Bookkeeper admitted theft after anonymous tip, court records say

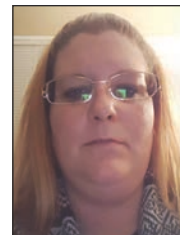

Corporate parent said tip led to probe, woman's arrest

BY DANE HICKS THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW

GARNETT - Charging documents in a $37,000 embezzlement case targeting a Garnett grocery store say the case hinged on anonymous information provided to the store's corporate office.

Former Garnett Country Mart bookkeeper Megan Wilson, 47, was granted bond Tuesday of $10,000 and assigned state-funded counsel to face 13 felony theft counts and 4 misdemeanors associated with the incident.

A probable cause affidavit obtained by the Anderson County Review said Royce Jackson, store director for the Springfield, Mo.-based Pyramid Foods company which owns the store, reported an anonymous tip led store officials to investigate bank deposits of store funds that were under Wilson's watch as part of her duties as the local store's bookkeeper. The affidavit says Wilson at first denied a n y wrongdoing when confronted by Jackson, store staff and Garnett police, but later admitted the theft.

A list of deposits provided as evidence in the case shows the wayward amounts occurred between June 1st to July 23, with individual thefts ranging in value from $50 to more than $3,800 early in July.

Each felony count carries with it a possible penalty of five months to 17 months incarceration and a fine of up to $100,000 stealing what she estimated was some $31,000 for personal use. The document said Wilson told police she acted alone and no family or co-workers knew about with 12 months of post release supervision period. Wilson's next court date had not been scheduled as of early this week.

Patterson grant will boost private donations to Garnett Community Foundation in September

GARNETT - The Garnett Community Foundation will launch this year's "Generations of Giving Matching Gift Campaign" in September, giving donors the special opportunity to invest in the future of the community and multiply their impact with additional dollars.

Foundation director Julie Smith said from Sept. 1 through midnight on Sept. 30, donations made to the foundation are eligible to be matched dollar-for-dollar up to $100,000 thanks to a generous grant from the Patterson Family Foundation. Smith said donors can participate in two main ways:

1. Give to the foundation's Legacy Fund: Donations made to this endowment fund empower the Garnett Community Foundation to build permanent, flexible resources that support annual grantmaking focused on the community's greatest needs. No minimum gift required and no match cap.
2. Establish an endowment fund: Donors can create a lasting legacy that supports the Study: Kansas funerals least affordable in U.S.

BY DANE HICKS THE ANDERSON COUNTY REVIEW

BROOKFIELD, WIS. - Funeral costs have continued to climb in Kansas, leaving grieving families facing some of the steepest bills in the country.

A recent analysis of data from the National Funeral Directors Association and the consumer advocate website Funeralocity found that the average funeral in Kansas now costs $12,586, roughly 53% higher than the national average, making the state the least affordable place in the nation to lay a loved one to rest.

Compared against U.S. Census data for the Sunflower State, that price represents nearly one-fifth of the average Kansan's annual income, underscoring the financial strain many families face when death strikes unexpectedly.

Statewide, the average traditional burial costs are around $8,640, while a full-service cremation averages $6,452. More affordable options exist - such as direct cremation, which can be found for as little as $845 in Kansas City - but prices can still run into the thousands, depending on the provider.

Nationally, funeral costs have risen more slowly than inflation. According to the National Funeral Directors Association, the average cost of a funeral with burial rose 5.8% between 2021 and 2023, while a funeral with cremation increased 8.1% over the same period. By comparison, inflation nationwide was more than 13% during those years.

But over the long term, funeral costs in Kansas' region have surged more than 36% since 2006, the sharpest increase in the nation.

Industry observers say one clear trend is shaping the market: a growing shift toward cremation. Families increasingly choose cremation for its affordability and flexibility, with "direct cremation" - a simple

ADKINSON

APRIL 23, 1941 — AUGUST 21, 2025

Doris Ann Adkinson, age 84, of Richmond, Kansas, passed away peacefully on Thursday, August 21, 2025, at Olathe Hospice House in Olathe.

