit 3 run home runs in both the 3rd and 6th inning.

McCarty was the starting pitcher, lasting 5 innings, allowed 11 hits, 5 runs, 3 earned runs and struck out 3. Schafer again came on in relief and pitched the game's final 2 innings and allowed 0 runs despite allowing 4 hits.

Viking track impresses at PV Invite: Boys win team title

LACYGNE - On a day filled with personal records, stand-out performances, and gusty winds, the Central Heights Vikings track and field team turned in a commanding performance at the Prairie View Invitational. The boys squad captured the team championship with 103 points, led by an explosive showing from senior Cody Hammond and a deep supporting cast that delivered across all events.

Hammond was the undisputed star of the day, completing an impressive triple-gold effort by winning the 400m (52.53), 800m (1:58.50), and 1600m (4:31.10) — all within a roughly 40-minute window. Each of those times currently ranks among the best in Kansas Class 2A, a testament to his stamina, poise, and race strategy.

Joining Hammond in the distance dominance was senior

Connor Burkdoll, who won the 3200m in a blazing 9:55.91, followed closely by teammates Owen Miller (10:04.01) and freshman Josiah Meyer (10:22.78), who crushed his personal best by nearly 30 seconds. The 1-2-3 finish was just one example of the Vikings' tactical execution and team-first mentality in longer races.

Other notable distance performances included Cooper Moore's 3rd-place finish in the 1600m (5:08.93) and strong showings from Cash Miller and Russell Reed, who both notched personal bests in the 800m.

In the sprints, freshman Mathew Dunbar continued his breakout season by placing 4th in the 100m (11.93 PR) and 8th in the 200m (24.84 PR), solidifying his status as one of the top ninth-grade sprinters in the state. He also helped anchor the 4x100 relay to a 5th-place finish.

The Vikings' relay teams were consistent point scorers throughout the meet. The 4x800 relay squad of Aidan Howland, Cooper Moore, Josiah Meyer, and Christian McCord claimed gold with a time of 8:41.92, while the 4x400 relay placed 6th.

In the field events, Max Chrisjohn had a standout day, placing 3rd in discus with a personal-best throw of 114-1 and 4th in shot put with another PR of 38-11. Ethan Rhoades (3rd, javelin) and Graham Highbie (PR in javelin) also contributed valuable points.

On the girls' side, freshman Lily Burkdoll led the way with a silver medal in the 3200m (12:45.88 PR) and anchored the 4x800 relay team — which also included Arabella Dunbar, Ebony Hughes, and Caitlynn Detwiler — to a first-place finish in 11:08.77.

Ebony Hughes had a big day as well, setting a personal best in the 400m (1:06.90) for 4th place and finishing 8th in the long jump. Arabella Dunbar and Maya Acebron added depth in the sprints and relays, with both showing steady improvements.

In the throws, Paige Powell hit a PR in the javelin (61-7), while Ava Bergen posted a season best in the shot put. The girls showed grit in the face of fierce headwinds and continued to make incremental gains heading into the postseason.

Head Coach Prosser praised the team's resilience. "I'm incredibly proud of how resilient our athletes have been this season. It's always windy in Kansas, but rarely do we have a spring like this. We've used the adversity to get stronger, smarter, and more prepared."

Vikings baseball sweep NE

RICHMOND - The Vikings broke open a close game in the second game of the doubleheader to earn a sweep of Northeast last Thursday, May 1st.

Central Heights handed Northeast a 12-2 loss in game 1 behind the solid pitching of Kreig Garrett. He tossed 5 1/3 innings, allowing 6 hits, 2 runs, 0 earned runs and struck out 10. Roarke Brock would pitch the final 2 outs of the game without allowing a baserunner.

Garrett would be one of five Vikings to have two hits in the game. He was joined by Stetson Miller, Kord Stroup, Knox Cannady and Jotham Meyer. Meyer, Cannady and Stroup paced the Vikings as they each drove in 2 runs. Stroup would also score 4 times.

In the second game, Northeast would tally 4 runs in the top of the fifth to knot the game up at 4 apiece, but the Vikings responded with 3 runs in the home half of the fifth and 2 more in the sixth to pull away for a 9-5 victory.