Adkinson

Doris was born on April 23, 1941, on the family farm north of Garnett, Kansas, the youngest of four children to Frank and Clara (Mader) Sobba. She attended Spring Branch, a one-room country school, and later Garnett High School, where she graduated with the Class of 1959. During her high school years, she was affectionately known as "Dody" to her friends—a nickname she cherished and loved to hear throughout her life.

On September 9, 1959, Doris was united in marriage to the love of her life, Patrick Dennis Adkinson, Sr., at Holy Angels Church in Garnett. Their marriage was a testament to love and family, blessed with five children. While her children were young, Doris dedicated herself to being a loving homemaker. As they grew, she began working at Holy Trinity Catholic Church in Lenexa, a job she held for many years. Doris was a faithful member of St. Boniface Catholic Church.

Later in life, after Pat's passing in 2000, Doris found new ways to stay busy and continue her passion for helping others. She became a bus aide for USD 365 in Garnett and also volunteered her time at the Greeley Grade School.

Doris found immense joy in the simple things: a ride in the country, a good meal out, and above all, her family. She cherished every moment spent with her grandchildren and great-grandchildren, and there was no place she would rather be than on the sidelines of their sporting events, cheering them on. Sundays were especially dear, as they were reserved for family dinners that filled her home with laughter and warmth.

Doris was preceded in death by her parents, Frank and Clara Sobba; her beloved husband, Patrick Adkinson, Sr.; her brothers, Carl Sobba and Marvin Sobba; and her sister, Laura Davis.

Her memory will be forever cherished by her five children and their spouses: Patrick "Bud" and Lisa Adkinson, Rick and Chris Adkinson, Rod Adkinson, Craig and Jennifer Adkinson, and Mary Hodgson and her husband, Wayne. She is also survived by 14 grandchildren; 12 great-grandchildren; three sisters-in-law, Iona Sobba, Linda Adkinson, and Patty Adkinson; along with many nieces and nephews who will miss her dearly.

Mass of Christian Burial was August 27, 2025, at St. Boniface Catholic Church, Scipio, Kansas. Burial followed in St. Boniface Cemetery, Scipio.

Memorial contributions may be made to St. Boniface Cemetery and left in care of Feuerborn Family Funeral Service. Condolences may be sent to the family at www.feuerbornfuneral.com

Chapter Y P.E.O. met Aug. 18

Fifteen members of Chapter Y P.E.O. met at 7:00 p.m. on August 18, 2025 at the home of Donna and Steve Benjamin. Donna served as hostess and the rest of the program committee consisting of Becky Solander, Stacy Gwin, Denise Weber and Rita Boydston served as co-hostesses.

President Alice Anderegg conducted the business meeting. When the business portion of the meeting concluded, attendees enjoyed a generous and delicious buffet of snack foods and beverages.

After the social time, Steve and Donna Benjamin presented an interesting and informative program about the history and challenges of growing grapes on their property.

The next meeting of Chapter Y will be Monday, September 15th at the Garnett depot. Programs for the new chapter year will be distributed at that time.

service without embalming, casket, or viewing — becoming the fastest-growing option.

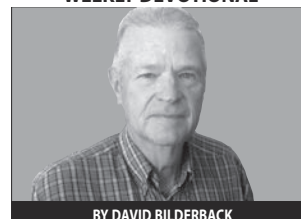

Funeral directors advise families to shop around and request detailed price lists, which funeral homes are required by law to provide. Planning ahead through burial insurance or prepaid arrangements can also help soften the blow.

For Kansas families, however, even modest funerals now represent a significant financial hurdle. The data suggest that while prices continue to creep upward nationwide, Kansas face an especially heavy burden — one that's likely to grow as funeral costs inch higher year after year.

She found the savior

WEEKLY DEVOTIONAL

BY DAVID BILDERBACK

We are told in John 4 that Jesus left Judea and went back once more to Galilee. Choosing to go through Samaria, which no Jew would do because the Samaritans were considered a mixed race contaminated by foreign blood and false worship, Jesus stopped for a rest. It was the 6th hour (noon) and a Samaritan woman had come to draw water. Jesus ask the woman for a drink Her response was, "How can you ask me for a drink?" (Jews did not associate with Samaritans)

It was midday and hot, the woman came at this time because she was an outcast. She had been married numerous times and was living in an adulterous relationship now. Jesus makes a statement the woman cannot resist. "Whosoever drinketh of the water that I shall give him shall never thirst." At noon on a hot day the woman's response was typical. "Sir, give me this water so that I won't get thirsty and have to keep coming here to draw water." After some more conversation with Jesus where he reveals her past history she begins to suspect, maybe this is the long awaited Messiah. Jesus tells her plainly when she questions him. "I who speak to you am he." She returns back to the town and tells the people, who she was trying to avoid by the noon visit to the well, of her visit with Jesus. The towns people go out to Jesus and we are told many of the Samaritans believed.

This sin sick disillusioned woman was a symbol of the whole race. Today we suffer from the same afflictions. We long for something but we can't identify what it is. Our heart cries out for compassion but yet we don't know for what. Our disillusionment wears heavy on our mind. Our sins steal our peace. But this woman's Savior can be our Savior. Her forgiveness can be our forgiveness. If you find yourself in this woman's shoes maybe you should find Jesus as she did. Think about it!

Democrats profess new love of crime

President Donald Trump wants to drive down crime in some of our most dangerous cities. Democrats are furious, coming down hard — once again — on the wrong side of an issue that affects millions of Americans.

Why would the leaders of high-crime cities like Washington and Chicago object to the president helping to make their streets safer? They are panicked that Trump will succeed, exposing them as the inept, corrupt leaders they truly are.

For decades, Democrats have struggled to overcome GOP accusations that they were “soft on crime.” In 1994, trying to combat that charge, President Bill Clinton signed into law the most sweeping anti-crime bill in history. It funded the hiring of 100,000 new police officers, authorized the construction of new prisons and introduced a “three-strikes” law mandating lengthy jail terms for repeat offenders.

That was Democrats’ high-water mark for cracking down on crime. In recent years, party leaders, including former President Joe Biden, have apologized for the 1994 crime bill, now considered by the left to be racist and overly harsh. Especially in the post-George Floyd era, Democrats have adopted policies such as defunding the police and no-bail reform, which have made our cities more dangerous and favor criminals over citizens.

President Trump is trying to reverse course. He is threatening to send troops to violence-prone cities and has just signed an executive order to eliminate cashless bail, a policy that sends criminals back onto the streets, often to offend again.

Just as they did decades ago, Democrats are walking into a trap, resisting what most citizens applaud. In recent months, they have championed criminals in the country illegally, protested President Trump’s deportation policies and now they are opposing safe streets.

It doesn’t get dumber than that. Chicago Mayor Brandon Johnson

LIZ PEEK, FOX NEWS COMMENTATOR

greeted speculation that President Trump may soon send National Guard troops to the Windy City with an X post calling the move “the most flagrant violation of our Constitution in the 21st Century.” He further boasted: “The City of Chicago does not need a military occupation.”

Actually, it does. One headline from this summer says it all: “At least 55 people shot, 8 fatally, in 4th of July weekend.”

Chicago, once a prosperous and orderly city, has descended into lawlessness, with a murder rate that keeps people sheltering in their homes at night. Though the number of killings has declined this year, Chicago still ranks among the most murder-prone cities in the U.S. By mid-August, Chicago had suffered 254 homicides. In New York City, with a population nearly three times larger, there were only 201 murders in the same timeframe.