Stetson Miller would earn the win on the mound pitching 6 innings, allowing 4 runs but none of them were earned runs and struck out 6. Miller helped himself at the plate scoring 4 times as he garnered 2 hits and also reached base on a walk and was hit by a pitch.

Viking baseball earns another sweep

RICHMOND - Lyndon was outmanned at the hands of the Central Heights Vikings as they cruised to a sweep winning the first game 12-1 and the second game 12-2.

After a sluggish start, the Vikings led just 2-1 heading into the home half of the third inning but they responded with 4 runs in the third and 6 more in the fourth.

Leadoff hitter Ethan Kraft led the attack with 3 hits in 3 at bats, scored 2 runs and drove in 4.

Stetson Miller picked up the victory on the mound pitching 3 2/3 innings, allowed 4 hits, 1 run, 0 earned runs and struck out 9. Roarke Brock pitched the final 1 1/3 inning, allowing 0 runs and striking out 3.

In game 2's 12-2 win, the Vikings offense was helped out by 4 Lyndon errors which led to 7 unearned runs in the contest.

Kreig Garrett was dominant on the mound. He went 4 1/3 innings, allowed 0 hits, 1 earned run, walked just 1 hitter and struck out 11.

The lone run came in the fifth as Garrett walked the lead-off hitter and then picked up a strikeout before exiting. The walk would come around to score on a balk later in the inning.

Lady Vikings extend win streak to 11, sweep Lyndon RICHMOND - The impressive play continues for the Central Heights Lady Vikings as they picked up their 11th consecutive win after winning a pair of games over Lyndon.

In the opener, the Vikings cruised to an 11-1 win.

Melaney Chrisjohn and Ashley Harkins pounded out 3 hits each and both also scored a pair of runs to lead the Viking attack. Cayleigh Latimer led the team with 3 runs driven in as she hit a 2-run single in the first and had a sacrifice fly in the fourth.

Cely Crump pitched a gem on the mound. She tossed 5 innings, allowed just 1 hit, 1 unearned run and struck out 8. The only hit was a 1-out single in the first inning.

The Vikings continued the streak with a run scoring ground out in the fifth inning that would prove to be the winning run in a 7-6 victory.

Four Vikings, Crump, Sydney Evans, Lyla Hamblin and Jaley Ferguson, had two hits in the game.

Chrisjohn would open the game on the mound, going 3 innings and allowing 3 earned runs on 6 hits. Crump would pitch the game's final 4 innings. Crump allowed 6 hits, 2 earned runs and struck out 10.

Bulldogs finish 4th at Cyclone Invitational

OTTAWA - The Anderson County Bulldogs golf team turned in a strong performance Monday at the Cyclone Invitational in Ottawa, finishing 4th out of 9 teams with a combined score of 328. Led by senior Eli Martin's round of 71.

Martin's score earned him 2nd place individually—just one stroke behind Paola's Stratton Draper, who finished with a 70.

Supporting Martin's performance was Cayden Davis, who shot an 82 to tie for 12th, and Isaak Porter, who finished tied for 20th with an 86.

Issac Richards also turned in a solid score of 89 (T28), and Jonathan Stoltz shot a 94 (T36) and Mitchell Richards added a 105 to round out the Bulldog golfers.

As a team, Anderson County's score of 328 placed them just two strokes behind Paola and nine strokes behind runner-up Louisburg. Host school Ottawa won the team title with a total score of 311.

Bulldogs fend off Louisburg rally attempt

LOUISBURG - The Anderson County Bulldogs traveled to Louisburg last Thursday, May 8th, and came out on top 5-4.

The home team was a hit away from a win and had 3 outs to get one in the bottom of the seventh inning. Louisburg loaded the bases with no outs trailing 5-4 with a pair of walks and a bunt single, but the Bulldogs pitcher Jack Dykes pitched himself out of the jam he created. Dykes slammed the door shut with back-to-back strikeouts and a ground out to end the game.

Anderson County capitalized on Louisburg miscues as 3 of their 5 runs in the game were unearned.