During the last mayoral race in 2023, a poll showed that two-thirds of the city’s residents didn’t feel safe from crime. Asked to rank which issues were most important in choosing the next mayor, 44% said crime and public safety — by far the top issue. The economy and jobs came in at just 12%.

Continuing high crime is one reason polls show Johnson has the lowest approv-

So a 26 year-old cop in Kansas City gets run over by some thug while trying to stop him from killing people on the highway and dies, and what’s the big story in Kansas City? Travis Kelce and Taylor Swift engaged. The next time you complain about society’s priorities being all screwed up, don’t even ask why. Thank you.

With Trump’s blatant disregard for the law I think Jesse James is owed an apology.

Park Plaza North apartments have new management and new board members and yet now apartments’ lawns are not mowed until the grass is 12 to 18 inches tall. When it’s mowed the grass lays on the lawn. It looks ugly, an area in town that looked so clean and nice, now looks like a ghetto. Come on, board members. Come check it out. Do your duty. Thank you.

Why is it that people walk their dogs out and down the streets and let them poop in people’s yards and don’t even care about picking it up? I am so confused and I wish that somebody somewhere would make a law saying they need to pick it up. It’s nasty. I don’t even have an animal, and I have all this poop in my yard. Thank you.

Correcting rogue judges takes a Supreme touch

America’s lower judiciary is out of control — and Supreme Court Justice Neil Gorsuch is putting it on notice.

In a Thursday order, the nation’s highest court granted (in part) a request by the Trump administration to temporarily pause a lower court blockade on the National Institutes of Health’s bid to terminate DEI-related grants totaling nearly $800 million. The ruling was 5-4, with Chief Justice John Roberts and the court’s Democrat appointees saying they would have denied the administration’s application in full.

The granting of stay was one of several instances in which the Supreme Court has been asked to weigh in on injunctions issued by (primarily) left-wing district judges. Such orders have often come at the behest of Democrat activists seeking to sabotage the Trump administration via a judicial coup.

In addition to signing onto the majority’s Thursday decision, Gorsuch penned a concurring opinion in the case in which he ripped into the lower judiciary’s out-of-control behavior. While noting that “[l]ower court judges may sometimes disagree with this Court’s decisions ... they are never free to defy them.”

Citing a related case recently before the Supreme Court (Department of Ed. v. California), the Trump appointee highlighted how the high court “granted a stay [in that case] because it found the government likely to prevail in showing that the district court lacked jurisdiction to order the government to pay grant obligations.” He wrote, “California explained that ‘suits based on “any express or implied contract with the United States” do not belong in district court under the Administrative Procedure Act (APA), but in the Court of Federal Claims under the Tucker Act.’”

“Rather than follow that direction, the district court in this case permitted a suit involving materially identical grants to proceed to final judgment under the APA,” Gorsuch wrote. “As support for its course, the district court invoked the ‘persuasive authority’ of ‘the dissent[s] in California’ and an earlier court of appeals decision California repudiated ... That was error.”

Gorsuch went on to underscore that “the promise of our legal system that like cases are treated alike means that a lower court ought not invoke the ‘persuasive authority’ of a dissent or a repudiated court of appeals decision to reach a different conclusion on an equivalent record.” More to the point, however, he noted that the district court’s apparent rebuke of the precedent very recently established by SCOTUS in the California case is not an isolated incident among the lower courts.

“If the district court’s failure to abide by California were a one-off, perhaps it would not be worth writing to address it. But two months ago another district court tried to ‘compel compliance’ with a different ‘order that this Court ha[d] stayed,” Gorsuch wrote. “Still another district court recently diverged from one of this Court’s decisions even though the case at hand did not differ ‘in any pertinent respect’ from the one this Court had decided ... So this is now the third time in a matter of weeks this Court has had to intercede in a case ‘squarely controlled’ by one of its precedents.”

The Trump appointee concluded his concurrence by laying down a marker in the sand that, regardless of their personal opinions, lower court judges are

Trump misdirected in his war against mail-in voting

President Trump is threatening to wage war on mail-in ballots, and the GOP has to hope he thinks again before the 2026 midterms.

In a Truth Social post, Trump said he is “going to lead a movement to get rid of MAIL-IN BALLOTS,” and he’ll start off with “an EXECUTIVE ORDER to help bring HONESTY to the 2026 midterm elections.”

Trump likes the idea of in-person, same-day voting, which has much to recommend it, but mail-in and early voting are so ingrained and widespread that they aren’t going anywhere.

Most Republicans have concluded that there’s no alternative to making use of these modes of voting, and, crucially, they managed — most of the time — to get Trump on board in 2024. This aided the Republican get-out-the-vote operation in a close election.

Clearly, though, Trump believes that mail-in voting is a Democratic plot, and he also hates contemporary voting machines.

Old-school paper ballots don’t guarantee honesty, however. In an infamous instance of voter fraud, allies of Lyndon Johnson stuffed Box 13 with enough ballots to put him over the top in the very narrow 1948 Democratic Senate primary in Texas. Today’s voting machines, moreover, were a reaction to the Florida fiasco in 2000, when punch-card ballots had to be painstakingly examined by hand with a presidential election at stake.

The fact is that vote-by-mail has been steadily growing since the 1980s, and it needn’t favor one side or the other.

In Florida, Republicans long made it a priority to maximize mail voting.

A study by the academic Andrew Hall of pre-COVID-19 voting patterns in California, Utah and Washington found a negligible partisan effect as those states rolled out vote-by-mail systems. Overall, turnout went up only very slightly, and “the Democratic share of turnout did not increase appreciably.”

Mail-in voting didn’t change who was voting but how they did it —encouraging, as you might expect, voting by mail rather than in-person. Vote by mail did have a strong partisan tilt in the COVID-19 election of 2020, in part because Trump inveighed against it.

Last year, Republicans made a concerted effort to make up ground and succeeded. They went from 24% of the mail-in vote in the must-win swing state of Pennsylvania in 2020 to 33% in 2024, and they outpaced Democrats in mail-in balloting in Arizona.

The advantage to a party of getting people to vote early — whether in person or by mail — is that it takes high-propensity voters off the table. Then, a turnout operation can focus on getting lower-propensity voters to the polls. If no one votes until Election Day, party operatives waste time and money right up to the cusp of the election, contacting people who are going to vote no matter what.

None of this is to say that all mail-in voting is equal. So-called universal mail-in voting, or automatically sending a ballot to every registered voter and scattering live ballots around a state, is a bad practice.

The rules should be more stringent. Georgia gets this right. You have to ask for an absentee ballot and provide your driver’s license number or a copy of another form of valid ID. Ballots have to be requested at least 11 days before the election and must be returned by Election Day. The outer “oath” envelope has to be properly completed or the ballot is subject to being rejected, although the

Need help identifying old iron artifact

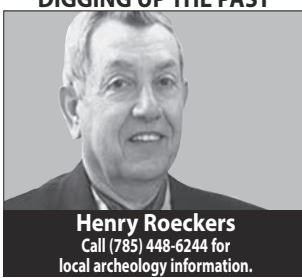

The area where I'm presently excavating contains a lot of old iron artifacts. I'm really having a difficult time identifying most of them. I'm hoping that some of the readers of my column can help me out.

Right now I'm waiting for my truck to be repaired. Two weeks ago a big buck decided he really liked the side of it. Oh well, it's been too hot to be out digging anyway.

1885: Covered wagon "Bawdy House" nets fines

THAT WAS THEN

PAULA SCOTT - REVIEW HISTORY COLUMNIST

Historical gleanings from past local newspapers.