Zach Schaffer was the only Bulldog to have a multi-hit game, collecting 2 hits in 4 at-bats from the leadoff spot in the order.

Brylan Sommer pitched 4 2/3 inning in the start, allowing 8 hits and 4 earned runs.

Dykes earned the win pitching 2 1/3 innings, allowing just 1 hit, walked 3 hitters and struck out 4.

Bulldogs split with SFT

GARNETT - The Anderson County Bulldogs let Santa Fe Trail rally to win game 1 but bounced back with a solid effort in the second game to earn a split of the doubleheader.

In the opener, the Bulldogs were cruising along after scoring 2 runs in the first inning, leading 2-0 heading into the sixth when Santa Fe Trail rallied to win the game 4-2 with 4-runs in the sixth and a lone run in the seventh.

The Bulldogs had just 3 hits in the game. One each by Zach Schaffer, Brayden Wheat and Aiden Steele. Wheat and Steele were responsible for singles that drove in both runs in the first inning.

Wheat pitched a solid game on the mound as well going 7 innings, allowing 10 hits, 4 runs, 2 earned runs and struck out 10.

The bats woke up in the second game as the Bulldogs cruised to a 7-2 win after Santa Fe Trail scored 2 in the top half of the first inning.

Schaffer was perfect in 4 at-bats, drove in a run and scored once. Brylan Sommer was 3 for 4, scored twice and drove in a run and Brodie Wiesner was 2 for 3 and drove in 2 runs in the game.

Aleck Smith pitched a complete game for AC, going 7 innings and allowing just 4 hits, 2 earned runs and struck out 2.

Team Pride Basketball club, which also participated in the weekend tournament, described its teammates and families' emotions.

"In moments of tragedy, such as the heartbreaking crash in Eastern Kansas, we are reminded of the fragility of life and the strength of our connections within the community," a Facebook post on the organization's social media read. "Today, we stand together in solidarity, praying for our friend, family, and all those who were touched by this unimaginable loss."

"The entire basketball community, a family united by our love for the game, mourns together, recognizing that we never know when our final day may come," the post continued. "In these moments of reflection, let us cherish our relationships, uplift one another, and hold tight to the memories of those we've lost."

The accident occurred on a long hill just north of U.S. 169's intersection with the Virginia Road exit to Lane.

Our leaders must remember that education doesn't begin with some isolated bureaucrat in Washington. It doesn't even begin with state or local officials.

Education begins in the home, where it is a parental right and responsibility.

—President Ronald Reagan

6 Advantages of having a high school diploma?

Does having a diploma really make a difference? It certainly can! While we all have different goals and talents, a solid education can open up doors to many opportunities.

Here are 6 advantages of getting your high school diploma:

1. Earn a higher income

While money alone doesn't measure success, earning a higher paycheck can help you improve your quality of life, save money, and broaden your shopping, dining, and entertainment options, as well as simply being able to provide for your family.

2. Be more competitive when you're applying for a new job

More and more jobs today require you to have a high school diploma or equivalent to qualify for employment. Employers want to hire someone who can put in the work, solve difficult problems, work well with others, and overcome challenges.

3. Qualify for promotions at work

Even if your current job didn't require you to have a high school diploma to get started, earning one can be necessary if you want to build a career and have the opportunity to advance.

4. Start preparing for a career in high school

Besides getting a credential that can be essential to starting a career, high school can help you actually take the first steps toward preparing for one! Through your standard and elective classes, you can narrow down your interests and learn more about what you'd like to do.

5. Lifelong skills

High school classes can teach you more than just what's on the test! Besides learning the basics like English, math, history, and science, you'll also pick up skills you can use in real life.

6. Pride

Earning a high school diploma takes a great deal of hard work and dedication. You won't always master every subject right away, but overcoming these challenges grants you a priceless sense of pride and accomplishment.

Friendly to the environment, friendly to the farmer, ethanol is great for your vehicle, clean to the environment, and puts money back in the pockets of our local farmers.

We're proud to be on the forefront of new fuel technologies while decreasing America's dependence on foreign oil.