1885 - 140 years ago

August 28 - Monday, a man and woman, slightly past the "heyday of youth" and a one-armed man, who furnished the transportation, were arrested by Sheriff Marshall, on complaint, charged with keeping a bawdy house or establishment, in a rickety covered wagon drawn by a sorry horse and dilapidated mule. They, the culprits, not the animals, tried Tuesday, before his honor, Judge Everline and pled guilty. The one-armed man was fined $25 and costs, amounting, altogether to $42. The fines of the other two amounting to $25. The parties were committed to jail until their fines are paid. An execution was made on the team and will be sold. That is just the right thing to do with all such debased outfits. Such cattle will likely give Garnett a wide berth in future.

August 28 - The street commissioner is doing good work on the old death-trap of a sidewalk on Sixth Avenue, near McCrum's mill. He has also put in two good crossings east of the mill. Pedestrians who have been obliged to wade through the mud in that part of town during wet weather will rain blessings on his head for this very humane act.

1895 - 130 years ago

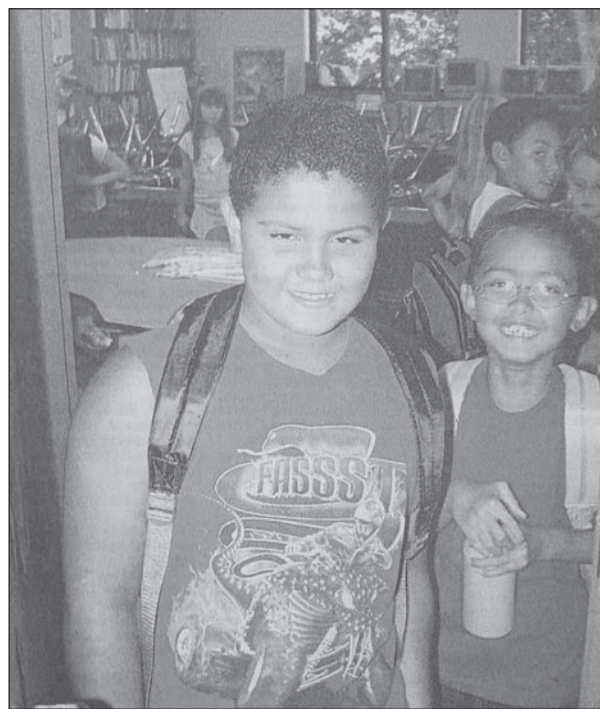

August 30 - A man named Parker was pulled by Police Judge Houston's court and the city authorities Tuesday for undertaking to run a disorderly house and fined $25. Failing to put up, he is now in jail.

August 30 - Garnett is strictly in it on the entertainment this week, with the Epworth League convention, the Re-union and the populist county convention. Next week we have the Democratic convention on Monday and the Fair Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday.

1915 - 110 years ago

Sep 1 - The Presbyterian Sunday school picnic, which was postponed from last Thursday, will be held at Woodlawn Park tomorrow afternoon. No set program has been arranged, but it is expected that there will be plenty of entertainment for the young folks and children. At 6 o'clock a picnic supper will be served on the lawn, to which the friends of the church are cordially invited.

Sep 3 - The people of the Spring Branch neighborhood had a delightful time last night, on Cedar creek. Several of the young folks drove out early, with lanterns, and made fires, and when the others followed, they took with them dressed chickens and other good things to eat, and eight chickens were roasted on the campfires, coffee was made, and the supper was spread on the grass under the August 29 - Flood lights will gleam on a $1,000 night sports field at the Garnett city park soon, signaling the start of a broader athletic program for the city and its schools. Materials for the new field, to be one of the best in the state, are already on their way.

Labor Day, September 1, 2025

Labor Day is a federal holiday in the United States, celebrated on the first Monday of September to honor the achievements of American workers. Its origins lie in the labor movement of the late 19th century, when labor activists pushed for better working conditions.

Origin and history

First parade: The first Labor Day celebration was a parade on September 5, 1882, in New York City. The Central Labor Union organized the event, where about 10,000 workers took unpaid time off to march for workers' rights.

Contested founder: The true founder of Labor Day is debated.

Peter J. McGuire, a co-founder of the American Federation of Labor, is often credited with proposing a holiday for workers.

Matthew Maguire, a machinist and secretary of the Central Labor Union in New York, is also believed by many to be the founder.

A state-by-state movement: After the success of the early parades, the idea of a "workingmen's holiday" spread. Oregon was the first state to pass a law recognizing Labor Day in 1887.

Federal holiday: In 1894, President Grover Cleveland signed a law making the first Monday of September a national holiday. The move is viewed by some historians as an attempt to appease workers following the deadly Pullman Strike earlier that year.

May Day vs. Labor Day:

The U.S. celebrates Labor Day in September, unlike many other countries that observe International Workers' Day (also known as May Day) on May 1. This date commemorates the 1886 Haymarket Riot in Chicago, a key event in the struggle for an eight-hour workday.

Labor Day and work conditions

A shorter workday: Labor Day's origins are rooted in the Industrial Revolution, when Americans worked 12-hour days, seven days a week, often under difficult conditions. Activism led to the passage of laws that standardized the eight-hour workday.

Child labor laws: The Fair Labor Standards Act of 1938, which set minimum wage and overtime rules, also placed restrictions on child labor. Before this, children as young as 5 or 6 toiled in factories and mills.

The Adamson Act: In 1916, President Woodrow Wilson signed the Adamson Act, which established the eight-hour workday for railroad workers.

Modern traditions and other facts

Unofficial end of summer: The three-day Labor Day weekend is widely considered the unofficial end of summer. This is often a popular time for travel and vacations.

No white after Labor Day: This old-fashioned fashion rule originated in the late 1800s. Wealthy Americans would put away their lightweight, white summer clothes after returning to the city from their summer getaways. The rule is now largely obsolete.

Hot dog season ends: According to the National Hot Dog and Sausage Council, Labor Day is the unofficial end of hot dog season. Americans consume around 7 billion hot dogs between Memorial Day and Labor Day.

Parades still happen: Parades and marches are still a part of some Labor Day celebrations today, including in New York City, where it all began.

Department of Labor was established later: The U.S. Department of Labor was established in 1913, almost two decades after Labor Day was made a federal holiday.

We all depend on the strength of the American Worker

America didn't become the most prosperous nation on earth by chance. Working Americans built this nation from the ground up, embracing very "American" qualities like creativity, ingenuity and originality. They in turn depended on the families that supported them. Through challenge, trouble and strife, quite amazingly, the whole thing worked.

Whether teachers, farmers, office workers, equipment operators or production employees, the local businesses below recognize the immeasurable value of our local labor force in building our community and maintaining its greatness.

county elections office will provide the voter a chance to "cure" the envelope.

It's also important to count early and mail-in ballots quickly, something that too many states fail to do, with California -- as usual -- the worst offender.

States should be expected to abide by whatever rules have been set prior to an election, rather than changing them on the fly, and they should ensure that voter rolls are regularly cleaned up.

Regardless, the real question about vote-by-mail isn't whether it is staying or going, but whether Republicans, too, will take advantage of it.

"All these interventions should have been unnecessary, but together they underscore a basic tenet of our judicial system: Whatever their own views, judges are duty-bound to respect 'the hierarchy of the federal court system created by the Constitution and Congress,'" Gorsuch wrote.

Gorsuch was joined in his opinion by Associate Justice Brett Kavanaugh, who concurred in part and dissented in part, according to Thursday's order.

al rating of any mayor in the United States, at 26%.

Johnson, two years into the job, is underwater with every racial and income group. Despite making a big show of welcoming illegal immigrants and defying President Trump's ban on sanctuary cities, Johnson is unpopular with Hispanics, earning only 26% approval from that group.

Though he has prioritized programs catering to minority residents, Johnson, who is Black, also falls short with African Americans, of whom only 38% approve of the job he's doing.

Black voters may dislike Johnson because the crime targeted by President Trump occurs mainly in their neighborhoods. The Chicago Crime Lab reports that "Black residents [are]...22 times more likely to be killed compared to white residents." They also note, "neighborhoods with the highest homicide rates experience approximately 68 times more homicides than those with the lowest rates."

Johnson dismisses concerns about crime and said in an interview with NPR that President Trump sending in the National Guard would be "not Democratic, illegal, and costly." He also argued it would not bring Chicago's crime down and touted recent declines in violent offenses in the Windy City.

By mid-August, Chicago had suffered 254 homicides. In New York City, with a population nearly three times larger, there were only 201 murders in the same timeframe.

But across the U.S., crime has dropped from post-pandemic levels; Chicago's gains are not unique. And cities like Washington, Chicago, and Baltimore — another possible target mentioned by Trump — are not safe.

Sending in federal troops makes them safer, and it isn't only President Trump who has shown that to be true. In March 2024, New York Governor Kathy Hochul deployed 750 National Guardsmen into New York City's subways to stem a deadly wave of people being pushed in front of trains and other offenses.

Subway crime dropped, and Hochul appears to have no plans to remove the soldiers still patrolling the stations and trains. She explained, "I think people will tell you ... they feel much safer." No kidding.

That hasn't kept her from criticizing the president, calling his initial deployment of 800 troops into D.C. a show of "abusive power." She maintains that her situation was different because she had the cooperation of local officials.

It is true that Washington's Mayor Muriel Bowser has not supported Trump's efforts to bring down crime in the District. In its earliest days, she sounded positive about the beefed-up law enforcement presence, saying, "What I'm focused on is the federal surge and how to make the most of the federal officers that we have."

Pushed by political allies to follow the anti-Trump playbook, her optimism evaporated as she urged residents to "make sure we elect a Democratic House so that we have a backstop to this authoritarian push." An authoritarian push that has seen crime in Washington plummet.

President Trump is betting that the residents of cities plagued by violence and theft will welcome his assault on crime. He's probably right. Democrats should wise up.

causes, nonprofits, and community needs they care about most. Initial gifts are held permanently by the Foundation, with only a portion of the annual earnings distributed. Gifts are matched 100%, with 50% going to the foundation's Legacy Fund and the remaining 50% directed by the donor either to the principal of their endowment fund or granted immediately to a nonprofit. $2,500 minimum gift required; $10,000 match cap per fund. "Endowment funds are among the most powerful resources for securing the long-term health of our community," said Julie Smith, director of the Garnett Community Foundation. "They provide a permanent source of support for local needs, enabling our community to become less dependent on outside funding and more capable of shaping its own future for generations to come."

If you are an individual, family, or business, establishing an endowment fund is a perfect way to ensure your generosity continues year after year for the nonprofits and causes that matter most to you. For nonprofit organizations, an endowment fund can generate ongoing income to support your programs and operations each year, create long-term financial sustainability, and provide more giving options for your donors.

Additional details: Match funds will be awarded on a first-come, first-served basis. Donations exceeding $100,000 will still be accepted but will not be matched.

All funds must be used for charitable purposes and may not be used for gun raffles, political organizations, carnivals, fireworks, or Donor-Advised Funds.

About the Photographer

Rooted in faith and community, Jessica Duncan serves each week at Hope Anthem Church, where she attends every Sunday and shares Bible stories and activities with the littlest members of the congregation. With the steadfast support of her husband, Eddie Duncan, she has recently launched The Dusty Lens, a photography business dedicated to capturing meaningful moments with heart and professionalism. Beyond her work, Jessica is a proud and busy sports mom to four children, each active in different community sports, and can often be found cheering from the sidelines. Balancing her roles as a wife, mother, business owner, and church leader, she strives to represent both her family and her company with dedication, warmth, and a genuine love for the people she serves.
